“It was the first time I could not save someone in my long years of medical practice.”

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

There was no use even for the Godly Doctor. If she was a martial artist and knew about internal energy, she would have noticed the problem but this was first for her, so she couldn’t save the person’s life.

“Then what you thought of is wrong. You don’t know how to heal her.”

Bunwang spoke and Gam Rosu shook her head.

“I can’t call myself doctor if I didn’t study on what I failed to cure once. I found out the problem with my treatment later.”

Chapter 321

Chapter 321: Cold blood blockage (6)

Monk Gu Hur told the Godly Doctor that by sending in internal energy to penetrate the blockage, the yin qi reacted to fight back, making Gu Hur increase the energy that was sent in. This was why the two energies colliding with each other grew too powerful for the woman to endure it.

“Then what would be the way? If it isn’t possible to send in the energy...”

“There are two other ways. Both have flaws.”

“What is it?”

“One way is impossible right now, and another one... I don’t think she nor you will like the way it will be done.”

What would be the way that he and his sister would not want? Bunwang asked, “And what is that way?”

“It’s very weird, but the starting point of energy explosion starts toward the vaginal area.”

“V-vaginal?”

Bunwang’s face became grim. He was able to understand what Gam Rosu was saying.

“Y-you mean...”

“Yes. It is a way to find a balance between yin and yang to decrease its reaction to have it take yang qi without a fight.”

With Gam Rosu's words, Hu Bong became shocked and mumbled, "Huh? Y-you mean the man's hot st..."

"Hu Bong!!"

"Oops."

Mun Ku became red and shouted and Hu Bong grabbed his mouth to stop. Mun Ku became worried. Hu Bong's teasing seemed to turning into reality.

'Ughhhhh! HU BONG!!!!'

Mun Ku glared at Hu Bong. His words had become reality.

"One must have powerful yang qi in order to take the balance..."

Gam Rosu then glanced toward Chun Yeowun as she spoke. The only warrior powerful enough to overpower Yogun who went berserk was Chun Yeowun, so her reaction was natural.

'Hmm...'

Yeowun frowned at the unexpected treatment method and asked, "What is the other way that's impossible?"

"That's..."

That's when Yeowun suddenly got up before he heard Gam Rosu's answer. He was looking towards a place with a grim look. It was toward the outpost.

'It's astounding.'

The astounding power was coming from that direction. If no one here yet realized its power, it meant the enemy was powerful enough that only Chun Yeowun could sense it. It felt more dangerous than when Yogun went berserk.

“What is it, my lord?”

Mun Ku got up with a curious look and Yeowun warned everyone else.

“Everyone, stay here and don’t move.”

Yeowun then jumped out.

At the outpost, the gatekeepers were bleeding as they fell on the ground. Even the gatekeepers of this outpost were highly-trained warriors, but they were helpless against the intruder. Through the gate, there was a large yard with over forty warriors surrounding the middle-aged man with curly hair and a beard. Outpost leader Jiheng shouted to him.

“You should step back! Do you know where this is?!”

Jiheng felt sweat running down his forehead. The intruder wasn’t using any special energy, but his presence was enough to make all the warriors terrified.

‘Who is this man?!’

The area had been peaceful ever since the cult allied with the Yulin clan. It was shocking to find this monstrous man coming in here.

“Let me warn YOU instead. If you don’t want to end up like this, bring my children that you kidnapped.”

There were four warriors on the ground in front of the man. They charged at him when the man came into the gate, but they were quickly subdued in a matter of seconds. Jiheng shouted, “Why are you looking for your children here?! Who are you anyway!”

The man raised his eyebrow disgust. He still felt the cold energy within the buildings.

“So, you will lie. Then I will find them myself.”

The man took off his foot and Jiheng signaled his warriors.

“Attack!”

All warriors immediately charged against the man. The middle-aged man then swung his hand and all the swords that the warriors held in their hands got out of their hand.

“Huh?!”

“M-my sword!”

Their swords then turned in the air and were aimed back at them.

“A-air sword!”

All warriors became pale. They figured they were against powerful warrior, but they didn’t realize they were against a supreme master level warrior.

‘W-why is such a powerful warrior attacking our outpost?!’

Even Jiheng couldn’t understand what was going on. He was able to barely hold onto his sword from being flown up, but all the other warriors were now being aimed at by their own swords.

‘It’s hard to control all of them, but this is enough.’

Even if it was a supreme master level warrior, controlling more than twelve swords at once was impossible. But he wasn't using a formation so he only swung and stabbed, and this amount was enough. This was only done to threaten them.

"This is the final warning. I will kill anyone who stands in my way."

The man warned again. He knew that killing this many warriors would have the cult come after him, so he was giving them a chance. But there was no way warriors who always stayed at war would succumb to such a threat. Besides, there was the Sky of the Cult residing inside today.

"Fool! You are underestimating us! Do you think cultists of the Great Dmonic Cult will bend to your threat?!"

Jiheng shouted and the man shook his head. He gave them the choice to leave, but that had been thrown out the window.

"Fools."

The man then raised his hand and the swords were ready.

"You have chosen then. Goodbye."

The man swung and the swords then tried to strike down the warriors. Some closed their eyes while some tried to dodge. But an unexpected thing happened. All swords moved barely an inch and stopped.

"W-what?"

They thought maybe the man had changed his mind, but it seemed that wasn't the case. The man was shaking his hand as if someone was holding onto his hand.

‘What is going on?’

He didn’t imagine seeing such a thing. The air sword was almost taken away from his control. He tried to bring up more energy to overpower it, but it was no use.

‘Someone is infiltrating into my connection to the swords!’

That was the only possible explanation. That’s when the man saw someone coming out from the mansion. It was a young man with long black hair with pale white skin. It was Chun Yeowun.

‘Is that him who’s doing this?’

The man looked at him.

Yeowun heard Nano speaking to him.

[Completed infiltrating into control system.]

‘Strike back, Nano.’

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

[Initiating attack.]

Yeowun’s eyes shook and the control of air sword was now on Yeowun. Yeowun then pushed out his sword, and all forty swords immediately turned toward the man.

“Hah... ugh.”

The man became dumbfounded. It was the first time he lost control over air sword in the middle of controlling them.

Chapter 322

Chapter 322: Two birds in one stone (1)

Forty swords were aimed at the man, about to fly down and penetrate him.

‘This is astounding. Taking over this many swords would require a lot of precision and control of energy...’

The middle-aged man was now very astonished by the action. His air sword was just using vast energy to control objects, but that young man was truly sending his energy correctly to all of those swords.

‘He looks like a young man.’

But the power was no less than himself, enough to be considered among the top five warriors of Yulin. If the man walked out from inside, then he must be one of the cultists. That’s when the man remembered the information he gathered recently. He heard this when he went to the Hao clan to buy information regarding the Godly Doctor.

‘Oh, I heard there’s a new young Lord at the Demonic Cult. Maybe...’

His guess was right. When Jiheng and the warriors found out Yeowun that came out, they all knelt with one knee and shouted.

“My Lord!”

“My Lord!”

The middle-aged man narrowed his eyes. So, the young man was truly the Lord of the Demonic Cult. He didn't imagine to find the Lord at the northern border of the Demonic Cult's lands.

'Wait. Is that the one who kidnapped my daughter then?'

The only one powerful enough to do such thing seemed to be Yeowun within this area. There was one superior master level warrior, but the man's level of that man was not enough to overpower the berserk mode of Cold Blood Blockage.

Jiheng got to Yeowun and knelt to report.

"Outpost Captain Jiheng, reporting."

"Talk."

"That man infiltrated our outpost, killed our gatekeepers and a few guards and threatening us to hand over his children."

"Hand over his children?"

Yeowun became surprised. He did expect as such, but his guess was correct. Father of Yogun, and considering the two greatswords that Bunwang used, it was easy to guess the name.

"Martial Dual Sword Wang Jing."

Every cultists including Jiheng became shocked. There was no one in Yulin that would not be shocked when hearing the name. He was one of the top five warriors of Yulin and the infamous killer who killed over three thousand pirates in one night.

“Martial Dual Sword?”

“Were we just up against one of the top five warriors?!”

The atmosphere became frantic. Even if they were courageous warriors of the cult, it was rare that they got to witness a glimpse of the top five warriors. Yeowun then spoke to the man.

“Are you Sir Wang Jing?”

Wang Jing did not reply to the question. It was more of a silent nod. The man was thinking about what was going on.

‘If he knows who I am, then it must be the Lord who took my children.’

That was troubling. It was the leader of a giant faction, not comparable to pirates. It wasn’t sure why the man took his children, but it was likely that fighting him would cause much trouble.

‘Then other superior master level warriors will join in.’

It wasn’t going well for him. The man then collected his powerful energy back into him and the air around the courtyard became relaxed. The man bowed lightly toward Yeowun.

“It’s an honor to meet the new Lord of the Demonic Cult. I am Wang Jing.”

“OH!!”

Chun Yeowun’s guess was right. Warriors gasped with astonishment. The man was Martial Dual Sword, Wang Jing. The fact that he was gathering back his energy meant that he wanted to settle things down by talking. Yeowun then pulled his hand and the swords dropped to the ground.

“My sword!”

Warriors quickly went up and picked up their swords. Yeowun then spoke to Jiheng.

“Tend to those warriors that are knocked out.”

“Huh?”

Jiheng became confused. He thought the four warriors in front of Wang Jing were dead, but they actually just passed out.

“Thank you for going lightly on them.”

Yeowun bowed to show his thanks. Wang Jing actually did not kill anyone, even those gatekeepers because he felt his children’s presence within the building. If they died, things would have turned differently but he didn’t want to turn against the cult when his children were still alive. But he still showed his power so he could warn the cult to not touch his children, and also bring out those who overpowered his daughter.

‘But to think that was the Lord.’

That was only thing that was unexpected. Anyhow, the man who took his children was here, so he had to get into the point.

“I want to pay more respect to the leader of the Demonic Cult, but please mind my manners. I can sense my children’s presence here. I want to hear why you took them.”

He was talking politely but his voice had every sense of discomfort in it. After he lost his wife, his purpose now only lied in his children.

‘This is a good chance.’

Yeowun then thought this was a chance. The man who he wanted to pay a debt appeared. Yeowun also knew that Wang Jing had been searching for the Godly Doctor.

“I am sorry for any misunderstanding here. Your daughter was in terrible shape, so I had to quickly bring her here to get treated.”

“Ah...”

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

Wang Jing became grim. He was concerned about her daughter going berserk more often even with Gam Miyan’s medicine. He didn’t think the day would come to this when he hadn’t found the Godly Doctor yet.

“I guess I made a mistake. But the doctor that my girl needs to see is toward the...”

Cold energy began to rise at once. The air around turned cold immediately. Yeowun became shocked and turned toward the guesthouse.

‘The seals have broken again!’

Chapter 323

Chapter 323: 323 Two birds in one stone (2)

Yeowun sealed her once more just an hour ago. But this amount of coldness meant that the seal was broken. Wang Jing shouted, "Lord!"

"Follow me!"

Yeowun ran toward the guesthouse and Wang Jing quickly followed. As they went to the guesthouse, cold air was storming around the building, freezing everything around it. In the yard in front of the house, Hu Bong was bleeding from his mouth as he protected Gam Rosu, and two others were standing against Yogun who was standing tall with her silver hair fluttering through the wind.

"I... I didn't think it would be this bad."

"We need the Lord or Elder Yang."

They were Mun Ku and Hou Sangwha. This happened when Yogun woke up from her sleep. The terrifying cold energy quickly turned the tide against them.

"Ah.."

Mun Ku's breathing turned white as if it was winter. She was protecting her body through internal energy, but the coldness still made her shiver.

"It's coming!" Hou Sangwha shouted. Yogun stepped on the ground, and white ice needles appeared and thrown upon them.

“No!”

“RUN!”

They both jumped up at once and needles were stuck into the ground.

“Hah!”

Mun Ku then threw an energy bullet toward Yogun, but it disappeared even before it got close to Yogun’s body.

‘Impossible!’

Yogun then gathered her hands and reached out and a cold storm struck against Mun Ku and Hou Sangwha who were still in the air.

“Kyah!”

“Aaah!”

Both of them quickly protected themselves with energy barriers, but it still threw them backwards. Then they rolled on the ground, but they jumped up to take a stand. But there weren’t countless ice needles surrounding them anymore.

“W...what?”

“Sangwha, are we dreaming?”

This wasn’t the level that any martial artist they knew. It was as if they were against the legendary Winter Witch or something. Yogun’s eyes that glared toward them were now becoming transparent.

Hou Sangwha's large axe became covered with blue force qi over its blade. Mun Ku also readied with her hands with force qi to attack whenever. The two women became tense. Yogun then reached out to them and gestured clenching her fist. Countless ice needles then tried to come down at them.

It was then that the ice needles stopped in the air. Two women then heard the voice from behind.

"That was close."

"M-my lord!"

It was Chun Yeowun. Yeowun was able to arrive in time and defend the attacks from the ice needles. But he didn't come alone this time.

"Ah?"

A middle-aged man with curly hair appeared in front of them and swung his hands toward the ice needles. With that, a powerful energy line was drawn in the air and shattered all ice needles into dust. The person who showed such astounding prowess was Martial Dual Sword, Wang Jing.

'That is amazing. If he can do that, he probably could have blocked my air sword too.'

Yeowun was astonished. Wang Jing was surely worthy to be considered as one of the top five warriors of Yulin.

"Yogun."

Wang Jing called out to his daughter with a concerned look. He knew that his daughter would be in bad shape from the severe coldness, but she was in a terrible state.

‘I have to hurry.’

Wang Jing then charged toward the silver-haired woman, Yogun. Yogun began creating thick ice wall by collecting ice dust as she seemed to feel endangered by the appearance of a powerful presence. But it didn’t work against Yeowun, so there was no chance it would work against Wang Jing either.

Wang Jing was able to get to Yogun even before ice wall was finished. All ice needles that struck upwards from the floor also turned to dust. Wang Jing was surely very powerful man.

He quickly pressed on Yogun’s blood points to seal her down. But the seal that only required him to use 50% before it didn’t work anymore. Powerful yin qi defended the interference of energy coming into the body.

‘She’s gotten worse.’

Wang Jing then increased his power up to 80% and sealed her down. Yogun flinched and with her blood points being blocked from circulation, the coldness around them became to subside. But it was still very cold around Yogun.

Yogun, who was now passed out, was shivering as if she was feeling cold from the energy that was coming from her own body. Wang Jing frowned. Yogun had never been in such a bad state.

‘No... what should I do? It will take at least half a day to get down to Yongho village.’

Wang Jing thought he had to take her to Gam Miyan at Yongho village, but Yogun didn’t seem to last long against the extreme coldness coming from the yin qi. That’s when a muscular old woman walked toward them with Yeowun by his side. The woman was Godly Doctor Gam Rosu.

‘Huh?’

Wang Jin frowned at a familiar face when Gam Rosu walked over and checked Yogun’s pulse as she was trembling severely.

“A-are you a doctor?” Wang Jing asked and Yeowun nodded instead. After checking Yogun’s state for a while, Godly Doctor Gam Rosu became grim and spoke.

“Ah... yin qi has spread all over her body at last... she won’t last a day at this rate. My Lord, you have no choice anymore.”

“W-what are you talking about? Ma’am!! What’s become of my daughter?!”

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

Wang Jing began to shake at the fear of his daughter’s possible death and Godly Doctor Gam Rosu spoke seriously.

“She will need a balance of yin and yang through mating.”

“Mat... WHAT?!”

Wang Jing’s face turned weird at the unexpected words.

Chapter 324 - Two birds in one stone (3)

Chapter 324: Two birds in one stone (3)

Wang Jing was so shocked and furious when he heard that his daughter needed to have sexual intercourse that he almost killed Godly Doctor Gam Rosu. But he had to stop when he heard who the old woman was. And there was no way to reject the idea when the best-known doctor in the entire Jianghu was telling him that that was the only way for her survival.

‘But it’s something that even the great monk of Sorim failed...’

He was more hesitant when he heard that the procedure was once tried years back, involving a powerful warrior like Monk Gu Hur. Godly Doctor explained the only way to save his dying daughter was to break the yang energy into her beginning at the start of the explosion, which was the vagina.

‘I thought this kind of treatment only existed in a book..’

Hu Bong might have agreed wholeheartedly if Wang Jing had said this out loud. He then felt powerless as he couldn’t do anything for his dying daughter. And just like Wang Jing, Chun Yeowun was also going through hard times.

“A mating... mating... uh... ”

Mun Ku had been repeating the word over and over, looking dumb as she spoke. Of course, there was no woman who would like to see her loved one having a sexual relationship with another woman.

‘I don’t want this.’

She became tearful as her head dived into her arms.

“Whew,” Yeowun sighed. Yeowun was also very depressed to see Mun Ku in such a way. Others might have liked to take this chance and have mysterious and beautiful Yogun for himself, but Chun Yeowun did not want this.

‘Another woman...?’

Yeowun decided that he would only love one woman in his entire life. After experiencing the tragedy that revolved around the six clans, Yeowun had learned that having many wives and children only brought chaos.

‘My Lord...’

All members who had seen Yeowun from the days at the academy all sympathized with him. Also, Chun Yeowun was a man who always stuck to his morals and decisions. It wasn’t easy for him to break his own vows for such matters.

‘But it is best that we save that woman, even if that requires him to break his vows.’

Even Hou Sangwha thought as such, although she was very close to Mun Ku. Without considering emotional issues, this was a good chance for the Cult will befriend one of the powerful top five warriors of Yulin. Moreover, it was also a chance that Wang Jing might become Yeowu’s father-in-law if everything worked out.

“We don’t have time.”

Gam Rosu told them to hurry up when everyone became hesitant.

“Hah... hah...”

Yogun panted as her breath turned white when it left her mouth. She had needles all over her body that were put down by Gam Rosu so that she would be a bit warmer at least. But this in no way would allow her more time in life.

“Father.”

Bunwang called out to Wang Jing. As expected, he was the eldest child of Dual Martial Sword, Wang Jing. His real name was actually Wang Bun.

“Bun.”

“Father... I don’t like the idea, but I think we must focus on saving Yogun’s life first.”

“Do you think so?”

“...Nothing matters if she dies.”

Wang Jing became grim at Wang Bun’s words. Even if it was to save his daughter’s life, it was hard to admit such behavior as he was still a father. And even if it was to save his daughter’s life, he didn’t want his daughter to have such a relationship with a man for just a day. That kind of behavior should be followed with the responsibility of lifetime commitment.

‘Give my precious daughter to that man?’

Of course, the background was perfect. He was the Lord of the Demonic Cult, one of three factions of the entire Yulin.

And also, Yeowun was powerful enough to be considered one of the top five warriors already. But Wang Jing also could see what was going on.

‘Hmph.’

He didn’t mention it, but he already saw Yeowun being concerned about another woman in the corner, depressed and sad as she sat down by the wall. She seemed to be well trained in martial arts and also very beautiful and elegant, which proved she was from a good family in the cult. It seemed she was the future wife of the Lord.

‘My daughter, daughter of Wang Jin, is to become the second wife of the Cult’s Lord?’

Wang Jing had many enemies that made him hide, but he was still very proud of being one of the top five warriors. His pride didn’t make him comfortable with the fact that his daughter would become a second wife. Wang Jing looked back at Yeowun again.

‘But if he’s concerned about his future wife, he’s not the type to seek women.’

He had heard Lords of the cult historically had many wives, but Yeowun seemed to be different from the way he acted. That was a relief at least.

“Hah... hah...”

As Wang Jing thought things through, he heard his daughter’s panting. He then figured there was no time to waste and simplified his thoughts.

‘You are fool, Wang Jing. You should only think about saving your daughter’s life.’

His daughter's life was at risk, so it wasn't time to think a lot of things. Wang Jing then walked up to Yeowun and bowed, "Lord Chun. I, Wang Jing vowed to never bow or ask favors to anyone in my entire life. But today, I will break that vow."

Wang Jing then went down on both knees. Everyone around became shocked at his sudden action. Wang Jing, Dual Martial Sword and one of top five warriors of Yulin came down on his knees.

"Sir Wang Jing...!"

Yeowun frowned and tried to have him stand up but Wang Jing refused as he shook his head. He then spoke in begging voice.

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

"Please. Save my daughter's life. I ask you, not as a martial artist, but a father."

Wang Jing then bumped his head down on the floor. He had thrown all of his pride away to beg for his daughter's life.

"Ah..."

Yeowun became troubled. He was given no choice anymore. With Wang Jing begging for his help like this, it was certain that he will turn against Yeowun if Yeowun refused to help him.

Chapter 325 - Two birds in one stone (4)

Chapter 325: Two birds in one stone (4)

‘That is not the problem.’

Yeowun had become the Lord of the Demonic Cult after going through many hardships. Having one of the top five warrior siding against him was not something that was afraid of. And Yeowun was a cultist of the Demonic Cult, not a member of the Forces of Justice, so he did not bind himself to the fact that he had to help out people in trouble.

‘I must keep my own will.’

He vowed that he would only have Mun Ku by his side. It was a shame that he was going to lose the chance of having one of the top five warriors by his side, but Yeowun had to look things further in the future. If he took another woman here, then there was a chance he would see the tragedy that revolved around him with the six clans again. A bloodshed between families in search of power.

‘If another woman has my baby other than Mun Ku, it will bring about another tragedy.’

Yeowun had gone through and killed others in revenge, but he didn’t want his children to do such a thing. That’s when Yeowun heard Nano’s voice.

[If user wants birth control, it is possible to go into self-sterilization mode.]

‘What?’

Birth control meant preventing pregnancy. But what was sterilization?

[Nano machine will block the vas deferens to prevent the sperm from reaching semen while the user is going through sexual intercourse. This is more effective than actual vasectomy.]

‘?!’

Yeowun became shocked. This meant that he can only make the woman he chooses to be pregnant. Nano had given the information as Yeowun was worrying if he might impregnate Yogun.

‘...’

Yeowun became wordless at the information. If what Nano said worked, then it was possible that Yeowun could have only Mun Ku be pregnant with his baby.

‘But even then...’

But it seemed a bit sad to have the woman not have a baby when Yeowun already had a relationship with her.

‘This is troubling.’

That’s when Yeowun heard Mun Ku’s telepathic message.

[My Lord.]

‘Huh?’

He turned and saw Mun Ku. She had raised his head up and was looking at Yeowun with a determined look.

[I am really, really sad and heartbroken.]

Yeowun couldn't respond to Mun Ku's words. Yeowun had promised to Mun Ku on that night at the inn that he would only love her and take her as his only wife.

[Mun Ku...]

[But you know what, business is still business.]

[??]

[I am a woman that you love, but before that, I am also cultist of the Great Demonic Cult and the Lord's trusted servant. I see no reason to decline the help which would benefit our cult.]

Her eyes were determined but still teary. Yeowun became sad and apologetic, but he still felt that she was cute in some way.

[...So, take the request and help Sir Wang Jing.]

This was her conclusion. After thinking it through herself, Mun Ku realized that this event would eventually bring benefit to the Cult and Yeowun and the only downside was if Yeowun refused to help. The only thing that bothered her was that Yeowun will not be her only man anymore.

[Mun Ku... if you don't want this, I am not willing to do this.]

[Of course I don't want to! Do you think you'll be okay if I, like, take all those handsome guys and, like... uh, do that?!]

[...]

Yeowun became wordless at that. Actually, the only one who could react and speak in such a manner in the entire Demonic Cult was Mun Ku. She was the only one who made Yeowun become comfortable. Yeowun laughed.

[Are you laughing? Are you that excited? Sleeping with that pretty girl, making an excuse that you are helping her and...]

Mun Ku's two large eyes dropped tears as she spoke. It seemed she was still very uncomfortable and heartbroken by the idea. Yeowun smiled softly at Mun Ku and sent back a telepathic message.

[Pretty? The only one I consider pretty is you, Mun Ku.]

Mun Ku then looked back at Yeowun.

[Hmph! I thought you were shy guy. Guess you're not.]

[Huh?]

[...How can you speak such... embarrassing words like that.]

Mun Ku blushed and lowered her head back down into her arms. Yeowun felt like running up to her and hugging her tight at such lovely sight, but there were too many people around and Wang Jing was still in front of him with his head down on the ground.

[You are still the only one in my mind.]

[Hmph! We'll see about that. And... I know this is the wrong time, but you're not allowed any one else other than Miss Wang! Never!]

[...Yeah.]

Yeowun felt more relieved as Mun Ku accepted it. Mun Ku was a very wise woman, enough to make Yeowun's worries go away. Yeowun then went down and helped Wang Jing up and spoke softly.

“How can I refuse to help a father trying to save his daughter?”

“Lord Chun!”

Wang Jing became brightened up at Yeowun. The only one who could save his daughter around here was Yeowun. Wang Jing had enough power to withstand yin qi, but he couldn't do the required treatment by himself.

“Please... save my daughter.”

“I will.”

Wang Jing pleaded as he held Yeowun's hand. His only purpose for life after his wife passed away were his children. Gam Rosu then walked up to them.

“Hmph. It's good that we've decided. We should make haste. We might not even get the chance to do it if we don't hurry.”

“...So, what should I do?”

“Hmph.”

Gam Rosu then glanced around at the question. Wang Jing and members of Yeowun's forces then walked out of the guesthouse with embarrassment. After all of them left, Gam Rosu explained the procedure that Yeowun had to take. After explaining everything, Gam Rosu reminded Yeowun of the most important thing.

“She will resist strongly while you try to mate her. This will be a serious fight, but you must not stop in the middle.”

“ ... ”

That was hard to even respond to. Yeowun just nodded and took Yogun into his arms and went into a private room inside the building. After putting down her on the bed, Yeowun took a deep breath.

“Hmmmmm.”

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

‘I have to open up her blood point seal first.’

Doing this would make Yogun wake up again. It was likely that the fight will ensue.

‘Oh, maybe I should undress her first just in case.’

If Yogun resisted heavily, then it seemed it would be hard to try to force her into intercourse. Yeowun then reached out with shaking hands from nervousness toward Yogun’s clothing.

Chapter 326 - Two birds in one stone (5)

Chapter 326: Two birds in one stone (5)

Chun Yeowun had learned about women for the first time when he spent the night with Mun Ku, who he was in love with. But that was just once, so even if Yeowun was usually very calm and cold, it wasn't easy for him to undress a woman whom he had met for just a few hours.

Yeowun carefully pulled off the clothes that Yogun had over her. The blue outer robe was pulled off, revealing her underwear. It was very shallow and thin and it showed her pale white skin underneath. Yeowun blushed with embarrassment. But he still had to proceed to make her become naked if he was to proceed with the treatment. Yeowun then reached out toward the underwear slowly.

It was then.

'Huh?!'

Yogun suddenly opened her eyes. It had been only a few minutes that she was sealed with blood point seal before she was taken in here, but she was waking up already. Yeowun clearly heard that her infinite amount of cold yin qi was circulating around her, putting out the blood seals placed by Wang Jing.

'So, even the blood seal won't work against her anymore.'

Yeowun didn't think she would wake up before undressing her. Yeowun quickly tried to pull her skirt down but cold energy unleashed out from her, sending Yeowun up into the air.

“UGH!”

Yeowun was struck into the ceiling as he was sent upward. The ceiling and its roof shook.

“HUH? What’s with the roof?”

Among everyone staying outside the guesthouse building, there were two people who reacted most strongly toward the sound. It was Martial Dual Sword Wang Jing and Yeowun’s woman, Mun Ku. Both of them turned toward the roof and while Wang Jing frowned, Mun Ku bit her lips.

“Ugh....”

One was the father, and another one was the lover, so it was obvious that they didn’t like how things were going.

“...Uh, I think they are really going wild.”

“HMPH!”

Hu Bong mumbled awkwardly as he became dumbfounded and tried to ease the atmosphere, but Wang Jing became uncomfortable and walked away from the building.

“How can you say such a thing!”

Mun Ku also became teary and glared at Hu Bong as she too walked away.

“UGH!”

Hou Sangwha then slapped Hu Bong on the back of his head. Hu Bong was very loyal, but he sometimes didn’t know when to stop.

“Fool!”

That’s when they all felt the shivering cold energy and turned back toward the guesthouse. After the crushing sound, they now saw the wall of the guesthouse freezing up.

“What?!”

“The building is freezing!”

Hou Sangwha and Hu Bong realized something wasn’t right so they tried to run toward the building but Gam Rosu stopped them.

“STOP!”

“But Granny Gam, our Lord is in dang...”

“Don’t you even think about it! This is happening because that Miss woke up. If you go in now, you will ruin everything!”

It was as Gam Rosu said. If the treatment was to be interrupted, there was no way to save Yogun who now had yin qi spread all over her body. Hu Bong and Hou Sangwha became concerned but they had no choice but to stand and watch things unfold.

The building trembled as if there was a huge fight going on, rather than sexual intercourse. But after a while, the sound of loud banging and explosions went away, and they heard faint moans.

“Ah...!”

‘H-huh? OH!’

Hou Sangwha's face became red from embarrassment as she realized what the moaning of a woman meant. She was taller than most men and had a manlike character, but she felt embarrassed as she heard it and closed her eyes and plugged her ears.

'Finally!'

But Gam Rosu brightened up. This moaning was the sound that showed that the mating had started. If Yeowun now extracted and sent out the yin qi within Yogun's body, it was going to work.

"Hah... Ah.... Aaaaah..."

The sound of heavy breathing and moaning and flesh striking against flesh filled the area. But the cold air coming into the burning yang qi made everything foggy that no one could see anything through it.

Yeowun was focusing on sending out hot yang qi from his body and into Yogun. If he made a mistake, then there was a chance that Yogun's veins would freeze up immediately, freezing her to death.

'I was told to take this yin qi into my body, instead of fighting it.'

Gam Rosu said that if Yeowun tried to fight back or push out, it will only cause the energy within Yogun to go out of control.

'Okay. Now, circulate the yin qi through me and out of my body.'

That was the theory that the Godly Doctor had created. She was massively helped by Monk Gu Hur to come up with the idea. Gu Hur said that a warrior at the supreme master level can change the environment's energy into one's own, so it was better to take in the yin qi then send it out.

'Let's try it.'

Yeowun tried the method that Gam Rosu had told him. He focused on the yin qi coming into his body while sending yang qi out of his body. When the yin qi came into contact with Yeowun, the yin qi seemed to be unresponsive.

'There we go.'

Yeowun felt yin qi coming into his body. The huge and powerful yin qi made Yeowun shocked.

'This is amazing. How did she maintain such large energy?'

It was astounding. It was something that no normal human could do. Yeowun then tried to circulate the yin qi around his body, in order to put it out from him.

"HUH?"

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

That's when something unexpected happened. With the infinite and natural source of yin qi coming in, another power that resided within Yeowun had woken up.

'Sky Demon Energy?'

The terrifying energy had woken up from its slumber. The energy began to grow without being controlled by Yeowun now. It began to suck up the yin qi that was surging through Yeowun's body as if it met some kind of prey.

‘W-what is going on...?’

Chapter 327 - Two birds in one stone (6)

Chapter 327: Two birds in one stone (6)

Yeowun tried to ease the Sky Demon energy down, but the energy kept on absorbing the cold energy and began to grow.

‘Ugh. Then I have to send out the yang qi out of my body to have it in balance.’

Even if Yeowun could use energy from the environment, Yeowun couldn’t take in energy that he couldn’t wield at the moment. He had to sent out the yang qi to make room for the incoming yin qi. It was now past the point where Yeowun was just saving Yogun.

That’s when the change began. By taking the yin qi away from her, Yogun’s transparent eyes began to return to normal.

“Hah... Hah...”

And when the blockage began to be opened through, her eyes returned to a normal brown and she became like any other normal woman. Her pale white skin also found back some of its pinkish color as warmth returned to her skin.

‘It’s working!’

Yeowun became surprised. At this rate, it seemed it was possible to ease her from the yin qi inside her that would put her in a rage and change her fate. But now, the problem wasn’t with her.

‘This is cold. It feels like my blood is going cold.’

Yeowun felt cold air coming out of his mouth. His body temperature was decreasing due to the powerful Yin qi inside his body. Of course, Nano existed to help him in such cases.

[Increasing user’s body temperature.]

Millions of nano machines inside Yeowun activated at once to warm himself up. If Yeowun did not have Nano, it could have been very dangerous.

‘This is crazy. Too much yin qi came in.’

The Sky Demon Energy greedily absorbed all yin qi so that it wouldn’t be sent out, and now, Yeowun had almost same amount of yin qi as his original yang qi within him. And Yeowun began to undergo a change.

It was after about 30 minutes. Martial Dual Sword Wang Jing who went away from guesthouse returned and was waiting for the treatment to be over. He decided he would do anything to save his daughter, but it still felt uncomfortable as he was a father.

‘Gayen... what would you have done if it were you?’

He thought about his wife who had passed away. After looking up at the blue sky for a while, Wang Jing felt something within.

‘Huh? W-what is that?’

It was a strange, ominous energy that he had never felt. He felt the coldness subsiding slowly, but the energy equal to the cold energy exploded.

‘A cold energy? No. What is this terrifying energy?!’

It felt like if a terrifying monster was roaring. Wang Jing figured something had gone wrong and jumped toward the guesthouse. As he got up, Yeowun’s members and Wang Bun were already waiting there.

“W-what is going on?!”

“This energy...!”

No one dared to move at the ominous energy coming from within but just kept watching.

“Godly Doctor! What is going on!? What is happening!”

Wang Jing shouted at the Godly Doctor who was looking at the guesthouse dumbfoundedly. But she had absolutely no idea what was going on.

“I-I don’t know what’s going on either! Aaaah!”

She had never learned martial arts, but the ominous energy even made her realize it as it brought fear upon her. It felt like if she was standing in front of some kind of predator. It was then.

The frozen wall of the guesthouse cracked and was soon destroyed. The entire guesthouse exploded and came down in ruins. And through the destroyed building, two figures appeared through the dust cloud.

“Oh.”

Hou Sangwha became shocked and looked away. She knew that these two were within the building, but it was still too embarrassing to watch. Yeowun was revealed with no clothes over his well-built muscular body. The only thing he was wearing was black armguards.

“My Lord!”

Mun Ku who came later after hearing the commotion called out to Yeowun with a concerned look. But Yeowun didn't seem to be listening.

‘Why?’

He couldn't hear, and also a ominous energy was being unleashed from within. And toward the back of Yeowun, a beautiful woman with an alluring body and silver hair was lying down naked.

“Yogun!”

Wang Jing became shocked and shouted at his daughter. But his daughter, Wang Yogun, was dead silent.

“Lord Chun! What's going on here?!”

Wang Jing called out to Chun Yeowun, but there was no response. Wang Jing's decision was simple. Wang Jing quickly ran up, trying to check if his daughter was okay. But when Wang Jing came close, Yeowun suddenly reached out to him.

‘Oh no!’

It seemed like a simple hand movement, but Wang Jing realized the powerful energy wielded in the hand and deflected it. As Yeowun's hand was thrown to the right, powerful energy was sent out and cut the ground within the guesthouse's courtyard.

“Ugh!”

Wang Jing who stood in the way of energy quickly moved to dodge it. The energy was similar to blade qi, but it expanded outward and even destroyed the guesthouse building. And what was more surprising was...

“I-it froze?!”

The ground that was cut down by energy was frozen solid. It was just like the cold energy unleashed by Wang Yogun after she suffered Cold Blood Blockage. But now, the area around Yeowun was turning icy cold.

And Wang Jin heard the small but clear sound of breathing from Wang Yogun. Wang Jing glanced toward his daughter and was assured that his daughter had gotten better by looking at Yogun’s skin color coming back.

‘Ah...! So it worked! But what is up with Lord Chun?’

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

It was hard to explain. Wang Jing then realized that there was the cold energy of Cold Blood Blockage and ominous energy coexisting within the body. But Yeowun’s eyes looked out of focus as if he was in a trance.

‘Was he sent into circulation failure?’

Circulation failure was something one could suffer while wrongly maintaining qi within the body. The symptoms varied but there were some martial artists that went mad from circulation failure and attacked people around.

“Lord Chun! Wake up!”

Chapter 328 - Two birds in one stone (7)

Chapter 328: Two birds in one stone (7)

If Yeowun had lost control over himself, he had to awaken. If a warrior at the supreme master level suffered from circulation failure, it was likely that a massacre would ensue afterwards. It was going to destroy everything in the area.

‘This is bad. He can’t hear.’

Wang Jing then decided and tried to push Yeowun down and away from the building. If he were to fight Yeowun at this moment, there was a possibility that his daughter Wang Yogun might become troubled.

Wang Jing grabbed Yeowun and tried to pull, but Yeowun swung his hands and thrust toward Wang Jing. Wang Jing tilted his head to avoid it.

His reaction was good, fitting to be one of the top five warriors. But avoiding it was not the issue. He had to take Yeowun down from the building so that Yogun can be safe.

“Please excuse me as this will be rough.”

Wang Jing gathered his hand and swung across with a powerful attack toward Yeowun. Powerful energy came upon Yeowun and when Wang Jing raised his hands up, Yeowun’s body was thrown up into the air.

‘That’s amazing!’

Mun Ku, Hu Bong, and Hou Sangwha became astounded as they looked at what was happening. There was a possibility that the energy could injure the target, but Yeowun didn't seem to take any damage whatsoever and was just thrown away. Wang Jing was surely a powerful warrior.

'There we go. Let's pull him.'

Yeowun's body was pushed back by Wang Jing's force energy as Wang Jing tried to throw him toward the garden where no one was at the moment.

"What?!"

But the sword energy that tried to move Yeowun quickly exploded and countered. With Wang Jing's efforts being cancelled, Yeowun jumped in the air and charged toward Wang Jing as if Yeowun now was thinking Wang Jing was his enemy.

'Then...'

Wang Jing then took steps to move behind and out of the building. Chun Yeowun then turned and chased after him. When Yeowun reached out, something jumped out behind the building debris. It was one of Yeowun's unique weapons, White Dragon Blade.

Yeowun snatched it from the air and charged toward Wang Jing. What was interesting was that Yeowun's White Dragon Blade was unleashing cold energy coming from within.

"Wang Bun!"

"Yes, Father!"

Wang Bun understood what his father was implying, and immediately took out one of the greatswords from his back and threw it. Wang Jing grabbed it in the air and swung it to defend himself against the White Dragon Blade.

With two moves colliding against each other, the sound of iron clashing filled the area. An energy storm came upon them, and the ground cracked.

“Aaaah!”

It was a pressure that Gam Rosu, a normal old woman, couldn't take. Her body was thrown back and Hou Sangwha ran to receive Gam Rosu.

‘Is our Lord really under circulation failure?’

Yeowun's members all thought the same thing that Wang Jing thought. If Yeowun had lost his sanity and was attacking them, circulation failure was an only possible outcome for such symptoms.

Wang Jing narrowed his eyes as he stood against Yeowun. He knew that Yeowun wasn't just like any man from the beginning, but the energy within Yeowun was almost equal to Wang Jing's. What was more troubling was the cold energy.

‘I can feel the cold energy through this greatsword.’

The coldness coming through made his greatsword icy cold. Wang Jing was using his energy to melt it down, but Yeowun's coldness seemed infinite just like Yogun when she was under Cold Blood Blockage.

‘Wait. Did he absorb the cold energy instead of sending it out?’

Wang Jing then suddenly came up with a guess. He heard from the Godly Doctor that Yeowun was going to send out yin qi coming into his body through mating. But it seemed Yeowun had absorbed it instead.

‘Why did he do such a foolish thing?!’

It wasn’t something a powerful warrior at the supreme master level could do. Even they were at the stage where they could control the energy of the environment, when a warrior trained in yang qi absorbs yin qi, it was going to create an imbalance within the body.

‘There’s no choice. If he went through circulation failure because he absorbed it, then I have no choice but to put him down.’

That was the only possible answer. Most warriors would go berserk until they died under circulation failure. But they were against Chun Yeowun, a powerful warrior. Even Wang Jing would have a hard time overpowering Yeowun who was almost equal in strength.

“Wang Bun!”

Wang Jing reached out on his left hand and Wang Bun threw another greatsword toward Wang Jing.

“W-wait! Mister Wang! What are you trying to...”

Mun Ku became shocked and shouted while Wang Jing grabbed the two greatswords in his hands. Wang Jing shouted, “Miss! If we don’t stop Lord Chun now, all of us will be in danger!”

And Wang Jing then charged and tried to cut Yeowun’s right arm so he would lose the intention to fight.

“Nooooooooo!”

Mun Ku and Hu Bong became pale and tried to stop him, but it was too late. Wang Jing’s greatsword was already almost upon Yeowun’s right shoulder.

‘I’m sorry.’

But it was then. Yeowun’s black armguards around his arms came apart and got back together as a black sword and defended the attack made by the greatsword.

‘Whoa. This is interesting. That was a sword?’

Wang Jing became shocked and jumped way to the back.

“Ah! Sky Demon Sword!” Hu Bong gasped. The Sky Demon Sword moved on its own to defend its master. But this didn’t happen because the sword had its own will. The Sky Demon Sword floated in the air as it moved down into Yeowun’s right hand. Now, Yeowun had the White Dragon Blade on his left hand, and the Sky Demon Sword in his right hand. Wang Jing became surprised.

‘Right Sword Left Blade.’

He too had earned the title of Martial Dual Sword by using two greatswords at once, but Yeowun’s seemed weird with two weapons that were different from each other. That’s when something amazing happened.

“What?!”

The Sky Demon Sword was soon embraced by ominous, black-colored force qi. That was astounding enough, but something more astounding happened. White blue qi with shivering coldness came out from the White Dragon Blade.

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.Site Only

“I-is he using both energies at once?”

Wang Jing had never heard of such a thing. No one had ever controlled such a massive amount of extreme yin and yang energy within the body together.

‘That’s not circulation failure...!’

Wang Jing had thought so at first, but it wasn’t. And Wang Jing became surprised as Yeowun’s eyes began to return back to normal.

Chapter 329 - Extreme (1)

Chapter 329: Extreme (1)

Sky Demon Energy. It was the ominous terrifying energy that had been stored within the Sky Demon Sword for ages. It had been now stored within Yeowun's internal energy, but acted as if it was alive and had a will of its own. It was vicious and destructive unlike other energies. This was why Yeowun rarely unleashed them except when he really needed it.

'Aaaargh...!'

Yeowun thought the energy would only expand his own energy, but it was actually an eater. It tried to eat gregariously on the yin qi that came into Yeowun's body, even when it was the opposite type of energy. Yeowun had to send out the yang qi he had in his body in order to control the yin qi that his Sky Demon Energy absorbed, but the infinite amount of yin qi made him lose balance.

After the blockage was opened, Wang Yogun passed out.

'There we go! Argh!'

It was now time to control the yin qi that was freezing himself up. Yeowun meditated through the Sword Force of the Sky Demon so increase his yang qi. It was faster to send the yin qi out of his body, but that was not possible as the Sky Demon Energy absorbed it and stored it within him. The Sky Demon Energy was shaping the yin qi to fit Yeowun's body, but he couldn't wait until it was done as waiting it would cause circulation failure.

“Ugh!”

Yeowun coughed blood as he circulated it. He created energy equal to the amount of yin qi within his body. But with two opposite energies residing within him, the amount now exceeded what Yeowun could maintain. It was obvious that he was going to take internal damage.

[Healing the damage in the user's internal organs.]

Yeowun would have passed out a long time ago if it wasn't for Nano which was healing up his injuries. But Yeowun had to solve it from the root if this were to end. After thinking about it, something popped up in his mind.

‘Keeping the balance won't work... I have to unify these two energies.’

If he couldn't throw away the yin qi, then there was only one choice. It was something that no martial artist had dared to try in the past. To mix together extreme yang and yin energy into one.

‘If I can't remove either one, then I must make them coexist. If these two energies do not come against each other but exist in harmony...’

After thinking about how to mix these two energies, Yeowun had fallen into trance. And when he came back to his senses...

“Ah!”

The yin qi of Cold Blood Blockage and the Sky Demon Energy were creating harmony, mixed into one like true yin and yang. Black and white force qi each on both sword and blade proved that it worked. Everyone around seemed to be shocked to see it happening.

“L-Lord Chun! Are you okay?!” Martial Dual Sword Wang Jing asked from about five steps away. Yeowun became surprised to see him. He felt someone taking him on when his energy went out of control while in the process of finding harmony, and it seemed that Wang Jing was the one who did it.

‘I must thank him.’

Yeowun instinctively looked for someone who could help him unleash his energy. If Wang Jing, one of the top five warriors wasn’t here, then the area could have suffered more damage. Yeowun tried to thank Wang Jing.

“Sir Wang Jing. Thank y... Argh!”

But another change began to happen to Yeowun. His white blade force qi began turning into black, and the black force qi on his Sky Demon Sword began to unleash cold air around it.

“How can this be?”

Wang Jing became shocked. Yeowun had used two extreme energies at once, which was already unbelievable, but it now seemed that the two extreme energies were trying to mix into one perfect form.

“S-Sir Wang! What is happening to him?!” Mun Ku asked with concern. The only one who could truly understand what was happening to Yeowun was Wang Jing. Wang Jing mumbled dumbfoundedly.

“He is creating harmony with two opposite energy.”

Sky Demon Energy was wielding coldness from it now. With the blade and sword-wielding unique energy within it, even Wang Jing was awestruck. He wasn't sure how powerful that force of energy would become.

'The energy is expanding rapidly. Is that something that a mere human can wield?'

The energy had increased much more than what Wang Jing had just stood against a while ago. It seemed Yeowun now had more internal energy than Wang Jing.

'He is going to the level I have never set foot upon.'

That was what was happening to Yeowun now. Yeowun dropped the White Dragon Blade and the Sky Demon Sword into the ground and sat down. His body began to unleash black steam and coldness around him.

"Ah-ah!"

Everyone became silent and watched. They all knew instinctively that Yeowun was now going up to a new level. With the sound of explosions and powerful energy, cultists all gathered around. Hu Bong and Hou Sangwha walked out and stopped them from coming near.

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

"Our Lord is moving up in level. Get back."

"I-is that true?!"

"You must not interrupt him in his process."

"Yes, sir."

Chapter 330 - Extreme (2)

Chapter 330: Extreme (2)

Cultists then backed away so that they would not interrupt their Lord ascending into another stage. When everyone returned, Wang Jing asked Gam Rosu to take a look at Wang Yogun.

“Mr. Wang! WE did it! Her yin qi has subsided!”

“I-is that true?!”

“Yes. We will have to keep an eye on her, but she should be fine. I’ll take her down at the medical room and tend to her.”

“Ah...!”

Wang Jing became so glad when Gam Rosu told him that she would be fine. His eyes were teary from relief. It felt like all of his hard work to heal his daughter had finally paid off.

“Will you go with me down to the medical room?”

“...I have something else to do first. Doctor, please take care of my daughter. Bun, go help her.”

“Yes, Father. How about you?”

“I... have to repay my debt to Lord Chun.”

“Ah. I see.”

Wang Jing had his son, Wang Bun help Gam Rosu to carry Yogun down to the medical room. Wang Jing volunteered to stand guard for Yeowun who was in a trance as a way of expressing his thanks. The only one left within the guesthouse was now Wang Jing, Hou Sangwha, Hu Bong, and Mun Ku.

The ground at the courtyard froze up in black ice.

‘This is terrifying, and the powerful cold energy.’

The entire guesthouse became vicious and full of cold energy, hard for those guards to withstand. The only one who was fine withstanding such energy was Wang Jing.

“Ah!”

That’s when all the energy stormed and was immediately sucked into Yeowun’s body. It seemed he had succeeded in mixing the energy into one in harmony.

‘H-his body-‘

‘Is cracking up!’

Yeowun’s servants became shocked as they stood guard when Yeowun’s entire skin began to crack up. Everyone knew what this symptom was.

‘Body reconstruction!’

Body Reconstruction. It was a phenomenon where the body changes to fit the new stage of power. Yeowun already went through it once when he reached the end stage of the superior master level. And now, this was the second.

His bones began to change and skin cracked up as the body trembled. Hu Bong, Hou Sangwha, and Mun Ku were witnessing body reconstruction for the first time so they were shocked to witness such an astonishing sight. After a long time, Yeowun's body stopped its movements at last.

'Is it over?'

Mun Ku looked at Yeowun with a concerned curious look. What change came to him now?

'Ah!'

That's when the cracked up skin above Yeowun all turned into powder as it popped out. With his former self disappearing, Yeowun's new appearance was revealed. He now had a smooth white skin with tight, well-built muscles. It was enough to make everyone moan thinking that they were looking at a perfect body.

'Oh!'

Mun Ku, who had already seen Yeowun's naked body before, felt that it was so beautiful that it made her blush. Hou Sangwha had turned away already with an embarrassed look.

'Wow... I can't feel anything.'

Wang Jing was truly astonished. Yeowun had been unleashing powerful energy that exceeded the limit of a mere human. But he now seemed to have energy stored within that even established supreme master Wang Jing could not sense. Yeowun felt like a normal human.

'Origination!'

This meant that the body returned to its original state, which martial artists used when the martial artist went up to the level where it took every energy in and out of its origin.

Yeowun's eye didn't have strong will, but he was full of wisdom. Wang Jing became excited and spoke to Yeowun.

"Congratulations, Lord Chun! I never imagined I would see someone achieve the stage that I myself wished to achieve in my lifetime!"

It was a stage that Martial Dual Sword Wang Jing dreamed to reach. The perfect supreme master level. Chun Yeowun had learned the harmony of energy while trying to create a balance between extreme yang and yin qi, and now he had reached the end stage of the supreme master level. Every servant of Yeowun went down on their knees and shouted at once.

"Congratulations on your ascension in power, my Lord!"

Yeowun smiled. A mere act of help to heal the woman had brought him an amazing gift. It was surely a fortunate turn of events.

"Lord Chun."

"Yes, Sir Wang Jing."

"You have taken a step into the new level of power. Don't you want to try it out? If you are okay, I want to help you out with that."

Wang Jing looked very eager to try it out. If he had been a father who wanted to save his daughter until now, he was now a martial artist eager to test out the power against another powerful martial artist. He wished to try dueling with Chun Yeowun, an end stage supreme master level warrior. Chun Yeowun was only one who could help Wang Jing use all of his powers, as he didn't have the chance to use it while he was in hiding.

‘Ah...!’

Every servant shivered in excitement. In a way, one of the top five warriors was asking for a duel. They had fought shortly before this, but this was entirely different from the commotion that happened earlier.

‘A fight between our Lord and one of the top five warriors!’

‘I-I want to see that!’

It was obvious that martial artists would so want to see a legendary fight. Yeowun looked back at Wang Jing for a moment and smiled.

“I understood. I want to ask you for the same thing.”

Just like Wang Jing, Yeowun also wanted to try out his new stage of power. Wang Jing bowed in thanks.

“Then we shall move...”

“Sorry, but please wait, Sir Wang!”

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

That’s when Hu Bong suddenly interrupted them. Wang Jing became surprised and turned and Hu Bong spoke seriously.

“We will have to dress our Lord first.”

Mun Ku and Hou Sangwha blushed at his words.

Yes. Chun Yeowun was bare naked as they spoke.

Chapter 331 - Extreme (3)

Chapter 331: Extreme (3)

The party chose the Grainsgate Plains, not too far away from the northern outpost of the Honam Region of the Demonic Cult. It was not a large area, but there were no people coming across the region, so it was a fitting place to fight. It was a duel held in secrecy, so warriors of the outpost stood guard with a 3-mile perimeter.

It was a duel of a century that any martial artist would pay to watch. It was a fight between the strongest warrior of the Demonic Cult, Chun Yeowun, and one of the top five powerful warriors of Yulin, Martial Dual Sword Wang Jing. Normally, a simple duel would be done with wooden swords but this didn't work for them anyway. These two strongest warriors of the entire Yulin were weapons themselves even without any weapons on them.

Explosions kept erupting throughout the plains. Those who were watching from afar away turned to where the sound was coming from and were shocked.

"Is that a fight between martial artists?"

One of the warriors from the outpost gasped in astonishment. The plains were being bombarded by a fight between two powerful warriors. What was interesting was that no one was able to clearly see the fight between these two individuals, and yet they could not pry their eyes away.

"Hah!!!"

Wang Jing's sword formation used by two giant greatswords was amazing. His two greatswords had a much longer and wider range than any other sword. Thanks to this, their distance never closed against each other.

'I was blocked again.'

What was more amazing was that Wang Jing had defended against all of Yeowun's formations in one way or another.

'Those giant swords are in the way.'

Two giant swords covered in force qi made it hard to penetrate through. Any slightest moment of sluggishness would have given Yeowun a chance, but Wang Jing never gave such chance, fitting to be considered as one of the top five warriors of Yulin.

But Wang Jing also felt the same thing. He had to keep creating sword movements with his greatswords constantly to keep Yeowun at a certain distance.

'I can't have him move back. Lord Chun's sword formation is too dangerous.'

Wang Jing had come across the formation of the Sword Force of the Sky Demon for about three times as they started. The bloodstain on his right shoulder was a result of it. He was able to defend against two formations, but the third formation had slightly cut his right shoulder. It was dangerous to collide against Yeowun if Yeowun was using the formation.

'This is getting harder.'

He felt the sword in his hands becoming heavier. He was holding out for as long as he could, but it was obvious that the fight would result in his loss if this continued. He was already lacking in internal energy.

Yeowun jumped up to find an opening and struck down with the Sky Demon Sword that wielded black force qi.

“A powerful attack. Great!”

Wang Jing spoke and defended the attack by bringing up his two greatswords. But when Yeowun struck down, he kicked his foot in the air, and the air pushed him away, disappearing.

‘Huh?! He stepped in the air!’

It was the top level of using the Wind Step God skill, allowing one to step in the air to change direction in the air. Wang Jing quickly thought it through as he lost the trace of Yeowun in his eyes.

‘My only opening right now...’

The only opening was in back. Wang Jing brought all of his might to twist and swung his greatsword in his right hand toward the back like a shield. His experience did not fail him as Yeowun appeared from behind and thrust his Sky Demon Sword.

“Argh!”

Wang Jing was pushed five steps back after being struck by the Sky Demon Sword. He brought up 100% of his energy, but he couldn’t endure it. The astounding power was dangerous.

“Whew...”

Wang Jing took a deep breath and let it out, with his breathe turning white. He had sent out the cold energy that came into him in that one moment. He protected his body through internal energy, but the black force qi covering the Sky Demon Sword easily penetrated his body.

‘This is crazy.’

If Wang Jing was to defend against a terrifying power, then the cold energy came into him instead. He didn’t imagine using two energies at once would be this frustrating to fight against.

‘I have to admit it.’

After fighting for nearly fifty formations, Chun Yeowun was a step stronger than him. They didn’t use definitive skills aimed to kill each other, but it was still enough.

‘Lord Chun is not using his best either.’

As expected, Yeowun didn’t use all of his might in the duel. He still had Right Sword, Left Blade, followed by the Sword Force of the Sky Demon and the Extreme Art of Blade God that would certainly lead the enemy into death that he had not used. It was still a duel after all.

“Wouldn’t either one of them get hurt from that?”

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

“W-whoa. This is terrifying.”

Mun Ku was concerned while Hu Bong was excited. Unlike how those two actually fighting thought, others who were looking thought the fight would result with someone dying.

Wang Jing spoke to Yeowun without easing down.

“A powerful warrior can check the opponent’s power just by exchanging attacks. I think we have enough exchange of formations, Lord Chun. May I ask for a favor?”

Chapter 332 - Extreme (4)

Chapter 332: Extreme (4)

“Yes, of course.”

“Can you show me the understanding you learned by reaching the end stage of the supreme master level?”

They had checked each other's power enough. What Wang Jing now wanted to know was the best power that Yeowun had achieved after reaching the end stage, even if that would result in an injury for Wang Jing. He wanted to feel the power of a martial artist who had achieved the legendary stage.

“...Are you sure it's okay?”

“What do you mean?”

“It can be dangerous.”

“Haha. Don't worry. I am weaker than you, but I am still one of the top five warriors for a reason.”

Wang Jing reassured Yeowun who seemed to be concerned. Wang Jing had not used his best skill yet. If things turned dangerous, he still had that to defend himself.

“...I understand. If that is your wish.”

Actually, Yeowun wanted to check it out for himself, the understanding he found while reaching the end stage of the supreme master level.

Yeowun returned the Sky Demon Sword back into its armguard form. Wang Jing became surprised. Taking the sword back meant Yeowun was showing something that had to do with the form of energy. Yeowun gathered his fingers and aimed at Wang Jing.

‘What is he trying to do?’

Yeowun then opened his mouth as if he had read Wang Jing’s mind.

“I have learned a total of two things.”

It was then. The energy coming out from Yeowun became powerful as it filled the entire area. Its energy was very cold that reached out over 1,000 feet from where Yeowun stood. Then black ice began to form an ice sword. It was just like the skill that Wang Yogun showed when she went berserk.

“What?!”

Wang Jing knew that Yeowun absorbed yin qi, but didn’t think such a thing was possible. He moaned in astonishment. But that wasn’t over. The number of ice swords was over 100, floating in the air and they circled around Wang Jing. Wang Jing clenched his greatswords. This was power beyond his imagination.

“...This is unbelievable, Lord Chun.”

This was a skill that would make Yeowun be considered a legion of troops with him alone. Wang Jing checked the direction of the ice swords that were aimed at him in the air. Then all the ice swords suddenly shattered. Wang Jing who had been preparing to defend against them became dumbfounded.

“What is this? Lord Chun... are you trying to make fool of me?”

“No, sir.”

“Then why did you stop the attack?”

“It’s not the best compared to the second understanding I had.”

“What are you...”

Then, a blue light appeared around Yeowun. All of those blue lights began to gather and started to shape into a sword. Wang Jing became shocked. His disappointment disappeared immediately and became shocked.

‘...This is unbelievable!’

That blue light formed like force qi. But it wasn’t just any force qi. It didn’t form over sword or a hand, meaning it was energy on its own. A warrior on the level of supreme master could use technique called Air Sword. One that became an established supreme master was then given the ability to use force qi over the air sword.

‘H-how is that even possible?’

But what Yeowun was doing was creating force qi over in the air where there was nothing. The number of swords formed was twelve. Yeowun spoke to Wang Jing who seemed to be shocked.

“This is my finding.”

With a deep and complicated understanding of energy, Yeowun was finally able to use such a powerful skill.

‘I can barely maintain it over a minute, but it’s enough.’

“Then, be ready!”

Yeowun reached out his hand toward Wang Jing and all twelve sword force qi immediately charged like lightning toward him.

“Ugh!”

Wang Jing became shocked and swung his greatswords. He tried to keep his distance by swinging his greatswords, but all twelve swords divided up and attacked from all angles, as if they were all used by Yeowun himself.

Wang Jing rapidly moved his swords to defend, but it was too much. It was like he was up against twelve powerful warriors at once.

“Argh!”

Wang Jing’s back waist was cut from one of the swords and Wang Jing turned to strike it down.

‘No!’

But as a sword was struck down, another replaced it to keep on attacking. Wang Jing became busy just barely defending himself.

“By the gods...”

“What in the world am I seeing it?”

Those who watched close up became shocked. Air sword was already a powerful technique, but it used too much energy and was only effective against weaker enemies. But when it became true force qi, the situation was overturned.

Yeowun was standing from afar as he moved his arms. Wang Jing was being pushed around, trying hard to defend against twelve sword force qi, but he was getting slower.

“S-sir Wang is becoming slower!”

Hu Bong shouted excitedly. It was an unbelievable sight to see one of the top five powerful warriors of Yulin in such trouble.

‘Dammit!’

Wang Jing was frustrated.

‘Is there no end to the energy?’

It seemed that a slight mistake would result in his death. He merely withstood it for a few seconds but it was just too much. Without knowing when Yeowun would lose all of his energy in controlling the swords, it was hard to defend against them.

‘N-No! I can’t do it!’

After defending against frantically, Wang Jing shouted, “L-Lord Chun! Stop!”

The swords in the air immediately came to a stop at once. Wang Jing dropped both of his greatswords onto the ground. His face was drenched in sweat.

“Hah... Hah...”

He was really exhausted. Yeowun looked at him and asked, “Will you continue?”

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

Wang Jing looked back at Yeowun dumbfoundedly and shook his head.

“Hah... hah... I lost. You win, Lord Chun.”

Wang Jing declared his loss and Yeowun smiled.

With this, one of the top five warriors of Yulin had accepted a loss against Chun Yeowun.

Chapter 333 - Return to the Demo

Chapter 333: Return to the Demonic Cult (1)

Three Mountains, southwestern side of Kangsoh Castle. This mountain was located near the Yangza River which ran through the middle of the mountain and split into two. With three peaks in the north and south side, that contributed to its name. And near the mountain, there was a large palace-like mansion. The size of the mansion would have the name of something that showed what it was, but it had no name.

Its outer wall was placed like a giant maze, with over 26 small and big buildings scattered over the entire premise. And in the middle of everything, there was the main building. Inside this building, there was an office with a middle-aged man with long hair and narrow eyes listening to a briefing. But he didn't seem too happy to hear what was being told. After listening to it for a while, the man asked, "So, you are saying the centipede for Yi Baek exploded?"

"...Yes, sir."

"And you did not go down there to pick it up?"

The man said 'it' but the one who was reporting understood what it was. It was referring to the treasure that was left by their founder.

"No, sir."

The man answered and the middle-aged man banged on the desk with his fist. The fist wielded powerful energy that shattered the desk immediately. As the middle-aged man showed his discomfort for the first time, the man flinched and became afraid.

“Then you should’ve at least went down there and picked up the body!”

“I-I’m sorry, sir.”

The middle-aged man was angry at the death of the man named Yi Baek. Of course, it was because this middle-aged man was the brother of the dead Yi Baek, Yi Wook.

“We sent agents who were nearby immediately to search, but we couldn’t find the Sword Master’s body. And we didn’t find any of his soldiers’ bodies either.”

Yi Wook raised his eyebrows.

“What? The entire Sword Group squadron disappeared?”

It was a group of 150 elite warriors, with a superior master level leader. Their power was enough to make three or four clans extinct in just one night.

“Not all sir. There are 105 bodies missing, with 59 bodies that fell into the hands of the Blue Sky Brotherhood.”

“Blue Sky Brotherhood? They did this?”

Yi Wook seemed unconvinced. When Yi Baek was ordered to so go down to the Sword Creek, he had investigated the forces residing within Sword Creek already. They found out that one of their officers was staying by the hidden mansion, but other than that, they only had 40 men.

“That’s impossible. That’s not enough to defeat our entire squadron.”

“There were no other signs of any other forces from the Blue Sky Brotherhood making a move, sir. It seems someone else is involved in this.”

“Aaaaaargh! Who dares to interrupt our work!”

They had eyes on every faction of the entire Jianghu very closely. Starting with the Forces of Evil, the Demonic Cult and Yulin Forces of Justice and its secret organization Blue Sky Brotherhood were all carefully kept on watch. But none of them made any movements.

“If we didn’t even get the book, then my brother just died in vain!”

Yi Wook was more furious that his brother had died without achieving anything. If he was able to find out who was behind this, he wanted to go and rip the culprit apart to kill him. That’s when the man who was reporting pulled something out from his back.

“...I know you must be furious, but please keep calm. ‘Blade Master’ told me to give it to you.”

“What’s this?”

It was a scroll wrapped with red silk and golden dragon embroidery. Even the rope that tied the scroll was made of gold color.

“This is the letter you’ve been waiting for.”

“Ah!”

Yi Wook quickly untied the rope and opened up the scroll and checked it out. It was a letter with beautiful writing, marked with a dignified looking seal at the end.

“So, the third step of the Grand Plan will now begin.”

His eyes shook with excitement. He had been waiting for this time for so long. But it was also sad that his brother wasn't here to walk the same path. After reading through the letter, Yi Wook frowned.

“Tonghu Bay? Isn't this bottom of the place? Aren't we doing it in that place?”

“I heard it's not always there.”

“...Well, I guess we don't need to take such risk. It doesn't matter. Whatever the location is, the plan is always the same.”

Yi Wook clenched his fist. He had been hungry for blood to ease his anger anyway.

The northern outpost of the Demonic Cult at the Honam Region. An old woman was wailing and mourning while she hugged a baby tightly. She was the muscular old lady, Godly Doctor Gam Rosu. She had been crying so hard that her face was red and eyes were swollen. The baby in her arms was also crying heavily that the 2nd guesthouse was filled with noise.

In front of them, a man with an eyepatch stood. It was Fourth Elder Yang Danwa. Gam Rosu had been crying for over 20 minutes, with the baby crying and sometimes stopping before starting to cry again.

‘She must be really sad.’

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

It was easy to see why Gam Rosu was crying so hard, as she was crying by the body of her granddaughter Gam Miyan. There was no way she would be okay to find her granddaughter, who she wanted to rescue so badly, return with a dead body.

‘Hmph.’

Yang Danwa volunteered to do this, but it was frustrating nonetheless. He didn’t think the wailing and mourning would last for days. After wailing for a long time, Gam Rosu held the baby in her arms and caressed Gam Miyan’s cold face and mumbled.

“How dare... how dare they kill my granddaughter! I will never forgive them!”

Chapter 334 - Return to the Demonic Cult (2)

Chapter 334: Return to the Demonic Cult (2)

Gam Rosu was told that the Blue Sky Brotherhood killed her granddaughter. It was a lie, but it was better that way as Yeowun and their group couldn't bring Gam Miyan back alive as it was certain that she would try to get in the way in any way possible.

'It's good that she still has her grand-grandson.'

That was huge in this case, as Gam Rosu grieved the death of her granddaughter, the existence of her granddaughter's son would ensure that Gam Rosu would not make extreme choices. It was likely that she would live to avenge and raise her only family.

"Those devils!" Gam Rosu wailed heavily as she cried vengefully, and Yang Danwa thought as she looked on, 'Keep that anger within you for the Great Demonic Cult.'

It could feel bad to lie and use her like this, but they were not Forces of Justice. This was the way of the Demonic Cult.

At the same time, in the medical room by the main building of the outpost, there was a room with many beds. On one of them, a silver-haired woman was sitting on it while talking with someone. They were Martial Dual Sword Wang Jing and his daughter, Wang Yogun. Her cheeks now had a reddish tint as her condition normalized and Wang Jing seemed to be really happy to see his daughter well. Her hair was still silver in color, but that was okay. Wang Jing had waited to see this moment for so long.

‘Gayen. Our child is so beautiful!’

Wang Yogun’s beauty doubled as she recovered from being weak and pale. She was already very beautiful while she was deathly pale, but now she was like a flower that any man would be tempted to take. It was likely that she would easily be considered one of three most beautiful women in the entire Yulin.

“Hmph.”

Wang Jing had been coughing since while ago.

‘It’s good that she became healthy but...’

They had been talking and chatting until a while ago, but now they were dead silent. It was time to speak about an important issue that they didn’t really want to talk about. Wang Yogun had to sleep with Chun Yeowun for her treatment against her will. Wang Yogun knew this and understood this fact. She actually woke up during the act, and she also vaguely remembered what happened when she went berserk. But even if it was an act of medical treatment, it was man and woman having a relationship so they had to talk about marriage.

‘Lord Chun is enough as a candidate.’

Wang Jing asked for the treatment to save his daughter at first, but he came to like Yeowun more as he got to know him. Yeowun seemed like the best son-in-law now that he thought about it.

‘He’s really powerful too.’

After the duel, Wang Jing now knew that Yeowun was like a monster. Yeowun was still young, but he had defeated Wang

Jing. Even if Wang Jing did not use all of his skills, there was no way to deny that he had lost.

‘There’s a monster in the east, but Lord Chun might be the strongest warrior of the entire Yulin in the end.’

There weren’t many who were titled as the strongest warrior in Yulin history. But it seemed very possible that Yeowun might just be the one as he was still very young. And since he was the leader of one of three largest factions of Yulin, it was likely that his daughter would be safe in Yeowun’s hands.

‘I know you might not like this, but maybe he is your destiny.’

There was a chance that his daughter would refuse, but there was no choice. Wang Jing didn’t want his daughter to live in solitude either. Wang Jing decided and opened his mouth to speak.

“Hmph. Yogun...”

“Father.”

“Huh?”

It seemed Yogun had something to say too. That was why she had been looking down, not meeting her father’s eyes until now. After a bit of hesitation, she spoke.

“I-I heard you lost to Lord Chun. Is that true?”

Wang Jing frowned. He had not talked about this issue to her because of his pride as a warrior and father.

“Who told you that?”

“...A man named Hu Bong told me.”

“Hah!”

‘That fool!’

Wang Jing became furious when he heard the name. He didn’t think that Hu Bong might have told the result to his daughter. It seemed that Hu Bong, when he came to fetch Godly Doctor Gam Rosu, spoke a few things to Yogun. At least Yogun did not talk about the fact that Hu Bong addressed her as ‘Lady’ as if Yogun had already married Yeowun. That part was omitted in her explanation.

‘So, it was true!’

She was really surprised as the reaction of her father confirmed it. His father was not a talkative type, but was very revealing on what he thought from his emotions. The way he was acting was absolute proof that he actually lost to Yeowun.

Wang Jing became angry at Hu Bong who spilled his loss to others like this, but he pushed it down and tried to speak what he wanted to say at first.

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

“Yogun, I...”

“Father, I’ve decided. If you allow me, I want to go with Lord Chun.”

“W-what?!”

Wang Jing became dumbfounded when his daughter claimed to want to go with Chun Yeowun first.

Chapter 335 - Return to the Demonic Cult (3

Chapter 335: Return to the Demonic Cult (3)

Wang Jing became dumbfounded at the unexpected reaction from his daughter.

‘W-what?’

Wang Yogun told him the exact thing that he himself wanted her to do, but it didn’t feel all that good to hear her say it willingly. As far as he knew, his daughter was not the type to fall in love just because she had slept with a man. She did not have a mother growing up, but Wang Jing raised her well.

“...Are you saying that because I lost to Lord Chun?”

If that was the reason, that could have been very disappointing and sad. Of course, Wang Yogun was a person living in Yulin who might admire a powerful martial artist, and considering the fact that Chun Yeowun was young and handsome with the potential to become the strongest warrior of Yulin, it certainly was possible that Yogun might fall in love. But what she said next surprised Wang Jing.

“No. Do you think I’d fall for him for such a reason?”

“Then why?”

“I heard from that Hu Bong and also from Bun that Lord Chun had a lover and still helped me regardless.”

“Hmph.”

It seemed Yogun had heard a lot of things in detail when she woke up. Wang Jing was more hesitant on explaining Mun Ku to her rather than proceeding with marriage, but Yogun already knew about her.

“It isn’t easy to do something like that when you have a lover, even if you want to save someone’s life.”

Wang Yogun blushed. Wang Jing frowned from unknown jealousy.

“Don’t you mind about that. Men are not as innocent and pure as you might think. I told you multiple times.”

Of course, Wang Jing knew that Yeowun was not that type as he noticed that Yeowun was concerned about Mun Ku. But he just said it anyway.

“You are a man too.”

“I’m not like any other man.”

Yogun smiled at her father’s concerning words.

“Of course you are not like any other man. But I think you’ve made a mistake.”

“Huh?”

“I... I’m not saying I will need to marry Lord Chun just because I... did that.”

“What?”

Wang Jing frowned at Yogun’s unexpected words. If Yogun was not thinking about getting married to Yeowun, then why was she going to follow him into the cult? Yogun continued,

“Lord Chun saved my life. I would have died if it wasn’t for his help. How can I just ignore that debt?”

“Yogun. Are you saying...”

Something was strange. Her words implied that she wanted to join Yeowun as a servant, not as a wife. And Wang Jing’s guess was right.

“Yes. I want to repay the debt for saving my life by entering the Demonic Cult. You always said debts must be paid.”

Wang Jing sighed at the unexpected turn of events. He had not expected this kind of reaction from his daughter.

“Yogun. Do you know what you are saying? ...I’ll be frank. Even if it was to save your life, you and Lord Chun still slept together. ...And you do not want to marry him? Instead, you just want to join the cult?”

“Father. I am a woman living in Yulin. I don’t want to get married only because I slept with a guy once! Besides, he has a lover.”

“Nonsense! Him having a lover doesn’t stop you from marrying him! You are the daughter of I, Wang Jing! Why would you just be a servant?!”

He had many enemies and lived in hiding, but he still was one of the top five strongest warriors of Yulin; he had fame and honor. If he chose to join in any faction, then it was likely that he would be welcomed with open arms.

“If you are not happy with becoming a 2nd wife, then I will talk with Lord Chun about that, so...”

“Gosh, it’s not about that! Listen to me!” Wang Yogun burst out angrily. Wang Jing became dumbfounded as his daughter who never raised her voice to him started shouting back.

“Father! If you have to marry just because you slept with a guy, all women must be in danger! Everyone will try to sleep with a girl they like so they can marry!”

“...”

She was confident and smart. Her point was also logical, and that made Wang Jing be at a loss for words.

“I’m not that kind of woman. Besides, I have to know the person before I can even think about marriage!”

“I-I suppose you are right.”

Wang Jing answered and Yogun continued, “And... I want you and Bun to come with me.”

“What?”

“You promised that you would protect me and Bun for Mother’s sake.”

In the end, Yogun was saying the entire family to join the Demonic Cult.

‘Ah...’

Wang Jing who was just dumbfounded and shocked by unexpected words, now realized what was going on. He just thought his daughter was having weird ideas, but that wasn’t it.

‘She was just..’

Yogun was screaming, as if she was fighting her father, but her eyes showed that she had hopes and concerns. Wang Jing finally realized what her goal was from the beginning.

‘You always have to look out for us while we hide from Forces of Evil and Justice. It should be safer if we go to the Demonic Cult.’

Wang Jing went into hiding only because he wanted to protect his children. He had to reveal himself because he thought his daughter was kidnapped, but he had never revealed his identity to others until now, even when he was one of the most famous martial artists. That made Yogun sad. Her father had the power and fame to live a life fitting for his position, but he sacrificed everything for his children.

‘Father will follow me if I say this much.’

She was raised very well by Wang Jing, and grew up to be very considerate. What she was doing was to give her father a reason to join the cult without bending his will. His father was from the Forces of Justice, so he did not have a good impression of the Demonic Cult, but they realized the cult wasn’t much different from the others after all.

‘My child has grown to be a very considerate and warm adult. Gayen, our girl has grown a lot.’

Wang Jing felt his heart warm up from Yogun’s thoughts. He then realized it was actually stupid to force marriage upon them just because his daughter had slept with Chun Yeowun. It was better that she work for Yeowun to repay the debt.

“Hmph. If that is your wish, you leave me with no choice. If you do not have any feelings for Lord Chun... then do what as wish.”

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

Wang Jing coughed but brightened his face. He was especially glad that his daughter was concerned about him, not the man whom his daughter had slept with. But Yogun's next comment made Wang Jing frown.

"I-I am not sure yet. I might come to like him if given some time," Yogun blushed as she said and looked away.

"???"

Wang Jing frowned and soon laughed.

Chapter 336 - Return to the Demonic Cult (4)

Chapter 336: Return to the Demonic Cult (4)

On the third outpost guesthouse, Chun Yeowun was talking with Second Elder Yin Moha. She had been out of the post for a full day, and returned just about 30 minutes ago. Before Yeowun went to the Yongho Family's village, Yeowun told Gam Rosu about the patient's symptoms without telling who the patient was. Yeowun already scanned the patient, Chun Yujong before, so he told every detail on the abnormalities he found, and Gam Rosu presumed the condition to be damage in the heart.

'Do you have these herbs in the cult?'

Luckily, Yeowun had a list of herbs stored within the cult when he searched for opium poppy, so he realized what he was missing and told Yin Moha to fetch the missing herbs that Gam Rosu asked for. Herbs on the table were those Yin Moha returned with.

"I was able to gather everything Granny Gam asked for. But... please forgive me for I wasn't by your side when all these things happened, my Lord."

"It's okay. It all worked out."

Yin Moha's presence would not have changed anything as all of it started from the treatment to the duel with Wang Jing that was unexpected. Yin Moha then knelt on one of her knees and bowed.

"And congratulations on becoming one of the strongest warriors of Yulin."

As she said, Yeowun had won against Martial Dual Sword Wang Jing and was now equal to the top five strongest warriors of Yulin. Unlike Chun Yujong who was under the influence of blood reversion art, this duel was a normal duel that both individuals fought the best in. Yin Moha was glad to hear this news.

‘We have all that we need. It’s time we return to the cult.’

The trip had extended for quite a bit as Yeowun took many detours along the way. The only thing left was to bring the Godly Doctor back to the cult. That’s when someone knocked on the door.

“My Lord. There is a guest.”

“Come in.”

Yeowun permitted and a young man with black clothing came in. He then knelt on his one knee to bow.

“Greetings, my Lord.”

“Who are you?” Yeowun asked and the man replied, “My Lord, Elder Huan sends an urgent message.”

“Elder Huan!”

The man was an agent of a covert operations group that was led by Huan Yi. If this agent had to come forward, then it meant there was an important message at stake. Covert operations usually used telepathic messages to send messages unless it was an official report being made. After hearing the man’s telepathic message, Yeowun frowned.

“...We must return at once.”

The information was about unexpected guests heading toward the Mountain of Ten Thousand.

That afternoon, Yeowun ordered to prepare for an immediate return to the Demonic Cult. He went north on horseback, but this time he prepared a horse-led carriage. Originally, they planned to have a funeral for Gam Rosu's granddaughter Gam Miyan before they left, but they had to hurry so Yeowun promised a grand funeral ceremony in the cult and persuaded Gam Rosu to leave now. That required a carriage to carry the coffin that contained Gam Miyan's body.

The coffin was loaded on the carriage with Gam Rosu staying closely by it with the baby in her hands. With all preparations done, it was now time to leave. Yeowun then headed to the medical room along with two elders Yin Moha and Yang Danwa to ask the Wang family on what to do.

'I want to deal with this when we are preparing a funeral.'

Wang Jing mentioned marriage due to the event. Since Yogun was the only person that Mun Ku allowed, Yeowun was to talk things out with Wang Jing and sort out the problem slowly. But with them needing to leave now, the plan had to change. However, the unexpected happened when Yeowun got to the medical room.

'How can this be?'

Yin Moha and Yang Danwa became so shocked that their mouths opened wide. Wang Jing, Wang Bun, and Wang Yogun all went down on their knees and asked to join the cult.

"Sir Wang Jing..."

“Lord Chun, please accept us. How can I repay the debt for saving my daughter’s life other than that? Please allow me to so I can repay it.”

This was a sight that couldn’t be seen anywhere. Yang Danwa was really glad for the unexpected turn of events. He was actually going to ask Yeowun so that he would marry Yogun, which would result in having Wang Jing siding with them. But they were requesting to join the cult voluntarily.

‘This is unexpected.’

Yeowun seemed surprised. This was better than the marriage option but it was curious.

‘Is it her will?’

Yeowun turned to Yogun. When their eyes met, Yogun became blushed and looked away. She was embarrassed to look at the man with whom she slept with.

‘Hmmm...’

The reaction showed that she had some feelings toward him. That’s when Yeowun heard Wang Jing’s telepathic message.

[Hmph. Lord Chun, we will talk about marriage in the future. Isn’t it better for you two to get to know each other better before we talk about marriage?]

‘...’

And this confirmed that the decision was primarily from Wang Yogun. This was really unexpected.

‘I didn’t imagine this.’

She was very beautiful, but Yeowun was not interested in other women, so he didn't feel any different until now. But he now became curious about Yogun who seemed to be different from other women, just like Mun Ku. Yeowun the nodded.

[Okay, Sir Wang Jing.]

Wang Jing became satisfied with the response. Yeowun then bowed.

“How can I not welcome the Martial Dual Sword wanting to join our cult? Please join us, and help me and our cult. Welcome.”

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

Wang Jing brightened up and spoke.

“Thank you, thank you for accepting us. My Lord.”

With that decided, Wang Jing immediately addressed Yeowun as his rightful Lord.

At the same time toward the southern side of the Honam Castle region, there was a large parade heading toward the Mountain of Ten Thousand. In the middle of the parade, there was a lavish golden carriage guarded by countless soldiers. These people were not martial artists, but real soldiers from the government. The red flag that was hung up high had the Imperial Palace's seal on it.

Chapter 337 - Imperial Ord

Chapter 337: Imperial Order (1)

Mountain of Ten Thousand consisted of hundreds of mountain peaks... There was one man who was shooting through the woods at an enormous speed. It even looked like a hint of wind that just shot through with untrained eyes. The man who was showing this amazing skill of stepping skill was the Lord of Demonic Cult, Chun Yeowun.

Each step that Yeowun took changed the area. After he reached the end stage of the supreme master level, his stepping skill exceeded that of Great Guardian Marakim, who had the nickname of Wind God, as Yeowun became faster and more powerful. It had been about two days since Yeowun ran like this without rest.

‘I have to hurry.’

Yeowun was concerned that he might not make it in time. According to the urgent message sent to him two days ago, the unexpected guest was expected to arrive at the Demonic Cult’s castle within two days. Yeowun was at a location that would take at least 3 days due to the carriage, so Yeowun had to travel alone.

‘My Lord. We’ll follow along.’

Two elders volunteered to follow, but Yeowun told them to stay behind and take Gam Rosu with them. Yeowun had to slow down if two elders followed him, so he had to travel alone. Officially, Yeowun was known to be in closed room training, but these guests were those that required Yeowun to come out of said closed room training to greet them.

‘Faster!’

Yeowun increased his speed. After traveling through the mountains, when Yeowun was about 10 miles away from the castle, he heard the sound of horse hooves and mild trembling on the ground. He opened his senses and sensed many figures. Yeowun then looked in the direction where soldiers were making a long parade as they moved along.

‘Oh?’

Yeowun stopped for a second and stood on a high tree, looking at them. There was a lavish golden carriage in the middle, and the flag that was held high in the front had the seal of the Imperial Palace.

‘So, it is from the Imperial Palace.’

Many soldiers were guarding the area. It was a parade of over three thousand people. But Yeowun became curious.

‘I heard the government does not meddle with Yulin. But those soldiers learned martial arts.’

There were about 300 soldiers with orange armor guarding the golden carriage. They ranged from top to master level warriors.

‘And him..?’

There was one man on a horse in the lead, also with orange armor who had learned martial arts. His level was vastly different from that of his men, as this man was at the superior master level.

‘Hmm.... A general at the superior master level?’

It was curious as to how a rare-leveled warrior would be within the Imperial Army. There was a handsome-looking young man with a golden sash standing by him, looking like his lieutenant. He was a bit weaker than the man, but he was at the super master level. These two were very different from the others.

‘Nano, zoom in.’

[Zooming in on the target.]

Yeowun’s eye zoomed in on those two men. He then found the man to be very dignified and strongly featured. It seemed he must be a general with a very high ranking title.

‘This is strange.’

But Yeowun was more concerned about the lieutenant. He had unique feelings that felt like he wasn’t from an army, but the son of a wealthy family.

‘And who is the man in that carriage that is guarded by such group?’

Yeowun felt one person’s presence within the carriage, but the man had no martial art power.

‘Well, I will know soon enough.’

After looking at them, Yeowun took steps again to go further south so he can get to the castle faster and prepare to greet these guests.

At the same time toward the northern gate of the castle, cultists were busy preparing to greet the guest coming from the Imperial Palace. A road was covered with silk and the other preparations were being made. On the wall, a man with red silk clothes with butterfly embroidery looked toward the north, as if he was waiting for someone.

“Is he not here yet?”

It was Seventh Elder Huan Yi. He had white make-up on to make him look feminine. He was looking toward north with a concerned look. Someone then climbed up from below. It was Great Guardian Marakim with his unique engraved mask.

“Is Lord not here yet?” Marakim asked and Huan Yi shook his head.

“No. The Imperial Army will soon arrive... this is bad.”

Huan Yi already heard that the guest was already within 10 miles. They had to be prepared to greet the incoming guest. If the Lord did not arrive within that timeframe, everyone starting from the Imperial Palace to all cultists would know immediately that the Lord had been absent.

“Hmm... that is concerning.”

Marakim also nodded in concern and looked toward the north. That’s when he found something in his sight. Something like a dot was coming in their direction at enormous speed.

‘It’s really fast.’

It was so fast that a mere glance would have made Marakim think it was leaves flying through the breeze. Huan Yi didn’t seem to have realized it yet, and Marakim might have missed it if he didn’t look carefully. The dot was becoming bigger as it only kicked off the top of a tree to jump across.

‘Wait...’

They weren't sure who it was, but Marakim couldn't sense anything. This meant the dot was a man who was stronger than him. If this man was stronger than Marakim, a supreme master level warrior, it could only mean one of the top five warriors of Yulin. And the dot was moving from left to right, trying to hide himself from being caught.

'Is he doing that to hide?'

That would surely hide the man from the eyes of just normal warriors. But there was a large open area between the end of forest and to the castle wall, and that would surely reveal the man.

"Elder Huan. We must be ready to defend."

"Defend? What do you mean?"

"Look."

Marakim pointed at the dot. The dot was now close enough to show that it was a human figure.

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

"See what?"

"Don't you see that trace?"

Huan Yi concentrated and finally saw something. It was so fast that he had to focus really hard to get even catch a glimpse of its movement.

"W-what is that?"

Chapter 338 - Imperial Order

Chapter 338: Imperial Order (2)

“We must activate the defense formation at once.”

“Why at this moment...!”

That level surely meant a powerful enemy. Just a bit closer and the face would be revealed. And when Huan Yi was about to order the guards to set the alarm for the intruder, Marakim saw the face.

“Elder Huan! Stop!”

Huan Yi stopped and turned back with a curious look. Marakim then sent a telepathic message.

[It's our Lord!]

[What? Are you sure?]

The one who was coming at an enormous speed was Yeowun. It was very close to making things complicated, but they were able to stop. The reason why Yeowun was creating that trace seemed to be because Yeowun did not want to let others know that he had been out of the castle walls.

‘It should be better if he comes from the other gates.’

Huan Yi became concerned. There was a large open area in front of the gate, so that would surely reveal Yeowun. But something unexpected happened. Toward the end of the forest, Yeowun jumped high up into the last tree before the open area.

‘M-my Lord!’

‘What is he doing?’

Marakim and Huan Yi became shocked as Yeowun jumped even higher than the castle wall. Warriors above the wall were too busy as they were preparing to greet the guest and didn’t notice Yeowun in the air. Yeowun took steps in the air, flying across the wall. Marakim and Huan Yi became so shocked that they almost screamed.

‘By the gods...!’

‘A-Air walking?’

This was the air walking technique, where a man used energy to step on air to fly through. This technique was deemed a legendary stage of the stepping skill that equaled its legendary state to that of Air Sword flying, which all people of Yulin only dreamt of.

‘T-the Lord has gone up to an even higher stage!’

This wasn’t something even Marakim could do. He could barely turn the direction of a fall in the air, but Yeowun was easily doing something so incredible. However, what Yeowun did next when he was up in the air was even more amazing.

‘W-wait...!’

Yeowun pulled out the White Dragon Blade, threw it up, and got up on it to fly through the air. Yeowun flying through at twice the height of the castle wall made him unspotted as he flew across it. Two of them became dumbfounded. Soon, Yeowun shot through the wall and went into the inner palace. Huan Yi sent a telepathic message with a dumbfounded look.

[Uh... Great Guardian. What do you think happened outside?]

[...I want to ask you myself.]

Chun Yeowun had returned as a monster in just a month's time. He had power that equaled that of the top five warriors of Yulin.

Marakim and Huan Yi quickly followed Yeowun to the inner palace. It seemed Yeowun knew they were following him as he was waiting for them near the palace.

"Greetings, my Lord! Great Guardian at your service!"

"Greetings, my Lord. Seventh Elder at your service."

"Was everything alright while I was gone?"

"Of course, my Lord. I'm sorry to say this, but we have to make haste."

"Ah."

They quickly escorted Yeowun so that he could get changed into formal attire to greet the guest. All other elders remaining within the palace were already dressed as they all had to greet the incoming guest. When Yeowun entered the palace, everyone got up from their seats and bowed.

"Glory to the Demonic Cult!"

And with that, Third Elder Mun Yun, the highest-ranking elder at the moment, greeted him. Yeowun became awkward as he looked at Mun Yun.

‘Hm...’

Yeowun had slept with his granddaughter Mun Ku while he was out in Yulin. They weren’t married yet, so Yeowun felt apologetic toward Mun Ku’s grandfather Mun Yun.

‘After the guest from Imperial Palace is settled, I should talk with Elder Mun.’

Whatever the case, they had to deal with the guest first. Yeowun took the six elders and three of the remaining Six Swords to the northern gate where preparations complete. All clan leaders were out in line. They all stood ready to greet the guest.

Hundreds of horses stomping on the ground caused mild trembling. Soon, the Imperial Army revealed themselves through the woods. As they got closer, soldiers divided into two rows, opening a row in the middle so that the lavish golden carriage could move up front. A man in orange armor who was in the front got down from his horse and went up to them.

‘Ah.’

Marakim and the other elders became surprised. They all sensed, just like Yeowun, that the man was at the superior master level. The man looked at Yeowun and cultists with an arrogant look and shouted, “Citizens of the Great Ming! I am Southern Commander Yon Namgun!”

All cultists became shocked. Huan Yi then sent a telepathic message to Yeowun who did not know much about the Imperial Palace’s ranks and titles.

[M-my Lord. That man is from the Imperial Guards.]

The Imperial Guards were a military group entrusted by the Emperor himself. They had the leader, Supreme Commander, and two commanders: the Northern and Southern Commander. These commanders were high-ranking officials of the Imperial Palace. Yeowun did not know, but both of the commanders' power was famous even within Yulin.

'Who is in that carriage that made such a high-ranking general come down here?'

The carriage began to move. It seemed the person inside was getting out.

'That man is from the Imperial... huh?'

With the door of the carriage being opened, the person finally revealed himself. The man was plump with narrow eyes, with a goat-like beard. He did not look like anything that Yeowun had imagined as a person from the royal family.

"Hmph!"

The man then carefully took out something from the carriage over to the small plate, and got down from the carriage.

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

'What is that?'

On the plate, there was a red silk scroll with golden dragon embroidery. Everyone looked at it weirdly and Yon Namgun became furious and shouted, "How dare you stand straight in front of the Emperor's order?! Get down to your knees right now!"

“?!”

The purpose of the lavish golden carriage was to bring down the scroll that contained the order of the Emperor.

Chapter 339 - Imperial Order (3)

Chapter 339: Imperial Order (3)

Three days before the Imperial forces arrived at the Demonic Cult Castle, someone called out to the person outside the golden carriage.

“Southern Commander. Are you there?”

“Yes, Your Highness.”

Yon Namgun, who was the lead of the Imperial Guards who guarded the carriage, slowed down his horse to walk next to the carriage. The person then ranted from within the carriage.

“Commander. Isn’t it weird for me, King of the Great Ming Dynasty, to go down myself to send the message?”

The man who inside of the golden carriage along with the Imperial Order was the 2nd son of the Emperor of the Great Ming, Zhu Taikhan. Zhu Taikhan was very displeased with the fact that he had to go down to the Mountain of Ten Thousand himself. He did follow the direct order from the Emperor, but he still wasn’t happy about it.

“It’s an order from the Emperor himself. Please, consider it.”

Yon Namgun spoke to Zhu Taikhan. Yon Namgun had been saying this multiple times throughout their trip already but Zhu Taikhan’s discomfort did not disappear.

‘I don’t understand why our First Emperor even promised such a thing.’

Zhu Taikhan didn't say this out loud as speaking ill of the first Emperor of the Great Ming was not allowed even for the son of the current Emperor, especially because of the nonaggression pact between the entire Yulin and the Empire. This was a pact made between the First Emperor of Great Ming and three leaders of the three factions of Yulin. Martial artists of Yulin who had unimaginable power as a single entity was a serious threat to the Empire. There were some dynasties in the past that fought a war against Yulin, but the First Emperor of Great Ming considered a waste to fight within and made a pact with them instead.

'I heard the martial artists helped when the Great Ming first started.'

They were told that from the beginning. But now that was 180 years ago.

"Commander."

"Yes, your highness."

"Who owns this land?"

"It belongs to the Emperor of the Great Ming, your highness."

"Then who are those who live in the land of Great Ming?"

"They are the citizens of the Great Ming, your highness."

The carriage shook as the man inside punched his fist into the carriage.

"Then why are these so-called martial artist thugs disrespecting our Empire?!"

“What are you...”

“They are citizens of the Empire who should come bow in fear when the Emperor orders them to. But why am I, a King, going down to them instead?!”

Zhu Taikhan was furious at the fact that he had to take orders from the Emperor and go down to send these people messages by himself. And he didn't like this Demonic Cult faction, where they considered their Lord to be the 'Sky'. Even the Emperor of Great Ming himself only considered him to be the 'Son of the Sky.' It was very arrogant of them.

“Why are they so different from those who call themselves the Forces of Justice?”

Those from the Forces of Justice considered themselves as citizens of the Great Ming and always paid respect toward the Empire. Zhu Taikhan saw many powerful warriors from the Forces of Justice within the Imperial Palace when they were invited. Some of them even offered to teach warriors of the Royal family in way of the blades. Zhu Taikhan, who was highly interested in martial arts, also took this chance to learn blade art from a monk from the Fire Mountain clan.

“As far as I know, your highness, the cult, and the Forces of Evil have different values.”

Commander Yon Namgun had few friends from the Forces of Justice and had heard about the power struggle between the three factions. These three factions were older than the Great Ming itself, and always struggled to keep their values.

“Values? Rubbish. That's up to them, not us. Are only the Forces of Justice considered citizens of the Great Ming Empire?”

“...No, your highness.”

Yon Namgun had no objection to that. Even if all these martial artists were fighting against each other, they all were citizens of the Great Empire.

‘Emperor ordered it himself, but that’s not good. It’s better if I can make the Lord come up to the palace himself. If I can do that, it will be a great feat.’

Unlike the Yulin clan of the Forces of Justice, no leader from the Demonic Cult or Alliance of Forces of Evil came to the Imperial Palace. They always sent their messenger to keep the pact in place, arrogantly.

‘Hmph.’

If it wasn’t for Zhu Taiyun who chose to go down to the Yulin clan, Zhu Taikhan would have chosen to go to the Yulin clan instead. But with the eldest son, Zhu Taiyun, choosing first, Zhu Taikhan had to choose the Demonic Cult as they were known to treat guests from the Imperial Palace with respect at least. As for the Alliance of the Forces of Evil, even his uncle suggested not to go.

“I can’t let this go on like this. What do you think, Yuking?” Zhu Taikhan asked and a man who was on a horse left of the carriage, answered under the shadows, “Your highness. I heard the Lord has been replaced recently.”

“Hmph. I heard that too.”

Before Zhu Taikhan departed for the Demonic Cult, he asked monks from the Fire Mountain clan who were at the palace to teach blade arts to the Demonic Cult. They didn’t know the details, but they said the new Lord was very young.

“From what I have heard, the previous Lord had a health problem, and that the new Lord overthrew him and took his place.”

“Oh? Is that so?”

Zhu Taikhan became interested in the news that he hadn't heard of. The man continued, “Your highness. It is said the new Lord replaced most of the powerful individuals of the cult and the Lord himself is very foolish. How about you take this chance as your advantage?”

“Advantage?”

“If you teach this ruffian the way of our Empire, this will earn you trust from the Emperor.”

Yon Namgun frowned at the man named Yuking. The way the Imperial Order was delivered was entirely in the hands of Zhu Taikhan, but he wasn't sure if this approach and thinking might be beneficial.

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

“Interesting. Go on.”

But Zhu Taikhan seemed to be very interested. After hearing the plan, Zhu Taikhan, unfortunately, decided to do what Yuking told him to do.

‘That Yuking... I am worried how the cult will react to this.’

Yon Namgun became concerned but he was an Imperial Guard. He could only take orders from the Royal family.

Chapter 340 - Imperial Order (4)

Chapter 340: Imperial Order (4)

Yon Namgun shouted at the cultists standing in front of the castle gate.

“Get down to your knees and take the Imperial Order!”

The loud, dignified shouts wielded energy. Most people would hastily get down on their knees in front of the imperial order, but this time it was different. The air turned cold and while these people seemed to be welcoming up until now, they suddenly turned very cold and grim.

‘Hmmm...’

Yon Namgun became wordless at the unexpected reaction. He did guess that cultists would not bow easily, but he didn’t imagine the reaction would be this cold.

‘They are not like ordinary martial artists. But this is going too far.’

The order seemed a bit much, but when facing cultists not willing to bow, Yon Namgun became furious as he was a commander of the Imperial Guard who protected the Imperial Palace’s authority. He then frowned and tried to shout when he heard the telepathic message.

[Enough. You won’t be enough.]

It was sent from Zhu Taikhan. The chubby man then frowned and called out to one of the Imperial Guards to hold the plate that carried the Imperial Order scroll. He then walked a few steps up and shouted toward the cultists.

“I am King Zhu Taikhan, under the order of the Emperor of the Great Ming Empire.”

The chubby man was Zhu Taikhan. The cultists became shocked.

“King?”

“Is he the son of the Emperor?”

Those who were given the title of a King were only the male relatives of the Empire. They expected the one inside the carriage to be a high-ranking official, but they didn’t expect to see a king. Yeowun then heard Huan Yi’s telepathic message.

[My Lord. He must be the second son of the current Emperor.]

Huan Yi was the leader of covert operations and intelligence that he knew the names of all the royal families. There was a visit from the imperial palace due to the nonaggression in the past, so they had to be aware. But the atmosphere was different. The way Zhu Taikhan was talking to them was as if he was talking to normal citizens.

“How dare you still stand in front of the Imperial Order and the King of the Empire!”

Zhu Taikhan seemed as if he wanted to see cultists getting down on their knees. The cultists became hesitant. They seemed to be worried if their Lord would become uncomfortable for this turn of events.

‘Hm? It must be him.’

Zhu Taikhan found Chun Yeowun with a lavish black robe standing between the cultists. Everyone seemed to be concerned about him, so it was certain that he was the new Lord of the Demonic Cult.

‘I can’t feel anything from him, but he must be it.’

Chun Yeowun had collected his energy, so it wasn’t possible to feel any energy coming out from him. He felt more like an ordinary man rather than a martial artist. That’s why all the Imperial Guards and Zhu Taikhan didn’t even think Yeowun was the Lord of the Demonic Cult.

‘He really is nothing.’

Zhu Taikhan figured the Lord of the Cult might still be a powerful warrior, but he wasn’t. Zhu Taikhan then pointed at Yeowun with his finger.

“Are you the Lord of the Demonic Cult?”

Left Guardian Lee Hameng turned cold at the sudden arrogant words being thrown at Yeowun. All other cultists reacted similarly. But Zhu Taikhan did not care and flicked his finger at Yeowun.

“Now I see why all your cultists are so arrogant and foolish. Come down here on your knees and take the order from the Emperor.”

His last word enraged all the cultists.

‘How dare he!’

‘He is insulting our Lord!’

With each of the cultists unleashing their internal energy, a powerful aura spooked all horses, making them neigh and try to turn.

“Ugh! Horses!”

“Wuh!”

But all those from the Imperial Army were able to feel this power being unleashed from the cultist. The Southern Commander who felt this before the others pulled out his sword and shouted, “You dare show your hostility toward the King who bears the order of the Emperor?! Is the Demonic Cult trying to commit treason?!”

Acts of treason against the Emperor and his relatives were not allowed under the law of the Empire. But when these words were spoken, all cultists became dumbfounded.

‘Hahaha. You have no choice!’

Zhu Taikhan became satisfied. It was likely that the cultists became arrogant because the Imperial Palace had been treating them with respect until now. But the cultists were still citizens of the Great Ming Empire and there was no way for them to stand against the Empire itself.

‘If you are citizens of the Great Ming Empire, then you must act like it.’

It was evident that these cultists had to kneel before them. Will they keep their pride and side against the Empire and face the might an army of a million strong? Or will they throw away their arrogance and bow? Zhu Taikhan assumed it would be the latter. But...

An old man with white hair came out from behind Yeowun and knelt on his one knee to Yeowun, "My Lord. Will it be okay if I speak?"

Yeowun raised his hand to allow him. It was Third Elder, Mun Yun. Mun Yun got out and bowed his head down slightly toward Zhu Taikhan. The Imperial Guard stood next to Zhu Taikhan shouted angrily.

"You dare not kneel before his highness.... UGH!"

But the guard became terrified by the sudden pressure of energy coming down on him. Mun Yun's energy made it painful for him. Mun Yun ignored it and said, "It is an honor to meet the King of the Great Ming Empire."

Zhu Taikhan spoke uncomfortably.

"You dare look straight into my eyes and..."

But Mun Yun cut him off as he glared.

"Sorry to interrupt, your highness. But we cultists of the Great Demonic Cult only kneel to our sky and the Lord and no one else."

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

Every cultist nodded eagerly at Mun Yun's strong words. All of those from the Imperial Palace became furious. This was treatment that they had never experienced before.

"And we the Demonic Cult are under the nonaggression pact with the Great Ming Empire. We are independent of the Empire and are not related to the Empire in any sense."

Zhu Taikhan frowned. He didn't think Mun Yun would mention the nonaggression pact at this moment.

“The First Emperor of the Great Ming asked for help from our cult, and made a nonaggression pact afterwards. Why do you come now and want us to kneel before you?”

Chapter 341 - Imperial Order (5)

Chapter 341: Imperial Order (5)

Mun Yun pointed out the fact. He was from a family that had a long history in the Demonic Cult, so he knew many historical pacts made in the past. As he said, Yulin and the Imperial Palace were entirely independent of each other. There were some from the Yulin clan of the Forces of Justice that joined the Imperial Palace, but the Demonic Cult had no interest in that. The cult only served the Fire, Demon God, and the Lord who was a conduit to both of those.

‘Hmph. I knew this was coming.’

Yon Namgun sighed as soon as he heard it. There was no way the Demonic Cult will kneel to the King due to the nonaggression pact, nor will they succumb to threats.

‘It’s better to stop here and then make them become more uncomfortable.’

Carrying out any more of those plans that Yukung asked to do was only going to make cultists more furious. Yon Namgun thought Zhu Taikhan would stop here since things weren’t going as planned. But his expectation was wrong.

“YOU DARE!! You dare try to teach the King of the Great Ming?! Guards! Bring this arrogant man down on his knees!!” Zhu Taikhan ordered and even the handsome lieutenant who stood next to Yon Namgun frowned.

“Wai...”

“As you wish, your highness.”

Three of the Imperial Guards immediately pulled out their swords and charged at Mun Yun.

“Hmph. You are going too far.”

But there was no way Mun Yun would lose to top-class level warriors. Mun Yun easily shattered their swords with a flick of his hand.

“M-my sword!”

“Argh!”

That’s when a few clan leaders came in and struck the guards down.

“Protect the King!”

“Treason!”

The Imperial Guards immediately pulled out their weapons and used their steel shields to create a barrier. Yon Namgun became shocked by the situation going south, but Zhu Taikhan smiled as if he wanted this to happen all along.

‘Hehehe... they are making things worse for themselves!’

That’s when he heard a telepathic message.

[Yuking! What do you think you are doing!!]

Surprisingly, the chubby man who introduced himself as the King was actually Yuking. Yuking looked at the man who sent a telepathic message and responded politely.

[Your highness. I am taking your order to teach these arrogant cultists a lesson.]

[I never told you to do it this way!]

The man who was sending the telepathic message frantically was the lieutenant who stood next to Yon Namgun. He was the true King Zhu Taikhan.

‘He said we just need to show the authority of the palace... YUKING!!!’

He disguised himself as a guard and had Yuki be his decoy, but Yuki said something Zhu Taikhan didn’t wish to speak about and made things worse. Yon Namgun was now looking at him, thinking that Zhu Taikhan actually ordered Yuki to do such a thing.

[I-it’s not me!]

Zhu Taikhan shook his head but it was too late. The Imperial Guards were frantically moving to be ready to fight. Yuki was satisfied with the situation.

‘With this, the cult will now side against the Empire. We didn’t even need to go down to the third option in the Grand Plan... everything has been done by Yuki’s hand...’

It was then when a shadow drew upon Yuki. It was Chun Yeowun who suddenly appeared in front of him.

‘H-how did he come through the guards?!’

There was no time to be surprised. Yuki, who was an established master, immediately attacked Yeowun. But...

“Aaaaargh!”

His hand was cut down immediately from the wrist. Yuki screamed and shouted angrily.

“H-how dare you attack the King! This is treason!”

“King? Don’t give me that rubbish.”

“W-what are you...”

Yeowun then gathered blade qi on his hand and cut down his other arm from his shoulder.

“Aaaaaaargh!”

Yuking rolled on the ground from the pain of losing both his right hand and his left arm. Blood poured out from the wound, soaking the ground with blood.

Yeowun then reached down and picked Yuking’s chubby body up with his hand. Guards became shocked to see such strength.

“W-what are you trying to...”

“I’m trying to do this.”

“Aaaaaaargh!”

Yeowun then threw Yuking toward the gate where the cultists were gathered.

“Ugh!”

Yuking was instantly transferred from behind the Imperial Guards to the middle of warriors of the Demonic Cult.

“H-how dare you!”

“Get him!”

The Imperial Guards charged toward Yeowun with their swords, but Yeowun disappeared, leaving his trace behind. The Imperial Guards learned martial arts so they knew what this was.

“H-he disappeared!”

“It’s mirror image!”

They tried to find Yeowun, but Yeowun was already in front of Zhu Taikhan and Southern Commander Yon Namgun, who were surrounded by the Imperial Guards. Yeowun was so fast that no one was able to see him clearly.

“H-how did he get through the barrier?”

“Get him!”

Guards tried to charge at Yeowun, but three figures appeared around Yeowun and blocked them. It was Great Guardian Marakhim, Left Guardian Lee Hameng, and Right Guardian Submeng. Three Guardians at the level beyond their imagination easily broke through the Imperial Guard’s defenses.

Lee Hameng drew a line on the ground with his distinct red sword and warned, “If you cross this line, it will cost at least an arm.”

“Yeah, yeah. Same here.”

Submeng also created a line on the ground with the blade qi from his Crazy Blade. Two superior master levels made all the Imperial Guards stay in their spots in fear. And now, powerful clan leaders were circling around them.

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

‘I-is this the Yulin... no, the Demonic Cult?!’

Zhu Taikhan was shocked. He too had learned martial arts — a barrier created by top-class warriors would be impenetrable. But it was useless against them. And Chun Yeowun, who didn’t even seem to have learned martial arts, was a monster beyond imagination. When the area became silent, Yeowun bowed slightly toward Zhu Taikhan and spoke.

“Your highness. That lieutenant armor fits you well.”

“?!”

Chapter 342 - Imperial Order (6)

Chapter 342: Imperial Order (6)

King Zhu Taikhan was dumbfounded. He had made a decoy and hid between guards, but this demon-like Lord knew that he was the King after all. Then did he play along even when he knew that Taikhan was hiding between the guards? Taikhan became speechless when Yon Namgun walked forward to protect Taikhan with a tense look.

“I know there is the pact of nonaggression, but do you think it can be justified to injure an official of the Imperial Palace and threaten his highness?”

He seemed much more careful with his tone now. But it didn't make him any more comfortable with these cultists. Submeng then scoffed as he said, “Hah. Mister Commander. It's not us, but you people who started this.”

“B-but...”

As Submeng said, it was the decoy to the King who started all this in the beginning. The Demonic Cult had its highest officials come out of the castle walls to greet them, paying the utmost respect to the Imperial Palace. But it was the palace who urged the cultists to kneel.

‘He is correct, but I can't just say yes to their power or else the authority of our Imperial Palace will fall.’

The commander glanced toward the soldiers and the Imperial Guards. They seemed all tense and fearful of the Demonic Cult warriors.

‘This is not right.’

Even if they were at the Demonic Cult, they were still the Imperial Army. The authority of the King, a son of the Great Ming Empire’s Emperor, was not to be undermined. Yon Namgun had to stop that from happening at least.

“Hmph. That was Yuking’s doing, not our king. And even if what Yuking did made you feel uncomfortable, it doesn’t mean you have the right to harm our official like that,” Yon Namgun said.

Yeowun scoffed. He then asked Zhu Taikhan who was behind Yon Namgun, “Let me ask you, your highness. Our cult executes those who impersonate the Lord. How does the Imperial Palace take care of an imposter trying to be a king?”

‘?!’

Zhu Taikhan frowned but he couldn’t say anything. Yeowun easily countered the words that Yon Namgun had said to him. If it wasn’t for the cult, the Imperial Palace would’ve also punished them heavily by killing the impersonator and their family.

“Let me tell you this: if it wasn’t for the pact of nonaggression, that man would not be alive now.”

Chun Yeowun, who became the Lord, never knelt to anyone, even if it was in the presence of the Emperor of the Great Ming Empire.

‘This man isn’t just only powerful.’

Yon Namgun was shocked by Yeowun’s monstrous power at first, but now that he saw it, Yeowun was also very intelligent. Yon Namgun had to return to basic reasonings.

“Ugh, okay. Whatever the case, what you are doing is disrespecting the Royal family. Get away from our King right now!”

And with that, Yon Namgun aimed his sword at Yeowun. That’s when someone charged toward him quickly and struck his sword. Yon Namgun focused 80% of his energy into it, but the attack had much more power in comparison.

‘How can the power be that strong?!’

He once thought that no one would stand a chance against him unless he was up against the top five strongest warriors of Yulin. He even dueled and tied against the elder of the Fire Mountain clan once.

‘Who is this masked man?!’

The man who attacked as soon as he aimed the sword was Great Guardian Marakhim. With Yon Namgun’s right arm thrown upward, he raised his left foot to kick up Marakhim’s neck. But Marakhim easily dodged the attack by tilting his head back and struck his finger into the blood point on the leg.

“Argh!”

Yon Namgun screamed as sword qi penetrated through his thighs. He then tried to regain balance by pulling his leg back, but Marakhim kicked his right leg that held him up. Yon Namgun was then thrown off to the ground. He dropped the sword he had been holding at the time, and Marakhim reached out toward it. The sword then moved into Marakhim’s hand.

“Ugh!”

Marakim aimed his sword at Yon Namgun’s neck and warned, “Don’t you dare aim the sword at our Lord.”

“Ugh...!”

Yon Namgun became wordless with the cold sword upon his neck. His pride that he earned after becoming a superior master warrior had shattered. The masked man was more of a warrior than he could ever be in terms of power.

‘Commander is down!’

Yon Namgun was one of the top warriors within the Imperial Guards. With the only one who can protect to be fallen, Zhu Taikhan became shocked. All other guards were too afraid of Yeowun and his guardians.

‘He will now threaten me too!’

The only thing Zhu Taikhan now had was his mouth. He wasn’t going to win against these cultists anyway. After a slight moment of thinking, Zhu Taikhan spoke.

“How dare you threaten me and show violence toward the Imperial Army?! Are you not afraid of the million soldiers of the Great Ming Empire?!”

Zhu Taikhan chose the most simple way. For a prince who had grown up within the palace, it was not possible to imagine he had to bow down to someone who wasn’t from the Royal family.

“You are quite bold.”

Yeowun spoke surprisingly. He thought this show of power was enough to make Zhu Taikhan succumb. But Zhu Taikhan didn't back off. He thought there was no way a martial artist, no matter how strong he was, would stand a chance against millions of arrows.

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

Of course, a real battle against millions of warriors was not something that they could fight against.

“If you harm me in any way, the Demonic Cult will be wiped off the map!”

Zhu Taikhan spoke strongly. He had to use the best weapon he had to threaten his enemies. He figured the Demonic Cult would not be afraid of the giant Imperial Army coming at them. But it was strange.

‘What? What’s with that look?’

Chapter 343 - Imperial Order (7)

Chapter 343: Imperial Order (7)

Yeowun, nor any of the cultists seemed to care. Yeowun was even looking disappointed as he shook his head.

“You’re not bold, but reckless. I was anticipating seeing someone from the government for the first time... but this is disappointing.”

“What?”

“Million armies?”

And with that, Yeowun raised his left hand. That’s when something happened to all imperial guards surrounding them.

“W-what?! What’s happening!”

“My sword!”

They had been clenching on their weapons but suddenly their weapons began to come alive and move, trying to get out of their grasp.

“Aaaargh!”

They tried to hold onto it by using their internal energy, but their energy was too feeble to resist to the great amount of force unleashed.

“UGH!”

And over two hundred weapons got out of their master's hand, turned in the air and aimed back at them. It was a sight to behold.

“Hiiiiek!”

“Impossible!”

Commander Yon Namgun became terrified at the sight of this. He even thought maybe he was dreaming.

‘A-air sword? T-this is an air sword?! Is the Lord really a monster or something!?’

Yon Namgun was trained in martial art, so he knew what air sword is and who can use it. He heard that Top Five strongest warriors who were at supreme master level can use air sword. But this was beyond imagination.

‘How can this be...’

But it wasn't only the Imperial Army that were shocked. Marakim, who had guessed Yeowun to have become supreme master level, and other high ranking officials all became astonished.

‘How did he become so strong in that short amount of time...?’

All of them saw Yeowun's power back at the Great Halls. But controlling over hundreds of swords at once made them have chills.

“Oh... Our Chun Ma is here!”

“Chun Ma has come down upon the world!”

Yeowun's monstrous power even reminded them of Chun Ma – the Sky Demon. While the Imperial Guards were being threatened by their own weapons, Yeowun slowly walked toward Zhu Taikhan.

“Hiiiek!”

Zhu Taikhan became terrified at Yeowun's power and backed up a few steps before he tripped and fell down. There was no authority or dignity in his mind anymore. He was just terrified at the man standing in front of him.

When Yeowun gestured picking something up with his right hand, Zhu Taikhan's body was pulled up in the air.

“Ugh! M-my body?!”

Zhu Taikhan let loose of his body. He knew that resisting would give him internal damage against such powerful energy. When Taikhan was pulled up, Yeowun walked up to him and spoke.

“Do you know why the nonaggression pact was made?”

“W-what do you mean?”

“Do you think the pact was made because the Demonic Cult was afraid of the Imperial Palace's army of a million?”

Zhu Taikhan couldn't answer although he truly thought so. He just thought the reason for the pact's existence was because the Empire didn't want to waste valuable lives and also because they were helped.

“No, it's the opposite.”

“Opposite?”

“The pact is made because the First Emperor was afraid of us.”

“You DARE! How can the First Emperor of the Great Ming Empire be afraid of a... UGH!”

Zhu Taikhan tried to shout back angrily as Yeowun seemed to insult the First Emperor, but he couldn't finish as his body was sent higher up into the air. He was sent up too high, making him fear the height.

“An army only moves by the order of the Emperor. But what if... that Emperor is gone?”

“?!”

Zhu Taikhan became shocked. This Lord of the Cult was saying that he could kill the Emperor. Zhu Taikhan wanted to object, but his body was rising up in the air, making him too scared to even speak.

“What if a warrior like me sneaks into the palace at night?”

Zhu Taikhan became shocked. He then realized Yeowun or the warriors of cult easily penetrated through the defense of the Imperial Guards.

“When all members of the Royal Family are gone, whose order will the million-strong army have to take?”

Zhu Taikhan then felt the fear of death for the first time in his life. Yeowun's cold eyes and words proved that he wasn't lying. He implied that he could do it anytime if he wanted to.

‘H-he really means it.’

That was the most terrifying part.

“Do you now see why the pact was made in the first place?”

Yeowun smiled as he pulled the terrifying energy back into him, and looked at Zhu Taikhan shivering. Zhu Taikhan nodded frantically at the question. His body was then slowly returned to the ground. Zhu Taikhan slumped down on the ground. He was panting and was drenched in sweat from fear.

‘Well... but that’s not the only reason.’

If that was the sole reason, the Imperial Palace would have been gone since long ago. It was rumored that there was hidden power within the Imperial Palace that protected the Emperor. An assassination attempt would require power like Chun Yeowun’s, or else it wasn’t possible. But he didn’t need to speak about something that Zhu Taikhan nor the Imperial Guards knew about.

“Ah!”

“T-the sword!”

With Yeowun bringing his hand down, all air swords that were aimed at them dropped to the ground.

“Then shall we read what the Emperor is trying to say now?”

Yeowun reached out toward the plate that dropped to the ground in front of the carriage and the scroll automatically flew into Yeowun’s hand. The Imperial Guards had seen so much that they weren’t surprised by this anymore. Yeowun untied the golden rope on it and was trying to open it when...

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

“Aaaaargh!”

He heard a scream and turned. In the distance, Yuki was bleeding from his eyes, nose, and mouth as he screamed in pain. All clan leaders around him seemed to be shocked by the unexpected behavior.

‘What’s going on?’

Yeowun grabbed the scroll and ran toward Yuki.

Chapter 344 - Imperial Order (8

Chapter 344: Imperial Order (8)

The chubby man became painful as he glanced around at warriors of the Demonic Cult with a fearful look.

“Aaargh!”

It was the man Yuking who impersonated Zhu Taikhan. The reason why he was thrown in the middle of cultists was to have this man tied up.

“Y-you! I am an official of the Imperial Palace! Don’t come near!”

“Official? Hah!”

“Argh!”

Yuking tried to move back with his feet but he was surrounded by cultists. The atmosphere seemed rough.

‘Dammit. I might die at this rate!’

He thought everything had been going well with his plan, but it wasn’t.

“Stop for a moment.”

That’s when one man walked out with a cold look. It was Muk Yen from the Sword Illusion clan.

“I feel like ripping you apart, but I will let you live for now.”

Muk Yen ripped his robe over him to tie it over his shoulder and arm to stop the bleeding, and sealed his blood points so that he cannot use internal energy. Yukung had to commit suicide at this point, but he was weak minded so he couldn't even try to do that. It was better to live as a slave than to die. But something unexpected happened.

Yukung realized his body was turning cold. He then felt the excruciating pain of someone stabbing into his organs and screamed.

“Aaaaaaargh!”

Clan leaders quickly walked up to him and saw black blood oozing from all of his openings beside his ears. The blood let out a foul stench and smoke when it touched the ground.

“P-poison?!”

“Get back!”

All clan leaders backed away when they realized Yukung was poisoned. Yukung then confirmed that he was indeed poisoned.

‘Poison? Yukung? But how? Did the cult do it?’

Yon Namgun first thought if the cult was behind it, but that didn't seem possible. The Lord just showed that he could kill everyone if he wanted to. There was no need for poison.

‘Ugh... W-why? Since when...?’

Before he was sent to King Zhu Taikhan for the third part of the Grand Plan, he was planted with the centipede, but that was to activate only when he spilled important information. But he didn't know anything about the poison.

‘Aaaargh... the centipede kills by exploding...’

It wasn’t the centipede. It was surely a different type of poison. Yukiing felt the poison spreading into his body. That’s when he thought of someone.

‘Master of Blade Poison?’

He then remembered meeting with the Master of Blade Poison two days before he left for the Imperial Palace. This man was considered the most dangerous among the six masters. He was afraid, but the Master provided him money and fed him good food that Yukiing was pleased with.

‘The food... It was that!’

“Aaaaargh!”

Yukiing vomited a large amount of blood and began to flinch. Now, the poison was coming all over his body. That’s when Yeowun quickly got up to him.

“M-my Lord! It’s dangerous!!”

“Poison is coming out of his body!”

Many clan leaders tried to stop him, but Yeowun’s hand was already reaching toward Yukiing. The poison kept coming out from it, but with Yeowun at the end stage of supreme master level, there was no way poison could affect Yeowun anymore. The poison evaporated the moment it touched Yeowun’s skin.

‘The poison won’t work against him!’

‘Ah... so the Lord has reached the final stage!’

All clan leaders became astonished at the sight. But Yeowun did not care and focused on his hand to check on Yukung's state. He felt the heart beating, but it was slowing down.

"Dammit."

He couldn't let the man die. Yeowun tapped on the telepathic message and found out that the man had disobeyed King Zhu Taikhan and tried to have the Imperial Palace fight against the Cult. Yeowun then figured this man was a spy from another place. Yeowun sent his energy into Yukung to push out the poison.

"Argh!"

But the poison had spread to all parts of the body so it was too late. There was no chance Yukung would survive through the poison.

"What is wrong with him?" Yeowun asked with a confused look and Muk Yen answered.

"I-I sealed his blood points so that he can't use internal energy and he was poisoned."

"Blood point seal?"

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

Yeowun frowned. This meant the poison spread the moment the body was stopped using internal energy flow. This was surely done to prevent the man from spilling any information.

'Who can do such a thing?'

There was no way to make this man live anyway. Yeowun then needed to search through him so he could find out where the man was from. Yeowun then checked the body.

‘This... is Bichu Art?’

Chapter 345 - Imperial Order (9)

Chapter 345: Imperial Order (9)

This was an art created from Sorim. The reason why Yuking was chubby was because he was trained in the art. It was famous and well known, but required one to gain weight and made the person slower, so it was unpopular.

‘A spy from the Forces of Justice?’

That seemed likely considering the martial arts style. But why would they want the Imperial Palace to fight against the cult?

‘This is strange. Wait...’

Yeowun ordered Nano.

‘Nano, do the MRI scanning.’

[Understood. Initiating Magnetic Resonance Imaging on the target.]

Yeowun’s hand shined with a faint red light, and Yeowun had augmented reality over his eyes. The scanned image popped up.

‘Let’s start with the head.’

Yeowun touched Yuking’s head, as he could now barely move. That’s when Yeowun saw something on the image.

‘That’s...’

Something small was squirming inside the head. Its movement was slowing down as if it was dying together with its host.

‘It’s the centipede. I’m sure of it.’

This was similar to the centipede that Yeowun pulled out from Yi Baek, Master of the Blade Sword of the Blade God Six Martial Clan. The only difference was that the centipede was dying.

That’s when Yukung’s head fell. He finally had died. As soon as he died, the white thing in the image assumed to be the centipede exploded and turned into liquid.

Fluid then oozed out of Yukung’s eyes. It was the dead centipede.

At the same time, in a dark stone room at the Yellow Mountain by the Jurkang Castle.

Noisy screaming filled the room as a red centipede screamed with a weird noise from within the red wooden box on the table. The man with his face hidden under the shadow was looking down at it. The centipede suddenly shivered and exploded. The man closed the wooden box and mumbled, “The cult again.”

The lid of the box read ‘Third Grand Plan – Spy on the Demonic Cult’. This time, the man didn’t need to get the centipede as the spy was programmed so that he would die from poison the moment he was affected with any potential threat.

“There’s no way you will find out what we are doing.”

The Second Grand Plan failed recently. If it worked, the cult would have fallen under their hands, but they even lost the spies that waited for so long. At least he worked it so that the centipede would not leave a trace. There was no way the Demonic Cult would find out who was behind it.

...Or so they thought. There was one thing that the man did not know. It was Nano. Yeowun was able to find out the centipede.

‘Blade God Six Martial Clan!’

The man was from the Blade God Six Martial Clan.

‘It’s them again...’

Yeowun couldn’t imagine how influential this clan was now. That’s when Yeowun became curious about the Imperial Order and opened it.

“Ugh!”

“Imperial Order! Get down on your knees!”

When the scroll opened, all Imperial Guards and two thousand soldiers went down on their knees and bowed. But Yeowun and the cultists stood proudly.

‘Ugh... those arrogant bastards.’

Commander Yon Namgun who barely went down on his knees with an injured leg gritted his teeth. But he couldn’t say anything.

“Hmmm...”

Yeowun read through the scroll. Unlike Zhu Taikhan’s arrogance, the scroll was written very politely, considering the cult as an equal. It was more of a letter rather than an order.

[...I want to invite heroes and many important guests to the place of our renewed nonaggression pact for my successor.]

The scroll was an invitation being made to Yeowun, dated next month. But the message didn't seem to be only aimed at the cult.

"Huh?"

Zhu Taikhan became shocked when Yeowun appeared in front of him again.

"W-what is it?"

Yeowun showed him the scroll and spoke.

"Your highness. Do you know what the scroll said?"

"I don't know by every word, but yeah. Mostly."

The scroll of the Emperor wasn't something that even the royal family could open. But he had heard from the Emperor himself about the invitation already. Yeowun then asked as he gave the invitation to Zhu Taikhan, "Do you know who received these invitations?"

Zhu Taikhan hesitated for a second and responded, since Yeowun would know soon anyway.

"It was sent to all the leaders of each faction."

"The three factions?"

Yeowun frowned. This meant that the Palace will have leaders from all three factions on the same day.

‘Gathering them in the same place at the same time?’

It was not something that could easily happen. Up until now, that had happened less than five times.

‘Is the Blade God Six Martial clan trying to make the three factions go to war against each other?’

That seemed like a possible plan. But Zhu Taikhan revealed some unexpected details instead.

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

“No. If you are talking about your cult, the Yulin clan of the Forces of Justice and the Alliance of the Forces of Evil, there is one more faction.”

“One more?”

“A new faction called the Blade God Six Martial clan.”

“!!”

Chapter 346 - You will help me (1)

Chapter 346: You will help me (1)

The locations of all factions across Yulin were scattered, so each messenger from the palace arrived at different times within the two weeks. The first messenger to arrive was at the Yulin clan's base, or the Nakeng Region. The one who went there was the eldest son of the Emperor, Zhu Taiyoon. He was known as the most likely successor of the throne. With Zhu Taiyoon's visit, the Yulin clan had been partying for three days straight. Many beautiful women danced while musicians played happy music. As the feast went on, the Yulin clan leader Yen Bukeng sat beside him.

"Your highness. Please drink more."

"Hahaha! I'm so honored to be treated like this!"

Zhu Taiyoon was very pleased to be treated like this by the leader of the giant faction of Yulin. Inside, there were also the leaders of other clans, or the 17 Leaders of the Yulin clan. But not all of them were here. One leader, or the leader of current Sorim Temple, was not here as he was a monk who did not join feasts.

At the same time, outside the hall where the feast was being held, a beautiful woman was talking with one of the monks wearing the Flower Mountain clan's clothing.

"We still haven't got all the spies with us. I'm not sure if it's okay to party for 3 days straight... Miss Jegal."

"I understand your concern, Elder Poong. But it's better to leave a good impression on the possible future Emperor too.”

These two were the Second Strategist of the Yulin clan, Jegal Sohi and Sixth Leader Poong Chungwun. After they returned from the Demonic Cult, they had been working hard for the past few months to find spies hidden among them. Unlike the Demonic Cult that was comprised of one giant group, the Yulin clan was a union of countless clans, so it was hard to find all those spies. But Jegal Sohi strategically worked to set up traps and sorted out many spies between them. Surprisingly, those spies were hidden among the main 9 clans of Yulin. But even then, there were still spies to be found.

‘Since when they place this many spies within our clan? How long has it been?’

This was the most mysterious part. It wasn’t understandable as it hadn’t been long since the Blade God Six Martial clan surfaced. Maybe the enemy had been around for quite a long time.

“But Miss Jegal, I am growing suspicious.”

“About what?”

“This invitation for the nonaggression pact... I can’t shake the feeling that the Blade God Six Martial clan is involved.”

Jegal Sohi nodded at Poong Chungwun’s words. Actually, this was something that all leaders of the Yulin clan had been predicting already. There was no way they would not be wary of the new faction coming into play, when the event traditionally only consisted of three main factions.

“This really seems obvious. Do you think the Demonic Cult and the Alliance of the Evil Forces will take the risk?”

Unlike the Yulin clan, the other two clans always sent the representatives, rather than their leaders to go with the pact. And with a very high possibility of the fourth faction trying to play tricks, it didn't seem likely that their leaders would come.

"No, they will. At least the Demonic Cult will."

"Why do you say that?"

"Do you remember the Crown Prince... I mean, the new Lord of the cult?"

"Ah, yes of course. He was quite a man."

Poong Chungwun originally thought Yeowun was just an ordinary Crown Prince, but he wasn't. The first one to detect the trap and take care of when they were at the cult was Chun Yeowun. And they heard that Yeowun ascended to the throne not too long after.

"If I were in his position, I would try to use the trap against them. And I'm sure the current Lord will not think of something I can think of."

"So, you think the Lord will come by himself?"

"Yes, as far as I know, he will take this chance."

Jegal Sohi thought very highly of Yeowun. They weren't sure what trap was waiting for them, but it was the first time that the Blade God Six Martial clan was going to reveal themselves in public. If their leader were to appear, then it was their best chance. She was sure that Chun Yeowun would surely try to take this chance to use it to his advantage. It was then.

“Oh, that’s good news, isn’t it? Sohi.”

“Oh!”

Jegal Sohi became surprised as she knew who the owner of the voice was. The man with white clothes, in his early 30s were standing behind Jegal Sohi.

“Buso!”

He was Jegal Sohi’s fiancé, and the eldest son of the Yulin clan’s leader, Yen Buso. He was called the future of the Forces of Justice by many people.

‘Wow... his power increased again.’

Poong Chungwun became astonished by Yen Buso’s appearance. He couldn’t feel anything until Yen Buso appeared. If he could stay undetected by Poong Chungwun, a superior master level warrior, they couldn’t be sure as to how much he had grown in power.

‘But the world is quite fair.’

Poong Chungwun always thought that no one would match Yen Buso in terms of power. But that changed after he returned from the Demonic Cult. It seemed there was always one stronger than others in the world.

“What do you mean?”

“I will finally get to meet the man that you, Elder Poong or Moyong spoke so highly of.”

Jegal Sohi became surprised. When she first talked about Chun Yeowun, Yen Buso didn’t seem very interested. But it seems he was actually very interested indeed.

“Oh, I didn’t know you wanted to meet him.”

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

“Well, he is the man who will live with the next generation.”

He spoke as he smiled, but he looked very serious. Jegal Sohi became a bit curious, but just considered it a feeling of rivalry.

“Well, you will get to see him soon enough.”

“Haha, I’m looking forward to it.”

Chapter 347 - You will help me (2)

Chapter 347: You will help me (2)

Seven days had passed since Zhu Taikhan arrived at the Demonic Cult. He had been staying within the inner palace during those seven days.

At first, Zhu Taikhan was terrified by Chun Yeowun and the cultists that he tried to get the answer to the invitation and leave at once. But Yeowun said he needed time to think about it and offered Zhu Taikhan to rest, so he had to enter the cult without his intention. But unlike his expectation, the Demonic Cult treated Zhu Taikhan with their best.

‘What are they thinking?’

He couldn’t adapt to their changed attitude at first, but soon got used to the treatment he received and enjoyed his seven days. He even began to hope that maybe the Lord of the Cult would actually agree to the invitation this time around.

‘I needed some achievement to be noticed. Maybe this might do.’

When he was first chosen as the messenger, no one from the Imperial Palace, including the Emperor, hoped the Lord of the Demonic Cult would accept the invitation. The Cult and the Alliance of evil forces always sent their representatives, so there was no hope in that. But if the Lord were to accept the invitation, then it was going to honor the name of the current Emperor.

‘His majesty said negotiations are powerful tools.’

Perhaps this might even give Zhu Taikhan the chance to be recognized for his skill and become the Crown Prince. It was said that the Crown Prince would be chosen for this event, so Zhu Taikhan had to do whatever he could. That's when someone knocked on the door.

"Your highness. It's me, Yon Namgun."

"Come in."

It was late at night when Yon Namgun came to meet him. Yon Namgun bowed and Zhu Taikhan offered him a seat. He then spoke with a telepathic message.

[Commander. Do you think maybe the Lord of the Cult will accept the invitation this time?]

"Ah..."

Yon Namgun glanced around at the question and unleashed his energy. Zhu Taikhan became confused and Yon Namgun spoke.

"I'm sorry, your highness. I put a barrier around the room. You can speak freely."

"Oh! Good. You know me very well."

Zhu Taikhan then began to speak his thoughts freely. But there was something that they did not know. There was a powerful warrior listening to them speaking on top of the ceiling that Yon Namgun could not sense.

At the same time in the medical room of the inner palace... Demonic Doctor Baek Jongwu and other doctors were watching another doctor doing her treatment very carefully. The bald man with a pale face lying on the bed was former Lord, Chun Yujong. And on his hairless head, an old woman was putting needles on it. It was Godly Doctor Gam Rosu.

‘She’s been putting down needles for over 2 hours already. It’s amazing.’

Baek Jongwu was astonished. Gam Rosu had been working on both herbal and needle techniques to heal Lord Chun Yujong’s damaged heart, and it shocked all doctors in the room.

‘She sure is the best doctor of Jianghu.’

Baek Jongwu had pride in his skill as he was trained in the practice for his entire life, but Gam Rosu’s technique was at a much higher level. Her well-developed muscle proved to be real as she didn’t seem exhausted even after two hours of continued treatment. It was hard to believe that she was an old lady.

‘Haha... I should not slack off in training physically.’

Baek Jongwu did learn internal energy, but he had not trained physically as much. Now, he learned the need for it. After working on it for a few more minutes, Gam Rosu finally stepped back.

“Demonic Doctor, you said?”

“Yes, Godly Doctor.”

“Hmmp!”

“Oh, I mean, Granny Gam.”

Gam Rosu insisted everyone address her as Granny Gam, except Yeowun. Gam Rosu gave Baek Jongwu a golden needle bottle.

"I need these needles to be taken out after 2 hours, but can you do that for me? I am too exhausted. I need to get some rest."

"Of course. We will take care of the rest."

It was the Demonic Doctor's responsibility to look after the Lord's family anyway. He was satisfied to have watched Godly Doctor's treatment from close up. When Gam Rosu came out of the room, Yeowun was waiting outside with the Left and Right Guardian.

"How was it?"

"The damage has persisted for a while, but he will be okay. We will have to keep watch, but he will wake up within two weeks."

"Ah!"

It was surely amazing. Gam Rosu had done something that Nano, even with the vast knowledge of medical information and MRI couldn't do. But maybe this was natural as injuries from martial arts had many mysteries that were not known in the future.

"Thank you, Doctor."

"It's nothing. I just did what I had to do."

Gam Rosu seemed very exhausted, so Yeowun offered her to take a rest. When she returned, someone frantically came over to him. It was Huan Yi.

"Huhuhu... My Lord, I found it."

Yeowun immediately showed interest.

Next day afternoon, the Imperial Army had finished preparing to leave. All soldiers were lined up by the northern gate, and they were now only waiting for a signal to depart. Countless cultists came out to say farewell, and even Chun Yeowun came out to bid farewell to Zhu Taikhan.

Zhu Taikhan bowed and thanked him.

“I was treated very nicely, thanks to you. I will tell his majesty that I was treated well.”

“It’s good that you had a good time.”

The first impression had been the worst, but Zhu Taikhan was pleased nonetheless. The only thing he would hope for was Chun Yeowun’s acceptance to the invitation. A female servant was waiting by Yeowun with a scroll sealed with the Lord’s seal on the plate she was holding.

“So, have you decided, Lord Chun?”

Zhu Taikhan asked with an anticipating look. It was going to give him a great boost in reputation if the Lord of the Demonic Cult joined as it had not been possible in history.

“I’m sorry, but I will have to send a representative.”

“W-what?!”

Zhu Taikhan frowned. He was so disappointed as he had been very hopeful. Yon Namgun and other Imperial Guards also became disappointed. They were treated nicely, so they hoped maybe the Lord of the Cult was willing to accept the invitation.

Yeowun bid them farewell until Zhu Taikhan got up to the carriage, but he was so disappointed that he did not want to look at the cultists anymore.

“Your highness, shall we leave?”

Yon Namgun asked from outside and Zhu Taikhan answered grumpily.

“Yeah, whatever.”

“Depart!”

“Yes, sir!”

Two thousand soldiers began to leave for the Imperial Palace. Inside the carriage, Zhu Taikhan annoyingly looked at the scroll that had Yeowun’s answer. He kicked the scroll and mumbled.

“Dammit! Why did he treat me so nicely if he wasn’t even going to come? Ugh.”

He wanted to unleash his annoyance, but he couldn’t do it as he had been the center of embarrassment too much recently. All he could do was to cuss in a small voice.

“Damn bastard. What does he think he is? If the Emperor invites him, then he should come right away and...”

It was then.

“W-what!”

Zhu Taikhan became so shocked that he had to stop cussing out the Lord of the Cult. He couldn’t feel any presence for quite a while after they left, but someone dropped down from the top of the carriage like a feather.

“L-Lord Ch- NNGH!”

He tried to call out the name, but a powerful energy made him close his mouth. Zhu Taikhan looked at the man with disbelief. The man was Chun Yeowun.

‘Since when did he enter the carriage?’

It was unbelievable. And Zhu Taikhan was actually talking ill about him.

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

Yeowun smiled coldly and sent a telepathic message to Zhu Taikhan.

[You must have been very mad about me, your highness.]

‘Hiiiiiek!’

Zhu Taikhan became pale and shook his head side to side frantically.

Chapter 348 - You will help me (3)

Chapter 348: You will help me (3)

It was unbelievable. Chun Yeowun was left behind at the northern gate, but it seemed like he had been hiding by the carriage all along. It was hard to believe that Yeowun came in when Zhu Taikhan entered the carriage.

“NNNNNGH!”

[Can you use telepathic messages? I suppose you can.]

Zhu Taikhan nodded. His mouth was forced to close, so his jaw was hurting. That’s when the energy that forced him to close his mouth disappeared.

“Ha... Hah...”

He could have breathed with his nose, but he was too fearful that he became pale and panted through his mouth.

‘Dammit. I guess there’s no point in screaming for help.’

He saw Chun Yeowun’s monstrous power by his eyes. Yeowun was a monster who could wipe out the entire Imperial Army if he wanted to. Taikhan had to play along.

‘What have I done to go through such trouble...’

He didn’t think he would suffer such an event when he left for the Demonic Cult. He was, after all, a King who had enormous political power.

[S-since when did you get in the carriage?]

[It's not been that long.]

Yeowun answered vaguely and Zhu Taikhan misunderstood the truth.

'His power is like a god. He got on the carriage while all that people were watching?'

Zhu Taikhan thought Chun Yeowun got on his carriage when he opened the door to get on. But that wasn't true. Yeowun actually got in when the Imperial Guards were preparing to leave.

[S-so, why did you get in my carriage?]

Zhu Taikhan was afraid of getting on Yeowun's nerves, but he couldn't figure out why. Yeowun had declined to participate and the carriage was now going toward the Empire's capital so there was no possible explanation. Yeowun answered.

[Of course, I'm going to the Imperial Palace with you.]

[Im-Imperial Palace?]

Zhu Taikhan became shocked. He couldn't even guess why a leader of one of the three largest factions of Yulin suddenly wanted to go to the Imperial Palace. And Zhu Taikhan was just too afraid of Chun Yeowun himself.

'I-is it because he heard me cussing him out?'

It was possible that Yeowun had become angry at Taikhan who had been cussing ever since the carriage departed. Zhu Taikhan spoke assuringly.

[L-Lord Chun. If you are saying that because of what I said... don't be too mad. I was just too sad since you cannot come with me.]

[I see, that's good. I almost got mad because I thought you hate me.]

'Ugh!'

Those were just simple words but it was enough to make Taikhan afraid. The words seemed to threaten that Yeowun might have done something if he felt hostility. Zhu Taikhan became lost for words.

[I'm sorry for spooking you by getting in the carriage, but I will consider it excused.]

[O-of course!]

Actually, it was Yeowun who was the rude one for sneaking into the carriage. But Zhu Taikhan was so concerned that his cussing would have made Yeowun uncomfortable that he agreed excitedly.

"Whew."

Maybe he was quite naïve. Yeowun then went into his purpose.

[Let me cut to the chase. You will help me, your highness.]

It wasn't a request for help. It was a disguised threat. Zhu Taikhan became dumbfounded but he was afraid of Yeowun, so he just frowned and did not reply.

'I am afraid of him, but the word of the Royal family should be heavy.'

That's what Taikhan had learned every time from his father, the Emperor. The word of the Emperor and the Royal family was above the law, so the Emperor always made sure that all of the Royal family should watch their words.

[W-what do you want me to do?]

Yeowun became surprised at Taikhan who didn't just agree even when he was afraid.

'So, he still is in the royal family.'

Yeowun needed to persuade him. He needed Taikhan's help at the palace.

[I will need an explanation. Do you remember the person who impersonated you?]

[...]

Of course he remembered. It was that incident that made Taikhan afraid of Yeowun. The cult explained that Yukung was poisoned before they arrived at the cult and Yon Namgun agreed also, but no one was sure why the poisoning had been done.

[Your highness, you said the Blade God Six Martial clan will join this ceremony too?]

[...Yes.]

[That dead man was a spy from the Blade God Six Martial clan.]

[W-what?!]

Zhu Taikhan frowned at the unexpected piece of information from Yeowun. He was curious as to how Yukung was poisoned, but he still couldn't believe that a low-ranking official of the palace was actually a spy.

[I will explain about what happened at the cult first.]

Yeowun then began to explain a simplified version of how the Blade God Six Martial clan appeared in Yulin, and the incidents that happened at the cult. Yeowun also told him the existence of a centipede that was embedded in the person to avoid spilling information.

[By the gods... they do that kind of thing just to prevent the information from being leaked?]

Zhu Taikhan became shocked to know about the centipede. It was quite effective, but it seemed to be on the very extreme side.

'They are extremists.'

After an explanation, Yeowun went into the important issue at hand.

[I asked you to help me, but this will help you too, your highness.]

[Help me? How?]

[Actually, there is still a spy remaining within your forces here besides that Yuking.]

"What! Y..."

[Quiet!]

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

Zhu Taikhan almost spoke out loud but quickly grabbed his mouth to stop. He was so shocked to hear that there had been a spy and that spy still remained within his forces.

‘Is he lying?’ he thought, but there was no need for such a powerful man to lie about such a thing. If that was true, then Zhu Taikhan had to thank him.

[If what you say is true, then we must arrest them!!]

Taikhan didn’t want to play on top of the hands of these spies any longer. Yeowun shook his head.

Chapter 349 - You will help me (4)

Chapter 349: You will help me (4)

[Why?]

[If we do that, we won't be able to find spies within the palace.]

That was Yeowun's true purpose. The reason why Yeowun got in the carriage was to find spies among the palace. The Blade God Six Martial clan had placed spies among all factions of Yulin to proceed with their plans. If the Imperial Palace was to be involved, it was going to be more complicated. That's why Yeowun wanted to get rid of them first before that happened.

'Hm... this man wants to get the roots out from it.'

Zhu Taikhan truly felt afraid of Chun Yeowun. Zhu Taikhan only thought about the spies that he can see, but Yeowun wanted to remove the roots. He was going to be a terrible enemy to have.

'Is it right to bring him to the palace?'

Helping Yeowun sneak into the palace like this was a very complicated issue. If things went that way and Taikhan was revealed of doing so, it was bound to anger the Emperor. And this man was none other than the Lord of the Demonic Cult. Maybe it was an act of setting a monster loose in his backyard. Yeowun then continued to seal the deal.

[Don't you want to become the Crown Prince?]

‘?!’

Zhu Taikhan became shocked.

‘How did he...’

Yeowun knew something that Taikhan only spoke about to Yon Namgun. Yon Namgun said no one was listening, so Taikhan became shocked to hear it from Yeowun.

[If we get those spies within the palace, I will hand it over to you so you can claim all the glory.]

[A-are you serious?]

[Of course. My goal is to remove them, not be awarded by the Emperor.]

Zhu Taikhan became hesitant. This was a very tempting offer. If he really found the spies hidden inside the Imperial Palace, it was going to be a very huge achievement indeed.

‘If I can do that, then maybe I will truly become closer to the Crown Prince.’

There was a month left until the ceremony. Taikhan needed something big to appease the Emperor. Taikhan then asked Yeowun,

[What will you do if I refuse your request?]

[Well, I will leave that to your imagination.]

Zhu Taikhan felt a chill running down his spine. This meant Yeowun was going to do what he wanted even if Taikhan refused. Taikhan then nodded.

‘Well, I have no choice. Let’s just think that I’m using him for my own benefit. I won’t lose anything,’ Zhu Taikhan thought to himself. Yeowun smiled.

[Great. Hope we have a great time while we go then.]

‘Huh?’

Zhu Taikhan frowned. He couldn’t think of this when he accepted. The two of them had to stay together for the remainder of the trip.

‘...Oh no.’

Imperial City of Kaifeng... It was the city with a population of over 500 thousand people, one of largest cities in the Empire. The giant outer wall of the city wall was about ten times large as the Demonic Cult’s castle, and it took 2 hours to get to the center of the city. At the center, there was the lavish Dragon Palace, built with golden roofs that showed authority of the Royal family.

Zhu Taikhan’s Imperial Army was now passing through the southern gate of the Dragon Palace. Palace Guards raised their spears high up into the air to welcome Taikhan’s carriage entering the palace. After they entered, the carriage had to stop at one point. The carriage was no longer allowed from this point on.

Zhu Taikhan got out of the carriage. He looked very wary and exhausted after the two weeks of long travel.

‘Finally... I’m finally here!’

He had wished to arrive sooner while on the trip. They had to stay together for almost seven days until they got to the Habuk Region.

‘It’s astonishing however.’

Zhu Taikhan glanced at the Imperial Guard standing behind Yon Namgun. He was Chun Yeowun, who had the skin mask of Imperial Guard Yi Han.

‘We will keep him in the northern region of Honam until we are done with our business at the palace.’

Real Yi Han was now staying at the Demonic Cult’s outpost in the northern Honam region. Yeowun had prepared for everything for seven days while Zhu Taikhan stayed in the Cult.

‘Nobody noticed...’

Even Yon Namgun didn’t notice that the man was Yeowun. That was natural as Yeowun used Nano’s ability to mimic Yi Han’s voice.

“Other than ten to guard his highness, all of you are dismissed. Standby for further orders.”

Yon Namgun ordered the soldiers to be dismissed.

‘That’s good.’

Yeowun, who had been walking by Yon Namgun, was smoothly chosen to be within the ten members to guard. It was good that he stayed close. Zhu Taikhan had to go over to the Emperor’s palace to report while he was only allowed a few Imperial Guards to guard him.

‘He tags along without me having to worry about him.’

Zhu Taikhan became astonished. He was thinking if he should assign him to stay by him, but that was not needed.

Zhu Taikhan then headed toward the Emperor's palace.

'It sure is the Imperial Palace.'

As they walked in, Yeowun became astonished by the lavish decor and buildings. The Demonic Cult's inner palace was nice, but it was no match for this place. There were many decorations and landscaping done all over the place and there were even small ponds to look at.

'Is it that place?'

Yeowun then saw a large palace in front. In the gate of the yard wall around the building, there were thirty men with blue robes, with one man with more lavish ornaments over him with heavy make up standing in the front.

'He reminds me of Elder Huan.'

It seemed like this group of men were eunuchs.

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

"Hah... East Spear."

Yon Namgun sighed at the sight of these men. These eunuchs were one of strongest organizations along with Imperial Guards within the Imperial Palace, called East Spear.

'How come eunuchs all learned martial arts?'

All of these eunuchs learned martial arts, with their leader at the superior master level.

Chapter 350

It is quite often considered that the Moorim and eunuchs were unrelated. Some were even under the impression that the eunuchs don't learn martial arts. However, as the Imperial family underwent a change in power, they appeared to be a group of guards trained in martial arts.

In the Daemyeong Empire, there were said to be four groups of well-trained martial arts users: Alumni, Seochang, Internal Haengchang, and the Imperial Guards, or the Emperor's guards. These were the official names given to distinguish one organization from another, but they are entirely under the eunuchs.

Unlike any ordinary officials who operate solely under the command of the Emperor, these guards are given complete independent jurisdiction. So, they are given the authority to arrest, detain, and even carry out an execution regardless of the status.

Originally, the Imperial Guards were given the strongest role among them. But, as the duties and outcomes of the eunuchs increased, they were slowly incorporated as an affiliated organization into the Alumni.

All thanks to that outcome, the Golden Council wasn't very pleased with the eunuchs' rise in power. Especially so after the situation wherein the head of the Golden Council, who was equal to an admiral of a guards unit, was dragged down from power.

‘Hostility huh...’

Chun Yeowun could clearly feel what Yon Namgun, who was right next to him was expressing. Yon Namgun was visibly displaying a disgusted expression, almost as if he had no intention of hiding it. The eunuch, who seemed like the head of the Alumni, didn’t seem to care about it and approached Yon Namgun with his best smile, with one hand over his mouth.

“We are pleased to greet the family of the Empire. Ho Ho Ho.”

Seeing him with a smile and his hand covering his mouth, just like a woman, wasn’t a very good sight. Unlike the words which said they were pleased, their intent felt sly to the core. Zhu Taikhen didn’t seem very pleased to see the face of the eunuch when he greeted him back.

“Oh Tae-Sung, it has been so long.”

The name of the eunuch who decorated himself with ornaments is Oh Tae-Sung. One of two people who assisted Admiral Lim in public situations.

‘Seems different.’

Chun Yeowun took a careful look at the one called Oh Tae-Sung, whom he suspected to be a spy of the Blade God Six Martial clan, as he seemed to be one that possesses excellent martial art skills. However, the presence of Oh Tae-Sung appears to be far from being related to any extreme martial artist.

‘If this is how things are going to be, it will take more time to find the spies.’

Chun Yeowun was under the impression that very few people in the Imperial Palace would learn martial arts, except for the Golden Council. However, when they walked into the Palace, as he tried to sense their energy, he could feel nearly hundreds of people who learned martial arts. He realized right away that it would be difficult to catch the spies unless there was any kind of confrontation.

“Your Majesty, it must have been excruciating to visit all those places.”

“It was His Majesty’s order. It was not a problem carrying out the task handed.”

“Ho ho ho, you came all the way here after being among those uncivilized mines, yet you act bold and fine.”

‘Huh?’

Zhu Taikhun seemed a little taken aback at the words of Oh Tae-Sung, while his eyes lingered to the side. He tried his best not to alter his facial expression as if he was fine. Yet, his eyes, which came back to meet the eunuch’s eyes, displayed disgust.

“Hm, Uhm! Did His Majesty send you here?”

“Ah, even if it wasn’t His Majesty’s order, I would have come to see you if I got a report saying you were back.”

Fortunately, Zhu Taikhun managed to change the subject without any happenings. Slowly bowing, the eunuch, Oh Tae-Sung, pointed to the inside corridor with his palm.

“From now on, I will take you to the palace. Ho Ho Ho.”

Hearing those words made Yun Namgun frown and spoke.

“We, the Golden Council, will take you to the palace and deliver you there safely.”

At the words of Yun Namgun, Zhu Taikhun’s previously stern face turned into a cold one.

“If you don’t belong to the four guards of the Emperor, and you don’t work under His Majesty’s name, you cannot enter the palace.”

Excluding the commanders of the Imperial Guards and other three groups, not even those below, nor anyone, were given permission to enter. In the end, it could be said that almost no one is allowed to cross the threshold.

‘Bloody eunuch bastard...’

Yon Namgun couldn’t hide his displeasure. They were all considered to be the arms of the King and had the Guards under them. Blocking their mouths in such a way was no different from showing them that their authority ends there. However, the man that they were serving said it himself, they couldn’t enter, therefore, they had no say.

“Men, return to the envoy.”

Yon Namgun ordered the guards who were standing behind him. Chun Yeowun wanted to look at the inside of the Imperial Palace. He didn’t like these eunuchs who are referred as a member of the alumni.

“Even Yon Namgun can head back. Ho Ho ho.”

Grit-!

Yon Namgun grunted at the sneaky words of eunuch Oh Tae-Sung. Witnessing this, Zhu Taikhen spoke to the eunuch in a lowered tone.

“It was His Majesty’s order for Yon Namgun to serve and protect me.”

“Ahh! I am so sorry, I didn’t realize.”

Realizing it would be too much of a hassle to argue with a member of the Imperial family, he quickly bowed his head and apologized. However, his face held a conspicuous smirk.

‘Is the damn eunuch trying to say that brother’s position has been confirmed?’

Ever since the title of prince was mentioned last year, the palace was divided into factions. Among them, the alumni faction supported the Emperor’s eldest son as the next in line. Realizing that the Emperor’s favor was placed on the eldest, they began to act disrespectfully towards the other candidates.

‘The Imperial family became like this because of the power given to the damn eunuchs.’

It really didn’t feel right. If one could do what they wanted, then they would surely tamper with the Alumni. But, because the Alumni and Guards are under the Emperor and his family, it would be no different from putting a hand in a beehive.

[Lord Chun?]

Zhu Taikhan very carefully called him.

[Don’t mind me. During drinking time, I will meet you at your place.]

Chun Yeowun was already given a brief idea about the interior of the Imperial Palace. Zhu Taikhan looked up at the sky. The sun was nearly setting.

‘Well, if it is this monster, he will definitely come to find me.’

Zhu Taikhan nodded and followed the eunuch as they headed into the palace. Once they entered, Baek Ho, who was the second-highest in rank, took charge and naturally led the way. There were five guards at the opening where the Gold Guards were stationed in a lane.

All the guards belonged to the Imperial family. As the distance grew and people were no longer visible, the members of the Gold Council complained.

“Fucking Eunuchs!”

“That bloody Oh Tae-Sung is arrogant as ever.”

“They know no bounds!”

Even Chun Yeowun had an unpleasant feeling during the visit with Oh Tae-Sung, but these people sound burdened by it. It didn’t look like it was the first time they were complaining about the situation. Even though they were talking behind their backs, it didn’t seem like the guards would be able to free themselves from the humiliation, no matter how long they talked about it.

However, there was one person observing the guards talk.

“Baek Ho.”

He was the only one who didn’t get upset with what the Alumni did, he remained silent till the end. The reason why

Chun Yeowun easily gave up on the idea of entering the Imperial Palace was because of the guard, Yoon Baek Ho.

[Two of the Golden Guards were identified as spies.]

Elder Chil Hwan-Ui said that, among the Imperial Palace envoys, there were five spies suspected. They acted suspiciously, for seven days, they would constantly wander and inspect the Demonic Cult. The Demonic Cult had loosened their perimeter watch just so the spies could move around freely and make themselves known.

‘His martial arts doesn’t seem that great’

Yoon Baek Ho’s gold suit made him a first-class master but without it, he is nothing. He was one of the two Golden Guards who wandered outside the halls, so there must be something he was hiding. Upon arriving at the residence, Baek Ho spoke to the nine Golden Guards.

“You have worked hard all this time escorting His Majesty. Yun Namgun has said that he will suspend the watching duty for four days, so try and enjoy yourselves.”

“Yeah!!!”

The guards were excited at the unexpected good news. When they were given no special mission, it was their duty to stand guard at the residence. However, being given four days off was like a vacation.

‘Thank god.’

Chun Yeowun was already trying to think of ways to avoid standing guard, as he had disguised himself as a member of the unit. In this way, he would be able to track Baek Ho’s movements and see who he is in contact with. However, he met up with an expected situation.

Once all the other guards entered the garrison close to the residence, Yoon Baek Ho approached him. With a very casual and friendly voice.

“Yihan. Don’t we have a place to go?”

‘Huh?’

The words caught Chun Yeowun’s attention. It seemed like the person he had disguised as, the one called Lee Yihan, was someone who had a close relationship with Yoon Baek Ho. Never in a million years would he have imagined that such a variable would occur.

‘...great luck.’

If he panicked while trying to pretend, things would turn messy. The person he had currently disguised himself as was Lee Yihan and he was a rank lower than Baek Ho.

“That’s...right.”

At Chun Yeowun’s answer, Baek Ho frowned. Chun Yeowun wondered if he said something wrong, but that wasn’t the case.

“We are still in the residence, so answer according to titles.”

‘Ah!’

After that, Chun Yeowun managed to realize what the mistake was.

“Sir!”

Only then did Yoon Baek Ho nod. He told Chun Yeowun to follow him as he took the lead while heading somewhere. Baek Ho, who walked away from the garrison moved to someplace in the residence, unlike Chun Yeowun, Baek seemed accustomed to the path.

‘Maybe it’s because of others’ attention.’

It looked as if they were deliberately getting the attention of others. As they walked ahead, no one stopped them because of the titles they had. This only solidified the suspicion about them being spies. After moving around the palace for a long time, they arrived at a large building within the palace.

‘Warehouse?’

The warehouse was assigned to store the foods for the Imperial Palace. Before arriving at the warehouse, Yoon Baek Ho took a long cloth that was hanging from the laundry of the palace and covered his face with it.

Shhh!

After covering up his face, Yoon Baek Ho moved to avoid the guards. Once the locations were known, they could easily enter the fourth out of the ten large warehouses without being noticed.

‘Rice warehouse?’

As he entered the building, he saw a huge pile of rice towered on the side along with its strong scent enveloping the room. The bales of rice stacked in the warehouse were enough to feed everyone in the Imperial Palace for an entire year.

Chun Yeowun's eyes narrowed at something. As they went further into the warehouse, the number of energies felt enormous, indicating all of those who are masters in martial arts.

'I knew it.'

Those who acted in secret within the Imperial Palace were most likely members of the Blade God Six Martial clan. He managed to find them faster than he imagined. Following Yoon Baek Ho, he entered the innermost part of the warehouse, there were about twenty people who were covered in long black clothes.

'Is he the boss?'

It was easy to guess since the person was seated on the innermost rice bag. While the rest were all standing as if they were escorts.

Step Step!

Yoo Baek Ho and Chun Yeowun walked to the middle. Yoon Baek Ho who was silently moving opened his mouth.

"Lee Yihan, how did you manage to do it?"

Chun Yeowun was flustered at the unexpected question. That was at that moment when Yoon Baek Ho jumped forward and shouted to the one who seemed to be the leader of the group.

"Lord! He is a spy!"

At his cries, the ten men behind Chun Yeowun blocked the exit of the warehouse.

‘Damn it...’

Everything happened before he could even realize what was going on. So, he decided to play something else. Chun Yeowun asked Yoo Baek Ho, who was standing beside the leader.

“Yoon Baek Ho, sir, what are you talking about?”

“You aren’t Lee Yihan. Lee Yihan never uses honorifics when we are the only ones in place.”

He got caught because of an unexpected reason. Yoo Baek Ho, who was convinced that Chun Yeowun wasn’t Yihan continued.

“And you even didn’t ask nor doubt anything when I brought you to the warehouse like this. What is your real identity?”

He was thinking that being discreet and laying low would be enough to act as Lee Yihan, but that went wrong. He sighed deeply, realizing that his plan was ruined.

“Aghh.”

Even with a perfect face and voice as a disguise, deceiving an acquaintance still turned out to be difficult. The method was useless, and a loophole was easily revealed by the person named Yoon Baek Ho.

The head of the spies who was seated on the rice bag rose from his seat.

“Is he really a spy?”

Said in a fearsome voice. Yoon Baek Ho nodded at the question.

“It is true.”

That was when the boss shook his head and spoke while revealing his white teeth.

“You are a fool. You jumped right into my trap.”

‘Trap?’

Chun Yeowun was dumbfounded. The boss gave orders to the men behind to siege the spy.

“Make him kneel in front of me this instant! You should already be aware of how strong he is.”

“Yes”

-pat!

At that moment, three men from behind rushed towards Chun Yeowun. They thought that the spy was just an ordinary man that they could capture so they could please the head. But what followed gave them a huge shock.

When Chun Yeowun flicked his finger, a strong gust of air pressure got generated and pushed back the three bodies at the same time.

-Thud!

“No!”

“Awwwwhhhh!”

He was stationary, yet, the three men flew back and bounced off the floor. They seemed hurt enough as they weren't able to get up. They were flinching almost as if they suffered severe internal injuries.

As a result, Yoon Baek Ho and the other men couldn't hide their embarrassment.

"Ugh!"

"What the hell is this?"

They thought it was a normal spy, but they were very wrong. Biting down on his lip, the leader shouted.

"He isn't an ordinary guy! Everyone, take him down!"

"Yes! Yes!"

Once the order was given, his men hesitated before pulling out the blade from their waist.

-Chang!

The thin dagger-like blade came out in a curve. Normally it was a blade used by women and assassins, but it was the perfect kind of weapon to carry or hide for any mission.

The men who took out their swords began to move towards Chun Yeowun. The moment they tried to prove themselves, something shocking happened. While they were still standing, he pointed his palm towards the approaching men.

At that very moment, the men instantly dropped to the ground.

Thud! Thud! Thud! Thud!

"Kuak!"

"My body..."

“Ugh!”

Forced to touch the ground, they couldn't move. Intangible dynamics, something beyond imagination arose and crushed them to the ground, literally. One could see the strength by looking at the crack on the floor of the warehouse.

‘Wh-what the hell is he? He isn't just any man.’

A monster, enough to subdue everyone in the warehouse with simple gestures. The leader, who was shocked to the core, stepped back without knowing. But he didn't manage to get that far.

“Come”

Chun Yeowun lightly stretched out his left hand and pretended to pull on to something, that was when the head of the boss who was walking away got pulled up.

-Woong!

“Ughhh!”

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

The man who went up tried to strengthen his energy, but everything was useless. For him to rebel, he would have to get back on the ground. And the difference in their power was like heaven and earth.

-Kuak!

“Kuak! Kuak!”

In an instant, the boss got captured by Chun Yeowun. As his throat was tightly grabbed, in a low voice Chun Yeowun asked.

“Even if you know that I’m a spy, what can you do?”

Chapter 351

“Kuak! Kuak!”

The leader of the spies was a Master Level martial artist. He had pride in his skills, but when he was grabbed by the neck and unable to move, he was left with nothing.

‘Wh-who the hell is this man?’

Generally, spies are not trained in martial arts. The energy that he was able to feel from Chun Yeowun was no different from an ordinary criminal. However, the concentrated energy he sensed from the right hand of the so-called spy was beyond imagination.

Swoosh!

As Chun Yeowun slightly lifted the leader’s head, the robe that was covering his face came off. His appearance caught the eyes of Chun Yeowun.

“Eunuch?”

The one inside the striped robe leading the group of spies was none other than a eunuch. Seeing the white-painted face used by the eunuchs in their blue attire, it seems that he is still in his training phase.

‘Yin energy?’

Chun Yeowun felt, as he tightly grabbed onto the eunuch's neck. It was completely different energy from what a member of the Blade God Six Martial clan must use.

'This is weird.'

Chun Yeowun gazed, as he considered this to be an abnormal finding. Naturally, he turned towards Yoon Baek Ho. Yoon Baek Ho, who witnessed the overwhelming power of the opponent didn't know what to do and stood still. Chun Yeowun asked Yoon Baek ho.

"Aren't you the spies of Blade God Six Martial clan?"

Hearing the question, Yoon Baek Ho managed to answer through his trembling body.

"Blade- blade God Six Martial clan? What are you talking about?"

His attitude changed after recognizing that a superior martial artist was right in front of him. He spoke politely to Chun Yeowun.

'Are they unaware?'

Chun Yeowun lowered his right hand, pretending to press something. The tremendous energy that just a moment ago suppressed all the spies in the warehouse disappeared like a sham. Yet, those who already suffered severe internal injuries were in a state of fainting.

'Alumni's Masters are no different from beginners.'

It was clear that they don't know anything. Chun Yeowun reached out and pulled Yoon Baek Ho with his hand. Without possessing any will to rebel against a strong opponent, he got drawn helplessly.

Wooong! Thud!

“Kyak!”

Forcibly making Baek Ho kneel on the floor, Chun Yeowun questioned him.

“Why did the Golden Council contact the eunuchs of Alumni?”

“Well, that is...”

Even though the question was simple and straightforward, Yoon Baek Ho struggled to answer.

No matter how strong and overwhelming the opponent was, if he opened his mouth, he would be betraying his comrades. Dying seemed to be a better option.

“You are a funny guy. Are you saying that you’d stay loyal with the spies?”

“ ... ”

At the silence of Yoon Baek Ho, Chun Yeowun waved his hand. That was when Yoo Baek Ho’s right wrist, which was placed on the ground got bent back, allowing the bone in the elbow to pierce through the skin.

Crack! Crack!

“Kyakk! Ugh!”

Imagine how painful it would be for a healthy bone to get broken and pierce through the skin. However, Yoon Baek Ho was unable to scream out in pain. All because of the energy that was blocking his mouth.

‘He, he doesn’t seem to be a telltale.’

While Chun Yeowun’s other hand was still holding onto the neck, he looked over at the eunuch who had turned pale at the sight. What’s more terrifying about Chun Yeowun was his cold eyes, he didn’t even blink when torturing the man in front of him.

“Kuakkkk...”

Since he couldn’t scream, Yoon Baek Ho began to shed tears forgetting that he was a military officer. Not giving a damn about it, Chun Yeowun continued with his questions.

“If you don’t answer me again, your other hand will meet with the same end.”

Humans are truly unique beings. Until a moment ago, he seemed righteous and has chosen death, but after tasting pain and suffering, his will easily collapsed. Once the intangible energy that was blocking his mouth disappeared, Yoon Baek Ho spoke.

“I am a spy for the Alumni.”

“Alumni? Like the eunuch?”

“I was trained in the Alumni, but I am no eunuch.”

Despite what the facts indicate, Chun Yeowun’s gaze turned disappointed. He thought that the ones in the warehouse were all spies of the Blade God Six Martial clan, but unexpectedly, they were spies from the Alumni. They were of no use to him.

‘Shall I just kill him?’

Chun Yeowun, while thinking, decided to ask one more thing.

“Why are you positioned as an Imperial Palace guard? Were you asked to keep an eye on crown prince?”

The eunuch’s eyes widened at the question.

‘Are they keeping an eye on Zhu Taikhan?’

At first, he thought that the spies were sent by the Golden Council or a person from the Imperial palace, like Joo Tae Gyeom.

“... We were ordered to find out if the prince had formed any kind of arrangement with the Lord of the Demonic Cult.”

‘To find out if he made an agreement with me?’

The man didn’t seem to be lying. He was certain that he was a spy of the Alumni and not the Blade God Six Martial clan. They were all spies who were asked to only keep an eye on the prince of the Imperial Palace.

It was to know whether prince Zhu Taekhan was trying to cross over the others. Yun Baek Ho, who had told all the facts leaned on the floor and prayed with his head down.

“Pl-please let go of me. If you show mercy on me, I will not cause any trouble for Your Majesty.”

He decided to betray the Alumni. And it was useless to kill him.

‘Begging for his life. Ugh. This spy wasn’t trained properly.’

He must have voluntarily reached out to be a spy, but no one would have thought that he would succumb so quickly. Of course, he was afraid. However, the words that Chun Yeowun uttered weren't what Yoon Baek Ho was expecting at all.

"Did I tell you that I'll let you go?"

"Huh? We-well..."

Thud!

Even before Yoon Baek Ho could say anything his neck was snapped.

"Kuak! Hiick!"

As a result, the eunuch, whose neck was being held, couldn't hide his fear. Until a moment ago, they assumed that Chun Yeowun would let them go if they answered the truth, but that didn't seem to be the case.

'Is, is he really going to kill me? This is bad. No matter what I say he will kill me.'

And he was indeed right. Chun Yeowun wasn't the kind to spare people. But that didn't mean that there were no exceptions.

'It would be better to get rid of them, but if I kill them all, the Imperial Palace's vigilance will intensify.'

No matter how many thousands of guards or eunuchs and officials were in the palace, if more than 20 people disappeared at the same time, an uproar was bound to happen.

If that happens, finding the spies of the Blade God Six Martial clan that are hiding in the Imperial Palace will turn out to be more difficult. Even if they are disguising themselves in other ways, they are all beasts wearing human masks. So, if the mask couldn't be taken down, they couldn't be caught.

The leader, the eunuch, thought that he would be killed next.

"Well... kuak... hold on... hear... me... for a second... I'll speak."

Nothing was worth listening to anymore. Chun Yeowun ignored him and tried to stun the eunuch by grabbing on to him tightly until he said.

"Ah, if you spare me. I would serve you as a scrounger of the Alumni. Kuak... I, we care about talented people."

'Alumni's scrounger?'

Scrounger. It is also called a Feeder. A custom that had been widespread since the Sengoku period. It is where the nobles prefer to treat the talented individuals as their guests, like customers, and instead of feeding them, the noblemen are to be treated as their masters. It was amusing to hear it from a eunuch, but, a completely different idea popped into his mind.

'Should I go along with this?'

The fact that he expressed his wish to serve under him as a feeder wasn't something that a Martial Artist would do. Loosening his hand a little around his neck, Chun Yeowun spoke.

“It’s interesting. You want to serve me as a feeder? Do you think that I would believe your words?”

The eunuch turned anxious at Chun Yeowun’s words. For Chun Yeowun, it was like an adventure.

‘I expected this much. Since this person failed to perform his task as the spy, he thinks that I would just accept his requests.’

Carefully thinking, the eunuch opened his mouth.

“I am the leader of the group. And I have sufficient authority to recommend talents.”

Chun Yeowun thought that the man would be of a higher position, just as he thought he seemed important. Nonetheless, he had heard that the spies descended upon the order of the admirals like Deadang-Du and Dang-Du.

“I am Daedang-Du...”

Chun Yeowun hesitated at the word of Daedang-Du.

“If you won’t believe me, you can ask around.”

“What are you talking about?”

“This is a request you received from the West Spear unit, right.”

‘West Spear?’

Those words made Chun Yeowun puzzled. It was a simple question, but Chun Yeowun was able to understand two things from it. Firstly, the Alumni unit struggled with not just the Golden Council, but also the West Spear, a group made up of the same eunuchs.

Secondly, among the spies the elder found out, one could have been a spy of the West Spear and not the Blade God Six Martial clan.

‘This isn’t turning out any easier.’

The task was turning more difficult as the Imperial forces were getting involved. If this was going to continue, then the probability of his task ending up in vain intensifies.

‘I have no intention of diving into muddy water, but...’

He had to check. He had to get the doubts out of his mind to proceed further. If there is a spy of the Blade God Six Martial clan, then, there is a high chance of the spy collaborating with an Alumni who has power in the Imperial Palace.

“... I don’t need to answer.”

Chun Yeowun deliberately answered as such.

Thanks to that, Daedang-Du was convinced that he was the man who received the order from the West Spear.

‘I am sure that he belongs to the West Spear. To seek out such a great master... those bastards don’t spare any money because they side with prince Gan Tae-sik. But if I try to persuade this man.’

Not only will West Spear’s plan fail, but even the strength of the Alumni would grow stronger.

If that happened, the name Daedang-Du would be recognized by the public and get promoted to a high official position in the future, this made Daedang-Du try and convince him.

“Hear me out, please. I can be of huge help to you. I don’t know what they offered you in return, but we can offer you ten times of what those West Spear have told you.”

“Do you see me as someone who changes sides for money?”

If he changed sides too easily, it would lead to suspicion, so he deliberately bounced off the suggestion. And it seemed effective. Daedang-Du turned anxious at those words, not knowing what had to be done.

‘He is a real piece. Uh, uh, then...’

When Chun Yeowun didn’t change sides as expected, Daedang-Du drew out the last straw.

“Since you are such a talented person, with a little merit, the council may take you in as a recommendation to be placed under his majesty the Young King.”

‘Young King?’

Young King, Zhu Tae-Yoon. The first prince of the empire and the one closest to being crowned as the successor. Numerous officials were rooting for him and among the three forces of the Imperial Palace, the Alumni were acting as his limbs.

Earlier, he remembered when the gold guards were talking, they said something about the Young King having guards.

‘This has turned out to be more annoying than I thought.’

The worst and the most annoying situation is for the Blade God Six Martial clan to be related to the Young King. If so, then their purpose wouldn't just be to hold the Moorim under their hands, but also the Imperial family.

Eventually, Chun Yeowun decided to play according to his own pace.

"... Can you really put in a word to the Young King?"

'I did it!'

Although he seemed reluctant, Daedang-Du was pleased with the positive response. He was so happy that he didn't even think of anything else.

"Is- isn't it natural? If a word from someone like me is sent, even the Young King would be pleased. Even if that doesn't go through, I'll make sure you get some merit."

Thud!

"Ugh!"

Fall!

Chun Yeowun took off his hands from Daedung-Du's neck. Relieved that he wasn't going to lose his life, he sank to the ground. It was surprising that the force that was squeezing out the life from him disappeared just like that.

Taking pity, Chun Yeowun said to him.

"Then Daedang-du, follow up on your word."

Meanwhile, on the left side of the Imperial's Dragon Palace, was the Flower Palace of the court ladies.

The Flower Palace is the place where only the court ladies and the Emperor would enter. On its west side was a bamboo forest, where a person wrapped in a cloth secretly entered.

Even though it was dark because of the sun setting, appearing familiar with the path, the person moved without a light. However, during his walk, the person had no idea that his movement caught someone's attention.

Swoosh! Swoosh!

Someone wanted the person dead. Just like him, the follower also covered his face with something similar to a white cloth, if carefully observed, one could see the gold armor.

'How far is that one going to move?'

The man wearing the gold shield armor was none other than a warrior from the Demonic Cult. It wasn't just Chun Yeowun that sneaked into the Imperial Palace to find answers. His men too were infiltrating and chasing the suspicious ones to track down the five spies. They were all elite, made up of Grand Master or near to Superior Master Level.

The person who had been walking through the bamboo forest for a long time suddenly came to a halt.

'Ah!'

-tak!

Holding on to the bamboo, the Demonic Cult's warrior stopped. Holding his breath, he looked at the person. The person seemed like someone trained to assassinate, he was excellent in stealth when compared to ordinary trainees.

‘Huh?’

Half an hour after the person stopped, someone began to appear. It was dark, but the faint moonlight shining through the bamboo trees made the face vaguely visible. A dress the elite had seen countless times.

‘Maid?’

Shockingly, the one who appeared in the bamboo forest was an elderly court lady. As she wore a red silk robe, she seemed to be a high-class martial arts user among the court ladies.

At that moment he tried to focus on listening to their conversation by trying to breathe as silently as possible.

Swoosh!

‘Ah!’

The image of the maid standing in front of the supposed spy disappeared. Judging from that, something strange was unfolding below. He moved closer to look but ended up hearing a woman’s voice from behind.

“There seem to be a lot of rats in this dignified Imperial Palace.”

‘Im... impossible.’

He looked at her, perceiving a person full of confidence. Every cell in his body warned out loud that he had to get away, to run away as fast as possible.

Without hesitation, the Demonic Cult’s warrior tried to escape from the unknown court lady by kicking a bamboo at her in an attempt to widen their distance. But.

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

Puck!

“Kuak!”

Before he could do anything, he was stunned by the force which hit his bare neck. Losing consciousness, the man fell on the ground below.

“It is time to hunt down all the rats.”

At the end of her words, the eyes of countless human figures flickered deep inside the bamboo forest.

Chapter 352 - The Hidden Power Within The Imperial Palace (1)

Chapter 352: The Hidden Power Within The Imperial Palace (1)

Enclosed in the dark sky, the shining full moon was covered by the clouds.

It was still early in the evening when the entire Imperial Palace was lit up. There were numerous buildings located inside the Dragon Palace, beginning with the Empress and the concubines' Palace, and through the buildings intended for the bureaucrats that are located just at the right spot for work.

A castle on the Eastern side was where the eunuchs of the Eastern Spear live. It is located not far from their dining area. There were about ten people heading towards the innermost section of the east.

Nine of them were all dressed as East Spear eunuchs, and one was wearing a military officer's uniform inlaid with gold, it was Chun Yeowun.

Flinch!

The eunuchs who were walking along the path would look into Chun Yeowun's eyes and flinched at his gaze. Everything went well according to Dae Dung-Du's narrative. But, all were still afraid of the said ridiculous ability that Chun Yeowun possessed.

'I am not sure if I can take down this person.'

The remaining nine eunuchs shuddered at the thought of how Chun Yeowun killed Yoon Baek Ho. It was hard to believe that Chun Yeowun had the capability to do that. Not realizing what these ten people were going through, someone enthusiastically stated: “The institute will be greatly pleased to know that a master like him is giving us a hand, Hohoho.”

Unlike the other eunuchs, Dae Dang-Du was excited at the thought that he managed to do something for once. He thought that he would be greatly appreciated since he managed to invite a Supreme Master Warrior, which no one had ever achieved.

‘So noisy.’

It was the first time that Chun Yeowun had come across someone who was as talkative as Hu Bong. He tried to ignore the words, but it was difficult to disregard that screeching laugh. As he was getting vexed, he came close to a building. It seemed like that was where the East Spear’s eunuchs stayed and worked.

“Over there.”

A large structured manor was seen at the place where Dae Dang-Du had pointed towards. Even within the Imperial Palace, such manor is still considered to be on a huge scale. It proved how inexorable the power of the East Spear has.

‘That manor could accommodate two to three thousand people.’

It seemed like the words which said that the Imperial Palace of the Daemyeong Empire was overflowing with eunuchs wasn’t false at all.

He followed Dae Dang-Du to the entrance of the manor.

Reaching the entrance, Dae Dang-Du asked the guards who watched over the place.

“Did the Gong-Gong return yet?”

“He hasn’t come back yet.”

“It is getting late.”

Normally, he would retire and return before it got dark. But the fact that the person hadn’t come seemed to be related to his workload.

‘Was it because His Highness had just returned?’

Even if that wasn’t the case, it was said that Zhu Taikhan had returned after completing the order for the envoy.

“Then Lord Oh must not have come back yet too.”

“Yes.”

It was expected. Lord Oh has always been complimented by East Spear’s commander, Im Gong-Gong. Thus, he could be considered as the right arm of the commander. His absence meant that he was still working.

‘Ahh...’

Dae Dang-Du glanced at Chun Yeowun, who was standing next to him. He insisted that he would be recommended to Im Gong-Gong right away, but the man himself wasn’t even present.

‘How did it all come to this? If Im Gong-Gong isn’t here, he cannot be admitted into our organization.’

If only Lord Oh, the next in power, was present, Chun Yeowun could be granted access to enter.

‘What should I do? Ah...’

Chun Yeowun felt awkward and anxious for no reason. While Dae Dang-Du, who was contemplating, came up with a method.

‘Aee. If so, it would be better to take him to the Khum Elder and let him know. There is no way that Gong-Gong would oppose it.’

Khum Elder was the left arm of Im Gong-Gong and was responsible for the internal affairs of the East House and the Guest House. In the morning he would stay at the East House, but he would end up in the Guest House in the evening.

It would be better for him to talk to the Elder that always stayed at the Guest Hall.

“I’ll...Gong-Gong hasn’t come back yet, so, if you’re comfortable with it, why don’t we go and see Khum Elder in the guest hall?”

Chun Yeowon nodded as Dae Dang-Du cautiously asked. There was no reason for him to refuse since he could get a good look at what was in the guest hall.

Feeling fortunate, Dae Dang-du asked Chun Yeowun to follow him.

“We need to head this way.”

He said that the guest hall wasn’t far. However, Chun Yeowun who was heading towards it suddenly stopped and stared somewhere with a frown.

“What is it?”

Dae Dang-du asked, wondering, but Chun Yeowun who was solemnly looking at something did not bother to answer back.

‘What is it? This mix of energy...’

It is a foreign energy that made him feel extremely disturbed.

On the outskirts of the east lies the East House Manor with ‘East House and Guest House’ written on the signboard. It is a short distance away from the Northern Manor.

From the courtyard to the main hall, 30 people stood while facing each other.

In the highest seat of the main hall was a man, a middle-aged man with a patched eye and a cut on his face that went down until the cheek. Unlike the other eunuchs, he was a man who didn’t disclose himself, but it looked like the energy he was releasing wasn’t unusual.

“...they have been selected as the most outstanding ones. And...”

A eunuch in front of him was reporting. When he listened to the contents, it seemed like they were making a plan to mobilize Masters.

It looked like the ones in the yard were Masters.

They were all wearing official uniforms of low-ranking cadets in the Imperial Palace, but each was said to have an energy better than high ranked warriors. However, there was one person that Chun Yeowun noticed.

A man with a grim and scared face, it was none other than Hu Bong. He was all tensed up and sweating, unlike his usual confident self.

‘Uh uh, what is he up to?’

Hu Bong always managed to follow Chun Yeowun wherever he went. Like the others, he was in charge of entering the Palace as a spy, whether he was lucky or unfortunate, he still managed to enter.

‘Idiot. Always up to something useless.’

Unlike the masters who were keeping an eye from a distance, Hu Bong made direct contact with someone and entered into the palace as a member of the East Spear.

[Are you interested in succeeding?]

For several days, Hu Bong acted like a perfect Imperial guard that checked for spies. He thought that something great was going to unfold and entered the East Spear’s location with excitement.

[I like your martial arts, the impression, the flow, and the well-established structure. Come to the main hall in the middle of the day.]

Unfortunately, Hu Bong got picked up by one of the East Spear before he could even dig up any information about the spies. He wanted to inform Chun Yeowun, but there was no way that they could contact each other with how things were going.

The internal energy of those around him wasn't normal, and he couldn't even guess how strong Elder Khum was, the one seated in the middle of the hall.

'If I could just get out of here.'

Hearing their plans, it seemed like escaping from their grasp was going to be a tough task. Which was why Hu Bong decided to peek at any opportunity and run away. On the other hand, the eunuch called Khum, who seemed to be a bigwig in the main hall was in deep thought.

Shkk!

He kept on touching the cut on his right cheek, which didn't appear to be an old wound. It seemed fresh as if it happened before the exam.

'Fuck. I wasn't even sure about the location, but I need to come up with a plan!'

Originally, his plan was to come up with a solution after finding the real location of spies.

On the other hand, his relationship with the 1st Prince, Zhu Taeyoon was also going strong. But he felt hurt when the Prince objected to his proposal of accelerating the plan. The Prince said that the bookkeeping ceremony was a tradition to be done.

[The location of Su Hochun isn't clear, and even those before him also lost their lives after acting too vigilant. Are they trying to work in a rush because of the upcoming examinations...?]

Shhk!

[Huh!]

[Dojo head Khum. You are currently under the main office's jurisdiction. As the one in the main seat, you weren't supposed to be delayed. Accept those who are near the door.]

[...Understood.]

Eventually, he had to give in to the orders.

'It was said that he's the perfect match to be a gatekeeper and one of the craziest among the six.'

Even with the order, he wasn't sure about taking in someone who had been mobile inside the Imperial Palace.

It made him feel uneasy.

Well, once the mission tonight was done, he would no longer be in the Imperial Palace, and the time he spent will be for naught.

"...that is all. Elder Khum."

After reporting, the eunuch looked at him. As if he was waiting for some kind of an assurance. However, Elder Khum seemed out of place, making expressions as if he was in anguish.

'Say something, so I can get out of here already, why is he delaying like that?'

Hu Bong, who began to feel impatient, coughed.

"Ugh, ugh!"

Yet, the moment he coughed, the expressions of the 30 warriors who were looking at Elder Khum went stiff.

‘Huh? Why, what happened?’

Hu Bong was puzzled. But he would soon see the reason. Khum Elder, who garnered his attention, got up, looked around, and opened his mouth with a low voice.

“Who was it? Who coughed right now?”

Around 30 warriors turned their gazes at the elder without saying a word. With that, Hu Bong knew what his mistake was.

‘Damn it!’

He thought that things were going well. He decided to stay silent as things would only get complicated from there. Even so, Elder Khum still shouted this time.

“Who just coughed right now!”

It felt absurd to Hu Bong. He never guessed that someone would get mad at the sound of a cough.

‘No. He is a crazy bastard for sure.’

Still, he tried to pretend as if he didn’t know. But, the 30 warriors quietly turned their heads towards Hu Bong.

‘Ugh! Bastards with no loyalty!’

Thanks to them, Elder Khum gazed at him. Hu Bong began to break out in cold sweat.

One cough messed up his entire plan. Hu Bong, who had been worrying for a while, grieved for the ruined plan. But he still bowed his head to avoid being noticed.

"I, I am sorry. Elder."

When Hu Bong apologized, the eunuch next to Khum noticed and tried to calm him down. He knew how uncomfortable the warriors were to be there. Khum was the kind who always vent at the subordinates when he got angry.

"...Elder. He is known as Mu Chung, he was invited here for a meal for the first time today, so he is unaware of our manners. Please..."

Before the eunuch could reason for the warrior, Elder Khum cut his words.

"A newbie? Huh, this is bad. An elder is struggling at the moment, how could he even think of coughing? That foolish bastard."

'Damn it.'

Hu Bong pretended to apologize, bowed further, and spoke loudly.

"I am sorry, Elder. Please forgive me."

In fact, he knew that the situation would worsen. Being planted in the unit of elder Khum is the most distressing situation for him. He really wanted to go out and relieve his anger.

"Just because the Elder is staying calm, doesn't mean that you can get rid of all the military rules in your head. You, mediocre, are truly pathetic. Someone, please tell me that the East Spear isn't a place where people like that can enter."

As if something ominous was said. It happened.

Phat!

'Huh?'

Elder Khum, who was in his seat bounced off and flew towards Hu Bong, attempting to blow away his head. It was a swift move. But Hu Bong, who was anxious and fidgety from the beginning moved instantaneously and took a couple steps back.

"How dare he avoid the punishment?"

As he escaped from the blow, Elder Khum's anger rose. Gathering internal energy in both of his hands, he unleashed it towards Hu Bong.

Hu Bong, who had already reached the highest mark of a warrior, couldn't comprehend the movement with his naked eye.

'S-shit!'

His face contorted and seemed like there were sharp nails penetrating his chest.

Patpatatpat!

"No?!"

All of a sudden, someone intervened in front of Hu Bong and dissipated his attack. Despite being revered as someone powerful, his attack got easily blocked, and the man immediately countered back.

Swa! Swa! Swa! Swa!

The Air Sword which moved with profound aerodynamics drew its trajectory and stabbed the heart of Elder Khum.

Elder Khum was shocked at the sudden appearance of an unknown man, but he was still a Supreme Master Warrior.

Without letting himself be too flustered, Elder Khum tried to use the opportunity and utilized a unique step to avoid the trajectory of the Air Sword.

‘Such great sword.’

The splendid swordsmanship, consisting of 24 swords, managed to move Elder Khum without a second to breathe. Inevitably, the last sword ended up brushing past his forehead.

Slash!

His body, which was already at a weird angle, was further bent back as the swords aimed for his heart.

‘It is my first time coming across such an attack!’

It was generally impossible to hit something and make it bounce back right away. However, Elder Khum displayed such sophisticated moves. Everyone watching the duel were amazed, apart from one, the man who intervened, he just smirked.

‘he is smirking?’

Elder was ready to plunge his nails into the man’s heart.

‘Let’s aim??’

Shockingly, as if he had already predicted Elder Khum's intent to pierce his heart, the man aimed for the Elder's wrist. He raised his right hand to pull him near and strike him down.

"Damn it!"

Elder Khum was ready to use his right arm to bring down this unknown man who was challenging him. However, the power of that man's attacks seemed far beyond imagination.

'Th-this makes no sense! Ugh!'

Puck! Tear!

"Kuahhhhh!"

The attack was strong enough to break an arm and ripped it off the moment it struck. Elder Khum screamed and grunted as the pain of his bones breaking and arm ripped off overwhelmed his body.

"AHHH!"

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

It was excruciating, but elder Khum endured it and moved 10 steps back. Holding onto his bleeding wrist, he glared at the unknown man.

"The-the Golden?"

The man was wearing a golden robe. Hu Bong, who almost died, was shocked when he looked at the man before him, his eyes widened at the sight. If it wasn't for the 24 swords he had seen before, he wouldn't have guessed it.

'Lord!'

The man was none other than Chun Yeowun.

Chapter 353 - The Hidden Power Within The Imperial Palace (2)

Chapter 353: The Hidden Power Within The Imperial Palace (2)

The Qi energy that was released by Chun Yeowun, who reached the level of Perfect Supreme Master Warrior was overwhelming.

It's natural to neither distinguish the opponent's Qi nor read their strength, but as the opponent gets closer, the more it's possible to recognize the energy they hold.

Chun Yeowun, who sensed Hu Bong's energy in the East House and Guest House left Dae Dang-Du and the eunuchs who were traveling along with him. Thanks to that, Hu Bong buzzed back to life, as he realized who saved him.

[Lord!]

[You did well. Hu Bong.]

Chun Yeowun looked and praised him. In order to save him, he had to confront Elder Khum. As a result, Chun Yeowun learned that he was tough to deal with. Unlike the other eunuchs, he was mastering an extraordinary skill with his internal energy.

Although the eunuch had transformed his internal energy into a skill, Chun Yeowun was never deceived and knew that the opponent had exceeded the unique human limits.

[Sorry? I did well?]

Hu Bong, who knew that both their behaviors would be deemed as suspicious was puzzled.

[You found the warrior and the members of the Blade God Six Martial Clan.]

[UGH? Did I found it? Then, then that eunuch is from that clan?]

He was stunned. Hu Bong would've never guessed it. He looked at Elder Khum whose body oozed with white steam as he tried to seal off his torn arm. That was when Chun Yeowun gave him an urgent warning.

[Hu Bong. Once I give you a signal, get ready to run or hide.]

[What?]

Hu Bong felt extremely lost at Chun Yeowun's order.

However, there was one other person who could have understood what Chun Yeowun meant, it was Elder Khum.

'Kuahh'

Elder Khum's complexion wasn't good as he turned pale while he stopped the bleeding on his arm. The moment he sparred with Chun Yeowun, he realized that the man didn't belong to the Golden Guards.

'There is no such skilled person in the Golden Guards.'

Even the Southern Commander, who is known to be the best of the guards, is far inferior than the man standing in front of him. That being said, the opponent seemed to be higher than Super Master Warrior.

Anything beyond that was hard to guess.

‘He isn’t a person from the Imperial Palace. What the hell...
ugh?’

Swoosh!

As he was contemplating for answers, Elder Khum’s expression went stiff. Afar, an unknown energy seemed to be approaching him at a rapid pace. Sinister energy.

Elder Khum immediately shouted to the ones wearing a junior officer’s uniform.

“Something is approaching us! Take your stance and be on guard!”

“What? What do you mean?”

“Don’t ask and just follow!”

At first, they thought that their Elder was trying to warn them about the Perfect Supreme Master who suddenly popped out. However, the members of the East Spear sensed something off and quickly pulled out their weapons.

Clang! Clang!

They were masters who were approaching Superior Master Level, but when compared to Elder Khum or Chun Yeowun, they seemed weak. Yet, they still managed to sense the foreign energy that was coming for them.

Swoosh! Swoosh! Swoosh!

The sound of something stepping on the ground kept entering their ears. The source of the creepy and eerie foreign energy surfaced.

“It is here.”

“All of you be quiet!”

Elder Khum silenced the officials of the East Spear who kept on mumbling in anxiousness.

Heeeeeiiiiing!

As the unknown cold energy circulated, the wind began to move in incomprehensible directions and extinguished the torches on the walls. With the torches extinguished, everything turned dark in an instant. Small spheres of light appeared one after the other, accompanied by a sound from the walls and ceiling of the building, which didn't belong to the East Spear nor Chun Yeowun.

‘There are Flame Energy Warriors here.’

Elder Khum cautiously looked around with narrowed eyes. Suddenly, he could see that countless eyes had surrounded their building. Those eyes, shining in yellow under the moonlight, watched them closely.

‘Wh-what are they?’

‘Does the Imperial Palace have such people?’

Surrounded by humans with ominous energy, the 30 something warriors tensed up. Their hands that were gripping onto the spears tightened. Turning nervous and anxious because of an unknown enemy is a natural reaction.

Swwosh!

At that moment, a person appeared in the middle of the yard. The moon hidden by the clouds showed up and the person's face was dimly seen. She was a court lady wearing a red silk robe, with straight flowing white hair, and clasped hands.

“Chief Maid?”

Elder Khum opened his mouth in surprise.

Although Elder Khum was only in charge of the duties of the East Spear, he still entered the Palace for events and festivities, which was why he knew her. The identity of the court lady was Yeongwol, who was said to be the 2nd ranked Court of Lady of the Imperial Palace.

She was placed in charge of the deposit and payments of the Imperial Warehouses in case of a civil war.

‘No way!’

He couldn't help but be surprised at what he witnessed. Standing on walls and fences, with their hands and feet placed on the ground like hunting animals, were the holders of the yellow eyes, the court ladies!

Rustle! Rustle!

Even those who were newly recruited couldn't hide their unease. The foreign energy they sensed from the court ladies was fundamentally unknown and made them feel nervous. They weren't ordinary court ladies anymore, they all looked unfamiliar and ambiguous.

'...it can't be, are they the ones who are called Guardians?'

The hidden power of the Imperial Palace, the Imperial Palace Guardians.

Since infiltrating the Imperial Palace, every effort made was for the sole purpose of finding the Guardians. According to the rumors, the leaders of the Guardians had skilled members that even those from the Forces of Justice couldn't match.

Elder Khum, who only came across East Spear and West Spear would have never in a million years thought that the Guardians would end up being the court ladies!

'If they really are the members of the Guardian, we need to avoid fighting with them. Moreover...'

He had already lost his right arm and his internal energy was drained. He had previously decided that it would be impossible to deal with the unknown Golden Guard. It felt even more unreasonable to clash with Yeongwol, the Chief maid of the court ladies, who was exuding unfathomable energy.

Clench!

Elder Khum clenched his wounded hand.

"Was the Chief Maid sent here to the Guest Hall to deliver some task?"

According to the eunuch's rank, Elder Khum would have been on the same level as the lady. But, because of the East

Spear and its effective workings, he was able to become a high ranking bureaucrat. Chief Maid of the court ladies, Yeongwol, opened her lips as she looked around.

“There were rats in the Imperial Palace and the most dangerous one of them got chased in this direction, did anything interesting catch your eyes?”

“Interesting?”

“I have been thinking for a while, but the audience of the East House seemed to have the Devil’s Pandemonium.”

Hidden Devil’s Pandemonium.

A term that refers to a battlefield where a devil is said to be hiding. It means that bad things or conspiracy are constantly being done for some evil cause. Elder Khum responded right away to avoid getting cornered.

“Devil’s pandemonium? What kind of nonsense is that? This is the realm of the East Spear! No matter how important you are as the Chief Maid, this isn’t a place where you intrude and speak without evidence!”

It was the rule of the Imperial Palace, irrespective of the royal titles given, the access to the residence and training grounds had to be given by the person in charge of the guards. Elder Khum was intent on using the Imperial Court Law as an excuse to kick out the Guardians.

Though it’s indefinite that it would work.

“I didn’t come here as the Chief Maid of the Court ladies.”

“...then?”

“I came here as a member of the Imperial Palace Guardians, the one you were desperately looking for.”

“Chief Maid!”

Shockingly, the Chief Maid, Yeongwol boldly revealed her identity. There was only one reason why a member of the Imperial Guardians would reveal the identity. To punish and threaten those who disrupted the order in the Imperial Palace.

“...Chief Maid, the 3rd leader of the Guardians, I don’t know what you’re talking about.”

“Everyone says the same thing.”

Yeongwol’s right hand began to gather energy. Elder Khum, who sensed it, hastily raised his arm and said.

“Lady! It seems like that man there is the Devil’s Pandemonium. Look here, I don’t know if you can see but he tore off my arm. I was struck!”

For an arm to be ripped out, there would be no further explanation other than that. Grateful, he thought that his statement was reasonable, but the Chief Maid didn’t even care. Rather, she spoke in a voice filled with power.

“What of the injury? As I said before, I paid close attention to you from the moment you entered the Imperial Palace.”

“Yah! Chief Maid! I wanted to persecute the spies I saw earlier, but yo...ugh!?”

Wheeing!

Elder Khum tried to point towards the unknown Golden Guard, but he wasn't in sight. From the moment the torches were extinguished and darkness engulfed them, it was certain that the Golden Guard wasn't in the yard anymore. Moreover, the new recruit who coughed disappeared too.

'Th-those men!'

Elder Khum was embarrassed as the people he was trying to blame disappeared! Either they were present or not, Chief Maid, the 3rd leader of the Guardians, had already ordered the court ladies to surround the building.

"According to the law of the Guardians, subdue everything and everyone. If they rebel, you can kill them."

"What!!!"

Swosh! Swosh! Swosh!

The moment the order was given, the court ladies simultaneously entered the courtyard. The recruits, who were nervous and anxious about their future, swung their spears.

"Fight them!"

"Even if they are the Imperial Palace Guardians, they are just girls!"

The ominous energy exuding from the court ladies penetrated their minds, but they were soldiers who were trained to fight till the very end. They weren't the kind who would step back without fighting.

"Haaaaa!"

A military officer with a spear rushed towards a court lady. The spear, imbued with internal energy, split into five, drawing out exquisite trajectories, trying to cut the lady.

Swosh! Swosh! Swosh!

Shockingly, the court ladies flooded the enemy's yard. They didn't even gather energy on both of their hands. A court lady manifested a technique loaded with Qi as her bare hands moved towards the men. A startling scene to behold.

'That girl is crazy to the core!'

The boldness of taking down the enemy with their spears began to sink as they witnessed the force of the ladies. Still, the men decided to meet their end with a brave heart.

Cang! Cang! Cang!

Shockingly, the spear which was used to cut down the girl's hands bounced back upon contact, it was as if the spear hit something rigid. Rather, his palm that was holding onto the sword began to tingle.

"Wh-what is this?"

While the man was muddled and unable to understand, the court lady's eyes flashed as her palm gathered Qi and struck the man's chest.

Puck!

"Kuwak!"

The moment he was struck on the chest, it felt like fire was implanted into his heart. Along with the pain of his internal organs burning up, black smoke began to escape from the man's gasping mouth.

A never before seen phenomenon.

"These, these women, something is weird about them!"

The other officers also experienced a similar effect. The court ladies ran around like crazed warriors who weren't afraid of death.

Cang! Clang!

"The- the sword isn't stopping them?"

However, unlike regular girls with delicate moves, these girls didn't even flinch at the incoming attacks and went for those who were equipped with weapons. The only attack that worked on them was an attack imbued with a strong Qi.

Puhk!

Among the officers, there were few Superior Master Warriors. Once they witnessed that neither the swords nor the spears worked on the girls, they intensified their Qi.

'This will work!'

Fortunately, the intensified Qi attack worked on them. Although they were strong, they weren't at the level of Elder Khum, who could have destroyed them in an instant. The attack worked and caused damage. But the problem was, it didn't stop them.

"Th-this is crazy!"

Even though the arm of the girl had been cut off, she still ran towards the officer with her eerie eyes glowing in yellow.

It was as if she couldn't feel pain.

'These girls are like monsters!?'

Tatatatak!

As a result of what he witnessed, a Superior Master Warrior immediately decided to increase the distance between them. He realized how dangerous it would be to continue fighting such a person.

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

"Hoo...Hoo..."

Gooooooh!

The court ladies, who could feel the heat rising in their bodies, approached them at a terrifying speed to wring their hearts. The recruits and the officers eventually got tired of running and failing at attacking the ladies who seemed to be immortal.

On the other hand, Elder Khum who witnessed it all, was gloating inside.

'Found it! This is it!'

Chapter 354 - The Hidden Power Within The Imperial Palace (3)

Chapter 354: The Hidden Power Within The Imperial Palace (3)

Chop! Chop!

“Damn it!!”

The Superior Master Warrior’s Qi caused his arm to tremble. However, to take down the manic one-arm woman that was running towards him, he unfurled his Qi in the form of a sword. Through his swordsmanship, his Qi shot rampant in abundance, as if it was welcoming the rushing zombie-like court lady towards her demise.

However, the court lady wasn’t foolish enough to run blindly into it, which could’ve sliced her into two.

Pat! Bang!

‘She avoided it?’

The lady turned around and avoided the Qi that was rushing at her. She tried to find flaws in his technique as she kept moving swiftly.

‘What kind of movements are those!’

The court lady's movements were different from the usual striding sequence. Like a lean, well-balanced cat, she jumped back and forth avoiding the sword Qi. She was a tough opponent to deal with.

'I need to cut down either her leg or neck!'

If the lady could move so precisely even with a lacking arm, he had no choice but to either cut her leg or her throat. She may be unaware of pain, but it didn't mean that she was immortal.

Swish! Swish! Swish!

Pat! Phat! Phat!

The court lady was gradually turning accustomed to the sword Qi and its movements. Thus, the Superior Master Warrior couldn't help but come to a decision. If he continues the sword Qi's motion and abruptly changes its course, he'll be able to disrupt her maneuvers.

'Now!'

Before the court lady could reach his sword Qi, he carefully observed how she charged towards him and decided to move slightly to the left. At that moment, with a shattering sound, the Superior Master Warrior pushed the sword to the court lady's throat. She was surprised and desperately tried to avoid it, but there was no way she could stop after storming ahead.

"AGH!"

Slash!

The Superior Master Warrior succeeded in slashing her throat. She got lacerated, and her zombie-like body fell onto the floor like a detached puppet.

“I did it! Immortal? What bullshit...”

Puck! Puck!

“KWAH!”

The exhilaration he felt after taking down the court lady lasted only for so long. He felt pain and looked at his back in distress just to see that two court ladies had struck him at his back and side. He felt cornered as his insides bleed and fire burned through his organs. Of course, it wasn't just a sensation.

Kiiiiick!

“UGH!”

He was frightened at the sudden attack and tried to protect his blood points, but it was too late. The fire seeped into his body and scorched his innards. Even in his last moments, the Superior Master Warrior managed to pull out the sword Qi with preciseness and slit the throat of a court lady.

Slash!

The court lady, who saw her colleague's neck get slit, grabbed the man's throat.

“Le, let go... Ugh, uh, cough!”

The Superior Master Warrior's face turned red as fire filled his head. He, who had already exhausted his reserved Qi for taking down the opponent, had no strength to rebel anymore.

Bom! Bom!

His eyes burst black as if they got burned with fire. To call the flame that they're using as the foreign power called Yang was a great misconception. It was literal, pure flame energy.

Tingle! Tingle!

"AHHHHHH!"

Screams resonated everywhere along with the nasty smell of burning flesh. The warriors died one after the other ignorant to the mysterious power that the monstrous court ladies possessed. Of course, not everyone died.

"Huh!"

Although one arm got torn off, Elder Khum, a Supreme Master, managed to save his internal energy. No matter how fast the court ladies were, his eyes interpreted no difference in their movements.

Swosh! Swosh! Swosh!

When one of the court ladies rushed towards him, he just faintly moved his upper body to avoid the attack. The court lady tried to change her form, getting pissed at his minimal movements, but...

Thud!

"You seem to look down on the Elder whose one arm is cut off, hmmm!"

Crack!

Getting hold of the court lady's arm, he fractured her bones and ripped it off. Elder Khum, who pulled out her arm, kicked her on the stomach.

Kick! Thud!

With Qi imbued into the attack, the court lady's body flew ten steps in the air and rolled on the ground. No matter how strong she might be, she couldn't let herself be taken down by basic assaults. But as she tried to get up, her body staggered as if it had been crushed.

Kiiiick!

Elder Khum, who held the lady's arm in his hand, removed the clothing on it. Seeing the stripped arm, his eyes flooded with joy.

"Kukuku, at last! At last! Found it!"

Shockingly, dense red scales were on the court lady's arm. Such scales defended the owner from the sword Qi and numerous other attacks. Elder Khum, who figured out the answer, shouted in joy at the warriors who were fighting the court ladies.

"Blood Reversion is allowed against these insects!"

Once his orders fell, the four warriors who were still fighting roared. Sudden changes were occurring inside the four warriors' bodies. Regardless, the court ladies didn't hesitate to rush towards the strengthened men. Dum! Dum!

Their muscular upper body began to bulk up at a bizarre and rapid rate. Their eyes turned red and veins popped and bulged on their faces, making them hideous to look at.

“Roarrrrrrrr!”

A beast’s cry escaped from their mouths. Even the other warriors who were in the vicinity of the fight were scared by their appearance. The four monster-like men, now twice the height of an adult, were devoid of any human features.

“WH-what the hell is this?”

“How were these monsters part of the house?”

They were unaware that the demons had disguised themselves as humans. Unlike the warriors who couldn’t shut their mouths with surprise, the court ladies halted and ran towards the warriors who had used Blood Reversion.

Kwak!

The man using the Blood Reversion technique snatched a sword and rushed towards a court lady. It looked like a behemoth had seized the villain. The giant grabbed the ankle of the lady and tore it off while holding her other leg.

Tear!

The court lady got torn in half effortlessly. After killing her cruelly with ease, everyone nodded at the weight of the moment.

“Kwah!”

“Hic!”

The few remaining warriors couldn’t overcome their fear and scrambled to escape the hellhole. They lit the walls in an attempt to run away, but the court ladies intercepted them.

“Da- damn it! these monsters!”

Clang! Clang!

“Shit!”

The soldiers desperately tried to defeat them. But to no avail, their Qi wasn't strong enough to injure the ladies. Moreover, they had witnessed the downfall of the 3 Superior Master Warriors who were adept in handling strong Qi and the four warriors' transformation into monsters.

“Kwaahhhh!”

Yeongwol, a member of the Guardians, stared at the deranged men that looked like monsters.

With a smile on his face, Elder Khum spoke to her.

“Did you think that an Elder like me wouldn't have a secret up my sleeve? Heh, heh.”

“... I knew that the devil's pandemonium was in here.”

“If you decide to stop fighting and surrender, I will spare your life along with the other court ladies.”

Elder Khum had no intention to kill them. He just wanted to locate the head of the Imperial Palace Guardian and figure out the foreign power they possess. Yeongwol clicked her tongue at Elder Khum, who didn't even bother to hide his greedy expression.

“You're trying to find out the Guardian's identity with those monsters disguised as humans? Tch.”

“What?”

Tap!

As Yeonwol flicked her fingers, two court ladies wearing veils appeared behind her. They were wearing blue silk robes with red patterns stitched on them.

“Inspection Maids?”

Looking at the costumes, it seemed like they must have been in the prosecutor’s office assisting the deacons. Despite the yellow glowing eyes which could be seen through the veils, they were exuding different energy from the other court ladies. If there was anything visibly different, it was the long sword present in their eyes.

“Help the other court ladies in killing those beasts who emerged from their human masks.”

“The leader’s order has been received.”

Phat!

Simultaneously as the former fell, the newly arrived ladies moved towards the beast-like men who were unleashing their strength.

“GRRRRRRRR!”

The beast-like men moved and attacked every lady who rushed towards them. However, the inspection maids were faster than the previous ones, they kept on moving, bouncing from one place to another.

Jump! Jump! Jump!

“GRRRRR, you crazy wench!”

The beast-like man boiled with anger and extended his sharp nails, unfolding a high-level technique.

Hwak!

Despite the beast's increasing power, while avoiding the attacks, a lady struck his arm with a sword.

“Kuuuuuu! It's no use!”

Launching the higher-level technique strengthened his body. Both sides were masters in their own domain, one possessing the Flame Qi and the other having the Blood Reversion. However, their strength forced them into a stalemate. But,

Puhk!

“KWAAAK!”

But, when done correctly, the thick arm that seemed to be unpierceable got cut by the sword. Though the lady failed to cut through the bones, the sword still wounded the flesh with the help of her skill.

Clang!

The beast-like man was shocked as he witnessed her sword slit his skin. The sword was burning red as if it had been placed in a fire. Moreover, he witnessed a faint blue light, which seemed to be the reason behind their strength. Unlike the other court ladies, these new ones are extremely skilled.

“Kuaaaaak!”

The beast on Blood Reversion, who judged the lady as a dangerous opponent, rushed towards her with the intent to kill. But due to his hasty movement, one thing was overlooked. He doesn't only have one opponent. Once the gap was created, a 2nd lady struck him behind.

Clang! Clang! Clang! Clang!

No matter how sturdy the beast's body, it's bound to break when hit on the same spot with the Flame Qi.

"Ah! Ahhhhhhhh!"

The roar shook the ground as it slowly turned into a cry of pain.

'Ohh! This is what I get for looking down at the power of the Guardians.'

Elder Khum felt cheated as he thought that the situation would turn around because of the Blood Reversion act. Even after being outnumbered, the beast-like men still fought and killed numerous ladies.

It was a mistake to assume that he could trick the Guardian.

'I have no other choice but to subdue their leader.'

Yeonwol, herself, verified her identity as one of the three leaders of the Imperial Palace Guardian. If he could subdue her, he might be able to reverse the situation.

'Since our efforts are turning useless, the best warriors will be used to overwhelm them.'

Elder Khum, who was making a plan, raised his left hand. At that moment, Yeonwol's gaze drifted to the fighting court ladies and the beast-like men. It was then that something came towards her.

Right then,

Puck! Kwak!

“Kuak!”

She, who had turned her gaze away, was actually waiting for Elder Khum to attack her, she grabbed him by the neck as he neared her. Yeonwol’s eyes, which had been fine till a moment ago, turned yellow.

“You have a bad habit. Elder Khum.”

“Kuak... kuk! Ugh!”

Elder Khum hurriedly tried to intensify his Qi as he held onto her hand that was squeezing the life out of him. However, no matter how much he tried to impair her hand, she didn’t budge.

Kaaaang!

“Huak!”

He could guess that it was similar to what the court ladies were doing. Despite that, he never thought that she would be strong enough to withstand his Qi at such close range. Yeongwol’s dark eyes were gleaming.

“You cheeky bastard. Neither you nor those devil’s men out there need to stay alive. Just die.”

Clench!

“Kuaaak!”

She already had him in her grasp, as if intending to break his neck, she began to gather internal energy on her hand.

He was immersed in fear of his neck being twisted at any moment.

Hot! Hot!

“Huh? What...”

Elder Khum’s throat began to turn crimson. Yet, it appears like the end is still out of reach, his upper body began to swell with blood vessels protruding on the face, creating a sickening face. Meanwhile, he used Blood Reversion to escape from her grasp.

“Foolish attempt!”

Yeongwol raised her left hand and aimed it at his heart to cleanly kill him before he completed the Blood Reversion. Her left hand turned red as the fire burned through. At that moment.

Bang!

‘Huh?’

A stranger’s energy.

Yeonwol was so surprised that she couldn’t help but loosen her grasp on the Elder.

Bang!

At the same time, someone appeared out of nowhere behind Elder Khum and unfurled a sword Qi. The man, who landed from above, grabbed Elder Khum’s head.

-clench!

“Wh-who?”

Elder Khum was unnerved at someone's sudden touch, he couldn't turn as a tremendous shock spread throughout his head.

Chirirng!

“Kuuuuuuuakk!”

It was a spectacle, white light ran through his body like fire. As the undyed energy entered him, the Blood Reversion act, which created a new energy flow, stopped, and the bulked body shrank, along with his eyes turning back to normal.

Brrrrrrr!

The white light subsided, but the aftermath remained. Elder Khum's body convulsed. Resulting in his hair getting burned and him turning bald.

“This... this... manic!”

Before he could even unravel his skill, his technique was blocked. He shook his head at the absurdity of the situation, and the Golden Guard, who once disappeared was standing in front of him, again!

Chun Yeowun.

‘Didn't he run away? No... no way...’

“You... fucking... bastard...”

Thud!

Elder Khum cursed till the very moment he passed out.

The leader of the Guardians, Yeongwol, who was trying to keep him alive, spoke with displeasure as she looked at the intruder.

“Haa... here I was thinking where you hid.”

She couldn't analyze Chun Yeowun's power and only his grim demonic energy could be felt. Had it not been for that, she could've never found him.

Chun Yeowun confidently spoke back.

“This man belongs to me”

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

“Huh? What did you say? You ran away from us when we arrived! Suddenly coming and saying that... wait a moment! Did you?”

At that moment, leader Yeonwol's expression turned stiff. At first, she thought that he just ran away because of the disparity of their strength.

“Yo- you were aiming for this?”

Yep, he was.

Chun Yeowun was waiting for them to fight and drain each other. She finally realized why Elder Khum swore as he fell.

Chapter 355 - The Hidden Power Within The Imperial Palace (4)

Chapter 355: The Hidden Power Within The Imperial Palace (4)

The presence of a different, unknown energy.

In short, Chun Yeowun's ability to judge the situation was accurate.

If Chun Yeowun decided to remain in the courtyard, it was definite that the spies of the Blade God Six Martial clan might join forces with the Guardians and confront the most dangerous person out there, which was none other than Chun Yeowun.

However, by hiding himself for a while, he managed to lessen the people from both sides, increasing his chances of survival.

'The hidden power of the Imperial family...'

He was aware of the presence of such forces, but seeing them with his own eyes made him realize their staggering power. In the war of Gyoju, gauging the hidden power of the Imperial family was difficult, besides it was the promise to maintain a non-aggression treaty between the clans.

It was absolute that their strength and forte were different from the common martial arts.

‘A completely unique form of power. Like...’

“How dare you use such tricks against the leader of the Imperial Palace’s Guardians!”

Lady Yeongwol soared in anger at the thought of her being manipulated by an unknown person. Nearly 10 of her people had died trying to subdue the East Spear Warriors who were spies of the Blade God Six Martial clan.

Even if they’re unable to feel pain, death wasn’t what their leader wished for them.

‘That unruly energy being released from his body.’

The energy which Chun Yeowun was releasing made Yeongwol’s entire body rigid in alertness that magnified her senses. Moreover, she realized how dangerous he was once he took down Elder Khum of the Blade God Six Martial clan in one hit while he was using the Blood Reversion Act.

-Swoosh!

Yeongwol’s eyes, which turned back to their normal black color, began to emit a yellow hue. Her body began to release a red haze all around as if she was on fire.

‘Should I try negotiating with words?’

He had changed his appearance to that of a guard to find the spies, but Chun Yeowun didn’t exactly kill the spy of the Blade God Six Martial clan. He only concealed himself as much as possible.

It was because he wanted to speak to Elder Khum.

“Stop! I am not trying to fight you.”

“What did you say? Not trying to fight?”

“I just came here because I needed something. I have nothing against the Imperial Palace.”

He was someone capable enough to reach the Sky Demon energy and was already a Perfect Supreme Master warrior in both skill and execution. However, his previous actions were disrespectful to the non-aggression treaty, thus he had to be taken alive.

Chun Yeowun himself revealed that he had no hostility towards them. However, it didn't seem trustworthy.

“You were here because you needed something? How futile. You entered the Imperial Palace as if it was your bedroom.”

Even though Chun Yeowun had no intention of fighting, from Yeongwol's point of view, he was no more than an intruder in the Palace. He came all the way to the Daemyeong Empire and said that his deeds were warranted. His reasons felt shady to the ear.

“Let's see if your skills can help you out!”

Phat!

Yeongwol suddenly moved ahead and reached for Chun Yeowun. She was nimble as she teleported to her target in a matter of seconds and went to pierce his neck.

But,

Phuk!

Chun Yeowun simply raised his hand and lightly struck a simple blow on her hand. As if she predicted motion, her left hand targeted Chun Yeowun, who just blocked her.

‘Flame?’

Her sleeve was covered in red and it looked like fire danced on her hand. Fortunately, Chun Yeowun acted cautiously because of witnessing the defeat of the warriors using the Blood Reversion to the court ladies.

‘Then...’

-Swoosh!

Chun Yeowun’s left hand moved faster than Yeongwol and stopped right at her wounded forehead. If she didn’t retreat right away, or even if she tried to move her hand further towards him, her forehead would’ve gotten pierced, leaving her dead.

However, Yeongwol plowed ahead and attacked Chun Yeowun.

Phat! Pak!

The two of them simultaneously attacked and hit each other. In that instant, Chun Yeowun’s eyes discerned something. Yeonwol, who got her forehead slightly cut because of Chun Yeowun’s Sky Demon energy, took a few steps back.

Phat!

Blood began to flow from her wound as she was pushed back in ten strides. Although Chun Yeowun tried his best to make sure that the Sky Demon’s energy didn’t fatally wound her, he still wounded her pretty badly. Thankfully she survived.

The woman didn't even blink.

'Can't she feel any pain?'

She wiped the blood on her forehead, eyes, and nose with her long sleeves. What was more shocking was the rapidly healing wound on her forehead. The blood stopped flowing and the skin regenerated back.

'Such great regeneration skill!'

Honestly, the regeneration wasn't that astounding for Chun Yeowun. But it wasn't as if the lady harbored Nano Machine in her body, seeing such resilience from her stunned him. That wasn't the only thing that shocked Chun Yeowun.

'She was trying to cut down my arm.'

Her red-colored left hand was trembling violently. She deliberately took a hit on her forehead so she could cut down his hand. But the body of Chun Yeowun, which developed rapidly into an Perfect Supreme Master Level with the help of Nano, couldn't be easily attacked.

Sssshhhhhh!

Chun Yeowun looked at his hand that was struck by her. The trace of flame didn't disappear, and it seemed like the flame on his hand was trying to penetrate into his skin.

'Dealing with a woman who has such weird attacks is troublesome.'

It was difficult for women to learn martial arts since it requires yang energy. Girls, on the other hand, innately possess yin energy. However, in order to develop such kinds of flame Qi, it was necessary to hold a high level of yang. He felt that the energy that flowed out was inherent rather than an acquired one.

“Huuu.”

Chun Yeowun immediately gathered his internal energy to the veins which were under his wound. The flame, which stubbornly burned his hand, soon lost its power and disappeared with a steam.

That sight made Yeongwol go stiff.

‘I saw him generate a white light, but does he have the power to get rid of the flame Qi too? Who in the world is that person?’

She did classify him as a dangerous person, but he seemed to be a lot stronger than she imagined.

Her gaze turned serious.

She came to the decision that she wouldn’t be able to subdue him.

“Oh my. You must have invaded the Imperial Palace thinking that we are nothing! If this is how you are going to act, then I will have to bring you down!”

Gooooooo!

The leader, Yeongwol, began to raise internal energy in earnest.

The pale and red haze around her body began to gradually turn darker, indicating that she's becoming stronger. Stabbing his voice, Chun Yeowun once again spoke.

"I'll repeat it once again, but I have no intention of spying nor intruding on the Imperial Palace. If you let me take this one, I will retire from here as quietly as possible."

He knew that it was better to step back before things took a turn for the worse. From what he heard from her, he knew that these women weren't the only hidden power of the Imperial Palace. They were being cautious not to reveal everything, but Chun Yeowun didn't need her to spill everything for him to understand.

"This one is a spy of the Blade God Six Martial clan who is plotting against the Wulin. Since hitting them in the Imperial Palace would be humiliating for them, I came here. The only reason I am here is to stop these people."

"Blade God Six Martial clan?"

Hearing the phrase 'Blade God Six Martial Clan', Yeongwol's eyes narrowed. One of the roles of the Imperial Palace's Guardians was to collect information regarding all the clans in order to protect the Imperial Palace.

"You want to stop them?"

"Yes. Wulin and we are involved. But the Blade God Six Martial Clan is using the Imperial Palace to execute their plan. This is why I am trying to figure out who they are and stop them."

He revealed quite a bit of information. However, he was aware that he could be misunderstood for giving too much.

But, not everything worked in favor of Chun Yeowun all the time.

“If that is the case, I can’t let go of it anymore. The Emperor and the Crown Prince showed favor and acknowledged the Wulin. But now you want to fight in the Imperial Palace!”

‘...words don’t work on her.’

Yeongwol, the leader of the Imperial Palace Guardians, couldn’t share the same ideas and thoughts regarding the Wulin. From her point of view, they would only judge the entire situation as the Wulin clans acting rudely towards the Imperial Palace and the family.

“I knew that the Wulin too had to be brought under the control of the Emperor.”

Moreover, she was someone who was loyal and in support of the Imperial Palace. The hostility she showed was understandable.

‘She has to be knocked down.’

Persuading her didn’t seem to be helping. It looked like it would be more efficient to suppress all the court ladies of the Imperial Palace Guardians.

“Well, there is nothing more that I can do. I tried to warn you.”

With those words, Chun Yeowun began to take slow strides towards Yeongwol, who flicked her finger and said.

Snap!

“Forget about the fame and titles you were given in the Wulin. This is the Imperial Palace. Throw away the illusion that you’ll be able to leave from a place filled with Guardian warriors.”

Swwosh! Swoosh! Swoosh!

The court ladies began to gather at the snap of her finger.

Due to the numerous battles that transpired in the courtyard, their number had decreased by a lot, but more than 50 of them still survived.

Two of the inspection maids, who overpowered those beastly men also walked towards her with stained swords dripping with blood. The fact that these women vanquished those men who used Blood Reversion meant that they were extremely skilled.

Hweeing!

The sleeves of Yeongwol burned with the flames. Ashes formed where her sleeves previously touched revealing red scales. Like a shield, the red haze began to wrap around her arms and legs.

“It will be different from before. This time, make sure to be on guard. Oh, arrogant and cheeky Wulin warrior. You will have to fall alone.”

With a numerical advantage on their side, Yeongwol couldn’t help but feel confident. She judged Chun Yeowun as someone who was equal to her in terms of power, but with her subordinates by her side, she was sure that the intruder could be taken down.

But it was strange. Despite being alone, Chun Yeowun didn't seem afraid. Rather, he muttered unexpected words.

"Alone..."

"What are you talking about?"

At Chun Yeowun's words, Yeongwol couldn't help but ask.

"Who told you I was alone in this?"

"What was that?"

It was then,

From the eastern wall and the roof of the main hall of the Guest House, three humans dressed in full black appeared. Yeongwol couldn't help going stiff at the sight of the people whose energy couldn't even be felt by her!

'He wasn't alone?'

Looking up, she saw one man dressed in a junior officer's uniform, his face was full of scars. The moment she tried to look at other's face:

Slash!

The other one disappeared in an instant. She tried to move her gaze to find out where the other was positioned, but it seemed like her naked eyes weren't of much help. Giving up on her sight, she concentrated on hearing his movement. The sound she heard made it felt like the entire court ladies were surrounded by an unknown force.

'Unbelievable? How could I miss an enemy's presence?'

Someone came over and stood next to Chun Yeowun. This person wore a strange mask on his face.

“Marakim has come as called for.”

This person seemed to be waiting for Chun Yeowun’s order.

Unlike the words that escaped his mouth, the body of the one beside Chun Yeowun radiated energy that poured in all the directions where the court ladies stood.

A feeling like death was waiting for them.

The released energy’s true identity was related to a section of the Wulin, it was none other than the Demonic Cult.

“You were all hiding!”

“Well, I never said that I was alone.”

At that moment, the man standing on the east wall, who was hidden in the shadows, came down and slowly walked towards the court ladies. A man with flaming red hair.

‘Red hair?’

As they slowly moved, one of the inspection maids stepped forward and yelled while aiming her sword at the red haired one.

“Stop right there. How dare you break into this place? If you don’t stop right now...”

Despite her warning, the masked man with red hair didn’t stop. Feeling threatened by the energy he was releasing, she immediately imbued her flame Qi onto her sword without bothering to warn him again.

-Hwwweeing! Crack! Crack!

The sword which turned red with the flame Qi bent like a whip while moving at the speed of lightning towards the masked man.

“Flame, huh...”

The masked man had gaps on his mask, seeing the skill the lady unraveled, he couldn't help but smile. The moment the sword reached him, the masked man pulled out a sword from his waist.

Slash!

A blade covered in red patterns.

In an instant, intense heat began to engulf everything around him and collided with the sword of the inspection maid.

Clang! Clang!

Their swords clashed with heat, and the result was bizarre.

Blaze!

“Th-that sword is!”

The eyes of the Guardians were filled with shock and embarrassment.

Startlingly, the sword of the inspection maid began to crack as it was unable to overcome the masked swordsman's skill and shattered on spot.

Clang! Crack!

‘My, my flame sword got taken down?’

The man in the mask spoke to her in a daunting voice.

“You are acting so arrogant just because you used the flame Qi? Woman, you only operate the flame Qi. I am the sword of the red flames which consumes every flame that surrounds me.”

“Red flame?”

“My skills and yours, are like heaven and earth.”

Hweeing! Woong!

With his words, the red sword began to vibrate and the masked man went to stab the maid right at her heart.

Pierce!

Shocked, she tried to avoid getting hit by moving her body, but the masked man was quick to move and went for her shoulder.

Even though they were unable to feel physical pain, she still felt fear from the overwhelming energy he was releasing. As soon as she was injured, she made sure to increase their distance.

“It can’t be?! My, my sword got cut with his?”

Another maid took the guard position to protect her injured companion. Two of the new court ladies were more powerful compared to the others, but they didn’t seem to have any regenerative power, as their right arm seemed weakened.

“Ugh, the red hair and red flame?... it can’t be... you are the Fire King, Lee Hameng?”

Their eyes widened as they looked at him.

Although they weren't active in the Wulin, they were still aware of the guardians who were known to be the most loyal and skilled members of it.

“What?”

At the words of the court maid, the leader, Yeogwol, looked at the masked man in shock.

“You are the Fire King? The left hand of the Demonic Cult's Lord? Wait... wait a moment... if that is the case, then the one in the mask right next to him is Marakim?”

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

It was none other than the Great Guardian Marakim, the famous Guardian of the Wulin.

Hundred of masters had died in his hands, and he was known as the greatest of the three Guardians of the Demonic Cult.

The Fire King and the Great Guardian of the Demonic Cult.

Yeongwol, who couldn't guess the true identity of the man who used Sky Demon energy, was now trembling as she opened her mouth.

“The, then you must be... the... Lord... of... the Demonic Cult?”

Chapter 356 - The Blood Of Monsters (1)

Chapter 356: The Blood Of Monsters (1)

The Imperial Palace and the Wulin signed a non-aggression treaty.

It was a truce, wherein one party wouldn't interfere with the workings of the other, however, neither of them was the kind to stand still when an armed group infiltrated their base. At the Imperial Palace, Wulin was always treated as a threat and was carefully kept in place.

The Demonic Cult was considered to be the deadliest by the Imperial Palace ever since the war. The Guardians were created as the hidden power to protect the Imperial Palace from internal threats since the time of King Taejo.

'A place where one can savour their power to its utmost might.'

Of the three major powers, only the Demonic Cult was the odd one.

The other two groups were a huge cluster of numerous clans so the direction, working, and power could shift at any moment, but the Demonic cult was a one-man-powered working system. Just like how the Imperial family inherits the throne.

'I thought they'd be from a wandering Wulin clan, but it turns out to be the Lord himself.'

It was a well-known fact that the Demonic cult had thousands of believers. Everyone heard that thousands of men of the Demonic Cult would even jump into hellfire with one order from their Lord.

If such a strong person, the Lord of the Demonic Cult, harbours ill feelings towards the Imperial family, the Daemyeong Empire wouldn't be able to handle the situation when it gets out of hand.

"You, you're the Lord of the Demonic Cult?"

Yeonwol couldn't hide her trembling voice when she asked Chun Yeowun.

Chun Yeowun didn't bother giving her a genuine answer. Rather, he spoke words that made Yeongwol doubt her ears.

"...I can't waste time here."

Chun Yeowun shook his head.

He had never guessed that Hameng wasn't just famous in Wulin, but also in the Imperial Palace. He surmised that it was his red hair that gave away their identity.

[Hmm, I am sorry.]

Hameng apologized to Chun Yeowun. Honestly, he didn't intend to do this. Before leaving the Demonic Cult, Chun Yeowun had asked Hameng to dye his hair black. However, it wasn't like he refused, he actually willingly colored his hair to disguise himself, but each time he used his inner energy, his hair turned back to its original color.

‘I should have at least used a hood!’

Unless there was anything that needed his immediate attention, he was to stay hidden. Hameng knew that someone would definitely recognize him for his hair, yet, he only covered his face. To think that he got identified in a matter of seconds during his first rendezvous.

Leader Yeongwol. Couldn’t hide her embarrassment anymore.

‘He-he didn’t deny it.’

Hameng didn’t outright affirm it, but it was the presence of the Lord of the Demonic Cult which answered her question. Who else would get escorted by the Guardians of the Demonic Cult, if not their Lord?

‘For the Lord of the Demonic Cult to invade the Imperial Palace.’

Under Yeongwol’s impression, the Lord of the Demonic Cult was fearless. This was referenced to his reputation within the Wulin. However, in reality, the Lord was different from the hearsays.

Wasn’t he one of the Lords who signed the non-aggression treaty and had a fair relationship with the Emperor?

‘How should I act now?’

According to the Imperial and Guardian’s rules, anyone who was discovered to have trespassed into the Imperial Palace had to be suppressed unconditionally, regardless of their status. They can be killed in an event of a rebellion.

However, Yeongwol found it hard to come to a decision. She couldn't even guess what would happen to her if she touched the Lord of the Demonic Cult.

Swoosh!

The two inspection maids were waiting for her orders.

'If he is the Lord of the Demonic cult... keuk!'

If the Lord of the Demonic Cult invaded alone, she would've definitely tried to exterminate him. However, when the two savvy guardians appeared, Yeongwol wasn't sure what to do. In the end, she came to conclude that it would be difficult to solve the problem at hand. Therefore, she came up with an exquisite trick.

'Ah! Right! Since it has come to this, I can take them into the Guardian's palace and deal with them.'

The Guardian's palace was filled with skilled people including a Supreme Master Warrior. It seemed better to take them to the 2nd leader, who had greater executive and deciding power than herself. Politely, Yeongwol said to Chun Yeowun:

"If you sir, are the Lord of the Demonic Cult, how about we talk this out?"

She cautiously spoke. Obviously, it was unreasonable to call them infiltrators in their faces. However, she couldn't help but feel uncomfortable as they didn't answer for a long time. She continued the conversation.

"First of all, forgive me for my rudeness as I was unaware of your noble status."

Leader Yeongwol bowed her head and apologized. Considering that they were in the Imperial Palace, the place where the Emperor resides, she treated the Lord of the Demonic Cult accordingly.

Yeongwol slowly lifted her head and spoke.

“I would still like to make a point. The Lord entered the Imperial Palace without any prior notice despite the non-aggression treaty. So, if you can consider forsaking your mission, we will be more than happy to turn a blind eye.”

She tried her finest to act politely. However, she put it as if Chun Yeowun was the one at fault. And her words continued.

“Well, how could we mistreat the noble as such? We can continue with talking in the Guardian Palace along with the others so that this matter can be handled as smoothly as possible. I know that you may feel wary of us, but I will earnestly serve you.”

Bringing her hands together, she once again bowed. The woman was clever. In doing so, she was hoping for a negotiation without coming off as rude. Chun Yeowun wasn't an opponent she wanted to fight anymore.

She would be able to prevent futile sacrifices, saving face for the other members of the Guardians.

‘Huhu, you can't do anything anymore. Even if you are part of the Wulin, you can't act stubborn like any soldier as you are being considered as a Lord now. In addition, if his identity is revealed, it will be difficult for him to make a fuss in the Imperial Palace.’

She was gloating as she thought of the plan she weaved. Yeongwol looked at Chun Yeowun and waited for his answer.

Smirk!

Chun Yeowun showed a light smile. Yeongwol, who took it as a positive reaction, thought that her trick worked.

‘I did it!’

Now all she had to do was take the Lord and his men to the Guardian Palace, report it to the 1st leader or even the Emperor, and wait for their orders. In fact, she was hoping for the non-aggression treaty between the Imperial Palace and the Wulin to fall apart because of this situation.

‘Hopefully, His Highness, who hears the report from the 1st leader, gets angry and orders for the destruction of the entire Wulin. Hohoho!’

Just the thought of it was pleasing.

She was the kind who thought that the men of Wulin could never stand on an equal footing with the Imperial family. If what she hoped for happened, everyone would be under the Emperor.

“You have made the right choice. Now follow m...”

Puhk!

Before she could even finish her words, the sound of something slashing rang in her ears.

The sound subsided and a red line appeared on the bodies of the five court ladies who stood between Chun Yeowun and Yeongwol.

“What?”

The moment she came back to reality, she realized that the court ladies' throats were cut.

-thud! Thud! Thud!

Blood gushed out from their bodies soaking their clothes. Due to the scales on them, the women were unable to move their hands promptly. Yeongwol was shocked at what happened, all she could see was a bright blue hand blade on Chun Yeowun.

'Air Sword?'

It was obvious that this was incomparable to any other Air Sword.

"This...! This! ...What are you doing?"

She never imagined that he would kill all the court ladies. Seeing Yeongwol stutter, Chun Yeowun opened his mouth to let her know his intentions.

"This was fun while it lasted. You wrapped your intention in good words, but in the end, you'll backstab me?"

"Uh, when did I even say that? Did I even act as such? I am going to assist you while we speak to the higher leaders..."

"Stop with the bullshit."

Strong energy began to emanate from his body. It was an energy-momentum that would occasionally come from the Emperor. Yeongwol went silent without realizing it.

"You old woman, you roll your tongue like a fox. I clearly warned you. I guess it was good enough seeing how you forsake your people."

Honestly, this situation held no benefits to the Demonic Cult. They hid in the Imperial Palace to get rid of all the spies. If only the Guardians had handed over one spy (Elder Khum) as Chun Yeowun asked, he would've let the Guardians take credit, while he gets the information.

Apparently, she was not satisfied with that, Yeongwol used tricks that were obvious to everyone's eyes.

"Ar-aren't you scared of the aftereffects of such behaviour? If His Highness is told of such unruliness, the non-aggression treaty will be broken."

When her plan didn't work, Yeongwol decided to use the Emperor's name for her benefit. With his lips curled up, Chun Yeowun spoke.

"Who would let the Emperor know if all of you ended up dying here?"

"Y-you!"

Yeongwol's eyes shook, unable to focus. She tried to turn herself into a prominent figure but ended up walking to the edge of a cliff.

'It, it was my misjudgement.'

There were two kinds of opponents, one who could be dealt with words, and the other, wherein words should never be used. Foolishly, she ended up being the latter.

"Great Guardian and Left Guardian. Kill them all, don't even spare a single person."

"Yes!"

At Chun Yeowun's command, both of them accepted the order.

As if they were waiting for the command to fall, they leaped forward making Yeongwol and the other court ladies act like mere mortals who needed saving.

"S-stop! Don't come any further!"

Unlike the leader, the expressions of the court ladies went blunt. As soon as the order fell, Great Guardian Marakim and Left Guardian Hameng moved to implement it. Their speed and efficiency couldn't even compare to the other warriors as they went to kill them all.

They were notorious ranked Guardians of the Demonic Cult.

Phat!

The court ladies tried to attack Hameng with flame Qi from all directions, but none could touch a strand of his hair.

"That flame doesn't work on me!"

Puhk! Puhk!

They were no match for his skills. Instead, they were hit by the red sword of Hameng.

They were the court ladies who were unable to feel pain, so even if they got cut or pierced, they kept on attacking until they could move no more.

Puhk! Clang! Thud!

The sword cut through the ladies and they fell to the floor unable to get up. They turned immobile because of the energy that Hameng released while using the Fire Sword.

There was no man who could live with the after-effects of Hameng's sword.

Slash! Chop! Pierce!

With the nickname Wind God, Marakim moved swiftly, cutting down the throats of the court ladies at the speed of the wind. He moved with such agility that even the court ladies who showed beast resilient moves weren't able to assess what was going on.

'Wh-where is...'

Puhk! Thud!

Even if they were unable to feel pain, they couldn't help but feel scared towards an invisible opponent.

"I can't see him."

The faces of the remaining people in the courtyard turned pale. Nearly half of the court ladies died. Even the two court ladies who were skilled enough to deal with the four Blade God Six Martial Clan's spies seemed like nothing but children.

"Get yourself in the game!"

Yeongwol couldn't help but fall into confusion as the tables got turned. Biting down on her lips, her eyes wandered.

"I will take care of the leader."

"Lord...Lord of the Demonic Cult?"

"Don't be scared. No matter what you plan, I can stop it."

There was no way that he would let her go, at least not after she knew his real identity. She knew that he was the Lord of the Demonic Cult, and also fought with him for a brief moment.

From her knowledge, he seemed to be less skilled than the 2 guardians.

‘When we fought before, we were on the same level. If the others joined, I can subdue him.’

If the Lord of the Demonic Cult was captured, his two guardians would cease.

“To create a gap between us by collaborating with others!”

“Pity!”

The two court maids hesitated for a moment before they ran to Chun Yeowun.

Swwoosh!

One of the maid’s shoulders was hit, her joint had trouble moving because of the clash she had with Hameng previously. Despite that, they still aimed for Chun Yeowun’s head while unfolding their sword.

Phat!

‘Aim at the moment they stop their attacks.’

In a breath, Yeongwol moved from her position to the back of Chun Yeowun as the two maids dealt with him in front. Her movements were quick, she couldn’t be compared to the court ladies or the spies.

Slash! Slash! Slash! Slash!

As the sword aimed for the head, it turned into a whip. However, even as she wielded her blazing sword whip right in front of Chun Yeowun, he didn't look scared.

'What is he up to?'

When her confidence turned into confusion, Chun Yeowun's hands moved like lightning and grasped the wrist of the maid who was waving the sword.

Grab!

'It- it makes no sense. To do this in the middle of wielding!'

It wasn't like her sword had been destroyed, but she was blocked head-on. Chun Yeowun held onto her flaming hand as if it didn't invoke pain. She was shocked. Crackle!

'Ugh, it's cold!'

A strong chill spread into her bones. It was shocking enough that her hand got caught, but when she tried to pull it out from Chun Yeowun's grasp, something more flustering happened.

Crack!

"Ahhh! W-wait! What did you do..."

Chun Yeowun strengthened his hands, lifted her body as if she was a stuffed toy, and threw her aside as the maids readied to strike him.

Crash!

"Kuakkk!"

"Puhk! Bang!"

“UGH!”

As they were thrown onto the floor, its impact on the wounded court maids was undetectable. The force he used to throw the maid made the stone floor crack that was beneath the point of impact. They all felt helpless against Chun Yeowun.

Wheeing!

It was then that Yeongwol, who was waiting for a gap, struck him. She let her burning red arms covered with scales out of her sleeves.

“Take this!”

Phat!

Her flame Qi emanated a force that wanted to burn down everything that surrounded her. It was the moment that she had been waiting for.

However, it didn't go as planned.

Tap!

She thought that when she attacked him from behind, Chun Yeowun would turn and block her. But Chun Yeowun moved away.

‘Shit!’

Thanks to that, her flame Qi couldn't reach Chun Yeowun. However, Chun Yeowun, who felt the rising energy behind him, jumped and moved in the opposite direction in the yard.

‘It can't be!’

Step! Step! Step! Step!

Chun Yeowun's hand held a sword imbued with black Qi as he narrowed the distance between the both of them. With the black sword blazing, Chun Yeowun struck her side. He was aiming for her hands that held the flames.

'I need to avoid it!'

Normally, she would trust that the scales on her body could protect her. But the energy from the black Qi sword instilled fear in her.

'I- I need to avoid it at all costs!'

Shocked, she tried to force herself to stop. Though exerting more energy than she had could cause her internal damage, she felt that internal injury was a lot better than getting her arms cut off.

Flinch!

Seeing the blood gush from her sides, she pulled her arms away.

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

"I did warn you in the beginning,"

Yeongwol's eyes looked at Chun Yeowun who spoke frigidly. Cold metal passed through her wrists before she could even regain her composure.

Slash! Thuk!

Yeongwol's eyes widened as she realized what happened. She screamed so loud that veins began to pop on her neck and face.

“AAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAA!”

Chapter 357 - The Blood Of Monsters (2)

Chapter 357: The Blood Of Monsters (2)

Just like the other court ladies, Yeongwol couldn't feel any pain. But how many people could be composed seeing their hands cut off and fall onto the floor right in front of them? She was expecting for the black sword to stop, but her hands were cut in a single strike.

"UGHHHH!"

'Even the scales on my hand weren't able to withstand the power.'

Yeongwol's energy was incomparable to the other court ladies, but even that wasn't enough to withstand the sword of Chun Yeowun.

Twitch! Twitch!

Her veins wriggled like earthworms in her severed arm. Her ability to regenerate had been initiated yet, it didn't stop the blood from gushing out. It looked as if she didn't possess any regenerative ability at all. The shock of getting her hand cut in front of her lasted for a moment and when Yeongwol looked up...

Slash!

The sharp tip of Chun Yeowun's sword pressed on her wrinkled old neck. It was clear to her that Chun Yeowun wanted her dead.

'Ugh! This monster!'

From the moment she clashed with him, she thought that his skill could be deciphered by her but it turned out to be an illusion. She was oblivious of Chun Yeowun's capability.

'Am I going to die like this?'

The sensation of fear that she felt when the tip of the black sword touched her couldn't be shaken off. As soon as it became clear to Yeongwol that Chun Yeowun was intent on silencing her at any cost, her politeness disappeared. She began to change tactics.

"Uh! Do you need help in smoothly leaving the Imperial Palace?"

Her speaking tone and style became uncourteous. An attitude that's nearly identical from the first time she talked with him. Human nature would never change.

"Do you think I will have trouble getting out?"

"Ha! You're belittling the Imperial Palace. You made such a racket and you thought no one would notice you."

His fight together with the battle between the Guardians' court ladies and the East Spear's warrior made such a racket that even the nearby East House, the base of the East Spear, and the Golden Guards who served as night guards, would surely notice.

“As soon as they arrive, you’ll be considered as an enemy of the Imperial Palace! Murderer! Huhuhu, don’t go around dreaming bullshit about escaping!”

She acknowledged that Chun Yeowun was a strong opponent but she thought that he couldn’t handle the forces of the Imperial Palace in its entirety.

“If the Imperial Palace turns noisier with the arrival of others, even the high ranking officials of the Guardians will come. And they are a lot stronger than me! You will never be able to walk past them! The Demonic Cult will cease to exist!”

Yeongwol was blinded by the power she thought the Imperial Palace had. However, Chun Yeowun’s reaction was weird. He didn’t show unease at the information nor had any thoughts, it was as if he was indifferent to it.

‘What is he up to?’

Looking at his indifferent behaviour, she wondered. But the tip of the sword that was on her neck soon touched her right cheek.

Tap!

“What are...”

Slash!

“UGHHHH!”

Before she could even ask, Chun Yeowun’s sword pierced her cheek from one side to the other, and pulled it out. Yeongwol screamed as her mouth got ripped and hanged in shock.

“WH-what the hell did you do!”

Her words filled with shock and fear. Chun Yeowun answered while pitying her.

“I tried to cut your tongue, but it looks like it didn’t work.”

“Wh-What?!”

Yeongwol felt a chill run down her spine at his words. The moment the sword was pushed into her mouth, she made sure to save her tongue by shoving it down, otherwise it would’ve been cut off.

Shhhhhhkkkkk!

The veins in her cheek once again began to regenerate. Such regenerative ability is hard to imagine that humans have it. Looking at her, the minor wounds easily healed while her limbs, that were completely cut off, were hopeless.

‘Wah! Wah! Why aren’t they here yet?’

Although the wounds healed, Yeongwol began to turn impatient at the thought of facing more humiliation from Chun Yeowun. People around the Guest House must have heard the commotion considering how usually quiet the nights were. Even the Imperial Army should have arrived. Disdaining the anxious Yeongwol, Chun Yeowun clicked his tongue.

“You are so stupid”

“What?”

“Don’t tell me you thought I wasn’t thinking things through?”

“What do you mean?”

Chun Yeowun’s words made Yeongwol look around puzzledly.

“This entire area has been covered with Sound Blockage.”

“Sou-Sound Blockage?! What nonsense are you spouting?! How can that be used in such a vast area?!”

She shouted in shock. Yeonwol always thought of herself as someone who’s equal to the commander due to the nature of her skills and abilities. She was adept at Profound Sound Blockage in a certain area however, only in small rooms could she maintain the sound blockage. She becomes exhausted maintaining exorbitant internal energy used for it.

‘Impossible! Does he possess infinite internal energy to make me seem so useless?’

Even if her internal energy increased by tenfold, it would still be improbable for her to block the sound of the main vast courtyard of the Guest House.

“You seem to be the one of the stereotypical people who say – “since I can’t do it no one can””

“It...it makes no sense.”

She found reality unacceptable. She wanted to reject what her eyes showed her. Still, she waited, she waited to hear some kind of the sound, but it was in vain. Which meant that Chun Yeowun’s words were indeed true. Sound had been completely cut off.

“Your body seems to regenerate, but will it regenerate if I cut down your throat?”

Shhhh!

He raised his black sword, checking if he could cut her throat or not. Yeongwol paled as she saw that.

‘No! No! If this happens, even someone as strong as me will meet a dog’s death!’

A dog’s death meant dying with the truth being distorted. She couldn’t let that happen to her. So in order to escape that, Yeongwol yelled desperately.

“If-If you kill me, your men will die too!”

“Don’t talk bullshit”

Just before dying, she began to speak rubbish. Ignoring her words, Chun Yeowun raised his sword after adjusting the angle for a clean strike. Holding her severed hands close to her chest, she begged earnestly.

“Th-The Guardians have currently caught three spies who wore a mask and gold armor on them. You wouldn’t say that you don’t know them, right?”

Pang!

Immediately Chun Yeowun’s sword, which was ready to strike her throat, stopped mid-air. She said that there were three people who wore gold armor. They were the people he knew.

‘Did they get caught?’

They settled to meet with Zhu Taikhan at his residence tonight. Chun Yeowun didn't know that they got caught. Seeing Chun Yeowun stop, hope blossomed in Yeongwol's eyes.

'It worked. So, they're this man's subordinates!'

She just has this last straw to save herself, and it worked! Her sweating face that barely held any sanity, finally found some hope.

"You said that the Guardians caught them?"

"Y-yes!"

Chun Yeowun, who looked unconcerned until a moment ago, was frowning. It made Yeongwol feel delighted. Finally, she found his weakness.

'I thought he was some cruel monster, but I guess not'

It was hard to believe that Chun Yeowun wasn't willing to abandon his subordinates so easily. There were always rumors about the Lord of Demonic Cult being cruel to others, but righteous to their members. Yeongwol decided to use this rumor against him.

'If only he would follow me to the Guardian Hall telling him that I'd release them...'

She could somehow use the situation to save herself. Once she reaches the Guardian Hall, she can scream to let them know that he is an enemy, and they would attack him right away. If she took him to the Elder, the true hidden power of the Imperial Palace, even the Lord of Demonic Cult would be brought down on his knees, which was why she was carefully trying to bait Chun Yeowun.

“So, if you can spare me, your men can be released...”

Puck!

“HUH?!”

Yeongwol’s eyes were in shock. She couldn’t differentiate reality and her imagination anymore. Even before she could put forth her deal, Chun Yeowun swung his sword. Her throat felt dry and cold as the sword came closer and closer.

“Wh-what are you doing?!”

“You sly and verbose fox, just die!”

“!?”

Shhhiiinnngg! Tuk!

The moment his words fell, Chun Yeowun’s sword moved and her vision became hazy as she fell. It wasn’t until her head fell to the ground that she realized that she had been decapitated. Was it a side effect of her regenerative power which was abnormal? Even though her neck got cut, she didn’t die immediately.

‘H.. how... how did it come to this?’

It was only for a moment.

Crack!

Chun Yeowun crushed Yeongwol’s head, which was currently on the ground. A miserable end for a person who tried to work hard the entire time.

Shh! Shh! Shh!

In front of Chun Yeowun, who seemed vexed, Great Guardian Marakim and Left Guardian Hameng appeared from the roof. Putting their hands together, Lee Hameng and Marakim greeted him.

“Your command has been carried off!”

They were the ones who killed all the court ladies. It didn't feel right to hit or kill women, but seeing how they acted, they took the task seriously. They made sure to not use the swordsmanship of the Demonic Cult as much as possible. That would probably make it hard for others to guess the wounds or the cause of death of the corpses. That's precisely why Chun Yeowun didn't use the Demon Sword.

“Then...shall we take this man and withdraw?”

Lee Hameng asked, pointing to the bald man who fainted on the ground. Chun Yeowun sighed.

“I would like to do that, but the others have been captured.”

“Are you talking about them?”

At the unexpected turn of events, the two Guardians were shocked. It was shocking that the trained people spying and assassination got caught. Great Guardian Marakim, asked carefully.

“What do you plan on doing, my Lord?”

It was known that spies were to be killed, but in order to save his men who got trapped, Chun Yeowun had no other choice but to break in. Moreover, Chun Yeowun was unaware of the Guardian Hall's location, as it was known to be hidden from everyone. It was a place that even the members of the Blade God Six Martial Clan couldn't find.

“Lord, realistically, rescuing them shouldn’t be an option for us. It is a pity, but... how about we just give up on them?”

The left Guardian, Lee Hameng suggested a rational option. Our members were already taught to be prepared in case they got caught by the enemy. If escaping is difficult, then they have to kill themselves.

Grunt!

‘Ugh... is there really no other choice but to abandon them?’

Hu Bong bit his lip at the thought of abandoning his members, however, even he knew that there was no concrete way to help them. That was when Chun Yeowun shook his head and spoke.

“If I decide to abandon the people who I picked up with my own hands, I am unqualified as Lord. I can’t stand and let them kill themselves just because they got caught.”

Chun Yeowun looked at Yeongwol’s smashed head as he said those words. When he decided to infiltrate the Imperial Palace, he was aware of the fact that there were people who used unique methods and tricks.

“Ah... then what are we gonna do?”

Lee Hameng, who opposed the rescue operation because of the risk, asked anxiously. But it wasn’t Chun Yeowun who answered...

“Some are still breathing”

Suddenly, Marakim pointed to the inspection maids who were on the floor. All the other court ladies were dead, but these two were kept alive. He spoke.

“... Great Guardian. Would they bow to us easily?”

Would they really give out the location of the Imperial Palace Guardian Hall just because they slaughtered a few court ladies? But Chun Yeowun wanted to grab onto any thread he could. If he had time, he could take them outside, infuse them with drugs and make them confess, but Chun Yeowun didn't have time. It was also impractical doing it in the courtyard.

However, if they missed such a perfect timing, they would never find the location of Guardian Hall. Especially if news spread that court ladies and their group leader were killed.

Marakim, shook his head.

“Of course, enemies won't bow to us”

“Huh?”

Marakim turned to Chun Yeowun and spoke.

“Lord, how does this sound?”

How long has it been since they decided to walk on the same path as the Lord of the Demonic Cult?

‘Did I pass out?’

Having a strong and cursed body that couldn't sense pain felt amazing. As it was her first time meeting a strong opponent, she fainted from being overpowered.

‘What happened?’

She finally got her thoughts sorted out and tried to get up, but her body betrayed her.

Thud!

“Ah?”

Was this the drawback of her inability to feel pain? She was completely unaware of her condition until she tried to get up. Unfortunately, it took time for her to realize that her ankle got severed.

“My... feet...”

Realizing that both her feet got amputated, the maid’s face turned pallid. It was like living inside a nightmare.

What happened after she passed out?

On one side, she found numerous bodies of women on the ground as their blood’s malodour invaded her nose.

“Uh... ughh...”

It was foul enough to make her eyes burn. When she looked nearby, she saw a familiar outfit on her body. The hands and neck were brutally severed, which meant that the bearer was dead.

“Le.. le... leader!”

While she fainted, all the court ladies including her leader got killed. They crossed paths with monsters.

‘How long was I out?’

It was still dark, and no one wandered. It seemed like nobody found them. At that moment, a deep voice reached her ears.

“Ah! It seems that a court lady still lives!”

As she turned her head towards the voice, two men, who appeared to be cadets of the Golden Guards appeared. They appeared to be the night guards of the House.

“Ah! Goodness!”

One of the guards expressed his shock as he saw her cut off ankles. A white masked man examined her condition.

“Aren’t you a maid? Are you alright?”

As these people arrived, the shocked maid answered.

“I-I am fine. When did the Golden Guards come?”, she pried.

Maybe the terrible battle only transpired briefly, and the others hadn’t discovered it yet.

“We heard some clamor, and when he entered the East Spear Hall, we were confronted by this atrocious sight. Ugh! One of our guards had gone to report to our central office, people will arrive soon.”

“Ah!”

‘It hadn’t been long!’

Her eyes shook. If the words of the man were indeed correct, it hadn’t been that long since that horrible battle. If so, she had to report it to the higher ups of the Guardians to prevent the Lord of the Demonic Cult from escaping outside the Imperial Palace. But the problem was her severed foot.

“I-I am sorry, but could the guard please help me?”

“Of course. We will take you to the Imperial Palace’s infirmary...”

“No. it’s crucial than that. Bigwigs have infiltrated the palace, and they might escape. I need to let someone know”

At her hasted words, one of the guards tried to sooth her.

“Uh! Is that true? That is huge. But don’t worry, the Guards will come soon”

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

“No. Not just them. Sorry. Could you please lift me up? I... I will guide you”

“Treating you is important. Why guide us somewhere?”

“Please! Please just trust me! We are running out of time! Please!”

“Uh... ah, fine.”

Seeing the stubborn maid, one of the guards put her on his back and carried her. Laying on him, she pointed to the northwest direction of the Imperial Palace, and asked him to hurry. That was when the white masked guard who was following them from behind smiled wantonly.

Chapter 358 - The Blood Of Monsters (3)

Chapter 358: The Blood Of Monsters (3)

“Sir Guard, could you run faster?”

“It won’t be pleasant with the wounds on your body, will you be okay?”

“Please don’t fret over these small wounds, and hurry up”

“Fine, hold on tight!”

Swish!

The Guard picked up speed at the words of the anxious maid. The speed at which he was currently moving, was incomparable to the previous run.

‘Ah...he’s fast!’

The maid’s eyes reflected astonishment.

She knew that the Guards were being taught Martial Arts, but his energy seemed to be far above Grand Master level. She wondered how they could be trained so efficiently, but decided to ask on another occasion as she had more important things on hand right now.

“That way”

The moment the maid gave the directions, the Guard would change his direction and continue. The palace grounds were so huge, that even with him picking up speed by using his internal energy, he couldn't reach the destination right away.

Shortly after, he reached the northwest side of the Palace.

'Ah...!'

A huge tomb-like structure stood in front of the duo. This tomb, which seemed considerably larger than the Emperor's residence, was the royal shrine of the former Emperor. A tablet was entrenched in front of the ornate shrine.

'Why is it the Emperor's tomb?'

The Guard couldn't help but look puzzled as he carried the maid.

It was a foreseeable reaction. He couldn't comprehend why the maid had asked him to bring her to the Royal Shrine of the former Emperor instead of the higher ups. And of course, the tomb was a decoy, it doesn't possess the former Emperor's body.

The tomb was to commemorate the 1st Emperor who founded the Daemyeong Empire.

"Why are we here?", the guard questioned the maid in a flustered manner, when suddenly, the maid struck him.

"Hey!?"

He was unscathed because he had the armor on. The armor turned red because of her fire Qi attack. But, his safety didn't last for long. The maid used both her hands to grab his neck.

"Cough! Wh-what are you doing?!"

"I, a maid of a Guardian, receives instructions and orders directly from His Majesty. From this moment on, you shall forget everything you witnessed now. If not, I will behead you according to the royal laws"

At the threatening voice and her choice of words, the Guard couldn't talk back. He bowed to her orders as he wanted to keep his life.

"The Guard behind too"

"... Understood."

After listening to the answer of the Guard behind them, the maid pointed to the shrine.

"Please head inside"

"Yo-you mean the shrine?"

"Yes"

As soon as she answered, the Guards hesitantly went into the shrine. Everything inside was dark as if the lights of the shrine were turned off. During the day, the scent of the incense would enter the noses of those who would enter.

The inside of the shrine lit up when the Guard in the back found a lamp hanging on the wall of the shrine and lit it.

"Oh..."

The Guard who was carrying the maid couldn't hold back the exclamation as he saw the interior.

The Shrine was entirely decorated in gold and was in no way comparable to the ordinary shrines.

A portrait of the first Emperor hung on the inner wall of the shrine, and on the altar ahead of them was a tablet with an incense holder with a burnt down incense in it.

"You just witnessed the First Emperor, why are you not bowing to him?"

"Ah!... that was..."

When both the guards looked at the portrait and did not bow, the maid asked them suddenly.

When the guard who was carrying the maid became flustered, the guard from behind answered her question right away.

"Inspection maid, we would always bow to the First Emperor, but weren't you the one who said that an invasion within the palace may happen and we had to hurry to inform?"

"Ahh..."

The words of the guard seemed to convince the maid, and she immediately pointed to the right side of the altar and asked them to move.

Once they walked to the right of the altar, there was a huge red cloth embroidered with golden dragons on it in front of them. When she reached out and pulled the cloth above, a road leading to the back of the altar appeared.

‘What?! There was such a path hidden behind the shrine?!’

Who would have thought that such a secret is hidden in the royal shrine of the First Emperor? Upon entering the road, they were now able to enter behind the walls of the altar. At the back of the portrait wall, there was space wide enough for two people to stand. It seemed like a hidden passage would open in front of them, but their path was blocked by a blue wall.

‘Sapphire stone wall?’

A wall, made of solid sapphire, suddenly appeared in front of them. As the guard lifted the lamp to light the wall, an illustration of an animal came to life.

However, it wasn’t a real animal.

The body was shaped like a deer, the tail of a cow and the hooves of a horse. The most peculiar feature of that so-called animal was its head which looked like a dragon with horns attached to it and an elongated neck joined its head and its body.

‘A Qilin?’

The wall had a strange painting of a Qilin (Chinese mythical creature). It is also referred to as the Flame Qilin, as it could breathe fire from its body. It is also said that a Qilin is the incarnation of fire. It is a sacred being in the ancient legends and also mentioned in the Book of Songs and Spring and Autumn Period.

Like a phoenix, when the Qilin appeared, it was said to be an auspicious sign of an appearance of a great King or a great Emperor.

‘To draw this right behind the portrait of the 1st Emperor...’

What was the most astonishing was that the person who engraved the Qilin’s picture seemed to be a devoted person. seeing how cleanly he drew on the sapphire wall with his fingers.

While they were wondering, the maid spoke,

“This is no time to be in shock, please go closer to the wall where the picture is drawn”

The guard went closer to the painting and asked, “Like this?”

As the guard stopped, the maid reached out to the painting and pressed both eyes of the Qilin at the same time. The eyes that were drawn on the wall, went inside.

‘Eyes?’

Grrrrng!

The moment the eyes went inside the wall a sound of something moving inside the wall echoed. The sapphire wall split in half like a castle gate opening and a path lay in front of them.

This was the entrance to the secret Imperial Palace’s Guardian Hall.

“Please follow the path”, the maid spoke as soon the sound faded into oblivion.

Considering that the altar was attached to the innermost wall of the shrine, the Guardian Hall could only be located inside the Royal Shrine.

Swoosh!

What was inside the sapphire wall was unknown, but as the wall opened, an alien energy welcomed them.

‘I need to hurry.’

As they entered the inner passage of the Guardian Hall, the maid’s eyes began to turn heavy. The white masked Guard only followed them.

“I never would have imagined that such a place would be behind the shrine”

“... this should not be the concern of the members of the Guards or the Golden Council. Please, just follow my instructions”

Responding quietly, she bit her lip. Honestly, she felt bad for them. Anyone who doesn’t receive the permission from the Emperor or the Guardian’s Master and enters the Guardian Hall would be beheaded.

Perhaps, the moment they reach the end of the path, the Guards would be killed. Which was why she didn’t want to talk to them. As if he had no intentions of complying with her words, the Guard in the back spoke again.

“If this is a hidden path, then there could be traps placed here. Do you have an idea where they are?”

“What are you talking about...”

She tried to turn back and say something to the Guard but they ended up arriving at the end of the passage. At the end of the passage was a wide opening.

However, the moment she arrived at the hall, she went speechless. The smell of blood invaded her nose once again.

“Th-this is...”

This hall in the middle was a place where three roads intersected. Normally, guards of the Guardians would be standing on all three roads with spears in their hands. But right now, the guards were on the ground, lifeless.

“H-how is that possible?”

The maid was beyond shocked as she couldn’t guess what happened, until the voice of the guards entered her ears.

“This is unexpected. I mean, were there people who visited this place before us?”

“!?”

The maid was shocked. The voice of the Guards changed from before. However, she recognized the voice. It belonged to the Lord of Demonic Cult, whose voice she heard before fainting.

‘No! it can’t be!’

She wanted to deny everything she was experiencing right now, but no matter how much she thought, it was that man’s voice.

As she heard the voice again, she felt convinced.

“Nothing can be done. Where is the Guardian’s prison cell?”

“I... I was deceived!”

The man who beat her up. She thought that they had slaughtered all the women and fled away, but that wasn't clearly true. They deceived themselves as the guards.

'How did this happen?!'

Oh!

It wasn't enough that they killed their leader and the other court ladies, because now, they even tricked her and invaded the Guardian Hall.

At that moment, she decided to take down the man who was carrying her. Sure, she would suffer but she won't do nothing in this situation.

"Ugh!"

The moment she reached out and grabbed the neck of the Guard.

Thud!

"Kuak!"

The maid's neck suddenly broke. The maid, who was trying to attack, fell back onto the back of the guard. She saw Chun Yeowun's face looking at her in her last moments before she drifted into an eternal slumber.

"Hu Bong. You can put her down."

"Ugh? Did you kill her?"

Thump!

The Guard carrying her dead body dropped her to the floor right away. Hu Bong was the man who carried her. Thanks to the plan that Great Guardian Marakim came up with, they easily infiltrated the Guardian Hall.

However, new problems had risen. There were others who invaded the Imperial palace Guardian Hall.

“What happened here?”

Looking around, Hu Bong asked after seeing the dead guards. Seeing that the blood hadn't clotted yet, he came to the conclusion that it hadn't been long since they were killed. However there was a problem.

‘This method of killing is similar to our Sword Demon. And to leave such obvious tracks..!’

All the dead bodies had traces of the Demonic Cult's energy on them. There was no way that Chun Yeowun or any other men belonging to the Demonic Cult would leave such obvious traits on the guards.

There seemed no resistance from the guards when they were killed and the guards emitted no demonic energy, but it seemed like someone made it look like the guards were taken down by the Demonic Cult members.

Realizing what was happening, Chun Yeowun opened his mouth.

“Hu Bong, trying to save our men might end up turning into a huge problem.”

Meanwhile, in the large hall of the Guardian Hall.

Around fifty men wearing the uniforms of the regular soldiers, holding onto their spear, looked at the hall entrance with a tense look.

In the middle of them, a middle-aged man wearing the official uniform of the commander of the Imperial Palace, touched the sword in his hand with a serious expression.

Tatatatak!

At that time, a soldier from the common entrance of the hall ran in and spoke in a hurry. He hurriedly reported to the commander and knelt on one knee.

“We-we are in trouble, Master! The wall opened, I think they will be here soon.”

The commander’s identity was the Master of the Imperial Palace’s Guardian.

Unlike the other commanders and generals in the palace, the warriors of the Guardian only concerned them with the matters of the Imperial Palace.

“How did all this even happen?!”

The Master groaned, not being pleased with what was happening. Since the founding of the Guardians, not once had any enemy infiltrated their hall. As if that wasn’t enough, the invaders weren’t just passing through, but they crossed all the borders and headed straight for the central hall.

‘What is their purpose for doing it?’

The purpose for coming to the centre hall was clear. It was the treasure of the Palace. The treasure from generation to generation of the Imperial family was under the protection of the Guardians under the command of the Master.

Such treasure should never fall into the hands of enemies.

‘Was it planned?’

It was suspicious that the enemy began their attack where the Guardian members were missing. Had the court ladies and their leader, who went out to tackle spies, been present, tackling the enemies would have been more efficient.

“We are going to be hit! Prepare yourselves!”

The Master shouted at the 50 men.

“No matter what happens, don’t let the enemies enter the 7th passage. Put your life at stake. Use any means possible...”

Startle!

Master, who was trying to increase morale, went silent. From the common aisle, the sound of someone approaching them could be heard.

‘They arrived!’

Before long, they made their appearance at the entrance of the hall. The clothes of the three men who invaded their grounds were stained with blood, except for the woman who had a sword in front of them. Just how many people did they have to kill for their clothes to turn red?

The woman with the sword was muttering something under her breath.

“There is no end to killing these bugs who are hiding behind a grave”

She was muttering such things in front of the Hidden Power of the Imperial palace.

Rather than being frightened, she was displaying an annoyed attitude. As if trying to showcase her power. The bearded man next to her, clicked his tongue.

“Measly flies. We need to leave marks, so leave this place to us and go ahead with the plan”

The two men stepped out, and the women, whose clothes were drenched in blood, nodded at the bearded man’s words.

She then tried to casually cross the hall from the middle of the warriors. As a result, she incurred the wrath of the Guardians.

“How dare you speak such words in the presence of the Guardians!”

“Die!”

Phat!

Although the people were wearing soldier’s clothes, most of them were Superior Master level warriors.

Three soldiers began to release energy and ran for the woman who was covered in blood and unfolded their sword. Before they could even prepare for the attack, something amazing happened.

Chak!

When did she even move?

The woman brought out the sword which was at her waist.

Cha! Cha! Cha! Cha! Cha!

That moment they reached her, the bodies of the three split open like boiled eggs, and then crumbled to the floor.

Thud! Thud! Thud!

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

Without even being able to scream, they ended up suffering miserable death. At the cruel sight which unfolded in front of their eyes, the warriors of Guardian were at a loss of words.

‘It-it makes no sense...’

Even the Master, who was supposed to lead the Guardians, was shocked. He couldn’t get his mind to adjust to what just happened.

“You worthless trash”

The woman took a step again, heading for the Master who had to be taken down.

Chapter 359 - Not An Ally (1)

Chapter 359: Not An Ally (1)

The base of the Imperial Palace Guardian was hidden deep within the enormous Shrine. There were a total of seven underground halls.

The last hall, the 7th cavity, which was said to be located in the deepest underground path, had only been visited a couple of times. Even by the Masters, who were the heads of the Guardians. It was the place where the treasure of the Empire, since its founding, had been kept and protected.

‘Hot... it is getting so hot’

The face of a middle-aged man, who was accompanying the woman called Blood Master, was drenched in sweat. Even though they were cultivating their bodies, the heat seemed to be too high to consider it normal.

The heat around them didn’t seem like a natural phenomenon, it’s as if the underground hall was rejecting them.

“Are you alright?”

“How is it so hot in here?”

He tried to think of a possible reason for it, but it was completely clueless. The woman, Blood Master, wasn't sweating at all, as if the heat didn't have much effect on her. She was showing them how different she was when compared to them.

'... surely she is one of the leading ones of Blade God Six Martial Clan'

Putting aside the useless worries, the middle-aged man decided to protect himself by handling the heat invading his body. Shortly after, they saw the end of the passage.

"I think we reached the location"

The moment they were about to pass into the passage, a white barrier appeared in front of their eyes. It felt strange to finally see the end of the passage. There didn't seem to be any other entrance after the white wall which blocked them. As they approached the wall, a text was engraved on the wall which seemed to be the entrance side.

[Anyone who wishes for the treasures here will be trapped in here for eternity, and will die miserably. For those who try to escape by using force, they will also die]

The words were vague and contained ominous warnings. The woman called Blood Master, touched the wall as she read it. Seeing from a distance, it looked like a simple pure white wall, but viewing it up close, she noticed how it was made by stacking the bricks.

'It couldn't be, right?'

Just thinking of a possibility, she entered the wall.

"Ha!"

An annoyed voice escaped from her lips. The walls were made of bricks, each brick stacked upon another, but they seemed to be connected. The wall had been designed so thoughtfully and beautifully that the entire structure would collapse if anyone broke even one brick in the wall to pass through.

[Ku...ku...ku... Intruders, no matter how much you try, you will never be able to reach the final floor]

It was a warning from the person who called himself the Great Guardian. The people who guarded the underground palace, guarded every hall, and it seemed like this Great Guardian was the last guard to protect the treasure.

“You are wasting your time here”

Shaking her head at the warnings, she entered the wall without any hesitation and was soon followed by the middle-aged man. But the moment they stepped inside, they felt a strange vibration on the floor and the wall, as if the ground was rotating.

On the other hand, the 4th underground opening, which was a long way from the 7th level, was a mess. At the bottom of the 4th underground opening, there were traces of fierce battle with numerous lifeless bodies scattered around.

It was just a rough estimate, it seemed like there were around 50 dead people. There was only one person who was still breathing in that place.

With his clothes stained in thick blood, he seemed to be doing something with the dead bodies.

Swish! Cha! Cha!

Unusually, he inflicted new wounds on the already dead bodies. Most of the bodies seemed to be dead for a few days now, and he seemed to be carving something on their bodies with their swords.

“Ugh, it’s such a mess”

It was a complaint for doing it on the body one-by-one. Since only the best of the men entered the base of the Guardian, there was no other choice but to do such tasks.

Cha! Cha! Cha! Cha!

Killing them didn’t take long, but the process of manipulating the sword on their body to carve things, took a long time. Since there were other tasks which had to be done, this man had to remain alone and clean up the mess, like a servant.

‘Even then, it is almost done’

There were another six dead bodies or so for him to get the work done. Perhaps, the Blood Master, that monster, must have already reached the place where the treasure was being hidden.

‘I need to hurry up’

He, too, was curious about the hidden treasure. As he quickly approached the next body, he felt a sudden release of energy from the common entrance, which was on the other side.

‘Is it possible to have reinforcements sent this quickly?’

It was too short of a time for reinforcements to come. With a curious feeling, he turned his head and looked at the entrance. At the entrance of the passage, a young officer clad in gold armor made an appearance.

‘A Guard?’

He thought it would be reinforcements, but only one person was sent? And the Guard was none other than Hu Bong. As Hu Bong looked at the dead bodies, he clicked his tongue.

“Wah... There are more here! This is too much... ugh?”

Hu Bong, who was shocked with the number of the corpses lying around, found a man standing among them. Pointing his finger, he shouted at the man.

“Found him! I came down 4 levels into the basement, only to barely catch you!”

Hu Bong, who was disguised as a Guard, let out a cry as the man raised his eyebrows in confusion. When he felt the energy, he thought an entire squadron of Guardians came, but it was just one person. Moreover, from feeling the energy up close of the Guard, he seemed nothing but a Grand Master level.

Although he was a strong Wulin martial arts wielder, it saddened him to know that he would have to take down the Guard, who was just maturing.

‘Ha! How dare he point a finger at me, someone who is higher than him!’

The man didn’t want to come out as cheeky or over confident. Still, just to be sure, the unknown man asked.

“Are you alone?”

“Ah, yes, I’m still single.”

The man was momentarily stunned by the absurd answer from the Guard.

“Are you trying to mess with me by using such puns?”

“Pun? I just answered your question honestly!”

“How dare you!”

Phat!

The man couldn’t hold back his anger as the Guard continued the joke, so he decided to kill the cheeky Guard. He narrowed the distance between them with five steps in just a single moment and unfolded his sword.

“How dare you talk like that to me? I am going to tear down that damn mouth of yours!”

As he said that, the exquisite sword Qi spread and soon reached Hu Bong’s face.

At that moment...

Creep!

‘Th-this is...’

The sudden release of energy began to warn every cell and neuron in his body. The sudden release of another energy made a chill run down his spine. The man who sensed the increased amount of energy, decided to give up an upfront attack and tried to change his tactic, but it was too late.

Slash! Pop! Pop!

“Cough! Cough! Cough!”

In an instant, a sword with black qi spreading around, appeared from behind Hu Bong and stabbed the unknown man right in the chest. Everything happened so fast that the man had no chance to avoid or block the attack.

Thud!

The man, who got stabbed suddenly began to cough up blood as he collapsed on the floor. Looking at that, Hu Bong shouted.

“I believe the person behind me. Hehehe”

The person behind Hu Bong was Chun Yeowun. As Chun Yeowun stayed in the passage, he couldn't be seen, but he was witnessing everything which happened. However, Chun Yeowun couldn't fully comprehend the skills of the unknown man.

“Cough... cough!”

The man, who still hadn't died yet, looked up at Chun Yeowun with shock in his eyes. His face became white and pale, with a grim look in his eyes.

‘Ho, a main seat as myself got overpowered by a young Guard, that too with just one strike?’

It was hard to believe. Moreover, the Guard didn't even seem that skilled to his eyes.

Within a couple seconds, he started denying this reality. Anyone, with such a monster-like skill and agility, could never be part of the Guards.

“Cough... Cough... you... you... who the hell... are you?”

Looking down at him, Chun Yeowun spoke in a cold voice.

“After using my methods on these bodies, how could you not know?”

“Methods? ... What?!”

The man who couldn't understand the answer at first, soon understood, making him go stiff. There was only one man who would proudly use the word 'my method'. It was none other than the Lord of the Demonic Cult.

‘Demonic Cult!!! Why are they here?’

The man was supposed to use the Demonic method for their plan to work, but the own Lord of the Demonic Cult made an appearance in front of him!

Chuck!

“Kuuuuakkk!”

As if he was still in thought, Chun Yeowun cut off his right arm. At the sudden severance of the right arm, the man was still unable to comprehend what was happening. While he held onto the severed hand which was bleeding, Chun Yeowun spoke in a calm voice.

“I am busy... every time you don't give me the right answer, I will cut off one of your limbs. Okay?”

“Uhhh...”

The man was surprised at how Chun Yeowun casually spoke about cutting down the limbs. The man, who was on the ground, started groaning in pain because of his severed arm. At that moment, Chun Yeowun's sword cut his left thigh.

Slash!

"AHHHH!!"

As he screamed in pain, Chun Yeowun bluntly spoke.

"You still haven't answered me"

'This... this crazy bastard!'

The man's face slowly started turning pale due to his limbs being torn.

The 6th opening, the last line of defence, before entering the final underground cavity, was the battlefield for a fierce battle. Despite having already sent the monster-like woman to the place, the battle turned into a fight for survival.

On the floor, on the side of the entrance, which led to the 7th (Underground) opening, was a middle-aged man with no arms. He was on the three pillars of the Imperial Palace Guardian.

The Great Guardian.

Thump!

The Great Guardian, without arms gritted his teeth in anger.

How did such a situation happen? It was a tragedy which took place while he tried to stop the woman, who was referred to as the Blood Master, trying to cross the hall and heading for the 7th opening entrance, while trying to kill the Guardian warriors who were guarding the 7th opening entrance .

However, in just one attack, such a result was achieved.

‘How can the Great Guardian of the Imperial Palace turn out like this?’

Even after he was considered as the Master of the Guardians, who reached the Superior Master level, he couldn’t stand against the woman.

She truly was an unimaginable monster.

The Great Guardian, who lost both his arms, turned helpless after just one attack, but there was no doubt that the other Guardians couldn’t stop her.

Slash!

“AHHHH!”

The entire opening was swarming with sounds of slashes and screams. The woman called Blood Monster, was indeed a monster, but the two blood-soaked warriors who were standing beside her, were also powerful.

One of them was on the same level as the Great Guardian.

“Cough!”

In the battle, the throats of the court maids were slashed in an instant, not giving them a chance to fight. Although they were women, the Blood Master didn’t go easy on them, and boldly attacked them, making their blood splatter everywhere.

It was too painful to watch such battles happen.

‘You will be the last to die’

As commanded by the Blood Master, the Great Guardian wasn't touched and the others were being killed, by her companions with spears. Right now, including the Great Guardian, there were only eight people alive.

“Kuek... these people!”

Gulp!

Tears flowed from the eyes of the Guardians when he saw his companions being killed in the cruelest way possible, right in front of his eyes.

They were hoping to be killed first to avoid seeing such a scene, but it seemed that did not go as planned.

“Not many are left. They are so terrible!”

“I know...”

Shock!

“Cough!”

It was an overwhelmingly incapacitated battle, yet, not a single warrior of the Guardian stepped back and retreated. Also, it was impossible for the two intruders to stay unscathed in a battle with such skilled Guardian warriors.

They were injured, albeit, to a minor level.

“Uhhh.”

Five people left. With only the five of them remaining, they were all terrified of losing the remaining companions. They were aware of what outcome would come from engaging in a battle with these enemies.

Clang!

The woman held the spear in her hand and raised the other hand as she stepped forward. The hand signals were meant to deal with the people in the best way possible. The man with her nodded.

“Woohoo, you can do whatever you want with these people”

When the women’s order was told loudly, the man smiled as he walked for the remaining surviving warriors of the Guardian.

Tap! Tap! Tap!

‘What?’

At that time, something like mud began to fall on their heads. None of them cared, thinking that the mud-like object was falling as a result of the fierce battle happening underground, but that was when the middle-aged man, accompanying the woman, shouted.

“Blood Master! Avoid it!

Crack!

At that very moment, a crack appeared as the ceiling broke and collapsed. Large pieces of rocks, comparable to huge stones, began to fall to the floor.

“Shit!”

Shocked by the unexpected turn of events, the one with the spear, the man who accompanied Blood Master, moved forward.

Kwak! Kwak! Kwak!

He started hitting the huge rocks that were falling from the ceiling. And thanks to that, dust flew everywhere and obscured everyone's vision.

'Th-thank god!'

Although the place was a mess, the man with the spear sighed in relief as he managed to avoid large rocks. He couldn't hear the voice of the Blood Master, if she was a second late in escaping the rocks, she would have been injured for sure and said something.

As the dust began to set, the man with the spear could see an outline of a figure.

'Who is that?'

Though he could see a person, he couldn't feel any energy from that person. It was like an ordinary person who didn't learn martial arts.

Whing!

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

At that time, the figure shook his hand lightly in the air, and the dust, which was covering the area, soon subsided. Doing so, the figure's appearance was visible to everyone there.

"What?"

A young man with white face and long hair was wearing the Guard's uniform. However, there was something about his face that felt familiar.

“Ah! It can’t be, right?”

The eyes of the one called Blood Master, and the spear man widened. It was none other than their companion, whom the Blood Master had ordered to work on leaving sword marks on the corpses of the upper levels of the underground.

Chapter 360 - Not An Ally (2)

Chapter 360: Not An Ally (2)

This man was supposed to come down to this place after he was done putting the Demonic Art mark on the corpses. However, unexpected situations occurred.

How could he have known that his head would get cut off in the hands of a guard he had never heard of. Both the Blood Master and the man with the spear were at a loss of words, and the long haired man in a gold uniform spoke, while his lips curled into a cruel smile.

“This was the fastest way”

The guard with long hair, pure white face and gold uniform was Chun Yeowun. Why did he make an appearance in that underground level by breaking the ceiling?

It was a drastic attempt. A few hours ago...

“Besides these ones, there are four more people?”

“Cough... cough... that is right”

The man caught by Chun Yeowun wasn't just grunting in pain while his arms and legs were being cut off. He also told information about his companions to Chun Yeowun. It was all so that he could get hit in his head and die without suffering any more.

Suddenly, the temperature in the surroundings started to rise. Chun Yeowun didn't have any choice but to cut off his neck before the man tried to self-destruct himself with energy running wild in his body.

Chun Yeowun was told about the number of people who were inside. And, one of the purposes that they infiltrated the Guardian Hall was because it held the blood of Qilin in the Royal Shrine.

'So it really does exist'

That alien energy which was felt from the court ladies, the red scales on their skin, everything pointed to something suspicious happening and for the Qilin blood to be real!

'Anyways, I'll have to hurry up'

He had no idea what would happen if the precious blood of Qilin got into the hands of the infiltrators. He had to stop them at all costs so that another problem didn't pop up.

However, the passages and the halls connected in the basement were a lot more complicated than Chun Yeowun thought, which gave Chun Yeowun a bold idea.

'Break through the ground!'

Even the sapphire wall could be burst through with Chun Yeowun's power. Combining it with Air Sword, it was worth a try. And the result was, he came down to the 6th level through the ceiling.

'G-Guard?'

It wasn't just the infiltrators who were shocked by Chun Yeowun appearing from the ceiling. The warriors of the Imperial Palace Guardian were shocked too. Looking at the appearance, they couldn't help but feel that a guard had just entered the hall.

'Ahhh!'

'May-maybe it's the reinforcements?'

Due to the unusual appearance, the remaining warriors misunderstood that His Majesty, the Emperor, had sent reinforcements for them. Their desire to hold onto life made them lose their reasoning.

"Hi-His Majesty has sent us reinforcements!"

"Yeahhhh!"

As one of the warriors shouted, the rest of the Guardian warriors cheered. The face of the Great Guardian, who was in despair, leaning against a wall turned red. He just saw someone fall from the sky.

"Long live the Emperor!"

They were extremely grateful for the Emperor's grace. At the sound of their cheers, the eyes of the two Jang Po-in (Spearmen) turned pale. While the others were cheering, they were shocked.

They already reached the conclusion that the colleague, whose job was to put demonic arts marks on the corpses, had died at the hands of this guard.

'Just one guard did that?'

A measly Imperial Guard, who didn't learn Wulin but mastered any kind of martial arts, struck and killed their companion?

The Spearman, who couldn't hold back his emotions and started rushing towards Chun Yeowun.

'Ah! He's so impatient!'

The Spearman, who released energy, couldn't hide his anger. The guard in front of him had just come down through the ceiling. The spearman couldn't grasp just how strong the man was.

"DIE!!"

Woong!

From the Spearman's spear, a blue qi began to rise. Unlike any general spearman, the one in this man's hand was long and had an exquisite look.

As the spear went to attack, dozens of trajectories of the spearheads formed, covered, and headed towards Chun Yeowun.

Cha! Cha! Cha! Cha! Cha!

Each of the arrow heads aiming only for the Guard. The warriors, who thought that the guard was there to save them, screamed on top of their voices.

"Avoid! Deflect them!"

Dealing such an attack from close range was impossible. Even the Great Guardian would have a hard time at tackling this attack. Everyone wanted the guard to avoid the attack.

‘Oh! In the front?’

Rather than listening to the warriors, Chun Yeowun walked towards the spearheads as if he didn’t care at all.

“You idiot! You are only walking towards your death!”

The lip corners of the Spearman rose. Although he attacked on emotions, he wasn’t sure where the battle would go. This spear attack is a combination of many spear attacks. He had invented the technique himself.

At that time, Chun Yeowun threw the spy’s head in his extended hand.

Chak!

‘What?’

At that moment, the Spearman’s eyes went wide.

It definitely looked like Chun Yeowun pulling out a sword from his waist, and he seemed like he picked out a white sword, but only half of its body came out.

‘No-no way!’

At that moment.

Cha! Cha! Cha! Cha! Clang! Clang!

The spearheads, which were heading towards the Chun Yeowun, suddenly got deflected and bounced towards all the directions. It looked as if the spearheads had hit an invisible wall.

‘Ah! What is this attack?’

Looking at the skill, even the Great Guardian couldn't hide his shocked expression. This guard seemed similar to the monstrous woman called the Blood Master, the Great Guardian thought.

Crrrrrk!

“Kuak!”

Blood flowed from both the hands of the Spearman, who held the spear tightly.

Why? How did that happen? His palms were torn!

It was the aftermath of his own attacks being deflected by Chun Yeowun. The deflected attacks reflected with such a speed that even the spearman's body couldn't handle it, and when the spearheads touched his palm, the palms tore.

‘I can't handle him’

Even though the spearman pulled out his best attack, he was the one who got hurt, not Chun Yeowun.

Clang! Clang! Clang!

The Spearman, who couldn't overcome the constant attacks for the Air Sword, got pushed back by ten steps. As if he passed through the storm, his hair turned into a mess and his eyes were losing focus.

In the midst of all that, he couldn't help but shout at the Guard who was displaying such skill.

“Y-you... who the hell are you?! How could you use that skill?!”

It was no surprise that he screamed. The skill Chun Yeowun used to deflect the arrows was the 5th level skill of Blade God Six Martial Clan's.

It was a technique that not everyone could use, and even those who reached the highest levels, had trouble using it. To use that technique meant that the guard was someone more skilled than the spearman.

'How could this happen...'

The problem was that the technique Chun Yeowun used was something only a few of the elders in the Blade God Six Clan could use.

This attack, the Extreme Art of Blade God, added speed to the body which made the body bypass the normal limit, and there was no way that someone other than the Blade God Six Clan could learn it.

"How is a Guard using our... ugh!"

Clang!

Suddenly, the spearman's spear cracked and broke into two pieces. It was no surprise that Chun Yeowun decided to close the distance between them.

"You talk a lot"

"Ugh!"

Spearman tried to increase the distance between them by swinging the broken spear and taking steps back. However, Chun Yeowun was much faster, leaving afterimages as he approached the spearman and jumped towards the man.

‘H-how is he using the Extreme Art of Blade God?’

Shocked by the guard using their swordsman skills, the spearman began to increase the energy as he rotated the spear’s pieces to defend any incoming attacks.

Puck! Shhhhh!

“Cough!”

However, Chun Yeowun appeared behind him. A black energy with an eerie feeling rose from Chun Yeowun fingers, which were holding onto the sword.

The Spearman stared at his chest in shock.

‘He has such unbelievable skills?’

His chest was wide open and a hole was present where Chun Yeowun attacked. Chun Yeowun, casually mumbled under his breath.

“I am sorry, but I am in a hurry, so I don’t have time to deal with you”

The sword, which penetrated the spearman’s chest, was giving out a heavenly aura. In an instant, the guard was able to change the sword skills. The guard seemed to be a terrifying person because even the Superior Master of the Blade God Six Martial clan couldn’t do such a skill.

“.. impossible. How can I...”

Thud!

The spearman who was muttering to himself stopped talking and fell down to the ground. The moment he fell to the ground, the warriors of the Guardian screamed loudly.

“Woahhhh!”

“He killed the enemy!”

Even when fifty warriors tried to attack him at the same time, the spearman only had shallow wounds on his body, but this man, with his amazing skills, killed two of the infiltrators.

‘This...! How did such a talent bloom in the Guards?’

At first, the Great Guardian was thrilled because he assumed that this guard was His Majesty’s reinforcements. Among the Guards, the Southern Commander was known to be strongest, but no one had witnessed his strength.

Even if he was a guard who was solely appointed to protect the Emperor, this guard was giving out a feeling that he could take down dozens of infiltrators. The guard seemed to be as strong as the Spearman without breaking a sweat.

It was almost as if the guard was one of the top 5 Wulin warriors.

‘It can’t be! How can he die with only two strikes?’

Another spearman, who was there, couldn’t hide his shock. The dead man was known to be inferior in the skills of the Blade God Six Martial Clan, but he was talented in terms of Moorim.

‘A guard took him down?’

The warriors of the Great Guardian couldn’t understand how he belonged to the Guards. If everyone of the guards were this strong, then the spies who infiltrated the Palace could be taken down by them easily and quickly.

‘No. He is unlike any Guard I’ve seen. Who is this person?’

Confusion arose among the warriors minds. They wouldn’t have been so confused if Chun Yeowun didn’t use the Extreme Art of Blade God. At that moment, Chun Yeowun turned towards him and asked:

“Are you the last one here?”

His icy eyes stared at the infiltrator.

‘Damn it!’

Srrrrng!

Just meeting Chun Yeowun’s gaze made the Spearman feel fear. Crossing blows with the monstrous Guard in front didn’t matter to him anymore. There was no need to fight a losing battle. Death was the only result for him. To fight against someone you cannot deal was beyond stupid.

‘I need to take him to Blood Master’

That monster was the only one who could deal with Chun Yeowun in the spearman’s eyes. There was no way a spearman could take down the Guard. Thinking so, he decided to escape towards Blood Master, and started to move.

‘I need to create a gap between us’

Woong!

The infiltrator raised his spear and began to release energy to the place where Chun Yeowun was standing. He wasn’t exactly aiming at Chun Yeowun, but just around Chun Yeowun.

Bang! Bang! Bang!

As the floor got hit, dust began to rise around Chun Yeowun, obscuring his vision. All the infiltrator needed was a moment to run away.

‘Now!’

Once the spearman saw enough dust rise, he quickly moved to the passage which would lead them to the last hall. It was the right choice. Facing a confrontation with Chun Yeowun would only bring him death.

Woosh!

Suddenly something moved. The spearman ignored it and rushed towards the passage, but a light suddenly appeared at the entrance of the passage. However, after running, he couldn’t help but stop at the entrance, which was currently blocked.

Kiik!

“H-how is this possible?”

The man was shocked after seeing the passage being blocked. While he saw that it was just some simple light, it gave him an eerie sensation. And then, something amazing happened.

Shiiiiing!

Dozens of ice swords floated in the air right at the entrance of the passage, all pointing towards him. The man was speechless.

“Ice Swords? It can’t be!”

No one would even know how the Ice Swords work unless they saw them. It was even questionable whether it was realistically possible to create such a large number of Ice Swords.

‘What the hell? Is he some kind of monster?’

The Ice Swords seemed like they were desperate to plunge into the man.

“Did you really think that you could run away?”

‘Sh-shit!’

The voice of Chun Yeowun reached in the spearman’s ears. Sadly, even his plan to live a little longer failed. The man, who lost his last resort, felt his heart pounding against his ribs. He wielded his spear and stood against the ice sword.

‘Just end it!’

It was better to break through the Ice Swords than deal with the monster behind him. The spearman unfolded his best technique to break down all the Ice Swords.

Clang! Clang! Clang! Clang!

Among the techniques based on Blade God Six Martial clan, his forte was close combat. As he took position, dozens of ice swords flew towards him like rain falling to the ground.

Swoosh!

‘I just need to be vigilant!’

In order to not get hit, the man began to release energy as swords collided and fell.

Clang! Clang! clang!

Although the ice swords were sharp and hard, it couldn't compare to the strength of a real sword. Whenever his spear clashed with the Ice Sword, the Ice Sword would crumble. After realizing this, color returned to the man's face.

'I can get away!'

Half of the Ice Swords were already broken, but there was one thing he missed. If it was a Grand Master, then moving while using the Ice Sword would be tough. However, Chun Yeowun was not normal, with the help of the system, he could simultaneously control the Ice Sword and move.

"His Back is unprotected"

"What?"

The moment the man turned his head, a voice surprised him from behind.

Puck!

"Cough!"

A white sword passed through the spearman's neck. The spearman had no time to react. His eyes, which were filled with life and hope thinking that he could escape, soon turned into despair.

"...how?"

He wanted to ask how the Guard could move but the next moment, he lost his life.

Thud! Puck!

The man's neck cracked and his head fell onto the floor.

"Woah!"

Cheers escaped from the mouth of the Great Guardian who leaned towards the entrance. Seeing the man's head roll around, he couldn't help but admire the guard. It would be no exaggeration to call the man as God's Warrior.

'This is amazing! To think there was such a skilled man...'

His identity didn't matter anymore and he was fortunate enough that this monster was their ally.

'Right! This person will be able to deal with that monstrous woman!'

It's been quite some time since the woman went down and if the Guard hurried, he could stop her from touching the treasure.

"Ugh! Go down and stop the enemies in there. You need to hurry before the treasure gets stolen!"

With urgency in his voice, the Great Guardian shouted to Chun Yeowun. However, he felt something was off.

'?'

Chun Yeowun approached him without saying anything. The Great Guardian, who was puzzled, started to worry.

"G-Guard?"

As the Guardian felt scared and the Guard spoke.

"What should I do?"

“What do you mean?”

“... I am not your ally either”

“Huh? What is that...”

Slash!

Before he could respond, Chun Yeowun slit his throat. The head of the Great Guardian, whose throat was slit, fell on the floor with a thud.

“What the hell?”

“Guard! How can you do this?!”

In an instant, the warriors who were cheering and believed that he was an ally sent by the Emperor went mute and still. It was natural that they were shocked. After all, it was the head of the Great Guardian which fell down. Turning his head, Chun Yeowun asked the remaining warriors.

“Guard... do I still look like a Guard?”

“!?”

If he wasn't the Guard, then who was he? Chun Yeowun lifted his sword and aimed it at them, and spoke in an authoritative voice.

“I am the Lord of the Ten Thousand Mountains”

“Ten Thousand Mountains? No... Demonic Cult?”

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

The Lord of the Ten Thousand Mountains was another term for the Lord of Demonic Cult. Their eyes, which looked at Chun Yeowun, went wide at the obvious truth that he spoke. But that wasn't the end.

"And now I am an enemy who is going to kill you all"

"!!!"

Slash!

The moment he was done speaking, Chun Yeowun unfolded the Sword Force of Heavenly Demon.

Chapter 361 - Incarnation of Qilin (1)

Chapter 361: Incarnation of Qilin (1)

The hall of the last level of the Guardian base was divided into three paths. Unlike Chun Yeowun who went straight down, Hu Bong came through a different path.

Turning right at every fork, one could find the prison cell of the Imperial Palace's Guardian. In that place, there were two bodies wearing only underwear and their bodies were so bruised that their families won't even recognize them.

"Damn it"

Hu Bong couldn't help but curse out loud after witnessing such a sight. These bodies, which only had their underwear on, weren't just tortured. All of their fingernails and toenails were plucked out, and he could see that they suffered from beating from an iron rod.

"Imperial Palace?! Bulshit!"

Hu Bong couldn't stop swearing as he kept looking at the bodies. They were none other than the members of the Demonic Cult. The moment they got caught by the Court maids, it seemed like they were tortured severely and died from it.

“Sigh. I should stop swearing”, Said a wounded man, who was collecting sticks to burn the corpses.

He was the only surviving member of the captured Demonic Cult infiltrators. From the moment he got tortured, he could be called one-hell-of-a-lucky guy.

Hu Bong, who held a torch in his hand, hesitated.

“We can’t even take them back to our place...”

To burn the dead bodies to get rid of their existence, hurt Hu Bong. Seeing him sad, the other man asked him to hand over the torch.

“Alright, I’ll do it”

The man’s face was a mess. It was full of bruises and dried blood, his eyes were swollen, yet full of determination. As Hu Bong handed him the torch without hesitation, the bruised man lit pieces of cloth and the broken branches around the corpses.

Crackle!

The oil from the lamp poured and instantly caught fire. Watching the flames soar high, the only surviving members spoke.

“I was prepared to make sacrifices for our Cult because I was given the role of a spy. During an assignment, never show any signs of mourning for any brothers”

“Wh-who is mourning here? Huh...”

Hu Bong didn’t say anything. These masters, who were tasked with the duties of spies as the Demonic Cult, didn’t have family or close relatives as they mainly tasked themselves as spies, assassins, and intelligence gatherers.

They were like shadows, living only for the Demonic Cult, and yet, they picked up the current mission. They knew they were going to work with the Lord of the Demonic Cult, who personally changed the plan to rescue the captured spies, and in a way, their death wasn't in vain.

'It has been a while since I saw the Lord get angry'

Chun Yeowun wasn't the kind of person who showed anger, and ever since he became the Lord of Demonic Cult, he did his best to hold back his anger.

However, after discovering the bodies of his men were tortured in the prison cells, his eyes immediately hungered for killing.

'He went in alone, but I'm not sure if he would be fine'

Watching the bodies burn, Hu Bong was worried for his Lord. Chun Yeowun left Hu Bong and the Master of spies to take care of the corpses and headed down to the underground.

Hu Bong believed that his master was invincible, but he wasn't sure of how the enemy and world would treat him.

'I need to hurry up and head over to Lord...'

Bang! Grrrrr!

It was at that moment vibrations appeared as if the underground was experiencing an earthquake.

It wasn't strong enough to collapse, but the trembling of the walls could be made out by the naked eyes.

‘What the hell!’

It wasn’t just vibration. It was some kind of energy. An extraordinary energy soared all through the place.

Hu Bong, who was worried, said to the Master of spies.

“Please take care of this, I will head over to where the Lord is”

“I understand! Please go ahead!”

Hu Bong quickly began to run out of the prison cells.

The last, 7th level with hidden treasure.

To enter that place, one would have to pass through the maze which was equipped with energy engines.

The option of bursting through the ceiling wouldn’t work as the maze was designed to self-destruct if anyone tried to intrude forcibly. Numerous traps were waiting for the intruders, but for the Blood Master, it was a simple waste of time.

“You must be kidding me!”

Spask!

The spearheads popping from the floor below were easily blocked by her attack, and the arrows, coming in from the sidewalls, were too slow compared to her movements.

There was no need for the Blood Master to work because the man, who assisted her by destroying all the traps in the maze, did all the job. And as a result, they reached the end of the maze in not much time.

‘The exit!’

As they moved, there was a barrier placed in the way, and an exit right underneath it.

But at the exit, a bright light, like a torch flickered.

As they passed through the exit, a space about half the size of the 6th level hall appeared in front of their eyes.

“Ah!”

The man assisting her exclaimed at the scene.

Hiss!

As soon as they crossed through the exit sign, they were greeted by a heatwave. The end of the hall had a large pond, which occupied one-third of the hall.

What was really interesting is that a rock was protruding like a small island in the middle of the pond, and this rock had a huge flame burning on it.

Crackle! Crackle!

Due to the enormous flame, steam was rising around, like a hot spring in the pond. And thanks to that, the hall’s temperature was hot, while the air was humid and white because of vapour.

‘What a truly a mysterious place’

Despite being deep in the underground, it made them feel like they were in a land of lava. In the middle of the pond, the strange fire which was distracting them, further divided their concentration when a voice was resounded.

“Who dared to set their dirty foot in here?”

The voice could be heard, yet it was hard to grasp where the voice was coming from. The unknown energy from the huge flames in the middle of the pond suddenly started increasing, making the hall's temperature rise up.

Unlike the man, who was looking for the voice, the Blood Master's eyes were directed toward the huge flame.

“Are you the last watchman?”

“Who are you?”

The man was puzzled at the Blood Master's words. He couldn't tell if the opponent was a man or woman because their voice was strong. Then, the voice resounded again.

“You cheeky bastard. Your confidence has swelled enough that you are aiming for the treasure of the Imperial palace”

The voice is sharper than before. It was a voice that was being sarcastic towards the intruders. Without backing down, Blood Master suddenly opened her mouth and screamed.

“How long are you planning on hiding there and talking? Show yourself! I am not afraid of you. Huh! Did you hide because you are ugly to look at?”

She was deliberately provoking the other person. Was it a fight of Qi between them?

‘Would this provocation work? What...?’

When the man was trying to think of what was going on, he saw a black figure of a human move behind the flames.

He wasn't sure, but it seemed like the watchman of the treasure really fell into the provocation.

Hiss!

How did that person even get into the fire which seemed like it could burn everything?

Just then, the black human being, behind the enormous flame began to slowly cross over and walk forward.

“NO WAY!”

As shocking as it was, the black figure also had flames around. As if not affected by the heat, the figure crossed it and walked forward.

Whooosh!

The body, which was covered by the flames, was none other than the incarnation of the flames itself. Among the Guardian warriors who were guarding the shrine, the two intruders had witnessed guards who could handle flames, but they were incomparable to the figure in front of them.

‘It isn't that the body is burning....but the body itself is made of flames’

It was an unbelievable sight for humans to accept. The assistant of Blood Monster went stiff. As they kept crossing the maze, he began to turn wary about the absence of the Guardians, but now they were facing someone who was made of flames.

‘Is it even giving out human energy?’

The energy from the flame body was violent and aggressive. Unlike him, who was nervous and scared, the eyes of Blood Monster were ready for battle.

Until then, she had no interest in battling it out, but now she was making such an interesting expression.

“Huhuhu, I knew that there would be a person protecting this place, so that was you, huh?”

As she asked, the one in flames didn't bother answering back. Rather, the flames surrounding the body gradually subsided, revealing the appearance.

Shhhh!

They assumed that the entire body would be black and scorched because of the flame, but a monster with red scales appeared.

‘Huh?’

The entire body seemed to be covered with scales, yet she was naked without a single piece of cloth. She was the owner of a perfect body with a swelling chest and narrow waist.

As the woman in scales extended her right hand, something like a piece of cloth from a corner in the hall came over and wrapped her body.

Shhh!

The red scales covering the whole body disappeared as the cloth began to cover her from the chest to thighs. She was, no doubt, an alluring and beautiful woman with flames running around her waist.

Just looking at her face would seduce any living man.

‘Sh-she is so seductive’

Since it was just a small piece of cloth, most of her body was exposed. Thanks to that, the man was embarrassed to directly look at her. The seductive woman caught him glancing at her and looked at Blood Master with a glare as she spoke.

“I thought that you were so special, but there’s nothing special about you”

The lady in flames, who seemed to be conscious of being called ugly spoke back to Blood Master. If evaluated objectively, the woman in flames could be counted as the best in the Empire. On the contrary, Blood Master raised her eyebrows, as if she didn’t like hearing those words.

“Ha. You are cheeky as the keeper of a tomb”

“Keeper of the tomb? I, a woman, have been guarding the Imperial treasure for a long time because of the agreement we made with the first Emperor of the Empire. A thief like you has no right making fun of me”

‘First Emperor?’

The man’s eyes widened when he heard of the agreement with the First Emperor. He knew that something was unusual by looking at her, but listening to the woman’s words, it meant that she lived for over 2 hundred years. The eyes of Blood Master, who was displeased till a moment back, were now sparkling.

“Did you take in the blood of Qilin to get immortality?”

“Immortality?”

There was a limit to the life of a person who even reached the highest level of martial arts. But, not a single person was alive for such a long time. However, the fact that this woman in flames lived for nearly two hundred years in her young form had to mean that she had achieved Immortality.

“Your eyes are full of greed. You are only fools”

The woman in flames caught the Blood Master’s eyes which were shining in greed. Those who came in for the treasure had to be killed.

“Guardian Ran-yeong. According to the agreement, I will aim for the thieves who have infiltrated the treasure”

Wooong!

Sparks began to rise from her arms, the woman who identified herself as 2nd Guardian Ran-yeong. It was as if she wanted to burn down all the enemies in front of her.

‘What a tremendous amount of energy!’

The flames were so intense that even a few skilled Masters wouldn’t be able to stand the energy she was revealing. Blood Master spoke to the man who was shocked.

“Stay back. I will deal with her”

“Ah, ye...”

Swoosh!

Even before he could finish his words, something like a hazy afterimage shook before him.

“Uh?”

The one who appeared with the air swaying around them like a mirage was none other than Ran-yeong. She was so fast that even the man didn't realize that she was standing right beside him.

“What stand back? I'll deal with the both of you”

Hweeing!

Sparks shone brightly from her hands. The man, who was terrified of the flames which were soaring her hand, pulled out his sword.

Swoosh!

The sword made of steel, created a form of a dense mesh, trying to block the fire. The man urgently took a defensive position, thinking that he would be able to stop the attack from reaching him. But,

Hweeeing!

“Wh-what is this?”

The flame engulfed him in an instant, and the strong raging heat invaded his hand which was holding the sword. He only wanted to protect himself, but the heat was so terrifying that it felt like his hand was gone.

Chiik!

“Kuak!”

The man retrieved the sword and tried to retreat a couple of steps, but the flames moved in the gap and struck him.

Hweeing!

‘Damn it!’

He let go of the sword he was holding because of the fire which struck him, but the flames already entwined his body. In an instant, the flames, which touched him, began to burn the body.

“AGHHHHHH!”

Starting from his arms, the fire continued to his upper body and the man rolled on the floor while groaning in pain. Blood Master on the other hand, who was attacked at the same time had a different expression.

Was the best defense known to be the best attack?

When the flames were about to cover Blood master, she didn’t back down, but went ahead and stepped ahead to cut the throat of Ran-Yeong.

Thud!

‘She’s fast!’

Ran-yeong, who tried to avoid it by leaning behind, had to stop the attack and jump back to avoid getting hit.

‘Would that cause damage?’

The eyes of Blood Master caught something. Certainly, she wanted to kill Ran-yeong in just one strike, but she avoided it. She saw how accurately Ran-yeong deflected the attack.

“You...You aren’t so normal”, Blood Master said to Ran-yeong, who had been taken ten steps away.

Ran-yeong replied casually,

“Oh! You stopped my attack? You need to learn more to take me down”

Ran-yeong too made the decision to kill them by burning them but she never expected that one of the intruders would escape her attack.

‘It has been so long since I met this kind of person’

Ran-yeong was called the true hidden power of the Imperial Palace. As long as she lived, no one would be able to break into the Guardian hall. The eyes of Ran-yeong were devoted to the battle and started shining in excitement.

‘I was almost disappointed because of the Great Guardian and the others in the Imperial Palace, but this is fun’

Gooooo!

The two women were feeling excited about their confrontation with each other. The man, who was assisting Blood Master, barely managed to extinguish the flames which were burning his body.

Kiiik!

Hot vapour flowed from his body. He was hoping to retreat to avoid getting in between the confrontation of the two crazy women.

‘These two are really monsters’

He would always wonder if there was another woman who could fight on the same level as Blood Master, but for her to be in the Imperial Palace!

The monster's opponent was another monster.

It was obvious that he would die if he intervened, so he decided to search for the treasure while the women were fighting.

'Hoo... I'll go to the side where the flames were struck and... huh?'

Grrrrr!

Something strange was sounding from the side of the ceiling. It was when the assistant started concentrating on the sound...

Crack! Crack!

The ceiling started cracking and the rocks began to fall. It was as if a thunderbolt struck the ceiling.

"Uh! Ahhhhhh!"

Thud! Thud! Thud!

If he had no luck on his side, he would have definitely died a terrible death. Even with the rocks crumbling, he wasn't severely hurt, but his leg got caught between a rock.

The two women, who were confronting each other, turned their gaze towards the abruptly collapsed ceiling.

"Assistant!"

The scream was from Blood Master, who wanted to know if her aide was alive. However, due to his leg under a rock and the pain he was experiencing, he fainted. And one could see an outline of someone standing over the fallen rocks.

“Who is he?”

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

“A Guard?”

Both the women looked at him. The one who came down from the broken ceiling was a young man with a white face and gold robe. That’s right, it was...

Chun Yeowun

Just like how he passed the other levels, he broke through the hall and descended the last level. Looking at the two women who were glaring at him, Chun Yeowun opened his mouth and said.

“Thank god I wasn’t too late”

Chapter 362 - Incarnation of Qilin (2)

Chapter 362: Incarnation of Qilin (2)

‘You stupid guy! Why did you die on me!’

It wasn't like the assistant of Blood Master fell after fighting for a prolonged time but he died because of the collapsed ceiling. Even calling for him seemed frustrating. For a moment, everyone was shocked at the sudden collapse of the ceiling and the eyes of Blood Master narrowed.

‘He is not normal at all’

With her keen and reinforced instincts, she was sure that the man in front of them wasn't an ordinary one. He was perfectly holding onto his energy without releasing it, which meant that he must be someone with great power levels that went beyond her imagination.

‘I thought this would be easy, but was I right?’

She thought that the problem would be solved once she got rid of Ran-yeong, whom she was fighting with, but that clearly didn't seem to be the case. Seeing that he had a golden armor on him, he was definitely a member of the Imperial Palace.

‘The fact that he appeared right from the ceiling...’

In the other levels above this, there were people of Blade God Six Martial Clan who were leaving the marks of Demonic Cult martial arts on the corpses.

Blood Master stared at the Guardian, Ran-yeong, and Chun Yeowun alternatively.

She was confident in her skills, but she knew that she'd be at a disadvantage if they both joined forces.

'Then...'

On the other hand, it wasn't just Blood Master who was awestruck at the sudden appearance of Chun Yeowun from the ceiling. The Guardian, Ran-yeong was also wary of his actions and appearance. The man was wearing gold armor, but not once had she ever heard about such a skilled man in the Guards.

'I don't think that even the Guardians are this capable'

She was convinced that the man in front of her was a lot stronger than the Guard, who is right next to the Emperor. Moreover, although the man wasn't releasing any energy, she could feel that he had a scary and dangerous energy around him.

'This is no normal underground and he appears through the ceiling. Meaning, these two must be allies'

Ran-yeong stared at Blood master.

She thought that it was worth playing with her since it had been a long time since she crossed swords with others, but there was no way that someone trying to seize the treasure would play fair. Even if she was skilled, it would be quite troublesome if the two of them joined hands and attacked her at the same time.

‘It would be dangerous if they joined hands. Then...’

Right now, the situation was truly complicated. With the appearance of Chun Yeowun, the two women made the same decision.

With eyes on full alert, the both of them looked at each other and then at Chun Yeowun, and attacked him at the same time as if they had already made the decision beforehand.

Phat!

It was Chun Yeowun that the two women were aiming at. In order to prevent him from joining hands with either side, they decided to take down the newly emerged man.

Wheeing!

Shhhhh!

‘Are they together?’

Chun Yeowun didn’t expect such a development. It was as if the beasts were trying to get rid of any possible enemies before they resumed their fight.

‘Thus...’

From the right side, an attack of hot flames similar to Qilin was released, and on the left was the Extreme Art of Blade God.

“Huh?”

“What?”

The two women’s eyes found each other at the same time. They thought they attacked an opponent. They thought that the Guard was an ally to the other, but what is the new twist?

However, they realized that they both were mistaken.

“This is not a good start”

Chun Yeowun’s eyes turned serious. To avoid any more changes in the battle, the two of them decided to attack him.

Clang!

When Chun Yeowun stretched out his right hand to unfold White Dragon Blade, the blade on his back suddenly appeared in his right hand. But that wasn’t the end.

Clang! Clang! Clang! Clang!

When he stretched the left hand, the black irons which seemed to be protecting his wrist on both the arms disassembled, forming into a black sword, and formed in Chun Yeowun’s hand.

‘An arm of a guard turned into a sword?’

‘Who the hell is he?’

They both knew from the start that Chun Yeowun wasn’t going to be an easy opponent. And their thoughts were true.

Chiiiiinnnnnggggg!

A cold chill ran down their spines, even though the temperature of the underground was increasing. Despite the strange phenomenon the guard displayed, the long spear wrapped in the flames of Ran-yeong, which was used to attack Chun Yeowun, went to strike him.

Cha! Cha! Cha! Cha! Cha!

At that moment, Chun Yeowun, who unfolded White Dragon Blade collided, with Ran-yeong's spear.

Cha! Cha! Cha! Cha!

'What is this cold energy?'

Ran-yeong's eyes shook at the blade's movement. The skill Chun Yeowun used would release cold energy, but it wasn't strong enough to prevent her flames, so she tried to find the loop and break his blade.

And it wasn't just Ran-yeong who was shocked.

When the Art of Blade God was used, Blood Master wanted to slash Chun Yeowun into four pieces, but the black sword in his hand moved so quickly and eloquently and prevented the attack.

Clang! Clang! Clang! Clang!

'Did he just stop my attack without even moving?'

It was natural that she would be flustered. She wasn't sure how, but he managed to work with two swords together, and even prevent both incoming attacks without even getting a scratch on him? He blocked both the attacks simultaneously! But that wasn't it!

He even managed to perform such a technique while using two different energies.

‘He used both his hands to handle different energies’

Although Blood Master has been learning martial arts for a very long time, it was her first time witnessing a person unfold two entirely different energies with two hands at the same time. What was even more shocking was that the energies were high-level ones.

‘This guy... is dangerous’

‘He isn’t on the same level as us’

Although they were aiming to take down the shockingly appeared man, the women weren’t stupid. When Chun Yeowun managed to stop both their attacks, they decided to acknowledge that the man was dangerous for them to deal with.

‘He...’

‘I need to take him down’

Crrrrk!

Red scales began to form on Ran-yeong’s body, who had begun to use flames to wrap her both arms. The places where the scales began to form, soon released fire sparks, and in time she looked like she lit many fireworks on her body.

Crackle!

The heat she was releasing couldn’t be compared to what she was releasing before. The White Dragon Blade, which was releasing cold energy, was turning red because of the heat.

Chiiiiii!

With the White Dragon Blade turning red because of the heat, the heat reached Chun Yeowun's palm and turned the palm red.

"You, who deals with cold energy, can block this too? The Twelve Hellfire!"

Gooooo!

The twelve individual spheres of crackling fireworks rose around her, and then went towards the sky at the same moment, and exploded. It was a power that couldn't be compared to the flames she was using until a moment back.

Bang! Bang! Bang! Bang! Bang! Bang! Bang! Bang! Bang! Bang! Bang! Bang! Bang!

'Now is the perfect time!'

Without missing the opportunity, Blood Master too began to release a new sword. It was the fifth form of the Blade God Six Martial clan's – The Extreme Art of Blade God.

Crrrrk!

A sharp release of energy rose around as she used the sword from her waist. Gathering all the energy she could, she used Extreme Art of Blade God, which was a lot stronger than the attack, on the Imperial Palace's Guardians.

There were 24 types of trajectories emerging from all over the place without covering up the fire sphere, which was causing explosions.

“Die!”

Shhhhhh!

The moment she shouted, the energy swords moved at once along with the exploding fire sphere. The fire of Ran-yeong blasting through the hall so was the Blood Master's sword energies.

Bang! Bang! Bang! Bang! Bang!

As the explosion and the energy were aiming for the same spot of contact, a crack appeared on the floor because of the overflowing energy, and sparks flew in all directions.

‘Such tremendous power’

‘This much should be enough. Now, we need to create a gap’

Phat!

At the same time, both the women flew backwards to avoid getting caught up in the collision. The power of the two exquisite energies was beyond any imagination. It wasn't intended to be a mixed attack, but it seemed like a perfect combination of two Super Masters.

Swoosh!

When the combined attack was used, the whole place was being damaged.

The entire place was scorched in black soot because of the explosion which occurred and many huge pits were created before all rocks and debris flew and scattered around.

The point where the attack hit only released smoke, however, both the women didn't feel the need to check if the guard was alive or not. Facing such tremendous power, it would be difficult to even find the trace of the body.

'He must have turned into ash'

Blood Master clicked her tongue. She looked at Ran-yeong who was still looking at the point of impact.

'Who was he?'

There was no doubt that the Guard belonged to the Imperial Palace. But, he seemed to have joined forces with someone else. Thanks to that, the situation was under control, but Ran-yeong couldn't figure out why he entered the hall.

At that time, Ran-yeong asked her.

"That man from earlier, is he one of yours?"

"!?"

At her question, Blood Master was confused. Blood master couldn't hold back her question too and asked Ran-yeong.

"What nonsense is that? Weren't you the bitch who brought him along?"

"What?"

After hearing each other's questions, both women were confused. They both came to the conclusion that he wasn't an ally for any of them. So, what was the identity of the Guard?

'Hah...! I should have asked before I killed him'

Ran-yeong felt regret, but there was no way that she couldn't ask the dead, whose body was also gone. That was when Blood Master thought.

'It is better for this to happen. He was a nuisance anyway, and now I need to deal with the flame bitch, who is still here'

It wasn't an intended joint attack, but it was fortunate that the Guard had been taken down. The Blood Master didn't have a lot of time on her hands and wanted to kill this woman before taking the Blood of Qilin and escaping from the Imperial Palace.

Shh!

Blood Master spoke to Ran-yeong while taking aim.

"You are a lucky one. Now I only need to deal with you"

Clicking her tongue, Ran-yeong spoke to the Blood Master who seemed overconfident.

"That is funny. I would apply the same words to you. I had to do a joint attack with you since I knew that you could barely attack him"

Hweeeeing!

Flames burned more around Ran-yeong's body. Saying those words, both of Ran-yeong's hands were raised and the flame sphere rose again. It was a similar technique she used on the Guard.

"Huhu, do you think that it would work on me?"

"Well, we'll see whether it works or not..."

Creeeeee!

Before they could even finish their words, they felt something eerie in their senses. The two women abruptly looked at the source of the energy.

Huk!

It was the place where the joint attack had fallen.

The smoke was still rising due to the aftermath of the explosion but now, a weird energy made them feel a chill run down their spine.

“What the hell is going on?!”

“No way...”

It was weird. In the aftermath of that tremendous energy, there was no way the man could survive. The attack was so powerful that it was questionable if even the 5 great masters of the Blade God Six Martial clan could stop it.

But, that’s where they were wrong.

Cha! Cha! Cha! Cha!

“Ugh?”

The floor began to turn cold, from the point of impact, where the large pit formed. The entire cavity, which should have been hot and smoking, started turning cold and began to turn into ice.

However, the frost was black...

“The floor is cold and black?”

The both of them couldn't think of what to do facing this new and weird phenomenon and looked at the place from where the energy was coming from. Eventually the smoke went and someone appeared.

"N-No way!"

"He isn't dead?!"

Shockingly, from the smoke, rather than turning into ashes, Chun Yeowun stood tall. Of course, he wasn't completely fine.

His armor was scorched because of the heat, and his face along with other parts of his body, which were guarded, were full of burn marks and cuts, but there was something else.

'Ah! What's happening to the wounds?'

Tsuuuuuuuuu!

The burn marks and cuts on Chun Yeowun's body began to heal quickly. In And in an instant, they were visible no more, as if he wasn't wounded in the first place.

'What? He is...'

Such regeneration speed made Ran-yeong's expression harden. It looked much faster than her own regeneration speed, which was possible only after taking Blood of Qilin. As she looked at him, Chun Yeouwn spoke.

"I didn't know that the two of you, the Guardian of the Imperial Palace and the Blade God Six Martial clan members would join forces. Ugh... well, it doesn't matter. Now then, I will also do joint attacks from now on"

“What? Joint attacks?”

The two of them focused on the word joint attack. They couldn't feel another person apart from the Guard and them. So, what could he mean?

‘Nano’, Chun Yeowun called from Nano inside his mind.

‘Let’s go with Augmented Reality, Nano’

[Understood. Augment reality has been initiated for Master.]

Crrrrrk!

As the two women were looking around, white light particles began to form a line around them, creating augmented reality. As the augmented reality got initiated, Chun Yeowun raised his right hand towards them and blue light began to merge in the air.

Whiing!

“N-no way!”

Blood Master’s eyes began to tremble as her predictions were coming true. The blue light which was forming in the air began to take the form of a sword, which was...

“Air Sword!”

It was the Air Sword.

‘Condensing strong energy in the air without any other medium and calling for a sword?’

Anyone who has reached the stage of performing such a technique and executing the Air Sword would normally need a medium. A step after that, if one reached for the next level, they could create the sword energy in the air without even a medium, such people were called the Perfect Supreme Master in Wulin.

“Per- perfect Supreme Master?”

It was natural that Blood Master was astonished. In Wulin, the only ones who could deal with such a high technique were the five great masters. But that wasn’t the end.

Wooong!

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

The blue-colored energy wasn’t just condensing into one.

Rather, 12 swords were forming around Chun Yeowun.

“It makes no sense!”

Not one, but 12 swords! She was dumbfounded. She knew that he wasn’t normal, but he was turning out to be a monster. Even Ran-yeong, who was covered in flames, was at a loss of words as she witnessed what was happening in front of her eyes.

‘He... who the hell is he?!’

Chapter 363 - Incarnation of Qilin (3)

Chapter 363: Incarnation of Qilin (3)

Twelve majestic Air Swords rose, all the while, the tips of the swords pointing at her.

That was all it took to render Ran-yeong, who was considered the real Hidden Power of the Imperial Palace, and even Blood Master, the highest-ranking member of the Blade God Six Martial Clan, totally speechless.

‘Air Sword!’

To reach a level where one could actually use an air sword, it was something that even Ran-yeong who had lived for many years, had witnessed only once. However, even that hadn’t reached the level that Chun Yeowun was displaying. Chun Yeowun then warned the shocked women with a calm voice.

“Don’t you dare disappoint me”

Whoosh!

The twelve Air Swords around Chun Yeowun slowly moved ahead and split into two, with six swords being directed at each woman.

‘It’ll be dangerous for me to act now’

Ran-yeong had lived for nearly 200 years, but had never seen anything like this. The intensity of the energy in each sword was enough to render any of their attacks useless.

Chun Yeowun spoke to himself.

‘Panel!’

[Activating the Panel remote control function on the twelve Air Swords]

Beep Beep Beep Beep Beep!

Along with Nano’s response, the twelve red lights in the augmented reality aimed at the two women appeared. On the screen, the swords on the left were pointing towards the woman on the right and vice-versa, making it cross-shaped.

‘This isn’t the time to be shocked’

The eyes of the two women, who were previously shocked, turned serious after they came back to their senses. They were amazed at seeing Chun Yeowun, someone who had reached the Perfect Supreme Master level, perform such skills, but they knew that if they didn’t act, they would meet their doom.

The women might look young, but they were both veterans in war.

‘Think calmly’

Blood Master narrowed her eyes and looked at the 6 Air Swords aimed at her. It was a shocking scene and she knew that it was impossible to deal with them head-on.

She, who had reached the Supreme Master level, could defend against air swords, but she could at most only handle three of them with accurate precision.

‘Even a master of Qigong wouldn’t be able to handle six Air Swords. No matter how much of a master this man is, there is no way he can handle all twelve of them with precision’

Moreover, just using the Air Sword would consume a tremendous amount of internal energy. That meant that the battle depended on time. If the flame woman and Blood Master managed to defend against at least three Air Swords each, victory would be theirs.

‘It’s a simple plan, that isn’t based on attack, but it’s the best we’ve got’

Ran-yeong too had come to a similar conclusion. Although the man possessed monster-like ability, there was no way he could handle all twelve Air Swords.

‘Although we’re enemies, I just need to come to a truce with that bitch’, Ran-yeong thought as she glanced at Blood Master.

The question was how long would they be able to hold their ground, and would they be able to kill the ‘monster’ that stood before them.

‘Nice!’

Wheeeeing!

The flame spheres moved around from Ran-yeong to where Chun Yeowun stood. Since there were twelve Air Swords, she had to deal with six of them and she was capable enough to do it.

However, things don't always go as planned.

Chak!

Chun Yeowun, as if waiting for the right moment, released the twelve Air Swords towards them. As the swords shot out, the blue trails left by them remained in the air, showing the trajectories of the 12 swords.

Swoooooosh!

It was a spectacular sight as the swords rapidly approached the women.

'It's coming!'

Ran-yeong was ready and waiting for the attack as six Air Swords came towards her. The flame spheres, which were floating in the air, quickly flew towards the air swords, as if they were anti-ballistic missiles in the shape of spheres.

Shhhhhhhhhh!

The reason she had launched the flame spheres was to intercept the air swords and cause an explosion, destroying them in the process. And as she intended, the flame spheres, traveling two at a time flew towards the Air Sword and attempted to collide with them.

However, something unexpected happened.

'How is that possible?!'

Slash! Slash! Slash!

Bang! Bang! Bang!

As shocking as it was, the flying swords tore through the flame spheres. As if the swords were being controlled manually, they gently cut the flame spheres to avoid explosions.

‘Is he really controlling all of them?’

Ran-yeong’s eyes trembled in shock and fear. If he really could control all of them, then it meant that she was dealing with six individual monster swords.

“Shit!”

Ran-yeong struck her fist at the ground, in an attempt to counter the incoming air sword.

Bang!

With a crack in the ground, red lava began to flow out, and soon, a pillar of flame soared.

Heeeeing! Crackle!

Thanks to the soaring pillar of flame, the Air Sword attempting to kill her was blocked. The pillar of flame had actually turned into an iron wall, which managed to shield her from danger.

‘Even if it is an Air Sword, it is still made of energy! This pillar of flame is so strong that even the strongest sword is unable to penetrate it!’

There was no need to deal with the swords one after another. After living for 200 years, her experience was incomparable to that of the other two.

Crackle! Crackle! Wheeng!

The Air Swords tried to go through the pillar of flames, but they were blocked. The corners of Ran-yeong's lips went up. As expected, the Air Swords were only capable of stabbing and cutting.

'If this is it... what good can it... ugh!'

Swoosh!

The Air Swords, which couldn't penetrate the pillar of flame, began to spread away from the pillar.

At that moment,

[Of the 6 Air Swords, 3 of them executed the Sword Force of the Heavenly Demon and the other 3 used the 24 Demon Swords]

Suddenly, the Air Swords surrounding the pillar of flame began emitting different types of qi.

All of them were different swords!

The 24 Demon Swords and the Sword Force of Heavenly Demon were said to be the strongest skills in the Demonic Cult.

"What! No way!"

Ran-yeong couldn't hide her shock as she saw this scene unfold in front of her. This monster was using different techniques to make sure that the swords were used to their maximum.

Chhhhh!

In an instant, the two great skills of the Demonic Cult rushed towards the pillar of flame. And the situation changed when the six swords of different natures collided with it.

The pillar of flame began to waver and gaps soon appeared on it. The moment the gaps started appearing, 2 swords went through them and rushed for Ran-yeong, who was hiding behind the pillar.

‘He’s a monster! But does he think I’ll let myself get hit?’

Wheeng!

Ran-yeong urgently reacted as flames burst forth from both her hands and it wasn’t just the flames.

Her method of using the flames had changed, unlike the soaring flames from before, this time, the flames held some softness. She was holding onto the flames as if it was a delicate flower that was blooming.

Cha! Cha! Cha! Cha! Clang!

Sparks flew in all directions as her technique and the Air Swords clashed together. However, Ran-yeong’s eyes suddenly caught something, while she was focusing on blocking the swords.

‘What is this sword?’

Unlike Ran-yeong, who was trying her best to block the swords, Blood Master on the other side was facing attacks from 6 Air Swords and tried her best to prevent herself from getting hit with her own swordsmanship.

Clang! Cha! Cha! Cha! Clang!

As a skilled master, she managed to counter the Air Swords which were moving at intervals, and with each collision, sparks flew.

“As long as you are using the Air Sword you’ll never be able to enter the gaps and hit us!”

The Blood Master shouted with confidence.

The sword she wielding in her right hand moved so fast that it left an afterimage that was visible to the naked eye.

However, if the Air Swords were only stabbing and slashing, this method would have worked.

“What?”

The Air Swords, which had previously only been stabbing, suddenly started to move differently. The Blood Master couldn’t help but stay still for a moment.

Shhhh!

“Ugh! How can that be!?”

While in shock, the 6 Air Swords began to use different techniques. As if the 6 swords were working together, each sword displayed a unique technique that complemented the other swords.

‘It-it can’t be!’

The Blood Master was so confused and shocked that she went speechless. Each of the six Air Swords had unique movements because Chun Yeowun was controlling them.

If he was suddenly going to use six different kinds of swords, then the result of a one-on-one battle was extremely obvious.

Cha! Cha! Cha! Cha!

“Ugh!”

Using her force qi, she began using a new formation, only to get hit by a sword. She had already jumped back two feet, but the force of the sword was so strong that she was pushed ten steps further.

Swoosh!

Not giving her any time to breathe, each of the six swords moved ahead with no signs of stopping. Each sword looked invincible in her eyes. Why? Because each sword was displaying absolute perfection.

‘What? Why does this swordsmanship seem... familiar?’

Her eyes shook as she tried her best to stop the swords from hitting her. At first, she was only shocked by Chun Yeowun’s control over the Air Swords, but the more she saw the movements of the sword, the more familiar it felt.

‘This swordsmanship is...’

It couldn’t be wrong. The sword qi, which the Air Swords were emitting, resembled the technique that the old man had used to prevent the Blade God of Blade God Six Martial clan from moving ahead in Wulin.

Moreover, unlike that old man’s sword qi, which was completely unstable, this was the complete opposite. That old man had identified himself as the Lord of the Demonic Cult, which caused Blood Master to realize something.

“Demonic Cult! This man is from the Demonic Cult!”

At last, she managed to find out the identity of the Guard in golden armor. From what she knew, there was only one person who could use such a technique.

‘Long hair and pale white face...’

It was similar to what the remnants of the spies who had been planted in the Demonic Cult had told her.

‘Chun Yeowun!’

It must be Chun Yeowun, the current Lord of the Demonic Cult. The man who had caused their plans go to waste numerous times.

Blood Master bit down hard on her lip.

She was even more shocked after learning his true identity. If the plan had to go smoothly, then the Lord of the Demonic Cult had to be in the Cult. This would also allow them to proceed with their plan in the Imperial Palace, without any trouble.

Even if he wasn’t there, how did a person who should’ve been preparing for a festival appear in the Imperial Palace?

Clang! Clang! Clang!

However, at that moment it wasn’t that important. If the person in front of her really was the Lord of the Demonic Cult, then the situation had changed.

She had to inform that ‘person’ that the plan had gone wrong and then get punished for not following it through, however, it was impossible to do both of them.

‘I need to do something about this! Damn it!’

She would die if she made the wrong decision. She thought that she would only have to hold on until the other woman died, but she had never imagined that they would be in such huge trouble.

And it was then...

Sheeeeeee~

“Euk!”

She felt something behind her ear, as she glanced sideways to see what it was. A flame soared high as she was pushed towards the pond which was filled with hot water.

‘When did I get this far?’

She hadn’t even realized that she’d been pushed back by the six Air Swords and their endless attacks. It marks on the ground showed that she’d been pushed back by more than 20 steps.

Wheeeng!

Cha! Cha! Cha! Cha!

Thanks to getting pushed back, she could see the image of Ran-yeong competing with the other swords.

It was violent. The surrounding area was completely devastated by the flames and many sword marks were made on the ground.

She could see Ran-yeong in clear distress.

‘If this goes on, we’ll fall out of exhaustion before that man runs out of energy’

She wondered what she could do. How could she overcome the hopeless situation?

Chiiik!

“Argh!”

It was difficult to hold her balance as swords kept pushing her back because she was too concentrated on overcoming the situation.

‘Shit! I came all this way for the treasure... shit!’

It was then that an idea popped into her mind. The Blood of the Qilin was in the pond behind her.

‘My situation isn’t good. I have no other choice but to take a gamble.’

She had no idea what effects the Qilin’s Blood would have on her, but she was so desperate that she was willing to gamble it all.

At least with the Qilin’s Blood, she’d would experience an increase in her qi. It was a risk worth taking.

“Haaa!”

Blood Master was getting excited as she quickly grabbed onto the sword in her hands and then slammed it into the ground. The formation she had just used had been passed on to her by ‘that person’ very recently.

Bang!

At that moment, the sword split into eight branches, and just like the Air Swords, it divided into eight afterimages. It was the Eight Swords of the Blade God.

Cha! Cha! Cha! Cha! Cha!

The afterimage of the eight swords spread out in an instant and created a devastating force pushing out the Air Swords which were coming at her.

‘This is it!’

At last. She had managed to create a gap with her skills. Without wasting any time, she tried to use the new technique to gain some time.

However, at that exact moment.

Chak!

“Kyaaaaaak!”

Just when she was about to turn, something cold passed through her right arm. She had definitely pushed away the Air Swords, so what had just arrived next to her?

Chak!

‘AHHHHH! My arm!’

The coldness she had felt a moment before, was due to her arm being cut off. Her arm, which was still holding onto the sword, fell onto the hot ground.

“Ugh! How is that possible?”

She could not understand anything. She lifted her head with an incomprehensible expression, and shockingly, Chun Yeowun was in front of her eyes.

“Did you think I would let you do what you were planning?”

“H-how did you do that?!”, the Blood Master was too shocked to speak.

To deal with twelve Air Swords would require extreme concentration, so he shouldn't be able to move even a single step, but he done exactly that. How?

Swoosh!

“No!”

She was shocked, but at one point, the six Air Swords which she had temporarily blocked flew around Chun Yeowun and surrounded her. It had become a truly desperate situation.

‘This can't be possible! He isn't supposed to be able to move whilst using so many Air Swords!’

It wasn't one single Air Sword, it was twelve Air Swords! Of course, they didn't know that Nano was assisting Chun Yeowun.

“Yo-you...are you a monster?”

No matter how much she thought about it, Chun Yeowun's skills were beyond what humans could achieve. Even if the best of men trained, such results would still be considered a myth, something they could never achieve. However, Chun Yeowun was able to do it.

She bit her lips trying hard to bear with the pain. What displeased her more was that she was acting out of despair and not fear. Chun Yeowun, who had cut off her right arm however, was extremely calm.

‘To cut off my right arm!’

Although the right arm was cut off, it was still possible for her to use the sword with her left hand, since she was extremely skilled. Furthermore, he was right in front of her.

She carefully thought of a way to kill the man with her left hand as she gathered energy to her hand.

Ch! Tuk!

“AHHHHHHHHH!”

Before she could even gather the energy, her left arm also fell off. Her scream would’ve torn off the eardrums of others. As her only remaining arm got cut off, Chun Yeowun spoke heartlessly to the woman who was in pain and confusion.

“Don’t say I didn’t warn you”

“Kuuuuu... Haaa.... Haa...”

She thought she could let loose, but that had turned out to be a blundering mistake.

Chun Yeowun had gained experience after confronting strong enemies in the past. One of the things he had learnt was to never relax until the enemy was dead.

This rule of his usually made Chun Yeowun’s opponents think that he had neither blood nor tears.

“My arm... my arm! Kya...!”

With her both arms cut off, it was safe to assume that recovery was impossible for her. This truth only made her feel even more miserable and painful.

The physical pain didn’t last long.

With an anxious voice and pale face, she shouted

“Haaa... haaa... the person who reached the Perfect Supreme Master level is so scared of a woman that would cut her arms off? How funny is that!”

With a cold voice, Chun Yeowun responded

“You aren’t a woman when you have a weapon, and when desperate, you deem yourself as a woman?”

“What? You! How dare you! Ahhhh! Die!!!”

She was so upset that she forgot about her lost arms and grunted through her teeth like a mad dog.

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

“You need to die”

Cha! Cha! Cha! Cha!

“Kuakkkkk!”

The six Air Swords that surrounded her, stabbed into her body from all sides.

As she got pierced by the swords, she looked like a hedgehog with swords piercing out through the back of her body. She fell to the ground, with her gaze full of hatred.

Chapter 364 - Be the Flame, Hu Bong

Chapter 364 Be the Flame, Hu Bong

Slash!

Blood Master had been killed by the Air Sword, dying miserably before falling into the pond which had water bubbling due to the heat.

Bubble! Bubble!

'This is unusual. Why isn't it bubbling now?'

Thanks to her, Chun Yeowun got to take a better look at the pond.

It was strange enough that a flame was burning in the centre of the pond. The water just boiled and the pond didn't dry out.

Chun Yeowun wasn't affected by the heat thanks to the techniques he was using, but he still felt the temperature, so he decided to take a couple steps back.

[The user has 38% percent of energy remaining.]

Nano's voice reminded him of his energy usage.

It wasn't like he had been attacking for a long time, but even after reaching the Perfect Supreme Master level, such strong attacks were still burdensome.

'What is left now is to take down that woman whose body is on fire.'

Hweeng!

In the past he had met a woman whose body was deadly cold, but meeting someone with fire on their body was a first for Chun Yeowun.

The Guardian, Ran-yeong, was struggling to deal with the Air Swords which were being controlled by Nano, however, she was doing a lot better at defending herself than Blood Master had.

Clang! Clang! Clang! clang!

The sword qi from the Air Sword permeated the hall.

With every passing second, defending herself became more and more difficult.

It was a natural outcome, she was dealing with the 24 Demon Swords and Sword Force of Heavenly Demon, which were exerting tremendous energy.

Puhk!

"Ugh!"

The trajectory of the swords which were leaving behind a blue-hue, cut through Ran-yeong's ribs.

As a result, she ended up staggering for a moment, which made another sword cut the side of her left thigh.

Slash!

“Ahhh!”

However, she didn't feel any pain. Ignoring her injuries, she raised her hands to prevent more swords from reaching her.

'Huh... the wounds?'

Upon looking closely, Chun Yeowun found that her wounds were healing. It looked very much like regeneration.

It wasn't as fast as the freshener regeneration that Nano provided him, but the speed was commendable.

The flame around her body didn't seem to interfere or halt the process of regeneration.

'Is that why she's been able to remain standing until now?'

The rapid regeneration and not being able to feel pain were the only driving force which kept her on her feet.

Of course, it wasn't just that. It would be no exaggeration to say that Ran-yeong could be considered as a top ranked martial artist in Wulin.

'But this needs to end.'

There was no more reason for Chun Yeowun to stand still, especially after killing Blood Master.

Woong!

Blue light began to condense around the air, and 6 sword qi Air Swords generated again.

Even the five great masters of Wulin, would struggle against twelve swords and declare surrender.

Would this woman be able to withstand it?

Swoosh!

Just when Chun Yeowun had raised his hand to bring an end to the battle.

“Kuakkk!”

A familiar voice groaned.

The sound came from the opposite end of the entrance.

‘Hu Bong?’

When he looked over, he saw that Hu Bong had been caught by someone, a man who seemed to be in terrible condition. Seeing the blood on the man, Chun Yeowun felt that it was a miracle that he could still stand.

The man, whose arm seemed to have been crushed to a pulp, had his dagger at Hu Bong’s neck with a threatening look in his eyes.

“Ha... ah... ah... damn it...”

‘Tch, damn it! What kind of situation is this?’

Having gotten himself caught, Hu Bong couldn’t hide how embarrassed he was.

He was the one who did run down right away after hearing explosions coming from the lowest level.

Well, the sound had actually been caused by Chun Yeowun Overbearingly making a hole through the ceiling.

However, just as he'd jumped in to help Chun Yeowun, he ended up getting ambushed by a man who'd jumped out from the piles of stones (The aide of Blood Master, who'd been assumed dead).

"Ugh, you..."

"Shut up! If you don't want to die, don't act up!"

Hu Bong slowly began to gather energy to escape from the man's grasp, but it was useless.

Hu Bong had reached the Super Master Level Warrior, but his opponent seemed to be skilled.

Before he could even act, he got stabbed in his right shoulder and another warning was given.

Puhk!

"Kuakkk!"

"Didn't I tell you not to act up! If you move once more, I'll cut your throat!"

The cold dagger, pressed dangerously against his skin.

Eventually, Hu Bong decided to not rebel.

'Who is that guy?'

Asked the man with labored breaths, due to his injuries and crushed arm.

They'd assumed he'd died, however, he'd just barely managed to survive the falling rocks and escape with his life.

He had injuries all over his body, but was shocked at the amount of luck he had on his side. He was injured, but had also been able to subdue Hu Bong, who was of a higher level than him.

'Blood Master is dead...'

His grasp around Hu Bong tightened as he wondered what had to be done.

He'd thought of escaping after the treasure got taken by Blood Master, but then he'd witnessed her arms being cut off.

'It makes no sense. He killed that monstrous woman so easily?'

A monster suppressed another monster.

In a short moment, he had numerous things to worry about.

Should he keep hiding behind the stones and pretend to be dead, and wait for them all to disappear?

'There is no way that monster wouldn't notice my presence.'

Seeing how he'd dealt with the two women, it was obvious that that monster would detect him.

That was when, from the piles of stone, someone called 'Lord!', whilst trying to enter, that was when he'd decided to take this opportunity.

"Hah... What is your relationship with him?"

“... you just told me to shut up a moment ago...”

“Don’t play with me, I’m not in the mood.”

Shhh!

Even before he could warn Hu Bong, Chun Yeowun, who was on the other side of the hall, appeared in front of them.

He was so fast that the man didn’t even notice.

‘Th-this man is a real monster.’

If Blood Master couldn’t do anything, then what could a simple aide do?

“Lo-Lord!”

Hu Bong, who’d been caught by an enemy out of nowhere, cried out with a sad expression.

He knew that he had unintentionally turned into a burden.

Gooooooo!

The mood in the hall didn’t seem good.

Although there was distance between the aide and Chun Yeowun, it felt like swords were ready to kill him at any moment.

And his anxiety couldn’t help but make him nervous without realizing. The man, who was trying to be calm, gulped without his knowledge.

‘Calm down. This man has to be a member of that monster’s group.’

He was afraid, but he could think of a couple things.

The captured man had called the monster of a man 'Lord', which meant that he had to be related to him.

With stone cold eyes, staring at him, Chun Yeowun spoke.

"Let him go."

"Ahhhh... Lord!"

Hu Bong's lips trembled at the angry look on Yeowun's face.

He had been serving Yeowun for five years now, for Yeowun to show such a face, meant that he was a cherished subordinate.

"Bullshit! Don't come closer! If you move a step further, I will kill this man!"

The man said with a tense expression.

It was obvious what would happen if he released Hu Bong.

Gooooo!

'Kuek. I told him not to move...'

The energy Chun Yeowun was releasing only grew stronger, which only instilled more fear.

He decided to act, which meant that there was no chance for retreat.

"I'm wa-warning you! If you want to save your subordinate, get the Blood of Qilin to me. And if you pledge to release me, I will let this man go."

He raised his head and pointed to the burning flames on the rock in the middle of the pound.

He wasn't sure if the threat would work or not, but it was the only option he had.

'If he cares for this person, he will do it.'

Seeing how angry the monster before him was, it was clear that he must cherish his subordinate.

No matter how angry he looked, if he thought rationally, he would have no choice but to accept those terms.

But there was one thing he didn't know.

Ordinary people may make sacrifices to protect people or things precious to them.

However, Chun Yeowun was a person of the Demonic Cult to the core.

"... how about I suggest one thing?"

"Su-suggest?"

"If you let Hu Bong go now, I'll kill you as painlessly as possible. But if you don't, I will kill you so painfully that you'll regret being born into this world."

'!?'

The words from Yeowun made the man go silent.

He'd thought that Yeowun would come up with another peace suggestion, not threaten his life!

Moreover, he had decided to kill him in both options.

‘What the hell is with him?’

If this was how the man before him operated, then threatening him would be of no use.

The opponent is stronger, and his suggestions only end with death.

However, something unexpected happened.

[Only 15% of energy remains. I can no longer maintain Air Swords’ trajectory.]

‘!!!’

Swoosh!

Along with the voice of Nano, the Air Swords, which were being operated by the remote system, halted.

It was all because of the time which got wasted due to the worthless threats of the man.

‘Shit!’

Chun Yeowun’s eyes trembled for a moment.

The energy that was consumed in order to maintain the Air Sword was beyond one’s imagination.

If Nano consumed any more energy to maintain the Air Swords, Chun Yeowun knew that it would cause a heavy setback for him when dealing with the remaining enemies, and so the Air Sword’s remote control was stopped.

Wheeng!

As a result, Ran-yeong, who was dealing with six Air Swords, got some space to breathe.

Ran-yeong, who'd been freed, began approaching Chun Yeowun without hesitation.

She seemed visibly angry as she ran with flames all over her body.

'It-it is dangerous!

Hu Bong, who was the first to look at her movements, instinctively judged that it would be dangerous to get in contact with her.

In a short moment, Hu Bong bit his lip.

Deciding that he shouldn't be a burden, he tried to attack his captor, raising the energy in his hand, he decided to throw away his life to save his Lord.

Woong!

"Y-You!"

There was no way that his captor wouldn't notice this.

When the qi began to rise from Hu Bong, he instantly felt threatened making him subconsciously act and ended up cutting HU Bong's neck with the dagger.

Slash!

"Kuak!"

Hu Bong, whose neck had been slashed, fell forward.

Drops of blood scattered around as he fell.

'Lord... behind you...'

Falling face down, Hu Bong pointed his finger somewhere.

He was dying, yet he desperately tried to inform his Lord of something.

"Hu Boonnnngggg!"

Thud!

Yeowun, who couldn't hold in his anger anymore, dashed forward, instantly covering ten steps.

'Fa-fast!'

The eyes of the captor trembled.

He'd ended up acting without thought, so he had to defend himself.

Chuk!

"Kuak!"

A black sword in the air moved with the speed of lightning, and the arm which was holding the dagger got cut off.

Before the severed arm even fell to the ground, Chun Yeowun made the black sword fall to the ground

Kwak!

"Huak?"

The energy his hands were releasing was overpowering.

The energy was so strong that anyone in the way would be cut down.

“Kuakk, what, what are you doing?”

“I told you that you’d regret it!”

“Pl-please just kill me...”

Thud!

“Kuakkkkkkkkk!”

Chun Yeowun’s finger broke through the man’s skull.

It was a lot more painful than his arm being cut off, it was indescribably painful!

The kind of pain no one would wish on anyone.

Ta! Ta! Ta!

‘Damn it!’

He wanted to inflict more pain, but Yeowun immediately sensed something fast approaching from behind.

With his finger pushed into the man’s skull, Chun Yeowun held him by his shoulder.

Tak!

‘N-no way!’

Blood was oozing out from the skull, and his eyes were wet with the tears he cried.

The man realized what Chun Yeowun was planning to do.

“No, NOOOOO!”

Crack! Swoosh!

“Kuakkk...”

The scream didn’t end.

Chun Yeowun, held onto the captor’s shoulders, flexed his muscles and tore the head away from the body.

Along with the head, the spine was also gruesomely torn from the body.

The man felt no pain, but as he’d been warned, it was the most painful and cruel death.

Phak!

Chun Yeowun threw the head onto the floor and immediately reached towards the ground .

Swoosh! Chak!

The black sword which had fallen to the floor, whizzed back into his hands.

Chun Yeowun, who’d retrieved his sword, spun around, and threw it at Ran-yeong, who was coming for him.

But then,

Thud!

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

‘!?’

Ran-yeong, who surely looked like she wanted to attack him, suddenly fell to her knees.

Chun Yeowun wondered what she was up to, but she still kept her head down and shouted so loud that the hall echoed with every word from her.

“Ahhh! Have you finally come looking for me? The Lord of the Demonic Cult, he who is the Heavenly Father of the Great Demonic Cult!”

TL Notes: The author states that Hu Bong level is “Super Master Level” (초급대) which was used by the previous translator in c268, we have no reference in the cultivation levels stated in the wiki so we decided to go with it.

Chapter 365 - Be the Flame, Hu Bong (2)

Chapter 365: Be the Flame, Hu Bong (2)

Hweeeng!

Ran-yeong was still engulfed in flames as she bowed her head.

Chun Yeowun couldn't understand the reason behind her sudden change in behaviour.

A person considered to be the hidden power of the Imperial palace and the guardian of the treasure in the Royal Shrine, had suddenly revealed herself to be a member of the Demonic Cult.

"... what the hell is this?"

At Chun Yeowun's words, she lifted her head and said :

"Before that, aren't there more urgent matters at hand?"

Her eyes, which were burning in flames, looked over at Hu Bong, who was lying motionlessly on the floor.

Yeowun sensed no hostility from her, but he couldn't guess what she was planning.

'What do I do?'

The right move would be to defeat her.

However, checking on Hu Bong's condition came before that.

"Do a good job to get accepted."

"Please put your doubts aside."

As she felt the doubt in his words, she gathered the flames on her body.

As the flames left her body, her naked body, covered in red scales was revealed.

With no clothes covering her body, the only thing visible were the red scales that covered her body.

Phat!

She slowly gathered the alien energy emanating from her body, whilst Chun Yeowun quickly moved to Hu Bong's side.

"Hu Bong!"

He gently turned Hu Bong's body towards him. Hu Bong's face was covered in the blood that flowed from his neck.

Blood was gushing from his mouth, as his entire body convulsed.

Like a person on the verge of death, his eyes were losing focus and his body was slowly growing cold.

"No. Hu Bong."

"I... I... ugh..."

Hu Bong wanted to speak with Chun Yeowun who was right in front of him, but with his neck being cut, he simply couldn't.

Placing his hand on the bloody throat, Chun Yeoun shouted.

“Don't speak!”

“Haha...”

His mouth was moving, and Chun Yeowun could understand what he wanted to say.

‘My... my... Lo... rd...’

Even though he was at death's door, he was still calling for his Lord.

He was Chun Yeowun's first subordinate, and a man with whom Chun Yeowun had shared his difficulties and hardships.

There was no way he could let that man die so vainly.

“I can't let this happen! I am never going to let you die!”

Tap! Tap! Tap! Tap!

After pressing on the blood points to make sure that the bleeding stopped, he gathered internal energy onto his hand.

His intention was to close the wound on Hu Bong's throat by cauterizing it with heat.

“Hold on!”

Cheeeeeek!

“Kuuuuuak!”

As he touched his throat, Hu Bong released a stifled scream that was filled with pain.

Although he had managed to heal the slashed skin, the dagger had gone too deep.

Chun Yeowun asked Nano.

‘Nano. What is his condition...’

He was going to ask for Nano to scan, when someone appeared beside him.

It was Ran-yeong.

As she approached them with intense energy radiating from her body, Chun Yeowun warned her with a face filled with anger.

“Don’t you dare come closer!”

He was so enraged that he looked like he would cut her down if she took another step closer.

Realizing that she would be pushing her luck, she hurriedly dropped onto one knee and spoke.

“I know that you can’t suddenly get yourself to believe me. However, since a member of the Cult is in danger, can you please try to trust me?”

Chun Yeowun was racking his brains as he looked at her.

Even if Nano checked his condition right away, there was no guarantee that Hu Bong’s urgent situation could be treated.

Chun Yeowun asked her.

“What do you plan on doing?”

“I will need help from my Lord.”

“My help?”

“We need to hurry, I’ll explain later.”

Ran-yeong moved closer and hugged Hu Bong, who was clearly dying.

If Hu Bong was in his normal condition, he would have gotten flustered at the feeling of a woman’s touch, but with him being almost dead, he showed no reaction at all.

With his breath weakening, it seemed like he would stop breathing any moment.

Phat!

Holding Hu Bong, she headed towards the pond where a huge flame was burning.

As she approached the boiling pond, the scorching heat could be seen visibly surrounding her.

Hu Bong, who was on the verge of death, couldn’t even feel the scorching heat.

Tak!

Ran-yeong laid him down about eight steps away from the pond.

“Please wait a moment.”

She immediately ran to the pond, and without any hesitation, dipped her hands into it to gather the hot water.

Maybe thanks to her fire resistance, the water didn't burn her in the slightest.

After gathering the water, she rushed over to where Hu Bong was.

Chun Yeowun, who curiously watched all that, asked.

"What is that?"

"Diluted Qilin's blood."

"Qilin's Blood? That is the Blood of a Qilin?"

He thought that it was simply a pond of boiling water.

However, the entire pond was full of Blood of Qilin.

How huge had the Qilin been that its blood could fill the entire pond?

'Transparent?'

Normally, blood would be red, but the steaming liquid in the pond was transparent.

"This Qilin Blood is too dangerous to be touched. The First Emperor of the Empire used 10,000-year-old snow from the North to cool it down, and this is what it turned into."

If the pond had Qilin's Blood, which was diluted in 10,000-year-old-snow, then what was the huge flame in the middle of the pond?

He was in doubt, but the priority now was saving Hu Bong.

“What are you going to do with this?”

“I noticed that Lord used extremely cold energy a while ago. I’d like you to use your cold energy on the Qilin’s Blood?”

This is what she’d meant by needing his help.

It was to cool the diluted Qilin’s Blood.

“Even if the Qilin’s Blood is diluted, it’s still very effective at regenerating physical damage. However, the heat is too strong even after so much dilution, it would be difficult for any man to withstand this.”

It was a side effect of the Qilin’s Blood.

‘If a man with strong yang energy consumed it, he wouldn’t be able to withstand the heat and would instead end up getting injured. As a result, only the court ladies had scales and flames.’

Chun Yeowun, who realized this, asked her in an angry voice.

“Then, isn’t it dangerous for him?”

“It is, but only when taken in huge quantities, and if cooled, such a small amount can be safely consumed.”

Based on what she’d said, he realized that she hadn’t tried it before.

Although he didn’t fully believe her, there was nothing else that Chun Yeowun could do. The water had to be cooled as she requested.

Tssshhh!

Chun Yeowun extended his hand, whilst white frost slowly began forming on his hand.

The cold energy was slowly spreading into the diluted Qilin's Blood. As the steam rose, the blood gradually cooled little by little.

'Ah! It's cooling down.'

Ran-yeong's eyes sparkled.

She was worried about the consequences of the plan failing. Thankfully, the blood cooled successfully.

The water that had been boiling until a moment ago, had grown lukewarm.

"I'll put it in my mouth."

Chun Yeowun silently nodded, and she immediately put the Qilin's Blood into her mouth.

'Huh?'

She then covered Hu Bong's lips with her own as she transferred the Blood into his mouth and down his throat.

With him being unconscious, Hu Bong couldn't swallow on his own, leaving her with no choice but to deliver the blood directly through mouth to mouth.

What if he woke in the middle of the process?

His first kiss had ended up being with a woman whose body and face were covered in red scales.

Gulp! Gulp!

The Qilin's Blood rushed into Hu Bong's throat, and then gradually disappeared into his body.

All they could do now was hope that the blood would have the desired regenerative effect.

They didn't have to wait long to know if it had worked.

"Ah..."

Chun Yeowun gasped.

Hu Bong's pale face, and his shallow breath had begun returning to normal.

His body temperature began to rise as well.

"Haaa... haaa... haaa"

Even his breathing grew deeper and more stable.

Looking down at his neck, the skin, which had been burnt by Chun Yeowun's Qi, gradually started changing little by little.

The effects were happening a lot quicker than they'd expected.

'If this is how effective the diluted blood is, then how great would the real blood be?'

His gaze turned towards Ran-yeong, who was covered in scales.

At that moment, Yeowun began wondering if she had consumed the real Qilin's Blood.

Ran-yeong suddenly called for Chun Yeowun's attention.

“Lord. Please step away from him for a moment.”

“?”

“The flames in his body will grow stronger now, I need to control it so that it doesn’t fade away.”

The woman was well aware of the changes that the diluted Qilin’s Blood caused, and its effects, probably because she had witnessed it, when the court ladies had consumed it.

That was clear when she asked Chun Yeowun for help to cool down the blood.

He himself confirmed that Hu Bong was recovering, so he nodded his head and did as she requested. The doubt in his mind had slowly begun to subside.

Tak!

Ren-Yeong then made Hu Bong, who was recovering very quickly, sit cross legged with his hands behind his back.

That was when something passed through Chun Yeowun’s mind.

‘The Qilin’s Blood can regenerate a damaged body?’

His eyes hastily turned towards the pond.

The place he was looking at was the spot where the arms of Blood Master had been cut down, and her body had sunk into the pond.

‘Am I just worrying without a reason?’

Chun Yeowun’s eyes narrowed.

No matter how strong the regenerative effect was, would the Qilin's Blood be able to bring someone back from the dead?

He was in a lot of doubt, but decided not to waste his time thinking about it.

At the bottom of the pond...

The body of Blood Master, whose arms had been cut off, lifelessly sank to the bottom.

With the water so hot, her skin should have been burnt, but her body was completely fine except for her face that was full of red blisters.

Bubble! Bubble!

In a lifeless corpse that showed no signs of movement, a strange and sudden change began to occur.

The wounds from the Air Sword began healing at a rapid pace.

Red scales then also began forming on and surrounding the wounds.

Sususususu!

The change was happening very quickly.

A short while, she slowly opened her eyes.

She was in deep shock.

'Didn't I die?'

She had definitely suffered fatal injuries that she wouldn't be able to recover from, and had been pushed into the pond by the Lord of the Demonic Cult.

How was she alive!?

'This is?'

She was curious about her current location. She was confident that she was in hot water, however she didn't seem to need to breathe in it.

Unexpectedly, the hot water was actually very comfortable to her, and she couldn't feel any damage from the heat at all.

'Ahhh! I found it! This is Qilin's' Blood!.

Blood Master was absolutely convinced that she had found Qilin's Blood.

She had been blaming herself for dying so absurdly, but she was surprisingly still alive.

She touched her face repetitively to make sure it was all real.

'My inner energy seems to have improved.'

It wasn't on a tremendous level, but it was higher and purer than before.

Moreover, she also had fire like the woman Ran-yeong, the guardian of the place.

But the most insanely shocking thing was.

'My left arm?'

Her left arm, which had been severed, had unbelievably started to regenerate.

Red scales had begun appearing all along her arm.

She had by some miracle sunk to the same location as her arm, and the regeneration ability of the Qilin's Blood had pulled it over and began restoring it.

'If I try to approach the right arm, it might be possible to regenerate it as well.'

It was nothing but a hunch.

As her left arm recovered, she swam to the surface in great anticipation.

She wasn't sure how long she had been inside, but a long time must have passed for the Blood to miraculously heal her fatal wounds.

'Chun Yeowun! You thought that you killed me. But I survived. Huh! If I meet You again, I swear I'll make you pay!'

Phut!

As she reached the top, a big surprise greeted her.

Dum! Dum! Dum!

'Ah?'

Blood Master's eyes widened seeing what was unfolding in front of her eyes..

Her eyes lost focus as she looked at 12 Air Swords floating in the air, pointing towards her, ready to end her life at any time.

‘Th-This can’t...this can’t be...’

That was when someone’s voice entered her ears.

“My intuition did not disappoint me, so you are still alive.”

“!?”

There was no way her ears could ever forget that nightmarish voice.

Chun Yeowun.

Her face distorted as she turned to look in the direction of the voice.

“I’ll make sure you die for eternity this time.”

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

And the death penalty heartlessly fell.

The 12 Air Swords slashed down at her all at once, as if they were waiting for that very moment.

Slash! Slash! Slash! Slash! Slash!

Slash! Slash! Slash! Slash! Slash!

Slash!! Slash!!!

Chapter 366 - Be the Flame, Hu Bong (3)

Chapter 366: Be the Flame, Hu Bong (3)

‘Im-Impossible!’

She went pale as she realized that the regeneration process she’d just gone through had been useless .

‘Ch-Chun...Chun Yeowun! Shit!’

During the first battle, Blood Master hadn’t been able to escape the attacks of six Force Qi Air Swords attacking her simultaneously. She’d struggled until her last breath, but had easily gotten her arms torn off.

And now, in such a defenceless state, she had to face twelve of those overpowered weapons, not to mention that she was missing one arm.

Puhk! Puhk! Puhk!

“Ughhhhhh!”

Her entire body was slashed and stabbed in the most merciless way possible.

Her injuries should be fatal as the number of swords had doubled.

However, she frowned.

‘Why doesn’t it hurt?’

She was sure that her entire body had been stabbed by Air Swords, but strangely enough, she didn’t feel any kind of pain.

However, because of the attacks, her flesh had been mutilated and her body had been paralyzed.

‘I, I need to re-enter the pond!’

Her instincts told her that heading back into the pond was the only way to survive.

She struggled to move her numb legs, but in vain.

“Didn’t you hear me? I said I’ll make sure you die!”

Chun Yeowun extended his left hand and moved his hands as if pulling on something.

Her body that had been pierced by multiple Air Swords, got pulled away from the pond’s outskirts.

‘Wh-what the.....?’

She tried her best to resist, but it was a futile effort.

Although her internal energy had risen thanks to the Qilin’s Blood, Yeowun, who had reached the Perfect Supreme Master level, was vastly stronger of her.

Puhk!

She got pulled forward and was made to forcibly kneel in front of Chun Yeowun.

The expression of Blood Master, one of the Blade God Six Martial clan leaders, was one of pure despair.

Her eyes had fallen to the ground.

‘What is this ugly energy?’

Even before she had fallen into the pond, she had felt that energy, but she hadn’t considered seriously.

However, now that she was so close to Chun Yeowun, the energy she felt made her feel like she was walking down the path of death.

The energy seemed like a black haze.

Both Blood Master’s instincts and the Qilin’s Blood had been warning her intensely.

[We can’t deal with this. This is a superior predator. Run away!]

‘Fuck! I, a leader of the clan, knows that pretty well.’

Even if she wanted to run away, she wouldn’t be able to move with all the swords piercing her body.

Blood Master had thought that she had become invincible after consuming the Qilin’s Blood.

How would she react if she knew what she’d consumed was actually the diluted Qilin’s Blood?

“Ch-Chun... Yeo... wun!!!”

She couldn’t do anything but stare at him. His indifferent gaze told her that she was nothing more than an ant in his eyes, causing her to feel even more irritated.

Seeing her enraged glare, Chun Yeowun spoke in a calm and sarcastic voice.

“Let us behead you.”

Hearing his words, her eyes went wide.

“You, you bastard...”

Slash!

Something sharp made contact with her neck before she could even swear at Chun Yeowun.

A sword made of black qi had slashed through her neck cutting her down.

A red line had slowly appeared on her neck and her eyes remained wide open, before long, her head had fallen to the ground and rolled like a ball.

“Huh!”

When Chun Yeowun waved his left hand, the twelve Sword qi Air Swords immediately and mercilessly slashed her body into tiny bits.

The swords didn’t stop until her entire body had turned into nothing but minced meat.

Since she’d been beheaded, it was practically impossible for her to survive, but Chun Yeowun could still sense some energy coming from her, to be precise, from her head. Her head was still alive!

“What the?”

Crack!

He stepped on her head and completely crushed her skull, finishing her for good.

All her plans to seize the treasure of the Imperial Palace and to frame the Demonic Cult for it had failed miserably...

At the same time, somewhere else.

An enormous Yaksha statue had been built in Huangshan City, within Hangzhou, in the Zhejiang province.

A man who was giving off an unusually eerie energy stood in front of the Yaksha statue, before turning around, and sitting.

Behind him, an unidentified man, with a face covered in bandages, was holding a red box with its lid open.

Keek! keek!

Inside the box, there was a fist sized red worm making bizarre sounds.

The man in bandages seemed uneasy about holding the box.

Crack!

After a long period of crying and trembling, the worm exploded.

The man closed the lid of the wooden red box that held the remains of the dead worm. After carefully thinking, he opened his mouth.

“... we failed.”

On the lid of the red wooden box, the word 'Blood' was written.

This worm in the box had been connected to the worm that had been implanted into Blood Master's body. She was one of the six main seats and had been given the mission of entering the Imperial Palace.

The man in bandages looked at the man in the shadows who was sitting cross-legged in front of the Yaksha statue.

The tremendous and intimidating energy the seated man was emitting was the reason behind the other man's nervousness.

After a long period of silence, the man sitting in front of the Yaksha statue, silently touched the floor with his hand.

Phut!

"Kuak!"

The man who was holding the red box, had been flung backwards like a sack of rice.

After retreating ten steps, he began vomiting mouthfuls of blood as if he'd been injured.

Thud!

The man in the bandages had continued vomiting blood, before dropping to his knees and then smacking his head into the ground

He'd done so because he knew well that 'that person' hated hearing excuses.

The man in front of the Yaksha statue, finally opened his mouth.

“Do Yeom, Do Kwang, Do Munju, call all three of them here.”

It was a low, but terrifying voice.

The man in bandages’ eyes widened at his words.

Those three were the Martial Masters of the clan.

“Huh? Are you talking about ‘that’ Do Munju?”

“Change in plans. Send them to Tongho to support the others.”

The man bandages’ was again shocked.

There had never been more than two top ranking members of the same family in the Blade God Six Martial clan.

However, in this case, half of the Martial Masters were from the same family.

‘Whew... Tongho will be drenched in blood.’

The seated man had shown his willingness to achieve the great world he wanted to create.

“The Lord’s command shall be obeyed!”

The underground hall, the last floor.

Hu Bong’s wounds had completely healed, and his life, which had been on the verge of fading away, had been saved.

His face, which had grown pale, had regained its previous ruddy complexion.

Someone had placed their hand on his back, providing him with support. Ran-yeong.

‘Uhm’

The expression on her face, as she closed her eyes, was odd.

Those who normally took in the Qilin’s Blood were likely to have strong flame qi run rampant in their bodies.

Even women with strong yin energy, would end up losing their sense of pain as a side effect of the flame, and in some cases, the host would even die.

If that was the case for women, then a man who was filled with yang energy shouldn’t be able to handle it.

For nearly two hundred years, numerous men from the imperial palace had drunk the blood. The result had been nothing but death for them.

‘Is it because cold qi was mixed in with blood?’

Fortunately, the Qilin’s blood, whose flame had been neutralized by the cold energy, hadn’t caused any problems.

Maybe that was why the flame qi in Hu Bong’s body hadn’t gone berserk.

That was her guess.

‘Ah... this is weird. Why is it like this?’

No matter how well the Qilin's Blood had been neutralized, there had to be certain changes.

Nobody could hold onto their human form after drinking it.

The proof was the red scales that were present on her body.

'The body creates the scales to generate the flames, so why hasn't his body undergone any changes?'

It was definitely odd. She checked his pressure points in hopes of finding an answer and finally subduing her curiosity.

She wanted to make sure that the flame qi had been absorbed by Hu Bong's body.

However,

'Ha? This is....?'

She found a foreign energy inside his core.

It wasn't the normal internal energy, but a very violent energy that resembled Chun Yeowun's.

'What is this black energy? Ah!'

It was an energy outside her field of understanding.

The energy wasn't that strong or overpowered, but shockingly, it had totally absorbed the flame qi of the Qilin's Blood.

The black energy seemed to have suppressed the flame qi which came from the diluted Qilin's Blood, like a hungry and superior predator.

‘Have they consumed the blood of another Spirit Beast?’

As she’d guessed, Hu Bong had once drunk a black liquid.

That black liquid had existed since the founding of the Demonic Cult.

It was the blood of the black Imoogi (Korean dragon).

The Blood of a Spirit Beast, a dragon, had been consumed in a small amount, and its energy had been silently sleeping inside Hu Bong.

‘I guess nothing can be done. I need to let it go.’

She’d thought that she would need to help him, by absorbing some of the Flame qi, but it seemed there was no need.

There was another energy present in Hu Bong’s body preventing the invasion of anything else...

However, something unexpected happened.

‘I, I can’t take my hands off!’

She had connected her Flame qi to Hu Bong’s internal energy core.

However, she was now unable to break the connection.

“Eiik!”

Ran-yeong, who began feeling nervous, raised her energy and tried to cut off the connection.

However, as she tried to do that, the ugly energy resting in Hu Bong’s core began absorbing it as if it had been starving for a long time.

‘This! My flame qi is running out!’

Ran-yeong couldn’t hide her embarrassment.

At first, she’d noticed her energy being absorbed, she’d then tried to release even more energy in order to stop the connection, and now her flame qi was running out.

This was something she had never experienced. In her attempt to solve the problem, she had eventually begun to emit flames from all over her body.

Wheeng!

She wanted Hu Bong’s core to feel overwhelmed by her energy.

But instead of feeling threatened or overwhelmed, something absurd happened.

“Fl-flames!’

Wheeng!

The flames had started to move from her body towards Hu Bong, and slowly covered his body.

Flustered, she decided to resort to a rough method.

“Ehhhh!”

Puhk!

Ran-yeong placed her legs on Hu Bong;s back, and pushed him with all her might to free her hands from his back.

The two hands which had been attached to Hu bong's back became unstuck.

However, Hu Bong had already absorbed half of her Flame qi.

Wheeeng!

"Wh-what am I supposed to do?"

She removed her hands before her flames spread all over his body, but by the time she pushed him away, he was already wrapped in flames.

Despite the absence of red scales on his body, Hu Bong's body shockingly didn't burn, rather, it resonated with the flames.

The flames had begun to burn away the clothes that Hu Bong was wearing.

'What on earth is this?'

She was slowly beginning to grow afraid as unexpected situations kept on unfolding

It looked like she would have to ask Chun Yeowun for help to make sure that the Flame qi spreading throughout Hu Bong didn't go berserk.

She didn't know if Hu Bong would be able to handle such strong energy.

Ran-yeong turned her head and tried to call for Chun Yeowun.

"Ugh! Lord!"

She couldn't find him in front of the pond.

Her eyes shook as she looked around only to realize that Chun Yeowun had disappeared.

‘!?’

She saw a huge black energy resonating from the middle of the pond where the huge flames were supposed to be burning.

“Lo-Lord!!!”

Instinctively, she had realized that it was none other than Chun Yeowun.

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

‘How!’

The Qilin's core had been placed in the middle of the pond, where huge flames kept on burning, and hadn't been extinguished for nearly two hundred years.

And now everything seemed to have suddenly disappeared.

“No way!”

In astonishment, she ran towards the middle of the pond where the flames had now ceased to exist.

Chapter 367 - The Trinity

(1)

367: The Trinity (1)

Woong Woong!

A strange resonance could be heard from somewhere.

Having completely eliminated Blood Master, Chun Yeowun's gaze fixed onto one thing.

The huge flame in the middle of the pond.

'Did she say that it was diluted with 10,000 year old snow?'

Qilin, who were the embodiment of Flame Qi, generally overflowed with fire, and are often said to be born from flames.

Therefore, even after their death, the flame that blossomed from the Qilin had remained for nearly two hundred years.

However, the flames in the middle of the pond seemed different, toxic in a way.

'Why is that?'

The demonic energy in Chun Yeowun's body suddenly shuddered.

After sensing the resonance, the black haze around Yeowun's body thickened, as if he couldn't control it anymore.

'I'm losing control over my demonic energy.'

He had experienced such a phenomenon only once before.

It was when he had accepted the cold energy from the woman in the past.

At that time, Yeowun was only trying to create a balance with the energy in her body, but the greedy demonic energy in him had absorbed it, and he'd lost control..

'Is my greedy demonic energy coveting this flame too?'

Chun Yeowun had recognized what the fluctuations of his demonic energy meant as he clicked his tongue.

As if the massive energy he had wasn't enough, the demonic energy wanted to absorb another power.

However, the energy he'd absorbed in the past was nothing compared to the one coming from the flame in the middle of the pond.

'Aren't you being too greedy? Demonic energy?'

Swallowing another energy wasn't anything new.

The capacity to store energy would increase as a martial artist grew stronger, but there was actually a limit to it too.

Moreover, just like the demonic energy, that flame was extremely hard to absorb.

Wooong!

Unlike Chun Yeowun who'd been doubtful, the demonic energy in his body had been eagerly trying to move.

Slowly, the black haze overflowing from his body began to grow thicker and so did the resonance from the flame, as if they were two opponents waiting impatiently for the moment they battled each other to the death.

Wooong!

“Ah! It’s going to explode?”

It hadn’t, the huge flame had kept growing even bigger until it touched the ceiling above.

The flame had released its energy as if it was rejecting the link with the demonic energy.

It had refused the demonic energy getting any closer to it.

Tch!

The demonic energy responded violently to the flames’ refusal and Yeowun’s whole body got dominated by its overwhelmingly growing greed.

The demonic energy showed no signs of backing away from the flames.

*‘Don’t you think you are being too stubborn right now!.
Phew.’*

As both energies had reacted to the opponent’s actions, Chun Yeowun had given up and decided to approach the source of this alien energy inside the flame.

When he arrived at the flame, he realised that the flame wanted to destroy anyone that touched it. It was a normal reaction, since the flame belonged to a Spirit Beast.

‘I’ll protect my body with the opposite energy.’

Chhhh!

Along with the black haze, an intense chill began emanating from Chun Yeowun's body.

The coldness was so strong that the vapor around him began freezing.

"Nice. Let's take a look."

As he had wrapped his body in cold energy, Chun Yeowun walked over to the pond.

The water in the pond was boiling, but when Yeowun's foot touched it, a ripple occurred on its surface and surprisingly he didn't sink.

Pang! Pang! Pang!

It was thanks to the Wind Steps.

Chun YeoWun couldn't walk on water, therefore he stepped on the air using this high level technique.

Heeeeing!

As Chun Yeowun walked above the pond, the huge flame began to soar higher, expressing its refusal of his daring approach.

The more the flame rejected, the more greedy the demonic energy inside Chun Yeowun grew.

'It is difficult to breathe. Ugh!'

As the heat increased, the air got thinner.

As a result, Chun Yeowun took a deep breath and walked towards the flame.

Wheeeing! Chhiiiiikkkk!

The moment the flame and the cold energy made contact, a burst of vapor erupted above the pond, as a white haze spread in all directions.

'Uhk!'

Even though he was protecting his body with cold energy, the flame was too hot for Yeowun's body to handle.

The intensity of the flame was so terrifying, that if Yeowun released the cold energy, it would engulf his entire body and scorch him.

HWakkkkk!

'Are you trying to scare me? That's useless you know.'

Tak!

The flame released tremendous heat in order to prevent Chun Yeowun from getting any closer.

However, no matter how much heat the flame radiated, Chun Yeowun approached closer and closer, until he'd reached the centre of the huge flame.

Shhhhhhhh!

As he entered the centre of the flame, a bright light welcomed him into the centre.

It was a light created by the strong heat. That's why, he'd been unable to open his eyes and figure out what actually existed in the centre.

'Nano.'

[Wide-field mode has been activated.]

Nano's voice echoed in his head and his pupils contracted.

Before long, his eyes went dark and then immediately began to adapt to the light.

'Now I can see.'

As his eyes adapted to the light, he saw a hot-red bead.

This fist sized marble was radiating enough heat to kill any living thing.

'What is this?'

The bead that Chun Yeowun was looking at, was at the epicentre of the flame.

It was the source of all the spiritual energy of the Qilin, even after 2000 years, this bead had protected itself with the flame and preserved its spirit.

Wooong!

The core resonated.

It was still refusing contact.

The flame seemed to be afraid of the violent and greedy demonic energy that was flooding out of Yeowun's body.

'Can I really absorb this energy?'

The demonic energy would surely do it, but Chun Yeowun couldn't stop himself from worrying.

If he accepted this energy in addition to the cold energy and the demonic energy, Chun Yeowun would have three kinds of energies.

'Well, I've already come over here, so...'

Chun Yeowun, who hesitated for a moment, reached out towards the core.

Since the Blade God Six Martial clan had been aiming for it, then it would be better for Chun Yeowun to take it for himself.

Tak! Chiiing!

"Kuak!"

His palms had been burnt because of the heat.

Shockingly, his palm started burning.

The heat from the flame had been fended off by the cold energy, but when he directly reached out and grabbed the core, the heat grew almost unbearable. It was like nothing he'd felt before.

[High temperature of over 3000 degrees destroyed the user's energy shield. The burned area is quickly self-healing.]

Such tremendous energy.

That explained why no one had been able to take this bead.

However, Chun Yeowun who was supported by the cold energy and Nano's regeneration speed was different.

Gooooo!

When Chun Yeowun grabbed the bead with his hand, the demonic energy began to absorb the flame energy as if it had been waiting for that very moment.

As the flame energy slowly got dragged into his body, Chun Yeowun experienced extreme pain.

The Greedy demonic energy had begun absorbing it very quickly.

Chiiiiing!

“Kuakkk!”

Steam began to rise from his body as the cold energy protecting his body came in contact with the flame energy.

If he accepted this energy as it was, Chun Yeowun would instantly burn to ashes.

‘Da, damn it! This is just what I expected.’

As flame entered his body, three types of energy began colliding violently.

The cold energy and demonic energy had been in a state of balance, but now that a third energy had joined them, everything quickly began to change.

Bubble!

The blood in his body began to heat up.

The flame energy had begun taking over his body as he kept trying to control it.

The Qilin's spirit was strong, and it slightly exceeded the limit of energy that Chun Yeowun could absorb.

Kung!

“Kuaaaakkkkk!”

While the energy was swelling up in his body, Chun Yeowun couldn't stand the pain anymore and fell on his knees.

The energy was so strong that even the top three ranked martial artists of Wulin would find it hard to control together.

‘This can't be done. I need to stop the demonic energy and remove my hands from this thing.’

If this continued, the core in his body would burst and he would die.

The problem wasn't the flame anymore.

Chun Yeowun, forced the demonic energy which had been absorbing the flame energy to sleep and tried to remove his hand from the core.

However, something unexpected happened.

Gooooooo!

‘No! The demonic energy rose upwards?’

His Demonic energy, located in his dantian, had begun moving up to the centre of his chest.

The stomach and chest were the vital parts for any human.

'No way!'

As the demonic energy moved towards his upper body, the energy from the Qilin naturally moved to the demonic energy's previous location..

In the meantime, the cold energy and Qilin's Flame began creating a balance with each other in his dantian.

'Ahhh! If things go well, a balance can be achieved.'

As the sense of crisis disappeared, Chun Yeowun closed his eyes and began focusing on establishing harmony between the energies.

** *

'What the hell is happening?'

There was one person who'd witnessed this entire scene.

She was Ran-yeong.

She tried to move in and bring out Chun Yeowun who had entered the flame, but her body got rebounded by some unknown energy.

Just the force of the energy had made her body shudder.

'Ah! The fire is fading!'

She had been protecting the Qilin's Flame in the underground cave for nearly two hundred years.

The flame that had never moved was disappearing right in front of her eyes.

Ran-yeong couldn't take her eyes off it.

'Ho-how did this happen...'

It was no wonder that she was dumbfounded.

At the orders of the previous Emperors, she had previously tried to remove the core from the centre of the huge flame.

However, even though her entire body had been reconstructed to be flame resistant, she was unable to go to the centre which had a different level of heat.

'Is he absorbing the energy in there?'

If that wasn't the case, the flames that protected the core would never subside.

She couldn't believe it.

Even though his body harboured cold energy, he was absorbing an energy which was of the opposite nature.

'Wouldn't something happen then?'

This was a meeting she had been waiting for for two hundred years.

Since the Lord seemed efficient, she trusted that he could absorb the flame energy, but for one person to have both flame and cold, that's...

'The two energies won't stay still.'

Ran-yeong turned her head and looked at Hu Bong, whose body was covered in flames.

At first, she'd thought that her flames had been transferred to him, but unexpectedly, Hu Bong was gradually generating his own flames.

'I can do nothing but watch.'

It was the first time for Ran-yeong to witness both situations.

She knew that she could do nothing but observe the two people who were undergoing tremendous changes.

How much time had passed?

Finally, there was some change. It started with Hu Bong.

Woooooow!

The flames which engulfed his body had slowly subsided.

And then disappeared as if his body had absorbed it.

That was when Hu Bong's skin cracked! From one to many, the skin across his entire body continued cracking and an ash-like smoke slowly drifted off and away from his body.

"Ah! Phantom Metamorphosis!"

Ran-yeong gasped.

As if the Qilin's Blood was insufficient, he had taken half of her flame energy. She'd thought that something huge would happen, but for it to be a metamorphosis!

Hu Bong's entire physical structure changed, no, he looked a lot better now.

He slowly opened his eyes.

"Th-this must be a dream! My Goodness!"

The first words he uttered were of shock at him being alive.

From the moment he'd gotten engulfed in the flames, he had regained consciousness, but had decided to meditate in order to calm the energy in his body.

When Hu Bong finally opened his eyes, he was able to recognize the changes that happened to his body.

He couldn't help but feel thrilled.

That was when someone came up to him and said

"Congratulations."

"Woah!"

Hu Bong was shocked when Ran-yeong, whose entire body was covered with scales, approached him.

Ran-yeong looked at him with furrowed brows.

"Huh! The first words you say to the person who saved your life and made you change so much is 'woah'?"

"Ah! Then you must be the one with the flame..."

Hu Bong had been confused as he was dying, but he was certain that he'd witnessed Ran-yeong who'd been covered in flames, kneeling and calling Chun Yeowun her Lord and Master.

Ran-yeong glanced at his body from top to bottom and spoke with a smirk on her lips.

"I guess the Phantom Metamorphosis was evenly done."

"!!!"

Only after hearing those words did Hu Bong realize that he was butt naked.

“Ugh!”

A red faced Hu Bong, immediately looked for something to cover himself with, and in the direction of the entrance, he saw a bloody body with clothes on.

In a hurry, he stretched out his hands in the direction of the dead body, and as the energy rose, the body got pulled towards him.

Tak!

Hu Bong looked at the man’s body, and couldn’t believe what he was witnessing.

The amount of cruelty that the body had suffered could only have been done by one person, his Lord.

“Oh oh oh! For me, he did it for me!”

“You get shocked at everything.”

She’d felt a little offended in the beginning, but couldn’t help but laugh at how innocent Hu Bong seemed.

He was deeply loyal to the Lord and had been ready to throw away his life.

There was something very important she needed to know.

“Ah! Can you release flames from your body?”

She was curious.

Hu Bong had absorbed the flame without burning away or producing any red scales on his body.

She had actually expected his body to burn to ashes.

“Flames?”

“Yes. You might be able to release flames. The sensation of how the fire entwines with your body... oh!”

Crackle!

Before she could complete her words, Hu Bong’s body produced flames.

It was the same as when she covered her body with flames.

“You-you can do it?”

In just one try, he had managed to use the flames.

Ran-yeong was surprised at Hu Bong’s ability to produce the flames without the red scales protecting his skin.

‘This is amazing! This guy has truly absorbed the Qilin’s Blood! Even the court ladies and other women could only display an incomplete form.’

It was a tremendous achievement.

For the one who supports the Lord of the Demonic Cult to acquire the real Qilin’s Flame!

Hu Bong was also shocked beyond belief, his eyes were wide open.

‘...cute.’

He looked a little naïve and cute to Ran-yeong.

“I know that it is shocking to have flames...”

“No... not that, over there...”

Hu Bong pointed to something behind her with his finger.

Wooh!

At that very moment, an enormous energy exploded inside the room, causing Ran-yeong to turn her head.

When she looked back, she saw Yeowun in the middle of the pond, floating in the air.

Floating!

Even more shocking were the black flames that moved like a whirlwind around Yeowun.

It looked like the Dragon of Black flames was ascending.

Kooooooooo!

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

“Wh-what happened?”

They weren’t normal flames, but black flames!

When she’d previously guessed that he had absorbed the Qilin’s Core, she knew that something would happen, but this was entirely unexpected.

With a trembling voice, Hu Bong muttered.

“The Black Dragon has descended for the Lord!”

Chapter 368 - The Trinity (2)

Chapter 368: The Trinity (2)

The changes that Yeowun was undergoing in such a short period of time were phenomenal

The black flame swirled violently around his entire body as he floated in midair.

It was Ran-yeong's first time ever witnessing someone that was strong enough to absorb the Qilin's Blood.

'Ah! It's gone!'

She hadn't noticed it, but the huge flame in the middle of the pond, which had been protecting the core, had completely disappeared.

Only ashes remained where the infernal Qilin's core had been.

'Ag! He really absorbed the Spirit Beast's flame!'

Ran-yeong couldn't believe her eyes.

Despite their infinite attempts, all those within the Guardians or the Imperial Palace had failed miserably.

The Qilin's flame which would incinerate anyone and anything that got close to it, can be absorbed?

Even though the Qilin's Blood is very dangerous to absorb, it would increase one's internal energy when consumed.

'But what is this black flame?'

She could accept that the Qilin's Core had been absorbed, but the black flames surrounding Chun Yeowun were a mystery to her.

The black flame was exuding a terrifying aura of death.

However, a moment ago, he'd been releasing a different aura.

'Ah! Now that I look closer, even this man here has the same vibe.'

In confusion, Ran-yeong glanced over at Hu Bong.

Although both of their energies did seem similar, the two weren't even comparable, probably because Hu Bong's was still asleep.

The demonic energy was the essence that'd been absorbed from the Black Imoogi's Blood (dragon).

Although it was the blood of an ancient spirit beast, Hu Bong, who had only absorbed a little of it, couldn't help but feel its resonance within his body.

'Is it even possible to absorb that kind of dangerous energy!'

Ran-yeong couldn't hide her astonishment.

Having been the guardian of the royal shrine for over two hundred years, she'd met numerous Wulin masters and warriors in the Imperial palace, but she had never encountered a person with more than one kind of energy in their body.

However, Yeowun had managed to do just that.

'Surely, the great Lord of the Demonic cult... Wait! What is that!?'

However, something didn't feel quite right to her.

There weren't just black flames around him, cold black frost had also begun to crawl along his body.

"Cold energy!"-

The shock produced by Yeowun's black flame had made her completely forget about his third energy.

'Not just two but three! Is he able to create a balance between three entirely different types of energy?'

If that turned out to be true, it would be too shocking for her to understand.

For three different types of energy to exist inside one person was normally Impossible.

But she was witnessing it with her own eyes.

'White Dragon Blade!'

With his eyes still closed, Chun Yeowun stretched out his left hand, and the White Dragon Sword immediately appeared in it.

'Sword Force of The Heavenly Demon!'

Cha! Cha! Cha! Cha!

As he extended his right hand, the black Wrist band disassembled and transformed into a pitch black blade.

Whilst Yeowun was focusing on controlling his energy, two deadly weapons had appeared in his hands.

Crrrrrk! Wooong!

On the White Dragon blade, black frost had begun forming while releasing a freezing cold.

On the Sword Force of The Heavenly Demon, Black flames blazed intensely.

The simultaneous release of the three types of energy was a majestic show of extraordinary power.

"Oh My Goodness!"

"Woah!"

Both Ran-yeong and Hu Bong, who'd been watching, couldn't hide their astonishment.

The energy that the two weapons were exuding was beyond their imagination.

If he could release the energy which he had just absorbed, just how powerful would it be?

They didn't even want to guess.

'Ahh! This is how it is.'

Chun Yeowun, who was at the center of the Commotion, still had his eyes closed.

He had just achieved a perfect balance between the three different types of energy in his body in the form of a trinity. He had reached a higher level of demonic energy.

‘This is a new Qi that amplifies the power of attacks. If I use that, the sword qi can be boosted.’

He received the ability to achieve boundless Qi.

Yeowun could now unfold the boundless Qi alongside the Air Sword to make each sword release its own type of energy.

‘I thought it was over.’

The People of Wulin would often call the end of the Supreme Master Level the Perfect Supreme Master Level.

They referred to it as such, because a humans’ abilities were limited when it came to controlling and using energy

However, with the right opportunity, even though rare, amazing things could really happen.

Even Chun Yeowun didn’t quite understand what had happened inside his body.

‘Boundless Qi.’

The three types of energy within him were boundless, with each one having different attributes.

Since they weren’t connected together, something like a medium had to emerge for them to work. If not, only one of them could be used.

Flash!

Chun Yeowun opened his eyes.

Phat!

He released Both the White Dragon Blade and Sword Force of Heavenly Demon.

The two weapons fell from his hands into the ground in the middle of the pond.

Crackle! Crackle!

The energy of the two weapons flowed into the ground, causing cracks to appear.

Black frost and black flames had appeared where the two swords had fallen.

The weapons had simply fallen to the ground, but the aftermath had immediately affected the Qilin's Blood within the pond.

"Ah! No!"

Hu Bong noticed a change.

Crrrrr! Bubble.

On the left side where the White Dragon Blade fell, cold energy began spreading into the pond, and on the other side, where the Sword Force of The Heavenly Demon had fallen, the water began boiling and releasing large amounts of vapor.

'Awesome! Is this the true power of the Qilin?'

Even the 10,000-year-old snow hadn't been able to cool the Qilin's Blood, but the energy from the White Dragon Blade was actually freezing it.

But, why did Yeowun suddenly call for his weapons?

'What is he trying to do?'

'Hasn't the Lord achieved a balance of the trinity yet?'

Yeowun's behaviour puzzled them.

But then Ran-yeong noticed something.

Chun Yeowun seemed to have something in his hand.

'Ugh? What is he doing? Isn't he empty handed?'

They couldn't see anything, but it appeared as though he was holding onto a sword.

That's what she'd thought when suddenly a black flame appeared in his right hand, which then formed into the shape of a sword. But the sword itself was invisible, only the flame around it could be seen.

That wasn't the end.

In his left hand, black frost also spread out and took the form of a blade, just like the black flame, the sword wasn't visible, only the frost surrounding it could be seen.

"N-No way..."

Ran-yeong was shocked.

She had realized what Yeowun was trying to do.

“What is the Lord trying to do?”

Of course, there was another person who couldn't guess what was happening.

In a trembling voice, she answered Hu Bong's question.

“In... Invisible... sword!”

“Invisible sword... ugh! The Invisible sword?”

Hu Bong, who had said it in a casual way at first, soon understood what Ran-yeong meant.

There were numerous legends among the Wulin people who cultivate martial arts.

There were legends like the beginning of time, the origin of Shaolin, the birthplace of martial arts, crossing of the river with a single reed leaf. The intangible sword was also one of them.

Martial Artists called it... The Heavenly Master level!

Still, there had been people within Wulin in the past who hadn't believed in the principle of the Heavenly Master level.

However, in the past there had been one such person.

A superhuman who could control volcanic energy and had been given the title of the undefeated swordsman. However, that man never carried a sword with him.

In his curiosity, one of his disciples had asked him about it.

[Since I can use the Invisible Swords, it would be meaningless for me to use any other kind of sword.]

Even if he was considered a legendary swordsman, the disciple had taken his teacher's words as a bluff, and was in disbelief at the existence of such a thing.

Because of that, his teacher had decided to show him the sword he could create by simply using his attribute energy.

The disciple who had witnessed such an unbelievable thing, had bowed his head and apologized for distrusting his teacher.

It was a legend which had been spread amongst Wulin since then, and from that time on, the people of Wulin recognized it as the mark of having achieved the Heavenly Master level.

People had decided to call it the Invisible Sword as it was a sword created from pure energy.

'Is that really the Invisible Sword? I thought that... it was just my imagination, but the Lord of my time is really nothing compared to the current Lord!'

During the time When Ran-yeong had been in the cult, the Lord at that time had indeed been the best.

Even though the Lord of the past was a powerful person, she doubted if he could absorb the Qilin's flame the way Chun Yeowun had.

She knew that Chun Yeowun was going to get even stronger, and it was worth saying that no human could get rid of him.

"Ugh, then you mean to say that the Lord is using the Invisible Sword? Then, then is my Lord between Life and Death?"

Hu Bong began to tremble.

Life and Death

Another legendary place where the best of Wulin are said to go when they reach the Heavenly Master level.

Among the people in Wulin, there were only a few who had reached the Superior Master or Supreme Master levels, but none who had achieved the Heavenly Master level could be found.

That was one of the reasons why the people of Wulin said that a state which cannot be achieved in life cannot be achieved in death, that was why dealing with the Invisible Sword was called a state between Life and Death.

“If that really is the Invisible Sword... then he had to be between Life and Death.”

Ran-yeong answered Hu Bong’s nervous question.

That was when Chun Yeowun shouted at the two, who were shockingly looking at him.

“Both of you, get back.”

“Huh, yes!”

“Yes, Lord!”

It looked like he was trying to test the power of the Invisible Sword.

After the two of them retreated to a wall on each side, Chun Yeowun, as if waiting for them to move, let go of the Invisible Sword made of black flames and pushed it towards the opposite side.

Wheeing!

“Ugh!”

Crack! Crack!

A gust of wind was left behind the sword as it passed by and a gasp left Hu Bong’s lips when he saw it.

Along with the tremendous speed that the sword moved at, the black flames penetrated through the wall.

Wheeing!

“Oh... oh my gosh...”

As the sword moved, its trajectory ended up creating a gash in the ground.

And the places that the sword touched got engulfed in flames.

Black flames that exuded an energy strong enough to burn anything upon approach.

“Once more.”

That wasn’t the end.

Chun Yeowun once again swung the Invisible Sword made of black frost in the other direction.

Swoosh! Crack! Crack!

The same gash, left by the previous sword, was further deepened by the new Invisible Sword.

The black flame which looked like it was going to melt off the ground, began to subside as the black frost began to spread.

Swords strong enough to destroy half of the underground!

Moreover, Chun Yeowun hadn't used any specific energy with the sword, he had simply used the Invisible sword itself.

"This, this is the Invisible Sword!"

Ran-yeong was so shocked that she couldn't stop gaping at the marvelous sight.

Even after living for so long, she couldn't shake off the thrill that she got from witnessing the legend being born in front of her!

"So this is how it feels huh?"

Yeowun nodded his head, as he got a sense of how to control the newly gained power.

Since the consumption of energy was enormous, he decided to limit himself to creating only two Invisible Swords, and then realized that Air Swords too could be used this way.

'Should I stop now?'

He had already checked the new power he gained. Seeing that Hu Bong was safe, he decided to try out the Invisible Swords at a later time.

He had to get out of the Imperial palace before someone else caught them.

Thud! Thud!

Chun Yeowun slowly descended from the middle of the pond and stepped to the outer side of it, as if stepping down from stairs.

Tatak!

As soon as his feet touched the ground, Ran-yeong and Hu Bong hastily rushed over to him at the same time and quickly knelt, shouting his joy.

“Lord! You have reached the Heavenly Master level!”

“You reached the highest level one could reach, you were between Life and Death!”

They had used different words, but their meanings were the same.

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

Chun Yeowun, the current Lord of the Demonic Cult, had reached the stage between Life and Death, a level considered to be a legend in Wulin!

[Editor Note]

The “Perfect Supreme Master” level is still within the “Supreme Master” level. It’s just the peak of said level. sort of like the difference between a new grandmaster and an established grandmaster, mentioned in early chapters.

Above that is the newly introduced “Heavenly Master Level” aka “The Ultimate Badass!”

Hope this helps.

Chapter 369 - : Hand Crafted (1)

Chapter 369: Hand Crafted (1)

Two hundred and ten years ago,

The last Emperor of the Yeon Empire passed away, and the Empire was torn into ten small nations.

Officials had started betraying each other left and right. The main cities were eventually occupied and the Empire... fell onto the path of extinction.

It's fate was drawn fast and brutally.

Over the following ten decades, the Empire lived through a period of total Chaos and absolute disorder.

The greed of those who'd thought of themselves as Kings, hadn't ended in their favor.

"During those decades, the land had continued to bleed and live in devastation. This outrageous Chaos soon casted its shadow on the Wulin."

Despite their attempts to remain uninvolved with each other's matters, the Imperial family and Wulin, couldn't help but feel affected by the changes occuring in the Empire.

The endless war had brought about the total devastation of the Empire, and famine and new diseases reared their ugly heads.

All field workers were conscripted as soldiers, whilst some others turned into bandits. The Empire had fallen into its dark age.

“But then a hero had risen.”

Amongst the existing ten nations, the Sun Dynasty had been the most influential and powerful.

After King Zhu Won-soon of Sun Dynasty passed away, everything changed, as his son Zhu Won-myeong ascended the throne.

Unlike Zhu Won-soon, who inherited the knowledge of the past generations, Zhu Won-myeong was an undefeated high-ranking general who had fought in the war against the barbarians of the North.

Returning to his nation after the extinction of the barbarians, he lost interest in worldly affairs and wandered around his nation.

“If it’s Zhu Won-myeong, then it’s the 1st Emperor’s name.”

At the words of Chun Yeowun, Ran-yeong nodded.

The Daemyeong Empire had been founded by the 1st Emperor.

“Zhu Won-myeong was considered a hero. He had protected the nation from the barbarians of the North during the days of war. Even the people of Wulin admired him.”

He was the only hero, who'd been capable of bringing extinction to the barbarians.

He was recognized by both his people and Wulin's martial artists, even the Lord of the Demonic Cult of that time had wanted to build a healthy relationship with him.

He'd been a loyal man, and had always been willing to give up his titles for his nation's welfare.

However, during the next ten years, people had begun to suffer from the Western power's invasion from the north. Defenses had been weakened and the spillage of blood had never ceased flowing.

"The 1st Emperor was a hero, a high ranking General Commander with long experience, but at that time, the dynasty's power alone hadn't been strong enough to unify the ten divided nations against the invasion of a foreign power."

Despite being the General Commander and a genius strategist, he knew that developing the power to unify the nations wouldn't easily happen in a short time.

However, seeing the amount of suffering the people had been going through, he had decided to ask the warriors of Wulin for their help, using the good relationship he had built with them over the years.

The Heavenly Order had asked him to wipe away the blood and tears of the suffering people, and to put an end to the kings' and bandits' Greed. The responsibility upon his shoulders had been as heavy as mountains.

But, he had believed in his cause.

Zhu Won-myeong, gathered everyone he could.

The warriors from all across the nation gathered under his command, and quickly destroyed the enemy driving out the foreign invaders.

In just 10 years, the 10 nations had been completely reunified once again.

“The unified Sun Dynasty was named the Daemyeong Empire after the 1st Emperor.”

As the nation had begun to stabilize, the warriors had been recognized for their war contributions, and were provided with leadership titles and land.

At that time, it wasn't just the people of Yulin who had helped the Emperor, but also the Demonic Cult.

“They had helped in the war after receiving the emperor's request, but once the nation had stabilized, they had turned into troublesome people for the Emperor and his officials.”

One skilled warrior from the Cult could face dozens of soldiers.

The existence of such warriors was considered to be a great threat.

After having received help from the warriors of Wulin, namely those from Yulin and the Demonic cult, the Imperial Court had no choice but to pay up.

“The Emperor had decided to provide them both with land, and wanted to sign a mutually inviolable contract between the Empire and the Martial Artists of Wulin.”

At that time, the leader of Yulin and Shaman swordsman, Ji-hyeon asked the Empire to add Taosim as one of the Empire's arts.

It was to maintain the relationship with the Imperial family despite the proposed treaty.

However, that in itself had been the catalyst for the problems that arose.

“Even our Demonic Cult had asked our art to be recognized, but since those people had requested first, the Imperial palace and the Emperor could only agree to theirs.”

In fact, such situations would happen quite often.

The Demonic Cult and the Forces of Yulin had made the same amount of contributions towards the founding of the Empire.

It was within the rights of the Demonic Cult, who had greatly contributed to the empire winning the war, to request their arts be recognized, but the Empire had chosen to go with, ‘first come first serve’.

‘They must’ve done it on purpose.’

Even at that time, the Demonic Cult had been far more feared than the Forces of Yulin. Even the officials under the Emperor had been scared, and assumed that it was the bureaucrats who had made the decision to favour the Yulin.

“As the situation hadn’t been favourable, the Lord of The Demonic Cult had made a bold request.”

There had existed a legend about the land.

A Spirit Beast had appeared before the birth of the Empire.

Shockingly, before the Empire could fully unify the land, the Qilin had appeared and burned down five entire villages.

At that time, the great Lord of the Demonic Cult had fought, and succeeded in subduing the Spirit Beast after fighting for three days and three nights, along with hundreds of Masters including his Elders and Clan leaders.

After the death of the Flame Qilin, the unquenchable flame on its body had blazed. That particular event had been regarded as an auspicious sign for the founding of the country.

A huge tomb had been made where the Qilin had died, and it was declared that it would be where the capital would be built.

[Then, Give us the Qilin's core and Blood.]

The Demonic Cult's Great Lord had requested the Qilin's Core and its Blood from the Emperor.

Upon hearing the Lord's daring request, the Empire's officials and the Forces of Yulin's members had grown furious.

"They must have refused it."

"Exactly. My Lord!"

The Forces of Yulin would do anything to stop the rise of the Demonic Cult's power, and the Imperial Palace regarded the Qilin's Blood as a treasure. They would never give it up.

Expecting their Decline, the Great Lord of the Demonic Cult insisted.

[It was earned by my people and my warriors at the expense of their precious lives. I am not asking for the whole body of the Qilin, only for the Blood and Core. It would be better for you not to oppose us!]

At that time, neither the officials nor the Forces of Yulin could decide and had left the decision to the Emperor.

The Emperor had struggled with the decision. He greatly wanted to appease the furious Great Lord of The Demonic Cult, and finally accepted the request.

“However, there were conditions.”

The condition stated that they could take it only if they could separate the core and the Blood from the Qilin’s body.

“Waah, they acted so cheap!”

Hu Bong, who’d been listening to the story, grumbled.

Hundreds of Masters and even the Great Lord had tried their best to do it, but it had all been in vain.

The problem was actually the core, and the Qilin’s Blood which burned with the flames of the Qilin’s body. The flames were so strong that they couldn’t be touched, there was no way that the Demonic Cult could separate them.

“The Great Lord tried many ways to separate them, but there was no way to cool the blazing Qilin’s flame, the blood or its core.”

Realizing that nothing else could be done, the Great Lord made a suggestion.

Since the Qilin's Blood was now owned by the Demonic Cult, he said that it had to be protected by them until they found a way to separate it.

He had no intention of letting the Qilin's Blood fall into the hands of the rest of Wulin.

"He had thus succeeded in preventing the Core from falling into the others' hands, but the Emperor had added another condition."

The Emperor stated that if warriors of Demonic Cult wanted to stay in the tomb of Qilin, they had to defend the Imperial Palace and pledge allegiance to the successive Emperors.

"There were a total of 12 Cult masters, including me, who stayed behind in this tomb because of that condition."

Ran-yeong had come to the tomb along with 11 others.

All of them had been high ranking warriors who had great positions in the Demonic Cult.

"Hah?"

Hu Bong's eyes widened whilst looking at a nameplate she displayed.

On it, a master's name had been written.

"Mun Ran-yeong, Clan head of the Dragon Fist Clan?"

Hu Bong's words had also attracted the attention of Chun Yeowun.

It was unrecognizable since her use of energy was different, but Chun Yeowun couldn't shake off the feeling that her moves had felt similar to the martial arts of the Dragon Fist Clan.

"... Dragon Fist Clan?"

If it was the Dragon Fist Clan, then she belonged to Mun Ku and Mun Yu's clan.

"Ugh! Well then, wouldn't you be the great-grandmother of Mun Ku?"

Whilst Hu Bong was surprised, Ran-yeong was puzzled.

After leaving the cult to protect the Qilin's Blood, she had lived in the Imperial palace for a hundred and ninety years, and had no understanding of the current situation of the clan.

'Elder Mun and Mun Ku will be very surprised.'

Like Hu Bong had said, their ancestors had managed to survive for such a long time.

Even though they were related, the relationship would be awkward in the beginning.

"... what about the others?"

"They turned into the ashes of sanctification."

In the Demonic Cult, those who died or were killed were said to turn into ashes of sanctification.

It was the belief of the Demonic Cult, that those who returned to ashes, would be reborn as time passed.

“At that time, by the orders of the Great Lord, we studied the Qilin’s Core and searched for ways to take away its Blood.”

Since the Imperial Palace was interested in the Qilin as well, the both of them had joined forces and proceeded with the research, but no useful results had been found.

There were those who’d taken in the blood, but had died after being unable to handle the flame energy.

“My colleagues at the time had said that the flame energy was too dangerous for a female body to withstand, and they held me back from taking in even a small quantity of blood for testing.”

As a result, Ran-yeong ended up being the only one who had survived after eighty years.

Her voice trembled as she spoke about that time, and she took a deep breath before continuing.

“Once my colleagues turned into ashes of sanctification... ha, I had such a terribly lonely time.”

She had meditated and achieved peace, but as she grew old, she realized that there wasn’t much time left for her to live. It caused her to come up with an idea.

Since she had already started counting her last breaths, she could now test the Qilin’s Blood and see for herself how it felt.

“Since the Emperor was interested in the Qilin’s Blood as well, we were able to extinguish the flames to an extent with the use of ten thousand year old snow.”

Testing out the Qilin's Blood was her last resort. Surprisingly, she had actually succeeded in absorbing the fire for the first time.

Consuming the Qilin's Blood had caused her to regain her youthly beauty after undergoing metamorphosis.

"As my body succeeded in absorbing the energy, I began looking for a way to utilize the Qilin's Blood."

"The palace must have shown interest."

"Yes. But it didn't just stop with showing interest."

All their attempts to use the Qilin's Blood had failed.

They couldn't handle the flame energy even from the diluted Qilin's Blood.

"So you tested it on the women of the Imperial Palace?"

"Right. But before that... I made up a lie."

"A Lie?"

Ran-yeong had figured out that the diluted blood could be consumed by the female warriors, but to prevent the warriors from trying to hoard the blood, she had lied to the Emperor.

"In order to absorb the Qilin's Blood successfully the women couldn't have any internal energy."

"Hoo!"

The Emperor had no choice but to believe the words of the woman who had succeeded in absorbing the Qilin's Blood.

The Emperor had already lost a lot of skilled male warriors because of his greed.

“There were a few martial arts users in the Imperial Palace who used internal energy, but a thousand court ladies who had no energy.”

And like that the Imperial Palace’s Guardians had been made entirely of court ladies.

Thud!

Ran-yeong knelt and spoke.

“I wanted to return back to the Ten Thousand Mountains before I ran out of breath. But I was the only one who could protect this.”

Ran-yeong, who had survived alone, had wanted to inform the Demonic Cult of her findings.

A way to increase the power of the Demonic Cult, even if the results weren’t accurate.

However, there was no guarantee that the Emperor would let her go to the Demonic Cult, especially after she had successfully absorbed the Qilin’s Blood and knew information that no one else did. Ran-yeong was also worried that the Imperial Palace’s officials would try to seize the Blood and increase their power.

“However, as the Lord of the Demonic Cult is now here in front me, I have no other wish than to turn into ashes of sanctification.”

Drop!

Seeing her cry made Yeowun feel uncomfortable.

She was the only person left after all these years, steadfastly maintaining her role.

If it was Chun Yeowun, he would have taken the power, given up on everything and escaped from the Imperial palace to spend the rest of his life in peace, but this woman had shown extreme loyalty.

“I, I respect you! Sunbae!”

Even Hu Bong had felt inspired by her.

‘She is a true member of the cult!’

Chun Yeowun, who was extremely impressed with her loyalty, made a decision.

At first, he couldn’t help but treat her with suspicion after meeting her in the Royal Shrine, but he’d put that behind him.

Cha! Cha! Cha! Cha! Cha!

“Ah!”

The wrist guard on Chun Yeowun’s hand transformed into a black sword.

It couldn’t be seen from a distance, but a clear engraving called ‘Sword Force of The Heavenly Demon’ was written on the hilt of the black sword.

‘Why the black sword? Hol... hold on! No, the real Sword Force of The Heavenly Demon!’

Ran-yeong couldn’t hide her shock.

At first, she hadn't been able to recognize it because it was different from the Sword Force of The Heavenly Demon that she knew.

However, if it was a black sword, then it must be the legendary Sword Force of The Heavenly Demon.

'Unbelievable! He must be the reincarnation of Lord Chun Ma!'

Having the true sword instead of an imitation meant that he was most likely the reincarnation Lord Chun Ma.

Her eyes trembled with excitement.

Whilst still in shock and astonishment, Chun Yeowun spoke to her.

"I, Chun Yeowun, the 24th Lord of the Demonic Cult and the descendant of the Great Lord Chun Ma, commends you as the Warrior who faithfully fulfilled the command for all these years."

"Uh!"

Not being able to hold back anymore, Ran-yeong burst into tears.

She hadn't thought that someone would commend her hard work.

She had only prayed every night to return back to the Ten Thousand Mountains one last time. However, Chun Yeowun's words of appreciation had washed away her sorrow.

But that wasn't the end.

“And in return for your marvelous efforts, the Lord grants you the position of the Clan’s Great Elder, of the Dragon Fist Clan!”

“Gre-great Elder!”

It was a position that didn’t exist in the current Demonic Cult.

Chun Yeowun had created a new position to commend Ran-yeong for her contribution over the years.

For nearly two hundred years, she had devoted herself to the Demonic Cult. Her martial arts were also at the same level as Great Guardian Marakim, and as such she was worthy of the title of Great Elder.

“H-how can I take that position...”

Ran-yeong was speechless.

The position had been given to her because she had devoted her life to serving the Demonic cult, but she had never expected to be treated so well.

Chun Yeowun smiled at her.

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

“This is a position which suits you the best. No need to be so humble.”

“Ahhh! I am grateful for the Lord’s considerations, Long live the Lord!”

Thud! Thud! Thud!

Not being able to hide her excitement, Ran-yeong's head hit the ground every time she bowed to thank him.

Starting off as a member of a clan to then become Great Elder, she had been greatly rewarded for all the time she had suffered in the underground of the Imperial Palace, unable to see the sunlight.

Chapter 370 - Hand Crafted (2)

Chapter 370: Hand Crafted (2)

Ran-yeong, Guardian of the Imperial Palace.

Her true identity was Mun Ran-geong, the clan elder of the Demonic Cult's Dragon Fist Clan.

Now, she had come under the command of Chun Yeowun, and had been rewarded with the new title of Great Elder.

'I can't believe we have recruited a peak leader from the Imperial palace.'

The excitement was plain to see on Hu Bong's face

After putting an end to its internal war and the clash between the six clans, The Demonic Cult's Strength was rapidly increasing...

Of course, in the case of Ran-yeong, it wasn't just a simple recruiting, but her returning to her rightful place.

"Sigh..."

Shh!

With reddened eyes, Ran-yeong wiped away the tears that flowed down her cheeks, using the back of her hand.

Once she seemed to have regained her composure, Yeowun spoke again.

“Normally, I would’ve taken you to the Cult right away, but there’s still Work left to do. I’ll finish up and then I’ll come to get you. until then, can you protect this place, Great Elder?”

“No need to ask my Lord! Please just order me! I will definitely accept the task.”

Ran-yeong spoke in a serious voice.

She had spent two hundred years in the Imperial Palace’s underground.

Waiting a little longer wouldn’t bother her.

“Great. Then there’s something that, Great Elder has to do.”

“Me?”

Chun Yeowun told her what he’d been thinking of.

After hearing the entire plan, her pale face brightened, as if she’d regained some of her long lost vigor.

“I have received the command! I shall follow the order!”

“Nice. Then, I guess I need to leave the Imperial Palace now.”

It was already the end of the celebration.

Before dawn, there was something he had to do before leaving the Imperial Palace.

As he turned around to leave, Ran-yeong suddenly called for him.

“W-wait a minute! Lord!”

“Hmm?”

“...hm, uhm, there are some extra clothes in the chamber for both of you, please wear them before heading out.”

“!?”

Right!

They hadn't noticed it, but Yeowun's clothes had been burned by the black flames whilst he'd been in the pond, Chun Yeowun was nothing but naked.

No matter how fast he moved, going around the Imperial Palace naked, would still be embarrassing.

As morning came, chaos reigned in a certain place inside the Imperial Palace

The corpses of the East Spear's members and the court ladies, who were considered to be the Imperial palace's Guardians, had been found in the Guest House, where the East Spear warriors rested.

They had been found early in the morning, and the bad news made everyone within the palace upset.

The Imperial Palace hadn't discovered the incident earlier because the Guards who were supposed to be on duty had already been eliminated.

“This is terrible!”

An Imperial Guard, Lieutenant Lee-am, shook his head.

He'd gotten an emergency alert from the council, and upon arriving, the sight of terribly mutilated corpses and the smell of blood welcomed him.

'Such a massacre happened here and no one knew anything about it?'

What he was witnessing was so weird and illogical that it was hard to believe.

The intruders had even made sure to kill those who'd been on watch duty. That's maybe why no one heard about it.

'Did they really block all the noise that would be made from such a large massacre?...No, I must have lost my mind!'

Even the Great Commander, one of the best Martial Artists in the Imperial palace, had come to realise after numerous attempts, that blocking the sound within such a large area with energy was utterly impossible.

The first thing the lieutenant had to do was to collect the bodies and investigate them.

"Listen to me everyone. Check every corpse..."

Bang!

Before he could even give the orders, the door to the main hall opened with a bang, and unwanted visitors appeared.

Officials in blue uniforms rushed into the yard.

'East Spear?'

Lee-am's expression hardened.

The East Spear were the last people he wanted to see at the moment.

There was a man wearing a jade necklace in the middle standing at the front, that man was Elder Dang-du.

Dang-du approached him arrogantly and opened his mouth.

“Huhuhu, from this point on, this case will be investigated by East Spear.”

At those words, lieutenant Lee-am spoke.

“What is that supposed to mean? This murder took place inside the Imperial Palace, we, the Imperial Guards will...”

“Where do you think this place is?”

East House, Guest House.

It was the domain of the East Spear.

This meant that it was their responsibility to manage the case, but the Imperial Guards also had the right to investigate the incident since it happened within the Imperial palace.

Furthermore, the only job the East Spear members were charged with was spying on people who might cause a rebellion within the Empire.

“Dang-du, we don’t have the luxury to argue over rights at the moment. Dozens of court ladies and officers were killed.”

Since arguing wouldn’t do them any good, Lee-am decided to cooperate.

Licking his red painted lips, Dang-du responded.

“huhuhu, I think you don’t realize the situation you’re in, Sir Imperial Guards’ lieutenant.”

“!?”

“This is a crime in which the Imperial Guards are also involved.”

“Wh-what?”

Those words caused anger to boil inside Lee-am’s stomach.

He’d just received an order to head over to the site, but now that he was there, this man from the East Spear was claiming that the Guards were involved.

‘What bullshit is this eunuch spewing?’

Not caring about Lee-am’s confusion, the East Spear’s Elder ordered his subordinates.

“Arrest all the Guards who were on duty in the Imperial palace last night! Arrest all the rebels!”

Once the order fell, the eunuchs approached the Guards with ropes that had been prepared in advance.

Lee-am, who’d been completely lost, shouted.

“Arrest? What the hell do you think you’re doing! And who do you think you’re calling rebels!”

Rebels?

A term used to address traitors and rogues.

At the crime scene, these Guards were being called rebels even though it was their first time at the scene.

“Who the hell would accuse us, the Guards, of rebelling?”

“The order has been given by the crown prince himself!”

“Did you just say, Cr-Crown prince?”

Upon hearing Dang-du’s words, Lee-am couldn’t hide how puzzled he was.

The crown prince, Zhu Taiyoon.

The man who was most likely to become the next Emperor.

It was totally Incomprehensible! What had the East Spear told him so that he gave such orders?

{At the same time, in the East Green Palace.}

It was the palace in which Prince Zhu Taikhan resided.

Over there, more than two hundred East Spear eunuchs had surrounded the entire palace.

The entrance to the residence had been thoroughly blocked so that no one could escape.

A pale young man with gorgeous white armor stood proudly at the entrance.

Next to him, an old eunuch adorned with colorful ornaments in blue robes, and a middle aged man in the attire of a military officer served as his assistants.

“You two are all fully prepared, right?”

“Hohoho, we are, your Highness!”

The young man in white armor was Zhu Taiyoon, the Crown prince.

The one who responded with a feminine smile and didn't act his age, was the East Spear's Admiral Lim Cheong-hwa.

Mostly called Admiral Lim, he was one of the three greatest warriors in the Imperial Palace along with Southern Commander Yon Namgun and the Great Commander. He had learned the eunuchs' legendary martial art called 'Sunflower Treasure Blade'.

“With the help of some Yulin masters, a thorough investigation must have already been carried out inside the Palace. Hahaha.”

At that, the crown prince nodded and asked the middle aged military officer next to him.

“I hope you are ready.”

“Don't worry, Your Highness. I have already received a message, everything has been set.”

The military officer replied as he glanced at the man standing behind him, whose face was covered with a veil.

A feeling of satisfaction overwhelmed the Crown prince.

“Nice. If this incident confirms his involvement, then the Emperor will start actively supporting the Blade God Six Martial clan.”

“Everything will go as planned, your highness!”

The military officer assured, bowing his head to the Crown prince.

His true identity was a skilled warrior of the Blade God Six Martial Clan.

He was the only one who hadn't shown up the previous night because he'd been with Zhu Taiyoon the entire time.

"Start it."

"Yes."

As the command fell from Zhu Taiyoon's mouth, the East Spear's Admiral spoke in a loud voice.

"Your Highness, Prince Zhu Taikhan, come out of your palace and receive the Crown Prince's command!"

His voice was so loud that all the eunuchs surrounding the palace could hear it.

Shortly after the Admiral shouted twice, the door of the palace opened and prince Zhu Taikhan appeared alongside Southern Commander Yon Namgun.

"Brother Zhu Taikhan, I came to take you to His Majesty, the emperor."

Zhu Taikhan bowed his head to greet the Crown prince Zhu Taiyoon.

Within the imperial palace, Taiyoon had a higher position.

However, after greeting him, the Crown prince immediately spoke in a voice filled with displeasure.

"...did you forget manners? Brother."

“It has been so long, Crown prince”

Unlike Zhu Taikhan, who addressed him in a formal manner, Zhu Taiyoon only referred to Taikhan as Brother...

Speaking as if he didn't acknowledge Zhu Taikhan as a prince, but just as a brother, half-brother.

“It has been long, but why are the eunuchs besieging my palace together with their admiral?”

They treated him as if he had turned into a criminal overnight.

It was Admiral Lim, who then answered Zhu Taikhan's question.

“Prince. A big problem arose in the palace last night. A group of rebels have invaded and killed dozens of court ladies and East Spear warriors.”

“What?What nonsense are you spouting?”

Zhu Taikhan was genuinely shocked by Admiral Lim's words.

Admiral Lim continued.

“That's not the end of the story, Prince. We actually have a Tip that these rebels have invaded the Royal Shrine and stolen the Emperor's treasure.”

“A Tip?”

Zhu Taikhan's eyebrows shot up at those words.

Looking at Admiral Lim, Zhu Taikhan asked.

“Ha! Admiral Lim. I wonder what kind of tip made you create such a fuss in the palace?”

He wanted to know what this Tip was, he wanted to know why he was being considered as a criminal just because of some unverified tip.

Hearing his question, Admiral Lim laughed before speaking.

“Hohoho, don’t drag this out, Your Highness.”

“H-How dare you?”

“It seems that these rebels are from the Demonic Cult. They secretly entered the empire, hid themselves during the procession and infiltrated the Imperial palace. The East Spear warriors who discovered it last night tried to stop them, but sadly failed.”

One of the Guards who was standing behind Zhu Taikhan, flinched at the words of Admiral Lim.

Fortunately, Admiral Lim’s eyes were directly looking at Zhu Taikhan.

With displeasure, Zhu Taikhan asked angrily.

“Did they tell you that I brought them here? Are you trying to say that I, a prince, brought them here? Don’t you think you are letting your tongue wag a little too much? Can you take responsibility for your claims? Ha? ”

Expecting such a reaction, Admiral Lim’s lips formed into a mischievous smile.

“That is something I don’t know. The Emperor has asked for the truth behind this incident to be revealed and for the criminals to be arrested. If we continue our investigation, the truth will soon be unveiled. Ho ho ho.”

“Investigate? Ha! You want me, the prince...”

“Huh!”

Zhu Taikhan was about to express his displeasure, when the crown prince Zhu Taiyoon interrupted him by releasing his threatening energy.

“You bastard! You dare to mess with the Imperial Palace, but then act all confident in front of us! If you were involved with that group of rebels, your reputation should be the least of your worries!”

The last drop of mutual respect between the two princes had faded.

‘I am the future emperor!’

Zhu Taiyoon had never considered his step brother to be his equal.

He expected to one day see Zhu Taikhan kneeling with his head touching the ground before him.

It was shameful for Zhu Taiyoon to compete for the Emperor’s title with a later wife’s kid.

‘I will definitely not miss this opportunity!’

Everything had been prepared for this very moment.

Using this incident, Zhu Taiyoon had planned to drive out the Imperial Guards as they had never supported him.

It would be difficult to implicate the prince, Zhu Taikhan, but completely destroying the Emperor's trust and hopes in him would be more than enough.

"Don't act up anymore. Whether you are guilty or not will be revealed soon."

Zhu Taikhan, who had remained quiet whilst his brother spoke, opened his mouth and spoke with cold eyes.

"To do this without any evidence..."

"Hahahaha, you think we weren't given proper evidence?"

All the necessary measures had been taken in advance.

All the corpses inside the Royal Shrine had been marked with the art of Demonic Cult.

"Isn't it easy to manipulate the evidence for such kinds of investigations?"

"Do you think that the crown prince would have to go to such great lengths to overpower you? Now, not just the East Spear, even the members of the Guards and the Yulin ambassadors are confirming it."

It was to show that everything was being done fairly.

Of course, even if they were saying how thoroughly the evidence had been gathered, there was no way someone could look so deeply into some random 'tip'.

If there was no official document with a jade bird stamp on it, Zhu Taikhan wouldn't have to comply with them.

"I won't believe you until I see it."

“Huhuh! You bastard!”

“Your Highness!”

The crown prince was about to yell again, when Admiral Lim called out to him, calming him down.

“What now? Admiral!”

“Hohoho, your Highness, the prince won’t be easily convinced, so why don’t we show him some proof?”

Admiral Lim predicted that prince Zhu Taikhan wouldn’t be convinced with simple words.

If he took him directly to the corpses and showed him what the Demonic Cult had done, he would have no choice but to listen to them.

The Crown prince, Zhu Taiyoon, had planned everything from the very beginning.

“You think we would come here without proof?”

As he said that, Zhu Taiyoon stared at Zhu Taikhan like a hawk aiming for its prey.

Just a little more provocation and Zhu Taikhan would come out not wanting to lose this battle of words anymore.

And the prediction was right.

“Huh! Fine. If I see the proof, I will let myself be subject to investigation!”

When the desired answer was heard, the eyes of the Blade God Six Martial Clan warrior, who was behind the crown prince shone.

If the prince was to completely lose all trust and favor with the Emperor, then they could use Zhu Taiyoon to eliminate the entire Demonic Cult.

'Huhu, everything is going as planned.'

Inside the huge shrine on the northwest side of the Imperial palace.

Through the hidden passage in the altar, Zhu Taiyoon and Zhu Taikhan were on their way to confirm the proof.

Behind them, East Spear's Admiral Lim, the middle aged warrior from Blade God Six Martial Clan, the the eunuchs of East Spear, four guards and Yong Namgun followed.

'I will make sure you face your doom!'

Crown prince Zhu Taiyoon couldn't hide his overflowing happiness.

The results were set in stone

The fact that Zhu Taikhan, who was a candidate for the throne, would get arrested for bringing rebels into the Palace and helping them steal the imperial treasure, would cause many officials in the palace to turn their backs on him.

Woong! Woong!

Loud noises resonated from the end of the passage.

Numerous bodies were lined up on the first level of the underground passageway, with torches lighting the room.

The corpses were being inspected by the ambassadors of the Yulin envoys and the Imperial palace officials.

“We greet the Crown Prince! Our young king!”

“We greet the Prince!”

When the two princes appeared, they stopped working and greeted them.

Crown prince Zhu Taiyoon raised his hand whilst looking at them, and turned towards Zhu Taikhan.

‘Huhhu, everything is going the way I planned. Nobody can save you from your fate now, Brother!’

Even the middle aged man from the Blade God Six Martial clan was satisfied.

If all the Imperial palace’s Guardians inside the underground had been annihilated by the Demonic Cult’s warriors, then the Emperor was bound to be furious.

‘Those spear men and Blood Master must have worked hard to give us this priceless opportunity.’

He’d heard that the underground cave had several floors, and there were almost 90 corpses on the first level.

It would have taken quite a lot of time for those five to use their skills and leave the marks of Demonic Cult on the bodies.

‘If the leaders from Yulin testify, the reports will be considered credible. Hehe. Those Demonic Cult bastards won’t even know why they are being persecuted!’

Over the past few years, the Blade God Six Martial clan had planned this.

With just this one perfect plan, they would obtain the support of the next Emperor, take the Blood of the Spirit Beast, and most importantly, take down their sworn enemy, the Demonic Cult.

The man was so immersed in his fantasies that Zhu Taiyoon's shout made him panic.

"Wh-what the hell is that supposed to mean? No! Impossible! Nonsense! That can't be!"

As the reaction was odd, the man frowned and tried to listen to what was happening.

Zhu Taiyoon was unable to understand what was happening right in front of him.

What had they told him to make him shout so loudly?

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

The reason was soon revealed.

"The traces on the corpses belong to the Blade God Six Martial Clan? What kind of bullshit is that???"

'What!?'

Upon hearing those ambiguous words, the middle-aged man's eyes went wide in perplexion.

What the hell was this turn of events?

Chapter 371 - Hand Crafted (3)

Chapter 371: Hand Crafted (3)

A long-term clan leader, Elder Cheong-su, had come as the ambassador of the seventeen leaders of Yulin's Force of Justice.

He was actually one of those 17 leaders, 12th leader Cheong-su, from the Kongtong clan.

Amongst the Elders of Yulin, he was strong enough to stand alongside Poong Changwun, and was renowned for his strong and upright personality.

It was the reason why he was always invited to every Martial event in the Imperial palace.

'If a leader of a Yulin clan and a person famous for his impartial justice confirms the origin of the corpses' scars, then no one would disagree.'

Believing in the words of the middle aged man from the Blade God Six Martial clan, the Crown Prince Zhu Taiyoon had asked leader Cheong-su and the other members for their help in the investigation.

Cheong-su Jinin, a Yulin's Elder who valued the ties they had with the Imperial family, had readily accepted the request.

Inspecting battle marks wasn't a tough task for him, but he had wondered if the Demonic Cult would really do such a thing.

The Demonic Cult had been known to be diligent in their dealings, and unlike other clans, they weren't men who would steal.

"Separate the bodies according to the scars' locations on them."

"Yes!"

The eunuchs of the East Spear were the ones who had brought the Elder to the underground hall of the Royal Shrine.

About a hundred East Spear's eunuchs had been brought in to move the bodies around.

Thud!

The eunuchs continued to search and carry the bodies, and even though they were still on the first level, they had already found 59 of them.

'They were supposed to be skilled.'

Just the sight of the red tattered clothes on the corpses shocked everyone.

It was their first time entering the hidden chambers of the Royal Shrine.

There had been rumors about the Guardians who protected the Imperial Palace, but no one had seen them until now, including the court ladies. The Guardians had always walked alongside the other officials of the Imperial Palace, but no one had known.

‘Well, it doesn’t matter. They were the holy sacrifice for the Emperor, and ended up offering their lives for a holy cause, huhu.’

If the Guardians had been wiped out, the East Spear’s position in the Imperial Palace would be more firmly established.

As the scale and efficiency of the Guardians had grown in recent years, East Spear had become worried about the division of power.

“Hmmm.”

Someone had groaned, deeply in thought.

The group leader of the East Spear, frowned as he looked at the Yulin’s Elder who’d been checking the scars on the corpses.

A man as experienced as leader Cheong-su, appeared to be having a tough time.

‘What’s wrong with him?’

Curious, the group leader of the East Spear, looked at the corpse.

A body full of scars.

He, who was ignorant of the Demonic Cult’s arts, just assumed that what he’d seen were the scars left by Demonic Cult.

'There seems to be no problem. What about the other bodies... huh?'

The eunuch's pupils shook as he looked at the other corpses lying around him.

The wounds were very thin, and a sword mark that looked like a whip wound could be seen.

It was definitely a sword's wound.

'N-no way!'

His mouth hung agape with incredulity, as he looked at the other corpses.

The problem wasn't that the marks which were like a whipping wound had been done by a sword, but something else he had just noticed.

'Oh no. I need to stop the inspection right away!'

He was about to reach out to the Yulin's Elder when he heard the eunuch standing guard at the entrance of the underground announce.

"We greet the Crown Prince!"

"We greet the Prince!"

'Shit!'

The eunuch's face went pale.

He'd known that the crown prince, Zhu Taiyoon, would be arriving at any time, but he had come faster than expected.

He had wanted to rush and stop them, but before he could even move, the Crown Prince Zhu Taiyoon approached leader Cheong-su.

'Oh! What a mess!'

He knew what kind of personality Zhu Taiyoon had.

He was just a group leader of the East Spear, thus he couldn't just block the prince's path.

Realising that the situation was unfavourable, he sent a telepathic message to Admiral Lim in panic.

[Admiral!]

[Huhu, I see that you are doing well.]

[No, we have a problem! Admiral!]

[What problem would we have?]

The eunuch was about to relay what he had discovered, but before he could even speak, the embarrassing scream of Crown Prince Zhu Taiyoon entered his ears.

"Wh-what the hell is that supposed to mean? No! Impossible! Nonsense! That can't be!"

'Shit ! I was late.'

Elder Cheong-su had already reported it to the Crown Prince.

Before long, the reason behind the Crown Prince's shouting was announced.

“The traces on the corpses belong to the Blade God Six Martial Clan? What kind of bullshit is that???”

Hearing that, the eyes of the eunuch, the East Spear’s group leader went wide.

That wasn’t what he was trying to say.

Admiral Lim, whose face went pale after hearing the news, looked over at the middle aged man from the Blade God Six Martial clan with anger burning in his eyes.

The middle aged man was also too confused to even think of how to react.

[Look here, Master Dogun! What is all this about?]

Admiral Lim asked him via telepathic message.

The middle aged man who was from the Blade God Six Martial clan had definitely said that all the preparations had been made.

If that was the case, then the scars on the bodies of the Guardians were supposed to be those of the Demonic Cult’s martial arts, but why was leader Cheong-su saying otherwise.

[You are a member of the Blade God Six Martial clan, right?]

[Yes, I am, but this can’t be happening!]

The middle-aged man, called Master Dogun, was also having a hard time understanding what was happening.

Before the plan had been initiated, Blood Master had relayed a message to him saying that everything was ready.

She was one of the top 6 most skilled Masters of the clan, she couldn't have made such a mistake!

'What is the meaning of this, Blood Master?'

Master Dogun stared at the eunuch and then at Admiral Lim.

Admiral Lim's eyes had changed drastically.

'... nothing can be done.'

Admiral Lim had been in the Imperial Palace for more than 30 years.

He decided to stop urging Master Dogun to present a clarification.

Since the Elder had already revealed that the scars on the corpses were from the Blade God Six Martial Clan, Admiral Lim had immediately decided that Master Dogun should be abandoned, so that nothing could prove their relation to him.

Admiral Lim immediately sent a telepathic message to the group leader.

[Right away, abandon all plans we have with The Blade God Six Martial clan as well as this man next to me.]

Although the prince Zhu Taikhan and the Imperial Guards had no idea about the identity of the middle aged man, Admiral Lim knew too well that he should remove all the variables he could to save himself.

However, the eunuch was too troubled with another thought to even listen to that order.

[Admiral! That isn't the problem. The corpses...]

Even before he could complete, the voice of leader Cheong-su, was heard loud and clear.

“And that’s not everything, Your Highness. There are also scars of undulating swordsmanship on the corpses. A different one.”

Admiral Lim’s eyes which were red in anger turned into absolute shock.

High Wave Sword.

It was a swordsmanship exclusively made for the eunuch’s by the teacher and former Admiral of East Spear,

As East Spear’s fame began to spread, their swordsmanship was being considered the primary art.

‘Wh-what does this mean?’

Phat!

Shocked, Admiral Lim knelt in front of Zhu Taiyoon.

With a voice filled with despair, he uttered.

“No, Your Highness! That can’t beee!”

If the corpses inside the Royal Shrine had scars of High Wave Sword, then it meant that the eunuchs of the East Spear were also involved in the rebellion and had helped with killing the Guardians of the Imperial Palace.

Leader Cheong-su, the member of Yulin, spoke with a voice of regret.

“Huh, I looked at around 20 bodies. It is definitely high wave swordsmanship. Admiral.”

“Leader Cheong-su! It can’t be. How can...”

“Admiral... look at these corpses. I re-checked everything, but nothing else showed up. These marks were left by your men. I saw this art at the dance ceremony in the past.”

‘Shit!!!’

Not long ago, after the Imperial Palace’s event was over, the East Spear, West Spear and the Guards had demonstrated their swordsmanship in front of the elders of Yulin.

There was no way that someone with a reputation as great as leader Cheong-su’s would not recognize it.

“That’s everything. Your Highness.”

“What!”

At the trembling voice of the Admiral, Crown Prince Zhu Taiyoon looked at him with anger boiling on his face.

Zhu Taiyoon’s eyes were trembling.

‘!?’

In Zhu Taiyoon’s trembling eyes, the silently smiling face of Zhu Taikhan, the prince, could be seen.

‘Yo-you bastard!’

He was the one who was supposed to have been caught in a trap.

What did they do wrong?

Why did the marks on the corpses change from that of the Demonic Cult’s art to the Blade God Six Martial clan’s and East Spear's arts?

Only one thing was certain.

With the testimony of Elder Cheong-su, the entire situation had turned against the Crown Prince and not Zhu Taikhan.

A trap that he, Crown Prince Zhu Taiyoon, had perfectly planned in order to ruin the Emperor's trust in his brother, had turned into a blade that threatens to cut his own neck.

"A conspiracy! This is a conspiracy!"

Crown prince Zhu Taiyoon shouted in a trembling voice.

There was no word he could think of besides conspiracy.

Laughing inwardly at his brother, Zhu Takihan straightened his back and spoke.

"You don't want His Majesty the Emperor to be disappointed with your act, do you? Brother Crown Prince?"

"H-His Maj-Majesty?"

Zhu Taiyoon's face paled.

If the Emperor Knew about this, the trust he had built up so far would crumble in an instant.

Everybody knew that East Spear was supporting him.

'No, no!'

It wasn't long until the coronation festival.

That would be the day the next heir to the throne would be appointed.

If the East Spear is involved in the murder of the Guardians, and in the stealing of the Imperial treasure, the trust of the Emperor in the Crown prince would shatter.

“You- it is your doing! You made this conspiracy to aim for the title of the heir, even though you were born at a later time!”

Zhu Taiyoon, who had lost his temper, began to shout.

It was completely natural for him to attack his brother.

Even if it was a conspiracy, if he couldn't solve the situation right away, it would only take a turn for the worst.

“You must have done something to the bodies!”

It was then.

“I would like to explain.”

The mesmerizing voice of a woman was heard.

All who were present inside the hall, directed their gazes to the source of the voice.

From the level below, a woman then slowly appeared.

“Ah!”

A woman wearing red armor with the Imperial design.

The alluring and mystical appearance of the flame that covered her from the waist down, made the eunuchs look like fools.

Phat!

As soon as she entered, she knelt before the two princes.

Admiral Lim couldn't hide his surprise at how quickly she moved.

'Extraordinary'

She wasn't just a mysterious woman, but a woman with skills outside his expectations.

Normally, people would be fascinated by her majestic beauty, but Zhu Taiyoon, who had been pushed into a corner, wanted answers.

"You, how dare you appear before the princes without being given permission!"

At those words, she showed them an identity badge that had been given to her by the Imperial Palace and gently spoke.

"Your Highness. I am called Guardian Ran-yeong, who has been charged with guarding the Royal Shrine of the Imperial palace."

"Wh-what!"

As she revealed her identity, Zhu Taiyoon lost his ability to speak.

A survivor amongst the Guardians had appeared.

"Th-that can't be!"

Tak!

It was hard to believe, so he snatched the identity tag she had shown, but on the tag, words were inscribed that said that she was the Emperor's Guardian, and had been given the position by the Emperor himself.

Which meant that she was indeed the Guardian of the treasure.

"How can..."

He was shocked, but Admiral Lim seemed almost happy.

[Your Highness! We can benefit from this!]

Zhu Taiyoon, who couldn't understand Admiral Lim's point, looked at him with a puzzled expression.

The Admiral's eyes shone, as if an angel had fallen from heaven just for them.

[If this woman is the only survivor of the Guardians, then all the crimes can be passed onto the Blade God Six Martial clan!]

'Ah!'

Zhu Taiyoon finally understood what he meant.

If thought about clearly, the ones who had attacked the Shrine were the masters of the Blade God Six Martial Clan.

If she said that, then the Crown Prince and East Spear would be cleared of suspicion.

'Indeed! After all there is no law to call for our deaths!'

Thinking that he was safe, Zhu Taiyoon calmed down and asked Ran-yeong in a stern voice.

"Hm, let us know what happened, Guardian of the Shrine."

Thud!

At those words, she bowed her head to the ground and began crying.

“Your Highness! The treasure of the Imperial palace which I was ordered to protect was stolen by the rebelling eunuchs. Please punish me for not being able to stop them!”

“!!!”

Both Zhu Taiyoon and Admiral Lim were shocked.

What nonsense was she spouting?

Since she was the only surviving guardian, they’d thought that they would be in the safe zone!

But this turned into a situation where a dagger had been put on the neck of a patient running out of breath.

“Huh. Did you say that the eunuchs of East Spear were aiming for the Imperial treasure?”

Zhu Taikhan opened his mouth and spoke clearly enough for everyone to hear.

Whisper! Whisper!

Accordingly, the members inside the hall began whispering about it.

All eyes turned towards the eunuchs with suspicion.

Because of one woman, everyone began to think that the eunuchs of East Spear were involved in the rebellion.

'If, if this goes on, the East Spear will be charged with treason!'

Admiral Lim read the worst situation possible.

The only surviving woman of the Guardians, had testified that the East Spear had the Emperor's treasure.

That was when someone sent a telepathic message.

[Admiral Lim! We have no other choice. We need to kill everyone in this place so word doesn't spread!]

It was Master Dogun of the Blade God Six Martial clan who had spoken.

Dogun had recognized how horrible the situation was turning out to be, and thought that the annihilation of witnesses was the only answer.

Fortunately, the underground was within the Royal Shrine.

'Except for Yon Namgun, leader Cheong-su and that Guardian, everyone else can be defeated.'

Three skilled people, but the East Spear had excellent power.

Around 100 eunuchs were inside the underground, adding Master Dogun and Admiral Lim, subduing them was possible.

[If we kill them, the truth can be manipulated!]

Admiral Lim's eyes shook after analyzing Master Dogun's suggestion.

The situation had already turned against them.

And if they did as he suggested, things would return to normal.

‘Decide quickly! There is no other way!’

Admiral Lim nodded before biting his red painted lips.

If the people who were present were allowed to leave, it would create hell for the East Spear.

Admiral Lim, who had come to this conclusion, shouted to the eunuchs.

“The Crown Prince has been tricked! Get rid of all these rebels and protect the Crown Prince!”

“!!!”

As soon as the orders fell, the eunuchs realized that they had walked into a trap and decided to get rid of the rebels.

“Kill them!”

“Yes!”

At Admiral Lin’s orders, the eunuchs drew their swords.

When the eunuchs suddenly looked ready to strike, leader Cheong-su, and the other men from his clan couldn’t hide their shock.

‘Shit! These men are going to kill everyone here!’

His heart was concerned with the fact that it was an underground cavity in the Royal Shrine.

But realizing what the East Spear was aiming at, he changed his stance.

“The people of justice need to protect the Prince from the masses of rebels!”

“Yes!”

They were quick to figure out what had to be done.

If the prince Zhu Taikhan was murdered inside the underground, their clan would be regarded as the rebels.

When the situation turned out as he’d expected, Master Dogun decided to go all-in.

[Admiral Lim! Please take care of that Guardian! I will handle Yon Namgun!]

The martial arts of the female Guardian seemed strong.

She seemed to be a lot stronger than the others.

However, Master Dogun was skilled, so he might be able to overwhelm her, but he still didn’t want to test his luck.

Suddenly, something unexpected happened.

“!?”

Something sharp touched his right shoulder as he aimed for Southern Commander Yon Namgun.

“!?”

Before he had even realized it, his right arm that had tried to draw his sword had fallen to the ground.

The pain struck late.

“Kuakkkkkk!”

An ear-splitting scream left Master Dogun's throat.

As he turned around, the identity of the person standing behind him made him lose his mind.

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

"Kuaaak! B-Blood Master! Wh-why did you?"

The long haired woman then answered him.

"Do you still think that I am her?"

Surprisingly, the voice didn't belong to a woman.

It was the low voice of a man, the bloodthirsty voice of a man who wanted to kill Master Dogun right away.

Chapter 372 - Hand Crafted (4)

Chapter 372: Hand Crafted (4)

The sky was still dark and the sun hadn't quite risen yet.

There was a middle-aged man standing in the yard of Zhu Taiyoon's Royal Palace with an impatient look.

He was a Master of the Blade God Six Martial clan, Master Dogun.

'... It is getting late.'

Since the official appearance of the Blade God Six Martial clan in Wulin, it had been considered as the third largest clan within Wulin.

Despite the clan's shortcomings, the benefits of this one specific plan would make up for all the losses.

However, according to the plan, everything should've been done by now, but for some reason, they were falling behind schedule.

'Did they fail?'

The plan had taken them several years to prepare.

From infiltrating the East Spear, who were known to be influential within the Imperial Palace, to establishing contact and trust with the Emperor's eldest son, the Blade God Six Martial clan had meticulously planned everything.

'Are the Guardians inside the Royal Shrine that strong? Did they perhaps fail in eliminating them?'

The main goal of the plan was to remove the Imperial Palace Guardians.

To successfully achieve it, even Blood Master, one of the top six Martial Masters of the clan, had been dispatched.

Her defeat would mean failure.

The dark sky looked like it had been dyed indigo blue, and there were signs of the approaching sunrise.

Swoosh!

"Were you waiting?"

"Ack!"

He felt no presence, but a voice greeted Master Dogun from behind, making him turn around.

A person whose face was hidden by a veil stood behind him.

"Your face?"

"There is no time for formalities."

It was the arrogant voice of a woman.

The only woman he knew who spoke that way was Blood Master.

She then purposely showed him the bloodshed and damage that had been caused to her body by the flames of the Guardians.

'Ah, she got injured in the battle with the Guardians'

Everyone knew that the Qilin's Flame was hard to subdue.

However, there was no way that Blood Master, known for her arrogance and pride, would allow herself to get injured because of it.

Blade Master Dogun decided not to overthink the issue and to hastily send her to the Crown Prince Zhu Taiyoon.

Who wouldn't recognize Blood Master's voice and tone even with her face hidden?

Chak!

"Kuakk!"

They were inside the 1st level of the Royal Underground Shrine when Master Dogun's arm was suddenly and viciously severed from his body.

'Ugh, what did.....?'

'W-what the hell is this crazy woman doing?'

Woong! Woong!

Even the East Spear eunuchs couldn't hide their shock at what had just happened.

Who could have predicted that the veiled person, the one who was supposed to be Blade Master's ally, would suddenly separate one of his arms from his body with a surprise attack?

However, they weren't given the time to think about it.

Puck!

"Kuak!"

"Yo-you!"

It was because the Southern Commander, Yon Namgun, and the Guards behind him had picked up their spears and attacked.

"Defeat these rebels and protect His Highness, the Crown Prince, and the members of our East Spear!"

"Yes!"

Admiral Lim's order to kill fell, and it eventually led to an all-out fight.

In an instant, the underground shrine had turned into a battleground.

Thanks to that, the eunuchs didn't have much time to worry about Blade Master Dogun.

"Do you still think I am Blood Master?"

Forgetting about the pain that surged through his arm, Dogun looked at the veil with wide eyes.

He had been so convinced that the voice belonged to Blood Master that he hadn't even bothered to check the person's face.

But, how did this man do it?

'A man's voice?'

To be able to flawlessly change one's voice... such a thing didn't make sense.

Spies would sometimes imitate voices using unique tricks, but that was only possible if the voice was of the same sex.

Dogun's expression turned bitter.

"Y-you, who the hell are you?"

He was so confused that his brain almost stopped functioning.

To change his voice and disguise himself as Blood Master meant that this man knew everything about their plan, the plan that was meant to be perfect!

To his question, the man replied casually.

"A dead man has no need for answers."

Upon hearing that, he felt a heavy force landing on his weapon.

'Huh?'

Blade Master Dogun, whose senses were heightened because of his lost arm, immediately jumped back to create a gap between himself and Yeowun.

Fortunately, he was able to respond quickly as he began gathering energy around his giant club to defend himself.

Chaeng!

Miraculously he managed to escape being beheaded as he waved his weapon to defend against his opponent's violent attack.

However, the club vibrated intensely because of the force, and his body got pushed even further back.

Kiiiiik!

'Wh-what kind of power is this?'

The man hadn't used any energy.

He'd only swung his sword lightly, but its overwhelming force was astonishing.

The man's face was covered with a veil, so neither his face nor the expressions could be seen, however, it didn't seem like he'd put much force into the attack.

'He... is strong.'

He had realised the huge difference in skill from just that one strike.

The attack that had cut off his arm definitely hadn't been a simple, lucky surprise attack.

Crack!

'How, how is he able to? To a club made of steel!?'

His giant and sturdy weapon was cracking like glass.

As he lifted his head, a white blade flew over and attacked him.

Using his feet to support his body, Blade Master skillfully moved his weapon to defend himself against the continuous incoming strikes, but the club made of steel was clearly, slowly being broken by the thin blade.

Competing with his air Sword seemed foolish.

‘I need to make use of his devastating power.’

He thought of using the white blade’s speed and power to his advantage.

Blade Master Dogun then deliberately reduced his concentration on the white blade and focused on the opponent’s qi.

Clang! clang! Clang! clang!

He then swiftly moved.

When the white blade attacked again, he masterfully rotated his body and made a lateral turn.

Wheeing!

Thanks to that, the veiled man’s blade swept by, completely missing its target.

Chuk!

‘ Now! ’

Whilst rotating, he used the Extreme Art of Blade God.

His plan was to avoid the blade and then take the opportunity to attack his opponent.

The veiled man wouldn't be able to defend against this blade art with just the air Sword he was currently using.

That was what he thought.

Hweeik!

'What?'

Dogun's eyes, whilst still in the middle of his rotation, went wide.

The white blade, which had been deflected, suddenly halted and came back, aiming right at him.

'Th-this is ridiculous!'

Suddenly stopping his body would tear his muscles.

The only martial artists that were able to control their body as he was doing were those from the Blade God Six Martial Clan.

"Damn it!"

As he was turning, Dogun tried to stop the attack with his club.

Cha! Cha! Cha!

"Kuak!"

The instant that Blade Master Dogun, who was in the middle of rotating, blocked the white blade, the already badly cracked club broke into pieces, and his body was flung backwards due to the force like a pebble bouncing off a lake.

Thud! Thud! Thud! Thud! Thud!

His body stopped only after crashing into the wall at the end of the underground hall.

“Kuak!”

He fell to his knees and began vomiting mouthfuls of blood.

His injuries were too severe.

All he’d done was block a single blow, but he felt like he’d been struck by five blades at the same time.

‘This guy is a real monster!’

He’d blown away Blade Master as if he was nothing but paper.

He’d lost an arm, his weapon was broken, and the situation seemed hopeless.

‘I’ve got no choice! I have to use the Blood Reversion Art!’

He felt lucky as he had recently learned the complete Blood Reversion Art.

Despite the side effects, looking at his current despairing situation, he knew that there was no other choice but to use that technique.

‘If I don’t kill that monster, our world will fall into chaos.’

The internal injuries were too severe, and the probability of surviving with a single arm was too low.

If so, he had to join hands with someone else.

At least, if this one monster was killed, the East Spear’s Eunuchs would be able to deal with Zhu Taikhan and the rest.

Thud!

The Blood Reversion Art was initiated causing major changes to his body.

The veins in his body began popping out like that of a volcano about to erupt.

His face and torso muscles bulked up significantly, while the pain from the injuries slowly disappeared.

‘My internal energy is increasing!’

He hadn’t used it before, but surprisingly, the internal energy in his body had already increased by a lot.

He would be able to exert tremendous power regardless of the technique he used.

“Kukukukuku! With this strength, no matter how monster-like you are...”

Kwak!

“Ugh?”

The veiled man suddenly appeared next to him and grabbed his head as he spoke.

“You are using a technique you don’t even know about.”

“What?”

At that moment, a bright light had begun shining from the veiled man’s hand.

An electric shock was then sent throughout Dogun's body.

Jiring!

“Kuakkkkk!”

Blade Master screamed and wailed as the electricity wreaked havoc within his body.

Never had he ever experienced such pain.

Starting with his veins, the electric shock ran through his body and interrupted his internal energy flow.

Due to that, the rapid changes in his physique were reverted, and he returned to his original state.

Chik! Chik!

When the electric shock that almost sent him to the afterlife stopped, Blade Master Dogun looked at the veiled man with despair in his eyes and asked.

“Wh-what kind of nonsense...”

Dump!

He didn't even get to finish what he wanted to ask.

Looking at the fallen Blade Master, Chun Yeowun muttered in a calm tone.

“It wasn't your fault. It's just that you are on the wrong side.”

And it was true.

The man's luck had run out for him when he ended up having to face Chun Yeowun who could crush him like an ant.

Meanwhile, the one hundred eunuchs inside the underground hall were still unleashing their attacks.

Four disciples of Elder Cheong-su tried to stop them, but the number of men they had was too overwhelming.

Clang! Clang! Clang! clang!

"Yah!"

The eunuchs didn't look like much, but their skills were on a whole different level.

The eunuchs were skilled blade users, and they accurately aimed their swords at the blood points of the opponents.

Due to that, even the disciples of the clan were having a hard time.

'Huh, we should have caught the crown prince first!'

Elder Cheong-su was in distress.

The idea of protecting Zhu Taikhan from the attacks of eunuchs was considered as the first priority, however, this situation would have been a lot easier if they had captured crown prince Zhu Taiyoon first.

'There are so many of them, this is going to be tough!'

Admiral Lim, who had given the order to attack, had immediately pulled Crown prince Zhu Taiyoon away from the front of the battlefield.

Having learned martial arts, he caught Zhu Taiyoon with his unique light steps and aimed for the life of Zhu Taikhan.

However, his attempt failed.

‘Not a usual one. That woman...’

When the eunuchs had moved to kill Zhu Taikhan, the woman who’d been kneeling in front of him, Ran-yeong, had made a shield out of flames and blocked all the attacks.

It wasn’t the usual way flame qi was used.

“Wh-what is taking you so long? Admiral! Are you planning on killing them all?”

Zhu Taiyoon, who had barely managed to escape from danger thanks to Admiral Lim, shouted with an anxious face.

As if it wasn’t enough for him that the plan had failed miserably, Admiral Lim had decided to kill everyone inside the hall.

“Your Highness. Please trust me. I will take responsibility and solve everything!”

Thinking that his current situation was absurd, Zhu Taiyoon spoke.

“Trusting you or not isn’t the problem at hand! We didn’t plan for this! If we can’t kill them here, both you and I are done for!”

Aiming for the life of an Imperial family member was the worst.

And if the other member of the family survived, the aftermath of the situation would be uncontrollable.

“Please, please believe in me. Your Highness. I’m the East Spear’s Admiral.”

“Admiral...”

Admiral Lim smiled to soothe the Crown Prince’s anxiousness.

If the Admiral himself showed his anxiousness, then the Crown Prince would have a hard time calming down.

Still, even after trying his hardest to assure him, Crown Prince Zhu Taiyoon barely regained his composure.

“You must kill Zhu Taikhan and all the others. No one gets to survive!”

“Huhuhu, don’t worry. Your Highness.”

Admiral Lim reassured the Crown Prince.

He was worried that with this turn of events, the Crown Prince would abandon him, but the opposite was happening, so he felt satisfied.

Admiral Lim then checked the development of the battle.

Clang! Clang! Clang!

The fight had been going on for a long time.

The men from Yulin and the woman named Ran-yeong were busy dealing with the eunuchs who were aiming for Zhu Taikhan.

“Ha!”

Clang! Clang! Clang!

The group leader of East Spear was dealing with Southern Commander Yon Namgun.

Originally, Yon Namgun had been taking care of the eunuchs at the underground's entrance, but when Zhu Taikhan seemed to be in a crisis, he'd dashed over in an attempt to save the prince, only to get blocked by the leader of East Spear.

"You did well blocking him!"

If he hadn't stopped him, then Zhu Taikhan's protection would have become impenetrable.

Besides, if Yon Namgun and all his Guards were prevented from helping prince Zhu Taikhan, then dealing with the people inside the hall would be an easy feat.

'They need to be dealt with first, and then the prince needs to be taken care of.'

Shockingly, 4 Guards were doing a great in blocking the eunuchs' attacks on the Imperial officials.

The Guards were tightly blocking the eunuchs' attacks in order to protect the officials as their words would hold meaning in the court.

'What? Were the Guards always this good?'

These 4 Guards were much stronger than normal Guards.

The number of eunuchs was domineering, and constant attacks kept coming in, but they could hold their ground.

'They need to be dealt with first.'

Phat!

It was at that moment that Admiral Lim decided to deal with the 4 Guards and the officials of the Imperial palace, when the ground beneath him shuddered.

Goooo! Thud!

“Huh!”

His knees hit the ground as he tried to regain his balance. The force with which his knees crashed into the floor was so strong that it caused the ground to crack.

The overwhelmingly threatening energy dominating the hall made his body feel heavy.

“Wh-what is this?”

Admiral Lim, who had enormous internal energy, was finding it hard to move.

‘What the hell is this energy...?’

Rather than normal energy, it was more like an invisible energy, but striking down upon the body and soul with its terrifying aura.

“Th-this is impossible...”

Something amazing had happened.

Thud! Thud! Thud! Thud!

He suddenly heard a few dull but distinctive sounds.

“Kuak!”

“H-how is this...”

“My, my body isn’t moving!”

More than a hundred eunuchs were stuck to the floor.

As the energy was extremely powerful, people began falling onto their knees.

Even the eunuch leaders who had strong energy were having a tough time enduring it.

“Down!”

Thud! Thud! Thud!

“Kuak!”

As the energy got stronger, more and more people fell to their knees.

Puke! Puke! Puke!

“Kuakk!”

“He-help me!”

The energy was making the eunuchs uncontrollably bow their heads to the floor.

They weren’t able to keep themselves stable in one position anymore.

‘ Your Highness!’

Flustered, Admiral Lim turned his head as he searched for the Crown prince.

Not shockingly, Zhu Taiyoon was also groaning with his nose firmly stuck to the floor.

“Kwaaaak! Admiral.... Admiral!!!”

“Your Highnessssssss!”

It was too painful for someone like the Crown Prince, who had no internal energy to help him endure.

And with that, the ‘young king’ laid flattened onto the ground.

‘Th-this needs to be stopped right away!’

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

Admiral Lim, who was in panic, finally found the person who was emanating such a strong energy.

That person stood in the middle of the hall, exuding the aura of a bloodthirsty demon.

‘Is, is it him?’

A man with a pale white face and long hair that fluttered with the release of his energy, stood domineeringly in the middle of the hall like the Great Demon God!

It was none other than the Lord of the Demonic Cult Himself... Chun Yeowun!

Chapter 373 - The Imperial Escort (1)

Chapter 373: The Imperial Escort (1)

Lim Cheong-hwa had started out as a member of the eunuchs' initial group and rose to the apex as the Admiral of the East Spear.

It was all thanks to his teacher.

His teacher had repeatedly taught him that the greatest virtue for a eunuch is to be attentive to everything and anything.

Admiral Lim respected his teacher and had always followed his advice meticulously.

That was how he had ascended to power.

It was the very reason why the current Emperor and Crown Prince Zhu Taiyoon appreciated him so much.

'He, who the hell is he?'

Whilst on his knees under the intense pressure, he could see that all the people present had familiar faces except for one.

Someone he'd never met was there standing amongst the crowd.

Although the unknown man didn't look that capable, the eerie feeling he was getting from him as he stood there with long hair and a pale face, was overpowering the entire hall.

'Is that really a human?'

"Kuakkk!"

"My-my body!"

Even though the East Spear members tried their hardest, they still couldn't stand.

How strong did the man have to be to make everyone fall to their knees from just releasing his Aura?

Even more surprising, the only people who were kneeling were Zhu Taiyoon and the eunuchs.

The others were standing on their feet just fine.

"Huh... how is this possible?"

Elder Cheong-su, a long-time Elder of the Forces of Justice, who had been fighting with the eunuchs only a moment before, was doubting his eyes...

It wasn't just him, his disciples also weren't being affected by the pressure.

'Is this even possible?'

Such a display wasn't something that anyone could just do, this unknown man was acting as if controlling this massive energy was like breathing air.

Even Elder Cheong-su, who was highly skilled, was shocked by it.

Even if the man managed to make sure that his energy wasn't pressuring the others, he and his disciples should at least feel some kind of energy.

'Impossible.'

'Mon... monster!'

The disciples of the Kongtong clan were sweating.

Shocked, they looked at Elder Cheong-su with a puzzled expression, not knowing what to do.

When the elder didn't provide them with any information or orders, they decided to call out to him.

"Elder?"

"... watch quietly, that person... that person must be as strong as one of the Five Strongest Warriors."

"Five, Five Strongest Warriors!"

The Elder's words made his disciples go speechless.

They'd thought that he was at least a Supreme Master level warrior, but for him to turn out to be as strong as one of the Five Strongest Warriors was unbelievable.

The Five Strongest Warriors of Yulin.

'If that young man is on the same level as the Five Strongest Warriors, then is he on par with North Justice Blade?'

Yulin's North Justice Blade, Yi Mok.

Yi Mok was one of the strongest leaders in Yulin.

At first glance, the unknown man looked the same age as Yi Mok, maybe younger too, but he still gave off a strong aura that rivaled his, maybe even stronger as well.

Woong! Woong!

'We are lucky to have that monster as an ally.'

In response to the Kongtong clan members' thoughts, the Prince, Zhu Taikhan, felt happy about the choice that he'd made.

He'd thought everything to be lost when the East Spear attacked him, but he'd never imagined that those who wanted to kill him would instead end up on their knees.

'Haha!'

At a distance, Crown Prince Zhu Taiyoon could be seen on the floor.

Zhu Taiyoon, abandoning his dignity as a prince, was screaming and whining with his nose stuck to the ground.

Not being able to hide his emotions, Zhu Taikhan smiled.

'Right! That was how I felt when it happened to me as well!'

He felt like he was sharing the same embarrassing moment he'd had to go through at the Demonic Cult.

He felt so happy, that he was barely stopping himself from laughing aloud at any moment.

On the other hand, Zhu Taiyoon's appearance made Admiral Lim go pale.

'How did such a monster get into the Imperial palace?' * The invisible energy was forcefully crushing more than a hundred eunuchs.

Annihilation didn't seem like a nightmarish dream at all, it wouldn't be too strange if everyone was slaughtered.

When that thought crossed his mind, Admiral Lim immediately panicked.

'Kuak! This can't be.' * In the current situation, the safety of Zhu Taiyoon was his top priority.

Even if that meant sacrificing all the eunuchs within the hall.

'We need to escape from here.'

Admiral Lim looked at the group leader, the Super Master level eunuch.

Unlike the others, this eunuch had been trained well, and had managed to endure the pressure from the energy, yet, he was struggling to stop his head from hitting the ground.

"Group leader!"

"Admiral Lim! That- that man is a monster!"

"Calm down. Right now we need to protect the Crown Prince, it doesn't matter if he is a monster or not."

"Th... that is... true..."

Despite saying that, the eunuch didn't seem to have any confidence.

In the current situation, what could they even do to protect Zhu Taiyoon?

He and Admiral Lim were the only ones whose heads hadn't been crushed into the floor.

"I'll use all my energy to attack him. When I do, the pressure from his energy will decrease for a moment. Use it to break away from his pressure and attack him"

Admiral Lim thought that even if the man before him was able to bring a hundred eunuchs to their knees, he wouldn't be able to do that while dealing with an enemy.

There would be a couple of seconds in-between which the eunuchs would be able to stand again.

Of course, since the man before them was such a monster, the only thing they could gain was a few seconds of time.

"In the meantime, I will escape with the Crown Prince."

"I-I need to attack?"

The eunuch group leader was shocked.

Admiral Lim was telling him to be a sacrifice so he could escape with the prince.

"But, Admiral!"

"huh! Are you afraid of being a holy sacrifice for the sake of the prince! I will appoint you as the deputy admiral of the East Spear if we can safely escape from here."

A tempting offer.

Appointing him as the deputy admiral meant that his chances to become the next admiral would grow tremendously.

However, the idea of successfully overcoming the crisis against the man seemed absurd.

'Damn it.'

The eunuch was afraid, but he could think of no other way out of their situation.

He'd always expected to have to make sacrifices in the worst situations, but never had he thought it would come so quickly.

[I... understand.]

[Aim for him after I attack!]

Shwa!

Right after speaking, Admiral Lim collected his energy and jumped into the air.

Admiral Lim, whilst midair, put his hand inside his sleeve and brought out a bunch of needles.

'I need to use this trump card!'

It was a martial art that he had created using the Flower Rain Sky as a reference.

Wave of Energy Needles.

It was a secret technique that would flow in a wave shape whilst forming the internal energy into the shape of needles.

It was a skill that consumed a lot of energy, but it was effective enough to annihilate dozens of warriors at once.

'This will definitely cause enough damage to him!'

No matter how monstrous he looked, it would be difficult to prevent such an attack.

Because the Wave of Energy Needles was a highly advanced technique, it was bound to hit the man.

“Take this!”

Swish! Swish! Swish!

Admiral Lim’s Needles flew in Chun Yeowun’s direction.

That wasn’t everything.

Whilst the needles from his right hand aimed at Chun Yeowun, the needles in his left hand flew off towards Zhu Taikhan.

Pa! pa! Pa! pa!

‘This will be impossible to stop.’

Admiral Lim was using enough energy to suppress over a hundred warriors.

To prevent getting hit, the man would have no choice but to remove the energy he was using to suppress the East Spear.

Even if he succeeded in defending himself, the other needles would certainly reach the prince.

‘Admiral Lim has executed this perfectly!’

With this attack, it seemed like the admiral would be able to secure enough time to escape with Zhu Taiyoon.

However, things don’t always go as planned.

As soon as he released the secret skill, his attempt to step towards the Crown prince simply became impossible.

Pa! pa! pa! pa!

‘!?’

Admiral Lim couldn't believe his eyes.

His more than one hundred needles were aimed at Yeowun, yet he had slightly stretched out his hand and blocked all of them.

“Crazy bastard!”

He was so shocked that he burst out swearing.

As if the needles had been blocked by an invisible wall, they all stopped mid-air.

‘H-how can he do that?’

Without removing the energy that continued to pressure the members of the East Spear, he'd stopped the needles that were charging towards him.

It was an impossible task unless he was someone who had an insane amount of experience and precision.

Unknown to him, however, Chun Yeowun had Nano.

[Erosion succeeded. Master's energy has successfully infiltrated the needles and has gained control of them]

Nano's voice rang in his mind.

“This attack doesn't even impress me.”

“Yo-you!”

Embarrassed by Yeowun’s words, Admiral Lim took out all the remaining needles and attacked him once again, but Yeowun extended his hand and ordered Nano.

‘Nano, send these needles back at him.’

[Following Master’s command. Activating the panel remote system on the needles. Target: the needles’ user.]

Beep! Beep! Beep! Beep! Beep! Beep!

Chun Yeowun’s eyes shook rapidly, creating red cross-shaped particles, all aimed at Admiral Lim.

Wheeeeing!

The needles, which had stopped mid-air, flipped around.

“What the hell are you doing?”

“Um, just returning what’s yours”

tew! tew! tew! tew! tew! tew!

As soon as Chun Yeowun finished speaking, the needles aimed at Admiral Lim flew towards him like a storm.

“Th-this!”

He was used to being attacked, but never with his own methods.

More than a hundred needles were flying back towards him at twice the speed he’d shot them out.

In the same way Admiral Lim had done it, the wave approached him.

Phut!

As Chun Yeowun stretched out his hand, the wave devoured the Admiral.

'He-he is doing it better than Admiral Lim himself!!'

Pu! Pu! Pu! Pu! Pu!

“Kuaaaaak!”

Unfortunately for him, attacking Chun Yeowun was the worst thing he could have done.

Unlike Admiral Lim's attacks which were directed at random parts of the body, Chun Yeowun's attacks were aimed at only one spot.

Which meant that there would be a shower of needles, a marvelous show that could never be stopped.

Thud!

“Ughhh, you monstrous demon!”

Admiral Lim's body was on the floor with many needles pierced into his body.

Maybe because he had used his remaining energy to protect his body, the needles hadn't penetrated entirely but had only shallowly penetrated his body.

Admiral Lim, who was in extreme pain, eyed the eunuch group leader with anger in his eyes.

'Ugh, uh, what the hell is he doing?'

According to the plan, that eunuch was supposed to hit Chun Yeowun from behind.

However, when he looked over, he realized that the eunuch had been blocked by the Guards and was unable to move.

'Wh-what the hell?'

The one who had blocked the eunuch was Yon Namgun.

The eunuch had tried to move right away to attack Chun Yeowun, but Namgun along with the Guards had stopped him.

He'd thought that he could go past the Guards, but that wasn't possible for him.

Wheeeeing!

The Guards had a woman called Ran-yeong on their side.

She spread the flames on her sword and pierced the group leader's shoulder.

Chiiiik!

"Kuak..."

With the sword on fire, he didn't actually bleed, but Flame qi was quickly rushing into his body.

He'd wanted to get rid of the monster, but the woman had interfered.

"Don't you dare try to attack my Lord!"

Hu Bong, one of the Guards, held a sword of flame.

Caught by unestimated variables, the eunuch couldn't help but fall back.

'What the hell is that guy doing?'

Admiral Lim was confused.

Around Zhu Taikhan, who was supposed to have no allies, unidentified warriors kept on appearing.

'The other needles?'

Naturally, the needle attack on Zhu Taikhan had been blocked by Ran-yeong, who had created a pillar of flame and turned the needles into ashes.

'Ugh, where did these people come from...'

"Kuak!"

Bang!

When everything seemed to be in vain, Admiral Lim screamed as his head touched the floor.

No matter what he did, it would be pointless.

His ambition to safeguard the prince vanished in an instant.

'It can't be...so easily..... Admiral Lim is down?'

'One of the great masters of the Imperial Palace, for him to be so helpless...'

The eunuchs who were on their knees were stunned by the unexpected results.

No one could have predicted that Lim Cheong-hwa, East Spear's Admiral who was considered to be one of the strongest in the Imperial Palace, would be so miserably defeated.

Step! Step! Step!

Chun Yeowun approached him.

Admiral Lim looked up at him from below and spoke with red eyes.

"You freaking bastard!... Who the hell are you! How dare you stand in front of the Admiral!"

This monster could never be a member of the Guardians.

It just felt very unfair.

Looking down at the admiral with cold eyes, Yeowun opened his mouth.

"I am the guy you tried to frame."

"What? Frame?"

Hearing those ambiguous words, Admiral Lim was utterly puzzled.

He couldn't figure out what he meant.

Until an illogical thought that made totally no sense to him, suddenly crossed his mind.

"W-Wait, are you... the De-Demonic Cult?"

The monstrous man in front of him.

Chun Yeowun, the Lord of the Ten Thousand Mountains, the Lord of the Demonic Cult.

“How, how did this happen...”

“I guess you do realise the sin you committed now. Then you must know your fate too, right?”

Listening to his words, Admiral Lim shouted in anger.

“Wa-wait! I am the admiral... of the Empire. Even if you are from Demonic...”

Slash!

Even before he could complete his words, the sword passed swiftly through his neck.

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

It was so sudden that the admiral hadn't even realised what had just happened to him.

“So what if you are the Emperor's men?”

“!?”

Thud!

He seemed like he was trying to say something, but his head was already on the ground, cleanly separated from its body.

Chapter 374 - The Imperial Escort (2)

Chapter 374: The Imperial Escort (2)

“No! Admiral Lim!”

“Ugh! He-he beheaded the Admiral?”

The whispers and screams of the East Spear’s eunuchs began erupting within the hall.

Still, not a single person in the Imperial Palace had ever imagined that Admiral Lim, who was known for his overpowering skills, would be taken down as simply as a bird getting hit by an arrow.

“Kuak!”

Not a single person from the East Spear could avenge their admiral.

The reality of kneeling helplessly only made them feel even more miserable.

‘He-he was really beheaded!’

Even Zhu Taikhan couldn’t help but be shocked.

He had personally crossed paths with Chun Yeowun in the Demonic Cult, and he knew that he would punish the Admiral but never had he imagined that he would decapitate an Imperial Palace official.

'I thought that he would be conscious of the non-aggression treaty between Wulin and the Emperor.'

Chun Yeowun was currently in the Imperial Palace, which was at the centre of the Empire.

The prince had thought that no matter how reckless the Lord of Demonic Cult was, he wouldn't take an official's life so easily.

The prince couldn't understand what Chun Yeowun was thinking.

'They are definitely different from the rest of Yulin.'

Zhu Taikhan glanced at the Elder from the Kongtong clan.

The disciples and members of the Kongtong clan had suppressed the eunuchs without spilling any blood or taking any lives, all in order to respect the treaty.

"Ugh.... Heavenly god! Heavenly god! How could this..."

The expression of Elder Cheong-su, a long-time member of the Emperor-Yulin alliance, wore a serious expression.

It wasn't because Admiral Lim Cheong-hwa had lost his life, but because of what he heard him say before he died.

'What did I hear just now?'

As a Superior Master level warrior, he had enhanced hearing, which meant he could listen to almost everyone's voices within the underground hall if he wanted.

Admiral Lim had called the young monster that stood before him, the Lord of the Demonic Cult, before dying.

'He is the Lord of the Demonic Cult!?!'

He had assumed that Yeowun was someone close to the Imperial family.

However, when he heard the word 'Demonic Cult', he couldn't help but be surprised.

This man had not just entered the Palace, his actions would also cause huge political changes.

'He must be Chun Yeowun.'

He'd heard about the New Lord of the Demonic Cult through Jegal Sohi, a strategist who had been sent along with an envoy to the Demonic Cult.

It hadn't been very long since the young man had become the Lord of Demonic Cult, and he had sent official messengers to Yulin.

At that time, one of the Five Strongest Warriors of Yulin, Chun Yu-jong, had gone over to the cult for the sake of establishing an agreement.

'He is still a child? What a joke!'

All that he'd heard from the meeting seemed to be lies.

This person was no child, but a devilish monster.

He wasn't a growing dragon, but a full-grown dragon.

[Young-woon ah.]

Cheong-su telepathically called out to one of his disciples.

[Elder?]

[Pay attention to that man's clothing and facial features, when we return back to our clan, you will have to draw a portrait.]

[Excuse me?]

His disciple Young-woo was puzzled at his request.

Realizing the doubts his disciple had, the Elder spoke.

[That person is the Lord of Demonic Cult, Chun Yeowun.]

[Demonic Cult...? Lord of Demonic Cult?]

Young-woon couldn't help but be shocked at the words, 'Lord of the Demonic Cult.'

He looked young, yet had such tremendous power. It wasn't surprising that the disciple had thought that it was some elderly man who had gone through a metamorphosis, but for him to be the Lord of the Demonic Cult.

Then more important things quickly ran through his mind.

[cou-could the Demonic cult members be in this place?]

Although they had formed an alliance with the Demonic Cult, the Lord of Demonic cult is an enemy force with which Yulin had been in constant confrontations for hundreds of years.

Such a person was invading the imperial palace without any prior notice.

[There will certainly be a riot in Yulin because of this.]

If it wasn't for the existing alliance, the situation would have caused a huge stir.

Elder Cheong-su warned his disciple who wasn't able to control his expressions.

[First, calm your expressions. Don't even think about talking or looking like you know they belong to the Demonic Cult.]

[Understood.]

Even though he responded, Young-woo couldn't help but feel disappointed.

It looked like Elder Cheong-su, one of the 17 leaders of Yulin, who was known to be a strong warrior, was afraid of confronting the Lord of the Demonic Cult.

Even though he could fight him and claim it to be for political reasons.

Step! Step!

Whilst the two of them were talking telepathically, Chun Yeowun walked towards Zhu Taiyoon.

None of the eunuchs could stop him.

'I shouldn't let him go there...'

'Ugh, my body can't move.'

Their knees were glued to the floor, and they lacked the energy to stand up.

In fact, after watching their admiral get beheaded, they had realized that they were nothing but tiny ants compared to him.

The funny thing was, despite being released from the pressure, not a single eunuch stood up.

Drop! Drop! Drop!

Drops of blood were falling while Chun Yeowun was walking.

It was Admiral Lim's blood dripping from the sword he held in his right hand.

The eunuchs, who were already in shock from fear and intimidation, didn't even think about rebelling.

"Huak... huak... huak!"

Zhu Taiyoon, the crown prince, still had his nose, which was bleeding, stuck to the ground.

His dignity as a prince had been damaged, and he was even angrier that he couldn't lift his head.

Roll!

That was when something rolled towards him.

'This?'

Upon looking at what it was, Zhu Taiyoon was so startled that he desperately wanted to move away from it.

"That! Admiral Lim!"

It was Admiral Lim's head. He'd never been to a battlefield. This was his first time seeing a decapitated human head.

And since it was the head of someone he knew very well, the impact was even greater.

“Wahhhhhhhhh!”

Not being able to stand the sight, he ended up throwing up.

Zhu Taiyoon, who threw up for quite a while, looked up at Chun Yeowun.

Throughout his entire life, which had been without any obstructions, Chun Yeowun was his first barrier.

‘Ugh... who is this monster blocking my path of becoming the Emperor? If everything had gone according to plan, I could have had everything in my hand!’

Sometimes, to overcome fear, letting anger take over was effective.

“It... it is all because of you. How dare you, a worthless member of Yulin, look into the eyes of the future Emperor...”

Woong!

“Kuak! My... body!”

Before he could even release his anger, the prince’s body began to float midair.

Chun Yeowun took two steps forward and approached Zhu Taiyoon, before looking at him with a cold gaze and then spoke.

“Such wild running tongues need to be cut.”

“What! How dare.....!”

“Thanks for your hard work alongside the Blade God Six Martial clan, on trying to frame my Cult, Your Highness Crown Prince.”

“Cult?”

When Chun Yeowun mentioned the clan and their joining hands, Zhu Taiyoon’s eyes went wide.

At first, he’d thought that the man was just someone that Zhu Taikhan had brought in from some Yulin clan.

However, the man had said himself that he was from the Demonic Cult.

“No... Demonic... Cult?”

“See? You do know us well.”

“No? How can the Demonic Cult be here... in the Palace?”

When Zhu Taiyoon found out that Chun Yeowun was from the Demonic Cult, he couldn’t hide his embarrassment.

When they were executing the plan, a plan that had been brought forward by the person called Master Dogun, a member of the Blade God Six Martial clan, and admiral Lim, the Master had assured them that there would be no problem in the execution of the plan and with blaming the crime on the Demonic Cult, because it was located to the south of the Yellow River.

‘What exactly went wrong?’

Even before the plan’s execution, the Demonic Cult had appeared.

Zhu Taiyoon tried to move his body, but he couldn’t.

Chun Yeowun spoke again.

“It has been good knowing you. Now please get ready to pay the price.”

As he said that, Chun Yeowun raised his right hand, and Zhu Taiyoon, who felt something ominous, shouted out with a pale face.

“Wh-what are you planning on doing? I am the crown prince of the Empire. How dare you subject a member of the Imperial family to...”

Thud!

Before Zhu Taiyoon could finish, Chun Yeowun moved his right hand, and the prince’s elbow broke.

“Kuakkkkk!”

The bones from his elbow protruded through the skin.

It was impossible for Crown prince Zhu Taiyoon to endure such pain.

Clicking his tongue, Chun Yeowun spoke.

“So what if you are from the Imperial family? Huh?.”

If the Imperial family was so high and mighty, they shouldn’t have resorted to such cheap tactics.

The eunuchs immediately grew furious hearing their prince’s scream.

“How dare you! For you to hurt His Highness’s!”

“Retreat before we charge you!”

No matter how frightened they felt, their loyalty to the Imperial family was stronger.

Three eunuchs, having been enraged, wielded their High Wave swords and charged towards Chun Yeowun.

Cha! Cha! Cha!

The swords, which could curl like whips, were aimed at Chun Yeowun from three directions.

“Ugh!”

“Wh-what is this?”

Their bodies, which were supposed to move, came to a halt.

Not knowing what was happening to them, they grew stiff as dolls, and their faces crumbled into pure fear.

Without even looking at them, Yeowun spoke.

“I assume you don’t value your lives.”

“What?”

Swish!

Chun Yeowun raised his left hand and pretended to turn something.

The necks of all three eunuchs suddenly snapped.

Crack!

“Kuak!”

Screaming in pain, they died with their necks twisted at an odd angle.

It was an effective example.

Realizing that Chun Yeowun showed no mercy to anyone, the eunuchs paled.

'He... he killed them!'

This overwhelmingly strong man didn't care if it was an imperial official or a prince.

He was a real tyrant.

Zhu Taiyoon, who had been screaming in pain because of his broken arm, yelled with bloody eyes.

"Kuaaaak! How dare you, an insignificant being break the arm of an Imperial family member! Huak... huak! I will make sure that every member of the Demonic Cult suffers..."

Crack!

"Kuaaaaak!"

While he was still screaming, Zhu Taiyoon's left arm was also broken.

Like his right arm, the bone protruded from the elbow.

Zhu Taiyoon abandoned his dignity as a member of the Imperial family and began shedding tears.

'This guy is the real deal.'

Only then did Zhu Taiyoon sense that his life was in danger.

He knew that if the man that stood before him got upset, he would really kill everyone.

The people of Yulin and even the clan heads would always bow their heads before the Imperial family and Imperial officials, but this man absolutely wouldn't do so.

'Thi-this is the Demonic Cult!'

This was completely different from Yulin.

Without even blinking, he had broken the arm of a crown prince.

As if he wasn't done, Chun Yeowun moved his hand once more.

"Eeeeeek!"

Fear sank into Zhu Taiyoon's bones as he worried that something else in his body would be broken, so he cried out.

"Dooon't! I strayed from the right path! No, No prince would break his promise! Please... please let me go! I beg of you!"

Words asking for forgiveness came out of his arrogant mouth.

He knew that arrogant words would lead to his death.

As he kept shouting for forgiveness and shedding tears, Chun Yeowun muttered to him...

"If you had continued to talk nonsense, I would have been able to cut off an arm, tch, what a pity that I didn't get to do that."

"A-arm?"

Creepy!

Just those words caused the crown prince to shiver as a chill ran down his spine.

'Hmm.'

Chun Yeowun looked at someone and opened his mouth again.

“Well, since my anger has been resolved to some extent, I will hand Your Highness over to the prince as promised.”

“Promised? Ughhh!”

His body, which was afloat, began moving.

Chun Yeowun moved his hand in a particular direction and the Crown Prince's body followed accordingly.

Zhu Taiyoon's body moved towards Zhu Taikhan.

Thud!

“Kuak!”

He fell to the floor as the force keeping his body disappeared.

“Do whatever you want with him”

At Chun Yeowun's words, the smile on Zhu Taikhan's face reached his ears.

“Is your arm okay? Brother?”

His voice contained not one ounce of concern.

Rather, it was closer to sarcasm.

'Zhu Taikhan! You! You bastard!'

Zhu Taiyoon was on the floor feeling nothing but utter disgrace, while prince Zhu Taikhan looked down on him with a pleased gaze.

'How did I fall into such a humiliating position?'

As the situation turned against him, the Crown prince was regretting his choices.

As a result of his greed, he had wanted to overthrow Zhu Taikhan and even the Supreme Commander, but his greed had only brought humiliation.

Zhu Taikhan spoke to him.

"Are you going to admit your loss? It is truly a pity that the carefully devised plan of yours has failed so miserably"

Thud!

At those words, Zhu Taiyoon barely opened his mouth and spoke through grunting teeth.

"... I witnessed the death of Admiral Lim. No matter how many witnesses there are, do you really think that His Majesty would trust the son of a concubine over me?"

The plan had definitely failed.

However, even if it had failed, there was a fatal weakness for Zhu Taikhan.

He was the child of a concubine, and not the Empress.

Even if Zhu Taiyoon was pushed away, the Emperor's favour would fall onto the third prince Zhu Taeseong.

"Elder Cheong-su!"

"... yes. Your Highness."

At the sudden call from Zhu Taiyoon, Elder Cheong-su, who was watching the situation, answered with an uneasy voice.

In a pleading tone, Zhu Taiyoon spoke.

"This Crown Prince was too blind and ended up getting mixed up with the wrong people. I hope you don't get involved in this."

"... huh."

Even when the situation turned out to be as horrible as it was, Zhu Taiyoon actually refused to give up.

Even Elder Cheong-su was at a loss for words.

When he'd first arrived at the Imperial palace as an envoy, he'd felt that Crown Prince Zhu Taiyoon was quite ambitious. But now his lust for power was the only thing he could see.

"If the members of your clan, turn away from this situation..."

"You will never become the next heir."

"What? Who dares to... ugh?"

Zhu taiyoon, who'd become angry at the voice of someone interrupting his words, tried to get up.

However, he was too exhausted to move.

Pak!

“This Prince Zhu Taikhan, greets the Great Emperor!”

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

“The Great Emperor!!!”

Starting with Zhu Taikhan’s cry, all the officials inside the underground hall knelt before the dignified man in a golden robe who was standing at the entrance.

Zhu Taiyoon, who was in shock, spoke in a trembling voice.

“Ugh, Wh-Why is His Majesty in the Royal Shrine...”

The person who had majestically appeared in the Shrine was Zhu Taewon, Emperor of the Daemyeong Empire.

Chapter 375 - The Imperial Escort (3)

375: The Imperial Escort (3)

A face that portrayed the dignity, and majestic look of a dragon.

The middle-aged man in golden robes didn't even need to speak for others to understand that he was an authoritative figure.

Before them, stood The Emperor, Zhu Taewon.

'Uh, why is His Majesty here? Ah! Are they all coming?'

Crown Prince Zhu Taiyoon, whose eyes had fallen onto the people standing behind the Emperor, soon fell into an abyss of total despair and utter fear.

The one who was dressed in a polished red robe and splendid ornaments, was Admiral Yuk Cheong-un of the West Spear, standing in front of his two attendants.

He was the man in charge of auditing within the Imperial Palace.

To the right of Admiral Yuk Cheong-un, stood three eunuchs in navy blue uniforms.

It was the Cardinal Spear Admiral, Seo Tae-sik, and his two attendants.

The Imperial palace's top two eunuchs, who wielded undisputed power, had appeared alongside the Emperor.

Furthermore,

'Supreme Commander!'

Standing on the right side of the Emperor, wearing a formal second-class robe, was a handsome middle-aged man, the first head of the Guards and the Supreme Commander, Baek Jagi.

Next to him, stood a person who radiated a unique energy, the Northern Commander, Yeong-jo.

All the leaders of the Imperial Palace's martial artists had gathered in the underground shrine.

'The Emperor is here too. This is troublesome.'

Despite the Emperor's entry, Chun Yeowun looked mysteriously calm.

It wasn't a surprise to him as he'd already sensed their energy when they entered the royal shrine.

He was only concerned about 2 things.

“Your Majesty!”

Ta! Ta! Ta! Ta! Thud!

Zhu Taiyoon, who was in absolute shock and disbelief, immediately ran over to the Emperor and fell to his knees.

His two broken arms, his elbow that was sticking out, and the bleeding from his nose, drew the picture of the merciless torture and the painful suffering he had gone through.

“Your Majesty! Please save me. The prince plotted to kill me, Admiral Lim lost his life and I was hit and injured! ”

“Ha!”

Prince Zhu Taikhan couldn't hold back the gasp as he heard the Crown prince's words and noticed his sudden change of attitude.

He'd always known that the Crown prince behaved differently in front of the Emperor, and as expected, the crown prince hadn't deviated much from his nature.

However, the eyes of the Emperor, who would normally listen attentively to his eldest son, were cold.

“Your Majesty!”

Such icy coldness flustered Zhu Taiyoon.

As he was the eldest son and the only son of the deceased Empress, the Emperor always treated him with warmth and affection.

However, at that moment, the Emperor’s eyes were full of disappointment and distrust.

“No! It isn’t true! Your Majesty! No. Father! This is all...”

“Can’t you just shut your mouth!”

Zhu Taiyoon had been desperately trying to persuade the Emperor, but his expression stiffened at that moment.

As The Emperor yelled at him, Zhu Taiyoon’s mind went blank.

“Do you think that I, the Emperor, lack ears and eyes? I have always given you second chances when you made mistakes, but this time you crossed the line.”

“Ugh, this isn’t...”

“Huh! Did you think that I wouldn’t know what you and your partners were up to?”

‘!!!’

The Emperor’s sharp words cut so deeply in Zhu Taiyoon’s heart that his words got stuck in his throat.

Although he’d managed to gain the support of many officials, including Admiral Lim, making them his sworn allies, the power in the Imperial palace always revolved around the Emperor.

This meant that there was no corner within the imperial palace where the Emperor’s eyes and ears were absent.

“No, it is a misunderstanding! Admiral Lim and I discovered that the 2nd prince had teamed up with the Demonic Cult to steal the treasure of His Majesty, the Emperor!”

The Emperor’s disappointment deepened at Zhu Taiyoon’s words, as he desperately insisted on his innocence.

The Emperor summoned Seo Tae-sik, the Admiral of the Cardinal Spear, who was standing behind him.

“Admiral Seo.”

“Yes, Your Majesty.”

“Call them.”

Upon hearing the Emperor’s command, Admiral Seo Tae-sik looked at the officials in the room and shouted.

“The inspection duty has been successfully executed at the command of His Majesty.”

“Inspection?”

Zhu Taiyoon didn’t understand what was being said, especially the inspection they were talking about.

But he soon found out.

Among the East Spear eunuchs who were laying flat on the floor and bowing their heads, five eunuchs got up and approached the emperor who was near the entrance.

‘What? Who are they?’

The eunuchs who approached the emperor quickly knelt onto one knee.

The one in the lead shouted.

“The group leader of Cardinal Spear, Shim Hyung, has finished the inspection duty and greets His Majesty!”

“Speak up.”

Zhu Taiyoon’s face hardened.

Shockingly, all five eunuchs were Cardinal Spear members.

‘Why were they in here?’

Zhu Taiyoon was too shocked to understand.

He’d never expected something like this to happen, he’d thought that they were East Spear eunuchs who’d been working along with him.

Even the group leader of the East Spear, the eunuch who had been promised the deputy Admiral post, was perplexed.

‘Damn it! We did our best to find the spies, and they were right next to us the entire time!’

The so-called East Spear didn’t even know that it still had spies of West Spear and Cardinal Spear within it.

To prevent the three eunuchs’ organizations from growing addicted to power and to keep everyone in check, each one had its own spies within the two other organisations.

However, the East Spear had thought that they’d removed all the spies, thus it was totally unexpected to see 5 spies suddenly pop out.

Well, identifying a spy was the toughest task when an organization was made up of numerous people.

“Report.”

“We have received the order.”

The leader of the group, who had completed the inspection at the order of his Admiral Seo Tae-sik, told everything he knew about Zhu Taiyoon's and Admiral Lim's scheme.

"It was about half a year ago when I began my duties as an East Spear guard. Three months ago, we noticed that the Crown prince would frequently visit the East House, the headquarters of the East Spear. And..."

Since he wasn't a high-ranked member, he wasn't able to gather full details on what happened, but he'd realized that Zhu Taiyoon had joined hands with the members of the Blade God Six Martial clan.

The mouths of the Cardinal Spear attendants went wide whilst Zhu Taiyoon's face turned as white as a ghost's.

After the entire report was given, the Emperor spoke in a cold voice.

"Did you just attack the Royal Shrine and annihilate the Guardians, just to ascend the throne?"

"Y-your Majesty..."

"I am extremely disappointed. It is my fault that you turned out like this. You should have been raised strictly just like the other princes."

Rather than blaming the culprit, the emperor blamed himself for not disciplining his son.

Zhu Taiyoon, who was already drowning in deep despair, blanked out as the world turned pitch black in his eyes.

Knowing the stubborn nature of the Emperor, it was meaningless to make excuses, especially since the report had already been given.

“Supreme Commander. Arrest them immediately and take everyone into custody.”

At the Emperor’s orders, a smile of satisfaction appeared on the Supreme Commander’s face.

He had felt humiliated when the East Spear had tried to arrest the guards, but since the situation had been reversed, he couldn’t hide his smile.

The world is truly unpredictable.

“Receive the orders from Your Majesty. Northern Commander!”

“Yes!”

“Fulfil Your Majesty’s orders!”

When the Guards Supreme Commander called for Yeongjo, the Northern Commander, he moved right away as if waiting for the orders to fall.

Step!Step!Step!Step!Step!

At the same time, armor-clad Guards began appearing and lining up in the underground hall.

The number of Guards who kept pouring in was hard to count.

'Ah! What? So many?'

Zhu Taikhan's eyes shone.

As the line of Guards kept on pouring in like water, the entire hall seemed to be filled with them.

The number of Guards had already reached two hundred.

The Northern Commander then loudly ordered them

"Arrest all the eunuchs of the East Spear!"

“Yes!!!”

Anger and Excitement appeared on the Guards' faces since they had been waiting for this very day.

A golden opportunity to pay back the eunuchs for all the ill-treatment they'd dished out to them.

“Don't move!”

“ ... ”

Admiral Lim was already dead, and the Emperor himself had appeared to send their souls to hell, the eunuchs had already realized that East Spear was going to become a forgotten history.

The only thing left for them to do was get dragged around by ropes.

The emperor didn't stop there, and with a voice still full of rage and fury, he pointed to Zhu Taiyoon and gave another order.

“Take him as well, and lock him up in his palace”

“Ugh!”

At the Emperor’s command, the Guards approached Zhu Taiyoon who was miserably kneeling on the floor.

“Forgive our rudeness. Your Highness.”

“You!!”

Since he was from the Imperial family, the Guards couldn’t tie him up with rope, so they lifted him up by his broken arms.

Zhu Taiyoon, who was being dragged out, shouted with all his might, realizing that it was his last chance.

“Father! You can’t do this! That filthy bastard Zhu Taikhan colluded with Yulin members and with the Demonic Cult too! He killed the East Spear Admiral and made me like this! Why are you treating me like this!”

He cried and shouted, but the emperor didn’t even look at him.

The disappointment his son made him feel had reached its peak.

“Father! Father! PLEASEEE!!!”

Zhu Taiyoon’s happy dream of getting everything he wanted, had in a very short space of time, turned into a hellish nightmare.

It was even more shocking, that even after being dragged out, his father, the Emperor, wasn’t responding to him.

‘Your Majesty took a step ahead, so the plot of the Crown Prince has ended in failure’

A cold-hearted Emperor, who didn’t let injustice happen, even when committed by his beloved son.

When the crown prince’s voice could no longer be heard in the underground hall, the Emperor moved in steady steps from the entrance to the middle of the hall.

“Now that my beloved son’s business has been taken care of, I need to take care of the other matters.”

“Ah!”

Following the Emperor, the two Admirals, their attendants, the Supreme Commander and the Northern Commander moved, but that wasn't the end. Eunuchs of the West Spear and Cardinal Spear rushed in and formed two lines, encircling the outer perimeter of the hall.

'He brought everyone?'

Zhu Taikhan couldn't hide his shock.

He'd thought that everything had been resolved, but that didn't seem to be the case.

There were around 400 people within the hall at the moment.

Unlike the Emperor, who was still full of dignity, the expressions of the two Admirals, and the Supreme Commander, were distorted.

The reason was simple.

"How rude! How dare you stand tall when His Majesty, the Great Emperor of the Empire, has arrived!"

The Supreme Commander yelled furiously.

Previously, when the Emperor had arrived in the underground hall of the Royal Shrine, Zhu Taikhan and the others had immediately fallen to their knees.

However, there were a few people who simply hadn't done so.

They were Chun Yeowun, a man with long black hair, and 4 people who were wearing Guards uniforms.

The Emperor had kept his mouth shut because he'd decided to deal with his son and the East Spear first. but now that they had been removed, the actions of these 4 people were simply unacceptable to him.

'That unit is a mess. They seem to belong to the Southern unit, but how could these people commit such blasphemy in His Majesty's presence? !'

In the eyes of the Supreme Commander, Baek Jagi, the men in the Guards uniform had to kneel and greet the emperor.

Of course, it wasn't just the guards, anyone in the Empire had to kneel in front of His Majesty.

"Well, you see, I can't get down on my knee right now..."

Swoosh!

"Y-Your Majesty!"

It was the emperor who had stopped the Supreme Commander from charging ahead.

When the emperor raised his hand and signalled him to stop, the Supreme Commander who wanted to say something went silent.

To disobey the emperor's orders meant to betray his authority.

“Are these the Wulin members who came with you?”

Zhu Taikhan, who was still kneeling, was shocked.

Although he hadn't yet revealed who they were, the emperor managed to infer the relationship between him and them with his insight.

Of course, it was just his prediction, based solely on the fact that they hadn't knelt.

“No, I didn't bring them in, but they did help me.”

Zhu Taikhan spoke cautiously.

The Emperor is scary, but he is nothing compared to Chun Yeowun.

After hearing his words, the Emperor seemed to think for a moment.

‘There is no way that Yulin people could be this bold. So, they must be from there?’

He hadn’t witnessed everything.

However, the emperor had seen the young man in black robes brutally breaking the arms of his eldest son, Zhu Taiyoon.

He never involved private life with work matters, but he couldn’t help but feel offended.

Looking at Chun Yeowun and the Guards, the emperor opened his mouth.

“You are from the Demonic Cult?”

The only people of Wulin who could have come into contact with Zhu Taikahn were the members of the Demonic Cult, where he was sent as an envoy.

It was impossible for the Yulin groups to help him.

Chun Yeowun, who was still watching, put his hands together and said.

“I wanted to leave once I managed to settle things quietly, but as you know, things never go as planned. It is an honor to meet Your Majesty. I am Chun Yeowun, the current Lord of Demonic Cult.”

“Lord?”

The emperor’s eyes widened at the word ‘Lord’, he knew that this man was strong, this was made clear when he broke Zhu Taiyoon’s arm without touching him, but for him to be the Lord of Demonic Cult was unpredictable.

Grrrrr!

Unlike the emperor who was shocked, the commanders and the Admirals were angry.

Although the Imperial family and Wulin had a non-aggression treaty, Chun Yeowun’s actions could be considered treason in the eyes of others.

Bang! Kwakwa!

West Spear Admiral Yuk Cheong-un, a Superior Master, stepped forward with anger.

With each step he took, the floor below cracked.

Yuk Cheong-un, thinking that he had fully demonstrated his power, shouted in a voice filled with rage.

“You are being rude! How dare you act like that towards the Emperor? You will have to suffer...”

Chuck!

“Ah!

The sharp tip of a sword suddenly touched his neck.

‘Wh-when did this sword?’

The Admiral of West Spear hadn’t even seen the sword being drawn.

A moment before, they’d looked like normal Guards, but now one of them was pointing his sword at his neck.

“Old eunuchs don’t get to be disrespectful towards the Lord of the Demonic Cult. The Non-aggression treaty was signed with both parties on equal footing. We don’t work under you.”

“... swift swordsmanship. You must be Marakim.”

It was Great Guardian Marakim, wearing his mask.

Northern Commander Yeongjo was the one who guessed his identity.

Commander Yeongjo, who was said to be the best swordsman in the Imperial Palace, had acquaintances with the people of Yulin. He was able to identify this man, because of the constant orders he received from the Emperor to observe the Wulin.

“Your reputation undermines you. You are called the King of Death, because you control life and death on the battlefield. But!”

Clang!

Yeongjo drew his sword from its sheath and aimed it at Marakim.

With a cold look, that clearly said that he was displeased.

“How dare you draw your sword in front of His Majesty, the Emperor of the Daemyeong Empire, and endanger a member of his court, an Admiral at that?”

Thud! Thud! Thud!

As soon as he was done speaking, the Guards began to move with their shields held ahead of them.

This was an army tactic meant to lower the morale of the enemy.

However, it lowered no one’s morale, but only riled up the hearts of the Demonic Cult members.

Chuu!

“Huh!”

“Flame qi?”

A sword moved on its own, drew a line on the ground in front of the Guards, and slashed a couple of shields.

Thanks to that, the Guards had no choice but to stop.

“Woah...”

Phak!

In front of those Guards, a person from Chun Yeowun’s side, donned in a Guard’s uniform, walked over and blocked their way forward, to stop them from taking another step forward.

Red hair was revealed under the man’s helmet, he was Lee Hameng.

Whoo!

Lee Hameng’s sword blazed with flames.

“This is a warning. Those who draw their swords will be killed right away.”

A warning which instilled fear in everyone’s hearts...

As a result, the Guards gulped without realizing it.

“Fire... fire king!”

A sigh escaped from Yeongjo's mouth.

The moment he saw the red hair, he immediately recognized who it was.

'The Lord of the Demonic Cult! The King of Death and the Fire King? How could these monsters infiltrate the Imperial Palace without anyone's knowledge? Ugh.'

The new Lord of the Demonic Cult wasn't very famous in the palace, but everyone in Wulin knew how strong the two Guardians were...

They were amazingly skilled martial artists and heartless merciless monsters.

Tak!

One of the people who was still kneeling suddenly stood up.

A woman with a seductive body and hair falling down to her waist.

The Commanders knew her very well.

“Oh! Guardian!”

They thought that it was a good thing that they had her in the midst of the messy situation with the Demonic Cult.

If the Guardian, Ran-yeong, the strongest hidden warrior in the Imperial Palace came forward, then even the Demonic Cult would have a hard time.

‘He might be the Fire King! But she is a woman who has lived for hundreds of years. No matter how skilled those people are, they are nothing but children in front of her long experience and massive skill. Hehehe.’

Wheeeeing!

As flames swirled around her body, she looked like the incarnation of the Qilin.

At her magnificence, Admiral Seo Tae-ski smiled.

“People of the Demonic Cult, you only have fire on your sword, but this, this is the true power of the Imperial Palace...”

Heeeeing!

“Hold on!?”

Admiral Seo Tae-sik, who was feeling triumphant, couldn't believe his eyes.

Ran-yeong's flames, which were supposed to threaten the Demonic Cult, unexpectedly encircled the Guards and eunuchs.

They were being isolated from their allies.

“This, Guardian! What is this supposed to mean?”

Ignoring the bewildered question of Admiral Seo Tae-sik, Ran-yeong shouted to the three hundred people who had been blocked by the flames.

“Whoever threatens the Lord of the Demonic Cult, I, Ran-yeong, vow to burn them to ashes!”

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

“!?”

Upon hearing the strangest thing ever, the commanders grew utterly speechless.

A woman who was supposed to be their strongest ally had just given them an extremely aggressive warning.

Chapter 376 - The Imperial Escort (4)

Chapter 376 The Imperial Escort (4)

An Imperial Guardian; a hidden power that protected the Royal Shrine.

Even within the Imperial Palace, very few knew of her existence.

Only the Emperor and his commanders and a few admirals that protected him knew of her existence

'Ran-yeong.'

The incarnation of the Qilin exists only for the sake of protecting the Imperial treasure.

Instead of protecting them, her flames were directed to the Guards.

'It's been twenty years since I last saw you.'

The Emperor seemed to remember something as he tried to maintain a calm expression.

The first time they'd met had been the day he inherited the throne.

As a young and energetic Emperor, he had fallen in love with her bewitching charming red hair that could never be seen in the outside world.

'Her beauty is still there.'

It was astonishing that her mesmerizing beauty still remained.

However, from that day onwards, he stopped visiting her as he had learned that she had been protecting the treasure in the Royal Shrine since the foundation of the Empire.

"Do you realise the meaning of your actions? Guardian!"

Supreme Commander Baek Jagi shouted with a red face.

It was totally unacceptable that the hidden Power protecting the Imperial treasure was now backstabbing the Emperor.

"Imperial Guards' Supreme Commander. I have seen you before as a young soldier, and now you've gotten strong enough to yell at a woman.”

Soldier.

Although he was under the Emperor, he was still the highest-ranking official in the Imperial Guards.

Baek Jagi, who had been brought into the Northern Commander’s group because of his extensive field experience, quickly became a provincial commander at the young age of 34.

“Cough!”

Baek Jagi was flustered by Ran-yeong’s words and coughed.

He had met her for the first time the day he was appointed as a provincial commander, and a few embarrassing things had happened between them.

[This is funny, for a woman to be the strongest Guardian in the Imperial Palace.]

Wheeeing!

[Uhhhk! My uniform is on fire!]

He'd made fun of her, and Ran-yeong had burnt his uniform.
Those embarrassing memories rushed back into his mind.

“Why talk about the past! Guardian! It is treason! Protecting the Demonic Cult which is trying to hurt the Emperor is treason!”

Clang!

The Supreme Commander had drawn his most treasured sword, which he almost never drew.

It was a famous sword whose sharpness increased, the stronger the opponent was.

When he saw the engraving on the sword's body, Lee Hameng's eyes lit up.

“Noble Warrior's Sword!”

Noble Warrior's Sword.

This famous sword had been made by Ou Zhizi, a master craftsman from the Chu dynasty.

Although not made of cold steel, the swords made by him were known to be sharp enough to decapitate a horse's or a cow's head in a single stroke.

Woong!

The Noble Warrior's Sword released a bluish-black energy.

"I will punish you with the sword given to me by His Majesty."

Baek jagi, who had garnered numerous achievements whilst subjugating the barbarians of the North during the former emperor's rule, was given one of the ten famous swords which were kept as properties of the Imperial family.

'Hooh! That sword is the real thing.'

Even Lee Hameng, who rarely showed interest in such things, was clearly interested in this treasured sword.

On the other hand, Baek Jagi, who pulled out the sword, was staring intently into Ran-yeong's eyes.

'Guardian. I believe that you haven't forgotten your eternal loyalty to His Majesty.'

The former emperor was very interested in martial arts.

He would often bring soldiers from the Imperial Palace to compete with Ran-yeong.

At that time, the Noble Warrior's Sword was always brought into the underground shrine for those battles.

'I don't know what kind of trick they played on you, but please see the truth and come back to His Majesty's side'

That was Baek Jagi's real purpose.

To remind her of the memories and the loyalty she was supposed to show to the Empire.

He thought it was probably a lapse in her judgement that made her decide to turn her back on the Empire where she'd spent nearly two hundred years.

"Haa!"

Phat!

Baek Jagi jumped forwards and reached for Ran-yeong, who stood in front of Chun Yeowun.

Baek Jagi was now retired from active duty, but he still remained the Supreme Commander.

His splendid sword, which was emitting devastating energy, drew numerous rays in the air at the same time.

Cha! Cha! Cha! Cha! Cha!

They all contained the intent to cut her down.

The attack was supposed to strike her vertically, cutting her into two.

However, even as he approached, Ran-yeong didn't move a single step.

'This energy?'

The energy his sword exuded seemed familiar to her.

However, she knew that she couldn't move from her position.

Wheeeeing!

As she raised her right hand, a wall of flames soared into the air.

Despite his attack being so sophisticated, the sword rays disappeared immediately when blocked by the defensive wall made of flames.

'You think that can stop me? How naive!'

Baek Jagi knew that her trick wouldn't work.

His treasured Noble Warrior's Sword cut through the flames, inching towards her neck.

Clang!

Ran-yeong used her experience to catch the Supreme Commander's sword that was covered in bluish-black energy between her palms, which had been strengthened with internal energy.

'Are you stopping it with your hands? Indeed, how monstrous!'

It would be a difficult fight, he had competed with her several times before but had never been able to defeat her.

However, the purpose of the Supreme Commander wasn't to suppress her.

His goal was something else.

Baek Jagi spoke as he used his qi to push the sword.

"Guardian! Don't you remember this technique? Didn't you make it for His Majesty who carried this sword?"

Right.

The sword technique which the Supreme Commander had used, had been created by her.

By showing it to her, he wanted to make her remember the loyalty she had towards the Imperial family.

"Remember that moment."

With those words, Baek Jagi's eyes met with Ran-yeong's.

The trembling sword in her hand stopped.

"Ah!"

Baek Jagi's eyes lit up thinking that he had achieved his goal.

At that very moment,

Crack!

'Broke... Ah!?'

The bright face of Baek Jagi, suddenly distorted.

The gift from His Majesty the Emperor, the legendary Noble Warrior's Sword, which he treasured more than his own life, had been broken.

"My... myyyyyyy sworrrrrddddddd!"

As they followed the sword's fragments which fell to the ground, Baek Jagi's eyes were filled with despair, grief, and deep sorrow.

Ran-yeong's annoyed voice then entered his ears.

“What was I supposed to remember? Don’t force your stupid memories on a woman you barely know.”

“You, you...”

Hweeing! Pang!

“Kuak!”

Before he could even say anything, the spear-shaped flame had struck his chest.

His body, which had been hit with the flame qi, was flung backwards as the qi pierced his chest.

Bang!

“Supreme Commander!”

Yeongjo, the Northern Commander, caught him as he flew across the room.

Pak!

'This!'

Tatatatata!

He'd managed to catch the Supreme Commander, but the force of the attack was so strong that even his body was pushed back.

Even the best swordsman in the Imperial Palace couldn't reach her level.

"Huh! In the end, you are no different from the other males who are obsessed with the past."

For Ran-yeong, the memories in the shrine were never considered happy ones, she didn't even consider them as memories.

It was just a period of psychological torture as she'd endured the severe loneliness of losing her fellow cult leaders, and kept her loyalty to complete the final order of her Lord.

She had already begun to forget all her pain as she was given new hopes, but this lowly man had just forced her to remember it.

“Kuak!”

Creakkkkk!

White air began flowing from Baek Jagi’s mouth.

Even if he wanted to attack, his precious Noble Warrior’s Sword had been broken.

Furthermore, he had to focus on calming the fire that was burning into his organs.

As the Supreme Commander was wounded, Admiral Seo Tae-sik shouted whilst pointing his fingers at her.

“Guardian! Are you really going to betray His Majesty, the Emperor?”

“Betray? Who is betraying whom, Admiral?”

“Aren’t your actions an act of betrayal and rebellion against the Empire? Isn’t that what you are doing?”

At Seo Tae-sik's words, Ran-yeong shook her head and answered with a smirk.

"This woman in front of you, has been living for the Cult since the moment she was born. In the old days, I was ordered by the Lord of the Demonic Cult to protect the treasure in the Royal Shrine, so how can you call this betrayal?"

The word 'betrayal' was something Ran-yeong hated the most.

She was one of the most loyal members of the Demonic Cult.

However, even though he knew about her existence, Seo Tae-sik, the Admiral, couldn't have known about the pact that had been made two hundred years before.

"Demonic Cult's orders? Hold on. What absurdity are you..."

"Stop."

That was when someone interrupted him.

"Your Majesty?"

The one who had stopped him was none other than the Emperor.

Knowing that the Lord of the Demonic Cult himself was present, he had decided to stay silent, but when he stepped forward, Admiral Seo Tae-sik had to keep his mouth shut.

The emperor made eye contact with Ran-yeong, who seemed proud of her actions, and started recalling the past.

It was when he had inherited the throne that he had been told the truth.

[Emperor, listen to us. Strictly speaking, the Qilin's Core and Blood, the treasures kept in the Royal Shrine, actually do not belong to the Imperial family.]

[Not to our family?]

He was too shocked to understand what that actually meant.

He was later informed of the contents of the contract which had been signed by the past Emperor.

[The Great Guardian, Ran-yeong, is a member of the Demonic Cult, who signed a contract with the First Emperor at the founding of the Empire to protect the treasure.]

Originally, the first emperor had known that the men from the Demonic Cult, who were there to protect the treasures of the Royal Shrine, would disappear over time.

He'd thought that if everyone disappeared over time, the treasure would soon be forgotten by the cult.

However, something totally unexpected had happened.

The last remaining member of the cult, Mun Ran-yeong, had managed to consume the Qilin's blood, and therefore to increase her lifespan.

'I knew that this day might come soon.'

The first emperor hadn't thought that its blood would be absorbed in his time.

If the core and the blood in the Royal Shrine were used by too many people, the contract between the Demonic Cult and Imperial Family would become meaningless. With that in mind, Ran-yeong had decided to stay behind and guard the core and blood.

But now, the Lord of the Demonic Cult himself had appeared.

"... the words of the Guardian hold truth. There is no doubt that she is a member of the Demonic Cult."

“!!!”

The emperor meekly admitted the truth.

At the emperor's words, all the officials inside the circle of flame were astonished.

A secret that no one knew had been revealed.

The hidden truth, that the Qilin's Blood and Core, which were considered to be treasures of the Empire, actually belonged to the Demonic Cult.

Furthermore, the person who was considered to be the hidden power of the palace was also a member of the Demonic Cult.

“H-how could this...”

“The treasure of the Royal Shrine belongs to the Demonic...”

Contrary to the embarrassed officials, Chun Yeowun started to see the emperor in a different light.

They were in the middle of the Imperial Palace.

The emperor could act strong or even distort the truth, but he had decided to admit it.

'The Emperor's magnanimity is a lot greater than we thought.'

Indeed, the emperor was surely an astonishing person.

Chun Yeowun felt satisfied.

In such a chaotic atmosphere, the emperor spoke again.

"So you are the Lord of the Demonic Cult?"

When the emperor spoke again, his tone was back to normal.

The officials were in utter shock.

Even the people of Yulin were shocked to see the Emperor treating the Demonic Cult's Lord as his equal.

"That is right, Your Majesty."

Chun Yeowun answered in a softer voice.

However, just because the beginning of the conversation went smoothly, didn't mean that it would end smoothly.

“There is something I must say first. Thank you for helping my second son, the prince Zhu Taikhan. However, this is the Imperial Palace.”

Gradually, the emperor’s voice rose.

“The signing of the Non-aggression treaty doesn’t give you the right to break into the Imperial Palace and make a fuss without my permission!”

He wasn’t wrong.

Chun Yeowun and his members had in fact snuck into the Imperial palace without permission.

If the emperor asked him to take responsibility for his actions, he had no argument to refute it.

If only those Blade God Six Martial clan bastards hadn’t created this mess.

“I am sorry if this has made you uncomfortable, Your Majesty, maybe there are some misunderstandings which need to be cleared up...”

It was then.

Swooooooah!

Before Chun Yeowun's words were finished, sharp energy rose from all directions and the flames, which were isolating the Guards and eunuchs, were extinguished instantly.

Shhhh!

At the same time, one eunuch from the Cardinal Spear knelt before the emperor.

A handsome young man, but at first glance, he looked like a eunuch, and was pretty enough to be considered a woman.

'He is fast.'

Lee Hameng's eyes narrowed.

He hadn't felt a single person move.

The young eunuch, who knelt and bowed in front of the emperor, spoke.

“I apologize to Your Majesty. As ordered, I tried to stay still and watch, but I didn’t have any other option but to come over as I judged the situation to be turning dangerous.”

Ran-yeong, who had been confident up until then, trembled and muttered.

“Guardian.”

A young eunuch could extinguish Ran-yeong’s flames?.

His true identity was that he was the True Guardian, the Emperor’s true, hidden Guardian.

The entire air around them changed with his movements.

“I was going to call for you anyway.”

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

“Give me the order.”

The Emperor looked at Chun Yeowun with a solemn expression and spoke.

“The Lord of the Demonic Cult has invaded the Imperial Palace at his discretion, and without permission, this means that he has taken the power of the Imperial Palace extremely lightly. From this moment on, I want you to show him the true power of the Imperial Palace.”

Chapter 377 - The Imperial Escort (5)

Chapter 377: The Imperial Escort (5)

The real hidden Guardian Escort.

Unlike Guardian Ran-yeong, whose existence was at least known in the Imperial Palace, this one was totally unknown.

There had been many rumors about the existence of the Guardian Escort.

In the past, when the military rebellion had broken out, there was a rumor that this so-called Guardian Escort had protected the Emperor from more than 300 military soldiers who'd broken into the palace. He'd cut every single one of their heads off.

'The Guardian Escort?'

Admiral Seo Tae-sik, of the Cardinal Spear, was puzzled.

Because even though he had heard about the existence of the Guardian Escort, he'd never seen him before.

What was more shocking was that this eunuch had come out of the Cardinal Spear.

[Is it someone you know?]

Seo Tae-sik asked the leader Sang, who was next to him.

Leader Sang, who directly selected and managed the eunuchs, shook his head as it was also his first time seeing this man.

[Admiral Seo. There was never such a person in our group, even when we gathered inside, he hadn't been present.]

[Huh!]

He wasn't a member of the Cardinal Spear, which meant that he'd joined in secretly, by disguising himself.

'This is such a weird day. I see two legends of the Imperial Palace at the same time.'

Ran-yeong, the Master of Guardians, responsible for protecting the underground shrine.

And the Guardian Escort, who protected the Emperor and moved like his shadow without revealing himself to anyone.

People who had never revealed themselves before.

'He seems well.'

Ran-yeong looked at the pretty-faced eunuch who was called the Guardian Escort, with narrowed eyes.

The moment she saw him, she immediately recognized him.

However, until the moment he'd appeared, she hadn't even been aware of his existence.

'In the past, I was at least able to sense him...'

Although her flames looked simple, they actually weren't.

Extinguishing the flame meant that his martial arts had developed a lot since the last time she'd met him.

A person who is totally incomparable to Admirals, the strongest swordsman Northern Commander or even the strongest warrior Supreme Commander.

The Emperor looked at the Guardian Escort, with eyes filled with trust.

“The true power of the Imperial Palace... what do you exactly mean by that?”

Chun Yeowun’s eyes narrowed after hearing the Emperor’s confident words.

It was no different from saying that the Demonic Cult members were to be suppressed by force.

The emperor spoke to the eunuch who was still kneeling.

“Get up.”

“Yes. Your Majesty!”

As the eunuch rose, the emperor pointed to him and introduced him.

“This person is called Lim Gyu-hwa, my personal escort.”

At the introduction of the emperor, the eunuch smiled and bowed whilst looking at Chun Yeowun.

“I greet the Lord of the Demonic Cult.”

At first glance, he looked like a woman with a slender figure.

It would be more believable if someone said he was a woman disguised as a man.

'Even the name is feminine'

Gyu-hwa meant sunflower.

It was unusual for men to use the character (hwa) in their names.

'Lim Gyu-hwa?'

Unlike Chun Yeowun, who stared at him calmly, Great Guardian Marakim titled his head.

It was definitely his first time seeing this man, but he had heard the name somewhere before.

He was sure he had heard it somewhere, but when he tried to recall it, nothing came to mind.

The emperor continued speaking.

“I don’t know much about martial arts, but it was said that the people of Wulin would usually judge right from wrong by fighting, right? The weak bow to the strong was it?”

The weak bow to the strong.

The words which best described the world of Wulin.

Wulin was based on the ideology of ‘survival of the fittest’.

Wulin considered whoever was strongest to be the bearer of truth.

It seemed like the emperor’s intentions were to use those words to turn the tables.

“Regardless of the reason, the Demonic Cult invaded my palace, harmed my servants and broke the arms of the crown prince, my son, and a member of the Imperial family.”

Chun Yeowun had accomplished a feat that no other person from Wulin had managed to achieve.

The emperor was bound to be angry.

Nevertheless, the Emperor tried to treat him respectfully considering his position as the Lord of the Demonic Cult, one of the three major powers of Wulin, and someone with whom he had signed the non-aggression treaty.

“This alone is enough to say that you have broken the pact first. Wouldn’t it be a disgrace to me, the Emperor, if I just turned a blind eye to this?”

“Your Majesty! How could you say that”

Hearing the word ‘disgrace’ come out the emperor’s mouth, the people present began to whisper.

If it wasn’t for their Emperor’s presence, those men would definitely try to take down the arrogant infiltrators of the Demonic Cult to prove their loyalty.

Chuk!

The emperor raised his hand and gestured for the others to shut their mouths.

And he spoke again.

“As I said, it is unacceptable to let you go without any kind of punishment. So, here is my suggestion, my escort here is the best warrior and the strongest martial artist in the Imperial palace, I can assure you of that.”

At the emperor's words, Yeongjo, the Northern Commander's face turned red in embarrassment.

He was called the best swordsman in the Imperial palace, but his title was meaningless if the emperor didn't acknowledge it.

"Even though you have been disrespectful to me and the empire, I still have no intentions of overriding the agreement that the first emperor had with you people."

Chun Yeowun laughed to himself at how the Emperor kept saying that he held no hostility towards them.

Yet, he constantly pointed out the faults of Chun Yeowun and the Demonic Cult.

At first, it seemed like the emperor was angry and ended up revealing his secret weapon, but that didn't seem to be the real purpose.

"I will make concessions, and I will respect Wulin laws. If you can defeat this Escort of mine, I am willing to pretend that nothing happened here today."

Ignoring what happened, wasn't a bad proposal.

However, that meant that the Emperor was certain that his Guardian Escort would manage well.

Chun Yeowun asked.

“What If I can’t defeat your Guardian Escort?”

“I will amend the non-aggression treaty.”

“?”

Chun Yeowun’s eyebrow rose at the words of amending the non-aggression treaty.

So this was his true goal.

He knew that there would be a price, but unexpectedly, the Emperor was asking for too much.

“The Forces of Justice faction swears allegiance to the Empire regardless of the non-aggression treaty, right?”

‘Huh.’

The emperor looked down at someone who was still bowing.

It was none other than Elder Cheong-su and his disciples, who were long time envoys of the Forces of Justice.

A confrontation between the emperor's men and the Demonic Cult had occurred suddenly. They had remained bowing to show that they were unaware of the happenings and wanted no part.

'We are in trouble.'

Elder Cheong-su, who had been waiting for the situation to be settled, didn't know what to do.

The Emperor's question was too sensitive for him to answer.

'These kinds of things always happen when the Demonic Cult gets involved...'

Without the Demonic Cult, he would have had a chance to fall into the good graces of His Majesty and be made into an official of the empire.

However, if he said that he would side with the Emperor in front of one of the three strongest powers of Wulin, the Demonic Cult, it would be nothing less than a declaration of death once he returned back from the empire.

"Is it not?"

“Your Majesty, that... that...”

It was a situation in which he couldn't answer.

If he answered incorrectly, he would later get criticized by the other leaders of the Forces of Justice, and even the alliance with the Demonic Cult might break.

As he continued to hesitate, the Emperor's expression hardened.

Cheong-su was beginning to break out in cold sweat.

“So if we can't defeat this Guardian of yours, do you want the Demonic cult to become servants of the empire, and not a member of the non-aggression treaty anymore?”

‘Thank god!’

Thankfully, Chun Yeowun had intervened.

To Elder Cheong-su, who was facing a dilemma, Chun Yeowun looked like his savior.

Thanks to that, the emperor's hardened face turned to Chun Yeowun.

'What will it be?'

Elder Cheong-su looked at Chun Yeowun, who didn't seem to fear anything.

If he had committed to the emperor's words, he would have missed a good chance to rise in Yulin and would have found himself in an embarrassing situation.

'Did he intervene because of the alliance we have with him?'

Elder Cheong-su's eyes fluttered.

Even if there was an alliance, Yulin and the Demonic Cult were bound to return back to hostile relations once their goal was achieved. Yet, even in front of the emperor, he was helping a member of the Forces of Justice.

'Oh, god. Heavenly god.'

Elder Cheong-su couldn't help but admire Chun Yeowun.

To help a person, who would be of no use to him in any situation, meant that Chun Yeowun sincerely respected the alliance.

'So this is the current Lord of the Demonic Cult? I thought he was just reckless, but he has courage, tolerance and the qualities of a true warrior.'

In the beginning, Elder Cheong-su had only thought of him as a dangerous man.

However, the way he looked at Yeowun had changed.

Actually, he had misunderstood something.

'You must be out of your mind to try and take the Forces of Justice under the control of the Imperial Palace.'

Chun Yeowun's intervention wasn't to help the Forces of Justice.

Looking at the bewildered expression on Elder Cheong-su's face, he knew that he would sooner or later make a decision favourable to the Imperial Palace.

However, if Cheong-su, a man from the Forces of Justice swore allegiance to the Imperial family, then they would fall under its control.

The people of the Forces of Justice would reprimand this Elder for a long time because of his decision, but even so they wouldn't be able to undo what had already been agreed upon.

If that happened, the Emperor would surely try to take the Yulin under his governance.

“Hmmm,”

The Emperor’s eyes held a look of regret.

If Chun Yeowun hadn’t been involved, the Emperor would have naturally brought the forces of justice under him, but he had failed.

‘I didn’t think he would have political or diplomatic skills yet, but he is already pretty good.’

The envoy from Yulin, was currently there as a representative of the Forces of Justice.

The Emperor could have gotten what he wanted from that person himself, such a pity.

However, it wasn’t like this was the last opportunity.

“Yes. Because your cult had been instrumental at the time of hounding, the first emperor had signed the non-aggression treaty out of goodwill and gave you freedom. When a favor continues, it gets mistaken for a privilege. Trusting the non-aggression between Wulin and the Empire only disturbed the peace in the Imperial Palace, shouldn’t you then pay the price?”

He spoke for so long giving out sensible reasons, but there was only one conclusion.

If they lost, the Demonic Cult would have to swear allegiance to the empire.

He may appear as a dignified emperor, but he was resourceful and quick in making use of opportunities.

He wasn't the kind to let go of something once he knew that he had it in his hand.

'This!'

Both Marakim and Lee Hameng were puzzled.

They'd guessed that the Emperor was planning something, but they hadn't thought that he would use the situation to his benefit, in such a mischievous way.

At that time, Ran-yeong's words entered Marakim's ears.

[The Great Guardian right? We need to stop this offer right now.]

[What do you mean?]

[The emperor is making this offer because he is confident that he will win.]

[Confident in winning?]

[I don't know everything as I always stayed in the shrine, but I heard that there is not a single person in Wulin who wouldn't know the name Lim Gyu-hwa...]

[Lim Gyu-hwa!]

Great Guardian Marakim's eyes widened.

He knew that he'd heard the name somewhere, but when Ran-yeong said it, something struck.

'Wave Sword Lim Gyu-hwa!'

Lim Gyu-hwa, the Wave Sword.

He was once one of the five strongest warriors of the Middle East, and was called the Sword Emperor.

Like a comet in Wulin, he was an absolute figure with his unique swordsmanship.

He was a great man, and everyone hoped that he would turn into the best swordsman in the entire world after he defeated the King of Destroying Sword, who was the top of the five great warriors and skilled swordsmen of that time.

‘But I heard that he only worked in Wulin for one year and disappeared after that.’

It was in the past, more than 90 years ago.

It was something Marakim couldn't recall at once because it was a story he'd heard as a child.

Which meant that the eunuch was currently one hundred and twenty years old, even considering him undergoing metamorphosis, his current appearance made no sense.

[No way...]

[He has survived for many years by drinking the Qilin's blood!]

[Qilin's Blood!]

Right.

Lim Gyu-hwa, Wave Sword.

He was a native from the city of eunuchs, and he was the only man who survived the experiment of taking in Qilin's Blood.

With his success, the Imperial palace had forced dozens of eunuchs to drink the blood, but they had all burned to death, making him the only one who could take it.

'Lord of the Demonic Cult. You have no choice but to accept my offer.'

The emperor had given enough reasons.

If he refused, it meant that Chun Yeowun was acknowledging that he and his subordinates couldn't defeat the Guardian Escort.

If that happened, the Imperial Palace could spread a rumor, stating that they had the power to subdue the Demonic Cult.

'My escort was the first Admiral of the East Spear, he was very skilled even before consuming the Qilin's Blood. His skills are well known throughout the entirety of Wulin too.'

The emperor was confident in winning his bet.

Whatever the situation, he would never lose.

At that time, Chun Yeowun passed by Ran-yeong and walked forward.

He had come to a decision.

“Nice. To accept my...”

Wheeing!

‘!?’

Before the emperor could finish his words, a jet black flame rose from Chun Yeowun’s right hand, and soon formed into a sword.

It was the Sky Demon Sword imbued with the Qilin’s Flame, the invisible sword.

‘Black flame?’

There were times when the Emperor invited masters from various factions of Wulin to learn about qi and internal energy, but never once had he felt such an eerie energy.

‘What is that?’

The Emperor was puzzled by the unknown energy he was feeling for the first time, that was when Lim Gyu-hwa, who was standing proudly for a moment, spoke in a voice of urgency.

“Your-your Majesty! Please hold off the fight for a moment...”

It was then.

Slash!

“Ah!”

In the blink of an eye, Chun Yeowun appeared in front of Lim Gyu-hwa.

Even he, who was considered the strongest by the Emperor, a Supreme Master level warrior, was quick to know something was off.

‘What is he?’

Flustered, Lim Gyu-hwa, drew his golden Wave sword from his waist.

The Wave Sword moved around like a whip, and then formed air like waves in the sky, creating high-quality shields.

'I had to make it in a hurry!'

It was a sword shield which was made from the technique of the Wave Sword.

This sword contained the techniques of the Flower Rain from Sky, which makes that shield stronger with every attack it received.

Chik! Phut! Phut! Phut!

Chun Yeowun's black flame sword hit the Wave Sword Shield.

With each hit, another Wave shield would form, making it impossible for the black flame to penetrate the shield.

He had defended the emperor urgently, but he knew that the attack could be prevented.

However,

Wooong! Crack!

“No!”

Lim Gyu-hwa’s eyes widened.

The Wave Sword Shield, which was supposed to get stronger with every attack, was suddenly pierced.

It was a natural thing to happen, as Chun Yeowun was using the Invisible sword.

However, he didn’t know that the black flame sword in Chun Yeowun’s hand was the Invisible Sword.

‘No, this is the invisible sword!’

Shocked by the crack in his shield, Lim Gyu-hwa tried to widen the distance, but the black flaming sword had already brushed past his right arm.

Slash!

“Kuaaaaakkkkkkkkk!”

Lim Gyu-hwa's right arm, which was supposed to be holding the Wave Sword, fell to the ground.

Thud!

The arm which had fallen to the ground, immediately started burning with black smoke.

"Kuuuk!"

Aside from the pain, he knew that his life was at risk.

'N-no, he can't be trying to kill me in here?'

He was in front of the Emperor and the other officials.

Lim Gyu-hwa, who felt his life being threatened, was taken aback and stabbed towards Chun Yeowun's chest with the sword in his left hand.

But,

Puhk!

“Kuak!”

A sword of black flames, which was too fast for the naked eye to see, slashed his throat.

Feeling the pain of being cut and the pain of burning at the same time was the worst pain he had ever felt, a pain he couldn't describe.

Lim Gyu-hwa muttered under his breath with blood stained, fear-filled eyes.

“In... indeed... Div... Divine.... Mas...”

Thud!

Unfortunately, he couldn't complete what he wanted to say before he fell to the ground.

“H-how is this possible?”

The Emperor, who was flustered by what had happened in the blink of an eye, was approached by Chun Yeowun, as he walked away from Lim Gyu-hwa's body.

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

Phak!

With the most cynical smile on his face he said.

“Your Majesty is right. When the favor continues, it gets mistaken for a privilege, right?”

Chapter 378 - Don't touch him (1)

Chapter 378: Don't touch him (1)

Being invincible can be weird.

The difference between a low-ranked master and a high-ranked master wasn't very big.

However, the stronger a person got, the bigger the gap would get.

It was one of the reasons why the people of Wulin clung to the concept of strength, higher levels, and internal energy rather than working hard to reach a higher noble status.

For example, the internal energy and qi required to use techniques would become less as one achieved higher levels of cultivation.

Of course, when it comes to techniques, their efficiency depends on the situation, the use, and the understanding, more than the cultivation level. Nonetheless, such dependency simply fades away when the warriors reach higher levels.

Lim Gyu-hwa, the Wave Sword.

He had reached the perfect Supreme Master level.

Even compared to the top five skilled warriors of the past, he must be one of the top three.

Moreover, he had lived for a very long time, his experience in martial arts would most likely make him the strongest person in the current Wulin.

'... Oh goodness!'

'How could he be taken down so easily...'

Great Guardian Marakim, and Great Elder Ran-yeong, who were worried about their Lord, were immediately confused.

It had all happened before they could even try to dissuade their Lord from engaging in battle.

The moment that Lim Gyu-hwa appeared and revealed his identity, they'd grown worried that Yeowun might be in danger.

However, it ended in Lim Gyu-hwa's swift decapitation after just three strikes.

'Ugh! Unbelievable.'

Elder Cheong-su and his disciples, who were watching from the side, wore dumbfounded expressions.

Was there a sky above the sky?

When they saw Lim Gyu-hwa, who was called the Guardian Escort, rumored for his unparalleled strength, they'd also grown worried.

But then, Chun Yeowun had cut off his arm and neck as if he was dealing with a low-level warrior.

'There is no way that what my eyes just saw is an illusion. It must be the black invisible sword he made using that black flame!'

Invisible sword.

A tangible sword known to be formless with intangible energy.

The legendary sword of Dokgo Gupae of the Mount Hua Sect, which could only be achieved when one reached the Divine Master Level.

'That sword definitely has no sword qi.'

The strength which gets aggregated by the qi is excellent, but it couldn't be compared to this invisible sword he'd just witnessed.

Its power was astonishing enough to pierce through the Wave Sword Shield, which became harder and sturdier with every attack.

"... Divine Master."

A small, quiet, and short mumble, but its impact was enormous.

Most of those in the underground were martial arts users, so they were well aware of the cultivation levels.

There was no way that those who practice martial arts wouldn't have heard of the Divine Master level, the level, told of in legends.

"No way!"

"Di, Divine Master level?"

"Does that even exist?"

The Admirals, the commanders, and all the other eunuchs were all shocked and confused.

A shocking scene that displayed how easily the Guardian Escort had been killed.

Being one of the 17 leaders of the Forces of Justice, he really shouldn't have been moved by Chun Yeowun.

'Huhu, that person is taking another step closer to becoming invincible. A real monster has been born within the Demonic Cult. Heavenly God!'

However, He couldn't help but acknowledge him.

That was when a question popped into Elder Cheong-su's mind.

'Maybe the Lord of the Demonic Cult can be compared to the monster in the east?'

A monster from the east that no one could touch.

There wasn't much information about the monster because he didn't walk along with other members of Wulin, but he was one of the Five Great Warriors and had a wild character of 'God' in his title.

He was also called the God of War and God of Battle.

And it was said that he had earned all these titles with only the use of his two fists.

'A monster against a monster...'

A loud scream entered Elder Cheong-su's ear.

"Yah! You! Step away from His Majesty right now!"

Northern Commander Yeongjo, was pointing his sword at Chun Yeowun, his hands trembling visibly.

After killing the Guardian Escort, Chun Yeowun approached the emperor with just two steps.

However, seeing the overwhelming power Chun Yeowun had, Yeongjo couldn't move his feet no matter how much he tried.

'I'll die with just one strike from him.'

It was certain that he was going to be killed the moment he stepped out.

Whilst he was struggling to overcome the fear, a blue blade suddenly touched his neck, as he struggled to stand.

It was the Great Guardian, Marakim, wearing a mask with a unique pattern.

“Da-Dark King!”

“I swear, one more step and you lose your head.”

“Eiik!”

Yeongjo’s face turned dark as his heart leaped into his throat

He’d completely overlooked the fact that it wasn’t just Chun Yeowun in the underground shrine, but also Ran-yeong, who claimed to be a member of Demonic Cult and Great Guardian Marakim.

As Yeongjo shut his mouth, everyone’s eyes focused on one place.

‘How can the Guardian Escort be so helpless?’

The head of the Guardian Escort, Lim Gyu-hwa, was rolling on the cold floor.

His eyes were still open as his death came as fast as lightning.

[Can you deal with that person?]

[I'll have to compete to know, but don't worry, I don't think I will be defeated.]

Those were the words Lim Gyu-hwa, the strongest person in the Imperial Palace, had uttered before his death.

He hadn't lost his confidence even after encountering the Five Great Warriors of his time, so, how could he not withstand one arrogant and inexperienced Lord?

'Wh-what did I end up doing?'

He'd only been trying to gain control of them but had ended up losing his Guardian Escort, the legacy he had inherited from his predecessors.

The Emperor's confidence, which had never wavered, began to crack.

Embarrassment was visible in his solemn eyes, and he unconsciously took a step backwards.

Step!

Chun Yeowun's eyes lit up.

"Oh! Are you afraid of me?"

Everyone's eyes quickly locked onto Yeowun as silence suddenly fell.

'Ahhh!'

The emperor's eyes shook.

To the emperor of the great Empire, who had always ruled and never backed down, Stepping back would mean he was accepting defeat before his opponent.

'No. I am the emperor of this wide empire. This can't happen!'

Bewildered, the emperor glared at Chun Yeowun and shouted.

"Arrogant! Step back! Right now!"

Hearing that, Chun Yeowun couldn't stop himself from smiling.

Even though he had instinctively stepped back, the Emperor didn't want to recognize the power of the Demonic Cult.

Enjoying the way things were turning out, Chun Yeowun opened his mouth.

"You seem to be misunderstanding something. Your Majesty!"

"Misunderstanding? Are you trying to ridicule me?"

"You can actually order me! Your Majesty! But only when you are superior to me!"

With those words, Chun Yeowun took another step closer to the Emperor and raised his hand.

Wooong!

"!?"

The Emperor's body slowly began floating in the air.

The Emperor's expression hardened at the humiliation he was facing for the first time.

"H-how dare you put the Emperor through this!"

Admiral Seo Tae-sik of the Cardinal Spear, who had deep loyalty to the Imperial family, couldn't stand still and began yelling as he took out his weapon to save the Emperor.

Phat!

He tried to move towards Chun Yeowun's back and stab him with the sword, but there was no way Chun Yeowun's subordinates would let that happen.

Hweeeing!

"Ah-no!"

Just as he was about to aim for Chun Yeowun, a pillar of hot fire soared right in front of him creating a flaming wall.

Flustered, Seo Tae-sik turned his body to avoid getting hit and tried again, when Ran-yeong reached out and unleashed more fire.

“Who gave you the permission to act like this? Admiral Seo! If you have no intention of dying, don’t do things you’ll eventually regret!”

“Guardian, I’ll remember this!”

If he could, he wanted to cut through the fire, but if he tried to do anything, Ran-yeong was ready to kill him.

However, as a subject, he couldn’t watch the Emperor be humiliated.

It was his duty to protect the Emperor, even if it meant losing his life.

‘Cut one’s flesh and cut the opponent’s bones!’

Admiral Seo Tae-sik of the Cardinal Spear tried to break through the pillar of fire created by Ran-yeong with the resolution to cut one’s flesh and cut the opponent’s bones.

“How dare you!”

While Seo Tae-sik was deciding, Ran-yeong’s flames, which began to narrow the distance, gracefully moved to the air and aimed for him.

Woong!

Seo Tae-sik gave up his defence and raised his sword rushing towards the fire.

‘Clench the teeth and hold on, I will cut into the back of this devil and its fire!’

After all, that was his simple plan.

The pillar of fire was blocking him from approaching Chun Yeowun’s back, if he could go past it, he could cut Chun Yeowun down and save the emperor.

With that determination, he struck the pillar of fire with his sword, imbued with sword qi.

“Uh? Th-that can’t be!”

The pillar of fire, which he thought would split at once, rose like a whirlwind and easily deflected his sword.

The dead Guardian Escort, Lim Gyu-hwa, had managed to put out the flames, making Seo Tae-sik believe that he could too, but this time the flames had manifested from Ran-yeong's body.

There was no way that he could deal with a Supreme Master.

“That was the final warning, Admiral Seo!”

“Damn it!”

Pak! Pak! Pak! Pak!

Ran-yeong's graceful hand, aimed at Seo Tae-sik's back, and attacked.

Admiral Seo tried blocking it, but he wasn't on the same level as her and he received the full brunt of the attack.

“Kuak!”

Thud!

The sound of broken bones was clearly heard.

He'd tried to use his life in exchange for Yeowun's, but in the end, he had given up his own for nothing.

Ran-yeong grabbed Seo Tae-sik by his neck and flung him away from Chun Yeowun.

Thud!

Seo Tae-sik, who fell to the ground, coughed up blood and shouted at the eunuchs and Guards.

"Cough! Cough! What are you doing! Protect His Majesty right now!"

"B-but..."

Even Lim Gyu-hwa hadn't been able to compete with that monster.

“Ahh! There are only five members of the Demonic Cult! Do you mean to commit treason by allowing His Majesty to be humiliated?”

“Ye-yes!!”

Clang!

At Seo Tae-sik’s words, they all drew their weapons.

They were having a hard time figuring out what had to be done in such a chaotic situation, but the words of Admiral Seo had managed to knock some sense into them.

‘Ye-yeah! No matter how good they are, there’s only five of them!’

‘We are superior in numbers. As long as he is human, there is no reason why we won’t be able to take him down.’

Even if they weren’t as skilled, their numbers alone exceeded three hundred.

It seemed like there was a possibility of taking him down if they constantly attacked.

“Cough! Cough! Aim for the Lord of the De-demonic cult!”

“Yes!!”

Phat!

At Seo Tae-sik’s command, they went to attack Chun Yeowun, who was controlling the Emperor.

“Put down His Majesty right now!”

“You arrogant man!”

Cha! Cha! Cha! Cha!

The sound of swords clashing reverberated throughout the shrine.

Three hundred eunuchs and Guards had finally started moving together.

“If you put me down right now...”

Chun Yeowun shook his head at the emperor’s words.

“Abandon your useless expectations.”

“What?”

An unbelievable thing happened in front of the Emperor’s eyes.

Chun Yeowun raised his left hand and opened his palm, the Guards who were charging forward to attack suddenly got blocked by an invisible wall.

Bang!

“Ugh!”

“M-my nose!”

“Wh-what is this?”

A few of them hit the invisible wall really hard and ended up breaking their noses.

Chun Yeowun lightly waved his hand towards those who were bumping into the invisible wall.

Phat!

“Kuak!”

“Ackkk!”

A strong wind pushed at them and flung them backwards.

“Take him down!”

‘Yes! Ahhh!’

Phat! Thud!

The Guards, who were waiting for a follow-up attack, were ready to jump past the wall when the wind ended up blowing them away too.

“Euk!”

“Kuak!”

Those who were trying to help the flying Guards ended up puking blood because of the force with which they’d been flung backwards.

They had all ended up suffering some kind of internal injury.

“Eik! Everyone, attack at once! There is only one enemy! One!”

Hundreds of Guards who were at the back got ready to attack Chun Yeowun, whose skills were taunting them.

Crrrrk!

“Huh? Th-this?”

A shiver ran across their spines.

Yeowun had managed to bring down the three hundred eunuchs and the Guards all together.

“Th-this energy is?”

“This should be impossible!”

Flustered, they tried to make sense of what was happening.

Thud! Thud! Thud! Thud!

Three hundred people had knelt on the ground, their faces white, unable to withstand the energy pressing down on them.

‘Ugh, he-he is a monster!’

‘Yo-your Majesty!’

They'd thought that if they attacked constantly, they could push back the monster and free their Emperor.

However, they couldn't even raise their heads at the moment, they couldn't even see what would happen to their Emperor.

"How could a mere human do such..."

The Emperor got nervous after seeing the eunuchs and the guards kneeling in front of someone else.

Even if he wanted to maintain his calm, it was becoming harder and harder with every passing second.

Chun Yeowun, satisfied, turned his head towards the Emperor.

"It got quiet at last. Now, shall we continue our talk?"

Unlike Chun Yeowun, who was relaxed, the emperor couldn't even open his mouth.

Chun Yeowun continued to speak.

"Do you understand which side would have a favourable outcome if this continues?"

The emperor didn't want to admit to Chun Yeowun's words, but he had no choice but to agree.

A monster like him would be able to invade the palace and kill everyone in the Imperial family if he wanted.

A frightening reality that made his heart start to shudder.

"Well, I'm sure you know this, but the reason why the first emperor signed the treaty wasn't because of the achievements made during the founding of the empire, but to protect himself."

"Khum!"

Humiliating, yet no room for objection.

However, his pride and authority as an Emperor didn't allow this humiliation to continue.

The emperor's face grew red with anger.

"I made a number of concessions thinking that you deserved a chance. But do you think that even after threatening me like this, you'll be able to get out? Even if you are this strong, not everyone in your cult is like this."

“... Your Majesty is so diplomatic even in threatening situations.”

At Chun Yeowun’s laughing words, the Emperor had an absurd expression.

“Hahahahahah.”

He glared at Chun Yeowun and shouted.

“You are making fun of me! No matter how reckless you are, you should be well aware of the aftermath of killing me, I, this land’s Emperor!”

The confidence of an Emperor.

Probably because of all the years he had ruled over the land.

If he died immediately, a civil war would occur in order for a new government to form and for a prince to be given support as the next ruler.

If the political situation became chaotic, the west and the north, who had constantly been at war with the empire, would aim for the capital.

“You can’t threaten my life with this...”

Puhk!

“Huk!”

At that moment, the sharp edge of White Dragon Blade slightly cut the emperor’s neck.

bewildered, the emperor gasped in surprise.

“uh, what the hell do you think you’re doing?”

“Your Majesty seems to be overconfident about your existence.”

“What?”

“When a tooth falls out, a new tooth emerges and takes over the role of chewing, that is how this world works. In the end, someone else will take your place.”

“Wh-what are you saying...”

Chun Yeowun noticed the trembling in the Emperor’s voice and looked over at Zhu Taikhan.

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

“There is a very good ‘tooth’ over there. Besides, he is a shogi horse that I can move at my will.”

“!!!”

The furious face of the emperor, which was full of rage and anger, immediately turned corpse-like white.

Chapter 379 - Don't touch him (2)

Chapter 379: Don't touch him (2)

'What is he trying to do?'

Prince Zhu Taikhan, who was observing Chun Yeowun, was shocked.

The conversation between him and the Emperor had deviated a lot from their agreement.

All of a sudden, Yeowun was talking like a villain who had plotted a rebellion since the beginning.

The situation had totally changed, and a sense of fear ran down Zhu Taikhan's spine.

"Ar-are you planning on killing me?"

The eyes of the emperor trembled.

Unlike the Yulin people he knew, the Lord of the Demonic Cult standing in front of him was an inescapable nightmare.

Chun Yeowun looked directly into the Emperor's fearful eyes.

“You think I won’t kill you Your Majesty?”

Gulp!

As he spoke those words, the White Dragon Blade that was pressed against the Emperor’s neck, dug deeper.

It was to show that his will to kill wasn’t a show.

“Uhk!”

‘He, he’s really serious about doing this.’

The emperor was someone who had never been hurt or mistreated even once in his entire lifetime.

The ominous feeling of death couldn’t even be expressed, as the blade was pressed into his neck.

“How dare you, a lowly cultist, act like this towards His Majesty!”

Shiing!

Yeongjo, the Northern Commander, was so furious at Chun Yeowun's behavior that he tried to attack him.

Clang!

Great Guardian Marakim blocked him as he was the closest to Yeongjo.

Yeongjo tried to get past the man by using his sword, but the opponent wasn't an easy one, and he was called the Dark King.

'How fast is he?'

Yeongjo thought that he could charge in and have at least one chance to attack, but when he took a single step forward, he felt something cold touching his neck.

All of a sudden, Marakim, who was close to him, swung his sword towards his neck.

In a fleeting moment, the warning from Marakim flashed through Yeongjo's mind.

[I swear, take one more step and I will make sure to cut you down]

Yeongjo's eyes widened.

As promised, with just one step, his throat would be cut.

"Ah! No!"

Flustered, he turned around and tried to move back, but Marakim's sword was too fast.

As the cold sword touched his neck, his face, which showed only fear, broke out in cold sweat.

Phak!

"Kuak!"

The attack that collided with his sword made Yeongjo fall heavily to the floor.

He'd been warned, but he hadn't been killed. Marakim had knocked him down with his sword.

'To act like the Lord is hard.'

No matter how horrible the situation was, the opponent was a high-ranked military officer of the Imperial family.

It was difficult to kill such people as Chun Yeowun had done.

Furthermore, without the Lord's order, they couldn't kill anyone.

In other words, only Yeowun got to decide who got killed.

'Huh, what a mess. What is going on?'

It was embarrassing for the Emperor's disciples, but even Cheong-su, a long-standing member of the alliance, looked at Chun Yeowun and the emperor with a perplexed expression.

From the point of view of one of the Forces of Justice's leaders, who had a close relationship with the Emperor, he had to intervene and stop him.

If the emperor died, the current stable relationship between Wulin and the Empire would collapse.

But even more confusing were the words that Chun Yeowun had spoken a moment before.

'He is going to make the second prince the new emperor? Then, did the prince join hands with the Demonic Cult?'

Yulin was the one that had maintained a closer relationship with the emperor and the crown prince, who was supposed to inherit the throne, in order to continue Yulin's ties with the Imperial family.

Yulin had been convinced that it was the eldest son, Zhu Taiyoon, who would inherit the throne, and they had supported him with everything.

However, this time, the plan had gone wrong because of the crown prince's attempt to join hands with the Blade God Six Martial clan.

'This can't go on. If that happens, the balance of Yulin and the Imperial family which we tried to maintain until now will be disrupted.'

It was something they were aware of.

Cheong-su had to prevent the worst from happening, but the problem was that he could do nothing on his own.

'For me to feel so powerless.'

It would take ten Superior Master warriors to take down one Supreme Master.

But the opponent was a Divine Master.

The seventeen leaders of the Forces of Justice, would they even be able to take down this monster, even if all of them joined hands?

'He is an army on his own.'

That was the difference that one level, especially at the peak, made in martial arts.

The influence of a single strong warrior would be able to determine the flow of the war.

The current Lord of Demonic Cult, Chun Yeowun was such a legendary existence.

“Your Majesty!!”

“Kuuuk!”

“Let go of him now!”

Even if the officers cried out, there was no use.

As they were being suppressed by Yeowun’s energy, there was no way for them to save their Emperor.

All they could do was scream while kneeling down.

'Is this the true power of a Divine master?'

That was when the emperor came to terms with his humiliating reality.

Being in the middle of the Imperial Palace, and in midst of the numerous military officials and commanders, this man was scared of nothing and cornered everyone.

Chun Yeowun, a Divine Master, had all the ability to kill him whenever he wished.

'I overestimated myself. I was told by the past emperor to never break down the non-aggression treaty.'

The previous emperor had warned him to never try and overpower the people of Wulin.

Although aware of it, the emperor had only regarded Wulin as a group of people, and never took an actual interest in them.

It was only now that he came to realize his fatal mistake.

If this man, Chun Yeowun, put his mind to it, he could have quietly assassinated the emperor in the middle of the night.

'Wait! Hopefully, his purpose might...'

Suddenly, a strange idea crossed the emperor's mind.

If a man with such ability was greedy for power, he could have quietly assassinated the emperor rather than creating such a scene in the underground.

'If he kills me to put Zhu Taikhan on the throne, he will have to shed more blood as he would have to kill the officials who support the other princes.'

It was something that the man in front of him couldn't have known.

At that moment, the man who had killed the Guardian Escort without showing any mercy was currently suppressing him with his energy, whilst holding him midair.

'This is a showcase of his overwhelming abilities.'

He showed that he was a monster who couldn't be controlled.

And it was something the officials in the underground had clearly realized. Chun Yeowun's goal had been achieved.

'Lord of the Demonic Cult, this person wants something from me. Then...'

The emperor, convinced of it, was about to open his mouth, but then someone appeared between him and Chun Yeowun.

He was none other than Zhu Taikhan.

Zhu Taikhan appeared, put his hands together, and then bowed.

Shocked, Chun Yeowun asked.

"What are you doing, prince?"

"Lo-Lord Chun! Please stop this!"

Unexpectedly, Zhu Taikhan was trying to dissuade Chun Yeowun from harming the Emperor.

The Emperor couldn't understand the situation.

'This kid and the Demonic Cult aren't one team?'

The emperor had thought that Zhu Taikhan and Chun Yeowun were on the same boat.

Zhu Taikhan was the son of a concubine.

Although he was born a prince, it was no exaggeration to say that he was behind the third prince when it came to the emperor's favor.

Such a man had gotten the chance to become the emperor if he received Chun Yeowun's support.

"I understand how displeasing this situation is. However, our agreement was only to remove the spies of the Blade God Six Martial clan in the palace."

"Blade God Six Martial clan?"

Hearing that, the Emperor was even more confused.

It wasn't like he didn't know the clan.

In a way, the emperor knew that they had been the ones supporting Zhu Taiyoon, who wanted to make them a major faction in the non-aggression treaty.

"The promise is being kept."

“Even so, you can’t touch His Majesty the Emperor!”

Despite his pale face, Zhu Taikhan’s words came out strong.

It was like he was trying to fight against some injustice.

This appearance caused confusion amongst the emperor and his companions.

With a cold gaze, Chun Yeowun spoke to Zhu Taikhan.

“It was the same during the founding time. We were helping the dynasty then too, but the results are always the same with you people.”

Chun Yeowun looked at the Guardian Escort’s body.

If it hadn’t been for the overwhelming power they had, the Demonic Cult would have been forced to swear allegiance even after helping the imperial family.

“That...”

“As His Majesty said, when a favor continues, it gets mistaken for a privilege. Our cult is about to stop doing that from now. I see no reason to show favor to the empire, the Imperial family, or His Majesty.”

The emperor's face hardened at Yeowun's words.

It felt like Chun Yeowun really wanted to strike him down.

Zhu Taikhan shouted again.

"Ugh, stop! It is because His Majesty doesn't know the truth!"

"Sorry, but I am in no mood to tell the truth right now. If you don't move, I'll move you with force."

"I won't move! If you are going to kill His Majesty, you'll have to cut me down first."

Chun Yeowun clicked his tongue after seeing Zhu Taikhan speak such words with a trembling body.

"You are being too stubborn."

With those words, Chun Yeowun waved his hand.

Crack!

“Kuak!”

Zhu Taikhan. Who’d been standing with his arms wide open, suddenly had both his legs broken, and he fell to the floor.

Flustered at the sight of Zhu Taikhan screaming in pain, the emperor shouted.

“What are you doing! Didn’t you say that you were going to kill me and put this child on the throne!”

Even if he was a child from a concubine, he was still the emperor’s child.

What kind of a parent would watch their children suffer?

Without hesitation, Chun Yeowun answered.

“It doesn’t matter as long as he is alive.”

“You... you ma...”

The Emperor was at a loss for words.

It was impossible to predict the way Chun Yeowun did things, he seemed like a man who ignored conventional wisdom.

He was very different from the Yulin people he met frequently.

'Is, is this the Demonic Cult?'

Clench!

Collapsed on the floor, and screaming, Zhu Taikhan looked up with a pained face and shouted.

"Please! Please Lord Chun, spare His Majesty!"

Despite his pleading voice, Chun Yeowun responded without a blink.

"You still haven't come to your senses even after having your two legs broken? Then I guess I'll take your hands as well."

When Chun Yeowun raised his hand, the emperor shouted.

“L-Lord Chun! Stop! Don’t do it!”

Crack!

Chun Yeowun ignored his words and turned his hand, which made Zhu Taikhan’s arms twist.

With tears flowing from his eyes, the emperor spoke.

“I... I lost!”

At the declaration of defeat from the emperor’s mouth, the faces of the eunuchs, admirals, and commanders hardened.

The words that should never come out of an emperor’s mouth, were heard.

“How could...”

“Your Majesty...”

Not listening to his officials’ words, the emperor continued to speak.

“... I have lost. I will grant everything that Lord Chun wants... please, please have mercy on me and my kids.”

The declaration of complete surrender.

If this news was to spread, it would cause serious trouble across the entire empire.

“Will you keep your words?”

“... I will.”

Chun Yeowun’s mouth rose into a smile at those words.

He’d finally gotten the answer he was looking for.

The emperor closed his eyes, feeling horrible after looking at Chun Yeowun’s expression.

‘Indeed... there was something you wanted.’

It was a hunch, and in the end, the opponent’s intentions were clear.

Thud!

“Kuak!”

The Emperor, who was in the air, fell to the ground.

The Emperor collapsed onto the floor, and couldn't get up as his legs were still shaking.

Looking down at the Emperor, Chun Yeowun spoke.

“The requirements will be heard in two days from now in His Majesty's palace. Make sure you have your seals ready to process the requests.”

“S-seal!”

The emperor's gloomy expression hardened more at those words.

If a formal paper had been stamped, it was like turning it into an official document, like signing the treaty the same way the first emperor had.

The greatest disgrace ever for the Emperor.

The Emperor, enraged, looked at Chun Yeowun furiously, but only received a mischievous smile in return, that looked more like a warning.

“The reason I gave you two days is to give His Majesty and the officials of the Imperial Palace the time needed to find out the truth. And...”

Chun Yeowun waved his hand in the air.

The 300 or so Guards and eunuchs, who’d been unable to move, began slamming their heads into the ground as if someone was controlling them.

Bang! Bang! Bang!

“Kuak!”

“Kuk!”

With their foreheads bleeding, they all fell to the ground.

They hadn’t died, but they’d fainted from a strong concussion.

“If you do anything useless this time, I will really take your head. Therefore, I believe that you will make a wise decision.”

“Kuk... understood.”

An obvious threat, the Emperor bowed his head and answered in a bitter voice.

Chun Yeowun had already shown that he could kill anyone.

Leaving behind the emperor, who could no longer make eye contact, Chun Yeowun spoke to his subordinates.

“Let’s go.”

“Yes!”

Shouting aloud, the members of Demonic Cult followed Chun Yeowun.

Even Ran-yeong, who had been protecting the treasure and the shrine for many years, looked at the hall one last time and disappeared.

After they’d gone, the two Admirals and the Commanders, who were pushed to the back, knelt down and cried before the Emperor.

“Your Majesty! We were powerless and have committed a grave sin. Please give us a chance to remove this disgrace.”

“Give me a chance, Your Majesty!”

The Emperor calmed himself and looked at them whilst speaking in an angry voice.

“You say such things now that he’s left?”

The two Admirals and Commanders were embarrassed at the emperor’s words, they didn’t know what to say.

They couldn’t give an answer, it was true that they couldn’t act when Chun Yeowun and his subordinates were present.

In response, Elder Cheong-su, the Elder of the Forces of Justice, cautiously spoke.

“Your Majesty... if you want, I can inform Yulin...”

“I expect the elder to stay out of this.”

“... yes... yes.”

The emperor looked at them pathetically and bit his lip.

“If you don’t want me to face disgrace anymore, don’t talk about this matter ever again. And never, Lord of the Demonic... wah, don’t touch him.”

“... yes!”

When they answered, the emperor looked at prince Zhu Taikhan who was lying in front of him.

He’d fainted from the extreme pain.

The emperor looked at him pitifully, patted his back lightly, and ordered the eunuchs.

“You men. Take my son to the infirmary.”

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

“Ye... yes!”

Smirk!

However, Zhu Taikhan, who was thought to have fainted, had a small smile on his lips.

Chapter 380 - Title of Five Strongest Warriors (1)

Chapter 380: Title of Five Strongest Warriors (1)

Prince Zhu Taikhan had received his initial treatment for his broken legs in the Imperial palace's infirmary and then moved over to his palace.

As he entered his bedroom, Zhu Taikhan smirked to himself.

He'd never been treated by a doctor before, but to enjoy such luxury had a different feeling.

Not long after, Yon Namgun, the Southern Commander, visited his bedroom.

As soon as Yon Namgun entered, he immediately asked.

"Your Highness. Are your legs alright?"

"How would they be alright? That was the first time I felt pain in my life."

Zhu Taikhan showed his two legs which were wrapped up in bandages.

When his legs got broken, Chun Yeowun looked resentful.

[This will hurt a little.]

Hearing his voice, Zhu Taikhan was like 'Ah, he wants me to act, so I'll do it in moderation'.

But he hadn't imagined that Chun Yeowun would break both of his legs.

'Damn it...'

Because of that, the doctor said that it would take a month for his legs to heal.

Besides, he wouldn't be able to walk properly for a week.

It was fortunate.

If only it was a different body part, it would have been fine with him.

However, a broken leg could result in limping or losing his ability to walk.

Nevertheless, the doctor examined his wound and said he was lucky.

[I don't know how you hurt your legs like this, but surprisingly there was no damage to the cartilage or the ligament. So once you heal, your bones will heal stronger than before. I thought that I had to further break the bones to fit it back in, but I'm glad that I didn't have to, Your Highness.]

'Should I feel grateful for it now...'

At that time, just looking at Chun Yeowun had terrified him.

Until the moment he'd telepathically sent him messages, Chun Yeowun had been fully entrenched in his role.

Thanks to sacrificing his legs, he had gained something enormous.

During the entire time the doctor was treating his leg, the Emperor hadn't left his side, and had stayed next to him looking at him with eyes filled with concern.

'This is the best kind of luxury.'

The Emperor had always been kind to the eldest son, Zhu Taiyoon, but always cruel to the other children.

Therefore, the fact that he'd managed to earn some affection, was already a great achievement.

'It was the first time he called me son.'

It felt weird.

It was because he was the son of a concubine that the Emperor never called him 'son'.

"Anyways, until the Dano festival, I just need to recuperate in the palace."

"Thank goodness. I was worried that Your Highness wouldn't be able to walk again. Besides... I was nervous as I didn't know what Lord Chun would do to you."

Contrary to what had initially been planned, a variable that turned out to be the Emperor, had appeared.

Zhu Taikhan had been worried to death as he could never have guessed that the emperor would come and mess up the whole plan.

In particular, he felt sorry for Yeongjo, the Northern Commander, who was the strongest swordsman in the palace and a close person to him.

Even if he wanted to let him know in advance, the Northern Commander had to escort the Supreme Commander all the time, which had made it impossible to talk to him about the plan, that had been told to them by Chun Yeowun earlier in the morning.

“It would have been nice if these were only broken slightly. Lord Chun is surely good...No, to call him good would be wrong. To be called as... Huh? Southern Commander, why do you look like that?”

Seeing the expression of Zhu Taikhan who was mumbling to himself, Yon Namgun’s face hardened.

“Why are you so stiff?”

“... Your Highness, in front... Your Highness...”

“Front? What could... ugh!”

Zhu Taikhan turned his head without much thought, and his face turned stiff.

Chun Yeowun was standing there looking at him.

It wasn’t like his martial arts skills were low, but the difference between him and Chun Yeowun was too high for him to detect his presence.

“Lord, Lord Chun?”

“I didn’t expect you to think about all those things.”

His voice was low, yet concerned.

‘Ekkk! Even so, it’s the prince’s bedroom, you can’t come up here like you wish!’

He didn’t say it out loud, but he was scared that this man would listen to his thoughts too.

In a cold sweat, Zhu Taikhan waved his hand.

“Ha... hahahaha Lord Chun. I didn’t mean anything by that. Ah! I just wanted to say that with a little less force, the situation would have been resolved easier!”

He made excuses to defend himself.

He could understand why the officials looked dumbfounded at the emperor who declared defeat in front of Chun Yeowun.

He realized that when facing an embarrassing situation, people tend to spit the words and fix the problem.

“Yes~ yes~. It is thaaat.”

“Yes yes, Lord Chun, believe in m...”

“Did you tell His Majesty what I asked you to say?”

At Chun Yeowun’s straightforward question, Zhu Taikhan nodded with an uneasy heart.

Whilst threatening the Emperor, Chun Yeowun had revised the plan and changed a few things.

Seeing Chun Yeowun act so swiftly, Zhu Taikhan couldn’t help but think of him as a real monster.

‘Even so, there aren’t many people by your side, how do you plan on dealing with so many palace guards at the same time?’

Well, whilst suppressing the Guards and eunuchs, he had even managed to have a conversation with the emperor.

In the meantime, he'd sent a telepathic message, it was strange that Chun Yeowun was able to do so many things at once.

Of course, nano was assisting him.

"Yes, I did what Lord Chun asked me to do."

The emperor had accompanied the prince to the infirmary and had been furious when he returned to the palace.

It was worth it because the emperor now knew that all this mess happened in the palace because of a faction called the Blade God Six Martial clan.

Of course, some of the evidence had been fabricated by Chun Yeowun, and as a result the Blade God Six Martial clan, which had grown into a powerhouse within the imperial palace by using Crown Prince Zhu Taiyoon as its puppet, fell under the unfavourable eyes of the emperor.

"I informed His Majesty that Lord Chun was trying to save the Imperial palace from the Blade God Six Martial clan. Even if His Majesty doesn't believe it right away, I hope he will come to understand the Lord."

"Well, he doesn't have to understand me."

The plan was just to destroy the conspiracy of the Blade God Six martial clan and pass punishment onto them.

It didn't matter if the emperor had a positive impression of Yeowun or not.

Looking at Chun Yeowun, Zhu Taikhan asked very cautiously.

“But, Lord Chun, if it is okay with you, could I just ask one question?”

“... ask.”

“I am curious about what you’re going to ask His Majesty in two days. Can you tell me?”

In fact, the prince knew that what Chun Yeowun wanted, had been obtained.

Even if he didn’t ask for it, the Blade God Six Martial clan would be driven to its demise by the Emperor.

After all, because of the non-aggression treaty between Wulin and the empire, it was the only thing that could be done.

“It is more like a suggestion than a request.”

“Suggestion?”

Zhu Taikhan was puzzled at what Chun Yeowun said.

The Emperor had said that he would grant any request, but making a suggestion meant that he was giving the Emperor a choice to refuse.

When Chun yeowun explained his proposal, Zhu Taikhan grew even more nervous.

“... Lord Chun. That is no simple suggestion, do you think that His Majesty will accept that offer?”

No matter how much the Emperor saw the Blade God Six Martial clan as culprits, he would never forget the humiliation he’d faced in the underground hall of the Royal Shrine.

'You even killed his escort...'

He was wondering if the suggestion would be accepted.

If it was him, he would never accept the suggestion put forth by Chun Yeowun.

But Chun Yeowun's reaction was different.

He seemed confident.

"The Emperor won't refuse."

Two days later.

As agreed, Chun Yeowun visited the throne room in the palace.

The Emperor, who considered it a shame to make an official document whilst stamping it with the seal, hadn't called for the other officials.

Chun Yeowun had told Zhu Taikhan that it was a suggestion and not a request.

"... Ugh. If Your Majesty refuses, we can proceed with the non-aggression treaty as spoken about before."

The emperor had a strange expression after listening to the unexpected proposal.

'...This isn't a request but a suggestion that I can refuse?'

The Emperor was silent for most of the time, and after thinking deeply about it, he answered.

At the end of the long deliberation, the corners of Chun Yeowun's lips rose with satisfaction.

Two days have passed since the incident at the Royal Shrine.

A meeting was being held in Henan Province in the main building of the Forces of Justice.

Recently even the Forces of Justice had suffered huge damage because of spies, and due to the threat from the Blade God Six Martial clan, only the leaders with selected disciples from their clans were allowed to enter the building, thus only half the seats in the hall were filled.

The person who'd requested to convene this meeting was none other than Elder Cheong-su, a long-time member of the Forces of Justice.

"I don't get it, Elder, is it really true?"

A middle-aged man with a short grey beard, seated on the farthest seat, opened his mouth and spoke in a serious voice.

He was one of the seventeen leaders of the Forces of Justice, Peng-gyu.

Elder Cheong-su was reporting the incidents which happened in the Imperial palace during his journey as Yulin's envoy.

However, due to the unexpected details of his report, the people present were quite confused.

“The Lord of the Demonic Cult? He appeared in the Imperial palace?”

It was absurd to hear that the Lord of the Demonic Cult had appeared in the Imperial Palace.

Although they had formed an alliance, free passage was only allowed within Wulin. This act of entering the palace had been done without prior notice.

“I’m not absolutely sure, but it seemed like the second prince was the one who brought him in.”

“I thought he wouldn’t know such things since he is still young.”

“Amitabha*, rather than that, isn’t the fact that the Blade God Six Martial clan infiltrated the Imperial palace using the crown prince a more serious matter?”

A middle-aged woman in a monk’s robe, sitting in the fourth seat, interrupted.

She was the Monk Sathi of the Hangsan clan, made up of only nuns, and followed the teachings of Buddhism.

Although she was a woman, she was a sword expert of the Double-edged sword.

“There is truth to the situation. According to the report from Elder Cheoun-su’s disciples, the Blade God Six Martial clan have crossed the line.”

At the words of Elder Sathi, another man, also a monk and who sat in the second seat, agreed.

Along with the teachings of Buddhism, Monk Gak-yeon was the ambassador from the Soorim Temple, a symbolic existence in Wulin.

He was someone who had mastered the rare use of internal energy and force qi and one of the ten people who could control qi with just a finger.

“Amitabha, if they can move so swiftly and unnoticed, Wulin will end up getting thrown into chaos.”

“... The alliance might also get shaken.”

The only faction in Wulin which had a close relationship with the Emperor were the Forces of Justice.

In such a situation, if the Blade God Six Martial clan used the crown prince to control the Empire, then the Forces of Justice would have been pushed away.

It was something that couldn't be overlooked.

“If we think like that, then we should be grateful to the young Lord of the Demonic cult. Since Lord Chun Yeowun has stopped it from happening, hasn't the worst been avoided?”

The person who answered the words of the ambassador was an old man with a long beard, and a beautiful sword which lay next to him.

“Elder Poong.”

It was Poong Chungwun, the eldest leader in the Yulin clan's group.

He was someone who saw Chun Yeowun in a favorable light, ever since visiting the Ten Thousand Mountains.

“Elder Poong is always kind towards him since you have a close acquaintance with the young Lord.”

One of the seventeen leaders, Peng-gyu, spoke sarcastically.

He was someone who despised the members of the Demonic cult and their teachings to the core.

He had even opposed the alliance with the Demonic Cult till the very end.

Of course, his words had been rejected later because of the majority system.

“God. The head of the elder is always war-like. I really respect you for keeping your duty as a warrior.”

“What!”

Elder Poong gracefully spoke back to the sarcastic remark from Peng-gyu.

The reports weren't done, and seeing elders quarreling over such matters, Elder Cheong-su couldn't hold himself and banged the table.

Bang!

“Ugh! I am still not done!”

Everyone was puzzled by the serious attitude of Elder Cheong-su.

Most of them thought that the report was done.

However, Elder Cheong-su was still holding back something important.

The things which had happened after dealing with the Blade God Six Martial clan members, and taking down Admiral Lim and crown prince Zhu Taiyoon.

“Looks like Elder hasn’t talked about the main point yet. I hope the leaders here will listen to him for a moment.”

The man seated at the head of the table spoke.

Strangely, even with his eyes closed, the man was radiating a noble vibe.

This man, who looked like a civil servant of the Imperial Palace, was the Great Leader of the Forces of Justice, and one of Wulin’s Five Strongest Warriors, Yi Mok.

“Hmm, as said, we should let the Elder complete his report.”

As the crowd grew silent, Elder Cheong-su began speaking about what happened next.

People’s surprised reactions grew gradually into serious expressions.

“Is that true? Ugh... The emperor’s Guardian Escort, Lim Gyu-hwa.”

Lim Gyu-hwa, the Wave Sword.

At one time, more than ninety years ago, he’d been one of the Five Strongest Warriors and had been called the Sword Emperor.

There was no way that the people of Wulin wouldn’t know his name.

It was shocking enough to believe that he was alive, and even more shocking that he'd been working for the imperial palace.

But what was even more surprising was.

“WH-What did you say?”

“The Lord of the Demonic Cult killed him? With only three strikes?”

It was hard to believe.

He was an excellent swordsman.

The words which came out of Elder Cheong-su's mouth were shocking, the leaders present couldn't understand what they'd just heard.

As far as they knew, the Lord Chun Yeowun was just a kid who was still growing.

They'd heard that he was highly skilled, strong enough to make people bow before him and that he could be considered one of the strongest.

“Even if he was a skilled swordsman, to be alive till now means that he must have reached the peak right?”

“Uh, yes. He must be extremely skilled with all the experience he gathered, but to lose to the Lord of the Demonic...”

“God. In the past, I saw Lord Chun Yeowun within the Demonic Cult, but he wasn't strong enough to be compared to the Five Strongest Warriors at that time. Could it be that Elder Cheong-su has made a mistake?”

People were reluctant to accept such unbelievable words.

They couldn't accept that Chun Yeowun could do that. Besides, the only person who could vouch for Chun Yeowun's skills was Elder Cheong-su.

'What did he see to make him tremble like that?'

The Great Leader of the Forces of Justice had noticed that the Elder's hands were trembling.

Whilst talking about the Demonic Cult's Lord, his hands had been trembling.

"I have seen many Demonic Cult members, but this person is different."

"Different?"

"The current Lord is someone beyond the realm of human beings, maybe we should call him as God. Yes, Devil God."

"Amitabha. Devil God? Elder Cheong-su, I honestly think you are confused since a lot of things happened, have a sip of tea..."

Elder Poong tried to calm the man who was speaking, but Elder Cheong-su got up from his seat and yelled.

"How can you people take this matter so lightly! I saw the Lord of the Demonic Cult use an invisible sword with my own eyes! Using it, he beheaded the Emperor's Guardian Escort. He also subdued three hundred soldiers with his..."

"Wait!"

He managed to get their attention with one word.

“Invisible sword?”

“Invisible sword!!!”

When he said that one word, all the faces inside the room hardened.

It was impossible for a martial artist to not know about the invisible sword.

A high-level technique that could only be achieved when one has achieved the legendary Divine Master level.

“Elder... are you saying that the Lord of the Demonic Cult is in Divine Master level?”

At the serious question from Yi Mok, the Elder nodded his head.

“Exactly. Chun Yeowun, the Lord of the Demonic Cult, is at the Divine Master level.”

“!?”

Divine master level.

A Legendary state that every martial artist dreamed of reaching.

It was only natural for everyone to be shocked.

They’d just heard that the Lord of the Demonic Cult was at such a legendary level when no person from Yulin was.

But that shock didn’t last for very long.

An Uproar ensued almost instantly.

“Divine! What nonsense is that!”

“It is impossible to achieve the Divine master level!”

Well, it was hard to comprehend.

Even Yi Mok, the leader of the Forces of Justice, Yulin’s strongest, was experiencing an indescribable shock.

As the commotion continued, someone suddenly knocked on the door of the meeting room.

Knock! Knock! Knock!

During the meeting, everyone had been informed not to interfere unless it was urgent.

It was Gam Woon-seo.

“Gr-great leader! We have an urgent message!”

“Urgent?”

Gam Woon-seo, cleared his throat and looked at the Great Leader of Forces of Justice, Yi Mok.

“At noon today, the Imperial palace announced a change of State Religion.”

“What? What kind of nonsense is that?”

The current State Religion was Taoism.

And the ceremonies of the Imperial Families were held by different clans belonging to Yulin.

For the Imperial Palace to change the religion without even informing them beforehand, was incomprehensible.

“Wh-what do you mean by that?”

Elder Poong asked with a frown.

At this, the foreign affairs leader, Gam Woon-seo, opened his mouth.

“Haaa... say it already!”

“Don’t just stand there and answer!”

Gam Woon-seo finally answered the leaders, who were being quite insistent.

“The imperial palace announced that the Empire’s official Religion will be changed to the Demonic Cult’s Sky Demon Order.”

“!!!”

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

Bang!

At the shocking answer from Gam Woon-seo, everyone jumped out of their seats, their eyes wide in shock.

Translator Note

You should have noticed the use of Yulin and Forces of Justice in this chapter, I'm just following the author's style, he seems to use both terms. From my undersating Yulin = Forces of Justice + other factions of similar ideas.

Editor Note

Amitabha, (Sanskrit: “Infinite Light”) also called Amitayus (“Infinite Life”), and particularly in the so-called Pure Land sects, the great savior Buddha. It’s used as a way to greet before you start a sentence implicating that you speak with peace, so it’s obvious that some people from the Forces of Justice that follows the teachings of Buddha speak like that.

Chapter 381 - Title of Five Strongest Warriors (2)

Chapter 381: Title of Five Strongest Warriors (2)

The Imperial Capital.

The Dragon Palace was located at the centre of the city.

If one was to pick the most splendid and grandiose place in the area, it would be the Jian'an palace where around 100,000 officials moved every day.

Jian'an Palace, covered in golden tiles and golden pillars that supported the structure, was the place where the emperor resided.

Admiral Seo Tae-sik of the Cardinal Spear and Admiral Yuk Cheong-eun of the West Spear were on their knees, their heads to the ground.

"Your Majesty! We aren't obliged to accept such drastic proposals. Please, refrain from taking such a decision! This isn't the way."

"Your Majesty! What Admiral Seo said is right, please withdraw this change of State Religion. There are so many arts and religions you could choose from, but please not the Demonic Cult!”

No ordinary officials had opposed the emperor’s decision.

Only those who had seen the Lord of the Demonic Cult’s actions in the underground shrine opposed it.

‘What kind of situation is this?’

Hearing the emperor’s unexpected decision, they couldn’t understand the reasoning behind it.

At first, as the emperor had gone through a terrifying and traumatic experience, they’d thought that he was mentally unstable.

‘There are people who get down on their knees for you, how could you make such a decision?’

The Yulin from Jianghu had a very different attitude towards the Imperial family.

Like other people and officials, they were people who gave the emperor their respect, and because of their friendly attitude, they were comfortable with the government’s work.

However, based on what had happened a few days before, they were aware that not all the factions within Wulin shared the same attitude.

“Your Majesty! The Demonic Cult’s Sky Demon Order isn’t for the empire to follow. In particular that man, Chun Yeowun, he disrespected Your Majesty...”

Bang!

Before Admiral Yuk Cheong-eun could finish, the Emperor struck his throne.

The admiral, who realised the reason, went silent.

For a moment he thought he’d be killed.

The Emperor had specifically told them to never mention what happened in the Royal Shrine. However, overwhelmed by his emotions, he’d ended up speaking of it.

“Your Majesty. Please forgive this lowly servant! I have committed blasphemy!”

Thud! Thud!

Yuk Cheong-eun smashed his head into the floor and apologized.

After a couple of hits, with blood dripping from his forehead, the Emperor raised his hand as a signal to stop.

“Th... thank you for showing me mercy, Your Majesty!”

Drip!

Admiral of West Spear, Yuk Cheong-eun, whose face was covered in blood, expressed his gratitude.

Since he'd made the worst mistake in front of the emperor, a little blood wasn't a huge price.

“Hmm.”

The emperor looked down at the two kneeling Admirals.

It wasn't like he couldn't understand their emotions.

At first, he'd had every intention to reject the proposal of the Lord of the Demonic Cult's.

However, something had made him change his mind in the end.

“I ask you. What do you think of an enemy's enemy?”

“Enemy’s enemy...”

When asked by the Emperor, the two Admirals began to think.

They had to give a correct answer, but it was a question which had been always answered, ever since the start of war history.

“... the enemy of an enemy is no less than our ally. Your Majesty!”

The Emperor nodded at the careful answer of Admiral Seo Tae-sik.

“That is exactly what Lord Chun told me.”

“Ah!”

When he came over to the Dragon Palace to give his proposal, Chun Yeowun had spoken those words to him.

Of course, how things went during the meeting was a bit different.

The Emperor had asked Chun Yeowun what he was supposed to do.

And he'd spoken with clear intentions.

[Blade God Six Martial Clan is an enemy which needs to be eliminated by our Cult. You already know that, so let me ask you one question. What kind of relationship would you naturally have with your enemy's enemy if you had to destroy that enemy?]

The Emperor had understood very well what Chun Yeowun had been hinting at.

The Emperor had come to realize that the Blade God Six Martial clan was a very dangerous existence to the Imperial family based on the various testimonies he'd gathered from people inside the palace, including his son Zhu Taikhan and Elder Cheong-su.

'If Lord Chun hadn't stopped those men, then Taiyoon would have become an Emperor who was nothing but a puppet in those bastard's hands.'

The worst situation would have fallen upon them.

If that was the case, the Emperor couldn't even imagine what would have happened if he had misunderstood the Demonic Cult as the ones who'd stolen the Imperial treasure and killed the guardians in the Shrine.

"Your Majesty, first, if he did use the concept of the enemy's enemy, then the Yulin factions are also considering the Blade God Six Martial clan as their enemy. Moreover, Yulin would always act favorably towards His Majesty and the Empire."

Admiral Seo Tae-sik of the Cardinal Spear countered the Emperor's words.

However, it only created more room for the Emperor to affirm his stand.

"And so? Did the Yulin block those men in the underground shrine? Even Elder Cheong-su, who was there as an envoy, stood and watched the situation helplessly, he didn't even move when I, the Emperor, was being humiliated by the Lord of Demonic Cult."

"Tha... That..."

The Emperor hadn't forgotten it.

He'd been told that Elder Cheong-su, a long-time Elder of Yulin, and a scholar, was a well-known martial artist.

However, in front of the Lord of Demonic Cult, he'd stood quietly without saying a word.

'Could such a person even be called an Elder? Ha!'

Even if the officials were powerless, they'd all been ready to risk their lives for the emperor.

But this man, an Elder, and a leader of the Forces of Justice, whose art was being kept as the State Religion, had succumbed in front of the Demonic Cult's power.

"I am worried. Those rebels from that clan are formidable enemies that even the Guardians of the Imperial Palace couldn't stop. Such a Clan is aiming for the throne and the empire, and I see no reason to entrust the State Religion to a faction whose leaders are of no help to me when needed."

'This...'

The two Admiral's faces hardened.

They'd cared for the Emperor for many years, and they knew his nature.

'We overlooked this.'

The Admirals had thought that the Emperor would move closer to Yulin after being humiliated, with the intention of possible revenge.

However, this was utterly unexpected.

It was true that the Yulin's Elder had completely neglected the situation whilst the emperor was being humiliated.

'Besides, Your Majesty excludes his emotions when dealing with politics.'

The Emperor was so radical in politics that he boldly discarded those who lacked utility and always appointed those who are useful to him, regardless of their status.

That was how he ruled.

'Even then, with those rogues...'

It was a risky gamble to hire people who weren't afraid of the Emperor or the Imperial family.

The Admirals couldn't understand His Majesty's thoughts at all.

However, the decision had been made by the Emperor after much consideration.

The Emperor was so furious that he wanted to withdraw his help to the Yulin and even discard the non-aggression treaty, and also discard the state art.

'Even if I stay far from those Wulin people, will those who are filled with greed stop sending their spies into the Imperial Palace so easily? No, I am sure they'll do something again.'

He was too confused.

That was exactly what the Emperor felt.

With concern for the future, he decided to not get emotional.

All emotion was discarded and the situation was rationally calculated.

'If I am to think rationally, that man is strong.'

He saw monstrous power right before his eyes.

Even the experienced masters have fallen to their knees in front of him.

Even the Guardian Escort who'd lived for hundreds of years and had drunk the Qilin's blood had turned into a cold corpse with just a few swings.

'Besides, he is so resourceful that he knew what the East Spear and the Blade God Six Martial clan had planned. '

If it was calculated as such, the man was someone the emperor wanted to have under his wings.

If the Emperor knew how to handle him, he would be the emperor's strongest ally.

'Okay. Keeping the enemy's enemy by my side will give awareness of what kind of people they are.'

If the Demonic Cult's art got recognized by accepting the suggestion of Chun Yeowun, the Blade God Six Martial clan wouldn't be able to enter the Imperial palace so easily.

It was beneficial in every way.

"The reason why I made the Sky Demon Order the State Religion, is to keep Blade God Six Martial clan in check. I am not going back on this, unless you people have thought of a better solution."

In the end, the two Admirals had to withdraw arguments.

The Emperor left no room for others to intervene.

'How can we think of something better!'

The main building of Yulin in the Henan province.

The hall where all the leaders gathered had been in complete chaos for three days.

They were still discussing their ties with the Imperial Palace after hearing the shocking announcement.

For those who'd been concentrating on the Blade God Six Martial clan because of the alliance with the Demonic Cult, this was a heavy blow to them.

In addition to that, the controversy of the current Lord of the Demonic Cult's level continued to be discussed.

In the history of Wulin, it was an extremely rare occurrence for a person to reach the Divine Master level.

The only one who was capable of using the invisible sword was a veteran who hadn't been active for several decades.

No matter how strongly the Elder testified, it was natural that people didn't want to believe him.

It was just too much to believe.

That was when a visitor came.

A middle-aged eunuch in a navy blue robe, a member of the Cardinal Spear.

The eunuch was visiting Yulin under the order of his Admiral.

The leaders of Yulin, who heard the intentions of Admiral Seo Tae-sik, responded in various ways.

Once the eunuch's message was received, Elder Sathi, leader of the Hangsan clan asked.

“Well, Amitabha. Is that really true?”

To that question, he nodded.

“The Admiral says that if there is a better plan, His Majesty will consider it to some extent.”

“Huh...”

At those words, sighs escaped from everyone's mouths.

In fact, some of the leaders' eyes were directed towards Elder Cheong-su with resentment.

The eunuch had told them one thing, which the Elder was hiding.

The fact that even when the emperor was put in an embarrassing situation, the Elder, out of fear, hadn't acted.

‘It is no wonder that His Majesty is disappointed in us.’

‘Tch, this lowers the prestige of Yulin!’

Those gazes drove Elder Cheong-su into a corner.

Eyes of resentment and distrust, no matter what the Elder said, it would be of no use at all.

‘God, god. I said everything about how strong Lord Chun was, but they still treat me like this. There is nothing more I can do.’

He’d come to the conclusion that it would be difficult to work with the Forces of Justice any longer

Elder Cheong-su got up from his seat, placed his hands together, and spoke.

“Since this has happened because of the lack of action on my part, I will take responsibility and step down.”

Usually, when such a situation occurred, people would begin to oppose the ones asking to step down, but no one stopped

Elder Cheong-su.

It was because every leader in the room believed that he was to be blamed for what had happened.

“Huh! Are you trying to get out of the mess that you made?”

In the midst of the situation, Peng-gyu, with his warlike personality and as head of the Peng family, criticized Elder Cheong-su.

Anger rose in the eyes of Elder Cheong-su, who was about to step down from his seat to take responsibility for his actions.

“Huh? Are you angry? I didn’t think that you would say anything even if you were given two mouths.”

At the constant remarks from Peng-gyu, Elder Cheong-su clenched his fist and took a deep breath.

“I admit that this happened because I was powerless, but even if you were there, Peng-gyu, you would have been in the same position as me, I think your words are meaningless. ”

“Ha! Even if I was there? I think you have been talking too much these past few days. If I were you, I would have never made such a mistake.”

“Words are easy to say, I’m sure you know that too.”

“What did you say?”

“Should I repeat it again? You are all confident here, but if you were there, I would put my arm on a chopping block that you would have behaved no differently.”

As if angered, Peng-gyu’s face turned red, he slammed his hand into the table and shouted.

Bang!

“Can you take responsibility for those words?”

“I wouldn’t say it if I couldn’t. I am sure that you will break something.”

“Huh? This is nothing for me!”

At that, Peng-gyu got up from his seat and looked at the Great Leader of the Forces of Justice.

Tak!

“Great Leader! I will take care of this, please send me to the Imperial Palace. I will try my best to persuade His Majesty to restore our relation back to what it was previously.”

It seemed like he was confident that he would be given entrance into the Imperial Palace.

Even the other leaders in the room thought that he could win.

“I’ll show you my true power. Being afraid of a young Lord of the Demonic Cult? Divine? Ha! You are a disgrace to the faction.”

Peng-gyu, the head of the Peng family, had been the last to enter the Forces of Justice, unlike the others.

He had inherited his position from his father.

For him, this was a good opportunity to prove how great he was to Yulin and the Imperial family.

“Are you really asking, 17th leader?”

“Exactly!”

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

As Yi Mok, the Great Leader of Forces of Justice, asked, someone got up from his seat and stepped forward.

“Great Leader, please send me to the Imperial Palace along with the 17th leader.”

The man who’d stepped forward was none other than Yeon Buso, the eldest son of Yulin’s Great Leader.

Chapter 382 - Title of Five Strongest Warriors (3)

Chapter 382: Title of Five Strongest Warriors (3)

Yeon Buso.

The eldest son of Yi Mok.

If one thought about his surname, one would notice that it was different from his father's.

It wasn't because he wasn't the real son of the Great Leader.

It was because Yi Mok, the unmarried Great Leader of the Forces of Justice, had three children, all of them orphans.

Yeon Buso, Kang Soah and Mo Yuju.

Although the three siblings were orphans, they were always praised for being worthy of the attention of North Justice Blade Yi Mok.

It wasn't known why his three children hadn't taken his surname, but it was undeniable that they were going to be the figures who lead the Forces of Justice in the future.

Amongst them, Yeon Buso, the eldest son, was going to be the face of the next generation of Yulin. The fact that he had been raised with great care and dedication was the reason why some leaders already supported him.

“My lord, please send me to the Imperial Palace along with the 17th leader.”

The eyes of the Great Leader opened wide.

It was the first time he'd heard Yeon Buso request something.

His son had been invited to the meetings several times before, but he'd never expressed his intentions.

‘Hmm... is it because of the Lord of the Demonic Cult?’

Although he wasn't his biological son, Yi Mok was the one who had raised him, there was no way he didn't understand his son's intentions.

Although Yeon Buso was never interested in anything else, he seemed particularly interested in anything that had to do with Lord Chun Yeowun.

‘Thinking of him as his opponent?’

The corners of Yi Mok's lips rose.

Being one of the Five Strongest Warriors of Wulin, he was always compared to the Lord of the Demonic Cult.

There had even been rumors stating that the North Lord would face the South Demonic Cult's Lord.

It was natural for Yeon Buso to consider Chun Yeowun as his rival as they'd come out of their martial arts school at the same time, and had both gained fame at the same time as well.

'He is indeed my son.'

Perhaps it was because of Yi Mok's influence, that Yeon Buso always kept a close eye on Chun Yeowun's movements, especially since Jegal Sohi had gone to the Demonic Cult as a member of the envoy.

Yeon Buso's eyes, which looked at the Lord, were filled with a sense of victory.

'It might be risky, but it can be a good experience for him as well. An excellent opponent would be a driving force that can push him past his limits.'

After all, Forces of Justice and Demonic Cult were currently allies, so no major problems would pop up.

Of course, fights could erupt between alliances too.

The Great Leader nodded in agreement.

“Do what you want.”

“Thank you!”

Pak!

Yeon Buso’s face brightened.

“Ohho! To go with Leader Yeon! Such an honor.”

Peng-gyu felt elated at the unexpected support.

Even before entering the Forces of Justice and becoming a leader, rumors had been going around that Yeon Buso was an extremely powerful monster.

Less than three months after leaving Yulin to train his abilities, he’d been recognized for his skills in martial arts and was known to be one of the strongest warriors within Yulin.

It was common to hear people saying that even if they lost in reputation as martial artists, being older than Yeon Buso was something to be proud of, especially since he was a recognized warrior of Yulin and just a little below the Five Strongest Warriors.

'I was told that he was around 30 years old, but I can't guess what happened to push him so far in the power scale'

Peng-gyu was a master in the Superior Master level, but he couldn't guess what Yeon Buso's level was.

Rumors stated that he had reached the end of the Superior Master level, but there were those who thought that he must have achieved the Supreme Master level already.

"I might be lacking in skills, but I want to help the 17th leader."

"Hahaha, you have such great experience, please don't be too modest. If I am being accompanied by the secret weapon of the Forces of Justice, then my chances of getting the arm of Elder Cheong-su will increase."

At the same time, Peng-gyu raised his right arm and pretended to cut it with the other.

Yeon Buso didn't want to pick a side, but Peng-gyu's actions were too petty as a leader.

'The positions of a rich leader and a skilled one have changed. Tch, Tch.'

Peng-gyu of the Peng family is a wealthy owner, and as he was the son of the previous leader, he simply inherited the position.

But that didn't mean that Peng-gyu lacked ingenuity or resourcefulness.

It was just that, for a leader of a faction, his temper and aggressiveness tended to drive his opponents into a corner.

Despite Peng-gyu's provocative attitude, Elder Cheong-su didn't respond.

After all, for the last three days, he had warned everyone about it.

'You are the ones who ignored my warning. Go and see it for yourself.'

Although the Forces of Justice and the Demonic Cult had allied, Chun Yeowun was the kind of person who showed no mercy.

He'd been wondering what he was supposed to say if Peng-gyu didn't make it back alive.

The main group of the Forces of Justice wasn't far from the Imperial capital, because it was located in the same region.

If they traveled whilst resting, they could reach the capital within three days, and in just two days if they gave up their sleep.

At noon on the third day, the members of Cardinal Spear and the envoy from Forces of Justice arrived.

Around fifty or so people from Yulin were waiting for their entry passes to be issued in front of the south gate of the Dragon Palace.

However, half of them weren't martial artists.

Half of them were like nuns in grey monk robes with a thin scabbard on their backs.

The middle-aged nun at the forefront was none other than a long-time elder of the Hangsan clan, Monk Sathi.

"I hope that Monk Sathi doesn't cross us."

Peng-gyu, the head of the Peng family, grumbled.

Normally, he was only planning to move with Yeon Buso, the eldest son of the Forces of Justice Great Leader, and the members of his clan, but at the orders of the Great Leader, the Hangsan clan members had joined in.

The reason being,

“Amitabha, would it be bad to change Buddhism as a new religion? This is an opportunity for the merciful Buddha to be known by the entire empire. Leader Peng-gyu.”

It was just an in-case situation.

Although the Emperor had officially announced a change in the State Religion, they thought it would be difficult for the Emperor to change his words.

With that in mind, they intended to recommend Buddhism as the next best solution to Yulin.

If there was distrust in martial arts because of Elder Cheong-su, the Great Leader decided that it wouldn't be bad to recommend Buddhism, so he had asked Monk Sathi.

“It would have been better if Monk Gak-yeon had come, what could I possibly do? Amitabha!”

Monk Gak-yeon had a strong reputation and influence as he was the leader of the Shaolin clan, the largest Buddhist centre in Jianghu.

However, since he was currently in charge of a separate task, he couldn't leave his position.

"Let's talk with His Majesty first. It may not be too difficult to convince him to reconsider his suggestion."

On their way to the palace, the eunuchs had given them various pieces of information.

Fortunately, they came to know that even though the Emperor had announced the change of State Religion, he hadn't completely withdrawn Taoism.

As the eunuch had said, there was still time to change his mind.

"Amitabha. But this is taking longer than I thought."

They had been waiting at the south gate entrance for more than half an hour and hadn't received any news.

They were told that the eunuch would enter the palace first and bring them an issued entry pass, but it was taking a lot of time.

"What will you do if the Lord of the Demonic Cult has already left? Your hopes might collapse if he is not here."

Peng-gyu spoke to Yeon Buso, who was quietly standing alone.

When he arrived at the capital, the eunuch had told them that the Lord of the Demonic Cult had returned to the cult and he'd seemed disappointed.

'Maybe we are not fated to meet yet?'

The young man had a strong desire to meet his rival, who was also the Lord of the new generations.

Besides, his fiancé, Jegal Sohi, was praising him too much, and he wanted to see what kind of a person this Lord was.

'Should I just feel satisfied with observing the traces of his martial arts?'

Yeon Buso had asked the eunuch if the bodies of the people Chun Yeowun had killed had been cremated or not, and the eunuch had responded that they hadn't.

'By examining the sword marks on the corpses, I can determine if he really did use an invisible sword or not.'

He too was hoping that Lord Chun couldn't use the invisible sword.

Jegal Sohi had said that he was a Supreme Master when she met him.

No matter how gifted Lord Chun was, it was beyond understanding to believe that he'd taken a step into a legendary level in just a few months.

'What is certain is that Elder Cheong-su spoke too much, it could be that he didn't understand it since Lord Chun was beyond his level. This is so interesting! Does the sky not want me to meet Lord Chun?'

When he first appeared in Yulin, he'd competed against many masters, but had experienced an overwhelming disappointment.

Not a single person his age could compete against him.

Even till now, there were only a few leaders who could defend themselves against Yeon Buso's attacks.

That was when he realized that in this world, people like him were called Geniuses.

'If he really is that strong, we will surely bump into each other sometime. No matter how much he avoids me, we are bound to meet.'

Until then, it seemed like he had to calm his boiling blood.

That was when someone came out from the south gate and ran to them.

He was the eunuch from the Cardinal Spear.

“Has the entry pass been issued? Amitabha.”

In response to Monk Sathi’s question, the eunuch nodded.

“It was issued. More importantly, we need to hurry up and visit His Majesty right now.”

“Right now?”

They’d visited the imperial palace before, and they knew it would always take two to three days to meet the Emperor.

However, with their passes just having been issued, they were being invited by the Emperor.

“Early this morning, the removal of Taoism was accelerated as the people of the Demonic Cult entered the palace!”

“What?”

Peng-gyu and Sathi were shocked by those unbelievable words.

Just a moment ago, they'd felt relieved to know that Taoism hadn't been completely removed, but now since the members of the Demonic Cult were entering the palace, they would make sure it got removed out as soon as possible.

“Amitabha! What a mess!. Leader Peng-gyu and Leader Yeon Buso please go meet the Emperor. I will lead the members of the Hangsan clan and make sure that the temples of Taoism don't get dismantled.”

It was a situation in which the Hangsan clan must act.

When she said that she would prevent the dismantlement, both of them nodded their heads.

Wondering, Yeon Buso asked.

“Did the Lord of the Demonic Cult enter the palace?”

“I don't know. However, if we don't hurry in, we might not be given permission to enter.”

As a result, Yeon Buso sighed.

There was no way that a normal eunuch could know if a person with the position of Lord had entered the palace again or not.

He was wondering whether he should help Monk Sathi, but after thinking about it, he decided to meet the Emperor alongside leader Peng-gyu.

The Taoist temple was located southeast of the Dragon Palace.

Built during the reign of the first emperor, the temple, like the other temples in Jianghu, consisted of several halls, three buildings, and was under the jurisdiction of the emperor.

Such a temple was experiencing huge riots.

Thud! Crack!

“You! Stop this now!”

“You people! How dare you do this!”

The monks in the temple tried helplessly to fight back but to no avail.

The members of the Demonic Cult, who had arrived an hour before, were removing all the books and teaching tools from the halls.

“You evil demons! This is a sacred temple of Taoism! Get away...”

Phuk!

“Kuak!”

“Who are you calling evil demons? On His Majesty’s orders, we were told to dismantle this place and build a temple of the Sky Demon Order, it would be better for you if you left this place.”

A person, dressed as a member of the Demonic Cult, kicked the man.

He was continuously obstructing the front of the temple and resisting its dismantle, he wasn’t even willing to listen to what the Demonic Cult members had to say.

“You think I don’t know that you blocked the Emperor’s eyes and ears! You wicked people!”

Even though the temple was being dismantled, the teachers in there cursed the Demonic Cult.

In the beginning, the Demonic cult members had told them to stop their resistance, yet those teachers sat down saying that they hadn't received any messages from Yulin.

They were talking as if the Emperor's orders meant nothing to them.

"I can't hold back myself any longer!"

Wheeeeing!

At that time, a young man standing in the front yard of the temple ignited a spark in his hands.

The teachers and monks who were moving in suddenly went stiff at that sight.

The young man with a hood on his head was Hu Bong, the right-hand man of the Lord of Demonic Cult.

Whhhhooooo!

Hu Bong directed the flame at a small tree in the yard, which immediately caught fire.

In an instant, it turned black and then turned into ashes.

“Ugh!”

He was showing the Qilin’s power to threaten them.

And it did work to an extent.

People who were attempting to resist stared at him, perplexed, unsure of what they were expected to do.

‘Tch. Even those who learn martial arts won’t be able to stand their grounds.’

The teachers and monks in the temple were different.

They weren’t trained in martial arts, they were only instructed to not back down if the members of Demonic Cult came, but seeing how the Demonic Cult was ready to act, they couldn’t get themselves to follow those orders.

“Those who continue to resist or interfere with our work, make sure their blood flows.”

“Yes!”

The order was given by Hu Bong to forcefully suppress the temple's members.

That was when the nuns rushed into the temple.

“Waaaahhh!”

“Huh? Nuns?”

Clang! clang! Clang!

The nuns, who appeared suddenly, drew their swords and took their positions blocking the members of the Demonic Cult from entry.

They were the disciples of the Hangsan clan.

When the nuns suddenly appeared before them, the members of the cult looked back at Hu Bong with a puzzled expression, not knowing what to do.

“Amitabha!”

Amongst the nuns, a dignified-looking middle-aged nun dressed in red robes walked to the front.

Monk Sathi, a long-standing member of the Hangsan clan.

'Thank buddha, I wasn't too late.'

She'd rushed over as fast as she could.

She'd been worried that the temple would be completely dismantled and the teachers kicked out by the time she arrived, but fortunately, it hadn't happened yet.

'Ah!'

She looked at Hu Bong, who was standing in the lead with a hood on.

She instinctively knew that he was the leader of this group.

Judging from the strong energy radiating from his body, she guessed that he was a Superior Master Level warrior.

'Superior Master? Could this person be the Lord of the Demonic Cult?'

Elder Cheong-su had said that the Lord of the Demonic Cult was a Divine Master Level.

However, like the other leaders, Monk Sathi didn't believe those words.

It was impossible for a person who was just twenty years old to go beyond the Supreme Master level and reach the level of a Divine Master.

'If someone radiates this kind of mixed eerie energy, anyone is likely to misunderstand.'

Foreign energy emanated from the hooded person.

It was the Qilin's energy that was different from normal energy, even those who were skilled in martial arts wouldn't be able to stop themselves from being confused.

"Amitabha."

She looked at Hu Bong and slightly bowed her head to greet him.

Her lips parted.

"I am Monk Sathi, a long standing member of the Hangsan clan. It is a pity that we have to meet each other in this way even though we are allied forces, but I will have to ask your members to withdraw from here.”

Hu Bong made a clueless expression that said he couldn't understand her words.

“If you are a long time member, then you must be a leader of the Forces of Justice. If so, then how can you oppose an order given by His Majesty the Emperor himself?”

“Even though there is an alliance between us two, there is a line which shouldn't be crossed. How could you people devise such a cunning plan to dismantle the temples and schools of our realm!”

It was pinched by the statement that the emperor recognized the Sky Demon Order as the State Religion.

Hu Bong tilted his head at her words.

“Since when did the Imperial palace become your realm?”

“Kuk! Amitabha!”

Hu Bong spoke, and Monk Sathi's eyes became cold as she heard those words.

When she looked around, she couldn't find any other people apart from the few members of the cult in the yard.

No officials from the palace had come. If they were around, they would have reported this to the emperor, thankfully, the Demonic cult members were the only ones present.

'It would be better to subdue the Lord of the Demonic Cult here.'

If she could suppress him here, she would be able to persuade the emperor at a later time.

Although the foreign energy from his body was bothering her, she would be able to overcome it if she used the martial arts of her temple.

"Amitabha. I obviously gave good advice. But as you are asking for punishment, I hope you don't regret it."

Clang!

With that, she pulled out her sword, the Suhyeon sword, when a voice entered her ears.

“What do you mean by regret?”

“!?”

She couldn't even feel any energy.

Shocked by the sudden voice, Monk Sathi tried to move to increase the distance, but an unknown person had grabbed her neck from behind.

Clench!

“Ahhh!”

She tried to strike the man's hand by raising her internal energy, but her entire body was paralyzed when the man's energy infiltrated her.

‘Th, such unbelievable force...’

Flustered by the overwhelming power, she looked at the place where the Demonic Cult members were. Kneeling onto the ground with their hands together, they all shouted.

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.Site Only

“Lord Chun! Lord Chun! Lord Chun! We greet you!”

“What?”

Monk Sathi’s eyes widened as she realized the identity of the person holding her by the neck.

Chapter 383 - Title of Five Strongest Warriors (4)

Chapter 383: Title of Five Strongest Warriors (4)

Monk Sathi of Hangsan clan.

She'd risen to fame at the same age as a typical high-schooler.

Because of the way she handled swords in her youth, she was known as the Elegant Sword.

In her mid-thirties, she'd been recognized for her sword skills after beheading a notorious swordsman.

Currently, she had a strong reputation as a leader of Yulin, but during her time as an active member, she'd only been seen as an excellent female swordsman.

"Monk Sathi!"

"Ahhh!"

The nuns shouted in shock.

For the excellent swordswoman, Monk Sathi, to have been attacked by the Demonic Cult, and not just that, but for her to be held by her neck and lose her ability to move...

“You- Lord of Demonic Cult?”

A man in a black robe, with long hair and a white face.

No matter how many times she looked, the young man who seemed to be pinning her in place with just one hand seemed as arrogant as a Lord could ever be.

‘Why is the master not moving?’

Amongst the nuns, there was a younger one who bit her lip.

She was the first disciple of Monk Sathi, Wo-seon.

[Sister! If this continues our master will be defeated!]

The woman who’d sent the message was the second disciple Oh Hye.

[Ah! Sister is right!]

After hearing Oh Hye's message, she came back to her senses and told her to perform the Sword of Collective Harmony, a technique of the Hangsan clan.

Phat!

The two disciples, of the proud Hangsan clan, simultaneously unleashed their technique.

The two nuns crossed each other several times, making the watching eyes grow dizzy, and at the same time, moved to attack Chun Yeowun from his left and his right.

"Let go of my Master right now!"

"You evil Lord of the evil Demonic Cult!"

The two swords avoided hitting their master, and seemed to be aimed for the right shoulder and left rib of Chun Yeowun, but something totally unexpected greeted them.

Crack!

“Ugh!”

Someone grabbed Oh Hye’s wrist, which was aiming for Chun Yeowun’s right shoulder.

Shocked, she looked at the person who had grabbed her wrist, a muscular young man with a beard.

“How dare you! a mere monk trying to get close to him.”

The crude hand which held her was so large that her slender wrist could break like wooden sticks from the pressure.

Clang!

At the same time, Wu-seon’s sword, which had aimed for the left rib, was blocked by someone.

With bare hands, he grabbed the sword’s blade and broke it, this man had a unique pattern on his mask.

‘S-strong!’

Shocked, she quickly tried to increase the distance between her and the man.

She looked over to see if Oh Hye had succeeded, but a muscular man, twice the height of normal people, had grabbed her by her wrist and lifted her.

“Wanghur!”

Hu Bong looked at the giant man and shouted warmly.

The man was none other than Ko Wanghur of the Demon Fist Clan!

After the end of the Demonic Cult civil war, he remained in the Ten Thousands Mountains. It would appear that he’d finally left that place and entered the Imperial Palace.

“Hey Hu Bong. It’s been a while. You have been enjoying your time with the Lord alone I see... Ah!”

Ko Wanghur raised his hand and waved at Hu Bong.

The Lord, Chun Yeowun, had been a monster from the very beginning.

‘Is... it true?’

Ko Wanghur hadn't been able to follow the Lord on his journey because of his level and had dedicated himself to training.

In order to not become a burden for his Lord, he was the only member of the Six Swords to have reached the beginning of the Superior Master level after his exhausting training.

It was just yesterday that he was happy about reaching the level of an elder, but now Hu Bong was giving off an energy that was even greater than his.

'I was so delighted with my results this time, but Hu Bong's level makes me nervous.'

Hu Bong, wasn't given major roles in the Six Swords team because of his low martial skills.

If he had grown by this much, then it was certain that he could claim a title if he battled for the Six Swords.

'Who are these people...'

Wo-seon didn't know what to do when two people with strong energies suddenly appeared.

She'd tried to save her master but had ended up causing her fellow sister to be caught instead.

It was pathetic to see Oh-hye hanging by her wrist.

'Other masters have appeared.'

Monk Sathi's expression darkened after looking at Wo-seon's reaction.

It was her mistake to come here without any prior preparations.

'Being crushed like this, I can't even fight... Amitabha!'

It was a truly shameful situation.

She could get hurt, but she desperately wanted to get out of the hands of the Lord of the Demonic Cult.

"Yo-you take your hand off my body, otherwise!"

"Otherwise?"

“You will regret it!”

As soon as she said that, Monk Sathi began increasing the energy in her body, and gathered it near her chest.

Phut!

It was something she had learned in the temple for several decades, and she always thought that her skills were profound enough for her to be counted as one of the five strongest warriors.

Geshan Da Niu(Hitting Cattle in the Mountain).

It meant to hit cattle in the mountain.

A high-level method, an attack that could deliver a huge impact when an object is used as a medium.

Unable to get out of Chun Yeowun’s grasp, she decided to use her own body as a medium to escape.

Chiit!

She could feel the energy running through her body.

She'd never tried using her body as a medium, but it somehow felt like she had succeeded.

Tring! Tring!

Fortunately, since she had used her body as the medium, it looked like the energy had flowed to the back of her neck.

'It was a success! Now all that is left... ah!'

No matter how skilled he was, she thought that if he realized that she was trying to use internal energy to invade his body, Chun Yeowun would naturally remove his hand to prevent any injury.

But...

Jjjjjjjjjak!

The stone slab under Chun Yeowun's feet cracked.

Upon hearing that, her eyes widened.

"N-No way!"

The cracking of the slab was the aftermath of her energy, which she had tried to use on Chun Yeowun because of her Geshan Da Niu.

Surprisingly, Chun Yeowun had guided the energy that had entered his body through the meridians in his body and discharged it into his feet.

He'd accepted her energy and used a more advanced method to avoid getting hurt.

"Ho-how did you do that?"

Her final supreme attack had miserably failed.

From the moment he'd caught her without releasing any energy, she'd guessed that he was stronger than her, but this was different.

'He is a monster! No, he is the Demon God himself!'

At that moment, the warning she'd been given by Elder Cheong-su, came to her mind.

She'd thought his words to be nothing but bullshit, but the man grabbing her by the neck really was a monster.

[He, he really is a Divine Master!]

Goosebumps rose to the surface of the skin along her back.

For a moment, it really felt like he was a Divine Master.

If not that, he must be one of the Five Strongest warriors.

'No, no, no! No one, with the exception of Great Leader Yi Mok, can stand up to this man.'

Whilst she was lost in the abyss of shock, Chun Yeowun spoke to her.

"You seem to use the word 'regret' a lot."

At that word, Monk Sathi's face turned red with embarrassment.

"Lo-Lord of the Demonic Cult. I am a member of the Forces of Justice, which is allied with your cult! There seems to be a misunderstanding, how about you let me go and we have a proper conversation?"

She knew that fighting with him would cause her to meet nothing but a pitiful end.

It was fortunate that the Forces of Justice had an alliance with the Demonic Cult.

But there was one thing she didn't know.

"If you wanted to talk, you should never have drawn your sword before me."

"!?"

Chun Yeowun was the kind of person who repaid ten times what he received.

"Ah no. That was..."

She was the one who'd drawn her sword at Hu Bong first.

From Monk Sathi's perspective, her reason for drawing her sword was justified as she had wanted to prevent the dismantling of the temple, but she couldn't deny the fact that she was the one who drew their sword first.

Creep!

'What is he?'

Monk Sathi sensed the energy rise behind her, with fear rising inside her heart, she shouted.

“Wa-wait! If you harm me, the alliance...”

“The alliance doesn’t mean that we forgive your mistakes. And you shouldn’t have done anything you’d regret in the first place.”

Slash!

After those words were heard, something swiftly passed over her left shoulder.

There was no pain at that moment.

But a second later, an indescribably extreme pain shot through her nerves.

Thud!

She screamed in pain as she gazed down at her broken left arm.

“Ahhhhhhh!”

Thud!

Chun Yeowun threw her to the ground.

Looking down at her, screaming in pain because it was her first time experiencing it, Chun Yeowun spoke again.

“As a courtesy to the alliance, I’ll only take your left arm.”

It was no gratitude, but it was a lot better than taking away the right arm of a swordsman.

From Chun Yeowun’s side, it meant showing mercy.

Seeing their respected master’s arm fall to the ground was something that horrified the other nuns of the Hangsan clan.

Chun Yeowun then gave orders to the warriors of the Demonic Cult.

“Bring it down, if they resist, cut them down too.”

“Yes!”

At the same time, in the Throne Room of the Dragon Palace where the Emperor resides.

Thud! Thud! Thud!

“Wah!”

“I can’t straighten my knees!”

Twelve eunuchs of the Cardinal Spear were kneeling on the floor.

Although they were skilled people, they couldn’t resist the energy which was pushing them to the ground and humiliating them forcibly.

At this sight, the eyes of the emperor, who was on the throne, shone.

“Hoo.”

In the throne room, fifty steps away from the hall, two men of the Forces of Justice were standing.

And the man who was the reason for the pressure the eunuchs were feeling was coming from none other than Yeon Buso, the eldest son of the Great Leader of the Forces of Justice.

'Shocking. I've only heard about him.'

Yeon Buso standing next to Peng-gyu made him a little shocked.

He had guessed that Yeon Buso had reached a level that surpasses his own, but to see him bring those people to their knees was surprising.

'How could a guy of only 30 years old reach the Supreme Master level'

Supreme Master.

It was a level that very few people within Yulin had managed to reach.

Peng-gyu knew that Yi Mok and seven other leaders of the Forces of Justice had taught this man, but to see his growth was startling.

'Amazing. In my generation, the best kind of warriors were only born out of wedlock between strong families.'

Of the five strongest warriors of Wulin, Peng-gyu was told that a master who reached this level at the age of thirty was like a monster.

A sense of pride filled Peng-gyu's heart at the thought that he was walking alongside the next generation's Lord.

"Did you see that! Your Majesty! That is Yeon Buso, who is going to earn the title of Five Strongest Warriors of the East!"

"Five!"

Peng-gyu and Yeon Buso were being praised.

They couldn't praise themselves, but the others were doing it for them.

Of course, the Emperor himself had to confirm the ability of Yeon Buso with his eyes, as he wasn't the kind to easily trust others.

[Somehow, make sure that you show them that you can protect the Imperial palace from the Blade God Six Martial clan a lot better than the Demonic Cult.]

That was what the Great Leader of the Forces of Justice had said.

Yeon Buso was doing an excellent job so far.

Even the Emperor seemed a little impressed.

Now the key was to persuade the emperor to change the art.

However, the Emperor soon sighed and flicked his finger.

Snap!

As if they had been waiting, eunuchs from all over the corners began to gather.

Rush!

The number was close to two hundred or so.

The palace was so wide that it was filled with only them, but he couldn't understand why the eunuchs had been called in.

The emperor soon opened his mouth.

“You must be Yeon Buso.”

“Yes, your Majesty.”

“Try it again.”

“?”

At the unexpected command which came out of the emperor’s mouth, Yeon Buso and Peng-gyu’s eyes lit up.

They weren’t sure till then, but now they knew that he wanted them to make all the eunuchs in the hall kneel.

It seemed like he wasn’t satisfied with what had shown earlier, and was trying to confirm it again.

‘Should I take them down?’

The number was too many for him to make them kneel.

Before entering the Dragon palace, he’d left his weapon, and now he was being asked to subdue the eunuchs with his bare hands.

The emperor opened his mouth again.

“Three hundred people.”

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

“Sorry?”

“That is the number of people who knelt down in an instant with a single gesture from the Lord of Demonic Cult.”

Hearing the ridiculous number coming out of the Emperor’s mouth, Yeon Buso’s eyes shook.

Chapter 384 - Worth and Value (1)

Chapter 384: Worth and Value (1)

'Three hundred people?'

For a second, Yeon Buso doubted his ears.

There were two hundred eunuchs from the Cardinal Spear right in front of them.

They were people who surely had learned martial arts. They were at least third-class warriors.

'Is it even possible to suppress all of them at the same time?'

If one was a Supreme Master, and a member of the 17 leaders of Yulin, they should be able to subdue the eunuchs without taking too long.

However, it was a completely different matter to make them all kneel with just a single gesture.

'Even if we give it our all, we can only subdue a hundred or so.'

Even making them kneel for long would be difficult.

Normally one would use their energy to subdue others when they were fighting each other. It was a way to earn a bit of time for a defense.

'Impossible.'

No matter how much they thought about it, it was absolutely impossible to heed the emperor's words.

It could have been an exaggeration to say that three hundred people had been forced to kneel all at once.

They could both see the emperor looking at them with anticipation.

'Ah, Your Majesty is testing me.'

Yeon Buso thought that he'd figured out the Emperor's true intention.

It must have meant that he was indirectly asking Yeon Buso to showcase his ability to subdue the Lord of the Demonic Cult.

What was even more interesting was that Yeon Buso still didn't think that Chun Yeowun had reached the Divine Master level.

[His Majesty seems to be exaggerating about that gesture.]

Suddenly Peng-gyu's voice entered Yeon Buso's ear.

He nodded in agreement.

[It seems like His Majesty wants us to show our capabilities.]

Peng-gyu could show his skills, but it was much better for Yeon Buso, who was stronger than him to do so.

In order to fulfill Great Leader Yi Mok's order and to satisfy the Emperor, they had to show overwhelming force. However, the task they'd been given wasn't easy.

That was when the emperor opened his mouth.

"Can't do it?"

His subtle look of disappointment was clearly visible from afar.

Yeon Buso was wrapping his head around the concept of victory.

'This man is quite clever. It was never my intention to showcase a power which could instil fear in the Emperor's mind. Is this an opportunity given by the Emperor?'

Yeon Buso strongly believed that he and Chun Yeowun, the Lord of Demonic Cult, must have some fated relationship.

In the future, if he became the Great leader of Yulin and led his faction, he would be known as a warrior who had competed for the sake of Yulin in the Emperor's eyes.

'I cannot lose to him.'

Pak!

Yeon Buso placed his hands together and said.

"Of course we can, Your Majesty! However, I will show you something different, because my pride doesn't let me copy someone else's performance."

“Something different?”

Yeon Buso looked at the Emperor who was puzzled.

That was when swords hidden in the belts of the three eunuchs nearby got pulled out.

Srrrrng!

“Ugh! How-how did my sword...?”

“My sword!”

The three eunuchs couldn’t hide their embarrassment when their swords got pulled out.

No matter how skilled the man from Yulin was, they should have felt at least some kind of energy around them.

Float!

“Ugh!”

The Emperor's eyes lit up.

The three swords floating in the air moved as if they were alive.

Among the eunuchs, the three people who'd lost their swords were shocked.

"Air Sword!"

Air Sword.

It was a technique used to make a sword fly, something which only a Supreme Master could do.

The other eunuchs mumbled and whispered amongst themselves, the Emperor looked over at Admiral Seo Tae-sik, of the Cardinal Spear, who was standing on the other side.

Seo Tae-sik, who understood what he meant, sent a telepathic message to the emperor.

[Your Majesty. That technique is considered to be one that could rival a member of the five strongest warriors in Wulin.]

In Wulin, the only people who were officially known to have achieved the Supreme Master level were the five strongest warriors.

Of course, even in Yulin, several people preferred to hide their skills. It was shocking that a man in his 30s could use this skill.

“Five strongest warriors?”

Even the Emperor was aware of the five strongest warriors in Wulin.

The Guardian escort, who had died while protecting him, was also someone who had shared that title ninety years before.

Even in the Yulin faction, he’d heard that only the Great Leader of Yulin could do it, but to see the eldest son perform it in the throne room was a surprise.

“... is the Lord of the Demonic Cult one of the five Strongest warriors?”

The Emperor asked in a low voice.

Seo Tae-sik shook his head and sent another telepathic message.

[No. As far as I know, the former Lord of the Demonic Cult was one of them, but not the current one.]

“Really?”

‘The five strongest warriors are said to be warriors who are the best in what they do, then how could Lim Gyu-hwa, someone who formerly held that same title, get killed in a couple strikes?’

Just remembering that, made a shiver run down the emperor’s spine.

However, what was even more shocking was that the people of Yulin didn’t seem to be aware of Chun Yeowun’s power, or his capabilities.

‘Those with great talent get known to the world even when they try to hide it... that could be how the Lord of the Demonic Cult becomes known.’

Being an Emperor, he couldn’t quite understand how the rankings within Wulin worked, but he was sure of it.

That one day, the name Chun Yeowun, a wise man, would hold the title of being the best in the world.

Maybe that was why he wasn’t so impressed with Yeon Buso’s power.

‘Who will become the best amongst the strongest warriors?’

Even if the leaders of the Forces of Justice or the leaders of other factions came over directly to showcase their power, the Emperor thought that they wouldn’t amount to anything before Chun Yeowun.

Yeon Buso, who didn’t know what the emperor was thinking, was wondering what kind of things he had to show next to move the Emperor’s heart, and then decided.

It was to show the strongest technique one could use.

Ahhhh!

Yeon Buso walked three steps ahead and drew a circle around him with his toe.

The eunuchs were puzzled, suddenly, Yeon Buso spoke to the Emperor.

“Majesty, then I will subdue the people in this room without taking a single step from this circle.”

“That much even the Lord of...”

Yeon Buso waved his hand before the Emperor could finish his words, and the three swords which were in the air moved around the room.

Yeon Buso spoke to the eunuchs.

“If you manage to push me out of the circle, I will admit defeat.”

“?”

It was arrogance.

At that very moment, Yeon Buso moved his hand, and the three swords which were in the air accelerated and quickly passed between the eunuchs, drawing up numerous trajectories.

Swoosh!

The sound of something passing by rang in the eunuch's ears.

The swords which were moving around could stab them at any moment if they took another step.

“S-stop it!”

Clang!

Two hundred eunuchs drew their swords to stop the Air Sword.

In order to not get in the way, Peng-gyu decided to create some distance.

‘It is an Air Sword, so this will definitely work out in our favour.’

Originally, Yeon Buso had intended to use it right away, however, it took some time for him to collect the energy needed.

However, it wasn’t too long.

“Push him out of the circle!”

“Wahhhhh!”

The eunuchs of the Cardinal Spear rushed towards Yeon Buso at once.

He had declared that he could accept defeat if he got pushed one step out of the circle.

'Push him forcefully!'

No matter how well known he was in Yulin, there were two hundred people in the throne room, what could he possibly do to stop them?

That was what the eunuchs were thinking, but would a strategy made by a Supreme Master be that easy to breach?

“Brilliant Sky Sword!”

Yeon Buso muttered something and raised his hand to the sky.

At that moment, the three swords across the room began flying between the eunuchs.

Swoosh!

Sharp sounds were created by the Air Sword passing through the gaps between the eunuchs, leaving behind a gust of wind.

WHeein!

“Ugh!”

“This wind!”

It was almost like a blast of wind.

And the place where Yeon Buso was standing looked like the eye of a typhoon, the eunuchs who came to attack him bounced away and fell back.

Thud!

“Oh oh!”

The Emperor who was watching this seemed slightly impressed.

If the Lord of the Demonic Cult displayed a demonic spirit, Yeon Buso's was more like a warrior's skill.

"Ugh?"

"ugh, clothes?"

What was even more shocking was that the uniforms of the eunuchs were being violently torn apart.

Which meant that Yeon Buso handled his swords so sophisticatedly that he made sure no eunuch was harmed.

Peng-gyu clicked his tongue.

'I was thinking he would show something nice, but he just keeps proving that he is a monster.'

He hadn't expected Yeon Buso to possess such a high-level technique.

Even he, who had been active in Yulin for 20 years, was speechless, even the Emperor himself would have no choice but to admit it.

'We have absolutely succeeded.'

Yeon Buso smiled slightly.

The technique he was using had been made with the help of his father, Yi Mok.

Yi Mok was the kind of person who preferred different ideas.

He'd made a new technique that could control the air freely, and what Yeon Buso was displaying was his father's skill.

'How was it? Your Ma....!?'

Yeon Buso's expression hardened as he looked at the Emperor's expression.

He'd thought that he had succeeded, but the Emperor looked strangely more disappointed than surprised.

"It is amazing, but is that all?"

"Sorry?"

The Emperor wasn't satisfied with what he'd seen.

In fact, there was no particular surprise because what he'd just seen could be done by Lim Gyu-hwa.

'What went wrong?'

Peng-gyu, who was sure that they would win the Emperor's heart, was perplexed.

He couldn't understand at all what Chun Yeowun had done to make the Emperor's heart not move even once to his marvelous show of supreme strength.

"Nothing more?"

"Your, Your Majesty?"

The Emperor's tone sounded like he'd lost interest in them, which made Peng-gyu unsure of how he was supposed to deal with the situation.

"Your... Your Majesty! The skills which the leader has just shown you are something that even the five strongest warriors in Wulin..."

Before he could finish, the Emperor's eyebrows rose.

“Do you think that I don’t know the five strongest warriors?”

“I-I didn’t mean it...”

“He isn’t present now, but my personal Guardian Escort was one of those five strongest warriors too. Even you people must know about it. Was it Wave Sword?”

There was no way they wouldn’t know.

Ninety years ago, he’d been called the Sword Emperor, someone whom no one else could match.

“You are Yeon Buso?”

“... yes. Your Majesty.”

“I know that you are good. Then, would you be able to defeat the guardian with three strikes?”

“Sorry?”

Yeon Buso's eyes fluttered.

No matter how much his skills improved, he was still a Supreme Master.

Could he defeat someone of such great power in three strikes?

When Yeon Buso hesitated without saying anything, the Emperor waved his hand.

"My decision hasn't changed. You can leave."

"Your-Your Majesty!"

They knew that it would be difficult to convince him, but they didn't expect that it would be this hard.

They simply didn't know it.

But Yeon Buso's skill was what had made the Emperor grow even firmer in his decision.

'This is a problem. If this goes on, the Sky Demon Order will be fully instated as the State Religion!'

The greatest disgrace to the Forces of Justice.

Peng-gyu, who didn't want to give up, fell to the ground and pleaded with the emperor.

"Your Majesty! I know that you are very disappointed with the last incident, but we Forces of Justice can do as much..."

"Your Majesty! Your Majesty!"

Before Peng-gyu could even finish speaking, a shout was heard from outside the room.

It was close to howling, but it could be heard inside the throne room, the Emperor frowned and looked at Admiral Seo Tae-sik.

"What is all that fuss?"

"I will find out."

When Seo Tae-sik looked over, he saw a couple of eunuchs rushing out of the throne room.

Not long after, they came running back in, one after another.

Their faces, blue, and their clothes were soaked in sweat from running.

Thud!

“Your Majesty! we have critical information.”

“How many times have I told you people not to make a fuss inside the palace grounds? What happened this time?”

Judging from the Emperor’s tone, it seemed that this was something that happened quite often.

Since the announcement about the abolition of Taoism, the number of teachers who came in to complain had been troublesome.

“Your Majesty! Please let us continue the talks! Wasn’t the very Empire the one who let Taoism flourish from the days of the first Emperor? How could we allow those evil Demonic Cult to enter and dismantle our temples?”

Peng-gyu’s face hardened at the words of one of the people who’d come in.

He’d thought that something must have happened to delay Monk Sathi’s entry into the throne room, but it seemed like something had definitely happened.

That was when Yeon Buso grabbed the teacher who'd come in and asked.

"Hold on. Did the Lord of the Demonic Cult appear in the temple too?"

"Ugh, how did you know?"

Yeon Buso's eyes widened at the teacher who questioned him back.

He'd asked out of curiosity to know if the Demonic Cult's Lord had appeared in the Imperial palace or not.

'Wait! The Lord of the Demonic Cult came here? Then wouldn't we have a better solution?'

Whilst contemplating, Yeon Buso came up with an idea to persuade the Emperor.

'The emperor seems smitten by the Lord of the Demonic cult. If I can't persuade them, then it might be better to prove myself to be superior to him.'

This was an opportunity he couldn't miss.

Yeon Buso explained his plan to Peng-gyu who was still kneeling on the ground.

Hearing that, Peng-gyu was hesitant for a while and then agreed.

It seemed like a waste of time to stand in the throne room trying to convince the Emperor, so they decided to opt for another way.

They decided to make the Emperor know that they had given up.

“Your Majesty! We are taking a step back!”

The emperor clicked his tongue as he looked at the two people who had every intention to return here.

What they wanted to do was clear to everyone present.

Everyone noticed how Yeon Buso's eyes twinkled when he heard that the Lord of the Demonic Cult was in the Imperial Palace.

‘They are stupid. These are the kind of people who have to taste defeat in order to know that they are nothing but insects.’

They wanted to stop them, but what could be done?

The eunuchs were able to understand the saying, too much curiosity shortens one's lifespan.

Tatatatatata!

Some people were rushing to the southeast of the Imperial Palace.

The one at the forefront was a eunuch of the Cardinal Spear, followed by Peng-gyu, Yeong Buso, and the Peng family warriors.

[He will surely deal with you too.]

[Huh?]

When they were leaving the throne room, the Emperor said something incomprehensible.

They didn't know what he meant, but this was the only chance they had.

'If we subdue the Lord of the Demonic Cult, we can change the Emperor's heart.'

The Emperor wasn't showing any signs of it, but he was afraid of the Lord of the Demonic Cult.

Even after seeing Yeon Buso's skills, he'd stuck with the Demonic cult.

"Sir. Have you seen the Lord of Demonic Cult before?"

At Peng-gyu's cautious question, the eunuch who was leading them nodded his head.

"I guess you can say that. To be honest, I don't think that this eunuch will be able to feel what I felt that day from the Lord of Demonic cult from anyone else."

Even though he said that, the eunuch shuddered at the memory of what had happened.

Because of the Emperor's interest, the eunuchs had seen various factions of Yulin, and the eunuchs would compete with them too, but the man they'd met in the underground shrine made those other people seem worthless.

"He is not a person. He should be called a monster, or a Demon God."

“Demon God?”

Yeon Buso frowned.

This eunuch was speaking in the same way that Elder Cheong-su had.

It made him wonder how strong the Lord of the Demonic Cult really was.

‘I am getting excited. The fact that I finally get to meet the man who can stand against me!’

His right hand, which held his most beloved sword, trembled.

He couldn’t help but be disappointed when he was informed that the Lord of Demonic Cult had left, but when he heard that he was back, Yeon Buso couldn’t hold back his excitement.

“That place!”

The eunuch pointed to a building that looked like a temple.

They'd thought that the battle would be in full swing since Monk Sathi hadn't returned, but the place was quiet.

"Ah!"

But through the gap in the temple gates, they could see nuns kneeling.

They were none other than the female disciples of the Hangsan clan.

"How could that happen?"

Peng-gyu's face grew distorted.

Those women had gone over to stop the dismantling of the temples, however, they appeared to be the ones who had been subdued instead.

What exactly happened to Monk Sathi?

'No.'

Anger rose in Peng-gyu's heart, but he quickly calmed himself.

He'd thought that all his efforts would end up making Yeon Buso the star of the show, but it seemed like he had a chance to prove himself.

'I will lead the members of the Demonic Cult to Yeon Buso and aim for the Lord.'

All he wanted to do was to build enough prestige as a member of the Forces of Justice, and then he'd get the arm of a true gentleman.

clang!

Thinking up to this point, Peng-gyu pulled out his Thunderbolt Blade, a family heirloom.

"Warriors of Peng. Draw your swords! The time has come to save the brothers and sisters!"

"Wahhhhh!"

Clang! Clang! Clang!

Twenty-five elite warriors of the Peng family had their morale raised at the words of the clan head.

In the Peng family, Peng-gyu was the only one who had achieved the Superior Master level.

The one who followed was a lieutenant, a Super Master. He prided himself on being strong enough to never get pushed back by the enemy.

“Leader Yeon. I will be the first one to strike.”

“You can do what you want!”

Yeon Buso happily nodded at Peng-gyu’s words, as he showed great determination.

Woong!

He was determined to do his best from the beginning after having failed to restore the Emperor’s trust.

“Follow me!”

Phat! Bang!

Peng-gyu passed through the temple gate in an instant.

Yeon Buso tried to follow in, but something suddenly gave him chills.

“What was that? Energy?”

It was then,

A sudden ear-piercing scream erupted from inside the temple.

“Kuakkkkk!”

Shocked, Yeon Buso and the warriors of the Peng clan passed through the gate and entered the temple, only to see Peng-gyu, who had entered the temple with unbounded enthusiasm, kneeling in front of someone.

“No?!”

However, something was weird.

As he knelt before the man, Buso realized that his right arm was nowhere to be found, and that blood was gushing from the fresh cut.

“L-leader!!!”

The warriors of Peng Clan shouted.

Yeon Buso hurriedly stopped them from moving further into the temple in anger.

“Stop!”

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

At the same time, Yeon Buso looked at the person standing in front of Peng-gyu.

A young man with long hair and fair white skin stood there, and to his surprise, Peng-gyu’s missing right arm was being held in his hands.

The young man brushed his long black hair and spoke.

“Huhu, there is so much arguing... there seems to be a lot of people getting their arms cut off today.”

Chapter 385 - Worth and Value (2)

Chapter 385: Worth and Value (2)

Peng house.

They were considered to be among the three famous households of the Jianghu.

Along with his half-brother, they turned into one of the top five strongest groups in Jianghu.

Although he was a member of the Forces of Justice, he had ambitions, unlike his docile father.

He didn't have as much talent in martial arts as his younger brother had, but he wanted to be in a 3rd leader's position, where he gets called the backbone of martial arts.

And to get to that position, it took a lot of work.

'Blade God Six Martial clan is too risky.'

They lacked the information and the Blade God Six Martial clan was too strong for the Peng house to face off against.

Meanwhile, an opportunity arose.

The absurd thing of the empire's Religion being changed.

There were two reasons for it.

The new Lord of the Demonic Cult, Chun Yeowun, who entered the imperial palace, and Elder Cheong-su who went to the palace as an envoy to renew the non-aggression treaty.

'Elder Cheong-su is the 12th leader. Since he stepped down, the existing leaders will get promoted one by one. But that won't be enough.'

And as he aimed for the 3rd leader, he would have to climb more and faster.

He never thought of an opportunity to come.

If he could rectify what Elder Cheong-su had done, he could get a high position.

But there was one thing he overlooked.

Before stepping down, Elder Cheong-su had mentioned several times that the Lord of the Demonic Cult was a monster.

Yet, not a single person believed him.

‘This makes no sense. He reached the Divine Master level? Phut! He should at least make excuses along the lines of not feeling well that day.’

Peng-gyu didn’t pay much attention to the Elder’s words.

It was impossible to believe that a person who was in the Superior Master level a few months back went beyond numerous stages and reached Divine Master level.

‘But there is nothing wrong with being careful, just in case.’

Both Elder Cheong-su and the eunuch, even the emperor, seemed afraid of the Lord of Demonic Cult.

Perhaps the Lord was skilled and versatile enough, or in the worst case scenario, the end of Superior level.

If that was the case, it would be difficult for Peng-gyu, who would be lower than Chun Yeowun, to take him down.

Bang!

Peng-gyu entered the gate of the temple at once by using energy, and quickly looked for an opponent he could face.

On the stairs, in front of the temple, stood a tall, muscular man, and a young man in a blue hood.

The moment he saw them, Peng-gyu recognized them as Superior Masters.

“That guy! That guy must be the lord!”

The man with the big beard looked almost the same age as him.

But the man with the blue hood seemed like a young man.

In addition, a foreign energy was subtly oozing out of him.

‘Then my opponent has to be that muscular man.’

He could deal with the hooded man immediately, but before he went for the lord, he needed to spill blood of the Demonic Cult to boost his men’s morale.

Even people of the demonic cult had emotions, even their morale would drop if they saw one of their own die.

‘That guy!’

In the meantime, Peng-gyu saw a young man standing in the courtyard.

Unlike the other members of the Demonic cult, he was wearing a luxurious black robe and his energy seemed very ordinary.

‘It could be a teacher or a regular middle ranked member.’

Peng-gyu was looking for a victim.

Though he seemed weak, this man could also be an important figure as he looked like a teacher, so he rushed to the man.

“Huh! How dare you aim for our brothers and sisters! You Cultists!”

He tried to cut down the young man’s head with one swing.

The moment he beheads this young man, Yeon Buso and other warriors of the family will enter the temple immediately.

“Ugh?”

That was when Peng-gyu’s plan went awry.

Slash!

The young man's head definitely should've been cut off, but it moved away with an afterimage.

Peng-gyu's eyes widened.

"Ho-how?"

He too was able to move at a fast speed, but never had he seen someone move at a speed where afterimages were left behind.

'Where?'

Phat!

As he tried to find him, someone grabbed his right wrist.

The young man disappeared and moved to his right.

"Damn it!"

The moment Peng-gyu was about to move and wield his blade, he felt something creepy.

‘Av-avoid it, I need to avoid it!’

Tak!

Peng-gyu, who caught onto an ominous feeling, wielded his sword with all his might, and tried to widen the distance.

However, he was caught, and his body wasn’t moving.

‘Ugh! Wh-what kind of power?’

There was one surprise after another.

The young man’s hand was aiming to hit Peng-gyu’s right shoulder.

Peng-gyu could see a blue light shine in the young man’s hand.

“Do-don’t!”

Slash!

“Ahhhhh!”

A scream erupted from Peng-gyu’s mouth as the sharp energy cut through his flesh and bones.

It was his first time feeling such pain.

It hurt so much that it felt like tears would flow out of his body, but the young man who was holding his severed hand and spoke with a cold voice.

“Kneel!”

Kuk! Bang!

Apart from the loss of balance in his body due to his arm, some invisible force pushed down on him.

It was clear to Peng-gyu that he wouldn’t be able to stand at all.

It felt like his entire body was incapacitated.

‘Kuek! Th-this makes no sense, he is a monster. How can he do this in the palace... no, no! It can’t be!’

Peng-gyu blinked his eyes.

The words of Elder Cheong-su flowed back into his mind when he was down on his knees.

[He is a monster, no, he is the Demon God himself.]

Peng-gyu raised his head with trembling eyes and looked at the young man in front of him.

The white face and strong eyes.

The feeling of intimidation was no joke, but no matter how much he looked, it made no sense.

A Superior Master getting overpowered by something with normal internal energy!

[Th-this means he is a Divine Master!]

“Is-is that really true?”

Peng-gyu could feel how foolish he had acted.

Out of all the people present in the temple, why did he have to choose the Lord of the Demonic Cult?

‘Wh-what have I done?’

Peng-gyu was at a loss for words.

Just then, Yeon Buso, the eldest son of the Great Leader of Forces of Justice, and the other warriors of the Peng house entered the temple.

Chun Yeowun ruffled his long hair to the back and spoke.

“Huhu, there is so much arguing... there seem to be a lot of people getting their arms cut off today.”

Yeon Buso’s trembling eyes looked at Chun Yeowun.

He never imagined that Peng-gyu, a member of the Forces of Justice, would get taken down so fast.

“No!”

Looking to the right, he saw the monks of the Hangsan clan kneeling, and in front of them was Monk Sathi.

“Monk Sathi!”

He was shocked at what he saw.

The great warrior and swordsman Monk Sathi, being on her knees, shocked them.

Her blood points were hit and she couldn't move her blood drenched body, but she tried to say something to them.

‘Don’t! don’t try to touch that man!’

She was unable to move her tongue and mouth.

If they didn’t want to turn into her, she wanted to warn them to run away, but she was stuck.

All of a sudden, members of the Demonic cult blocked the entrance, and at the centre was a person wearing a unique mask.

‘The Dark King!’

The notorious nickname.

He was known as a master who was among the top three of the Demonic Cult.

Their actions said that people were supposed to come in, but weren't allowed to go out.

'Leader Yeon!'

Monk Sathi looked at Yeon Buso, the eldest son of the Forces of Justice, with worried eyes.

Her only hope was him, but things didn't look good.

'Is he trying to fight the Lord of the Demonic cult?'

Unlike the other warriors of Peng, Yeon Buso's warriors were only staring at Chun Yeowun.

It clearly said that he was planning something.

'It is him. No doubt.'

Yeon Buso confirmed who the Lord of Demonic Cult was in a single glance.

There was only one person whom he couldn't recognize as a beginner of the Supreme Master level.

Regardless of the age, the young man held dignity that gave off the vibe of someone who's the one and only winner that gets to choose everything.

He couldn't explain it, but he just knew who the Lord of Demonic Cult was.

Tremble!

Yeon Buso's body trembled.

When he saw the Lord, Chun Yeowun, who he thought of as someone like a rival, a shiver ran through his body.

He would have been disappointed if he was less than expected, but this feeling was too great.

'He has strength that even I can't fathom. He truly is my soulmate!'

Fate finally bound him to his mate.

To meet such a great match outside the Yulin. He was deeply moved.

It was a happy thing to have a strong opponent who made one feel nervous enough to risk their life for.

Clench!

Strength entered his hand which was holding the sword.

He wanted to draw the sword completely, but Yeon Buso wasn't stupid.

Yeon Buso put his hands together and shouted.

"It is an honor to meet the Lord of the Demonic Cult. I am Yeon Buso, the eldest son of the Forces of Justice Great Leader and the leader of North Justice Blade."

North Justice Blade.

There were four armed groups in the Forces of Justice, which had immense power.

One of them was North Justice Blade, a group made up of only the best of the best warriors within the Forces of Justice. They were an elite group of distinguished warriors who even killed numerous cultists when war broke out in the past.

"Yeon Buso!"

Ko Wanghur was shocked when he heard the name.

Even though it was shocking that he was the son of the North Justice Blade's leader, Yeon Buso was called a part of the next generation's Five strongest warriors not just in Jianghu but in the entirety of Wulin.

'The Yulin must be shaken up quite a bit to send this man here.'

The State Religion, which hadn't changed for two hundred years, was taken away without a warning.

Chun Yeowun, who thought that the Forces of Justice would react, returned right after he was done with his work in the Ten Thousand Mountains and it seemed like the right decision.

'The son of Yulin's North Justice Blade...'

During his days as a student, Chun Yeowun was compared a lot to this guy by the elders.

He heard that there was a genius or monster in Jianghu.

'But it doesn't matter.'

Pak!

Chun Yeowun threw the severed arm of Peng-gyu to the floor and stepped forward.

He only took a couple steps forward, but the warriors of Peng stepped back unconsciously.

‘What energy!’

It wasn’t because they came to know that he is the Lord of Demonic Cult, but from the moment they entered the temple, something just didn’t feel right.

In a calmer voice, Chun Yeowun spoke to Yeon Buso.

“This is good. Then you must be the representative of the Forces of Justice.”

“Umm. That... for now, I think it’s okay to call me that.”

Yeon Buso glanced at the leaders.

Including the two leaders, he was nowhere near their ranks.

Both were seriously wounded and in enemy hands.

“We were prepared for the attack.”

‘Ah!’

At the cold voice of Chun Yeowun, Peng-gyu came back to his senses.

They were the ones who tried to subdue the Lord of Demonic Cult to persuade the emperor and acknowledge the Yulin arts.

But it was decided as such, thinking that Chun Yeowun was weaker than Yeon Buso.

‘Yeon... Leader Yeon can’t face him.’

Even if he was being considered as one of the five strongest of the next generation’s warriors, and was being called a monster, the two of them were on completely different levels.

The lord of the Demonic Cult was someone where even all of the five strongest warriors together will have a hard time taking him down.

[Leader Yeon! Don't! it is better for us to give up on this matter of Religion!]

It was Peng-gyu who sent the message to Yeon Buso.

He tried to deter Yeon Buso from fighting the Lord of Demonic Cult.

Looking at him, Yeon Buso shook his head.

[Lord Yeon! It is foolish to fight...]

Before Peng-gyu finished, Yeon Buso took a step towards Chun Yeowun.

Pak!

He bowed his head and spoke.

“Lord. First of all, I would like to apologize for attacking your temple.”

Peng-gyu was shocked at what Yeon Buso said.

Contrary to what he was worried about, Yeon Buso unexpectedly bowed his head and apologized.

Even Chun Yeowun was taken aback with the unexpected action.

‘Stepping back?’

It was completely different from the constant glare he was giving from the moment he stepped into the temple.

Yeon Buso spoke very softly.

“From our point of view, the temples in the empire had been established from the beginning of the founding, and suddenly, it was changed. We were only here to meet with the emperor and ask him to reconsider, we didn’t want to choose this method by any means.”

Yeon Buso seemed to be speaking the truth, a man of political influence.

There was no reason why he would try to deceive the Lord of the Demonic Cult, as everything he spoke about was something the Demonic Cult knew.

When Chun Yeowun, who was exuding vicious energy, quietly focused on his words, Yeon Buso brought in the main topic.

“In that sense, I think that this has happened because of some contribution from your cult too.”

“Contribution?”

Chun Yeowun’s eyes rose.

Not caring, Yeon Buso continued.

“Didn’t the Forces of Justice and your cult form an alliance to take down a common enemy? I don’t think that the Lord of the Demonic Cult would want the alliance to break down because of this.”

‘Ah!’

At the words of Yeon Buso, Monk Sathi and Peng-gyu sighed in relief.

They thought that he bowed his head to overcome the situation, but Yeon Buso seemed to have used his mind.

He proved that he wasn’t just skilled in martial arts.

“I will take a step back for the sake of the alliance. So, with a little courtesy, I hope the two leaders and their disciples will be released.”

‘A good move, leader.’

Monk Sathi praised the man in her mind.

After all, the emperor would only change his heart when the Lord of the Demonic Cult gets subjugated.

However, it was impossible to do it in the palace, where all his forces were gathered, so it was better to focus on preserving their already existing power.

‘He said that he would give up on the State Religion, so it is an offer that the Lord of the Demonic Cult can’t refuse.’

In order to face the common enemy, Blade God Six Martial clan, the Lord of the Demonic Cult will try to avoid breaking the alliance.

“I beseech you.”

Yeon Buso politely bowed again.

The son of the Great Leader, who is supposed to lead the clan and the Forces of Justice in the future, came this far for a reason. He was taught in the most eloquent way possible, even though he knew that the Lord of Demonic Cult had no other option.

At least, that was what he thought.

“You are misunderstanding something.”

“!?”

They thought that he had no choice but to accept it, but Chun Yeowun’s reaction was different.

Chun Yeowun walked slowly towards Yeon Buso, one step at a time.

“The State Religion lies in the emperor’s hand, whether you concede or not doesn’t matter to anyone. Since that matter can’t be overturned, aren’t you just trying to do anything you can?”

“Th-that...”

Yeon Buso was speechless at what Chun Yeowun said.

“And it is disappointing to think that you don’t want the alliance to be broken by doing nothing and playing word games with me.”

Srrrrng!

Chun Yeowun, who approached Yeon Buso, was ten steps away from him when he drew the White Dragon Blade.

“Lord of Demonic Cult. I mean it, the alliance will brea...”

“Stop speaking nonsense. I’ll take your arm or you do so in return.”

“Arm?”

Wooong!

A horrifying energy released all around.

Each cell in Yeon Buso was telling him to face the person he wanted to meet.

‘There is nothing I can do.’

He failed to make sure that the leaders were released without any harm done to them.

It seemed that the Lord of the Demonic Cult wasn’t an easy one to face.

In the end, it seemed like he ended up in a situation that he wanted from the very beginning.

The two leaders looked at Yeon Buso in an apologetic manner.

‘The leaders must be feeling bad. The Lord is stronger than me so I tried to avoid any more bloodshed, but it seems like he and I are destined to compete.’

Judging from it, their fate was tied too strongly for anything to come between that.

Sighing, Yeon Buso slowly pulled out his blade from his waist.

Srrrng!

Aiming his sword at Chun Yeowun, who was walking close to him, he spoke.

“I think you too must be aware. I mean, this kind of existence is called family rivalry. When you were in school, you must have been called a genius too, just like I d...”

Clang!

“!?”

Before he could finish his words, cold energy passed through his right arm.

Because of the speed at which things happened, Yeon Buso wasn't able to even know what happened.

Drip! Thud!

His right arm, which was holding onto the blade, fell to the stone floor.

“Kuakkk!”

Chun Yeowun's low voice entered his ears as he screamed in pain.

"What am I supposed to do if you are a genius?"

"Kuuk!"

Phat!

The cut was too painful, but Yeon Buso widened the distance between them.

Naturally, he did expect to get pushed back because of the difference in their powers, but he never thought that he would lose his arm.

'I couldn't even see him! What an unbelievable amount of energy!'

It was obviously cut from the front, which meant Yeon Buso reacted too late.

What would one call it? When one gets hurt, knowing that it would happen?

Chun Yeowun stepped on the fallen right hand and asked.

“I got paid. Do you still want to continue?”

Even Yeon Buso, who was always calm and never showed any significant emotional changes, spoke in anger.

“How dare you insult me?!”

Tatatak!

With the help of his blood points, he managed to stop the blood flow.

‘I should avoid fighting up close.’

He managed to create some distance between the two. Biting down on his lips, he gently moved his left hand.

Clang! Clang! Clang!

Apart from the blade which fell on the floor, two blades were tied to his back, but he controlled all three swords at the same time.

It was the same technique that he had shown in front of the emperor.

“Hha... haha... I was careless before, but this time, it will be different!”

As Yeon Buso waved his left hand, the three blades quickly moved in the mid-air, blurring the vision and rushed towards Chun Yeowun.

Swoosh! Swoosh! Swoosh!

He was proud when showing the technique that he had learnt from his father Yi Mok.

Even if he was the Lord of Demonic Cult, Yeon Buso thought that it would prove difficult to prevent getting hit by it.

However, something unexpected happened.

Swoosh!

Chun Yeowun extended his hands to the side where the three blades were flying towards him.

The Air Sword stopped right in front of Chun Yeowun.

“H-how?”

Flustered, Yeon Buso tried to raise the sword force even more, but the three blades had already stopped.

They literally didn’t move.

Even his father couldn’t stop Air Swords.

“W-wait a moment, Lord of Demonic Cult, this is...”

“You should have quit it when your arm was cut off.”

Wheeing!

When Chun Yeowun slightly moved his hand, the three blades turned back and it felt like they were aiming for the owner of the blades.

Papaht!

“Kuak!”

The blades struck both his thighs, and the opposite shoulder and they roared.

Blood gushed out of his mouth.

“Cough!”

Yeon Buso was dumbfounded looking at his blades stuck to his body.

Such strength was unfair.

‘Kuuuuk... isn’t he too strong? Is he really at Divine Master level?’

Yeon Buso had just assumed that Chun Yeowun must have been at the end of Supreme Master level.

He never thought that he would see someone who reached Divine Master level in his life, he never even heard of any Divine Master level existing among them.

‘He is a real monster.’

Only after being hit was Yeon Buso able to face the reality like the other leaders.

‘... this person is different from me.’

He was never Yeon Buso’s rival.

Chun Yeowun approached Yeon Buso, who was vomiting blood on the floor.

It seemed like his end was near.

This was a natural procedure in battles.

“Kuak... what do you plan... on doing? Kill me? But this... will make... the Forces of Justice... your enemy...”

“What bullshit are you spouting?”

“!?”

“Why would I kill you?”

“What do you mean?”

Chun Yeowun looked down at him with a cynical look, and spoke.

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

“You are a good hostage that I can use at any point and time.”

‘This... he is really...’

Chun Yeowun always left the other person speechless.

Chapter 386 - Destruction (1)

Chapter 386: Destruction (1)

When Yeon Buso, the next warrior of the Forces of Justice and the eldest son of the Yulin clan's leader, got suppressed with overwhelming power, the warriors of the Peng family surrendered without any resistance.

Of course, it was because they knew that Peng-gyu wouldn't want any unnecessary sacrifices.

'.... Even if they try, our side will only end up with a lot of injured or dead people.'

He was blinded by his own ambition and set his goal way too high. It wasn't even remotely realistic to reach that goal, but the moment he faced reality, he already lost something important.

'How could such a monster even be among us...'

Never would have anyone thought that a Supreme Master level warrior would be defeated that fast.

It was as if the difference between them was like a skilled warrior and a low-ranked warrior.

If it weren't for the skills Yeon Buso displayed, that was what it would have looked like.

'Does the difference between people grow with each step into the next level?'

Scary.

Just one level higher, but said level was indescribably high. The difference in power was way too vast.

It had to take a few years or decades for one to go from Superior to Supreme master level.

'How could he grow this much in a couple of months?'

Elder Cheong-su had desperately tried to stop them, but not a single leader, not even the Great Leader, had listened to his words, and now they were all learning the truth the hard way.

'Ah...!!!'

He suddenly remembered the bet he placed with Elder Cheong-su before leaving for the palace.

They promised one arm to the other, and if Peng-gyu got released, then he was in danger of losing his other arm too.

His desire to negotiate with the emperor and give success to the Forces of Justice watered down.

Meanwhile, the front yard of the temple was nearly filled with hundreds of prisoners.

Around 40 people of the Peng family, and 50 or so women from the Soorim temple and also teachers in the temple, all on the ground looking down in fear.

That was when Hu Bong, who was on the top step of the main hall, spoke.

“Lord, we didn’t kill any of them, but we did hurt the two leaders and the son of the Great Leader, this might not be in our favor, right?”

The warning given by Yeon Buso ran through Hu Bong’s head.

From the point of view of Yulin, as if it wasn’t enough to change the State Religion, the Demonic Cult even cut the arms of their leaders.

Ko Wanghur, who was next to him, answered.

“Hahaha, don’t worry, Hu Bong. Nothing of that sort will happen at the moment.”

“Moment?”

“This is an alliance that was formed to deal with the Blade God Six Martial clan, but if the alliance gets broken up, it will go back to a four way war and not a three way war. How could the alliance break that easily? It was just Yeon Buso’s tactic to get out of here safely without any more sacrifices.”

Chun Yeowun nodded his head in agreement with Ko Wanghur’s words.

The reason for the alliance wasn’t peace.

“Phew, I guess I was worried over nothing.”

“With your personality, it would be weird if you weren’t concerned about it. however, with the Forces of Evil in the west, Blade God Six Martial clan in the east and us in the south, they wouldn’t dare to do such a thing.”

As they knew, if the alliance broke down, the Yulin would end up getting surrounded by the enemies from the east, west and south, so they were bound to end up dead.

The Yulin would do anything to avoid that.

“I wonder how they would react if they knew what happened here. Hehehe.”

So far, the Forces of Justice didn't know what was happening.

They simply hoped that their leaders would persuade the emperor successfully.

“Lord, what are we going to do with them?”

Ko Wanghur asked, pointing to the prisoners who had been tied up with ropes.

There was no way that they could keep these people here forever.

“We should send them back, excluding Yeon Buso and the other leaders.”

If it wasn't for the alliance, Chun Yeowun would have killed them since their actions were sufficient enough to do so, however it wasn't desirable to make an enemy out of Yulin at the moment.

"Then I will take them over to their base and deliver the message of the Lord!"

Ko Wanghur was confident.

Taking over the prisoners to the main base of Yulin would definitely incur their wrath upon him, yet, Ko Wanghur boldly took up the task.

"No, you don't have to."

Chun Yeowun shook his head.

Looking at the prisoners who were tied down, he spoke.

"Put a letter in their hands and send them off, that should be more than enough."

With Yeon Buso and the two leaders in the cult's hands, no one would dare act recklessly, but Chun Yeowun didn't want to take a chance.

If the Yulin were too furious, they would end up holding Ko Wanghur as a hostage and request an exchange.

“Tch, understood.”

Disappointed that he wasn't given the task, Ko Wanghur clicked his tongue.

Compared to the other Six Swords, this was supposed to be his first huge appearance, so he wanted to be of more use.

Unlike him, Hu Bong laughed and said,

“With this incident, the entire Wulin will know about the power of our Lord. Hurray! Maybe the Lord will be given some kind of title or name?”

Until then, Chun Yeowun wasn't known to anyone other than the Demonic Cult.

However, with this, the fact that he overpowered three leaders of the Forces of Justice will be known, maybe there was a chance for a special title.

For any warriors in the Wulin, a title meant a rise in their reputation.

“I’m looking forward to it, hehe.”

Three days later,

The prisoners of war who were captured by the Demonic Cult returned back.

Not only the head of the Peng family, Peng-gyu, but also the swordswoman of Soorin mountain and Yeon Buso, the son of the Great Leader, had gone to the palace for a chance to redeem themselves.

The Great Leader and three other leaders had received the reports from Oh Hye of Hangsan clan and Peng Yeo-sik, lieutenant of the Peng family.

“Huh. How could this happen... Amitabha.”

Ambassador of the Soorim temple, 2nd leader Gak-yeon, was memorizing sutras with a serious expression.

It was because this was something that no one had predicted.

Who would have imagined that three leaders would end up getting turned into hostages?

“Is that really true?”

6th leader, Elder Poong Chungwun of the Forces of Justice, asked Oh Seon, a member of the Hangsan clan, in complete disbelief.

They did understand that the power of Chun Yeowun had increased, but they didn't expect it to reach such a level.

"It is the truth. Even leader Yeon was no match for him."

Oh Seon remembered the confrontation which took place at that time.

The expressions on the faces of the leaders went sour as they kept on listening.

The more they heard about the confrontation, the closer it seemed like a one-sided attack.

'Did he just steal the Air Swords and use them for his own attack?'

'No, that can't be possible, right?'

This skill, which is known to be something that only the Supreme Masters could use, was the Air Sword.

It was a level that only the five strongest warriors, who were currently known as the highly skilled ones of the Yulin, could do, but to disable the Air Swords meant that the opponent was of a much higher level than them.

“W... were Elder Cheong-su’s words really true?”

A story which no one was ready to believe at that time.

Anyone who learnt martial arts would be aware of it.

There were a lot of people who couldn’t climb to the Supreme Master level even if they practiced their whole life.

Moreover, those who reached the Supreme Master level were only very few remarkable and known individuals. They could be counted on one’s fingers.

And not a single person in Yulin who reached the Supreme Master level had climbed into the Divine Master level.

‘Does that mean that he is almost like a God now?’

All one could think of was that this person was chosen by the heavens.

Poong Chungwun, who had been in shock for a while, asked the Peng family’s warriors.

“By the way, what is it that you are wearing on your back?”

“Ah!”

At that question, the man’s expression darkened.

It was more difficult than talking about what had happened in the Imperial palace.

“... There’s something inside? Open it.”

At that time, a middle-aged man, who hadn’t changed his expression like the other leaders, opened his mouth for the first time in the meeting.

‘Ah! 3rd leader.’

A man with thick eyebrows and dressed in luxurious blue silk. He was Nam Gung-kyong, the head of the Nam Gung family, a famous swordsman.

‘So he was here too.’

It was only natural for the warriors of Peng to be scared.

Nam Gung-kyong, the eastern commander, was in charge of the battlefield in case the Blade God Six Martial clan crossed their borders. He is the 3rd leader.

No one thought that he would come over from his position and attend the meeting.

“Do as the 3rd leader said.”

Poong Chungwun also nodded his head in agreement.

After hesitating for a while, the warriors spoke.

“Actually, the Lord of Demonic cult has asked me to deliver this wooden box to the leaders.”

“The Lord of Demonic Cult?”

“Y-yes.”

The words „Lord of Demonic Cult“ garnered everyone’s attention.

He untied the wooden box he was holding on his back and put it down in front of the Great Leader, Yi Mok’s seat.

And when the lid of the wooden box was opened, the faces of the men who watched its content hardened.

Shockingly, there were three severed arms inside the wooden box.

“Wh-what is this!”

The leaders, who just heard what happened in the Imperial Palace, couldn't possibly not know whose arms they belonged to.

It was clear that the arm in a grey monk's robe belonged to Monk Sathi, and the well-muscular developed arm belonged to Peng-gyu. The last one, with the white sleeve, belonged to Yeon Buso.

Bang!

Everyone's eyes turned when a huge sound roared from one's seat.

With eyes clearly in anger, those furious eyes belonged to the Great Leader of the Forces of Justice, who had never lost his cool so far.

‘He is angry.’

It was only natural for him to be angry, he just saw his son's severed arm.

Wheeeing!

"Ah!"

The severed arm in the white robe inside the wooden box floated in the air and got pulled in by Yi Mok.

His eyes trembled in anger as he looked at his son's severed arm.

'Lord... of...the... Demonic... Cult.'

His heart, which was like a calm lake, was raging.

Never once did the former leader, Chun Yeojung, ever make him this angry.

'Is this because the Lord of Demonic Cult thinks that I can't break the alliance?! How dare he test me!!'

Sending only a severed arm was like provoking and ridiculing the entire Yulin.

But then, something caught his angry eyes.

‘This is?’

The severed arm was clenched in a fist, and something was inside it.

He tried to open it, but the hand was clenched too tightly for him to open.

‘Hmm.’

When Yi Mok began to inject energy into the wrist of the severed arm, the stiff fingers finally stretched out, revealing it.

Folded very tightly, something was written on a paper.

‘No way... this can’t be?’

It was strange.

Why did he have to make the paper invisible even after placing it in the fist?

Judging that it was something important, he carefully looked at it while making sure that the others didn't know about this message.

As he read the contents in her, Yi Mok's expression changed.

‘!?’

Unaware of this, the leaders were having a serious conversation among themselves.

6th leader Poong Chungwun shook his head, not understanding anything, and spoke to 2nd leader Guk-yeong.

“What do you think this means, monk?”

“... I, this looks like a warning. The former Lord of the Demonic Cult was known to be a dangerous person, but this Lord is...”

There was no need to continue.

This act was a warning and provocation.

It was as if they were being told that anyone who would get involved in the matter of the State Religion's change will not be tolerated.

"I never thought that this is how things would turn out. Amitabha!"

They didn't know how the Lord of Demonic Cult would react, yet there was no room to protest as they themselves had sent Yeon Buso and the others to the palace.

Moreover, it was the Yulin who would lose a lot if the alliance was to be broken.

'Uhhh. It doesn't seem like this is the only issue.'

No one spoke, but the Lord of Demonic Cult and his people looked much more dangerous than the Blade God Six Martial clan.

"This puts us in a bind."

Not being able to hide his frustration, Poong Chungwun shook his head.

Tak!

At that moment, Yi Mok put down the severed arm of Yeon Buso and after reading the contents of the paper, he spoke to the leaders.

“I am putting forth a proposal.”

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

“Proposal?”

To the bewildered leaders, the Great Leader spoke in a low yet confident voice.

“A proposal to break the alliance with the Demonic Cult.”

Chapter 387 - Destruction (Annulment) (2)

Chapter 387: Destruction (Annulment) (2)

The abrupt proposal about the cancellation of the alliance by the Great Leader of the Forces of Justice and Yulin.

It was enough of a shock so that every leader in the hall was confused.

It was natural for the Great Leader to be furious as Yeon Buso was none other than his eldest son, but his decision seemed too extreme.

“Amitabha! Great Leader. That request seems premature.”

2nd leader Guk-yeon didn't directly oppose Yi Mok's decision, but he thought that the timing wasn't right.

If they did cut ties with the Demonic Cult, they would be ending up surrounded by enemies.

“Heavenly God! Great Leader. Although I share the same opinion and understand you in regards to the Lord of the Demonic Cult provoking us too much, it still is an unreasonable proposal to break the alliance.”

The 6th leader, Poon Chungwun, objected the Great Leader’s proposal too.

Things would have been different if the Lord of the Demonic Cult was a kid lacking in politics like they originally judged him to be, but with the change in the State Religion, he proved that he was a monster with power.

In a situation like this, it was risky to turn someone stronger than the Blade God Six Martial clan into their enemy.

“Please, I request that you withdraw that proposal.”

Even in the Yulin, the opinions of the two leaders who just spoke would never get ignored because of their reputation.

Moreover, being the brain of the Forces of Justice, they had no choice but to discourage and decline the excessive action which would only bring war into their lands.

“Does everyone think like that?”

All eyes naturally turned towards the 3rd leader Nam Gungkyong at the question of Yi Mok.

It was always necessary for any proposal to have two sides.

But,

‘Nam Gung-kyong is a person who has an extreme tendency to go against alliances.’

It was a concern for the people.

Even when the truth about the Blade God Six Martial clan was revealed, he was the person who took the lead in opposing the alliance along with Peng-gyu and Dang Pil-ho, the head of the Dang family.

Besides, he was one of the leaders who taught Yeon Buso.

Surprisingly, the 3rd leader Nam Gung-kyong looked very worried.

‘...Is that the correct decision?’

It was natural that he was worried.

Even within the Yulin, only a few people knew his true identity.

He was one of the five families in Jianghu who were believed to be Extremists hoping for a clean world.

From the viewpoint of those who were trying to create a world of Justice, the break in the alliance would be welcomed with open arms.

‘Even if Yeon Buso’s arm was cut off, this is an extreme reaction considering the character of the Great Leader.’

Even though Yi Mok’s clan wasn’t that famous or the most flourishing one, he was able to become a member of the Forces of Justice with his skills.

However, the means to how he was able to become the Great Leader of the Yulin weren’t because they were passed down from the elder generation, but because he himself was full of energy and smart enough to achieve the title.

And such a Great Leader was coming up with a rash decision.

‘Hmm...’

Nam Gung-kyong’s mind was turning into a mess.

In a way, this was an opportunity he shouldn’t miss.

‘At this year’s festival, everyone from the Demonic Cult and the Blade God Six Martial clan will be gathered. It has always been said that the mass killing was barely successful by the books left by the elders, but if the Empire supports us, we might be able to eliminate the leaders of both factions at once!’

Ten days left until the Dano festival begins.

At that time, the leaders of the three major powers and the new clan, the Blade God Six Martial Clan, will gather to renew the non-aggression treaty between the Wulin and Imperial family.

Opportunities for the heads to gather were very rare.

Just the Lord or the main leader of the faction had to be removed. That would be a great opportunity for the Yulin to show their true power.

Nam Gung-kyong raised his head and looked at the Great Leader.

His eyes seemed focused on going through with the decision of Yi Mok.

‘I guess he is serious.’

If a person like Peng-gyu had placed such a proposal, then Nam Gung-kyong would have avoided getting involved in it, thinking of it as a proposal for personal gain, but for the Great Leader himself to put it.

Nam Gung-Kyong couldn’t stop feeling suspicious, so he finally decided to ask Yi Mok himself.

“Could you let me know why you had to make such a decision?”

At that question, Great Leader Yi Mok opened his mouth without any hesitation.

“In the beginning, I promoted this alliance in the hopes of outwitting evil with the help of the Demonic Cult. But I was wrong.”

“Wrong?”

“I have come to realize that if we compromise with one evil in order to get rid of another, it will go against the noble ideas of the Forces of Justice, which have been established since ancient times! Even now, I should correct what I did wrong so we don’t create even more problems in the coming days.”

Nam Gung-kyong’s eyes lit up at the words of Yi Mok.

At first he was skeptical of the abrupt break in alliance, but it didn’t seem like he had to worry.

This was surely an opportunity he wasn’t supposed to miss.

‘This is the chance the leaders should take. I need to put an end to this discussion before the Great Leader comes to change his thoughts.’

Pondering for a while, Nam Gung-kyong opened his mouth.

“I heard the resolve of the Great Leader. That nobility of thinking for justice moved my heart. As someone who once opposed the alliance, I am in favor of the Great Leader’s proposal.”

“Huh.”

A sigh escaped from the 2nd leader’s mouth.

This was an expected reaction from Nam Gung-kyong.

[Elder Poong. This could be a really long day. Amitabha.]

[We need to stop them from going ahead.]

6th leader, who judged that the situation wasn't turning out well, spoke.

"Great Leader! All the decisions need to be made after a fair meeting, so it won't be possible to proceed unless more than half of the leaders are present. If you are going to make such a proposal, shouldn't you be summoning all of the leaders?"

Poong Chungwun only wanted to buy time.

In anger, Yi Mok wasn't facing reality.

With Yi Mok's personality, if the 6th leader could buy even one day's time, there was a chance that he would withdraw the proposal the next day.

But,

"There is no need for that. All the leaders are busy with their duties. Since this was a proposal made by the Great Leader, how about we just go ahead placing our belief in him?"

"No! leader Nam Gung!"

In Nam Gung-kyong's opinion both Gak-yeon and Poon Chungwun looked at him with shocked expressions.

The greatest authority in the Forces of Justice was in the Great Leader's hands.

As Poong Chunwun said, since the Forces of Justice were made up of numerous clan leaders, all leaders had to meet to decide any matter, but there are possibilities for exceptions.

The decision made by the Great Leader, the Great Leader's Order.

The Great Leader could use his authority and process his proposal three times.

That was the maximum number of times he could use his authority, and everyone had to follow him without any disagreement.

"Leader Nam Gung! How can you talk about invoking the Great Leader's Order on such an important matter!"

Even Poong Chungwun, who would never lose his cool, raised his voice.

It was because everyone would lose their right to vote on the matter if the Order got triggered.

However, since the Order was such a tricky thing, the past Great Leaders have been extremely careful when using it.

The current Great Leader, Yi Mok, had never used it before.

“Great Leader, choose this carefully...”

“This is good. Following the 3rd leader’s opinion, we’ll go ahead with the use of the Great Leader’s Order in this matter.”

“Huh! Great Leader!”

“How can you make such a... Amitabha! Amitabha!”

The two leaders couldn’t hide their displeasure at the words of Yi Mok, who seemed dead-set on going through.

On the other hand, Nam Gung-kyong couldn’t stop smiling.

‘This is not a lie! This is definite!’

All the concerns he had disappeared.

Finally, an opportunity rose for him to work as a member of the extremist group.

‘He will be very pleased with this.’

Late at night.

In the office of the Forces of Justice.

A single candle in a white porcelain lamp was illuminating the dark room.

The man in the room opened up a crumpled paper, which seemed more like a booklet, and read it.

[The Lord of the Demonic Cult. Call me Chun Yeowun.

First of all, I would like to apologize to you for hurting your son and the other leaders inside the Imperial palace.

However, I thought that if I didn't do it, the leader of the Forces of Justice wouldn't believe me, so I couldn't help but make all the lords feel a little uncomfortable.

The Great Leader's Oath will have to be made.

If that is done, I will safely release your son and the two others.

And I will also ask the emperor to consider Taoism in regards to diplomatic relations, in return I expect the Great Leader to do one thing for me.

Due to the incident in the Imperial palace, the succession plan may have failed and the leaders of the Blade God Six Martial clan might not appear at the festival.

Just like our academy, I heard that your faction is struggling with the problem of spies too.

This is why I came up with a good plan.

And for that, the Great Lord should...]

It was written in a crumbled booklet.

In order to deceive the enemies who placed spies, it was written that one should deceive the allies too, along with a message to cancel the alliance for a while.

Yi Mok was angry, but he wasn't interested in taking such extreme steps.

However, while reflecting on the contents in the booklet-like letter, he thought that the Lord of the Demonic Cult was rather reasonable.

'... this is no different than a gamble.'

Wheeing.

Yi Mok, who read the contents once again, burned it in the candle.

The booklet crumbled and disappeared into ashes.

His eyes gleamed strangely as he looked at it.

A deep valley of the Yeongja Bong peak, a mountain not far from the southwest of the main building of Forces of Justice.

A cave, deep in the dark valley, was covered with bushes.

It looked like a cave where wild beasts lived. It was quiet inside.

In front of the entrance of such a cave, an unidentified black long-haired man appeared with a bamboo hat.

The bamboo hat wearing man knelt down on the entrance of the cave which was empty and opened his mouth.

“I have a message for your orders.”

As soon as those words fell, a figure moved within the cave.

This figure, which gave out no energy whatsoever, was wearing a black mask which completely covered the eyes.

One wouldn't be able to see what's ahead, but the person didn't seem comfortable.

“How did it go?”

A part of the lips, which were covered by the mask, moved.

To the question of the masked person, the man answered in a confident voice.

“Successful.”

“Was the break of the alliance declared?”

“It was!”

At those words, the man took off the bamboo hat which was covering his face.

Shockingly, the man was none other than Peng Yeo-suk of the Peng family.

“As expected, everything went perfectly fine. No one spoke about anything, no one in the Peng family was suspicious either.”

Peng Yeo-suk pulled up the skin that stretched like rubber.

At that moment, the masked man spoke.

“Stop it. It was made from a dead body. If you pull it like that, it’ll tear.”

“Ugh! So-sorry.”

Flustered, he let go of the cheek skin he was pulling at.

The masked man asked Peng Yeo-suk.

“Did the Extremists move?”

“Just as the leader expected, he took care of it. If we make good use of this opportunity, I think we will be able to find out the identity of the person called Hoe-ju in the near future.”

The masked man nodded his head in satisfaction.

“Good. Three leaders. Until the day that the festival begins, see if they are moving according to the plans of the Forces of Justice.”

“Yes!”

Shhh!

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

As soon as the masked man's order fell, Peng Yeo-suk wore his bamboo hat and went back in the speed of light.

The masked man mumbled looking in the direction he went.

“Lord of the Demonic Cult, Chun Yeowun! I have been hiding my appearance all this time because you interfered in my matters. This time you will pay the price!”

Chapter 388 - Non-Aggression Treaty (1)

Chapter 388: Non-Aggression Treaty (1)

Two days later, the announcement of the Forces of Justice spread all around Wulin.

The disbanding of the Demon Justice Alliance in less than a year.

Everyone in the Yulin knew that this wasn't an alliance which would last very long, but this seemed too quick.

Even the Forces of Evil, which didn't know about the outside situation because of the recent internal affairs, were interested in it.

The headquarters of the Forces of Evil located in the northwest of Sichuan.

In the headquarters, the room used by their leader was the largest.

There, a large man with scars all over his body was being informed by a middle-aged man who was wearing an eye patch on his left eye.

“That is the current report on the status of Yulin.”

“Kul, kul, this is going to be really fun.”

The big man seemed like this was an interesting turn of events.

It was because this was too good of an opportunity to let go.

“Even if we just aim for the Dano Festival, we will end up getting satisfying results... But we are going to miss out on the great opportunity of killing everyone, all thanks to that damn ‘bastard’!”

For the first time, the balance between the three largest factions in Wulin broke down.

The Blade God Six Martial Clan was one of the triggers.

Unfortunately, because of the internal conflicts, the Forces of Evil didn’t have a chance to take this opportunity.

“If the Master recovers his internal wounds, you can take them down at any time.”

The big man didn’t respond to the words of the middle-aged man at all.

It was because he had joined hands with this man for a better benefit, but it seemed like the future couldn't be guaranteed.

"... Master."

"Right, this isn't strange or anything. This could be a very natural procedure. What was it again? The old waves of Yangtze river push the new waves ahead? I have been waiting for a long time for this moment to come."

The old waves of Yangtze river push the new waves ahead to replace the old waves.

Just as the back waves in the Yangtze river will push the new waves ahead, it is said that a man of the new generation will soon replace the era of an old man.

This big man was proud at heart, but he never believed that he could be the top person forever.

"Leader! Don't say such things! Aren't you the Great Master 'West Strong' King?!"

It has been a very long time since the middle-aged man worked for the Master, but seeing the weak figure before him, he couldn't help but feel sorry.

The true identity of the man, the one called master, was none other than Hang Yen, one of the five strongest warriors, the West Strong King!

Who would have guessed that he, who had been in the Forces of Evil for thirty years, would receive treatment for internal injuries?

If the information about his health had escaped this room, it would have caused a major change in the hierarchy of the Forces of Evil.

“There are tens of thousands of soldiers looking forward to Master’s return. Shake off your injuries to get rid of that man as soon as possible! Please refrain yourself from speaking such weak things in front of your subordinates.”

“Kul, you. I brought you because you used to be meek with your words, but look at your nagging now, Gar Mojam.”

The middle-aged man.

His true identity was Gar Mojam, the leader of the 18 River families of the Yellow River.

He was a top skilled warrior in the Forces of Evil’s alliance.

He was also the uncle of the three Gar brothers, who died at the hands of Chun Yeowun.

“You are being too much, Master. I am responsible for 3 percent of this alliance’s funds, this is upsetting.”

“Kul, kul, kul.”

Those words, which were spoken out to make Hang yen feel better, were taken as a light joke.

That was how much they valued and trusted each other.

West Strong King, Hang Yen went back to the main point.

“After listening to your words, I feel like I need to show people that the West Strong King is still alive and well.”

“Master, you mean?”

“I am talking about the non-aggression treaty which will be made.”

A gleam could be seen in Gar Mojam’s eyes.

The King himself was injured, and although he was quiet when compared to before, it was a hard reality that the West Strong King couldn’t mobilize power because of the internal conflicts and civil war in his region.

“Master. How about we focus on treating your injuries first...”

“No. If we don’t make myself present in the festival, the people of Wulin and ‘that guy’ will notice something is wrong.”

“Ah!”

Something he never thought of before.

Certainly, as Hang Yen spoke, ‘that guy’ might be paying close attention to this festival as well.

If the West Strong King didn’t send people to the non-aggression treaty by trying to focus on internal power, there was a high probability that ‘that guy’ would attack again.

“It is our luck that every time the treaty got renewed, the Master had never gone there in person.”

Hang Yen was someone who never attended the treaty because of his extreme pride, not once did he even consider visiting neither the Demonic Cult nor the Imperial Palace.

But even if he didn't attend, if he didn't send a plausible and sensible person, 'that guy' was bound to notice.

"Gar Mojam. Make sure to attend it."

"Sorry?"

Gar Mojam was perplexed at the unexpected command from Hang Yen.

"Master! Under the current circumstances, if I leave and..."

"Doesn't matter. This place is guarded by the most skilled swordsmen."

Currently, the Master of Forces of Evil is being guarded by Gar Mojam, the 2nd in rank Gong Yun and the 5th ranked member of the Forces of Evil, Geum Jongsu.

Although those three were guarding him, if one of them went missing, the safety of the injured Hang Yen might get compromised.

Hang Yen smiled bitterly at Gar Mojam, who seemed worried.

“I am not going to just send you away.”

“Then?”

“Those bastards of the Demonic Cult killed my nephews.”

It was a fact that was found out after hurting the head of the Osang family.

In the beginning, he didn't hear anything from him, but after killing half of his family, he finally decided to speak up.

“... we have some debts to pay.”

He spoke calmly, but his eyes held rage.

Gar Mojam, who wasn't married, never let anyone who touched his family or friends lead a happy life.

It was just that, because of the civil war, his chance of getting revenge had been delayed.

“Give me the chance to pay off the debt. When the treaty is done, confusion is sure to arise. And when the confusion starts, we'll get to know if the Forces of Justice will be the first target or not, right?"

Due to the announcement of the Forces of Justice alliance breaking news, the other incidents about the Forces of Justice were being dug out and the matter about the imperial palace had spread out too.

Just combining the information they gathered, it was obvious who of the two factions would get targeted.

Even if they decided to break ties, the Demonic Cult will be the first to move.

"That son of Chun Yujong is running wild these days, someone has to teach him that people can't run rampant in Wulin just because they're ignorant."

Thud!

Hang Yen looked at the chest which was covered in scars.

The wounds he had suffered from the former Lord of the Demonic Cult, Chun Yujong.

No matter how much he tried, he couldn't help but retreat when he was facing the former Lord of the Demonic Cult.

'I will repay you for the disgrace I had to face with the life of your child's!'

Gooooo!

Even though he was injured, the energy Hang Yen was releasing would make anyone think that he was in good health.

"Understood. I will make sure to fulfil my Master's orders and return."

As Hang Yen ordered, he had to leave in a hurry to attend the treaty.

It took 8 days to get to the Tongho region.

When Gar Mojam went to greet the Master before he left, Hang Yen asked something he was curious about.

"By the way, when they decided to break the alliance this time, what was the Lord of the Demonic Cult called?"

"... he was called the Changing Demon because he broke down the trust of the alliance by cutting the arms off of the three leaders of the Forces of Justice who went to the emperor as their envoys.”

“Changing Demon? It is so like the Yulin to give out such names.”

Except for those of their own faction, they would always give the worst kind of titles to the warriors of other factions.

No matter how mad they were, to call the Lord of the Demonic Cult as a Changing Demon was like trying to belittle him.

“But the warriors of Wulin don’t call him that. They use a very broad title for him.”

“Broad?”

“Even the emperor, the great emperor of the empire, said that he could never call the Lord of the Demonic Cult with such a reckless and belittling name, so he called the Lord of Demonic Cult the ‘Demon Emperor’.”

“Emperor? Ha!”

Hang Yen's eyebrows rose.

Even though he himself, a member of the five strongest warriors, only got to call himself 'king', this title for the Lord of the Demonic Cult made him furious.

And, ever since the non-aggression treaty was signed, not a single person from the Wulin dared to threaten the Imperial palace directly either.

"Make sure that he never gets called with that name ever again."

"Gar Mojam from Yellow River. I obey the command of the Master!"

Four days before the non-aggression treaty.

The imperial palace envoys arrived at the main hall of the Forces of Justice.

In the main hall, eight leaders of the Forces of Justice and the envoy from the Imperial Palace were bowing their heads to greet each other.

The person who was from the Imperial palace to deliver the news was Yeongjo, the Northern Commander.

Standing in front of the first seat, Yeongjo opened a scroll which had a name on it and proceeded to recite its contents.

“... the location will be held in the Jin Castle in Tongho. As it is a peaceful place for both the Wulin and the Imperial family to attend, the number of escorts apart from the heads of each faction shouldn't exceed 100, and during the ceremony...”

As they read the contents, the leader's expression turned strange.

All the three largest factions would probably feel the same way about the treaty.

‘The moment the treaty comes to an end, war will start.’

So, once the meeting came to an end, the leaders tried to prepare for an emergency situation and mobilized the elite warriors from North Justice Blades, the best armed groups in the entirety of Yulin.

But, with the content of the emperor's message, their plan was blocked.

‘Only one group can be sent.’

Of course, that didn't mean that it was the only way.

Representatives of each faction could enter without any restrictions.

For example, if the representative of a third clan from Yulin was present there, they might have an edge over the other factions in terms of power.

And such a thing would only happen for the Forces of Justice because it was formed by various clans.

'I know very well who came up with those thoughts.
Huhuhu'

A smile crept across the lips of 3rd leader Nam Gung-kyong, who was bowing his head.

The current Lord of the Demonic Cult, Chun Yeowun, was still residing in the Imperial palace.

Even so, when the alliance gets broken up, the Lord of the Demonic Cult was in the middle of the Yulin's realm.

There were already people of the North Justice Blade of Yeon Buso around the palace.

Whenever the Lord of Demonic Cult came out, they would be ready to hit him.

‘This is no use. Lord of the Demonic Cult, no matter what you do to move His Majesty, you will not be able to come out of Tongho alive.’

There were more than a hundred small and medium sized factions which had the same thoughts as the Extremists.

Moreover, in case of any emergency, they had already hidden their men everywhere in Tongho, which meant that, in case of an emergency, the Yulin had enough warriors on their side.

‘On the other hand, the Lord of the Demonic Cult’s troops are stranded south of Yellow River.’

Before announcing the break in the alliance, the seven clans of Yulin and six clans from the Hubei region, as well as the disciples of clans which were at the borders of the Yellow River, were prepared to block the forces of the Demonic Cult who would try to advance to the north of the festival.

Even if the members of the Demonic Cult wanted to use other methods, they wouldn’t find any way out.

‘This is quite clever.’

As if that wasn’t enough, the Blade God Six Martial clan and the Forces of Evil were keeping an eye on their borders to block the movement of the Demonic Cult's members too.

This was done without any agreement with each other.

'Even they know that this is a great opportunity. There was only one mistake you made, Lord of the Demonic Cult and that was to create a sense of crisis for everyone!'

And with their members being blocked off at the borders, the Lord of the Demonic Cult, Chun Yeowun, could only mobilize about 50 members who were currently residing in the Imperial palace.

And this was great news to others.

A perfect chance to kill Chun Yeowun, the worst kind of enemy, who reached Divine Master level.

'This is the perfect time to reach our goal!'

A member of the Extremists had managed to complete the Extreme Martial Body.

But due to the lack of time, their technique wasn't tested on many people, but it was said that it had great effect on the successfully completed eighty members.

‘Demon Emperor? Don’t joke with me. Evil never crosses the sky. For the sake of the clear blue sky, Tongho will be your grave!’

Nam Gung Kyong ‘s eyes flashed as they looked at the floor.

Starting from the festival, the situation of Wulin would change completely.

Time flew by quickly.

The long awaited festival had arrived.

Dano, the great day, which fell on the 5th lunar month, was known to be auspicious.

The Dano Festival, the day when the yang is most prosperous in the year, the festival originated the reign of King Hui of the Chu Dynasty and spread all over.

Jin Castle was located in the heart of Tongho.

Tongho was the first capital where Zhu Won-myeong, the first emperor, had initially resided and it is a place where he made an oath to the gods of heaven and earth to save the people of his kingdom.

In commemoration of that, the non-aggression treaty between the Imperial Family and the people of Wulin was being held in Tongho.

It wasn’t a very big castle because it was a small region, but it was enough to accommodate 20,000 people.

Before the treaty ceremony started at noon, officials of the Imperial palace, 200 Guards and three thousand soldiers were lined up in five rows.

Thud! Thud! Thud!

The Guards of the Imperial palace, who were guarding the Castle Gates, were beating the drums as they shouted.

“The leaders of Yulin and the heads of each faction have arrived!”

The first to arrive were the Yulin clan.

It was natural since this place came under their realm.

Thud!

The first person to step through the entrance of the castle gate was the Great Leader of the Forces of Justice.

Yi Mok took a deep breath while examining the castle and the decorations which were put up for the ceremony.

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.Site Only

‘Finally, is it going to start?’

Starting today, new changes are going to occur.

Five leaders, leading the 243 warriors of each clan, the heads of multiple small factions and a hundred elite warriors of the North Justice Blade, who came back from the Imperial Palace in defeat, entered the palace with determination.

Chapter 389 - Non-Aggression Treaty (2)

Chapter 389: Non-Aggression Treaty (2)

“You can go this way.”

The first to enter the Jin Castle of the Wulin people were the heads of each clan of Yulin, who moved to the opposite side of the Imperial palace’s guards under the guidance of the imperial guards.

The people of Yulin who were assigned a place close to the western gate got into a formation right away.

It showed how orderly and disciplined their faction was.

Among those, there were those who couldn’t hide their energy, the elite warriors of North Justice Blade.

‘It was worthwhile to bring in 100 of the North Justice Blade.’

The 3rd leader, Nam Gung-kyong, couldn’t hide his satisfaction while looking at the warriors.

The leader of North Justice Blade, one of the best forces of Yulin, was under Yeon Buso, the eldest son of Yi Mok.

The warriors of North Justice Blade seemed to be in anger when they learned that Yeon Buso had been captured by the Lord of the Demonic Cult, Chun Yeowun, in the Imperial palace.

The air seemed to have turned cold, perhaps because they wanted blood to flow.

‘Lord of the Demonic Cult. You have a talent for making enemies.’

The North Justice Blade is made up of only those who are extremely skilled.

For the Extremists to have this power on their side was something that could instil confidence in them, and with 100 North Justice Blade warriors, they could destroy 2 to 3 Demonic Cults in one night.

Furthermore,

‘Did you pressure the 300 guards and eunuchs? Would you be able to do that again this time?’

The people who attended this time were all masters.

There was Yi Mok, the Supreme Master, and the five leaders who were all Superior Masters, including Nam Gung-kyong.

Moreover, from the small and medium clans, there were more than 50 Super Master level warriors.

They were fully prepared to face the Divine Master.

‘This will be the same for the Forces of Evil and the Blade God Six Martial clan too!’

They will bring their best power to kill Chun Yeowun too.

If the three forces attacked at once, it was determined that, no matter how strong Chun Yeonwun was, he wasn’t invincible.

‘The main point comes after dealing with the Lord.’

After dealing with a common enemy, the Demonic Cult, all the other three factions will end their alliance immediately.

And the factions which survive in that position will turn into a major faction in the Yulin.

‘At that specific moment.’

He looked up at the sky, the sun was heading towards the middle of the sky and noon was approaching.

At the western gate of Jin Castle, the sound of drums echoed around.

Thud! Thud! Thud!

“The leaders of the Forces of Evil and their clan heads are entering.”

The second to arrive were the Forces of Evil.

The eyes of Poong Chungwun, a long time member of the Forces of Justice, widened.

‘I heard there was a civil war happening, yet they are attending?’

Even within the Wulin, there were spies placed in each faction.

It was done by the Forces of Justice who knew that the Forces of Evil were complicated to deal with.

Naturally, they thought that no one would be dispatched to the treaty.

‘Gar Mojam from the Yellow River!’

‘No way. Why is he here?’

A middle-aged man with a black eye patch entered through the gate.

He was the head of the 18 River families and also a tyrant, someone very close to the Forces of Evil.

And there were 17 men, who seemed like leaders, who came after him.

‘That one is Bok Ho-sun.’

Jegal Yong-un, the 13th leader of the Forces of Justice, who was the head of intelligence, immediately noticed that one person.

The River Family’s Bok Ho-sun.

It was said that Chun Yeowun had drowned them all in the river with his own hands.

‘Where are they?’

As soon as Gar Mojam entered the castle, he looked for the Demonic Cult.

One of the facts he found out about them was that the Demonic Cult were looking for the base of the Blue Sky Brotherhood.

As a result, it was Gar Mojam who was convinced that the true culprit wasn't the Blue Sky Brotherhood but the Demonic Cult who disappeared overnight.

Today, he was going to make sure to let the blood of Demonic Cult flow for the sake of his nephews, and the Blue Sky Brotherhood's men who died.

'I will never forgive those demonic bastards!'

Who the real culprit is was still unknown, but he hoped to find someone called Yang Danwa among the Demonic Cult's members.

He only heard this name once when he hypnotised someone.

[A young man with a pure white face, named Chun Yeowun, the head of the Demonic Cult... ah... they must have come from the Ten Thousand Mountains seeing Yang Danwa there, but also witnessing the Lord treat him so politely, he seemed like a high ranked member of the Cult!]

It was said that Yang Danwa had beheaded a person on the command of Chun Yeowun.

If he came to the treaty, Gar Mojam was sure to pay back twice the number.

He was planning to find out every single member of the cult and decapitate them.

Thud! Thud! Thud!

Gar Mojam and the River families, as well as hundreds of warriors below them, were about to get into formation under the guidance of the imperial guards, when suddenly the drums began to echo from the east.

‘Is it them?’

‘Have they arrived?’

The gazes of both, the Forces of Evil and the Forces of Justice, went towards the eastern gate at the same time.

Among the three largest factions, the only one remaining was the Demonic Cult.

The one who entered was someone other than the one they wanted, the new power and the leading faction, Blade God Six Martial clan.

“The three leaders of the Blade God Six Martial clan are entering!”

At the shout of the guard, the eyes of all the leaders turned sharp.

It would be their first time seeing these people.

Through their hands, the sub clans of the Forces of Justice were completely destroyed.

‘Three leaders?’

The Yulin thought that as they were made of six clans, there would be six leaders controlling numerous clans, but only half of them seemed to have come.

But the fact that only half of them are here meant a lot.

It meant that they were aiming for peace through this treaty.

‘They are coming.’

Everyone's attention was focused on the spot where they would confront these leaders for the first time.

They saw three people walking side by side at the eastern gate.

On the left side was an old man with short white hair and red scabbard, and the one in middle was with long hair, and a black cloth covering his eyes.

And on the right side was another middle-aged man with a beard and well developed muscles without wearing a top. What was unusual about him was the fact that he was wearing a huge sword that was of the same height as him on his back.

"They are unusual, Great Leader."

"..."

Yi Mok didn't respond to the 6th leader Poong Chungwun's words who was puzzled. However, he had a serious expression on his face.

"Great Leader, what should we do?"

"... Elder Poong. Maybe everyone here today will risk their lives."

“?”

“All three of them are Supreme Masters. Besides... one of them is powerful enough to compete with a Great Leader like me too.”

“!?”

Poong Chungwun couldn't help but be shocked at the words of Yi Mok.

He couldn't estimate the exact level of them. He knew that they would be better than him, but he never imagined that they would be so dangerous.

“Ugh, what does that mean? Great Leader, does this mean all three of them are capable enough to be on the same level as the five strongest warriors?”

At that question, Yi Mok looked at the man in the middle who covered his eyes in a black cloth.

The two men on either side of him seemed to have reached the entry stage of Supreme Master level, but the man who covered his eyes with the black cloth looked to be on the same level as Yi Mok.

The five strongest warriors had different abilities, but when the standard is taken in a general term, then this blindfolded man can be called one of them.

“This...!”

Gasp escaped from Nam Gung-kyong’s mouth.

In fact, it was a voice closer to embarrassment.

There were twelve other masters with unusual energy flows who followed behind the three main leaders, and to his surprise, all of them were Superior Master level.

Besides that, the hundred warriors behind them were all close to the initial stage of Super Master level, it looked like they brought in all of their elite warriors.

‘It-it makes no sense to have that much power with them!’

Everyone thought that other factions would come fully prepared.

However, this was far beyond the expected range.

The first goal of Nam Gung-kyong was to get rid of the common enemy, the Demonic Cult’s Lord Chun Yeowun, and then aim for the Blade God Six Martial clan, but never did he think that he would have to revise the plan.

‘Lord of the Demonic Cult, with him, these ones should be taken down first.’

It was Nam Gung-kyong’s attempt to conserve his power and use it when it was needed the most.

If he went according to the first plan and removed the Lord of Demonic Cult with the help of Blade God Six Martial clan, then Yulin forces would have a hard time taking down Blade God Six Martial clan all by themselves.

The number of Super Masters and Superior Masters the Blade God Six Martial clan possessed was overwhelming.

‘It looks like they are shocked. Hehe!’

The muscular man without the shirt smiled when he looked at the stiff faces of the Yulin forces.

That was when the white-haired man on the left spoke softly after clicking his tongue.

“Tch, why do you care what their reactions are like? They are gonna die anyway. Crazy Sword Master, Cha Yunkang.”

The man wearing a sword that was his height was one of the top three of the Six Martial Masters of the Clan, Crazy Sword Master Cha Yunkang.

Among the top three Martial Masters, he was the only one who competed in the Extreme Art of Blade God.

“Why are you being so stern with me now, Fire Sword Master, Noh Do-kyung? You are too old to know the joy of being in the spotlight.”

The white haired old man, who had a red sword on him, was the Fire Sword Master, one of the Six Martial Masters of the clan.

Among the Six Martials, he had been the only person to hold the title of Sword Master for the longest time.

Ignoring their chatter, the blindfolded man in the middle spoke to the white haired one.

“I expect that everything is well prepared.”

“Yes, Sword Master Lee Wook. Once the Sword Master sends a signal, not a single person inside these walls will be able to survive.”

The person who covered his eyes with the black cloth was one of the Six Martial Masters, Sword Master Lee Wook.

He was the older brother of Lee Baek, who died through the hands of Chun Yeowun.

Ever since that incident, Sword Master Lee Wook had been in a bad mood, at which Do Kwang shook his head and spoke.

“We are soon going to use the ‘Rage Roaring Thunder’, Sword Master Lee Wook. Wouldn’t everything be solved once the Lord of the Demonic Cult gets removed from this world? Do you not believe in the technique that will be used?”

Rage Roaring Thunder.

A bomb made by an explosive’s expert a hundred years ago. It was the worst weapon with an explosion radius equivalent to five times the normal blast made by energy.

Since the materials needed for the bomb were difficult to obtain, manufacturing it turned hard. Even the Blade God Six Martial clan only had a few and they were all laid out in the underground of this castle.

“Even if they are used, it is natural for us to prepare for any mishaps. Even if we remove everyone in here, including that Lord of the Demonic Cult, we would only be taking one small step to our goal.”

“... I don't have time to listen to this. Fine.”

The blindfolded man was already crazy before, but after losing his brother, he turned even colder and much more obsessed.

After all, the person in charge of this task was Sword Master Lee Wook. Following the orders of the Great Master, they decided to follow and help him.

Even the others of the Six Martial masters highly praised him for his thoroughness.

‘As long as this man is here, no one will survive. You, Lord of the Demonic Cult, have interfered with our plans enough times. You will be brought to justice here.’

In that way, the three factions of Wulin had gathered – the Yulin, the Forces of Evil and the Blade God Six Martial clan.

The only one that was left was the Demonic Cult.

It would be difficult to come to the castle as their path was being blocked.

Noon, when the sun was high in the sky.

Yet, not a sign of Demonic Cult.

Naturally, the leaders of each faction had no choice but to be puzzled.

‘What is this? Why are they so late?’

‘Are they going to abandon their pride and hide in the Imperial palace?’

It was what everyone was thinking. But then..

Thud! Thud! Thud!

At that moment, the drumming sound came from the southern gate of the castle along with the shouts of the imperial guard above the wall.

“The Lord of the Demonic Cult is entering!”

‘Finally, they are here!!!’

Wooong!

All three factions, which had gathered inside, looked at the southern gate.

The cult was the only faction they had targeted and it finally appeared.

The guards hadn't informed about any other leaders or cultists coming along, since they were all blocked near the Yellow River.

[As soon as the Lord of the Demonic Cult steps foot into the castle, the war will begin!]

[Yes!]

At Sword Master Lee Wook's telepathic order, Master Yi Gam, who assisted him, nodded and answered.

Shockingly, the moment they were aiming for wasn't the end of the treaty like how it was for the Forces of Evil and Forces of Justice.

The moment of the beginning of the treaty was known to be the most auspicious moment of all.

But that didn't matter to them, let it be royals or warriors.

After all, the Blade God Six Martial clan had decided to kill everyone to keep this matter shut.

Thud! Thud! Thud!

Some heavy footsteps could be heard from the gate.

Everyone looked at the situation curiously, but a few members of the Demonic Cult came in from the northern gate with four to five large wooden boxes and brought them into the castle grounds.

It looked strange as the members of the cult were covered in dirt, like they had been rolling in the ground for quite some time.

‘What is that?’

‘What did they bring?’

As if coming late wasn’t enough, they came in with wooden boxes.

Even the top three Masters of the Blade God Six Martial clan were looking at the boxes.

When the wooden boxes reached the centre, where the officials and the guards were present, the members of the Demonic Cult came to a sudden halt.

‘What? How big is he?’

In the midst of the warriors of the cult, there was a muscular man twice the size of a normal male adult.

Who could ever be that tall?

At that moment, the large man kicked the wooden box with his foot.

Bang! Creak!

The large box fell and with the sound of metal pieces colliding, something fell out.

It was something which was round and twice the size of human fists, and it seemed to have a wick on top of it.

Woong!

‘What is that?’

‘An iron ball?’

Everyone seemed puzzled with it, it was their first time seeing such an item, but there were those whose expressions went stiff.

The Masters of the Blade God Six Martial clan.

They couldn't hide the shock as their mouths opened wide seeing the iron balls which came out of the wooden box.

"Nonsense!!"

"They, how did they...?"

The identity of the iron ball that came out of the wooden boxes was none other than the Rage Roaring Thunder bombs, which they had planted in the underground of the Jin Castle.

'What the hell!'

Even Lee Wook was shocked, the large man knelt down on one knee and looked at a member who was standing in the middle of the imperial officials, and shouted in a large voice.

Pak!

“Sorry for being late. Since there were so many, we had to dismantle them and remove every last one of them, Lord.”

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.Site Only

‘What!?’

‘Lord!?’

Everyone looked at the man, who looked like an official of the palace with shock in their eyes, as the large man spoke unexpected words.

Chapter 390 - The Heavenly Demon Emperor (1)

Chapter 390: The Heavenly Demon Emperor (1)

A middle-aged official with a round face was standing on the podium.

It was an official uniform, in the Imperial palace he would be someone in a high position, but from the standards of Wulin, he was nothing more than an ordinary person.

There wasn't a single sign of internal energy in him, he wasn't any different compared to a normal person.

So why did that large man get down on his knees and refer to that person as his Lord?

'Besides, doesn't he look different from what I've heard?'

In the entirety of Wulin, the Lord of the Demonic Cult was being called the 'Heavenly Demon Emperor' and his appearance was orally spread to each faction.

The moment he would come out from the palace, the factions were ready to send him to heaven.

While everyone was shocked, the middle-aged official turned his head and looked at a middle-aged man in blue armor and a eunuch in red, who were standing on the left side of the podium.

They were Yeongjo, the Northern Commander and an eunuch from the West Spear.

They couldn't hide their shock when they saw the iron balls roll out of the wooden box.

The middle-aged man spoke to them.

"Do you want to check them?"

"How could such large amounts of bombs be hidden in the Jin castle?"

"They are a lot bigger than the ones in the Imperial palace's armory! How could these bombs be in here?"

Everyone who was paying attention to what was happening on the podium began to whisper amongst themselves.

They weren't particularly paying attention to the words, but the word 'bomb' was what shocked them.

Whisper! Whisper!

"Wh-what did I just hear?"

"Are those iron balls bombs?"

Nearly a hundred or more iron balls poured out of a single wooden box.

And if they added up that there were five boxes in total, there were at least five hundred bombs.

And since they would need gunpowder for such items, it would be impossible to procure it unless they had an official permission.

“We can’t possibly be making a non-aggression treaty with those who possess such dangerous weapons.”

“We need to inform His Majesty right away.”

Commander Yeongjo and the West Spear’s eunuch shuddered while looking at those bombs.

The fact that such large amounts of bombs were hidden in the basement meant that someone was trying to kill everyone in the palace with an explosion.

‘How did this happen?!’

Sword Master Lee Wook couldn’t understand.

All of a sudden, he took off the black cloth that had been covering his eyes and looked at the bombs.

There were supposed to be members of the Blade God Six Martial clan at the entrance of the underground in the castle.

However, finding the bombs meant that his men had been taken down.

‘Ah! That isn’t the problem now!’

Sword Master Lee Wook, who was shocked at the discovery of the bombs, realized an even bigger problem.

The bombs, the Raze Roaring Thunder bombs, were the last resort if they couldn’t take down the Lord of the Demonic Cult. And the bombs were discovered by the people of Chun Yeowun!

‘Are those guys members of the Demonic Cult too?’

Sword Master Lee Wook glared at the officials on the podium.

Since they were too invested in the situation and the fact whether the Lord of Demonic cult was coming or not, they hadn't realized that the emperor who was supposed to be there to sign the treaty hadn't even arrived yet.

The fact that it was past noon and the emperor hasn't arrived meant,

'This was their very intention from the beginning, to wait until the bombs were found! The treaty wasn't even a priority for them!'

And he was right.

The officials on the podium reached out to the bombs that were poured on the floor.

Shockingly, two iron balls floated into the air and got sucked into the hands of an official.

"Te- telekinesis!"

"Unbelievable! That man is at the very least a Superior Level Master!"

The man looked so ordinary that when he showcased such skill, the people of Wulin couldn't help but be shocked.

Telekinesis, which used by the official, was something only people with great internal energy and above Superior Master level could perform.

Nam Gung-kyong, the 3rd leader of the Forces of Justice and member of the Extremists, was perplexed.

‘Is that man really the Lord of the Demonic Cult?’

Still, he couldn’t feel anything from the official.

Not caring about the reactions of the Wulin people, the official pulled in the two bombs and handed them over to Northern Commander Yeongjo.

“Didn’t I tell you that one faction would definitely do such a thing? You need to take this to His Majesty and inform him of this situation immediately.”

“Understood!”

“If it wasn’t for Lord Chun’s warning we would have been in huge trouble. We will definitely inform him!”

Pak!

At the same time, the other two men thanked Chun Yeowun.

They were going to take those and tell the emperor what they had seen.

“You need to hurry.”

At Chun Yeowun’s warning, the faces of the two men went stiff.

Because they understood the meaning of the warning.

It was impossible for a group of people who were bold enough to hide such bombs in the underground to not have something else planned.

“We will!”

Phat!

The two of them sprinted towards the northern gate at the same time. Fortunately, they were both Superior Masters who were only on the podium to confirm Chun Yeowun's warning.

And their footwork was a lot lighter and faster than most people of Wulin had.

At that sight, Sword Master Lee Wook was in shock.

"Crazy Sword Master!"

"Tch! Things are going awry right from the beginning!"

If those people went out of the castle gate and went to the Imperial palace to inform them of the matter, they would end up making enemies in not just Wulin but even the empire.

It would end up going in a completely different goal from what they wanted.

Phat!

For the moment the bombs were revealed, Crazy Sword Master Cha Yunkang knew that things would go wrong. Thanks to his quick intuition though, he managed to head towards the northern gate.

In accordance to that, Sword Master Lee Wook raised his hand and sent another signal.

"Close it!"

Then, twelve of his men, who were behind him, took the horn which was in his hand and blew hard.

Puuuuuuuu!!!

As if waiting for the sound of the horn, the warriors near each gate cut the thick rope which was pulling down the wooden gates.

Slash!

Thud!

When the rope got cut, the wooden gate, which was supposed to stay open, began to close at once.

“Wh-what the hell is this?”

“Have they taken over the gates?”

At that sight, people of the Yulin and the Forces of Evil couldn't hide their embarrassment.

The southern, eastern and western gates were closing at the same time.

To get out of the castle, they had no choice but to jump over the huge wall which seemed like it was touching the sky.

However, the northern gate was the only one that wasn't closed yet.

‘They took them out too!’

Sword Master Lee Wook cursed to himself.

Having found the bombs in the underground, it meant that the people of the Blade God Six Martial clan at the northern gate were also dealt with.

When the northern gate was left open, the Crazy Sword Master, Cha Yunkang, felt annoyed.

“Tch! Not helpful at all!”

Srrrng!

Cha Yunkang quickly pulled out the sword, which was the same size as him, from his back and turned it into a sword which suited him.

Wong!

He was planning to use internal energy to narrow the distance between him and the two officials; at once, he managed to cover a six foot distance.

“When you are planning to fight, internal energy is supposed to gather in the palm.”

All of a sudden, someone appeared between him and the two officials who were only 20 steps away from the gate.

‘How did he catch up?’

At the sound from his back, Yeongjo was shocked.

It was absurd that he, who was known to be the best swordsman in the Imperial palace, was easily caught by a member of a faction!

“I’m going to cut you down!”

That wasn’t a bluff from the man following him.

The sharp rise in energy was unusual.

Whoever he was, he managed to cover up ten steps at once and tried to wield the huge sword in his eyes.

‘This is it for me! Those guys there...!?’

It was right then.

Srrrrng!

An afterimage appeared right in front of him.

The blurry afterimage gradually turned darker and then there was an unidentified long-haired man with a unique mask.

“You damn bastard! Stay out of this!”

Chuk!

The huge man tried to cut him at once, but the masked man evaded every incoming attack with versatile movements, and instead stabbed Cha Yunkang in the neck.

Slash!

“Haa?”

Shocked, Cha Yunkang immediately leaned back.

It was difficult for any other warriors to perform such an action in his stance, but the Six Martial Masters of Blade God Six Martial clan went beyond the limits of human beings.

Pang!

With his body leaned to the back, Cha Yunkang lightly moved his body to the side and quickly swung his huge sword to slash the masked man.

Clang!

In spite of attacking with tremendous power, the masked man didn't move further than ten steps away and as he straightened himself, Cha Yunkang narrowed his eyes.

"You... You are the Dark King."

The Dark King, Marakim.

The name used for the man in the Demonic Cult who was in charge of giving death.

He heard that Marakim was excellent in his escape from the attacks of dead Sword Master Lee Baek, but seeing it now, he looked like a true masterpiece.

"You know me?"

'The fact that he is here means that the Lord of the Demonic Cult is here too!'

According to the information gathered, Chun Yeowun, the Lord of Demonic Cult, resided in the imperial palace along with Great Guardian Marakim.

The fact that he blocked him meant that one of the officials had to be a member of the Demonic Cult or the Lord himself.

"Damn it!"

Cha Yunkang ended up cursing.

During the meantime, the two officials were already passing through the northern gate.

He was supposed to catch up with them, but as a result of this man, he ended up wasting precious seconds.

‘Then that Lord is here too!’

Seeing how Cha Yunkang was blocked, Lee Wook bit his lower lip.

The officials shouldn’t be allowed to let go.

When Lee Wook raised his hands, three swords appeared.

“Follow them!”

As Lee Wook pointed to the gate, the three swords moved like arrows.

Swosh! Swosh! Swosh!

However, halfway to the northern gate, they stopped as if they couldn’t move anymore.

As if blocked by a wall, the swords were trembling in the air.

“Huh?”

Lee Wook, who was shocked, couldn’t say anything.

Fire Sword Master, Noh Do-yung, asked in shock.

“How could that be happening?”

“The control of the Air Swords got taken away.”

“What? Taking control of the Air Sword? Who could even do that?”

In response to the question, Sword Master Lee Wook looked at the man who was standing on the podium.

The middle-aged official who was standing on the podium with his hand outstretched towards the three swords.

‘He is taking control of the Air Swords which are connected to my energy? Quite astonishing abilities.’

Even when Lee Wook raised energy, the swords only trembled but didn’t move ahead.

All the people of Wulin who were gathered in the castle grounds went speechless at this sight.

Woong! Woong!

“Do-does that even make sense?”

“Did the Air Swords really get blocked?”

The Air Sword itself was a technique which would astonish the people of Wulin, but this middle-aged chubby official was blocking it with just his hand.

It meant that he reached an unimaginable level.

‘Divine Master level!’

Among those in the castle, the five leaders of the Forces of Justice and Gar Mojam of the Forces of Evil were able to realize what it meant.

Unless one was of Divine Master level, one couldn’t handle such techniques as effortlessly as he did.

That man was truly a monster.

An amazing thing happened when the official with a chubby face waved his stretched out hand.

Wheeing!

The swords, which stopped in mid-air, turned towards the opposite direction and aimed for the master of those swords.

“This! What!”

Sword Master Lee Wook’s eyes went wide due to the shock.

The control, which was slowly drifting away, ended up in the hands of the official.

The official looked at him and spoke in a cynical voice.

“Take these back.”

And as he waved a finger, the three swords rushed towards Sword Master Lee Wook.

Ordinary warriors would have been shocked and bewildered, but these people were on the same level as the five strongest warriors.

“Huh!”

Clang! clang! Clang! Clang! Clang!

Sword Master Lee Wook, and Fire Sword Master Noh Do-yung, who was next to him, drew their swords and blocked the Air Swords.

As if that wasn’t enough, they desperately tried to break down the connection of the Air Sword.

Clang!

An Air Sword was like the greatest weapon of a Supreme Master.

‘Damn it! How could the plan go wrong right from the beginning!’

It was Lee Wook, who was annoyed as his Air Swords got taken away.

The two officials had already passed through the northern gate, they were nowhere to be seen.

It was definite that catching up with them would be difficult.

Whoops!

Sword Master Lee Wook grinded his teeth and pointed his finger at the official on the podium and shouted.

“Lord of the Demonic Cult Chun Yeowun! How long are you going to put up the beastly mask and act like that! Remove that mask and reveal yourself right now!”

“Beastly mask?”

Woong!

At those words, all the eyes in the castle turned towards that official.

They thought that he couldn’t be the lord because of the way he looked and from what they heard, but if that was a mask, then there was a good chance that he was the Lord of Demonic Cult!

“Well, it was getting stuffy for me anyway.”

The official chuckled and grabbed the skin under his chin and pulled it out.

The skin stretched like rubber and soon the mask peeled off, revealing the true face hidden behind it.

The eyes of the Wulin people, who were looking at him, went wide in shock.

‘Ahhh!’

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

‘It was true!’

‘That is him, him!’

A young man with long hair, white face and sharp eyes like a blade – that is the one they heard so much about.

The reputation that shook the entire Wulin.

Chun Yeowun, the Lord of the Demonic Cult, who was called the “Heavenly Demon Emperor”, finally revealed himself.

Chapter 391 - The Heavenly Demon Emperor (2)

Chapter 391: The Heavenly Demon Emperor (2)

A reputation that came after the breakup of the alliance with the Forces of Justice.

A reputation that was close to notoriety.

Threatening the emperor to change the state religion and kidnapping the leaders of the Forces of Justice after cutting down their arms, including Yeon Buso, who was thought to be the future of the Yulin.

Those were the things that the new Lord of the Demonic Cult had done.

What he did was completely different from what the previous Lords of the Demonic Cult had done.

This man, Chun Yeowun, seemed unstoppable.

“That young man over there is the Lord of Demonic Cult?”

“The Heavenly Demonic Emperor!”

“He doesn’t look that strong... huh!”

It was the first time for many to see Chun Yeowun’s face and there was one thing that shocked the Masters of the Blade God Six Martial clan.

No matter how much they looked at him, Chun Yeowun didn’t look like someone important or capable.

‘Huh, it hasn’t been that long, but he didn’t change much at all.’

6th leader Poong Chungwun looked at Chun Yeowun, whom he hadn’t seen in a long time. He was the one who could recognize Chun Yeowun’s face in an instant.

If there was anything that changed about Chun Yeowun, then it was the energy surrounding him.

If it could be expressed in terms of alcohol, then in the past he was close to turning into a strong wine and now he looks like a high-quality wine that would exude subtle fragrance.

‘In such a short amount of time he was able to grow so much?!’

Was it the position that changed him?

He looked more reliable and dignified than at the time when Poong Chungwun met him in the Demonic Cult.

It looked like Chun Yeowun was the same, yet different at the same time.

The Yulin members were surprised, but there was another person who couldn’t help but be surprised when he looked at the Lord of the Demonic Cult for the first time.

He was Gar Mojam, a member of the 18 River families, who attended the treaty as a representative for the Forces of Evil.

His expression hardened as he looked at Chun Yeowun. He couldn’t help but remember the words that were said about this Lord.

[He was a young man with a pure white face, Chun Yeowun, the leader of the Demonic Cult. Ah... he must be coming from the Ten Thousand Mountains, but seeing the Lord treat him so politely, it looks like Yang Danwa was someone of a high ranking position in the Demonic Cult.]

At that time, he had thought that Yang Danwa was the person who had to be caught.

However, seeing the Lord of Demonic Cult, who revealed his face from the mask, only one thing passed through his mind.

‘... Demonic Cult... Lord of the Demonic cult?’

It was a guess, but Gar Mojam was certain.

This man had to be the true culprit behind what happened, the one who beheaded his nephews, and disappeared right after killing them.

This man on the podium was Chun Yeowun, whom he vowed to kill once the civil war within the Forces of Evil subsided.

‘That bastarddddd!’

He couldn’t even express his anger through his mouth.

It was because of the absurd strength he had just displayed to everyone on the castle grounds.

Even if there was a slight chance of success, he would have rushed over to the podium and torn him to pieces.

‘Shit!’

While he was struggling, something passed through his mind.

[The Lord of the Demonic Cult killed my nephews.]

[.... have some debts to pay.]

[Give me the chance to repay the debt. When the treaty is over, confusion is sure to arise. If that's the case, we already know who the Forces of Justice or those Blade Clan bastards will target, right?]

It was what he had discussed before leaving for the treaty.

The words of Hang Yen, the West Strong King.

In order to kill that monster, everyone had to work together.

Only then was there a possibility of taking him down.

'Now that I look around, I am not the only one who wants to kill him.'

The expressions of the Forces of Justice and the Blade God Six Martial clan, who were all supposed to be stronger than the Forces of Evil, were stiff.

Even the 3rd leader Nam Gung-kyong, an extremist, was in deep thoughts.

‘Isn’t this situation like out of the frying pan into the fire?’ -1*

At first, he was trying to use the power of the Blade God Six Martial clan.

He hoped that they, who had 12 Superior Masters behind them and 3 Supreme Masters in the beginning level, would be able to create a strategy to take down the Lord of Demonic Cult, Chun Yeowun.

But when he looked at the bomb on the ground, he realized that the Blade God Six Martial clan was a lot more dangerous than he made them out to be.

‘Did they intend to kill everyone in here?’

Bombs like that could get the task done.

He had been to the Imperial palace before when they were demonstrating the bomb and the explosive powers it held within it.

However, this bomb, which was in the castle, was three times larger than the Imperial palace bombs.

‘I shouldn’t use those men.’

Even the Forces of Evil, which were considered to be evil, would never take such actions.

However, it was safe to say that bombs were something that the people of Wulin would never ever touch.

With that alone, the Blade God Six Martial clan was very close to being the 1st faction that had to be destroyed.

‘Which of the two should I aim for first?’

After seeing the level of Chun Yeowun, Lord of the Demonic Cult, he was even more confused.

Looking at how he took control over the Air Swords, it looked like no one in the castle could stand up to Chun Yeowun, who was a Divine Master, in a one-on-one battle.

Even Yi Mok, one of the five strongest warriors of Wulin, didn’t seem to be an opponent.

‘Great Leader...’

It was very clear from the dark expression that Great Leader Yi Mok had.

He was at the crossroads of making a decision.

A situation that was difficult to decide on which side to aim for first to suffer the smallest losses from.

That was when he heard someone call him.

[Leader Nam Gung.]

He tried to see who was sending him a telepathic message, but the most shocking thing was the person who sent it.

It was the member of the Blade God Six Martial clan who had shown the Air Swords moments before.

He was shocked at the sudden contact from an unknown person, but the next message puzzled him even more.

[No, shouldn't you be called the Leader of the Forces of Great Heaven (Name of their Extremist group)?]

'Ah?'

Shockingly, that man from the Blade God Six Martial clan knew his true identity.

It was even more shocking when his true identity was brought up from the mouth of someone who was a part of the Six Masters of the Blade God Six Martial clan, whom he never met before.

‘How did he know about that?’

Just in case, he looked over at Dang Pil-soon, another member of the Forces of Great Heaven, but it seemed like Nam Gung was the only one who received the message.

That being said, this man from the Blade God Six Martial clan knew that Nam Gung Kyong was the leader of Forces of Great Heaven.

‘Terrifying information gathering. Could there be a spy among us too?’

While he didn’t respond, the Blade God Six Martial clan master kept on talking.

[I’m going to make a suggestion. As you have seen, that man there is of the Divine Master level, a monster who went beyond the level of human beings.]

That was one thing Nam Gung-kyong could agree with.

Even the Great leader of the Forces of Justice and Yulin, Yi Mok, a Supreme Master level and one of the five strongest warriors, was called a one-man army.

Just the Supreme Master level is difficult for anyone to touch, but if Chun Yeowun went higher than that, it meant that Chun Yeowun was close to being invincible.

The Blade God Six Martial clan was an enemy, but it felt like it was worth listening to him.

Hesitating for a moment or so, Nam Gung-kyong sent a message.

[What is your suggestion?]

[Here, when everyone is ready to fight their own battles, it would be better for the Forces of Great Heaven and us to join hands.]

[....]

[I even know about that thing you are hiding.]

After that comment, Nam Gung-kyong frowned.

It seemed like the Blade God Six Martial clan knew about their plan.

It was definite that there was a spy inside his organization, and that spy seemed to be in the top ranks for him to gather such information.

Fortunately, the contents of the plan were only known by him, who was the leader of the organization.

[Why don't we form an alliance until we defeat him?]

Nam Gung-kyong's eyes narrowed at the suggestion from Sword Master Lee Wook.

Yet, the proposal was, as expected, to form an alliance.

It meant to eliminate the common enemy first and then fight among themselves.

It was mutually beneficial, but he never thought that such an offer would be made.

'So they fear the Lord of the Demonic Cult this much?'

Seeing that, Nam Gung-kyong couldn't help but think that the Lord of Demonic Cult was indeed great.

It was nothing more than a temporary alliance, and the Sword Master of Blade God Six Martial clan, who just got overpowered by the Lord of the Demonic Cult, turned nervous enough to propose such an alliance.

If only this faction, the Blade God Six Martial clan, hadn't been considered an evil force, they could have been considered as elite warriors.

'... there isn't much of a choice here.'

After pondering for a while, Nam Gung-kyong made a decision.

If the five strongest warriors were scared to move against Chun Yeowun, then it was better to join hands with the enemy and kill Chun Yeowun on the spot for the sake of the future.

It would be even more of a mess if everyone fought for themselves and ended up with more sacrifices on their side rather than the Demonic Cult.

As he was about to answer, he heard something startling.

[I have already reached an agreement with the representative of the Forces of Evil. Have you decided?]

'Forces of Evil?'

These people were moving fast.

In a way, it would have been embarrassing to ask for help from others, but these people of the Blade God Six Martial clan seemed dead set on wanting to kill Chun Yeowun.

Chun Yeowun seemed to have made too many enemies.

[Understood. We will keep up the alliance until we kill the Lord of the Demonic Cult.]

[... we are running out of time, persuade the Great Leader of the Forces Of Justice.]

[I will.]

It felt like the Great Leader of the Forces of Justice, Yi Mok, would side with Nam Gung-kyong.

When his son's severed arm was sent back, he displayed great anger.

Nam Gung-kyong seemed sure that there would be no objection to the fact that everyone should kill the Lord of the Demonic Cult, Chun Yeowun, first.

"Listen! Our enemy is here. It is Chun Yeowun, the Lord of the Demonic Cult, who destroyed the 18 River families in Yongho!"

Perhaps there was anger residing in him, Yellow River's Gar Mojam was the first one who ordered his subordinates.

His subordinates didn't know about the Yongho, and listening to that, they couldn't contain their anger.

These people were feared in the Yellow River, some even considered them as scary as the 18 river families.

"Today we will soothe the souls of our fallen comrades with his blood! Follow me!"

Clang!

With that, Gar Mojam drew his Water Dragon Blade, and seventeen elite members with excellent skills pulled out their own respective weapons and shouted.

"Let's soothe the souls of our fallen comrades with blood!!!"

It was to raise their morale.

They too knew that the Lord of the Demonic Cult, Chun Yeowun, was a monster.

Yet, they had to shake off the fear to deal with the enemy.

“Descendants of the Blade God! For the sake of our future, the Lord of the Demonic Cult has to be killed!”

As a response to Gar Mojam’s order, Sword Master Lee Wook shouted at the twelve masters who were behind him.

The members of the Blade God Six Martial clan shouted to boost their morale.

“Wahhhhhhhh!!!”

The atmosphere was set.

Almost all the people who were aiming for Chun Yeowun’s neck were elite warriors.

‘This momentum needs to be kept.’

Nam Gung-kyong hastily sent a telepathic message to Great Leader Yi Mok.

[Great Leader. This is a great opportunity. At this point, we need to take down the Lord of the Demonic.... Ah?]

However, something unexpected happened.

Tak!

Even before he could complete what he was saying, Great Leader Yi Mok went onto the podium and stood beside Chun Yeowun.

[Great Leader! Don't tell me that you want to side with him...?]

Nam Gung-kyong was thinking that it was impossible for Yi Mok to go one-on-one with Chun Yeowun and was trying to plan something, so he didn't even see what his Great Leader was doing.

'No, what is that man doing!?'

There was another person who was climbing up onto the podium.

It was Poong Chungwun, the 6th leader, who walked up and stood beside the Great Leader.

“Let’s go!”

Nam Gung-kyong’s eyes widened at the voice of 7th leader Moyong Kang.

‘!?’

Not just Moyong Kang, even the other leaders who came to the treaty, slowly moved up the podium.

In addition to Poong Chungwun, Moyong kang and the 11th leader Hong Pilwoo and 13th leader Jegal’s head, Jegal Yonggi, stood next to Yi Mok.

That meant that all the leaders of the Forces of Justice except him had moved onto the podium.

“What is this?”

And that wasn’t it.

Rumble! Rumble!

About one hundred and forty heads of small factions of Yulin walked up and stood on the podium.

‘This?’

Embarrassingly, the remaining 100 people who didn’t move were the members of the Forces of the Great Heaven organization.

The way everything happened made it look like Yi Mok was siding with the Lord of the Demonic Cult.

No, it was more like he was in on the plan, like they were working together.

Confused, Nam Gung-kyong asked in a loud voice.

“Great Leader! What are you doing right now? You are not planning to work with the Lord of the Demonic Cult, right?”

The alliance was broken.

In addition, Yi Mok was the one who looked like he wanted to punish the Lord of the Demonic Cult with his own hands until a couple moments ago.

From Nam Gung-kyong’s perspective, who completely trusted Yi Mok, this was like a blow to his head.

That was when the Great Leader spoke.

“Leader Nam Gung-kyong! How dare you plan to join hands with those people?!”

“!?”

Nam Gung-kyong’s eyes went wide.

Pointing to the Blade God Six Martial clan and calling him out like a spy, he couldn’t help but go speechless.

Although he was running the Forces of Great Heaven behind Yulin, it was his aim to seek true justice, but for him to be pushed away like this was unexpected.

‘Do they have differentiating opinions?’

Lee Wook, who had been waiting for a response, realized that something had gone wrong, looking at how the people of Yulin were climbing up the podium.

Lee Wook, who had watched what unfolded, shouted at the Great Leader of Forces of Justice.

“Great Leader of the Forces of Justice of Yulin! Are you siding with the Lord of the Demonic Cult? As far as I know, the alliance with the cult is broken, so isn’t this too much?”

It was his attempt to help out Nam Gung-kyong, who was in trouble.

Moreover, Lee Wook didn't want Chun Yeowun to have any helpers on his side.

He didn't want to see even a single possibility of someone helping Chun Yeowun.

'... to get the help from a member of the Blade God Six Martial clan.'

Nam Gung-kyong's expression crumbled.

It was a shame for the leader of the Forces of Great Heaven to get help from those who seek destruction.

However, if he couldn't get back into the good graces of the Great Leader, then the situation in which he would be alienated would occur.

That was when Yi Mok looked at Lee Wook.

"I don't think you should talk about such rightful things."

"What is that supposed to mean?"

“Did you think that I wouldn’t know if you planted spies and tried deceiving me with that booklet?”

“!?”

This time, it was Lee Wook’s eyes which went wide at the unexpected words.

Shockingly, Yi Mook seemed to have known that the hidden booklet inside the fist of Yeon Buso’s severed arm was a fake one.

‘How did he know?’

Great Leader Yi Mok and his people had moved as Lee Wook had intended.

Not only did they break off the alliance with the Demonic Cult, but they even tried their very best to make sure that the people of the Demonic Cult didn’t come over to the treaty, so he thought everything was going as planned.

Looking at Yi Mok’s eyes, Lee Wook knew that the Great Leader knew the truth.

He opened his mouth as if to counter it.

“Yulin has been fighting the Demonic Cult for hundreds of years. Do you know what it means to hold their hands after such a long confrontation?”

“?”

“That is something that only a new faction, which recently stepped foot inside the Wulin, would say. You know nothing.”

“I know nothing?”

“I have been exchanging information with the Lord of the Demonic Cult for a while and not once have I ever heard or been reported that he called himself the Lord of the Demonic Cult.”

Sword Master Lee Wook couldn't understand it.

Although he reviewed the booklet several times, he made sure that it was flawless.

‘... what is the problem with calling the Lord of the Demonic Cult as Lord of the Demonic Cult?’

However, the expression of Nam Gung-kyong crumbled as he mumbled.

“... Chun Ma... Chun Ma of the Sky Demon Order!!”

“Chun Ma of the Sky Demon Order?”

At those words, Chun Yeowun smiled.

The words ‘Demonic Cult’ were something that people who didn’t know about the Demonic Cult used in general terms.

The members of the Demonic Cult introduced their Lord as Chun Ma of the Sky Demon Order, but not as the Lord of the Demonic Cult, yet, Chun Yeowun had abbreviated himself as ‘Lord of the Demonic Cult’ in the booklet.

‘This...!’

It was only then that Lee Wook realized his mistake.

He got caught because of a few words that he used!

“Ha! To get caught by such a simple thing...”

It was weird.

It was something that most people would have ignored, but the insight of the Great Leader, who noticed the subtle difference, was even more shocking.

Clang!

Yi Mok pulled out his sword, Blade of Heavenly Peace, which was on his waist while looking at Lee Wook, aimed his sword in his direction and spoke.

“It was your mistake to not understand what you were writing.”

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

“Tch!”

It was said that when one fights for a long time, one would understand the enemy a lot better than the ally.

It was a fatal mistake that Lee Wook overlooked.

Editor Notes

^{1*} = Figure of speech. The phrase is used to describe the situation of moving or getting from a bad or difficult situation to a worse one, often as the result of trying to escape from the bad or difficult one.

Chapter 392 - The Heavenly Demon Emperor (3)

Chapter 392: The Heavenly Demon Emperor (3)

“The Great Leader will never forgive the Blade God Six Martial Clan, who threatened our empire and tried to alienate our allies by using unjust means!”

As if waiting for those words to fall, the 4 leaders and the heads of the other factions began to draw their weapons.

Srrrng! Srrrng! Srrrng!

“We will follow the Great Leader!”

“I just can’t let people like them live among us!”

“Wahhhhh!”

Srrng! Srrrng! Srrrng!

Everyone from Yulin seemed determined.

They were ready to set out and take the others down.

The heads of the other factions, who had joined the Forces of the Great Heaven organization, couldn't hide their embarrassment.

'What is going on?'

'Huh... isn't this the time where we join hands and fight the enemy?'

Until a moment ago, the colleagues, who had been standing alongside them, were now facing them.

'Is this how things are going to work out? Shit!'

Nam Gung-kyong never thought that such a split would happen.

He was completely deceived by the Great Leader, Yi Mok.

‘Everything is wrong!’

The Great Leader of the Forces of Justice wasn’t such a person, so Nam Gung-kyong never expected that he would backstab him by cooperating with the Lord of the Demonic Cult.

[Leader. What are we supposed to do now?]

Dang Pil-soon, a member of the organization, who was next to him asked in a telepathic message.

[Our morale is gone.]

Woong- Woong- Woong!

Although they were working behind the Forces of Justice’s back, Nam Gung-kyong hadn’t thought of confronting people of the same Yulin faction, so everyone around him was confused.

If this situation worsened, it would mean that in no time at all, everyone would start killing each other.

‘Ahhh!’

Nam Gung-kyong, who had to make the decision, was starting to get confused.

He already decided to make a temporary alliance with one of the Six Martial Masters to kill the Lord of the Demonic Cult.

But fighting with his comrades was impossible for him.

[Make sure to state your position, Leader Nam Gung-kyong.]

It was Sword Master Lee Wook’s words that passed through his mind.

‘This person is deliberately pushing me.’

Lee Wook’s intentions were clear.

Make one faction, divide them internally and then take them down.

Upon hearing Lee Wook’s words, Nam Gung-kyong was able to determine what he wanted.

Srrrng!

After pulling out his Great Blade, a treasured sword of the Nam Gung clan, he spoke.

“How could we ever fight the comrades, who seek justice, just because we have differentiating opinions! Our only purpose is to take down the Demonic Cult’s Heavenly Demon Emperor!”

“Waaahhhh! Let’s protect justice by killing the Heavenly Demon Emperor!”

The heads of the factions, which sided with the Forces of Great Heaven, struggled to make a choice.

If such an announcement was made, it would be difficult for the Great Leader Yi Mok to attack them.

‘Damn, he solved it already.’

Sword Master Lee Wook clicked his tongue looking at it.

If he managed to sway Nam Gung-kyong a little more, he would have had the chance to witness fights within the largest faction.

At Nam Gung-kyong's words, Great Leader Yi Mok also felt glad.

'A battle between the members of the Yulin has been avoided. But...'

If they got killed during the confrontation with Chun Yeowun, Yi Mok couldn't hold Chun Yeowun accountable for it.

It was sad how things were unfolding.

Yi Mok, who noticed the plan of the Blade God Six Martial clan because of the booklet, secretly cooperated with Chun Yeowun, who was in the Imperial Palace, so they constantly exchanged information with each other.

'Forces of Great Heaven...'

Thanks to that, Great Leader Yi Mok learned that within all the factions of Yulin, there weren't just spies of the Blade God Six Martial clan, but also learned of the existence of the Forces of Great Heaven, an organization with an extremist ideology.

Although they were known to be a weak organization in the Yulin, finding them out turned into trouble as he learned that the organization's true purpose wasn't self growth, but to build a world with no evil.

'I want to ask him to show mercy on them, but...'

It wasn't like Yi Mok hadn't heard about Chun Yeowun, the Lord of the Demonic Cult, who never showed mercy to those who wanted him dead.

Nam Gung-kyong's clan was a part of the Forces of Justice, but the organization he ran was an enemy to the existence of the Demonic Cult and Chun Yeowun.

Great Leader Yi Mok, who was looking at Nam Gung-kyong, returned to reality.

'Ugh, Lord Chun. I did everything that we planned to, but can you really get out of this situation?'

He didn't say it out loud yet, but Yi Mok looked at Chun Yeowun with concern.

Although he and the leaders had chosen to pick the Demonic Cult's side, it wasn't just the Forces of Great Heaven, but the North Justice Blade didn't move either, which meant there were two hundred warriors standing against Chun Yeowun.

[How could the Great Leader side with the Lord of the Demonic Cult, who took Yeon Buso as a prisoner? This is unacceptable, even if you are his father!]

[Seung Baek....]

Yi Mok couldn't say anything back to Seung Baek, who was leading the North Justice Blade warriors. Even after being told in advance about the collaboration, Seung Baek straight up refused to join hands.

If the situation came, he said that he would unconditionally fight the Lord of the Demonic Cult.

'The difference is too big, Lord Chun.'

Yi Mok's judgement was correct.

Even though the Yulin faction was divided here, it was still good enough for the Blade God Six Martial clan.

Because what they were aiming for was Chun Yeowun.

Even though the number of people aiming for Chun Yeowun decreased, the Blade God Six Martial clan was glad that they at least got the support of the North Justice Blade's warriors.

“It seems like I worried for no reason. Just because you found the booklet doesn’t change anything. Great Leader of Yulin, just because you and some leaders stand beside the Lord of the Demonic Cult, the situation won’t change.”

“Only when things are dealt with will the results come out!”

At Yi Mok’s response, the Sword Master provoked him.

“Things are dealt with. You think we are that easy? Fufufu, but still, let me thank you. Thanks to you, the members of the Demonic Cult were prevented from advancing north...”

Bang!

A loud roar came from the north.

The eyes of everyone in the castle turned towards it.

“Ugh! Th-the northern gate?”

“No way!”

The only open gate, the northern one, of the Jin Castle closed like the other gates.

The members of the Demonic cult seemed to have cut the rope.

“No, what are we going to do now?”

“Lord Chun!”

6th leader Poong Chungwun looked at Chun Yeowun in confusion.

Their only hope was that they would fight with their backs against the northern gate, the only exit route.

It was supposed to be their anytime-escape route.

‘He cut that off!’

‘Wh-why did he do that?!’

It was only natural for the people of Yulin to be shocked.

As Sword Master Lee Wook looked at the northern gate, which closed down, he couldn’t hold back his laughter.

When the battle started, the first gate which was supposed to be blocked was the north gate.

“Hahahaha! You blocked your escape with your own hands! Lord Chun, thank you so much for creating trouble for yourself.”

To the sarcastic words, Chun Yeowun responded casually.

“You don’t have to show me any gratitude. It was just preventing everyone in here from escaping.”

“What? What nonsense are...!?”

Swipe!

At that time, Lee Wook stopped speaking and looked at the wall with surprised eyes.

Noh Do-kyong, who was next to him, looked at the wall with bewildered eyes too.

‘What is that? That energy?’

All of a sudden, a lot of people were sensed from behind the wall.

It was then.

Step! Step! Step!

The sound of people stepping onto the outer wall of the castle.

The number of people who appeared seemed to be large. They soon appeared above the wall.

“H-how could this be?”

“Are they all from the cult?”

As shocking as it already was, they were all warriors in the realm of Master level.

From east to west, to south and to the north, all the members of the Demonic Cult surrounded the entire castle, the number itself looked to be three hundred.

At that time, the large man who was standing close to the bomb, shouted as if he waited for them to make an appearance.

“Being directly under the Lord and as his escorts of warfare, does it make sense for you people to be this late?”

“Wh-what was that?”

When it came to escort warfare, it worked directly under the Lord.

That meant, all the Master level warriors on the wall were here to kill everyone.

“You are being too mean. Is there any need for us to be with the Lord? Does that make sense?!”

Jump! Jump! Jump!

Five young men and women jumped from the wall of the castle along with a sarcastic voice.

The men and women who jumped down seemed to be nothing more than Master level warriors, but unlike their appearance, they seemed to be extremely trained in martial arts skills. After jumping down, they all approached the podium near Chun Yeowun and knelt. They then started shouting.

“Six Swords, Second Sword Mun Ku!”

“Six Swords, Third Sword Bakgi!”

“Six Swords, Fourth Sword Sama Chak!”

“Six Swords, Fifth Sword Hou Sanghwa!”

“Six Swords, Sixth Sword Che Takim!”

They were the Six Swords, Chun Yeowun’s personal warriors, who lead the members of the cult.

The large muscular man grinned at them, approached the Lord and then knelt as well.

“Six Swords, first Sword Ko Wanghur, greeting the Lord once again!”

The large man was Ko Wanghur.

All Six Swords of Chun Yeowun made their first appearance ever.

Thud!

When the Six Swords were done with their greeting, more than five hundred Master level warriors knelt down on one knee, right next to the wall, and shouted loudly.

“The warriors of the Demonic Cult greet their Lord!!”

“Woah!”

“What a sound!”

Everyone’s eardrums rang with the shouts.

The leaders of the Forces of Evil and Blade God Six Martial clan went stiff at the sound which vibrated the earth below their feet.

It wasn’t just the members of the cult who shouted.

And this was what shocked Nam Gung-kyong the most.

“Wh-what is this?”

The two hundred Guards, who were around the podium, and three thousand regular soldiers of the palace were all kneeling on one knee while looking at the Lord of the Demonic Cult, Chun Yeowun.

They all called themselves warriors of the demonic cult.

‘No way... are they all from the Demonic Cult?’

Everyone wondered why the guards and soldiers didn’t move when the eunuchs and Northern Commander ran out. To their surprise, they were members of the Demonic Cult!

“!!!”

Yi Mok and the leader of the Forces of Justice, who previously sympathized with Chun Yeowun, were also unaware of the fact; they couldn’t help but be stunned at the sight of the vast number of Demonic cult warriors.

‘He deceived us by dressing them up as Guards and soldiers?’

‘Ha! Is this why there was no battle when the Yellow River got blocked?’

No one expected it.

Who would have imagined that such a large number of cultists had already disguised themselves as officials.

They thought that the Lord of the Demonic cult was behind all the power, but their stance on that topic changed.

And the problem didn’t end there.

‘What is this energy?’

‘This energy!’

Unlike the others, Sword Master Lee Wook and Fire Sword Master Noh Do-kyung looked to the east gate side.

The reason was soon revealed.

Phat!

Eventually, from the wall of the east gate, an unusually large middle-aged man with two huge swords on his back slowly came down the castle wall by stepping on air.

‘Huh, Steps of the Wind god!’

Which meant that that man was no ordinary master.

That was when one of the leaders from Forces of Evil shouted in surprise.

“Martial Dual Sword!!!”

“Eiiik!”

Even he was shocked hearing others recognize him.

There would be those who don’t know him yet as they never saw his face, but there were people from the Yellow River in the castle.

“Martial Dual Sword, Wang Jing!”

Along with Yi Mok, the Great Leader of Yulin, Wang Jing was one of the five strongest warriors too.

In his peak time, when he was looking for the Yellow River Pirates, he single-handedly killed 3000 people.

“He, how is he... here?”

Gar Mojam of the 18 River families simply couldn't hide his shock.

Throb!

The left eyes, which he covered with a black patch, throbbed and the pain returned.

The Martial Dual Sword, Wang Jing, was the terrifying man who stole his left eye.

But why did he appear in the Jin Castle? He had nothing to do with the non-aggression treaty, so why?

‘He is one of the five strongest warriors, Martial Dual Sword! Why is he here?’

Shockingly, the members of Blade God Six Martial clan were in shock too.

Wooooo!

At that time, with terrifying energy exuding from dual swords, Wang Jing took huge strides towards Chun Yeowun.

Every leader of Yulin, who was behind Chun Yeowun, went stiff witnessing that.

At that moment, Wang Jing knelt down on one knee and greeted Chun Yeowun in a loud voice.

“At the command of the Lord, I came here as fast as possible.”

“!!!”

At the shocking words from Wang Jing, all the people of Wulin were shocked, except for the Demonic cult members.

‘Wh-what does this mean?’

Everyone was doubting their ears.

Martial Dual Sword, Wang Jing, a member of the five strongest warriors who had been in hiding for a long time turned into a subordinate of Chun Yeowun, the Lord of the Demonic Cult!

“Th-this is absurd...”

Nam Gung-kyong couldn't hide his shock.

Two of the five strongest warriors had taken the side of Chun Yeowun.

Chun Yeowun spoke with a low voice towards the Blade God Six Martial Clan, the Forces of Evil and all of the Yulin people who sided with the Forces of Great Heaven.

“I told you. No one will be able to escape from here.”

“!!!”

This was the reason why the northern gate was closed off too.

The eyes of Lee Wook, who ridiculed him a moment back, began to move around, his body trembling.

Although the bombing failed, he thought that he could still take down the Lord of the Demonic Cult, but they were deceived and they were the ones driven into a corner.

“This is going to be your grave.”

“Lord... of the Demonic Cult... woah!!!!”

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

Chun Yeowun’s lips curved into a smile and started the war with the most cynical words he could gather.

“The second-generation Chun Ma of the Sky Demon Cult, Chun Yeowun, commands. Kill everyone, leave no one alive!”

“Yeahhhhh!!!”

Chapter 393 - Second Generation Chun Ma (1)

Chapter 393: Second Generation Chun Ma (1)

The command which came out of the Lord of the Demonic Cult's mouth made all the people of Wulin gathered in the Jin Castle tremble.

Indeed, they came to know that his purpose was to annihilate everyone who was on the castle grounds.

The plan to drive the enemies into one place, which wasn't even in the domain of the Demonic Cult but in the realm of another faction wasn't just bold but simply terrifying.

'He's Chun Ma?'

On the other hand, the faces of the four leaders of the Forces of Justice and the Great Leader, who were on his side, were in shock.

They were shocked with his order to kill everyone in the castle grounds, but what shocked them even more was Chun Yeowun referring to himself as the second generation Chun Ma.

Chun Ma (Heavenly Demon)

There was not a single person in the entire Wulin who wouldn't know that name.

In the entirety of Wulin he was known to be one the "Four Great Warriors" along with Lone Supreme Warrior (Dokgo Gupae), Western Dharma and Jang Sambong.

Chun Ma is a legendary figure, who was known to be the strongest in the history of Wulin and the founder of the Demonic Cult.

Even though he pursued the path of demons and even when his reputation was overshadowed by the other factions, he was still the only one who shook the entire Wulin. There was no way anyone would deny that Chun Ma was a legendary figure.

Great Leader Yi Mok and the leaders of the Forces of Justice didn't know why Chun Yeowun was calling himself Chun Ma.

As far as they knew, the person named Chun Ma was a demon who walked like a king only to lose his way.

'Oh my... he called himself Chun Ma, is he also going to lose his way? Heavenly god!'

It was an unusual choice of word for the others.

One thing was certain to them, when looking at Chun Yeowun, they were constantly being reminded of the actions of Chun Ma, the original Lord.

“Waaahhhhhh!!!”

Watching the warriors of the Demonic Cult march forward, shouting about killing everyone, the warriors of the Forces of Evil, Blade God Six Martial clan and Forces of Great Heaven took out their weapons as well.

Chang! Chang! Chang!

The war, which consisted of the best from each faction, was no longer a war where only the leaders could be involved and ask the warriors to step back.

This was turning into a war which could have a profound effect on the balance of power in each faction in the future.

“Damn it!”

Even before the Lord of the Demonic Cult appeared, Gar Mojam of the Yellow River was worried that he would only get to take revenge on the Lord but not be able to damage the Cult.

However, now it turned into a nightmare for the 17 River families which had accompanied him into the war.

Woong! Woong!

Seeing the man wield two swords in both of his hands, he immediately remembered what happened in the past.

It was literally a slaughter.

With thousands of people along with him, and in just half a day, they were being driven into a corner by the Martial Dual Sword, Wang Jing.

Gar Mojam did grow when compared to the past, but the energy he was feeling from the war instilled fear in him.

“This is my first task.”

This was supposed to be Wang Jing’s first time working as someone’s subordinate.

He wondered what kind of battles would unfold while accompanying Chun Yeowun and when he would be summoned, but seeing this sight, he couldn’t help but feel satisfied.

He was given the chance to annihilate the remaining heads of the River families which had joined hands with the Forces of Evil.

“I’ll grab the leader first!”

Tak!

Wang Jing took a stance of javelin throw, and with all his might, he was ready to throw one sword to the place where Yellow River’s Gar Mojam was.

“Damn it! Is he aiming for the leaders right away?”

It was impossible for him to step back as there were subordinates behind him.

Gar Mojam gathered internal energy on the Water Dragon Sword.

Woong!

He was trying to look for the moment when the sword would come in contact with him and he already had a nervous expression, but someone blocked it for him.

‘?’

The back view showed a man with white hair and a red sword on his back.

He was Noh Do-kyung, one of the 6 Martial Masters of Blade God Six Martial clan.

Thanks to him, Wang Jing, who was about to throw his sword towards Gar Mojam, stopped.

“Phew...”

Gar Mojam, who was nervous, breathed out a sigh of relief without realizing.

Noh Do-kyung, who saved Gar Mojam from the crisis, began to release intense energy and spoke to Wang Jing.

“A man who aims for the weak to seem strong to others. Pathetic.”

Although he was a little mean, Gar Mojan couldn't help but frown at the words that called Wang Jing weak.

However, Noh Do-kyung wasn't concerned about it at all and gestured to the back to send a message.

[You should go and attack the podium by attacking with the remaining Yulin warriors who are divided into two groups. Leave this to me.]

There was no choice given.

Gar Mojam nodded his head and led the 17 River Families^{1*} and one hundred warriors and advanced towards the podium.

‘Is he one of the Six Martial Masters that the Lord spoke of?’

Wang Jing’s eyes sparkled.

A person who wasn’t the head of the clan, but one of the leaders, was in front of him.

Although he hasn’t competed with this man, Wang Jing knew right away that his ability was similar to his own.

“I never realized that there was such an old person in Wulin.”

“Huhuhu, you are a person who is valued. You are one of the Five strongest warriors of Wulin. Only as I grow old will I be able to overpower you.”

They were arrogant words wrapped up in a polite manner.

For a moment, neither of them spoke and they only looked at each other, not a single person took a step ahead.

They needed a proper provocation to move ahead.

“If you want a fight with a great opponent, how about you go fight with our Lord?”

At those words, the face of Noh Do-kyung went stiff.

He wanted to say something, he knew that he wouldn't win in a one-on-one battle with the monstrous Lord of the Demonic Cult.

“Your mouth is the only thing that is strong. Our Lord has something specifically prepared for him, so you will have to fight me!”

Clang!

Even before Wang Jing could complete his words, Noh Do-kyung's bright red sword reached for the head of Wang Jing.

There was no way that Wang Jing, who was in his best condition, couldn't prevent it.

Lightly raising his sword to the side, he managed to block the attack.

Kang!

'Surprise attacks don't work on him. This much was expected from one of the five strongest warriors.'

Keeeeeeek!

Wang Jing's greatsword shuddered.

Yet, he wasn't pushed back nor had he suffered any internal injuries.

'That power isn't normal.'

The two of them seemed to possess the same amount of power, which meant that their attacks would be nullified.

That meant they had no choice but to confront each other by using qi.

“Let’s do it right, old man!”

Lightly wielding the greatsword in his right hand, Wang Jing jumped for Noh Do-kyung.

Cha! Cha! Cha! Cha! Cha!

The true swordsmanship skill which was just as anyone would expect from one of the five strongest warriors, this man, Wang Jing, was wielding a greatsword as if he was holding onto a branch.

“Nice!”

Tatatak!

Perhaps he was too excited from seeing Wang Jing’s swordsmanship, that’s why Noh Do-kyung performed a unique foot work of the Extreme Art to avoid letting the sword get too close to him without moving more than three steps.

It was a risky gamble.

‘Is he that confident that he can avoid getting hit by my sword?’

Without such confidence, no man would have stayed in the same place.

However, Noh Do-kyung made the right choice.

The only weakness of the Martial Dual Sword, Wang Jing, was that he used greatswords as his weapon, which made it difficult to use sword qi in close distances.

‘This is going to be a close fight!’

Just the thought of it made a smile creep onto Wang Jing’s lips.

On the other hand, the Blade God Six Martial clan’s warriors and Forces of Great Justice were getting pushed back by the warriors of the Demonic cult, contrary to what they had planned.

Perhaps it was because of being with their Lord, but the morale of the warriors of the Demonic Cult seemed to have soared to the sky.

“Wahhhhhhh!”

Slash! Slash! Slash!

If it was Chun Yeowun alone, the opponents would have had an easy time to focus on him, but with his warrior's in front of him, it seemed like getting through them would be tough.

'Woah! You were well prepared, Lord of the Demonic Cult!'

Nam Gung-kyong's eyes raged in anger.

How did he even get the idea of bringing in his men disguised as officials of the palace?

His audacity made Nam Gung-kyong more furious.

'I need to pour all my power into my attacks to take down that guy...! Where is he though?'

Although it was a difficult battle, the plan to take down Chun Yeowun hadn't changed.

Just cutting down Chun Yeowun's head could change the entire scenario.

In order to do that, the Superior Master level warriors or clan heads had to move first.

“Move!”

Cha! Cha! Cha! Cha!

“Kuak!”

Nam Gung-kyong unleashed his flame sword and defeated the warriors of the Demonic Cult who rushed towards him.

In the meantime, he searched for the whereabouts of the other leaders of the Blade God Six Martial clan.

They were moving forward little by little too, but the leaders couldn't be seen.

Among the sounds of numerous people clashing, the exceptional sound of high level people clashing their swords caught his ears.

“Ah!”

When he turned to that place, the leaders of the Forces of Justice and other clan heads of the Yulin faction were colliding with the warriors of the Blade God Six Martial clan.

From the very beginning, the Yulin faction aimed to take down the Blade God Six Martial clan.

“Great Leader...”

Forces of Justice’s Great Leader, Yi Mok, was competing with the one called Lee Wook, who seemed like the one leading the Blade God Six Martial clan in the treaty.

As soon as war started, Yi Mok immediately moved to take Lee Wook as his opponent.

‘This is amazing!’

Indeed, he was one of the five strongest warriors of Wulin, who represented the Yulin.

The three Air Swords which Yi Mok was handling seemed effective in pushing back Sword Master Lee Wook.

Chachachachachang!

‘To create such formations using the Air Swords, he truly is a great man.’

Even Lee Wook, who was a master in controlling Air Swords, couldn't help but admire Yi Mok's skill.

It displayed his will as a leader, who wanted to end the battle to avoid any more unnecessary losses.

'But to act so hastily against me means you are being arrogant!'

Chachachachachang!

Sword Master Lee Wook created a net-like pattern to block the Air Sword. While raising energy in his left hand, he gestured the lift of something into the air.

Cracks formed on the ground and the energy around split the ground as the chunks of stones soared high at once.

Swoosh! Swoosh! Swoosh!

"Av-avoid it!"

It was so powerful that the leaders of the Forces of Justice and the others of the Blade God Six Martial clan, who were having their own battles in close by places, tried to avoid getting hit.

It was a technique where the force qi was used by those who reached the Supreme Master level.

‘Huh! Each of those stones is moving with the speed of a released cannon!’

When Yi Mok, who was a little startled, pushed his left hand, one of stones which was coming for him passed through the Air Sword and ended up cracking into multiple more rocks.

Swwosh!

Papapapak!

“Ugh? Those fragments too?”

“Urgh!”

The rock, which broke into multiple small fragments, showed incredible power. Enough to pierce into the bodies of nearby warriors.

“S-step back!”

“Don’t get near their battle!”

Warriors of both sides decided to move away from them at the same time. It was a high level battle which left viewers in awe.

‘Ha! Is this the level of the five strongest warriors?’

It could be said that their confrontation looked like past-human stage.

It was tough for someone who was having a confrontation with Yi Mok to help others in taking down the Lord of the Demonic Cult.

[Leader!]

At that time, the voice of Dang Pil-sun entered the ears of Nam Gung-kyong.

At a short distance away, Dang Pil-sun was standing there, and it could be said that they had advanced around fifteen steps closer to where the Lord of the Demonic Cult was standing.

[The Forces of Evil are now blocking the warriors of the Demonic Cult. This is the right time to hit their Lord!]

A voice filled with determination.

As Dang Pil-sun said, the Six Swords seemed busy fighting with the Yellow River members, Gar Mojam and the 17 River families which came from the west.

‘I thought they were nothing special, but I am impressed.’

Due to the nature of the Forces of Evil, Nam Gung-kyong thought that they wouldn’t move unless they were cornered.

Of course, Nam Gung-kyong didn’t know that the Forces of Evil just took the easiest person to deal with by leaving Wang Jing to Noh Do-kyung.

[Member of the alliance! You are not alone! Even after saying that to...]

[Where is the Divine Master? This is our chance to take him down. With a secret move we will aim for the Lord of the Demonic Cult!]

[Secret?]

The word secret made Nam Gung-kyung's eyes flutter.

It seemed like he was talking about the same secret that Dang Pil-sun was talking about before coming to Tongho.

Dang Pil-sun said that he was unmatched in terms of poison when compared to the Demonic Cult's Poison Clan head, Baek Oh.

'Is he trying to perform the 'Thousand Poison' Martial arts?!'

Thousand Poison Martial Arts.

The highest level for those who were learning poison arts.

When someone reached a state where that person could release poison from all over their body. However, there was known to be a limit as to how much the caster could endure.

[There is intangible poison in my hands.]

[Huh! You mean you managed to do it?]

[... there is only one bottle of poison left on me.]

It was no exaggeration to say that the intangible poison was the best poison produced by the Dang family.

This poison, which had neither a form, nor smell, nor taste was so powerful that once poisoned, even the Super Master levels warriors cannot help but die.

‘We are lucky that he didn’t leave it behind.’

Aside from its amazing power, it was likely that one would confuse it because of its colorless or odourless properties, so it was a forbidden poison that Yulin had decided to never use.

Its formula was extremely complicated and considered a secret.

Every poison samples and books regarding it had been discarded, but it was great that some kept that poison hidden.

[This is the last bottle I have left. I will risk my life to kill that Lord of the Demonic Cult and push him to the underworld. I hope God turns a blind eye to this.]

Nam Gung-kyong looked at Chun Yeowun, who was standing on the podium.

He was battling with the 7 members of the Blade God Six Martial Clan, who were using Seven Star Extreme Blade Art.

This was supposed to be a trump card prepared by the Blade God Six Martial clan and it was shocking how they were able to hold up well against Chun Yeowun.

‘Ah! This is our chance!’

When Chun Yeowun would turn tired, it seemed like using the poison of the Dang family was possible.

[... I get it.]

Nam Gung-kyong finally gave the permission.

As it was already known, he wasn’t in a position to kill the Divine Master at his level.

‘There is a chance since this is the intangible poison.’

If it was such a great poison, then it would surely be able to kill that monster on the podium.

However, the use of poison was considered as foul in Wulin.

This was the very reason why the five strongest warriors were chosen based on their ability to kill people with their own weapons. That was also why monsters like Baek Oh of the Demonic cult and the Dang family weren't recognized in Wulin.

'I will use this body to kill the Lord of the Demonic Cult! If that happens, then the name of my family will have to resonate within Yulin!'

Dang Pil-sun looked sad as he went close to the podium.

The closer he got, the more difficult his face seemed.

Not only the warriors of the Demonic Cult, but several other warriors were entangled in fights.

He was taking advantage of the gap and kept moving ahead.

'Nine steps.'

"Kuak!"

Chachachang!

‘Eight more steps.’

Dang Pil-sun moved forward as much as he could.

With minimal movement, Dang Pil-sun moved very slowly to avoid getting hit by the battles which were happening around him.

As a result, there were five steps left.

This was enough distance to use the intangible poison.

Even Nam Gung-kyong’s face was turning tense, holding his breath as he looked around at what was happening.

Gulp! Gulp!

Dang Pil-sun took out the vial from his pants and drank it at once.

It was something that normal people shouldn’t do, but he was someone who was accustomed to poison and his body was trained to fuse with the poison.

‘Wah! This is burning. Even though I am used to it, my body seems to be burning from inside.’

Such a thing was bound to happen since it was the strongest poison in all of Wulin.

Even if the poison fused with the body of Dang Pil-sun, it would still bring the death of any Divine Master.

“Ughhh!”

Shhhhhh!

Dang Pil-sun, who fused with the intangible poison, was screaming in pain.

The vicious poison was emanating from his body and purple energy flowed from his body.

Chhik!

“Kuak! Poi-poison!”

“Poison user!!!”

Even the warriors of the Demonic Cult who were trying to stop him were bewildered at the sudden energy coming out of Dang Pil-sun.

They couldn't let someone like him onto the podium.

At that moment, a swordsman rushed ahead and blocked the warriors of the Demonic Cult from coming ahead.

Swoosh!

Dang Pil-sun noticed it as Nam Gung-kyong, who was trying to pave the way to the Lord of the Demonic Cult, was coming forward to block the Demonic Cult's members.

[Go ahead! Become a hero!]

'Leader!'

Dang Pil-sun was moved by Nam Gung-kyong's act, without any hesitation, he moved towards Chun Yeowun, who was on the podium.

'I am sure to succeed!'

Psssssst!

His body was releasing so much poisonous energy that everything which came close to Dang Pil-sun's body was melting.

Even if he exploded, the explosion would cover up to a radius of ten meters.

"Huh?"

"A poison user?"

"Get away!"

Phat!

The 7 masters of the Blade God Six Martial clan and the Six Swords both looked towards Chun Yeowun, while the 7 masters of the Blade God Six Martial clan were slowly retreating.

That was the moment Dang Pil-sun had been waiting for.

Chun Yeowun, the Lord of the Demonic Cult, was standing there, waiting for his death.

Dang Pil-sun will remain in the hearts of everyone as a hero who contributed to the future of a fair Wulin.

“Lord of the Demonic Cult, for justice, you will have to go to the underw...!?”

Dang Pil-sun, who was screaming, went speechless.

Two steps away from the podium, he got lifted into the air by Chun Yeowun.

Floating!

“Wh-what is this?”

Chun Yeowun lightly waved his palm as if he blocked something and looked at the man.

Dang Pil-sun was so frustrated that he couldn't put it into words.

‘Da-damn it!’

He didn't think of this.

Who would have predicted that Chun Yeowun would hold him in mid-air!

The difference between their skills turned out to be too much.

‘This monster! Maybe I should blow myself up!’

Dang Pil-sun, who was flustered, tried to blow himself up!

“Are you thinking of committing suicide? I have already felt enough poison until now. You can go to the underworld all alone.”

“What?”

Jijijijik!

At that moment, his body began to grow cold.

“W-wait a moment, this...”

Krrr!

Before he could even finish what he wanted to say, Dang Pil-sun's body turned cold, as if trapped in ice.

When he was completely frozen, Chun Yeowun pushed the floating and ice cold body with his hand, as it moved with great speed and fell outside of the castle walls.

Swoosh! Bang! Crack!

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

The sound of something falling and exploding outside the castle was heard inside.

Nam Gung-kyong was at a loss for words as he looked at the black smoke rising outside the castle.

'Crazy bastard... how did this... happen... in this way...'

Editor Note

^{1*} = Previously known as “18 River families”. But remember, Yeowun and his group wiped out one of the families while trying to “rescue” the Godly Doctor’s granddaughter.

Chapter 394 - Second Generation Chun Ma (2)

Chapter 394: Second Generation Chun Ma (2)

Leader Nam Gung-kyong was dumbfounded.

Dang Pil-sun, who was determined to take Chun Yeowun down with him, died alone in vain.

What had happened was definitely a possibility, but who would have imagined that Dang Pil-sun would freeze and blow up?

‘What else does he know?’

This was a skill that the people of the North could do.

Occasionally, Nam Gung-kyong saw a few warriors with strong yin and yang handle such skills, but never did he think that Chun Yeowun, someone who was yin based, could do that.

Unfortunately for Dang Pil-sun, he ended up dead without achieving anything.

‘... he is a scary man.’

Nam Gung-kyong truly felt afraid of Chun Yeowun.

From being frozen to preventing a suicide by blowing himself up right in the midst of an ambush to being thrown out of the castle. Such tremendous ability to judge a situation.

‘If the poison had spread, I would’ve died a dog’s death.’

If Chun Yeowun had thought about his own safety first and pushed Dang Pil-sun away, Nam Gung-kyong would have gotten involved in the explosion. Then the poison would have also spread inside the castle.

‘That experience helped me.’

It wasn’t intentional, but Chun Yeowun was reminded of the time when he competed with Baek Oh.

Thanks to the spread of the poison, those who were witnessing the battle and the people of the Blade God Six Martial clan, who were fighting closely, retreated.

If the poison spread within the castle, it would have been a completely different fight.

‘Now there need to be three members of the Forces of the Great Justice organization left, including one called Hoe-ju.’

The organization was already small enough as is, and now one of its members just died.

Chun Yeowun looked for the next target, meaning Nam Gung-kyong, who was right in the middle of the grounds.

‘... is he aiming for the leader of the organization? Me?’

Nam Gung-kyong, who made eye-contact with Chun Yeowun, couldn't hide his confusion.

Chun Yeowun looked straight at him after killing one of the members. Nam Gung-kyong could feel his heart pounding for some reason.

‘No, it can't be...! Is he also aware of my position like the Blade God Six Martial clan...?’

That was impossible.

So why was Chun Yeowun looking at him?

At that moment, a strange energy began to rise behind Nam Gung-kyong.

‘This?’

Shocked at the sudden energy, Nam Gung-kyong turned his head back.

Behind him was a young man dressed in a blue hood in an imperial palace uniform.

It seemed like he was a warrior of the Demonic cult in disguise, just like Chun Yeowun.

Smirking, the man in the blue hood spoke to him.

“You are here! Hehe, I found you thanks to my Lord. Being called a leader of the Forces of Justice who is of high rank, but hides away in the midst of a battle?”

Chuk!

Nam Gung-kyong aimed for the man with his sword.

On the outside, the young man looked like nothing impressive, but the energy... The energy his body was emanating was telling him that this man was a Superior Master.

‘... who is he?’

Hu Bong figured out the name of the leader he was aiming at was Nam Gung-kyong of the Forces of Justice.

In a low-pitched voice and with a thumb pointing to his puffed-out chest, Hu Bong decides to introduce himself.

“Me? I’m Hu Bong.”

“Hu Bong?”

It was a name he was hearing for the first time.

Among the people of the Demonic cult, there were people called the Six Swords and they seemed to be introduced for the first time. This one seemed to be someone of importance in the cult too.

Of course, he was way higher than the Six Swords based on the energy he was emanating.

“I am the first subordinate of Chun Ma of the Sky Demon Order and the lieutenant of the escorts! Need to know something more? If so I will let you know!”

Whoop!

With those words, Hu Bong’s blade began to generate flames.

The flames were ominous and a foreign energy for Nam Gung-kyong.

It didn't seem like Hu Bong was a man who should be taken lightly just because he was young.

'If I am not careful, problems will occur.'

Nam Gung-kyong held the sword and looked at the man.

Papak!

Meanwhile, others appeared on the podium where Chun Yeowun was standing.

They were the seven masters of the Blade God Six Martial clan, who ran away sensing the poison from Dang Pil-sun.

Sadness was etched on their faces.

"I wanted those Yulin men to do something right. It was unfortunate."

One of the seven, Master Gye-sang, who came up on the podium, walked ahead while mumbling.

He was one of the people who hoped Chun Yeowun would die from the poison.

The poison emitted by Dang Pil-sun, who took the poison, was so strong that even they felt it was dangerous to stay close.

“I wonder if this is called fate. For us to fight a Divine Master with our own hands. Open formation!”

“Open formation!”

Pak!

When Gye-sang took the flag of their clan, the other six masters, who were with him, each took a different stance.

Seven Star Extreme Blade Art.

This was a formation made by the leaders of the clan.

This was a formation made to face the most skilful masters in the world. This formation was known to be sophisticated and it made the power of their attacks many times stronger than an individual who reached the Superior Master level.

The faces of the seven Masters were full of confidence.

Probably because they thought that they could fight Chun Yeowun on an equal footing.

‘I was nervous because he is a Divine Master, but this is the best. No, this formation, this attack deserves to be called as the strongest one ever!’

As the war began, warriors of the Blade God Six Martial clan were burdened by the orders from Sword Master Lee Wook.

Even the Supreme Masters in their clan were getting their asses handed to them by the Divine Master. It was questionable if they could even deal with Chun Yeowun on their own.

“Even if you are a Divine Master, you aren’t invincible!”

Chun Yeowun wasn’t as scary as they thought.

The fact that they could compete on equal footing with Chun Yeowun, a Divine Master, meant that they had a chance to defeat him.

“You talk a lot. Are you going to keep talking?”

Unshaken, Chun Yeowun asked him.

Gye-sang smiled at that and answered.

“I think we did take a long time. Let me tell you that what you see us do was just a prelude to this technique. I’ll show you the last and the strongest form of the Seven Star Extreme Blade Art!”

“Seven Star Extreme Blade Art!”

At the cry of Gye-sang, the other Superior Masters behind him seemed shocked.

Chun Yeowun’s eyes lit up.

‘This is not a formation.’

This time, it felt safe to assume that force qi was being used to attack him.

Chachachacha!

Until now, the seven of them were cleverly creating force qi and were combining their attacks into different attacks, however, this time, all their attacks seemed to merge into one and their power far surpassed the previous ones.

‘He barely stopped the attacks before. With this attack, the Lord of the Demonic Cult might be defeated!’

Their eyes were clouded in victory.

The blue qi with splendid trajectory showed no signs of any gaps whatsoever.

It was at that moment.

Creep!

Suddenly, foreign energy began to rise from Chun Yeowun’s body.

All their eyes narrowed to see what was happening.

‘Is it changing to black?’

The blue color on the sword Chun Yeowun was holding turned into a blackish color.

The black sword, which seemed to be demonic in nature, gave everyone an ominous feeling which couldn’t be expressed in words.

Chun Yeowun's body moved for the first time.

Swoosh!

"Ah!"

His form split into seven afterimages, exploiting the tiny gaps in their formation.

Chachachacha!

"Th-this makes no sense!"

"How is he doing this all at the same time?"

The seven masters, who witnessed that, were shocked.

The gap, which Chun Yeowun was exploiting with his black sword, was the space where the sword qi connected.

'We'll have to defend ourselves.'

If they did anything more than that they would end up widening the gap and their formation would be ruined.

The seven of them forcibly continued using the sword qi.

But,

Chachachachacha!

“Wh-what power!”

Something even more surprising happened.

The final formation of the technique began to emit twice as much as the initial power.

‘I feel like my hands are going to rip apart!’

But there was something that they couldn’t endure.

“Huh!”

Jeez! Clink!

Their right arm, which was their dominant arm, began to hurt and the sword in their hands began to crack and soon broke.

“Kuak!”

“Kuk!”

Crack!

Their swords breaking apart was one thing, but their bodies, which seemed to meet with the aftermath of using that formation, got thrown all over.

They were pushed to the walls on each side, and no matter how much they tried to defend against the onslaught of attacks, they coughed up blood.

“Ugh, how can the last formation break this easily?”

“Cough, cough... h-how could something like this happen? Until recently, we were on equal footing...”

In addition, the last formation was twice as powerful as the initial one.

Finding the gaps should have taken a lot of time, but Chun Yeowun didn't just find the gaps, he somehow destroyed them.

To the shocked warriors, Chun Yeowun spoke.

"It looks like you are mistaken about something."

"Mistaken about what?"

"You guys thought you were strong enough to deal with me because of that technique?"

"What?"

"There are two reasons why you couldn't deal with me."

"Two?"

"Well, it isn't like you need to know."

Chun Yeowun raised his left hand and shook it.

Then suddenly, a cold chill began to erupt and a sword made of transparent ice appeared in the air.

Jeezzz!

The sight itself shocked them.

“What is that?”

“What is...?”

Chun Yeowun waved another hand.

Flustered at what was happening, they hurriedly stood up, but even then, seven ice swords, which didn't exist until a moment ago, cornered them.

Float!

“Th-this is an Air Sword?”

They couldn't believe it.

Making Ice Swords was tough enough, but this man was using Ice Swords as Air Swords.

But more than that, these seven ice swords were cornering them, ready to take them down any second.

"Wh-what is he trying to do?"

Chun Yeowun's lips slowly turned into a smile and spoke to those who couldn't understand what was happening.

"Thanks to you, I learned a nice thing."

"Learned?... wa-wait a minute!"

Swoosh!

At that very moment, the ice swords floating around them moved with impeccable harmony.

The eyes of the seven masters of the Blade God Six Martial clan looked like they were going to explode.

“N... nonsense!!!”

Shockingly, it was the same formation they performed,
Seven Star Extreme Blade Art!

Seven icy swords spread out and laid up attacks one after another.

Slash! Slash! Slash! Slash!

“Kuakkk!”

“Agh! H-how could this happen!”

They all went stiff not knowing what to do. They even lost their swords as they broke down.

Their bodies, which were helpless and weaponless, were torn apart.

Tear!

What was even more frightening was that any cut through the ice sword made them feel pain and death at the same time.

[Terminating the system which combined the schematic of the Seven Star Extreme Blade Art.]

Pssss!

Along with Nano's voice in his head, the ice swords soon lost their color and collapsed.

The severed heads of the seven masters were so startled that all the heads had their eyes wide open.

'Since I already know the formation, I was able to learn it quickly.'

Chun Yeowun scanned the formation on the spot with the help of Nano.

Because of Nano there was no need for Chun Yeowun to use his strength, and when Nano would replay the formation, Chun Yeowun understood how the formation worked.

If Nano couldn't replay the schematic, it would have taken a long time for Chun Yeowun to learn it.

That was what Chun Yeowun was aiming for.

From the first time he saw them unfolding something new, he knew that formation was enhancing the force qi, which was why he deliberately fought them.

From the viewpoint of those who suffered this was nothing less than robbing the treasure.

“Woah!”

The battle of Chun Yeowun on the podium was witnessed by the others.

The Six Swords, Hu Bong and even the others who were fighting.

All of them had come from the Ten Thousand Mountains for the sake and wellbeing of their Lord.

The elders constantly advised him.

[Lord, you cannot always solve everything on your own. It isn't that you can't handle the enemy, but the warriors in our academy also need to gain practical experience.]

This was one of the reasons why Chun Yeowun battled with those seven masters of the Blade God Six Martial clan.

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

It was his intention to show his power and his form to the new warriors of the Demonic academy, as a means for them to see the war and gain experience first hand.

‘Right. One needs to be strong to follow the strong.’

Chun Yeowun’s lips formed into a smile as he looked at his Six Swords who were fighting in the middle of the battlefield.

Chapter 395 - Second Generation Chun Ma (3)

Chapter 395: Second Generation Chun Ma (3)

Clang! Clang! Clang!

Two people were fighting fiercely, colliding in the air about three times until they stepped on the ground.

They were Yi Mok, Great Leader of the Yulin and Sword Master Lee Wook.

Their actions and their movements seemed to be at such a high-level that everyone acknowledged them as Supreme Masters.

In close distance, they would use their weapons to strike each other and when the distance grew between them, they would use Air Swords to constantly collide, making everyone break out in cold sweat.

“Phew... phew...”

Sword Master Lee Wook was gasping for air.

It was a short battle, but there were a few attacks that were directly aimed at him to take his life.

‘I thought that even if you were one of the five strongest warriors he wouldn’t be this tough of an opponent, but his skills are worthy of his reputation.’

Lee Wook calmly analyzed the current confrontation.

In close combat, even though he was using the Extreme Art of Blade God, he was being pushed back. And when he tried to corner Yi Mok with force qi and Air Swords, Lee Wook was the one getting close to being killed.

‘I’ll have to take my chance with close combat.’

Although the defense of Yi Mok seemed great, it seemed to be a level lower than Lee Wook’s.

This was going to be a fight of stamina.

Lee Wook would have to deal with Yi Mok quickly so he could join in and help the seven masters who he sent to deal with Chun Yeowun.

However, something unexpected happened.

‘What?’

Sword Master Lee Wook's expression hardened.

A short distance away, he watched the battle between Chun Yeowun and the seven masters who were supposed to be working together.

'No way!'

Suddenly, he saw pieces of Ice on the podium.

There was something on the podium that he recognized, the head of one of the masters.

'Did he defeat all seven of them?'

Lee Wook was well aware of how great the Seven Star Extreme Blade Art was, as he personally competed with those 7.

Even though he knew the schematic for making it work, he found it hard to tackle the technique no matter how much he tried.

'Shit! We are in trouble!'

The fact that the seven of them were defeated meant that there was no one else in the Jin castle to keep Chun Yeowun in check.

Sword Master Lee Wook, who was in shock, made a decision.

‘This isn’t the time for me to lament.’

Two of their tricks ended up getting broken and they were left with the last trick.

And the last trick had to be used when the Forces of the Great Heaven’s organization and the Forces of Evil were still high in number.

“Where are you looking at with the other eye?”

After those words three Air Swords came in fast.

“Huh!”

Papapak!

Sword Master Lee Wook quickly created a curtain of force qi, blocked the Air Swords and shouted at the people in the castle.

“Implement the other strategy!”

“Yes!!!”

The moment his command fell, the eyes of the surviving sixty five warriors of the Blade God Six Martial clan, who were competing with Yulin and the Demonic Cult, began to turn red and the muscles of the whole body began to swell as well.

Tuktuktuktuk!

The clothes on the upper body started being ripped apart and their body stature was close to the one of a giant.

Rather than human beings they looked more like monsters. That was noticeable from anywhere on the battlefield.

“Huh? Th-this is?”

“Blood Reversion Art?”

Flustered by the sudden change, the other warriors began to keep their distance from the warriors of the Blade God Six Martial clan.

‘Blood Reversion Art? No, this is different.’

There were warriors in the Demonic Cult who experienced the Blood Reversion Art with their very own eyes.

Their veins didn’t pop out and neither were these warriors crying out like beasts.

This was the Completed Blood Reversion Art.

‘Is this their hidden trump card?’

Nam Gung-kyong, who was fighting with Hu Bong, also sensed the change in the castle grounds.

‘That man is quite clever.’

Their hidden trump card is similar to his.

Nam Gung-kyong’s eyes narrowed.

The fact that the Sword Master of the Blade God Six Martial clan used this meant that they were at a disadvantage in this war.

Which meant that there was no need for him to save his hidden trump card either.

“It isn’t over yet! Hup!”

‘A truly tenacious one!’

Strictly speaking, Hu Bong was one level lower than him.

And it hasn’t been long since Hu Bong took a step forward. Only after taking in the fire did changes occur. He didn’t have any practice fights to understand his newly found skills, yet, he was trying his best to be on the same level as Nam Gung-kyong.

Chachachachak!

Nam Gung-kyong’s sword was keeping Hu Bong in check, who was rushing in like a crazed man.

He was too excited with the level up.

Cha!

“Euk!”

Nam Gung-kyong’s sword passed through Hu Bong’s thighs as he couldn’t defend himself.

Thanks to that, Hu Bong’s movements slowed down a bit.

‘This is the time!’

Nam Gung-kyong took a flute which was hanging around his neck and blew into it.

He blew it hard.

Beeeeeeeeeeeeeeeeeeeeek!

“Ah!”

As the sound of the flute resounded throughout the battlefield, some of the heads of the factions, who joined the organization, took out something they prepared in advance.

The sound of the flute was a signal to initiate the plan.

Their hands held a needle and after taking a deep breath, they pierced a specific blood vessel between their back and neck.

“For the clear blue sky!”

Puck!

“Kuak!”

“What are these men doing?”

The act of stabbing themselves in the middle of a fight was strange to see.

Even though they thought that it was a strange act, the warriors of the Demonic Cult didn't miss the opportunity to attack them.

Slash!

While the members of the organizations were momentarily stiff, many of them got stabbed.

But something even more shocking happened.

Those who were cut by the swords didn't seem to feel any pain, or was that simply their way to handle the pain?

Moreover, their movements seemed to differ from the previous.

Not only were they more agile, but their physical strength seemed to have doubled. It was to the point where every strike was aiming to cut someone done.

Clang! Clang!

"H-how did they get stronger so suddenly?"

"What are they doing?"

After stabbing their necks, they seemed like completely different people.

Even more frightening than being strong was to not feel any pain.

Slash!

“I-I cut his arm too!”

Even when an arm was cut off, the members of the Forces of Great Heaven attacked without any changes in their expression.

Not only did they not feel any pain, but they turned fully expressionless. As if their emotions disappeared, they were making it seem like they were fighting a non-human being.

‘They plagiarized our skill!’

Seeing that, Crazy Sword Master Cha Yunkang, who was fighting with the Great Guardian Marakim, went stiff.

What was theirs seemed to be used by the Forces of Great Heaven.

“They did something interesting.”

The corners of his mouth rose.

This was supposed to be a technique which made the body capable enough to artificially perfect their clans teachings which exceeded the limits of the human body.

And the ones who managed to master it were the Six Martial Masters of the Blade God Six Martial clan and the Blade Lord.

The Forces of Great Heaven had stolen a relic by 'that man' which held the secret to using this technique.

'Do they not feel pain anymore?'

Moreover, it seemed like an improved version, a perfect weapon for killing.

A monster which had no emotions.

'Great. If we get out of this war safely, we can rip this art from them.'

That definitely were some good news.

Cha Yunkang pointed to the changing situation with his left hand.

"Can you see that? This is just the beginning. Now you will witness my true power. From now on, it's going to be a slaughter. Kuakuakauk!"

Marakim's eyes narrowed through his mask.

He did guess that some hidden cards must have been there for the Blade God Six Martial clan and the divided Yulin, but he never guessed that they would use humans as weapons.

This situation made him lose a little bit of confidence.

In that moment, Marakim's mind perceived a message.

[Great Guardian, practical experience for the warriors ends here.]

It was Chun Yeowun's voice.

Marakim, who heard the message, couldn't help but chuckle.

"Right. I need to make sure that the slaughter happens through my hands."

"What nonsense... huh?"

The puzzled expression of Cha Yunkang turned to the air.

Something felt odd, someone seemed to have stepped into the air.

The person was the Lord of Demonic Cult, Chun Yeowun.

“No!”

There was no way others wouldn't notice him.

“Wind God Step Skill!”

Woong!

He was unfolding the Wind God Step Skill which was known to be close to divinity.

It was something that anyone who reached Supreme Master level could do, but if you go one step further,

“Woah!”

“He's practically floating in the air!”

Chun Yeowun, who reached the middle of the Jin castle in the air, was floating.

More like flying in the sky.

This seemed different from the level of walking or using air for balance with internal energy.

Captivated by the feeling, Sword Master Lee Wook stopped his fight with Yi Mok for a moment and lashed out.

“Lord of the Demonic Cult! You bastard! What are you planning on doing?”

Papapapak!

Sword Master Lee Wook swung his left hand and fragments of rocks flew towards Chun Yeowun who was in the air.

However, the fragments flying towards Chun Yeowun stopped and then fell to the ground as if they lost power.

He reached out his hand and every fragment stopped.

Tututututk!

‘Why is it not working?!’

Lee Wook was proud of his skills, but no matter what he did, it didn't work for Chun Yeowun.

It was as if every attack that was connected with force qi was being eroded.

Chun Yeowun opened his mouth, looking down at Lee Wook and the other warriors and said.

"You brought this upon yourselves."

"We what?"

Everyone seemed puzzled at the cynical words of Chun Yeowun, who seemed to be in anger.

What the hell was he trying to do from the middle of the castle?

Drrrrr!

"Wh-what is that?"

"It is shaking."

A strong vibration on the ground.

At that moment, normal warriors, who were exhausted and had fallen to the ground, had their weapons raised into the air.

“Ehhhh!”

Everyone was shocked looking at how the warriors’ weapons were rising into the air.

But that wasn’t the end.

“Eeeiik!”

Among the warriors, there were the Forces of Great Heaven, the Forces of Evil and the North Justice Blade, they were shaking and trying to get their weapons back into their hands.

“Eiikk!”

“My-my sword!”

Those with high skills held onto their weapons, but those who were mere beginners lost their weapons.

Around two hundred people's weapons were floating in the air.

The appearance of the warriors' weapons floating in the castle was nothing short of a spectacular sight.

"Oh my god!"

"They... are really all...?"

Everyone turned still. The weapons of the warriors soon began to be controlled like Air Swords. That occurrence made people forget about the battles they were in.

Everyone looked at the sky and no one took another step.

Thud!

'No! impossible. Even if he is at Divine Master level, not a single person can use more than a dozen Air Swords.'

Sword Master Lee Wook shook his head.

It was only a waste of energy to control so many weapons in the air.

Who would be able to stop the attack from weapons which would suddenly come from the air?

“The swords will drop! Defend yourself with everything!”

At the shout of Lee Wook the warriors of the Blade God Six Martial clan, as well as the warriors from other factions, held their weapons tightly.

Chun Yeowun looked down at the people on the castle grounds and ordered Nano.

‘Nano, target designation.’

[Enable Multi lock on system.]

Numerous red shaped lines formed in Chun Yeowun’s augmented reality and Nano’s voice resonated in his head.

Pip pip pip pip pip pip pip!

When all the targets got locked onto, Chun Yeowun raised his internal energy.

That was when something happened.

Woah! Woah!

Gasps erupted from everywhere.

“Th-that’s ridiculous!”

“The, these are all... all Air Swords?”

Just controlling one sword was amazing enough already, but 200 swords in the sky at the same time was like a constellation twinkling in the sunlight.

“Is... is he even human?”

The leaders of the Forces of Justices, heads of the Yulin clans, even Yi Mok looked up in the sky in shock.

Looking at the Forces of Evil, Blade God Six Martial clan and Forces of Great Heaven’s organization, who were looking up,

Chun Yeowun spoke.

“I have a name for this one.”

“?”

“Sky Flash.”

“Sky... flash? Wait... no!”

Lee Wook shouted with anxiousness on his face.

Chun Yeowun’s hands slowly pointed to their direction.

Swoosh! Swoosh!

At that moment, the eyes of the Wulin people who were in the castle looked into the sky to see the numerous swords.

This wasn’t a technique.

This... power, which unfolded with two hundred swords, was, to their surprise, the most powerful sword attack, Sky Flash.

The swords, which filled the sky of Jin Castle, fell down like raindrops and in an instant, the castle seemed to be covered with light.

Bababang!

“This is crazy!”

“Av-avoid it!”

“Run away!”

Screams and shouts from all over the castle grounds could be heard, but it soon turned into wails.

“Kuakkk!”

“Arghh!”

The phrase “lighting up” wouldn’t be enough.

As Chun Yeowun named it, it was like a Sky Flash, a small beam of light that shined and killed everything the very next instant.

As shocking as it was, the swords only rushed towards the enemies.

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

Kwakwakwakwang!

As he watched the enemies being torn apart right in front of him, the Great Leader, Yi Mok mumbled with gleaming eyes.

“Ah, he... he is Chun Ma... THE Chun Ma has returned.”

Chapter 396 - Second Generation Chun Ma (4)

Chapter 396: Second Generation Chun Ma (4)

Kwakkwakwang!

The entire castle grounds seemed to be colored blue.

The power of the Air Swords that fell from the sky were more like a meteor shower in bringing destruction than anything else.

The destruction was so large that all of the Yulin clans, the Forces of Evil, the Blade God Six Martial clan and even the people of the Demonic Cult couldn't help but be in awe.

“Kyak!”

“Is-is this really power coming from a human?!”

“Help me!”

The Forces of Evil, who were relatively weak, were in a mess.

Every single time the blue light sword descended from the sky it blew up the ground. Their people were either hurt or had their bodies shattered to pieces.

“Defend! Defend yourselves!”

The 17 River families, including Gar Mojam, who led the troops shouted, but it was to no avail.

The power emitted by the Divine Master seemed to be on a whole different level from what they had imagined.

“Ma-master! We need to run for it! Th-that man is a monster...”

Bang!

One of the 17 River families, who advised Gar Mojam to escape, were hit by the Sky Flash technique and disappeared in an instant.

Puck!

Gar Mojam's face flushed red while looking at the bloodshed around him.

What he was facing was truly a force beyond the realm and capabilities of human beings.

"Huh?"

Pajack!

"Kuak!"

He hurriedly avoided the Sky Flash Air Sword that was coming for him. He tried to defend himself with his sword, but his two hands, which were holding onto the sword, began to hurt as if they were about to crack from inside.

'Wh-what power is this?'

Comparing that power to a regular technique seemed wrong.

Each attack of the Sky Flash Air Sword had the power to annihilate the head of elite warriors in a single shot.

Gar Mojam was truly frightened.

Even if Chun Yeowun was at the Divine Master level, the assumption that three forces joining hands would be enough to subdue Chun Yeowun was a clear misunderstanding on their part.

‘... this monster can annihilate everyone in this place.’

He wasn’t sure if another Divine Master could do it.

But witnessing Chun Yeowun’s power, it seemed more than possible.

The slaughter that was happening inside the castle grounds was enough proof of that.

Warriors were dying helplessly due to the non-stop rain of swords. Only those who were at the Superior Master level or above seemed to have a chance.

‘Di-did we touch a monster that shouldn’t have been touched?’

Crack!

“Kuak! Do-does this much power even make sense?!”

Nam Gung-kyong of the Forces of Great Heaven couldn't help but be shocked by the Air Swords that were coming for them.

Even he, who had reached Superior Master level, could barely block it.

Even more shocking was this,

Swoosh! Bang! Bang!

“Move away! If you get too close you will be hit!”

“Crazy! How can one avoid the Air Swords that are chasing us?!”

“Kuakk!”

More than two hundred Air Swords poured down on the enemies as if it was snowing.

It was as if two hundred warriors were handling the swords for their leader.

‘This is a technique where the Air Sword and the force qi turn into one. No matter how skilled he is, how can he control so many at once?’

Conceptually it was impossible.

It was all Nano’s computing that made this possible.

The combination of a Multi-lock-on and a panel based system on the computation power of Nano, which was known to be the future of aggregate technologies, has helped in evolving the Air Sword technique into a truly disastrous level.

‘It is fortunate that we don’t feel any pain.’

As they managed to remove the sense of pain and emotion, they were able to move regardless of any injuries.

Bang!

In fact, even though their limbs were cut off, the speed at which the people pierced the back of their necks with needles didn’t change.

But,

‘Nano. Aim for their heads.’

[Understood. Specified the detailed parts of the targets as headshots.]

The beams of the force qi aimed for their heads.

Even those who were unable to feel any pain got their heads blown away. As they weren’t immortal, they simply died off without being able to do anything.

Bang! Bang! Bang!

The bodies of those who lost their heads staggered a couple more steps and then helplessly fell to the ground.

“H-he is aiming for the heads!”

Nam Gung-kyong’s expression distorted.

By now, more than half of them had turned into corpses already.

As a result, things changed.

‘It can’t be... are they all afraid?’

Just because one couldn’t feel pain didn’t mean that all their cognitive abilities were clouded.

It would be even stranger if they wouldn’t be scared despite knowing that they were all going to be killed.

Hu Bong walked in front of Nam Gung-kyong.

Seeing how happy he looked, it seemed like he was proud of Chun Yeowun’s thrilling display of power.

“I have to finish my task too!”

Slash!

“N-now isn’t the time for..!”

Pak!

Nam Gung-kyong defended himself from the flying Air Sword.

He was too nervous and angry at the Sky Flash Air Sword, but he didn’t even have a second to breathe.

However, even Hu Bong was attacking him now.

Despite that situation, Nam Gung-kyong, who was angry at the change in battle and the man who was aiming for him, performed a Special^{1*} Sword technique, which was close to completion.

Chow chow chow!

It was then,

Creep!

A blue force swept down the head of Nam Gung-kyong who was gathering energy.

Nam Gung-kyong used his sword to block Hu Bong's flame sword, not even giving him a single break.

"You coward!"

Chachachachang!

Hu Bong's flames had nothing to do with his internal energy as they were his natural energy which made it much easier for him to wield the sword without getting exhausted.

In an instant, Nam Gung-kyong's left arm flew off when Hu Bong used his Sword of Illusion.

"Kuak!"

Nam Gung-kyong, who had never been defeated in his life, was defeated by Hu Bong who was a level lower than him. His face was red in shame.

Meanwhile, Lee Wook, one of the Six Martial Masters, couldn't help but be astonished by the Sky Flash Air Swords technique.

'What the hell is all of this?'

It was a situation he couldn't understand, even though he had mastered martial arts and force qi too.

It was shocking how accurate the swords were falling on Chun Yeowun's enemies without a single mistake while also accurately aiming for the heads.

Bang! Bang! Bang!

“Argh!”

“Kuk!”

Even those who used the Blood Reversion Art were no different from the Forces of the Great Heaven’s warriors who got their heads destroyed at once.

However, the only difference was that those of the Supreme Master level, who had great internal energy due to their constant training, were able to stand their ground unlike the Superior Master warriors.

Swoosh!

“Spread away and stop it!”

They were struggling while blocking the swords falling from the sky.

If there were no other enemies, the damage would have been minimal.

But with the leaders of the Forces of Justice from Yulin taking the Demonic Cult’s side and attacking them without missing the opportunity, the extent of the damage only increased.

“Lord, help me to get rid of the enemies!”

“Wahhh!!!”

Because of that, their morale rose and they ended up turning it into a battle that couldn't be compared with anything. It was more of a slaughter than a battle.

The strong smell of blood filled the castle ground.

‘If things go on like this, we will be annihilated. Our plans have already been unsuccessful. Should we retreat to avoid any further sacrifices?’

Sword Master Lee Wook wasn't sure on what had to be done.

Even if they left the Jin Castle now, they would only be able to save minimum power.

It was then.

“!!!”

Lee Wook's eyes narrowed at the sudden scream in the midst of the battlefield.

At first, he was shocked to see the non-human ability that the Lord of the Demonic Cult was displaying, a power he couldn't ever hope to stand up against, but then an idea struck him.

'Even if he is a Divine Master, there is a limit as to what a human can do.'

Even he, who, in order to use 12 Air Swords, would shorten the distance to have control over them for a longer period of time.

Now Chun Yeowun was using amounts of Air Swords that were ten times the actual number, which consumed a terrifying amount of energy.

Kwakwakwa!

The entire castle grounds were destroyed.

He already killed half of the number of warriors, so Chun Yeowun might be soon reaching his limit.

'Now now... if I hold on a little longer, I may have the chance to aim for the life of that monster. If not now, when else would I have the chance to kill him?’

The only chance for a turnaround.

It completely changed his thoughts about retreating.

‘I need the consent of the other Sword Masters too.’

Cha Yunkang was dealing with the Dark King, Marakim, when he sent a telepathic message to Lee Wook.

[Sword Master Lee Wook, if things go like this, we will be annihilated. Even if we are being reprimanded, the only way to survive this situation is to collect our men and retreat right away.]

[... that monster is much stronger than us.]

They knew that the plan would completely fail.

[There still is a way.]

[What way?]

At Lee Wook's statement, the other two Masters asked with a questionable expression what he meant.

Although sacrifices seemed reckless and inevitable, if the plan worked and made sense it would be a big achievement nonetheless.

[If we fail this time, do you think we will be able to defend ourselves any longer?]

[Hmm...]

Even with his Divine Master level, no matter how skilled Chun Yeowun was, he was bound to run out of strength sooner or later.

The cautious one, Noh Do-kyung, didn't like the idea, but Cha Yunkang agreed with the plan immediately.

'Good!'

Lee Wook was pleased after receiving their consent.

“Keep going!! No matter how long, you must endure this!”

“Yes!”

He tried his best to boost the morale of the warriors who were barely holding on.

It was his role as a representative of the Blade God Six Martial clan.

To maintain morale in the face of despair.

Kwakwakwakwang!

By the time it came to an end,

A change occurred inside the castle grounds, which were so destroyed that it was impossible to recognize them.

The swords, which were aiming for the heads and were shining like stars in the noon sky, lost their power.

Taptaptapap!

There was only one explanation for it.

‘Finally!’

Chun Yeowun, the Lord of the Demonic Cult, the Divine Master, has finally exhausted his internal energy.

Lee Wook’s eyes flashed at the opportunity.

The eyes of the surviving enemies inside the castle soon looked at Chun Yeowun who was floating in the air.

Swoosh!

Chun Yeowun began to reach the ground as if he couldn’t float in the air any more.

It was then.

Pat! Pat! Pat!

“Ah!”

The warriors of the Demonic Cult shouted in shock.

“Lord!”

“Don’t! it’s too dangerous!”

Three people suddenly rushed towards Chun Yeowun who stopped floating and came back to the ground.

The three Sword Masters of the Blade God Six Martial clan, who were waiting for Chun Yeowun’s internal energy to get exhausted, used this opportunity to finally kill the Lord of the Demonic Cult.

‘Huh! Were they aiming for this moment?’

Yi Mok wondered if this was why they didn’t retreat even though they were in a very unfavourable situation.

He was desperately holding onto the battle while avoiding getting hurt, so while waiting for Lee Wook to give his best, Lee Wook’s goal had always been the death of the Lord of the Demonic Cult.

‘He must have been arrogant thinking he was invincible!’

‘I have been waiting for this moment!’

‘Lord of the Demonic Cult, you need to die here!’

The three Sword Masters were ready to kill him at any point and time.

It was this exact moment they had been waiting for. Their only chance to kill the Lord of the Demonic Cult!

Chachachacha!

They began to raise their internal energy, ready to take on any form to kill Chun Yeowun.

‘Ah?’

However, among the three, Noh Do-kyung, who was aiming for Chun Yeowun, noticed something.

Chun Yeowun, who should have been at least a little worried, was actually smiling.

‘He’s smiling?’

It didn’t feel right.

This was supposed to drive Chun Yeowun into a corner, so why was he smiling?

Noh Do-kyung, who got worried, was about to warn the other two, when Chun Yeowun spoke to them.

“Did you think that you’d have the chance to kill me once I exhausted my energy?”

‘How did he know that?’

All three of them were surprised.

In front of their bewildered eyes, something even more surprising happened.

An ominous energy began to rise from Chun Yeowun’s body, causing a shiver to run down their spines.

Swoosh!

At that moment, Chun Yeowun’s left hand brought out a Cold Ice Sword and his right hand held a Flame Sword.

The moment the swords came into view, the three of them said the same thing.

“Invisible Sword!!!”

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

What Chun Yeowun had just displayed, who was believed to have exhausted his strength, was the legendary Invisible Sword which only a Divine Master can unleash.

‘Shit! Did he fool us?’

Editor Note

^{1*} = Important! We decided to change the original name to “Special Sword Technique” because the original name could lead to confusion. The original name is “Black Sword technique” and we were worried that confusion may arise because the word “Black” is usually associated with very special techniques in this Novel. We believe the Author’s choice wasn’t the best, so we decided to stick with “Special” as that technique isn’t giving the story any relevancy anyways.

Chapter 397 - Second Generation Chun Ma (5)

Chapter 397: Second Generation Chun Ma (5)

Sword Master Lee Wook's judgement was correct.

Even if one was a Divine Master, as long as he was a human, there was a limit to what he could do.

It was normal for one, even for a Divine Master, to end up opening a gap when all the internal energy was exhausted.

If it went according to plan, this could be their big win.

Except that there were two things he hadn't guessed correctly.

'This unbelievable amount of internal energy! Does this mean that this much amount of internal energy is left despite firing all those Air Swords for an extended period of time?'

The amount of internal energy possessed by a Divine Master, which was vaguely speculated by Sword Master Lee Wook, was not even comparable to the Supreme Master level.

This was because the internal energy in Chun Yeowun seemed different.

To be able to hold the Air Swords and control them with that accuracy made everything seem weird already.

That was why they aimed for the moment when Chun Yeowun would stop using the Sky Flash Air Sword.

“Did you think that you’d have the chance to kill me once I exhaust my energy? Fools.”

‘Ugh, this guy! Does this mean that he only pretended to exhaust his inner strength?’

This plan was supposed to be excellent, but Sword Master Lee Wook didn’t realize that someone could fool him too.

Shockingly, Chun Yeowun deliberately acted like that to deceive them.

‘No! Was he trying to take advantage of this situation?’

‘Wh-what kind of man is he?’

They never imagined that, even in such a situation, he would try to deceive them.

It was like Chun Yeowun was looking into their minds.

What was more dangerous than the strong people were the ones who were not only strong, but also intelligent.

And recently, the cause for all their failures ended up being this one person only.

‘This guy is way too dangerous!’

For a brief moment that was what passed through their minds.

However, even if they realized it, the invisible sword of force qi, which was radiating black flames and black ice, was already ready to attack the 3 Martial Masters.

Hweeeeing!

Jeezz!

In the end, there seemed to be no escape.

They had no other choice but to face the legendary invisible sword.

‘Kuk! Nothing more we can do about it! Even then!’

In terms of power, there was bound to be a difference, but they prided themselves for possessing and surpassing the Extreme Martial Body.

Even in the battle’s before, one of the five strongest warriors, Yi Mok, was also pushed back.

“Haaa!”

Aiming at Chun Yeowun’s feet, Noh Do-kyung unfolded Blade Ascension, a technique of the Blade Art. Crazy Sword Master, Cha Yunkang, unfolded his Sword Strike, one of the most extreme moves. And Sword Master Lee Wook aimed for Chun Yeowun’s heart with the fifth formation of the Extreme Art of Blade God.

Chachachacha!

“Su-such speed!”

“Were such skills ever existent before?”

The techniques were so eye-catching that everyone was amazed by it.

These were the supposed techniques of the Blade God, who was known to be the best in all of Wulin.

Even within the warriors of the Blade God Six Martial clan, the only ones who had properly mastered the essence of the Blade God were the Six Martial Masters and the Blade Lord.

The power they were wielding in their hands right now was difficult to compare to what they used before.

But still,

‘Is he using different forces of qi with both hands?’

The eyes of the three Sword Masters, who were in a desperate situation, went wide.

Shockingly, the black ice sword in Chun Yeowun’s left hand and the black flame sword in his right hand were made of different force qi.

Moreover, the black ice sword on his left hand felt familiar for some reason.

“!?”

The technique unfolding in Chun Yeowun's left hand was the Extreme Blade Art.

This was something Lee Wook had learned his whole life, there was no way he wouldn't recognize it.

'No way!'

'H-how can that guy use this technique?'

They couldn't help but be shocked.

It wasn't someone else, but Chun Yeowun, the Lord of the Demonic Cult, who was displaying the Extreme Blade Art.

It even seemed more vigilant than when they were using it.

The three Masters were shocked when the swords from Chun Yeowun came for them.

"Kuk!"

Chachachacha!

The force qi attacks, which were performed by all of them, clashed violently.

Everyone in the Jin castle held their breath and watched the confrontation.

The Divine Master vs the three Supreme Masters.

The confrontation between superhumans, which couldn't be seen anywhere else, was unfolding in front of their eyes.

What would the results be?

'Wh-what the hell is this?'

However, before long, the three Sword Masters were turning tired.

Weird things were happening while they unfolded their force qi.

Cha Yunkang, who was tackling the Black Ice Sword, would suddenly freeze.

Jrrrrrk!

'What kind of cold qi is this?'

It was cold enough to halt his movements.

Not just that, Lee Wook and Noh Do-kyung seemed to be having trouble with the Black Flame Sword.

‘Is this really a type of sword qi?’

Noh Do-kyung, who was skilled in fire qi, tried to create fire, but his fire was nothing in comparison to the black flame.

Chachachang!

Although they had fallen into Chun Yeowun’s trap, they were still three of the Six Martial Masters who predicted that they would have an equal chance of killing Chun Yeowun if they worked together.

However, conflicting results clearly showed them the difference between a Divine Master and Supreme Master level warriors.

Before they could even grasp the situation, changes were constantly taking place.

“Avoid it!”

Lee Wook urgently shouted at Cha Yunkang.

Constantly freezing the attacks from Cha Yunkang with the ice, Chun Yeowun's Black Ice Sword almost cut his head off.

"Ugh!"

Flustered, Cha Yunkang quickly moved to the left, but his reactions were already slowing down.

Chun Yeowun's Black Ice Sword dug right into his right shoulder.

Puck!

"Cough!"

Blood gushed out of Cha Yunkang's mouth.

A very chilling cold penetrated his shoulder. The piercing cold felt more like a cut than anything.

He desperately wanted to get out of there, move away and create some distance, but he simply couldn't.

Jeeerrrrk!

“Ahhhhh!”

A scream erupted from Cha Yunkang. The sword, which pierced his shoulder, suddenly cut his upper body in half.

Split in half in such a dreadful manner, his body fell to the floor.

Crack!

Shockingly, the body of Cha Yunkang froze and shattered into ice cubes as it touched the ground.

‘Kuk! This man is acting nothing like a human!’

Lee Wook began to rethink his plan.

What was supposed to be balanced by the three of them now turned into a battle of two, one of them dead. There was no way they could handle a Divine Master now.

“You shouldn’t look elsewhere in a battle.”

“What?”

Puck! Fire!

“Ugh!”

The Black Flame Sword pierced Noh Do-kyung’s left thigh. It was burning away the flesh by releasing black smoke.

‘I am not able to put out the flame!’

He tried raising his internal energy and focused on his thigh, but instead of driving out of the flame, it seemed like it was alleviating the pain.

‘This is messed up! We can’t fight this monster. We can only escape from here.’

Due to the burning pain, Noh Do-kyung came to the conclusion that he couldn’t kill the Lord of the Demonic Cult.

Which meant that continuing the battle would be nothing less than dying a dog’s death.

At least with the remaining power he had left, he had to do something worthwhile.

His left leg was already hurt, which meant it was impossible for him to get out of the place.

‘... I failed this time, but next time the same mistake won’t happen.’

Noh Do-kyung looked at Lee Wook with a bitter smile.

What use was holding onto life after reaching seventy?

If he could save the young one beside him, it felt like his death wouldn’t be in complete vain.

Noh Do-kyung’s lips formed into a stiff smile while looking at Lee Wook.

Lee Wook, who looked at him, was trembling while looking at the stab wound in Noh Do-kyung’s thigh.

‘Should I run away?’

Lee Wook could guess what was running through Noh Do-kyung’s mind.

Lee Wook was about to shout no, but Noh Do-kyung threw himself at Chun Yeowun.

It was at that moment when Noh Do-kyung went closer.

Bang!

Noh Do-kyung took the red sword into his hand and slammed it into the ground.

At that moment, as the floor cracked beneath the sword, eight swords rushed for Chun Yeowun.

Chacha!

It was the Eight Swords of Blade God technique.

The eight swords, which encircled Chun Yeowun, displayed an incredible amount of explosive power.

Although they were close to him, Chun Yeowun knew the major flaw of this technique.

‘The heart of the formation.’

All that was needed was to attack the heart and soon after the technique would start crumbling down.

A simple weakness, however, not many would have the courage to enter the middle of the eight swords.

Swoosh!

Chun Yeowun boldly stabbed the Black Flamesword in the centre of the formation where the eight swords were placed.

‘He knows this too.’

Looking at Chun Yeowun, Noh Do-kyung’s eyes narrowed.

There was no way one could know the weakness of it without learning the technique, but Chun Yeowun was able to act rather fast.

Wooh!

“Kuak!”

Chun Yeowun moved close and his sword pierced the heart of Noh Do-kyung.

However, something unexpected happened.

Noh Do-kyung, who should have died because of that, suddenly hugged Chun Yeowun.

Crack!

Muscles began to bulge from Noh Do-kyung's upper body.

He hugged Chun Yeowun with all his might, even when he was suffering.

"It worked!"

"?"

"Being aware of the formation, I knew that you would come right into the centre which was the weak point of the formation."

It was a trap laid out by Noh Do-kyung to stop him.

He was prepared to face death, so he decided to let Chun Yeowun get close to him.

While he unfolded the technique, he also used the Blood Reversion Art so the Black Flame Sword wouldn't penetrate his heart.

As Noh Do-kyung caught Chun Yeowun, he yelled with all his might.

“Go and run away!!!”

Short order.

But everyone knew what that meant.

The surviving Forces of Evil and Forces of Great Heaven, even the remaining warriors of the Blade God Six Martial clan, ran without looking back.

“Catch them!”

“Don’t let them get away!”

All the warriors of the Demonic Cult and Yulin who heard that command couldn’t just let them run away.

They tried their best to block the wall and prevent them from escaping.

However, those who survived the Sky Flash Air Sword were the most powerful ones, so the resistance wasn’t enough to stop them.

Besides,

“Even with their arms cut off?”

“Are they really unable to feel any pain?”

Whether cut off or not, the warriors of the Forces of Great Heaven didn't stop climbing up the wall.

They already lost the battle, so at the very least they wanted to live.

However, since their number was small, they could get caught at any time.

“Ahh!”

Great Guardian Marakim and Dual Martial Sword Wang Jing tried to catch Lee Wook who tried to escape by jumping over the eastern wall.

However, the moment they reached him they were blocked off by the warriors of the Blade God Six Martial clan, who were of the Superior Master level and had already unfolded the Blood Reversion Art.

“We are not letting you touch him!”

“You need to pass through us to get to Sword Master Lee Wook!”

No matter how great the two were, they couldn't take down so many Superior Master level warriors at once.

They were all ready to die if it meant getting that one person out of the castle.

'That one shouldn't be allowed to go!'

Meanwhile, Lee Wook jumped over the wall.

He wasn't the kind to abandon an opportunity created by his people who were risking their lives for his sake.

Bulge!

The muscles of the upper body were larger than Ko Wanghur's and the eyes of Noh Do-kyung, who was holding Chun Yeowun, shook.

Shake!

"Kuak!"

He was a man who reached the highest limit of human beings by using the Blood Reversion Art.

Naturally, he prided himself for being beyond normal warriors, but even then, holding Chun Yeowun felt like his muscles were about to break.

‘Wh-what kind of power is this?’

It made no sense.

He, who reached Supreme Master level, was using the Blood Reversion Art, yet he was having such a tough time.

It was natural since the opponent was a Divine Master.

But still, how could a single human possess so much power?

‘Well, I managed to give them time.’

Even if no one else could escape, Lee Wook had to be the only one to do so. That was the most important thing.

Tremble!

The muscles within both arms were torn to shreds and soon after blood began to gush out.

There was a limit to how long he could tie a Divine Master down.

“Lord of the Demonic Cult, you are a monster! How about we head down towards the underworld together?”

Tremble!

When Noh Do-kyung’s body trembled, the blood vessels began to pop.

In the Blood Reversion Art, there was a secret of self-destruction by letting one’s internal energy explode.

The higher the internal energy, the stronger and bigger the explosion. He was sure that no one would be able to withstand that explosion.

“Even a monster like you won’t survive this time...”

“Everyone before you said the same thing.”

“What?”

It was at that moment.

Crack!

“Kuaaaaaakk!”

Electric shocks began to spread in Chun Yeowun’s body and shortly after reached Noh Do-kyung.

The moment his body met with the shock, Chun Yeowun’s arms began to get stronger. And Noh Do-kyung, who was holding him down, was getting torn apart from the inside.

Tear!

“Kuakkkkk!”

Noh Do-kyung, whose arms were torn, screamed in pain.

Due to the sacrifice, Lee Wook managed to escape the castle and already headed east.

He already ran to a far off distance with all the might he could gather.

In his view, the castle soon turned small.

‘Kuak!’

Lee Wook’s eyes were filled with shame as he ran, yet he survived and had to pass the information to the others.

Drip!

Blood was dripping from his mouth.

One thing was clear.

They are the enemies who had to be eliminated.

If they didn’t kill Chun Yeowun, the Lord of the Demonic Cult, their generation would end up dead.

‘Enjoy this victory now, Lord of the Demonic Cult. No matter how strong you are, there is always a weakness.’

There were plenty of ways to take Chun Yeowun down, even if it wasn’t a direct confrontation.

For example, if his precious members were kidnapped, no matter how cold Yeowun was, he wouldn't stop from shaking in fear.

Though he didn't turn back and ran like a coward, Lee Wook vowed to himself.

'If 'he' comes back, the Lord of the Demonic Cult will disappear from Wulin...'

Puck!

"Kuak!"

Sword Master Lee Wook looked down on his chest which was burning him slowly.

Crackle!

Smoke began to flow out with the sound of burning.

Shockingly, the Black Flame Sword pierced through his chest.

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

“Th-this is...”

It was the Black Flame sword, the invisible sword which Chun Yeowun, Lord of the Demonic Cult, was using.

Sword Master Lee Wook turned his head towards the Jin Castle with an absurd look.

Chapter 398 - Rise to the Five Strongest Warriors (1)

Chapter 398: Rise to the Five Strongest Warriors (1)

Around five miles away from the Jin Castle were the Bihyeon mountains.

Several trees were standing on the peak of the mountain.

Among those trees was a person who elegantly tiptoed on a branch of the tallest pine tree.

It was an unidentified man wearing a long black robe and a bamboo hat.

He was standing on a branch for around half an hour and was looking at some place, not taking his eyes off of said place.

The direction of Jin Castle was the place where the man in the black robe was looking towards.

‘It is too far away so I can’t get a good look.’

This man was being looked at by another man from below.

A man with bandages on his face was standing right underneath the pine tree.

Even without standing on the branches, just being on the peak of the mountain was enough to see the vast land below.

However, everything was so small that even the people looked like fine dust.

‘Is he really able to see the Jin Castle?’

He had a strong belief in his skills, but no matter how hard he focused, nothing could be seen well.

Seeing Jin Castle felt strange.

But seeing that the man on the branch’s gaze never fell off of Jin Castle, it seemed like he could see something.

It was a moment of wondering what he could actually see.

Bang!

‘Huh?’

The man on the branch soon came down from the pine tree.

He didn't just come down normally, he smashed the tree to reach the ground.

"Bl-Blade Lord."

Shockingly, the true identity of the man on the branch was Blade Lord, the head of the Blade God Six Martial clan.

He had personally come to this place to observe the battle which took place in the castle.

Blade Lord opened his mouth and spoke to the flustered man in bandages.

"We are heading back."

When he revealed his intention to head back, the bandaged man's eyes were filled with confusion.

Had the great event proceeded according to the original plan, Blade Lord wouldn't have had such a neutral reaction.

"Blade Lord. If there was a setback in the plan, how about we send in our slaughter squad?"

“... it was an utter defeat. No matter who we send, we won't get the desired results.”

“De-defeat?”

The man in bandages couldn't hide his shock.

The plan was something that everyone put in lots of effort into for a long time.

From manipulating the eldest prince of the Imperial Palace to planting the spies in the clans of Yulin, everything was the groundwork for this day.

“Huh... how could that happen...”

If this was a failure, then the wrath of Blade Lord couldn't be expressed in words.

The bandaged man trembled in fear.

A calm voice responded to the bandaged man who was extremely scared.

“It doesn't matter. I managed to obtain something more important.”

After hearing those words, the eyes of the bandaged man lit up.

The reaction he received was completely different to what he initially thought he would see.

Blade Lord's voice seemed elevated, pleased even.

To the man who was puzzled, Blade Lord spoke.

"Because I finally found him."

"Him?"

"The Demon God!"

The eyes of Blade Lord, who looked through the bamboo hat, flashed.

A few hours later.

The noises in the Jin castle, which were full of screams and wails of the warriors, finally subsided.

Inside the Jin Castle, which was devastated by the war, it reeked of blood.

People couldn't help but frown at the number of corpses lying on the castle floor.

The number of veterans who died were close to 600 and the number of the wounded was well over 1000. It could be called the largest battle that took place in the past ten years.

And the winner of the battle were the allied forces of the Demonic Cult and Yulin.

The leaders of the Forces of Evil and the Forces of Great Heaven's organization were the only ones who survived this brutal battle.

"Kuek! Kill me! I said kill me!"

"Goodness. How could I ever kill you? You will have to pay for the evil deeds you committed."

People tried to commit suicide because of their subordinates who died, but they were caught before they could kill themselves. Yulin always had their eyes on the Forces of Evil.

Unlike the Forces of Evil, the battle of the Blade God Six Martial clan ended rather terrifyingly.

It wasn't because the warriors of the Demonic Cult had no mercy.

"... they are awful people."

“They didn’t leave anyone behind?”

The Six Swords, including Ko Wanghur and Bakgi, trembled at the sight.

The corpses they were looking at had their heads blown off.

Most of the warriors of the Blade God Six Martial clan died on the battlefield, but the warriors of the Demonic Cult succeeded in capturing eight of them, as well as one master.

However, all of a sudden, their heads swelled up and exploded at the same time.

Something that was planted in their heads seemed to have activated at the same time which is the reason why they all died together.

‘They are quite thorough.’

That even made the Great Guardian Marakim go stiff.

The behavior of the Blade God Six Martial Clan was very strange. Whoever led them made absolutely sure that nobody is ever able to get caught or leak any information.

What was the information that they were afraid of revealing?

‘But even they must not have expected this.’

His two eyes looked at someone.

Crrk!

There was still an old man with a bald head with a flinching body due to the shocks. Not only was his hair gone, even his eyebrows had burned to a crisp.

The pain and agony that man was going through was truly terrifying.

Both of his arms were torn apart and black blood was dripping out of the corners of his mouth.

Noh Do-kyung the Fire Sword Master.

“This... this monster...”

Noh Do-kyung, who looked like a person who lost his reasoning and soul, kept muttering those words.

What was worthwhile was when everyone's heads began to explode, Chun Yeowun succeeded in removing the worm from his head.

The dried up black blood was proof of that.

‘How far ahead does the power of the current Lord reach?’

As he had always felt, Chun Yeowun was quite different from the other Lords.

He couldn’t figure out where the limit was.

He began to expect that his wishes of witnessing the second Chun Ma might end up becoming true. Maybe Chun Yeowun really was the second generation Chun Ma.

Meanwhile the Yulin and the Demonic Cult were in conflict over one last issue.

Nam Gung-kyong who survived.

Hu Bong managed to cut off the arm of Nam Gung-kyong who tried to escape.

Coincidentally Leader Moyong Kang was on top of the castle wall too. That’s how he was able to stop Hu Bong.

“He was caught by us. Even if we are in an alliance, you need to follow the rules. How can you force us to hand over our prisoner to you?”

The Yulin didn’t want to give up Nam Gung-kyong.

It was already a shock knowing the role of Nam Gung-kyong.

Nam Gung-kyong was a leader of the organization, something which he created behind the backs of Yulin, and was secretly joining hands with the Blade God Six Martial clan in the battle.

‘If we let them take him, the secrets within our Yulin factions will be revealed.’

‘Besides, if we hand him over to the Demonic Cult, the probability of finding information and misusing it would increase. We shouldn’t let this happen.’

‘... the information from the organization needs to be used only for the sake of Yulin factions.’

All the people of the Forces of Great Heaven died in battle.

And the only surviving man of the organization had to be killed on the spot as he was an enemy. He couldn’t be used as a prisoner.

“You people caught him?”

“Yes.”

Hong Pilwoo responded.

To them, Hu Bong was someone who was aiming to take away the life of Nam Gung-kyong.

It was funny for Hu Bong to hear that the Yulin leaders were trying to take credit for catching the wounded man.

“Excuse me, Leader Nam Gung-kyong. Didn’t you run away because I cut your arm with my sword?”

Hu Bong asked Nam Gung-kyong, who was bound by ropes and held captive.

At that, without even making eye contact, Nam Gung-kyong mumbled.

“There was no such thing.”

“Hah! The cut on your arm must have burned too, can’t you get yourself to remember that? You are one hell of a spineless man.”

Hu Bong’s face turned red as he slowly began to get annoyed.

If it wasn’t for the sake of alliance, his hands, which were twitching, would have already killed the man.

“I was caught by leader Moyong Kang and Hong Pilwoo, I don’t know what you are talking about.”

Nam Gung-kyong spoke awkwardly as his real identity was revealed.

However, Nam Gung-kyong had no other option but to side with the Yulin.

‘I should never get taken in by those men.’

The Demonic Cult would rip him open to know everything about the organization and his death would be the obvious result. He would be tortured so they would get the information they wanted.

“Still, weren’t you the one who got him, Hu Bong?”

“Lord.”

When Hu Bong was getting annoyed, Chun Yeowun came towards them after capturing Noh Do-kyung.

Unlike when dealing with Hu Bong, the moment Chun Yeowun appeared, the Leaders turned stiff.

‘Even if it is the Lord of Demonic Cult we shouldn’t just hand him over.’

‘His power is not normal.’

They were both terrified in their hearts because they were looking at a monster with their very own eyes. However, the loss they would face from losing Nam Gung-kyong was too great.

‘Great Leader!’

Hong Palwoo, a leader, glanced in the direction of Great Leader Yi Mok, asking for help.

And he came forward, as it was only appropriate for the leaders of each side to have a conversation.

‘Hmm...’

Nam Gung-kyong sent a telepathic message to Yi Mok.

[I apologize! If I get taken over, the information of the organization and the secrets within the faction will all fall into the hands of the Demonic Cult... if that happens, not only the Forces of Justice but the entire Yulin will be in great danger, are you fine with that?]

The reason why the leaders were going so far to protect him was because they heard the same message from Nam Gung-kyong too.

While contemplating what to do, when he heard that voice, Yi Mok seemed to make up his mind.

‘There is truth in the words of Nam Gung-kyong.’

It felt dangerous to let the Demonic Cult know more about the information of the Yulin faction.

Even then, the battle just proved that the Demonic Cult was a lot stronger than before.

‘If we let him get any more powerful, balance within the three major factions may be completely disrupted.’

Great Leader Yi Mok, who was struggling, finally decided to help.

To not let Nam Gung-kyong be taken. That was the decision Yi Mok came to.

Pak!

Yi Mok, who made up his mind, stepped out in front of the leaders and spoke to Chun Yeowun boldly.

“Lord Chun, you can understand this, right?”

“Excuse me?”

“Even if your man managed to injure the leader, in the end, it was our two leaders who caught him, making sure that he didn’t escape. Considering this, you cannot deny that his life should be given to us. I can’t...”

“Phew.”

Before Yi Mok could finish speaking, Chun Yeowun sighed and pulled something with his hand.

Woong!

“Huk! B-body!”

The body of Nam Gung-kyong, who was behind the leaders, floated into the air and flew in the direction of Chun Yeowun.

Yi Mok grabbed him in the process.

Pak!

“Wh-what is this!”

He was getting angry due to the sudden action of Chun Yeowun.

Chun Yeowun didn't even care and pulled him.

Woong!

‘What strength!’

The power was thrilling to feel.

Nam Gung-kyong was caught between the power of two major heads of Wulin, the Great Leader and the Lord of the Demonic Cult.

“Gre-great Leader! Don’t let go!”

However, even when Yi Mok tried to forcefully hold him, the gap in sheer power was too wide.

After not being able to hold on for too long, the clothes of Nam Gung-kyong suddenly tore off.

Tear!

“G-great leaderrrr!”

“This!”

Wheeing! Tear!

“Eiik!”

Nam Gung-kyong's body soon flew around and got into Chun Yeowun's hand.

Nam Gung-kyong, whose head was in Chun Yeowun's hand, went pale not knowing what to do!

"W-what is this?"

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

"Leader Nam Gung-kyong!"

Chun Yeowun looked at Yi Mok and the leaders of the Forces of Justice with a cynical smile.

"You were saying that he belonged to the person who caught him, so this person's life is now in my hands, right?"

Chapter 399 - Rise to the Five Strongest Warriors (2)

Chapter 399: Rise to the Five Strongest Warriors (2)

Did he just provoke the Great Leader?

‘This...’

Great Leader Yi Mok and the leaders of the Forces of Justice were speechless.

Seeing Nam Gung-kyong in Chun Yeowun’s hand, no one could object anymore.

He cleverly used their words against them.

“Then I’ll be taking this one.”

Clench!

When no one else objected anymore, Chun Yeowun clenched his hands which were holding onto the head of Nam Gung-kyong.

Nam Gung-kyong looked at Yi Mok with a contemplating look and shouted.

“Great- Great Leader! How can you just give up like this! If I get taken by them, then...”

“Shut up.”

Tatatatal!

“Hmmp! Hmmp!”

Before he could finish his words, Chun Yeowun pressed the blood points on his throat.

After his blood points were pressed Nam Gung-kyong couldn't do anything else other than moan.

Poong Chungwun, the 6th leader, who saw that situation unfold in front of him, took a step ahead and spoke.

“Goodness, Lord Chun. Have some courtesy for the alliance. Can’t you just hand over Nam Gung-kyong to us? He is a leader of the Forces of Justice too, just saying.”

Unlike the other leaders, Poong Chungwun was the only one who was acquainted with Chun Yeowun.

Considering their relationship, he tried not to step in at each situation, but thinking that handing over Nam Gung-kyong was rather precarious, so he decided to speak out.

Despite his intervention, Chun Yeowun didn’t let go of Nam Gung-kyong.

Bewildered, Poong Chungwun raised his voice.

“A-are you really going to act like this?”

Without even blinking, Chun Yeowun asked.

“Leader Chungwun, if it were you, would you let go of an enemy who tried to kill you?”

“Well, that would...”

It was true that Yulin was divided in the Jin castle and Nam Gung-kyong was the head of an organization which wanted to execute Chun Yeowun and all the warriors of the Demonic Cult.

When Poong Chungwun didn't answer, Chun Yeowun looked at the other leaders and spoke in a cold tone.

“Using courtesy to the alliance to make things go your way is an easy way out. Are you all trying to protect Nam Gung-kyong as your colleague?”

Woong!

When Chun Yeowun reached out his hand, one of the corpses from Jin Castle flew towards him.

One of the members of the organization's body, whose head has been cut off, flew in.

They were the ones who lost their pain and emotions, the ones who wouldn't die unless their heads were cut off.

“Are you afraid that this thing he used will get into our Cult?”

“Th-that is...”

“If you wanted to protect Nam Gung-kyong from the very beginning, shouldn’t you have persuaded him before the battle to strengthen your numbers?”

“ ... ”

The leaders couldn’t respond to those words at all.

As Chun Yeowun said, there was only one reason for Yulin to protect Nam Gung-kyong.

The method of the Extreme Martial Body.

It was to prevent the fall of the procedure which created non-humans who felt no pain. They feared that it could fall into the hands of the Demonic Cult.

Surely the Yulin could try to use it too, but it wouldn’t be as scary as letting the Demonic Cult have it.

Not a single person opened their mouth, except Yi Mok. He very cautiously opened his mouth and started to speak.

“Lord Chun, I’ll be honest with you. As all the warriors in the castle saw, that skill is too dangerous. As you said, I am concerned about that getting misused by the Cult.”

Great Leader Yi Mok expressed his opinion without sugar coating it.

There was only one reason why he was honest.

Because there was always a chance of abuse of power in any faction, he asked the Demonic Cult about keeping Nam Gung-kyong as he was too worried about the information leaking out.

‘Ah!’

At Yi Mok’s words, Hong Palwoo and Moyong Kang admired him in their hearts.

Obviously, speaking out like this meant that the chance of Lord Chun taking away Nam Gung-kyong by force was eliminated.

Even Jegal Yong-un appreciated it and continued.

“Exactly. As Great Leader Yi Mok said, we are concerned about such abuse. If Lord Chun has no such intention, you should punish him according to the Wulin. Placing him in captivity isn’t a problem, right?”

‘Ohh!’

In addition to the accusation from Yi Mok, Jegal Yong-un's words made the other leaders filled with joy.

As a result Chun Yeowun, the Lord of the Demonic Cult, lost the justification to take Nam Gung-kyong.

If he took the prisoner forcefully, it would be like saying that he has the intention of using that extreme martial technique.

'Lord of the Demonic Cult, you will have to concede this time.'

'Can you really come out and say that you have malicious intent in a place where the warriors of Yulin are gathered?'

Whatever choice was made, it was beneficial to Yulin.

If he gave up Nam Gung-kyong, then they would end up learning about the technique he used and if Chun Yeowun still insisted on taking him away, they could spread the news that the Demonic Cult was trying to use dangerous techniques.

They all thought that Chun Yeowun was in trouble.

Chun Yeowun, who was silent, shook his head.

'Even if you are smart, there is no favorable answer for this particular situation.'

Seeing that, Jegal Yong-un smacked his lips, convinced that his plan worked.

And Chun Yeowun answered.

“There is truth to that statement.”

Even the Six Swords, who were close by, were shocked to hear Chun Yeowun’s words.

It looked like he really was ready to hand over the man to Yulin.

‘Yes!’

Jegal Yong-un, who thought that Chun Yeowun was stepping back, decided to push his luck even further and make Chun Yeowun more uncomfortable.

“After all, Lord Chun is also under the guidance of the heavens. I know that Lord Chun has no such malicious intent.”

He was purposely pushing Chun Yeowun.

If they used power, no one could go against Chun Yeowun.

Which was why he used words. Next, he spoke to the members of Yulin.

“Leader, can you bring me leader Nam gung-kyong...”

“Wait.”

“... what is it?”

When Chun Yeowun suddenly stopped him, Jegal Yong-un, who was anxious, asked cautiously.

There was no way he could find a way out of the situation, yet, the fact that Chun Yeowun was a Divine master was what made him tremble.

“Let’s make this clear.”

“What do you mean?”

“The Forces of the Great Heaven as another member and also their head, someone called Hoe-ju.”

“That was information Lord Chun sent to our Great Leader, right?”

Chun Yeowun was the one who sent the information regarding the organization that the Yulin factions were unaware of.

Based on that, the Forces of Justice were able to find out the traces of members who joined it before the treaty.

However, the man called Hoe-ju and another member couldn't be found.

Since Nam Gung-kyong was of a high position and said that he was the only one who knew about Hoe-ju, they were thinking of using this opportunity to find him.

“Catch them.”

‘Ah?’

Jegal Yong-un realized what Chun Yeowun's words meant.

This man, he really was a new kind of Lord which the Demonic Cult never had before.

With a voice full of determination, Jegal Yong-un spoke.

“We will! It was something that Lord Chun has trusted us with, so will most definitely see it through. Please trust us.”

“You should. If you fail to catch them, I will never forgive the Forces of Justice or the Yulin, who will end up creating trouble for my Cult.”

“!?”

Jegal Yong-un’s expression turned sour at the warning.

Rather than a request, it sounded more like a threat. The words were closer to intimidation though.

Jegal Yong-un hesitantly answered, knowing that they weren’t words filled with malice.

“Kuekm. I understand. That will never happen.”

“Nice. Then you can take him.”

At those words, Jegal Yong-un asked subordinate Jacheong.

“Bring him, Jacheong.”

“Oh, yes, 13th leader.”

The man went closer and tried to pick up Nam Gung-kyong who had a lot of blood on him.

Puk!

“Kuek!”

Drip!

Dark blood flowed out of Nam Gung-kyong’s swollen eyes.

Shockingly, his broad forehead was pierced with a sword in an instant.

Tremble.

Nam Gung-kyong shook violently before he fell down.

‘!!!’

Everyone was stunned as they stared blankly at the dead Nam Gung-kyong.

At the sudden turn of events, none of the leaders could hide their shock.

“This, what is this?! Didn’t you decide to hand him over to us?!”

Jegal Yong-un’s face turned red as he shouted.

It wasn’t agreed that the prisoner would be handed over and then not be killed.

Chun Yeowun spoke with a cold expression.

“I don’t remember saying that I would give him to you alive.”

“Wh-what!”

Everyone was speechless as they looked at Chun Yeowun, who spoke in a provoking manner.

‘Indeed!’

Hu Bong, who was seeing this, and the Six Swords, who listened, were all smiling.

It was impossible for Chun Yeowun, the Lord they knew, to just hand over what was his so politely.

On the other hand, Yi Mok strongly shouted back.

“Lord Chun, this isn’t a situation to act like this. This is an act that looks like you are insulting us.”

“Insult?”

“Right, how could you kill Nam Gung-kyong, whom you decided to hand over to us!”

Yi Mok pointed his finger at the dead man.

Such a death was unfair to a man who tried to live through the war using every tactic he could.

Chun Yeowun calmly asked Yi Mok, who was furious.

“Are you contradicting what leader Jegal just said?”

“What the hell does that have to do...”

“He just said it a moment back. He said to punish this man in Wulin’s way, right?”

“What!?”

With those words, Chun Yeowun looked at Jegal Yong-un.

Jegal Yong-un was taken aback by those words.

Obviously he said that, but it was only to pressure Chun Yeowun.

But he just used those words as an excuse to kill the man?

“Ah-no. Lord Chun. What I said earlier didn’t mean...”

Gooooooo!

“Huh!”

With a sudden rise in energy, the people present around turned stiff.

It felt like they were standing on a slope with a knife to their throats.

Jegal Yong-un opened his cold lips.

“The... Dark King!”

The person who released the energy was Marakim. He was standing left to Chun Yeowun.

A man famous for bringing death.

Marakim spoke in a low voice.

“Leader Jegal, who do you think is standing in front of you?”

“Wh...”

“Are you trying to change the words you said to the Lord? If that is the case, I won’t forgive you!”

It felt like Marakim was ready to kill him at any moment.

Jegal Yong-un tried to think of what had to be done.

Woong!

‘Ah! When?’

All of a sudden, the members of the Demonic Cult gathered around him.

It was as if they were protesting for insulting their Lord.

With a sneering voice, Chun Yeowun spoke to the bewildered leaders.

“Well, if he was a man who hit your backs, shouldn’t it be fine taking back his corpse? The so-called technique that you are so worried about being misused won’t happen now.”

‘What? Does that mean he never intended to use the technique?’

At those words every single leader was confused.

There was no need for the technique.

The leaders didn't know, but the person who developed that technique was currently in the Demonic Cult.

Until recently, those who were delighted that the Demonic Cult wouldn't be able to get their hands on the technique were in utter shock at the failure of their plan.

'Ha! How did this...'

It was only then that Jegal Yong-un realized what Chun Yeowun had been scheming.

Chun Yeowun didn't aim for the technique from the beginning.

'Kuek! This is what he meant when he said he wouldn't forgive those who threatened the Demonic Cult.'

The true goal of Chun Yeowun was to find the real head of the organization.

But that didn't mean that he would give up Nam Gung-kyong to the Forces of Justice, who were completely unaware of the existence of the organization until Chun Yeowun told them.

The Demonic Cult meddled in the Forces of Justice and made them search for the organization.

‘... we were outplayed!’

Thud!

Jegal Yong-un, unable to hold in his rage, bit his lower lip.

‘Uhhhh! Lord of Demonic Culttttt!!!’

It turned out to be a foolish mistake to intervene.

The results ended up turning bizarre.

Thanks to that, not just Jegal Yong-un, but everyone was able to know one thing.

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

‘He really is... the current Lord of Demonic Cult!’

No hesitation in his moves.

They had to accept the fact that Chun Yeowun was completely different to the previous Lord of the Demonic Cult that they knew.

Chapter 400 - Rise to the Five Strongest Warriors (3)

Chapter 400: Rise to the Five Strongest Warriors (3)

What was it called again? The tiger's momentum?

The momentum of the Demonic Cult's side, including that of Lord Chun Yeowun's, was like a flooding wave that had long surpassed the current Yulin forces.

'Ah, we can't help it.'

Great Leader Yi Mok sighed deeply.

Contrary to the Demonic Cult's side, the Yulin and the Forces of Justice had fewer than a hundred people, including their leaders, standing unscathed after the battle. However, the Demonic Cult still had over a thousand people.

Of course, even if the cult had no warriors standing, it would be no exaggeration to call the Lord of the Demonic Cult, Chun Yeowun, a disaster level one-man army who couldn't be defeated.

The bottom line was that it was impossible for them to bring down the Lord of the Demonic Cult no matter what they would try to do.

‘Sigh...’

Another sigh.

Great Leader Yi Mok’s thoughts when he took the first step into the Jin Castle for the ceremony were different compared to what was actually going on in his mind right now.

He thought that the situation in Wulin would change.

And the result was,

‘... for the time being, it is the time of Lord Chun.’

The entire place has become a place where the existence of Chun Yeowun is absolute.

Now the entire Wulin would know of his greatness.

In a situation where everyone was tense after being surrounded by the warriors of the Demonic Cult, the Great Leader opened his mouth.

“Enough!”

‘Great Leader?’

While everyone was nervous, their eyes turned towards the Great Leader.

“Lord Chun. We too had absolutely no intention of abusing that technique. Lord Chun said that he resolved the enmity he had with Nam Gung-kyong out of concern for his Cult, but I can no longer turn a blind eye after this.”

‘Ahh...’

‘How could this be?’

At the words of the Great Leader, who took a step back, sighs flowed from everywhere.

The feeling of concession was entirely different.

It was like the man, who was the most respected figure in a faction and one of the five strongest warriors, was deciding to kneel because of the overwhelming power of the Lord of the Demonic Cult.

‘I am sorry to all the warriors and leaders.’

The Great Leader, Yi Mok, shook his head slightly as he looked at each of the leaders of the Forces of Justice and Yulin factions, who couldn’t hide their disappointment.

However, this was a choice he had to make.

If Chun Yeowun really was what he had shown so far, then it would be impossible for the Yulin to stay strong if friction rose between the two.

‘Great leader. I know your intentions are good.’

Of course, not everyone was disappointed.

Poong Chungwun, a long time member of the Mount Hua Sect, and Hong Palwoo believed that this judgement was indeed correct.

It was humiliating, but this had to be done.

‘Even the strongest men were said to have endured more terrifying things than this, so what is the problem with letting go of the pride?’

They sent their sympathetic gazes to ease Yi Mok's heavy heart.

Yi Mok looked at Chun Yeowun and spoke.

Pak!

"Lord Chun. I apologize that the situation turned uncomfortable because of the incident with Nam Gung-kyong. So, how about the Lord and I go back and discuss the future together?"

Yi Mok held his posture while clasping his hands together.

Chun Yeowun, who looked at Yi Mok, raised his hand.

The warriors of the Demonic Cult, who encircled them quickly, retreated as if they were never there.

Woo!

"Haaa..."

Seeing that, the leaders of factions and the Forces of Justice sighed in relief.

If the situation had gotten any worse, it wouldn't seem strange for another battle to happen.

'I put in enough pressure so the matter would stop right here.'

In fact, even Chun Yeowun had no plans to push his luck any further with the Yulin.

Although the battle was won they didn't get to deal with the Blade God Six Martial clan, which meant that he couldn't break the alliance with Yulin's Forces of Justice yet, especially because the Forces of Evil seemed to be joining hands with the Blade God Six Martial clan.

It was too early to break the alliance.

'Let's hold on a little bit longer...'

The corners of Chun Yeowun's mouth rose slowly.

The Dragon Palace in the Empire.

The emperor sat solemnly on the throne and on a seat which was lower than his was 1st prince Zhu Taikhan, who was given the title of the Crown Prince starting from the Dano Festival.

Although nothing was said outside of the palace, Zhu Taikhan had turned into a catalyst in the Shrine incident and eventually took the place of crown prince. He was gleaming on the inside.

However, the atmosphere in the throne room was too heavy for him to smile.

All because they had to focus on one event.

In the middle of the throne room was Yeongjo, the Northern Commander and an eunuch of West Spear, both kneeling on one knee.

In front of them was a round piece of iron, about twice the size of a male fist.

The emperor and the others who saw that were astonished.

[How could such a group of people use weapons that hold gunpowder, which are only used within the military?]

In addition, this bomb seemed a lot stronger than theirs.

Apart from the non-aggression treaty, explosives were dangerous weapons of lethality that were prohibited by the laws of the Empire.

Possession of bombs was a problem, but that wasn't the major problem. What made the emperor furious was the report that bombs were being laid out in the underground of the Jin castle.

[Does that mean that they plotted such an outrageous conspiracy to kill the officials and the prince, who would go there on my behalf? They really are rebels! I can't just sit back and watch this anymore! This is it!]

The emperor immediately ordered the subjugation of the Blade God Six Martial clan.

Originally, the Lord of the Demonic Cult had informed the emperor that he would take care of them, but the Blade God Six Martial clan had gone too far for the emperor to stay still.

Baek Jagi, the Supreme Commander, and Southern Commander Yon Namgung led 2,000 guards along with 10,000 soldiers to the Jin castle.

For the first time since the founding of the empire, they were going to declare war on a Wulin faction.

But,

[What? They're coming back already?]

Within a few hours after the military was deployed, they received a report that Supreme Commander Baek Jagi was returning already.

The emperor was waiting to know what happened.

Just then, the eunuchs in the throne room, who were outside, shouted.

“Your Majesty, the Supreme Commander Baek Jagi is requesting to enter.”

“Send him in.”

The emperor’s orders fell and Baek Jagi, who was wearing grey solid armor, hurried into the room.

“I, Baek Jagi, the Supreme Commander, request an audience with His Majesty!”

As soon as Baek Jagi greeted him, the emperor asked what he was most curious about.

“Why did the Supreme Commander return when it hasn’t been long since your deployment?”

The guards and the soldiers hadn’t returned yet, but the commanders were the only ones who came back since they had to inform the emperor of the situation directly.

“Your Majesty, before the imperial army of the empire arrived at the castle, the spies and rebels in the castle had already been annihilated.”

“The entire group of rebels were annihilated?”

The emperor’s eyes lit up with curiosity.

At the request from the Lord of the Demonic Cult, he lent him the armors of guards and soldiers. However, he didn’t expect the end of the war in such a short amount of time.

“Didn’t it happen too fast?”

Even if it was a battle between martial arts users, it was too fast.

Baek Jagi said the same thing again, it was definite that the battle was over.

“As the emperor ordered, we rushed to Jin Castle. We first sent in excellent guards to check out the situation...”

All the officials in the throne room were doubting their ears at the report of Baek Jagi.

At the time when the Northern Commander and the eunuch escaped from the Jin Castle, it wasn't like there were no other officials of the palace.

Some members of the guards were present for the sake of monitoring the situation. Through them, the guards were told about the amazing things that unfolded in the Jin Castle and were reported to the commanders.

Even the Supreme Commander Baek Jagi, who first reported it, couldn't believe what he was hearing.

“Is that even possible?”

Most of the reports that he heard were so ridiculous, they made it sound like Chun Yeowun had surpassed the stage of a human being.

Later, it was told that he was the one who killed the vast majority of enemies.

They reported that it was not a battle, but a slaughter.

Besides,

“What? He flew into the air and made swords rain down from the sky?”

When talking about Sky Flash, even the emperor seemed at a loss for words.

There was no other way to explain the Air Swords which brought in blood shed.

“Huu, how could a human body perform...”

Admiral Seo Tae-sik of the Cardinal Spear mumbled to himself, not being able to believe the report he just heard.

The admirals and the commanders were all well aware of martial arts, but never had they imagined that a Divine Master would be such a monster.

‘... he is no human. I am really fortunate to be allied with Lord Chun.’

Crown prince Zhu Taikhan once again realized that his choice wasn’t wrong.

Chun Yeowun, the Lord of the Demonic Cult, was too dangerous to make an enemy out of.

“That was why the army returned already, your Majesty!”

When the Supreme Commander Baek Jagi was done with his report, the entire throne room was filled with silence.

That was how shocking the information about Chun Yeowun, the Lord of the Demonic Cult, was.

‘Your Majesty must be very surprised.’

As a ruler of an empire, a monster with that much power was a threat to him.

Maybe he was feeling even more fear than before.

Everyone was in deep concern when the emperor, who had been silent, slowly opened his mouth.

“... Th... there will never be a change in the state religion until my time ends.”

‘!?’

A fact which no one could dispute.

Time passed quickly and a full month had passed since the day of the Dano festival.

News went around very fast.

It didn’t take long for the events in the Jin Castle to spread throughout the Jianghu.

Although they participated in the victory of the alliance, they were humiliated to the extent of being overpowered.

To hide this humiliation, they announced that the battle in the Jin Castle of Tongho was something that the Forces of Justice and the Demonic Cult's alliance planned together to defeat the Forces of Evil and the Blade God Six Martial clan, but there was no way the truth could stay hidden.

The heads of multiple factions under Yulin had witnessed it with their very own eyes.

Chun Yeowun's monstrous strength spread throughout all of Wulin, and the humiliation the Forces of Justice faced spread as well.

The Forces of Justice strongly denied it in Yulin, but the consequences that followed made it undeniable.

In a fortress of the Ten Thousand Mountains.

A middle aged man with short hair was drinking something while he was on the bed.

He was the former lord, Chun Yujong.

After months of staying in a coma, he finally woke up.

He was extremely skinny as he hadn't moved for a long time, however the side effects had disappeared from his body and his lively spirit returned.

Gasp! Gasp!

“Kulkulkul, drink it slowly, Lord.”

Next to him, a middle-aged man in shabby clothes with an eye patch was seated. It has been three days since the former Lord has woken up.

However, he was extremely weak, and it took two days for Submeng to get permission to see him.

Submeng visited the former Lord from the day before and informed Chun Yujong about all that had happened.

Coincidentally, Chun Yujong’s memories after the battle with the Blade God Six Martial clans warriors were like shattered fragments. He could hardly remember anything from that day.

“Keep talking, Right Guardian.”

Chun Yujong wiped off the medicine he was drinking with his sleeve.

While Submeng continued talking.

“How far did I tell?”

“... Yeowun.. no, you were talking about the current Lord.”

Calling not himself, but Chun Yeowun as the Lord felt a little awkward for Chun Yujong.

When he lost consciousness and woke up, so many things seemed to have changed.

As soon as he woke up, he couldn't get used to people calling him the former Lord.

“Ahh! Right, as I was saying earlier, the Lord is very busy with the work of the academy.”

“Huu.”

A sigh escaped from Chun Yujong's mouth.

It was shocking enough to hear it all over again, and yet it was still unbelievable.

It was said that the entire Henan province was officially under the domain of the Demonic Cult.

“And the Yulin people and the Forces of Justice tolerated it?”

“Tolerate? There was nothing else they could do.”

While promoting the Sky Demon Order, which was currently the state religion of the empire, the imperial order built a branch of the Cult not only in the Imperial Palace but also in the capital.

Since it was the domain of the Yulin, there was no way that they would have agreed to it.

Since the announcement was made by the emperor, the Yulin announced that it would accept it by honoring the emperor and respecting the alliance.

“Actually, that wasn’t it. Hehe.”

As the faction heads who joined the Forces of the Great Heaven were annihilated, they lost nearly thirty percent of their power. And if they immediately broke the alliance with the Demonic Cult right now, they would get surrounded by all the enemies, including what is left of the Blade God Six Martial clan.

“All of this was possible because the Lord showed incredible devotion in the battle of Jin Castle.”

That was the biggest reason.

With the war, Yulin realized that there was no chance of winning a war against the current Lord of the Demonic Cult.

That's why even when it was humiliation, they conceded.

'That child reached Divine Master level.'

That was the most startling news for Chun Yujong.

It was astonishing that so many things happened since he lost consciousness.

Chun Yujong spoke in a frustrated voice.

"It seems like the title of being one of the Five Strongest Warriors should be passed down to the Lord."

Hearing those words, Submeng licked his lips and spoke cautiously.

"Hm, hm, Former Lord. I apologize, but the current Lord is already considered one of the Five Strongest Warriors due to the war."

"What? For real?"

Five strongest warriors.

A title that only five people, who stand at the top of the Wulin, hold.

It was unprecedented for a warrior to attain that title at Chun Yeowun's current age.

After hearing that, Submeng, who took pride in being the teacher of the current Lord, couldn't hide his joy.

'Ahhh!'

Chun Yujong was suddenly engulfed in a strange feeling.

It was thrilling that Hwa Yun and his child, who struggled to learn martial arts, stood tall, all by himself.

Chun Yujong was looking at Submeng, who was extremely happy for some reason, and asked.

"Kum, if he has become one of the five strongest warriors, he probably has a name worthy of the title."

At that question, Submeng answered with a wide smile.

“He got a name that suits the Cult best!”

“Best?”

“Demon God! The Lord is being called the Demon God!”

Chun Yeowun’s new name, which he obtained after being recognized as one of the 5 strongest warriors, is truly befitting.

Demon God!

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

Regardless of whether he was the Lord or not, the members of the cult considered him a Demon. However, due to his thrilling actions, everyone else called him a God.

“Demon God!!!”

Chun Yujong couldn’t contain his trembling at Submeng’s words.

It wasn’t that he was surprised by the crazy and wonderful name, but it was because after the previous Lords, this was the second time that the title of Demon God was given to someone after Chun Ma.

Chapter 401 - Guest from the North (1)

Chapter 401: Guest from the North (1)

“Gasp... gasp... gasp...”

An hour ago, in an ice cave that was cold enough to see the misty breaths of air flow out of the entrance. The transparent and beautiful ice that covered all of the inner cave like rare crystals broke and turned the once beautiful cave into a mess of remnant ice shards.

Drip!

Looking at the floor of the cave, where ice was dripping down from, red blood stains spread across the floor.

It wasn't clear how hastily the bleeding man ran, but the thick fur coat he was wearing had turned blood red.

“Haa... haaa! Cough!”

The places where he was cut was becoming more painful with every step he took.

He wasn't sure whether or not he could get out of this place quick enough to treat his wound, but all he knew was that the cold weather seemed to tear apart his wounds even further.

'I need to hurry up... and inform them.'

At this point, the man was barely standing up and was only able to walk by slowly limping, that was when something strange happened.

Rumble!

The entire cave vibrated.

As the cave shook as if there had been an earthquake, the ice shattered and vapor began to fill up his vision.

"No- No way!"

His heart began to beat rapidly at the ominous sign.

He was under the impression that he managed to save his life, but was 'it' trying to break through the thick ice of the cave?

Scared, he hurried to get out of the cave.

That moment,

Bang! Bang! Bang!

“Grrrrrr!”

The solid ice wall shattered and a black monster roared.

The appearance was faint because of the rising vapor, but the injured man's face turned pale at the sight.

‘It- it broke through the ice wall?’

Shocked, he covered his mouth.

“Uhmp!”

The moment he covered his mouth and tried to breathe as silently as possible to not notify the monster, the yellow glowing eyes of the monster that noticed him twisted and strichten like a snake, revealing the vicious teeth it was hiding.

“Kyaaaal!”

“Arckkkkk!”

Puhk!

The man screamed, struggling to get away from the monster.

As the man ran away, his coats and fur were thrown off and sunlight shone through the gaps of the cave.

It looked like a bright day.

“Gasp... Gasp...”

His face was breaking out in cold sweat and he was shocked.

Not so long ago, the monster had attacked him in an underground ice cave. And as if it was a nightmare, it appeared in another cave!

‘Again... it’s going to happen again!’

The young man, whose face was full of scars, wiped off the cold sweat with the back of his hand.

Crackle!

When he turned his head to the sound which was next to him after a couple of blinks, a middle-aged man in a white fur coat was putting in dry branches to light the bonfire.

The middle-aged man looked at the young man with worried eyes and asked.

“Did you have that dream again?”

“Uncle!”

“It seems to be stuck in your memory. After all, you are the only one who lived after crossing paths with that monster.

Phew... ah, hot!”

The middle-aged man took off his fur coat.

He seemed to be so hot that the clothes he was wearing inside were wet with sweat.

“It has been a while since I came here, but it really is hot. I have no idea how the people of Jugwon can live in such hot places.”

The weather is neither hot nor cold.

However, to a middle-aged man who came down from the north the weather of Jungwon felt hot.

The young man, whose face was full of scars, thought that the weather was too hot, which was why he wore a long robe of light material instead of fur coats like he used to in his homeland.

After waking up from that nightmare, his trembling finally stopped as if he managed to escape his fear of that monster.

Seeing that, the middle-aged man spoke.

“You came down here basically without sleep for the past three days, go and get some more rest.”

“No, uncle. We don’t know when that monster will break through the ice again, how can I rest?”

“Stay put.”

In total, the young man only slept four hours a day since he came down from the northern part of Hanam.

His eyes were proof of that.

He wouldn’t have been able to hold on in that place if it wasn’t for the luck he had on his side.

That was when the middle-aged man spoke.

“We’ll soon have to move. I’ll head over to Yulin straight away. Are you sure you want to go there?”

“... yes.”

“You are quite stubborn when compared to your brother. Do you really think that they will help? Among the Wulins, they are the only ones who see harmony as we do.”

“Isn’t it better than staying still and not doing anything?”

“The things that pursue the nature of Demons will follow you.”

The middle-aged man was still taken aback by the young man’s stubborn nature.

Still, he felt like asking the Yulin for help and guidance was a lot better. He couldn’t understand why the young man was so against the idea of heading to Yulin.

‘Those people are wicked ones, but he doesn’t know that.’

He was sure that the people who pursued the path of demons would never help others who were in a crisis.

Looking at the eyes of his uncle, who seemed to be filled with disbelief, the young man, whose face was full of scars, grabbed onto a hidden object.

It was something which was handed to him by a man who saved him from death.

His uncle wouldn’t believe it, so he couldn’t show him that hidden object. He wasn’t sure if help could be gotten from Yulin.

[Please tell me.]

If 'that person' really was the owner of this thing.

The opening of the Demonic Cult's branch in Gaekzan.

People were sitting at the table under the canopy which was used as a shade from the bright sunlight, sipping light drinks and eating duck meat noodles.

There were a lot of people who were passing by the street, but not a single person approached that place.

It was because of those people who were eating under the canopy.

They were all wearing red robes with the word 'Demon' written on them and anyone could tell that they were people of the Demonic Cult.

It has been a month since the opening of the Demonic Cult's new branch, but people were still afraid of them because of the preconceived notions.

It was a natural reaction since it had been under the domain of Yulin for several years.

"Ugh, they can just come and eat. I don't understand what they are trying to avoid?"

A young man in a purple hood lightly shook the glass of wine. It was Hu Bong.

As he grumbled, people would get close, but when they would see the members of the cult looking at them, they would run away in fear.

Tak!

‘Is he asking because he really doesn’t know?’

The waiter put the additional ordered food on the table while cursing the members of the cult inwardly.

It was lunchtime, but the food house, which was normally filled with customers and overflowing orders, was completely barren.

‘If you are so concerned about the reason, find some other place to eat!’

He didn’t have the courage to say it out loud, so he just put down the food and quietly went in.

Ko Wanghur, the muscular young man, spoke to Hu Bong, who was shoving a piece of sushi into his mouth.

“It will take some time for them to get used to it. Still, this is a lot better than at the beginning, isn’t it?”

When the branch was first opened, the people would avoid the members of the cult. They would even refuse to meet their eyes as if they were seeing a ghost or a monster.

However, after a month, their actions seemed to have eased down.

“It is, but... tch, I still think that it’s a long way off from what it is supposed to be.”

It didn’t seem right.

“Hahaha, Hu Bong, you are being too greedy. How is it possible to change the perception about us, which had been built over hundreds of years, in a mere 30 days?”

Tap! Tap!

Sama Chak, who was sitting on the opposite side of Hu Bong, tried to explain it.

As he said, it was indeed difficult to change the perception of people who were constantly being fed with wrong information.

Therefore, the people belonging to the Demonic Cult's branch were working hard in many ways to change the perception.

"Besides, thanks to the reputation of our Lord, there are 100 new members in this month only. Wasn't that enough publicity already? Don't worry too much."

"Those were all martial arts students."

Those newly admitted to the academy weren't ordinary people.

They were all wandering martial arts rogues who applied for admission into the Demonic Academy after hearing about Chun Yeowun's rise to the Divine Master level and the battle in Jin Castle.

Chun Yeowun's face as one of the five strongest warriors skyrocketed in the entire Wulin.

As rumors spread about the change in the state religion and humiliation endured by the Yulin in the Jin Castle, the words that the Demonic Cult's Lord might end up conquering the entire Wulin spread, which made independent and non-famed martial arts people who didn't belong to any clan began to show up.

“It’s just the beginning. This is proof that many people want to join the academy of our Lord, who’s considered to be the youngest one of the top five strongest warriors.”

“I am actually a little dissatisfied with that.”

“Huh?”

Everyone was shocked at what Hu Bong said. This man was supposed to be Chun Yeowun’s fan.

Grumbling, Hu Bong continued.

“I don’t get it. At this point, shouldn’t the Lord be called the strongest in Wulin and not one of the five strongest warriors? Even the Great Leader of the Forces of Justice is no match and our Lord could deal with three Supreme Masters at the same time. Everyone witnessed that.”

“Hm, that is true.”

Even Ko Wanghur agreed with Hu Bong’s words.

Chun Yeowun showed such great power and he was still ‘only’ being called one of the five strongest warriors of Wulin, even though his powers far exceed that threshold.

He even took down the Forces of Evil and the divided Yulin in the Jin Castle all by himself.

At that time, Hou Sanghwa, who was quietly having her noodles, opened her mouth and spoke.

“Maybe it’s because of that monster of the east.”

“Monster of the east?”

While Hu Bong was puzzled, Sama Chak, who was next to him, clapped his hands.

“Ah! Are you talking about the East Challenger God?”

Ark Wui.

One of the five strongest warriors.

He was called the East Challenger God. Among the five, he was known for not using any weapons but still reaching the top ranks with just his fists.

Chun Yeowun also had the character of ‘God’ attached to his title, but Ark Wui was the only one before Chun Yeowun to hold the character of God in his title.

“Ah, but does it even make sense to compare our Lord, who publicly displayed his power, to someone who is only rumored to be strong?”

At Hu Bong’s words, Ko Wanghur, who had been smiling, snorted and spoke.

“No, Hu Bong! Aren’t you just dismissing what our Sanghwa said?”

“Our Sanghwa? Woa! It’s starting again.”

“Pfffttt!”

Spit!

At those words, Ho Sanghwa ended up spilling the noodles in her mouth as her face turned red.

Thanks to that, Sama Chak’s face was wrapped up in noodles, who sat opposite to Sanghwa.

‘Ah... I think I’ve been through this before.’

Was it a déjà-vu or a jamais-vu?

Ko Wanghur and Sanghwa started dating a while back.

As if two bears were getting along with each other, the two of them were taller than other people and got along well. It almost felt like they were born into that relationship.

Which only made someone's stomach churn.

"Huh, is he trying to make others who are single feel miserable?"

"Khuem!"

"I was holding back myself from talking about it. When you two are the only ones who go ahead and do that, my delicate heart will break. And..."

'... it's starting again.'

Tch!

At the start of Hu Bong's non-stop rapping, Ho Sanghwa looked at Ko Wangur who was seated next to her.

She told him to not call her 'Our Sanghwa' in front of others, but now that he did it, they would have to listen to Hu Bong's complaints throughout their meal.

In that noisy mumbling, Hu Bong suddenly stopped speaking.

"Huh?"

They looked at the place where his gaze lingered; a young man with a long robe and a face full of scars was approaching them.

'Martial arts user?'

At first glance, they recognized that the young man with scars was trained in martial arts.

He was at the Super Master level.

They thought that he would be wary of approaching them, but the man who approached their table did something unexpected.

Thud!

He knelt on the ground.

“I... I am greeting the people of the Sky Demon Order.”

“Huh?”

Everyone looked puzzled at the sound of the young man who suddenly knelt down.

Ko Wanghur stood up from his seat and asked.

“Why did you suddenly get down on your knees?”

With an earnest voice, the young man answered.

“Let me see the Lord of the Demonic Cult!”

“?”

When he suddenly asked them to take him to the Lord of the Demonic Cult, even Ko Wanghur was at a loss for words.

Looking at the shabby demeanour, the young man seemed like a rogue and they thought that he wanted to join the academy.

Hu Bong got up and spoke.

“Ah! If you are going to enter the academy, you need to go into the alley across the street and inquire in the branch...”

At those words, the scar faced young man shook his head.

“I am sorry, but I didn’t come here for that. I came to see the Lord of the Demonic Cult and ask for his help.”

Hu Bong raised his eyebrows as he approached the young man and said.

“Hah, recklessly asking us to take you to the Lord of the Demonic Cult, you must be thinking that we’ll simply say ‘yes’ and guide you to our Lord right...”

The moment Hu Bong was about to finish, the scar faced young man pulled something out of his arm.

“!?”

A slate made of jade. The moment he saw that, he immediately knew what it was.

Hu Bong's eyes widened at the sight.

“Hu Bong, what is it... ah!”

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

Wondering what Hu Bong was seeing, Ko Wangur leaned his head close to Hu Bong, who was shocked.

The jade slate was engraved with characters and a seal.

South Demon Lord, Chun Inji.

The jade slate was none other than that of Chun Inji, the former Lord, who had disappeared a long time ago.

Chapter 402 - Guest from the North (2)

Chapter 402: Guest from the North (2)

The opening of the Demonic Academy.

The site of the opening, which had received great support from the Emperor, and the hall of the academy were both as large as the original hall.

It could be called the largest, except for the main headquarters of the Demonic Cult.

In the grand hall of the branch, about four hundred warriors of the Demonic cult were in their training uniform and watched the battle of two people.

These people were two of the Six Swords, Bakgi and Che Takim.

Tak! Tak!

The two were fighting while not holding onto any weapons, which was different from the existing martial arts.

Unlike the ordinary martial arts that form qi through the connection with internal energy, the movements of Bakgi and Che Takim were techniques that aimed directly for the opponent's blood points.

Punch!

Bakgi avoided the incoming attack while spinning in mid-air with his unique footwork and tried to kick his opponent, but only until Che Takim grabbed Bakgi's leg with his bare hands.

"Woah!"

That wasn't the end.

The moment he grabbed Bakgi's leg, Che Takim twisted his body like a snake strangling its prey and restrained Bakgi tight enough to break the leg joints for the finest movement.

Each and everyone who was witnessing the battle exclaimed what they saw. Everything was unfolding too quickly.

"Woah!"

“How did he suppress the kick from Bakgi like that?”

Che Takim was an excellent martial arts user, but he was the lower ranked one in the Six Swords ranking.

However, when he defeated Bakgi, the third ranked in the Six Swords, in a matter of seconds, everyone was shocked.

‘Tch’

Maybe he was offended by the reaction from the Cult’s warriors, so Bakgi bent a little, gathered internal energy in his arms and spread his legs while rotating them like a windmill.

“Woah!”

Wooong! Thud!

Thanks to that, Che Takim, who was crossing his legs, couldn’t overcome the force and was thrown away.

Of course he could have clenched his grip a little more to break the legs, but if Bakgi realized his intent and gathered energy in his legs, then Che Takim would end up suffering damage.

“Woah! He got out of it!”

“How can such a skill be used properly?”

At first glance, it looked like he was rolling around on the floor, but at some point, the momentum of a typhoon emerged.

The sharp wind pressure in the rotation of the two legs loaded with energy made it difficult to approach the man.

It was a unique technique completely different from usual martial arts.

‘Nano, what’s this?’

[Capoeira’s Windmill has an appropriate distribution of energy. If strong force qi is concentrated with the internal energy, the killing power will be more than doubled.]

Nano answered Chun Yeowun, who was observing the match.

The martial arts displayed by Che Takim and Bakgi, the current Six Swords who were present, were techniques that

Nano made by including the future's martial arts of boxing, taekwondo, jiu-jitsu and capoeira.

The existing martial arts can be destroyed and defended against once the opponent understands the technique, but the martial arts from the future were thoroughly made only to destroy the opponent's body, making it a dangerous weapon.

'I was worried if they could learn it properly, but they got it down perfectly.'

Chun Yeowun was satisfied.

Yet, there were bound to be people with different views.

Che Takim was more specialized in boxing and Jiu-jitsu, both of which depended on the hands, while Bakgi mastered taekwondo and capoeira, both of which focused on the legs.

It was the best way to give them what they were used to the most.

'With this level of execution, they can do wonders in hand-to-hand combat.'

The work of the modern day martial arts, which they started to train for when Chun Yeowun was crowned as the Lord, had finally come to fruition.

These two had brilliantly learned the skills in just a couple months' time.

Pak!

Bakgi and Che Takim, who finished their duel, politely bowed to each other.

The warriors, who witnessed the confrontation, cheered.

“Woow!”

Hou Jingchang, the head of the warriors, who was standing next to Chun Yeowun, was first seated and then shortly after took a couple steps forward and shouted.

“Watch carefully! This is something that the Lord has created, a combination of different kinds of combat martial arts, which will become the foundational Martial Arts of our academy.”

“Woahhhhh!!!”

The “Combination of Combat Martial Arts”.

Chun Yeowun had named it as such because the completed product was done by collecting the essence of various future martial art styles.

When Hou Jinchang first saw it, he couldn't get himself to believe it.

[The Lord had created such techniques?]

He couldn't believe that Chun Yeowun, who was nothing more than a beginner at first, created a martial art with a thorough analysis of the human body that was completely different from the existing styles.

[Oh oooh! He is truly on the road of becoming a great lord! The presence of our Lord is enhancing the academy!]

[...]

Chun Yeowun was happy, yet it made him feel uncomfortable.

Strictly speaking, it was a martial art created by the analysis of Nano that was inside Chun Yeowun.

“From today onwards, the warriors’ guards will be trained like the military. They will be taught the combination of combat martial arts. Let’s learn it perfectly, so we do not become a nuisance to our members!”

“Yes!!!”

Chun Yeowun’s lips went up at the morale filled shouts of the fierce warrior guards, which resonated throughout the hall.

This was just the beginning.

And within the Ten Thousand Mountains, Demon Doctor Baek Jongwu and Godly Doctor Gam Rosu were done analyzing the Qilin’s Blood and entered into the process of converting it into a stable elixir.

The process was done quickly as Chun Yeowun had passed on Nano’s information about the ingredients.

‘Not long now.’

The day to hold the power that one wants was coming closer.

Meanwhile, two women were watching the battle from outside the great hall.

The two women were so beautiful that it would be no exaggeration to say that they were the best looking women in the place.

The woman in the blue uniform with a pleased smile on her face was Mun Ku.

However, Mun Ku, who always had a smiling face, had reddened cheeks and was conscious of the woman standing next to her.

With a pure white face like Chun Yeowun and long silver hair stood Wang Yogun.

Wang Yogun's gaze didn't move from Chun Yeowun's face, who sat in the Great Hall like the king.

Seeing Yogun's cheeks flush red, Mun Ku's cheeks began to turn red in anger.

'Hmph!'

Plain dissatisfaction.

She was nothing more than a female warrior who arrived at the academy five days ago.

She said that she had come with Lee Hameng to announce some important news, but she had been hanging around the Lord for five days straight!

Mun Ku did say that she's trying to understand the situation, but she couldn't help but be pissed off at her presence.

‘Right. I need to act bolder!’

Jealousy didn’t suit her.

In her usual tone, Mun Ku spoke to her.

“Hm hm! Lady Wang, I heard that you weren’t feeling well yet, so why not go and rest instead of straining your body unnecessarily?”

Thanks to Chun Yeowun, Wang Yogun’s life was saved, but her body was currently fragile as she had Chun Yeowun’s yang energy inside her.

And she was picking up excuses to always be around Chun Yeowun.

At Mun Ku’s words, Wang Yogun responded with a smile.

“No, Lady Mun. I am fine. It’s nice to see the Lord enjoying himself. If you are tired, you don’t have to worry about me and can head back in.”

‘Ughhhhh!’

At her answer, Mun Ku's cheeks blushed red.

It felt like she had been attacked.

'Bold... be bolder... I need to be bold... ah! I don't know!'

She couldn't be bold.

Wang Yogun had come to tell Chun Yeowun about the news of Chun Yujong after waking up, but she was using it as an excuse to cling to Chun Yeowun and try to get to know him better.

'She should have just headed back with the Left Guardian. There is nothing left for you to do. Tch tch.'

When Chun Yeowun heard that the former Lord had woken up, he sent Lee Hameng to finish the work that was left behind in the central academy.

However, Wang Yogun wanted to return to the Demonic Cult with Chun Yeowun.

'Hmm.'

Looking at Mun Ku, who was embarrassed, Wang Yogun felt sorry for her.

‘Lady Mun, I am sorry. It is hard for me to see the Lord’s face too, which is why I am doing such things.’

Unlike Mun Ku, who had an emotional bond with Chun Yeowun since the time of the academy, Wang Yogun was connected to him through her body (lol). And because she didn’t know him very well yet, it was the exact reason as to why she wanted to get to know him better.

However, since Chun Yeowun is the Lord of the Demonic Cult, she couldn’t meet him very often. Also, there was no better opportunity for her to meet him than the one right now.

‘If things go well with the Lord, I’ll treat you as an older sister. Until then, hold on. Hm.’

While they were competing with each other, someone hurriedly entered the Great Hall.

Tatak!

“Hu Bong?”

Mun Ku was shocked when she saw him.

However, as it was urgent, Hu Bong didn't even greet her and went straight for Chun Yeowun.

'What is wrong?'

Even Chun Yeowun was surprised to see Hu Bong rush in like that.

He knew that something big had happened.

** *

Chun Yeowun followed Hu Bong.

He said that a guest was waiting for him within the hall.

Hu Bong's hand held the jade slate, which was engraved with the signature of the former Lord Chun Inji.

The identity slate was real and so was the seal on it.

He had Nano analyze it and it was an object made of jade with the same composition that he had.

‘The identity slate of my lost grandfather.’

Chun Inji had gone missing during the festival twenty years ago.

He disappeared without saying a word, so the warriors of the Demonic Cult searched for him everywhere, but they were never able to find him.

However, after so many years someone who knew something about him had appeared.

“Lord, you need to be prepared just in case. Although the jade slate is real, it doesn’t mean that we can trust him blindly.”

Great Guardian Marakim, who was walking next to Chun Yeowun, expressed his opinion.

Marakim was the only one who saw Chun Inji before he disappeared.

Even to him, Chun Inji didn’t reveal why he wanted to leave the Cult.

The fact that such a man, who disappeared without a trace, sent his identity slate with someone else made it difficult for him to trust the situation.

“Once we see him, we’ll know.”

The truth can only be found out when the person was met.

When they entered the guest room on the east side, Ko Wanghur and Hou Sanghwa were waiting with a young man, whose face was full of scars.

Almost as if he had been detained by the two.

“Lord!”

The two of them got up when they saw the Lord. The eyes of the young man looked straight at Chun Yeowun.

‘That is the current Lord of the Demonic Cult?’

The supposed lord seemed a lot younger than him.

When he came down to Jianghu and heard of the rumors about the Divine Master level, he thought that the Lord would be elderly and someone who possessed unparalleled dignity, but this was completely different to what he had expected.

Although his eyes were sharp and he had a mysterious aura around him, there was no sign that said that he had been training in martial arts. He just looked like a noble family’s young lord.

‘Are they trying to make a fool out of me?’

He couldn’t help but feel suspicious, but the man who was walking next to the Lord made him nervous.

Just looking at him was enough to know that he was a great man.

‘Ah! He has to be that famous man!’

The famous Dark King, Marakim.

Everyone knew that he was the Lord’s right hand man, but the fact that he was walking alongside this young man meant that he had to be the Lord of the Demonic Cult.

The scar faced young man quickly got up from his seat and was about to greet, when suddenly Chun Yeowun opened his mouth first.

“Are you the one who brought this slate?”

Chun Yeowun asked after showing the identity slate of the former lord of the Demonic Cult.

“Ah-yes.”

That was when Ko Wanghur, who was next to the man, warned him in a low voice.

“You saw the Lord of our faction now, are you still not going to disclose your identity?!”

The young man had insisted that he wouldn’t reveal anything until he met with the Lord of the Cult in person.

They were planning on forcing him to answer, but realizing that the issue was serious, they held back and brought him to the academy, despite not liking him.

Tak!

At that moment, the young man hurriedly introduced himself.

“I-I am honoured to meet Chun Ma of the Sky Demon Order. My name is Dan Baekhyun who came here as an envoy from the North Ice Palace.”

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

“North Ice... Palace?”

Everyone in the room was shocked at the unexpected identity reveal of the scar faced young man.

Shockingly, he wasn't a warrior from the Jianghu, but a person from the North Ice Palace, one of the three powers who held supremacy over the cold northern land.

Chapter 403 - Guest from the North (3)

Chapter 403: Guest from the North (3)

The three great powers outside of Jianghu.

There were different kinds of martial arts established and followed by the people there.

Of course, from the point of view of the Jianghu people, though they were people outside the region, their martial arts and fighting style were not too different from Jianghu martial arts.

The three powers, who were considered an outside power, were East, West and North. First was the Boudala palace, where Buddhism was spread to the Tibetan plateau. The second was the Imperial region, where the Shaolin temple became famous for its martial palace. Last but not least was the North Ice Palace, which was also called the Northern Sea (Lake Baikal), a land of cold snow fields.

Of course, in addition to those, there were the South Yunan forces, Indo forces and the Pasa warriors. There were known to be various groups of armed people, however the mentioned three were the only ones known to be gaining strength consistently.

‘North Sea Ice Palace...’

At one point, around 30 years ago, among the outside forces, there was a group that moved to the south to seek power over the Jianghu.

They were the North Sea Ice Palace.

Less than a month after entering the Central Plains (Jianghu), they gave up on their plans due to the climate and food culture, which was too different for them to get used to in a long war.

At that time, the North Sea Ice Palace became famous for signing a peace treaty with the Wulin, which was about giving up the confrontation and not continuing the war.

“An envoy from the North Sea Ice Palace?”

Chun Yeowun’s eyes lit up.

It was surprising to hear that the person who brought in the missing former Lord Chun Inji’s identity slate was someone from the North Sea Ice Palace.

‘Envoy? Ugh.’

Hu Bong looked at the young man with distrust.

If he really was an envoy of such a famous place, then he should have come with some people behind him, but this man was shabby looking, lean, scar faced and looked like a total rogue.

“If you really are the envoy from the North Sea Ice Palace, shouldn’t you be holding something to symbolize your status and role?”

Great Guardian Marakim, who had been suspicious of the young man since the beginning, asked.

Everyone nodded their heads in agreement.

When referring to themselves as envoys, they would usually carry around at least a letter from the palace or, in the case of the North Sea Ice Palace, an identity slate.

“Ah...”

At Marakim’s question, Baekhyun, who called himself the envoy, looked puzzled.

Come to think of it, the letter from the Palace requesting the help was taken by his uncle to the Yulin.

“T-that is with my uncle, not me...”

“Uncle?”

“Ahh, how do I begin to explain this...”

In fact, the letter to Yulin was an official request, but the request from the Demonic Cult was being done by Baekhyun on his own volition.

It felt like if the truth was told, then the atmosphere which was already sour would turn into a big mess.

‘Suspicious.’

As he hesitated to answer, Marakim’s distrust grew.

Baekhyun, who was confused about what had to be done, spoke out as soon as he thought of something.

“Ah! I will show you proof that I am a person from the North Sea Ice Palace.”

The simplest way.

Dan Baekyun, who was standing next to Ko Wanghur, asked him.

“Would you mind releasing the control on my internal energy?”

“Release of internal energy?”

Ko Wanghur’s eyebrows rose.

This young man didn’t seem like a dangerous man and also didn’t look like he had reached Super Master level, however, he couldn’t help but wonder if the control over his internal energy should be released before even verifying his identity.

However, Chun Yeowun allowed it, so it had to be released.

Tatata!

“Sigh!”

The moment the control was released, mist flowed out of his mouth.

It was a phenomenon that happened when the control was released.

Dan Baekhyun, who took a deep breath, pointed to a teacup placed on the table.

“Uh?”

“Look there.”

He held the half full teacup, and then started to expand his internal energy.

After a while, a change occurred.

Swoosh! Crack!

Cold energy rose from his hand, and the half full teacup froze immediately along with a light vapor appearing above it.

It was a typical cold energy show, a symbol to prove that he belonged to the North Sea Ice Palace.

‘There was such an easy way, but I was too confused and ended up looking suspicious in their eyes. Ugh.’

Baekhyun sighed out of relief.

Since he went ahead and showed them his ability, he thought that they would no longer doubt his identity.

‘Huh?’

The eyes looking at him were still suspicious.

They seemed upset too.

‘Wh-what went wrong? I even showed them my cold energy, so what?’

They still were in disbelief.

What he showed was the North Sea Ice Palace, Ice Palm, but the situation didn’t seem to lighten up.

He couldn’t understand, but Chun Yeowun placed his hand on the table.

Swoosh!

‘!?’

Crack!

‘Wh-what was that!!!’

In that moment, intense cold energy radiated, cooling the entire room. Then white frost started to form on the table, which froze the table completely.

When Chun Yeowun lightly slammed the completely frozen table, cracks formed around the part, like it was ready to shatter.

Crack!

Looking at the pieces of the ice which fell to the floor, Baekyun mumbled in a flustered manner.

“H-how could you do this?”

The extent of cold energy produced was unbelievable.

Moreover, it was much faster than the internal energy’s Ice Palm technique he showed.

As he lived in the north, he was exposed to the cold all year around, but he was surprised to see Chun Yeowun, who had never been to the North, perform techniques which needed Yin energy in his body.

“If that is the case, then I must be from the North Sea Ice Palace too, right?”

“...”

Asking something like that, left the man speechless.

Baekhyun, who was dumbfounded for a moment, opened his mouth while stuttering.

“H-how... do you have so much Yin energy?”

“Is that important? I don’t think that showing your identity to prove that you were from the North Sea Ice Palace was such a tough thing.”

Baekhyun was embarrassed.

In the beginning, he did seem suspicious.

He came in with the identity slate of the former Lord, so it was very hard to believe that it wasn’t a trap. Especially from the Lord of the Demonic Cult's perspective. It seemed like Baekhyun was trying to isolate him.

"Lord, isn't there an easier way than to do all of this?"

Hu Bong asked with a sneaky smile.

He knew that Chun Yeowun had something he liked using to clearly tell if someone was lying or not.

Seeing that uneasy smile, Baekhyun spoke out.

"Wait a minute! You must know this right? Those who have mastered the martial arts in the main palace have silver hair due to the influence of the internal energy in their body."

"... your hair is black."

It had a faint hint of grey, but still, it was of black color.

"It is because I still haven't mastered it yet. However, if the 5th level could be reached out of the 8 levels, silver hair will start to appear once one uses cold energy."

At those words, Chun Yeowun looked at Great Guardian Marakim.

However, even Marakim, who was the most aware of martial arts, shook his head as if he wasn't familiar with it.

The North Sea Ice Palace had practically little to no interaction with people of Jianghu, except for the incident that happened many years ago.

And with the Demonic Cult being in the south of the Yellow River, there was no chance of them encountering or interacting with the people of the north, so it was practically impossible to know the details of the Cold energy, the techniques or the martial levels they used.

Elder Huan Yi, who was the type to gather information, might have known about this.

At that time, Marakim remembered a person who knew about this.

"Maybe Wang Jing might know."

"Ah... that could be."

Chun Yeowun nodded as if it felt reasonable.

Martial Dual Sword Wang Jing was living in secret after he became one of the five strongest warriors of Wulin, right after annihilating the pirates.

And 30 years ago, Wang Jing was a member of the Wulin, so he could know about it.

“Hu Bong. Bring Wang Jing.”

“Yes, my Lord.”

At Chun Yeowun’s command, Hu Bong left.

‘Wang Jing... Wang Jing... where did I hear that before... Wang Jing... I definitely heard that name a lot...ah!’

Baekhyun, who was contemplating the name which felt familiar, yelled out.

“Martial Dual Sword Wang Jing!”

Come to think of it, he heard something when he entered Jianghu.

In addition to Chun Yeowun who reached Divine Master level, there was the news about Wang Jing joining the Demonic Cult.

‘The rumors were true.’

Baekhyun, a member of the North Sea Ice Palace, also dreamed of taking over the Wulin in Jianghu, so he knew about the famous people in Jianghu.

Though his memory was still fuzzy.

‘Two great masters of Wulin in one place, the Demonic Cult. It was no exaggeration to say that he is coveting all the strength.’

The five strongest warriors were always a group of people he heard a lot about.

And now he would see them.

“Stop being so shocked and prove it.”

“Ah, I understand.”

He didn’t learn the use of cold energy to use it for such a situation, but it was the only way to prove his identity.

Gooooo!

Unlike the cold energy that was used before, this time a noticeable change occurred in Baekhyun's body.

At the frost, which began to appear, his skin turned white and the black hair began to turn silver from the root.

"Oh!"

Ko Wanghur and Hou Sanghwa began to exclaim their emotions at the sight that was unfolding in front of their eyes.

Baekhyun's hair, which was black until recently, turned silver giving off a mysterious feeling to the people around.

'It is amazing.'

They weren't sure what kind of phenomenon it was, but it surely was shocking.

Until a moment ago, they were feeling skeptical, but if Wang Jing could see it, he would definitely believe that this man's identity was indeed true.

Swooooo!

When Baekhyun stopped, the silver hair lost its color and changed back to black.

It was as if they were seeing a magic trick happen.

“Did you see it?”

Baekhyun was pleased to see their shocked expression.

When it came to silver hair, he was sure that it would be accepted since that was something only those who use cold energy could do.

“My Lord, Wang Jing is here.”

Right that moment, Hu Bong brought Wang Jing with him.

Wang Jing, the Dual Martial Sword, could only prove his identity once the issue would be solved, but there was another difficulty: he had to convince Lord Chun Yeowun to help them.

‘Still, since the former Lord’s slate is with me, he might help me.’

The door opened first, with Hu Bong coming in followed by someone else.

‘Ah... it really is Wang Jing!’

Baekhyun was happy to see Wang Jing, one of the five strongest warriors, whom he had heard of since his childhood. He quickly turned around to look at him.

“North Sea Ice Palace’s Baekhyun greets Wang Jing, who is one of the five strongest warriors of...”

Baekhyun’s eyes shook when he turned.

A white faced, silver haired beauty, Wang Yogun, was walking alongside Wang Jing and entered his eyes.

‘Ugh, what is that?’

Baekhyun was confused for a moment, so he wasn’t sure what to say.

He was already confused at Chun Yeowun using cold energy a while back. Now he was afraid that the same thing would happen again, and because of the woman, he felt his feet go numb.

“Wh, something doesn’t seem right. How could this happen? For someone who is unaware of our skills...”

He was speaking in gibberish, even tears began to fall.

Baekhyun thought that everything would go smoothly if he showed the identity slate of Chun Inji, but everything was turning into a mess.

At the same time within Yulin.

In the room of the Great Leader, Yi Mok and four other leaders were discussing the current matter with serious faces looking at the content in the long booklet that was on the table.

There was someone impatiently waiting in another room, Dan Juseong, uncle of Dan Baekhyun, from the North Sea Ice Palace.

He delivered the letter he got from the palace and informed them.

Yi Mok called in for an urgent meeting with the available leaders.

They all had anxious expressions, and so did the man seated in the other room.

He heard numerous rumors as he headed to this place.

‘Why did such an incident have to happen at a time like this? Ahhh.’

It was about the war in Jin Castle.

He heard about the damage the Yulin and the Forces of Justice took.

After the signing of the treaty, regular information was being exchanged, but he was concerned if Yulin and the Forces of Justice might be of any help this time.

In the room, opinions were divided in half, and the discussions were severe.

Hong Palwoo raised his voice by pointing the finger at the contents of the book.

“This is very dangerous, Great Leader. A dragon?”

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

“I agree with leader Hong. What on earth is this spirit beast that has lived for so many years after being sealed in the North Sea Ice Palace? I don't understand this!"

The opinions were divided.

A plea for help in killing a dragon, the Dragon Turtle, which was the same as the Imoogi and Qilin: A spiritual beast.

Chapter 404 - Guest from the North (4)

Chapter 404: Guest from the North (4)

Dragon Turtle.

A divine animal and one of the five Spirit Beasts.

The five Spirit Beasts which are Imoogi, Flame Qilin, Dragon Turtle, Great Bird (Garuda) and Pung Baekho (White Tiger).

As the name suggests, it is a dragon spirit, with the head of a dragon and body of a tortoise.

As the time passes, with most spirit beasts, their bodies grow and begin to generate stronger spiritual power, and the dragon spirits display their strength in the number of their heads.

Dragon spirits are often worshipped as the Gods by the merchants who create dragon amulets and pray for safe arrival and departure of their goods.

According to the ancient texts, in the days of the Five Emperors, a six headed dragon spirit appeared and took the lives of half the people in Zhongyun.

At that time, there was a legend that the three of the Five Emperors, Suiren, and Fuxi and Shennong led their people and killed the spirit beast for the sake of peace in their world.

“Dragons are real dangerous creatures. It isn’t something that warriors can take on.”

As Hong Palwoo said his opinion, even Moyong Kang, insisted that the request for help should be refused.

The way he spoke, with his eyes trembling, and a serious look.

The people of Moyong clan, who came from the fallen Yan dynasty, knew the power of the dragon very well.

“In the past, even the Yan Dynasty met with a three headed dragon. Do you have any idea what happened?”

Because of that one three headed dragon, five cities were annihilated, and thousands of people died.

With the help of numerous military forces and Wulin, finally the dragon was killed.

Therefore, Moyong Kang was more familiar with the legends and tales of the dragons than the others, as he himself had witnessed the destruction those beasts brought.

“They are not called creatures of disasters for nothing. Even if that isn’t true, I see no need for us to overdo and help them when we know that our Yulin clan’s power has been greatly reduced.”

Moyong Kang spoke out.

On the other hand, Shaolin temple’s head, Gakyeon, the 2nd leader of the Forces of Justice had a different opinion.

“Amitabha. The words of Leader Moyong are understandable, but if we ignore the plea from the North Sea Ice Palace, they won’t just suffer great damages, but might go extinct. We signed an agreement with them and promised to help each other when there was something that couldn’t be handled.”

“Even if that is the case...”

Before he could finish, the 14th leader of Forces of Justice, Jeokyang intervened.

Among the clans, who worshipped martial arts, he was known to be a moderate figure.

“Leader Moyong. Even I think that the saint’s words are correct in this matter. If our Yulin represents Justice and aims for justice, don't you think that we should be the first to move?"

"Kum!"

As soon as he mentioned the representation of Yulin, Moyong Kang couldn't refute it.

However, Hong Palwoo, had something to say.

"As the leader said, justice is our spirit. Upholding justice is supposed to be our thing but, the Forces of Evil in the west and the Blade God Six Martial clan in the east are doing well, while the Demonic Cult's powers are getting stronger with each day. Who will keep justice alive if something happens during this mission?"

"If we can help them out in a way that doesn't hurt out..."

"No. Didn't he just say how dangerous the three headed dragon was, it destroyed five cities. So, I am guessing you can understand how dangerous the four headed dragon can be, right? Rather, we should be thankful that it is in the North and not in Jianghu..."

"Amitabha! Leader Hong, your words are excessive!"

It was one of the most intensive meetings they ever had.

Neither side wanted to back down, and both had reasonable arguments.

It was turning into a meeting, where the Great Leader would have to take a side.

‘The opinions of both sides are valid as they are looking for the well-being of Forces of Justice. But there is one thing which worries me.’

The danger they would get themselves into was not being considered.

If it really was a dragon spirit, which had been sealed for ages, and released recently, they should have given them more in depth information.

When the leaders were arguing about the dragon spirit, Yi Mok was concerned about the details.

‘Hmm?’

However, there was someone else who was paying attention to the same part as Yi Mok.

It was his second son, Kang Soah.

He was someone who exuded a completely different feel from Yeon Buso, this kid was full of typical Forces of Justice spirit.

The eyes which looked like they could see through anyone, made people feel threatened.

‘He is talented enough.’

Yi Mok tightly blinked his eyes.

The first kid, Yeon Buso, was given back to the Forces of Justice a month ago.

[Monster... that one is a monster. Ughhh!]

When Yeon Buso arrived, even though his arm was cut off, he didn’t stop training.

However, just as any powerful man who got his pride crushed in utter defeat, his broken heart and spirit showed no signs of recovery.

‘Because he chose to hide in the dark, I didn’t try to use him...’

Kang Soah was the most ambitious of the three children he raised.

The scary thing was, despite being ambitious, he knew how to wait for the right moment before revealing himself.

It was a driving force which could make him develop infinitely, but Great Leader Yi Mok never took him seriously.

[Evil forces need to be annihilated.]

Kang Soah had been making the same claim for the past ten years.

Great leader Yi Mok knew what his character was from that moment.

The fear that, if this kid took the power of Yulin into his hands, the entire Yulin would get stained in blood.

[Isn't Kang Soah's talent comparable to Yeon Buso?]

[Isn't it better to leave the possibility of a new successor open for now?]

There was a reason why Yi Mok placed Kang Soah away from the position.

Since Yeon Buso turned broke, he tried very hard to accept the opinion that it would give Kang Soah a chance.

So, as a test, he recently had him attend various meetings.

Maybe this dragon would end up giving him an opportunity to wake up to reality?

Kang Soah, who had been in thought, got up and looked at the other leaders before saying.

“Great Leader. And various other leaders here, is it alright for me to ask a favor?”

The eyes of everyone, who had been arguing for a while, turned to Kang Soah.

‘Huh?’

Even Yi Mok was puzzled.

He didn’t expect the kid to give his opinion in such an important meeting, which he was attending for the first time.

It was the same with the others, who were looking at him.

“Amitabha. A favor? Leader Kang?”

It was the Gakyeon of Shaolin temple.

Kang Soah, was the leader of Black Shadow force, one of the four major forces of the Forces of Justice, along with the North Justice Blade of Yeon Buso.

At the question of Gakyeon, Kang Soah politely pointed to the door of the room and said.

“I have a question for the envoy from the North Sea Ice Palace. May I summon him inside the room for a moment?”

Moyong Kang narrowed his eyes and asked.

“But this matter hasn’t been decided yet.”

It implied that he, who was a kid, didn’t have the right to express his opinion.

Nevertheless, Kang Soah answered not showing any intention of backing down.

“This is an important issue that will determine whether or not we should head to the North.”

“Something that can decide against or not?”

“Hm...”

Everyone seemed a little shocked with Kang Soah’s words.

Dan Juseong, who was waiting in the other room, entered the room with an anxious expression.

Eyes filled with anticipation, hoping that they had come to a favourable decision.

Contrary to his expectations, Kang Soah touched the booklet and asked.

“I would like to ask this question to the envoy from the North. According to the contents of this booklet, it is said that you tried to search the underground path by breaking down the ice to find the lost treasure of the North Sea. This means that you didn’t know that the dragon was alive, right?”

Dan Juseong was disappointed with it.

They had been busy for one straight hour, but it looked like the decision hadn’t been made yet.

However, he didn’t express his regret, and answered.

“... Hundreds of years had passed since the dragon spirit was frozen in ice and sealed away. From the palace’s thoughts, they assumed that the monster was long dead.”

“Is that so? Hmm, that doesn’t matter.”

Dan Juseong,’s eyes turned cold.

He didn’t like that Kang Soah was interrogating him.

Not caring, Kang Soah continued to speak.

“However, in this booklet, it was written that this happened because of the power of the bomb you got from Jianghu.”

At those words, Dang Juseong’s expression hardened.

After hesitating a moment, he briefly answered.

“... that is right.”

“You wrote something about the bomb you got from Jianghu, can you tell me in detail about where you got it?”

“How is that important?”

Kang Soah answered the question of Dan Juseong, who was flustered.

“If the power of that bomb is strong enough to destroy the place where the dragon spirit has been sealed, the explosive power is unusual.”

“... true.”

“It was mentioned that the bomb was from Jianghu, the central plains.”

“ ... ”

“But, the bomb with that power shouldn’t even be made, and it isn’t supposed to be released to others at all. It’s something that even the Yulin, who have a close relationship with the Imperial family, don’t touch.”

“Ah!”

At Kang Soah’s words, all the leaders exclaimed.

They were so focused on the matter of the dragon which was a disaster that they overlooked what Kang Soah was talking about.

“I heard that during the war which took place in Jin castle, a large number of bombs were planted underground.”

Kang Soah speculated that the bombs were from the Blade God Six Martial clan.

Which was why he asked this question.

The answer about what North Sea Ice Palace had to do with the clan, would make the leaders decide on helping them.

It seemed like something was being hidden from them.

Everyone was now focused on Dan Juseong.

Perplexed, he pondered for a while and then answered after taking a deep breath.

“Phew, this is a matter of internal affairs in the palace, so it was only supposed to be revealed later. I’ll be honest. The bomb was obtained from a monstrous group in the central plains. They came to the palace and presented it.”

“Monstrous group?”

“Neither the officials nor the palace people know who they are.”

“What is that supposed to mean?”

“We only heard that it was a clan from the Jianghu, who had great connection with three elders of our palace.”

“And even they don’t know?”

“They said that they couldn’t reveal the identity, until the situation was an emergency, we are unaware.”

The leaders were confused.

Even if that was the case, if those three elders had such a relationship, it meant that they had a high status which no one could counter.

“Are saying that those elders aren’t revealing it? That is tough for us to understand.”

At Kang Soah’s words, Dan Juseong answered with a trembling voice.

“What could we hear from the people who aren’t in the world any longer?”

“Sorry?”

“The king and the three elders died as they were imprisoned in the ice along with that dragon including the group.”

‘!?’

Everyone was shocked at the bitter truth which was revealed.

Since the seal that was on the booklet belonged to the deputy king, they assumed that something was wrong with the palace, but they never guessed that this would have happened.

In a bitter voice, Yi Mok apologized.

“We are very sorry to hear that. We will mourn for him.”

“Thank you for your words, but our King’s death wasn’t an accident.”

Gasp!

Dan Juseong took something out of his sleeve and placed it on the table.

It was well folded paper.

Moyong Kang, who was the closest, opened the paper which had a cloth attached to it and showed it to the others.

“T-this is?”

“The only thing that survived from the wounded bodies.”

The moment they saw it, everyone knew.

The marks on the cloth.

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

‘Blade God Six Martial Clan!’

The marks left on that cloth were the same as the Blade God Six Martial clan's sword.

As they fought them in the Jin Castle, they were able to clearly recognize them.

Kang Soah's insight proved to be right.

Chapter 405 - Guest from the North (5)

Chapter 405: Guest from the North (5)

The new branch of the Demonic Academy.

Chun Yeowun looked at the marks which were left on the upper body of Baekhyun, who took his shirt off.

It was something he knew very well.

It was obviously a wound which was caused by the Extreme Art of Blade God.

“Do you know this?”

When everyone else in the room looked unfamiliar, Baekyun asked with a firm face.

Great Guardian, Marakim nodded and answered.

“Extreme Art of Blade God. It is a technique used by the Blade God Six Martial clan.”

“Blade God Six Martial Clan!”

Dan Baekhyun, who heard those words, couldn't hide his surprise.

Even after coming into Jianghu, he couldn't understand what was the technique which had put him on the verge of death.

‘Isn't that a clan which only recently emerged?’

As it was a bizarre technique, he thought that the esteemed Lord of the Demonic Cult, and the other clans of Jianghu might know it, only to realize that a dangerous group much worse than he expected was the source of his wound.

‘They touched the North too.’

Chun Yeowun thought to himself.

Dan Baekhyun, who barely proved himself as a person from the North Sea Ice Palace, thanks to Wang Jing's words, showed them the wound while trying to explain the process of obtaining the former lords jade slate.

“Did you say that they were invited by the three elders?”

“Ha ah... yes, the three elders knew someone from the clan who handled bombs, and wanted things to go smoothly.”

It was said that a sacred object was long lost in the North Sea Ice Palace.

The so-called sacred object was a treasure which symbolized the North Sea Ice Palace and was passed from generation to generation.

However, in the process of subduing the Dragon Turtle which appeared in the North Sea Ice Palace hundreds of years ago, the warriors of the palace sacrificed themselves in the underground of the palace along with Adularia (Ice) and the spirit.

“And as hundreds of years have passed since then, we thought that the spirit must have frozen to death down there.”

The king, along with the three elders and the group of the Blade God Six Martial clan, who had brought in the bombs, managed to break through some of the ice walls while creating explosions and successfully entered the underground.

“At that time, I was unaware. The fact that they had their own reasons to help us.”

As the elders were concealing their identity, it was assumed that there would be no ill intentions.

And the underground they were always told about, turned out to be very deep inside.

“At some point, we didn’t even know how deep we were going.”

They only hoped to find the Adularia at first, but contrary to their expectations, the first thing they found was the Dragon Turtle which was frozen in the ice.

The appearance of the Dragon Turtle was more majestic than they imagined.

“It was there They revealed their true colors.”

The group of the Blade God Six Martial Clan suddenly attacked them.

The king, the warriors of the North Sea Ice Palace, who were considered as outside forces, calmly responded to the sudden attack on them.

However, there was an unexpected ambush.

“The three elders who were supposed to be our men...”

Grunt!

Baekhyun grinded his teeth as he remembered what happened.

“Those bastards backstabbed our King!”

The King, who was attacked by the trusted subordinates, was later hit by the enemies and died on spot.

The remaining warriors of the Ice Palace fought but they couldn't last long because of the drop in morale, and the enemy was too strong for them.

“I thought it was over.”

But something unexpected happened there.

No one knew what it was, but a bomb exploded inside.

“The glacial ice shattered... the... the spirit... it was released. Something no one could have imagined happened. Who would have thought that a monster frozen a hundred years back would still be alive?”

It was something that even the Blade God Six Martial clan hadn't expected.

Released from the ice, which had imprisoned him for hundreds of years, the Dragon Turtle ran rampant, and the Blade God Six Martial clan rushed to kill it.

“The Dragon Turtle... was truly a monster.”

Baekhyun couldn't forget the roar from the monsters.

The people of the Blade God Six Martial clan connected their internal energy, but the scales of the Dragon Turtle couldn't even be scratched.

Contrary, they got electrocuted by the lightning which was brought in by the Dragon Turtle and died.

They died right away.

However, among the people of the Blade God Six Martial clan, there were a few who seemed different.

“They had iron masks on their faces. They were different somehow. In them...”

One man’s martial arts were astonishing.

A man of thrilling actions, convinced everyone that he could kill that monster in one-on-one combat.

“But even that monstrous person had no choice but to succumb in front of the real monster.”

The Dragon Turtle was literally a disaster itself.

Every time the Dragon Turtle ran, the entire place shook. Dan Baekhyun knew that he couldn’t handle it, so he escaped with his injured body.

Fortunately, he wasn’t caught.

“I ran like crazy, without looking back.”

On the way up, he heard a huge explosion underground.

The entire cave, which was made of ice, shook as if it was about to collapse, scared Baekyun ran even faster.

“Bomb.”

Baekhyun nodded at Chun Yeowun’s words.

“Perhaps... those bastards detonated the bomb to kill the Dragon Turtle.”

How far he had run.

The cave, the underground cave which was shaking, went silent.

There was no sound of battle.

When he reached the point halfway through the cave, Baekhyun, who was bleeding heavily from the wounds he had received from the Blade God Six Martial clan, stopped for a couple seconds to recover his exhausted body.

“I thought that I was the only one alive. I even considered that monster to be dead. But that was all an illusion.”

A crack appeared in the ground, and one of the dragon’s heads peeked out.

Whether it was to satisfy the hunger of starving for a long time, the dragon bared his vicious teeth and tried to devour him.

“I thought I was dead.”

Suddenly someone came out, and stabbed the Dragon Turtle in its eye.

The dragon roared in pain, and its long neck and head soon returned back into the hole it appeared from.

Seeing that underground cave shook violently, it seemed like the dragon was angry and wanted to move up.

“Who was the one who saved you?”

Chun Yeowun’s eyes twinkled.

He seemed to know who it was.

“He was a man in an iron mask who did that tremendous action. Seeing that he saved my life, I couldn’t understand what was happening.”

There was no doubt that he was a member of the Blade God Six Martial clan.

But Baekhyun didn’t know why that man saved him.

That was when the man behind the iron mask said to him.

[Run away. And ask for help. Never let the Dragon Turtle fall into their hands.]

He didn't know why he did that, but he was the man who saved Baekhyun's life.

Baekhyun decided that he can't be the enemy, and asked the man to even run away with him.

However, the man in the mask said that the ice cave had to be destroyed to make sure that the Dragon Turtle didn't escape.

"And then he gave me this."

Baekhyun pointed to the identity slate of the former Lord, Chun Inji which was on the table.

Great Guardian Marakim's eyes fluttered through the gap in the mask.

"The man in the iron mask gave it to you?"

“He said this. Take this and go to the Lord, Chun Ma of the Sky Demon Order.”

The man in the iron mask showed his identity slate, and asked to use the slate to enter the Ten Thousand Mountains, to enter the Demonic Cult.

Due to the lack of time in the cave, he couldn't give Baekhyun the full details.

“Odd as it was, he referred to himself as the owner of the slate, and didn't reveal who the group of people who targeted the Dragon Turtle belonged to.”

Chun Yeowun's eyes widened at it.

But Baekhyun, unaware of it, concluded the story.

“He disappeared into the hole from which the Dragon Turtle's head popped up after handing over the slate...”

Pak!

Before he could even finish, Marakim grabbed the man by his arms.

“Are there any techniques that you remember, even a little bit of moves that the man in the iron mask performed?”

“I-it was a sword technique which was too hard for me to follow...”

“Anything will do. It is okay even if you mess it up, so if there is something you can remember, just do it one. Lord!”

Marakim’s complete attention went with the words from Baekhyun who said that the martial arts of the iron mask man were thrilling.

If Baekhyun could remember even a little bit of what he witnessed, it could be of great help in knowing the identity.

Chun Yeowun nodded as he looked at Marakim and gave his permission.

Srrrng!

Marakim pulled out his sword which was on his waist and handed it over.

It was embarrassing, but Baekhyun took the sword and closed his eyes to recall those moments.

“I can’t remember it in detail, so don’t expect too much.”

With those words, Baekhyun swung the sword.

Recalling everything he could about the movements the man in the iron mask performed against the Dragon Turtle.

‘Remember, remember everything I can.’

The technique the man used was almost impossible to do.

Because it was a sword technique that Baekhyun could never reach.

Chachachachacha!

The sword slashed through the air.

It was more like a sword wielding practice than the performing of a sword technique.

‘Ah, that is so clumsy. Is this the only way to find out?’

In Hu Bong's eyes, the man was as sloppy as one could be.

However, Chun Yeowun and Marakim, who watched him wield the sword, reacted differently.

After a while, the same words came out from their mouths.

“Sword Force of the Sky Demon!”

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

Baekhyun's clumsy movements had too many openings, but it was clearly similar to the Twenty Four Demon Sword and Sword Force of the Sky Demon.

At that, Marakim's face turned red and tears formed in his eyes as he spoke.

“Ahhh! Lord! He is undoubtedly, the former Lord!”

Chapter 406 - To the North (1)

Chapter 406: To the North (1)

Gonga Mountains located on the border of Sichuan.

In the Gonga mountains, known for its steepness, there was a famous place on its cliffs.

It was called Death Valley, it was named as such because of the rapid currents which kept coming from upstream. Once swept away by them, no one could survive.

Swoosh!

With the heavy rain, the valley was more ferocious than ever.

A fierce battle was taking place on the steep cliff of Death Valley, that no one would choose to climb.

Clang! Clang!

The sound of weapons and sharp clashes cut through the air. In the aftermath of the fierce confrontation, the surrounding cliffs were all devastated.

Swoosh!

Even though it was hard to open the eyes during the heavy downpour, dozens of people with bamboo hats were looking at the confrontation which was happening before their eyes.

Among them, there were those who stood out.

Two old men and one middle-aged man with a scar on his face, they were so different from the others that the water didn't even touch their body.

Among them, an old man with white beard and gold eyepatch on his left eye, watched the battle in amazement.

"He sure is a great kid. How can he be that confident when facing the Blade Lord."

"Right, I now know, why the Forces of Evil and Hang Yen had a hard time and ended up in a civil war."

The bald old man next to him agreed.

The young man they were talking about was battling against the Blade Lord, head of the Blade God Six Martial clan.

He was doing a fairly great job against the man who was known to be invincible.

“Even so, it isn’t much of a fight.”

The middle-aged man with a scar spoke to the old men.

He pointed to someone and said.

“Our Blade Lord is fighting without moving one step from there . No matter how good the opponent is, it is like throwing an egg at a rock.”

As the middle-aged man said, the Blade Lord didn’t move a single step since the battle started.

The only thing which was moving was his right arm which was wielding his sword, he even blocked some of the attacks with just one hand.

“Maybe because we are getting old, we might not know much. But to be able to move like that at that age, is great in its own way.”

As the old man said, the opponent was a young man in his early thirties.

He was skilled enough to possess a title within Wulin.

Even in the middle of the battle, after realizing that he had no chance, he was still giving it his all.

The middle-aged man's eyes narrowed at something.

'Wulin is wide. However, he is certainly competent for someone of his age.'

It was understandable that the Forces of Evil suffered a setback because of him.

It was said that the young man was a good strategist who split the Forces of Evil into two, which had never happened before, and if he stuck around, he would have gained a nice title in the Forces of Evil.

'Ah, he is out of luck. To meet Blade Lord before even experiencing power.'

The young man was flustered at the sudden appearance of Blade Lord.

Due to him, the young man missed his chance to kill Gongyun, Hang Yen's right-hand man.

And this man was a monster.

He was full of confidence as he managed to kill numerous people with his martial arts, but this monster in front of him, didn't even budge.

'Is he really human?'

Even Hang Yen, one of the five strongest warriors, wasn't like this.

Hang Yen too had to fight to stay alive.

But this monster seemed different.

'I need to decide.'

He thought of giving up and trying to run away, but it would be impossible with all the cliffs and the water below.

At that time, Blade Lord, who had been silent till then, spoke.

"Is this all you got?"

"Tch!"

The young man's face distorted at the provocation.

He couldn't even come up with an excuse.

All he managed to do was cut the bamboo hat on his opponent by a little.

"I watched as you seemed interesting, you used a total of 38 martial arts."

"!!!"

It was shocking how accurately he spoke out the number of martial arts which were used.

To confuse the opponent, the young man had purposely used multiple martial arts one after another, but for it to get noticed.

"Are there no other styles you know?"

The young man didn't say anything.

That was an answer.

Now that all his cards were exposed, he couldn't even respond to Blade Lord.

"Then there is nothing more to see."

"What?"

That was when something amazing happened.

Shhh!

The man put away his sword.

It seemed like he was willing to let his young opponent go, when he suddenly began to gather tremendous energy, sword qi, which took the shape of a sword.

A sword of sword qi.

"T-that is?"

The young man was bewildered at what he saw, but then the sword qi turned into an Air Sword aiming for his chest.

Puhk!

“Kuak!”

The eyes of the young man screamed in agony.

He was shocked looking at the sword qi, but to see it come flying at his chest was even more shocking.

“I-invisible sword?”

Just the invisible sword was shocking enough, but then he used it as an Air Sword.

Which could only mean one thing, the monster he had been fighting was a Divine Master.

His intuition about not having a chance to win, turned out to be true.

“Kuak!”

Stagger!

Having his chest pierced, he staggered a couple steps as he fell into the river below.

Ah!

Seeing that, people who were watching the battle came to the edge of the cliff to see what happened.

Looking down, they saw that he fell off the cliff and drowned in the water currents.

“Huk!”

Among them, a middle-aged man in a red coat, couldn't help but shudder.

As if piercing the heart wasn't enough, the man had fallen into the Death Valley and his body couldn't be recovered.

The man in the red coat approached the young man's opponent and spoke in a pleased way.

“Indeed, the Blade Lord has reached the level of god! You treated that monster like a child...”

At that, the middle-aged man with a scar came in between the two.

Like a spokesman for Blade Lord, he said.

“Nothing is impossible for our Lord.”

The true identity of the man in the red coat was Gongyun, Hang Yen’s right-hand, and an official of the Forces of Evil.

“Did you say you were Slaughter Blade Master? If our Master hears this news, he won’t be able to contain his joy.”

“I am glad to hear that. We did what you requested, I hope you hold up your end of the deal.”

From their conversation, it looked like the Blade God Six Martial clan and Forces of Evil had come to a deal.

And the contents of Gongyun’s words revealed it.

“Of course we will. Now that we have eliminated that damn bastard, if the other remnants can be taken down, this alliance will proceed as promised.”

An agreement between the Blade God Six Martial clan and the Forces of Evil.

From Gongyun's point of view, Blade Lord was someone with extreme power, someone he wanted as an ally, seeing his strength, he was glad he came ahead.

Gongyun was delighted with it; he even tried to invite them into the stronghold of Forces of Evil, but they refused.

Swoosh!

Blade Lord, who had the bamboo hat, looked down at the valley water in the heavy rain.

He looked through the hat.

Since the invisible sword was made from his internal energy, he felt the man's heart stop.

But something felt wrong.

'What is this feeling? What is this?'

It was worrying.

For that very reason he did not talk with Gongyun and used Slaughter Blade Master as his proxy.

“Blade Lord!”

A man with a bandaged face approached him.

Blade Lord looked at him with a puzzled expression, as he hurriedly knelt on the rain drenched ground.

“What is it?”

“There was a problem in the North Sea Ice palace. Most of them were destroyed. It seems like only two masters and one from the spirit unit are alive...”

Gooooo!

“Eiik!”

As soon as he heard those words, intense energy surged from his body.

He knew that the North Sea Ice palace news was supposed to come, but he didn’t expect it to be that horrible on his ears.

This time, even that Demon God hadn’t interfered.

Swoosh! Clench!

“Kuak!”

When he reached out, the bandaged man’s body was forcibly dragged into his hand.

He was angry because the mission was easy to get done.

Judging from how he was grabbing the bandaged man’s neck, one wrong word and his neck would be snapped.

“Why did they fail?”

There had to be a good reason.

Fortunately, there was a reasonable excuse this time.

“Kuak, the Dragon Turtle... kuak... wasn’t... dead... contrary... it... kua... has four heads...”

The news about four heads made Blade Lord’s eyes light up.

This was unexpected.

According to their gathered information, it was supposed to be a two headed dragon which had been trapped in the ice for years.

However, as if being alive wasn't enough, it even grew in power.

Splash!

"Cough!"

As Blade Lord released his neck, the man in bandages coughed and gasped for air.

"A dragon with four heads..."

Even a three headed dragon was called a walking disaster.

Thinking, Blade Lord opened his mouth.

"Slaughter Blade Master."

"Yes!"

Sangdal, who was close by, came on order.

And the Lord gave him an order.

“You and 20 more men, bring me that Dragon Turtle’s spirit core and blood.”

The man in bandages coughed at the number of people.

“Tw-twenty people, that is half of the spirit squad.”

“Well, those people are used for this kind of thing, it won’t be a problem.”

Although much stronger than others, they were trained to be used for such situations.

Even so, it was better to send in experienced ones than send in others who will end up turning into a worthless sacrifice.

“Will that be enough?”

“Would a little more be fine? I heard that ‘it’ was sealed in the Pobalap palace and is still alive.”

There was a reason why the Blade God Six Martial clan came to Sichuan.

Their real goal was the Podalap Palace.

A cold vice came out of Blade Leader’s mouth.

“Since when did you start voicing your opinion to me?”

Realizing what he had done, Sangdal got on his knees.

“Ah, not at all. I obey the orders of the Lord.”

Looking down, the Blade Lord spoke.

“Don’t worry. I’ll take care of the Podalap Palace.”

Headquarters of Forces of Justice in Yulin.

More than 400 people were gathered in five rows at the north gate.

Divided into three groups.

A hundred or so warriors were in light brown robes, they were elite warriors of the Hwang Bo clan.

Another group of hundred men, wearing thick white robes, were warriors of the Moyong clan, led by Moyong Kang.

Finally, the group of two hundred men, who were covered in thin armor with the word shadow on their back, were the Blade Shadow Forces, one of the four major armed groups of Yulin.

“Thank you for the support.”

Kang Soah, the leader of the Black Shadow Forces, was moving ahead with his horse, he took the lead thanks to Moyong Kang, who was a couple steps behind.

Moyong Kang, who opposed the decision, joined in on their plan.

“I would like to thank my father.”

Moyong Kang didn't want to go over there because of the Dragon Turtle being alive, but being from the north, he couldn't refuse the request of Yi Mok, who asked him to accompany the troops.

“Ahhh! I am forever grateful to the ones coming to our help. I sincerely thank the warriors of Yulin for accepting this request of ours.”

At that time, Dan Juseong, an envoy from North Sea Ice Palace, who was on a horse beside them spoke to them.

His face was full of pride.

He was afraid that they wouldn't accept his request, but in the end the Yulin didn't just dispatch warriors, but also the elite among them.

[Defeating the Dragon Turtle is important, but the fact that the Blade God Six Martial clan is aiming for it, means they are planning something.]

At Kang Soah's words, the leaders unified their opinion.

They decided to help the North Sea Ice Palace in defeating the Dragon Turtle without suffering any major damage.

“If your older brother comes out of the building, he might praise Kang Soah's spirit.”

A pretty woman's voice came from the right side of Kang Soah.

The woman was Jegal Sohi, one of the three beauties in Jianghu and the strategist of Yulin.

In addition to the three armed groups, twenty men of the Jegal clan had come.

They were experts in seals, and were brought along to see if it was possible to re-seal the spirit beast one again.

“There is no need for such things.”

Kang Soah responded coldly at Jegal Sohi’s words.

At that, she smiled bitterly.

‘Still like that.’

It was because she knew very well that Yeon Buso and Kang Soah, or the children of Yi Mok, were never on good terms with each other, they were like water and oil.

She wondered if they would get close if Yeon Buso wasn’t so perfect, but Kang still seemed to hate his brother.

He didn’t even like his fiancée, Jegal Sohi, and shouted to the warriors who were behind without even sparing a glance at her.

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.Site Only

“Each hour is important. I’d like to make sure that everyone is prepared beforehand, for the journey to the North Sea, you won’t get very much rest. So be mindful of your bodies and condition!”

“Yes!!!”

Four hundred warriors of Yulin shouted vigorously as they passed through the North Gate and began to march for the North Sea.

Chapter 407 - To the North (2)

Chapter 407: To the North (2)

The new academy of Demonic Cult.

Thud!

Baekhyun, the envoy from North Sea Ice Palace, showed his earnestness by hitting his forehead on the floor.

“Please help us.”

Everyone in the room was in deep thought.

He didn't miss the opportunity when he revealed that the owner of the identity slate was Chun Inji, the former Lord of the Demonic Cult.

Despite the situation, Baekhyun thought that seeing the identity slate, the new Lord would surely come to help them.

‘Please help us out, like your former lord did.’

At that moment, Chung Yeowun’s voice entered Baekhyun’s ears, who had his head on the ground.

“I have a question for you.”

Baekhyun raised his head slightly.

“Yes?”

“According to Wang Jing, the North Sea signed an alliance agreement with the Yulin forces, why didn’t you ask them for help?”

‘This...’

The North Sea and the Demonic Cult rarely interacted, and that was the truth.

But they were doubting it because of Baekhyun’s behaviour.

And when Chun Yeowun pointed it out, he was too flustered to answer.

“I am grateful that you brought us news about our former Lord. However, I don’t understand why the North Sea sent one envoy to us expecting that we would trust the words of one person. Besides, this isn’t even a formal request.”

‘... maybe we look easy to him.’

Of course, he knew that such a request would be a bit unreasonable in normal circumstances, but he thought that since he brought the slate along, the Demonic Cult would help him.

“Do you think that any man from the palace can come down to Jianghu alone, without an official request and ask us to dispatch people just because we are loyal to our former lords?”

Baekhyun’s face hardened at those words.

Wooong!

“Huh?”

Baekhyun’s body, which had been lying face down, was raised by force.

Shocked, he tried to rebel against the force which was raising him in the air, but he couldn’t even move.

Chun Yeowun spoke to the man, who was flustered.

“Since I am no idiot, I can make two guesses. You came here by yourself thinking you can represent the North Sea.”

‘!!!’

Gulp!

Baekhyun gulped his saliva with a nervous face.

While Chung Yeowun continued to speak to him.

“Maybe you judged that there is an enemy inside, so you are asking for our help personally, this is not an official request from the North Sea, right?”

Baekhyun couldn't help but be shocked.

He only talked about the related events to the Dragon Turtle and what happened in the North Sea Ice Palace, but that information was omitted.

'His intuition isn't normal.'

Indeed, he was the lord of the forces which moved the Wulin.

He heard the rumors, but he thought that they were exaggerated because of the age of the Lord, however, Baekhyun was wrong.

'I can't hide it anymore.'

If he guessed so much, a couple more guesses and the Lord would probably figure out everything.

Baekhyun nodded and apologized.

"I never meant to deceive you. I couldn't tell you right away because I was scared that the Lord would turn down my request right away."

From Baekhyun's point of view, there was nothing else he could do.

The reason he asked for the help from Demonic Cult alone was because it was a matter related to the internal problems of the North Sea Ice Palace.

He couldn't just reveal such matters to outsiders casually.

"Explain everything."

"... I am the prince of the North Sea Ice Palace."

"I knew it!"

Hu Bong couldn't hold back his words.

Baekhyun wasn't an ordinary man from the palace.

He was the prince, who would lead the North Sea Ice Palace in the future.

Listening to how Chun Yeowun was on guard, the others had roughly understood his identity.

“I am amazed at the wisdom of the Lord. Please forgive my rudeness.”

“That was pretty bold of you. If you hadn’t given me that slate of our former Lord, I would have made you pay a considerable price.”

Crap!

He spoke casually but goosebumps rose on Baekhyun’s body.

That jade was acting as a shield for him.

Baekhyun knew that if he spoke any more lies, his life would be in danger, so he decided to reveal everything.

“I have no intention of hiding it anymore. As the Lord guessed, the formal envoy went to request Yulin.”

Baekhyun revealed everything.

“Ha!”

Hu Bong couldn't hide his dissatisfaction at those words.

From what he said, it was likely they wanted help from both the Demonic Cult and Yulin forces.

The problem was that the official request was only for Yulin, so if they went to the North Sea by listening to this man, it would end up as a problem from the Demonic Cult.

At that time, Ko Wanghur pointed out a fact.

"That is strange, If you are the prince of North Sea Ice Palace, aren't you the deputy king?"

Right.

In case of an accident, it was normal procedure for the prince to take over the position as a proxy and lead the office.

At that, Baekhyun bit his lip trying to calm the anger and spoke.

"I am not. Now, the deputy king of the palace isn't me, but a person named Dan Jucheon, my second uncle."

"Second uncle?"

At those words, Chun Yeowun's eyes lit up.

If so, it meant that the current head of the Palace was someone else.

Judging from Baekhyun's reaction, there must have been an internal conflict in the Palace.

This attracted Chun Yeowun's attention.

"Excluding everything you said, you are currently asking for our Cult's help, when you have no authority in your hand."

Chun Yeowun asked Dan Baekhyun in a stern tone.

"T-that, it can be thought of as such, but there was nothing I could do. There are numerous spies in the main palace."

"Spies?... Are you talking about the Blade God Six Martial Clan?"

"... yes."

In addition to those who died in the underground, Baekhyun was certain that there were spies of the Blade God Six Martial clan everywhere in the Palace.

The most suspicious ones were Dan Jucheon and his followers.

Hearing that the king met with an unfortunate accident and the dragon had been released, the first action he took was to convene a meeting and be appointed as the deputy king of the palace.

“He took advantage of the crisis rather than devising measures. At that time, I was unconscious because of the wounds I suffered, only if I was fine! Tch!”

Taking advantage of the release of the Dragon Turtle, he had himself appointed as the deputy king in the palace, and was delegated all the powers as he gathered all the powerful people in the palace.

Although it was a moment of crisis, Dan Jucheon was being respected as a hero by the people of North Sea Ice Palace.

While Baekhyun was unconscious because of his injuries, everything had already been decided.

As if they were all waiting for that moment.

“It is a situation which raises suspicion, but maybe he could have done it without the help of spies?”

Ko Wanghur asked.

At that Baekhyun raised his head and answered in anger.

“If that person really wanted the position of king based on his skills, maybe my father and I would be able to understand! But he, a person who is supposed to be my father’s brother, took advantage of a crisis and took power. If something like that happens in your Cult, would you dismiss it as a simple power struggle?”

“ ... ”

At that, Ko Wanghur went silent.

Baekhyun’s words weren’t wrong.

He kept saying that his uncle took advantage of the crisis, but there was a high probability that he thoroughly colluded with the Blade God Six Martial clan.

They had plotted things the same way everywhere.

“And, the three elders are known to be the right hands of my uncle. They and my uncle were all in favor of bringing in those bombs from the Blade God Six...”

“Enough.”

‘?’

Chun Yeowun asked him to stop talking.

When he said that without hearing the entire story, Baekhyun turned restless.

Chun Yeowun spoke to him.

“I don’t think there is any need to hear more.”

“T... then?”

“Well, people of the Demonic Cult will head to the North Sea to secure the safety of the former Lord.”

“Ah!”

Baekhyun’s face swelled with happiness at the good news which came out from Chun Yeowun’s words.

From looking at how Chun Yeowun acted, it seemed like they were going to send Baekhyun back, but now he was willing to help.

“Th-thank you!”

However, the happy feelings ended quite fast.

“Let us sign a contract here.”

“Huh?”

Baekhyun doubted his ears at the sudden words of a contract.

He thought that since they would need their former lord, they would help, but the new turn of events were unexpected.

“The safety of your former lord of the Sky Demon Order is at stake...”

“Don’t get me wrong.”

“What?”

“If we head to the North Sea without an official request, we will undoubtedly face backlash from the Yulin and the North Sea soldiers.”

“W-well...”

“If the life of our former Lord cannot be secured or identified, our cult will choose to not move.”

It was an undeniable fact.

If the former Lord, Chun Inji’s body wasn’t left behind by the Dragon Turtle, it would be like the Demonic Cult had interfered in the matters of another Palace without an official request.

No one could point fingers at the cult when getting rid of the Dragon Turtle, but once the matter gets solved, people are bound to question their reasons.

‘Ah! A justification!’

Baekhyun understood.

He had no idea how the current deputy king would act.

But there was one problem.

“Lord. Even though I can write down the contract, I hold no authority. The deputy king of the palace might ignore this, would you still like this?”

“It doesn’t matter.”

“Huh? Really?”

“Write it down.”

Baekhyun was puzzled at Chun Yeowun, who spoke as if he didn’t care about it.

However, realizing that Chun Yeowun could change his mind any moment, Baekhyun took the brush on the table.

He looked up at Chun Yeowun.

“What kind of contract should I write?”

“Simple one. All you need is to put down three conditions.”

“Three?”

Baekhyun frowned.

He didn't know that there were going to be three conditions.

He was anxious, but he decided to give in and listen.

“First. The core and blood of the Dragon Turtle will belong to the Sky Demon Order, who will kill it.”

“You mean, the cult will kill it?”

“Yes.”

That was understandable.

If they killed it, they would have the right to take it.

Of course, if they joined up with the North Sea Ice Palace to kill it, there could be problems.

The Cult was indeed risking their life to help the North Sea, a place which had nothing to do with them, so this condition felt acceptable.

“Second. After the Dragon Turtle is eradicated, break the agreement between North Sea Ice Palace and Yulin forces.”

“Huh? That is a bi...”

While he was still flustered, Chun Yeowun continued the third condition.

“Third. In place of the cancelled agreement, the North Sea will make a new one. Write these three things very clearly.”

‘!?’

At Chung Yeowun’s words, Baekhyun was speechless.

His first condition felt right, but the second and third weren’t something he could decide on his own.

“If we sign the contract with the said conditions, we will head to the North Sea right away.”

“W-wait a minute! Lord! The contents of the contract that you mentioned aren’t things I can...”

“You don’t have to worry about that.”

“Huh?”

“You will soon be inaugurated as the King.”

Baekhyun trembled at the sudden words which came out of Chun Yeowun’s mouth.

The feeling of embarrassment he felt had changed.

Chun Yeowun’s lips raised into a smile and spoke to Baekhyun.

“You decide. King Dan.”

After many hours passed, Chung Yeowun came out of the guest room, and gave orders to his subordinates.

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

“Call the Six Sword right now. We will depart.”

“Yes!”

At that moment, the Demonic Cult’s expedition to the North Sea was confirmed.

Chapter 408 - Great Hung Clan of the Great Plains (1)

Chapter 408: Great Hung Clan of the Great Plains (1)

The north belongs to the Jianghu.

It meant the border of Shaanxi, Gansu, Shanxi, and Hebei.

To reach lake Baikal, where the North Sea Ice Palace, which held power over the outer north, is located, you would have to pass through the great plains that were ruled by several barbarian tribes.

Clip clop! Clip clop!

In the border area between Shanxi and the Great Plains.

The sound of horses running echoed everywhere.

More than four hundred or so elite Yulin Clan warriors were moving to the north in a line.

As previously announced by Kang Soah, the unit commander, the situation was urgent, so after a non-stop trip, they reached this place in just three days.

Of course, to get to Shanxi at that speed, they had to stop by other clans under Yulin, which were on the way and change horses.

Clip clop! Clip clop!

Throughout the ride, the commander, Kang Soah, was silent and concerned.

There was a reason for his concern.

It was because he heard unexpected news on his way to the north.

[Are you saying that your people have asked for help from the Demonic Cult?]

[Yes. Well, it wasn't a formal request, only one member of the army was sent to them, but since it wasn't an official request from the main palace, the demonic cult might not dispatch any troops.]

Dan Juseong told the truth just to be careful.

Of course, he knew that the Demonic Cult wouldn't come to help, but they were in an emergency, so he decided to disclose this information just in case.

Kang Soah thought that only the Yulin were only being asked for help because of their agreement, but the mention of the Demonic Cult made Kang Soah feel troubled.

[This is totally unexpected.]

[Well, it wasn't a formal request, so they won't care. Except during wars of conquest, leaders usually ignore other requests.]

Moyong Kang of the Moyong family heard that and responded that the Demonic Cult would in no way help the north.

Even Jehal Sohi half-agreed.

[Leader Moyong's words have some truth. Currently, the Demonic Cult is in a situation where they need to lay the groundwork for their new academy. In the meantime, if they were to distribute their men, they'd lose time and money. But.]

[But?]

[That is a correct answer from a military point of view... but I can't guarantee that Lord Chun Yeowun will do that.]

Jegal Sohi had gone as an envoy to the Demonic Cult, and she met with Chun Yeowun when he was still the crown prince.

And as a result of closely observing Chun Yeowun's progress as a Lord, she realized that he wasn't the type of person to move according to textbook strategies.

Therefore, she wasn't sure about the Demonic Cult's movements.

[Kang Soah. After all, we and the Demonic Cult are in alliance. Would it be so concerning just because they send a couple of men to the North Sea Ice Palace?]

[... I wonder how we would distribute the dragon's blood and core after it's killed.]

[Core?]

Kang Soah was more concerned about what would happen after the Dragon Turtle is killed.

Jegal Sohi was just as concerned as Dan Juseong, the envoy from North Sea Ice Palace but didn't speak about it.

[Leader Kang, I hope you take ownership of the core at that...]

[Even though Yeon Buso's right arm got cut off by the Lord of the Demonic Cult, his fiancée seems to have a soft heart towards the Cult, seeing how you are talking about the alliance. Have you fallen for evil?]

[What did you say!]

[I have nothing to say to you.]

Jegal Sohi felt strongly insulted and tried to yell, but Kang Soah ignored her and accelerated the march.

'Ugh...'

Jegal Sohi suppressed her anger.

Wouldn't she hate Chun Yeowun, who cut off her fiancée's arm?

However, as a soldier in charge of the military strategy of the entire Yulin, she endured because she knew that there was nothing more foolish than involving personal matters in work.

‘Is he still worried about the Demonic Cult dispatching troops?’

With each passing day, the silence from Kang Soah grew.

Looking at his face, he seemed to be worried about the strategy.

‘Ah! We are entering the great plains!’

As she was riding her horse, she saw the northern plains.

She had no intention of talking to him either, but she shouted at Kang Soah because he led the group.

“We will arrive at the Great Plains. Leader Kang. The realm of barbarians.”

At those words, Moyong Kang’s face tensed.

Unlike the Jegal clan and Hwang Bo clans, which were located inside the Jianghu, the people of Moyong had settled in Liaoning, which was in the north, and they were well aware of the barbarians.

Although they weren't martial artists, they were still capable of fighting wars throughout the four seasons.

Of course, it wasn't one-on-one, so he wasn't afraid, but it would have been difficult if the barbarians wanted war and brought in their men.

'I am glad that Kang Soah has been made the commander.'

Moyong Kang looked at Kang Soah, who was driving the march ahead.

He heard that Kang Soah and the Black Shadow group had been fighting the barbarians in the north of Shanxi for five straight years.

Therefore, even Yi Mok and other leaders agreed to him leading the troops.

'Was it recently that he signed an agreement with them?'

He heard that two years ago, Kang Soah made an agreement with Asara, the war chief of Great Hung Clan, who was greatly known among the barbarians of the Great Plains.

There were several treasure chests next to the goods in the wagons behind the march, which must have been prepared if they ran into each other.

‘I hope nothing goes wrong.’

It would be disastrous if the Dragon Turtle mission doesn’t go as planned, yet, there was a reason why only one envoy was sent from the North Sea Ice Palace, and that was to avoid friction with the barbarians.

Although not large, the barbarians were going to encounter 400 armed men willing to cross the Great Plains.

Nothing had happened during the half-day trip.

And it was late afternoon.

Dudududu!

“Ah!”

The advancing procession of Yulin forces stopped at once.

The commander’s orders weren’t given, but they all stopped and looked somewhere.

A vast force seemed to fill the horizon in the sunset.

Thousands of horse hooves were making the earth below tremble as if there was an earthquake.

“Will we end up meeting them on the first day?”

Moyong Kang shook his head.

The barbarians sat quietly on the saddles as the horses moved. They were all covered in fur coats and had weapons on them.

“Greyish brown wolf fur... they are the Great Hung Clan.”

Dan Juseong, the envoy from North Sea Ice Palace, who was next to Kang, spoke.

Puuuuu!

The sound of horns from the army could be heard.

Tension rose on the faces of the Yulin warriors, who had to advance.

It was then that Kang Soah sent a hand signal to raise the flag.

“Raise the flag!”

“Yes!”

The warriors in the front row raised white flags at the cry of the lieutenant of the Blade Shadow group.

When the Blade Shadow flag was raised, dozens of horses at the forefront fell apart and came towards them.

‘Ah! Their chief?’

Although Yulin had so many troops, they only came with a small number of men showing their courage.

Among the dozens of horses, there was one which particularly stood out, a man wearing red fur, so big that even the horse he was riding on seemed covered.

The man knew no martial arts, yet, it was evident how strong and brave he was.

“Asara.”

Moyong Kang's and Dan Juseong's eyes widened at the name which came out of Kang Soah's mouth.

Asara was the name of the war chief of the Great Hung Clan.

Everyone had heard of his name and fame but had never actually seen his face.

'I don't get it. That big guy is the war chief of the Great Hung Clan?'

Looking at the colossal mace that he was holding, he seemed like someone with great power.

As the man called Asara arrived, Kang Soah politely greeted him.

“Намайг удаан хугацаанд уулзаарай (It has been long)”

Shockingly, the words which Kang Soah was speaking were in the language of the barbarians.

Everyone, who was leading the troops along with him, was surprised.

They knew that he was dealing with the barbarians for five years, but it was shocking to see how fluent his words were.

Clap!

The war chief of the clan, called Asara, reached out to him.

The Kang Soah, as if used to it, grabbed it, and both tapped their chest.

Pak! Pak!

Finishing it, Asara showed off his yellow teeth and smiled broadly.

‘Ah! So this is their greeting.’

Seeing the broad smile, there seemed to be no hostile feelings.

As Kang Soah raised his hand, the warriors of the Black Shadow, who were behind them, went to the carriage and brought out ten colorful boxes.

Thud!

When the boxes were opened, it was filled with numerous objects and gold ingots.

Seeing that, Asara, the War Chief of the Great Hung Clan, nodded with satisfaction and said.

“Би дурта (I like it)”

It was prepared in a hurry, but it looked like Asara liked it.

Kang Soah explained in advance that they would have to cross the land to go to the North Sea.

Asara was glad that there was no damage to the clan and that they were being given a tribute.

“I think that the talks went well.”

At the quiet words of Dan Juseong, Jegal Sohi asked.

“Can you understand them?”

“Since the North Sea and Great Plains are close to each other, I know the difference between a conflict and an exchange.”

Most of the people in North Sea Ice Palace can speak that language.

According to Dan Juseong's words, it seemed that they were permitted to move to North Sea Ice Palace without any problems.

However, the conversation was taking longer than expected.

“Та юу гэсэн үг вэ!”

Asara's voice rose slightly.

‘What is it?’

Jegal Sohi felt like something was off about Asara's reaction.

Kang Soah spoke with many hand gestures as if asking for something, but Asara and the man next to him, who looked like his lieutenant, were arguing about something.

“Huh...”

However, even Dan Juseong, who heard their conversation, seemed troubled.

[Envoy Dan. If it is okay with you, can you tell me what they are talking about?]

Dan Juseong spoke back in a flustered tone.

[I, I don't know that well...]

[?]

[Ah, Leader Kang is asking the Great Hung Clan to take care of those who try to cross the Great Plains other than the Yulin and to prevent them from passing.]

[Huh?]

Sohi's expression hardened.

After the Yulin finished the exchange, they headed north. After they left, Sorachu, the left arm of Asara and the second strongest man in the clan, spoke.

“Chief. Are you really going to accept Kang Soah’s offer?”

“Why are you so concerned about that? It’s shocking that he even asked something like that.”

Asara asked Sorachu, who was a brave warrior who fought countless wars alongside him.

Sorachu shook his head and said.

“The Wulin is dangerous, but haven’t you heard the news from Buchoi who recently visited the Jianghu?”

Buchoi is one of War Chief Asara’s escort warriors.

Although the barbarians were thought to be completely cut off from the Jianghu, they would send people to Jianghu to collect information and sometimes exchange information too.

“Buchoi!”

At Asara's call, from the horses waiting behind, a man with a large scar on his face answered.

"Yes! War Chief!"

"Did You say that the ones fighting for supremacy in the Jianghu are the Demonic Cult and the Blade God Six Martial clan?"

"Yes. Among them, I heard that the one named Chun Yeowun, the Lord of Demonic Cult, is a monster and is being called the Demon God."

Demon God, Chun Yeowun, his actions were heard through the people of Jianghu.

A power that was beyond human ability.

The rumors were that he floated up in the sky and brought down a lightning bolt in the castle. No one could believe it when they heard it.

"Demon God, huh... that is one crazy name indeed. But how dare they call a human a God."

Surprisingly, they knew about the news in Jianghu.

The reason was martial arts.

Asara's escort warrior, the one called Buchoi, was a warrior who mastered martial arts.

Every time they went to the south for war, the War Chief of the Great Hung Clan, who had conflicts with the Wulin people, in addition to the Imperial army, got interested in martial arts.

This was why he sent people to Jianghu and invested three generations worth of time just to create an invincible army made of warriors who mastered martial arts.

And with that, the Great Hung Clan was able to claim hegemony of the Great Plains.

"By the way, didn't he say that the dangerous thing was that Demon God?"

Even before Kang Soah made an offer and tried to advise Asara to stop the demonic cult from proceeding, the War Chief had no intention of letting the Demon God pass.

But Kang Soah kept on persuading him, not knowing that.

[You don't have to worry about the Demonic Cult. The Great Leader of the Forces of Justice would never come here for such a task. Do you really think that the Lord of Demonic Cult, who holds such power, will appear here, in person?]

Kang Soah kept saying that the Lord of Demonic Cult would never cross the land.

However, if members of the cult come, Asara accepted the proposal of helping the Yulin clan.

“I know, but...”

“Don’t worry. We won’t have any direct encounters with them.”

At that, Sorachu looked puzzled as he asked.

“Do you have anything in mind?”

“Huhu, didn’t they ask us to not let anyone other than the people of Yulin go through?”

“That is true.”

“The courageous warriors of the Great Hung Clan are standing here, even if they are martial artists, will they try to fight us in our land?”

Thousands of troops.

It was not something that could be taken lightly.

Didn't the Yulin troops, which just passed them, become anxious because of that number?

Just by shooting arrows, the barbarians could cover the sky in black.

"Are you going to push them into fear?"

"Yes, a moderate threat. Only if we bump into them, even if he is called the Demon God, would he come all the way here to the Great Plains just to fight us?"

That was the real plan of War Chief Asara.

Sorachu spoke with a wide smile after hearing the War Chief's words.

"That is amazing! If we do as you said, we will get 3,000 sheep without even taking any damage to our tribe."

In exchange for granting Kang Soah's request, he promised to give the Great Hung Clan 3,000 sheep.

Gold and silver were good, but sheep held real value to the nomadic barbarians of the Great Plains.

“Hahahahaha! Isn’t this called one stone for two birds⁽¹⁾?”

While laughing loudly, they saw that a messenger with yellow feather fur was approaching them.

Without even properly getting down the horse, the messenger bowed his head and reported.

“War Chief. Right now, about 20 miles to the southwest, an armed force of about six hundred men are moving to the north.”

“People from other tribes?”

“No. Judging from their attire, they seem to be from the Jianghu.”

Hearing that, the War Chief Asara and his men’s eyes gleamed.

Those people were coming sooner than expected.

The sun had set, and darkness began to come.

About six hundred men, with torches lit, marched towards the north in five rows.

They were the demonic cult, who had the word 'Demon' written proudly on their flags.

Seeing how they were advancing, it looked like they were all high in morale. Instead of dispatched troops, it looked like they were out on campaign.

Those who dignifiedly rode horses at the head of each group of hundred warriors were the Six Swords.

They were full of determination as this was their first proper mission.

Despite their journey to the north and not resting for the past three days, their eyes were more than alive.

At that time, the Demonic Cult troops, which were moving north, came to a halt.

"What is that?"

"What's going on?"

The reason they stopped was simple.

Dududududud!

The sound of horse hooves rumbled the ground.

Countless torches filled the night sky horizon from the north where they were supposed to be heading, and the torches were only coming closer.

At first glance, it looked like a large army of ten thousand people.

They were the armies of the Great Hung Clan, the hegemon of the Northern Plains.

A smile spread across the lips of War Chief Asara, his left arm Sorachu and the other leaders of the tribe, who were moving at the forefront of the Great Hung clan.

“They came right in the same day, saved us a lot of trouble. Hahaha.”

“Unfortunate. Those Yulin men had gone through before them, if only they came ahead, the cult would have passed by after giving us a tribute.”

“Hahaa, those bastards need to be sent back to their place. Buchoi!”

“Yes! War Chief!”

At the call of War Chief Asara, the escort Buchoi stepped ahead.

And he was ordered to.

“Let them know that they can’t get through and tell them to go back to their land. If they don’t go back, tell them that they will lose their lives under the swords of the Great Hung Clan.”

“Yes, War Chief!”

He was one of the few warriors in the barbarians who could speak the language of Jianghu.

Buchoi, who received the order, rode forward and shouted at the 600 troops of the Demonic Cult who were visible.

“Listen to me!!!”

The voice of Buchoi, which held power, resounded in the Great Plains.

As if to give it momentum, the warriors of the Great Hung Clan slammed the ground with their spears and shouted.

Thud!!! Thud!!! Thud!!!

“WAAHHHHHHHH!!!”

Their army shouted, and the roars spread all over the place.

Buchoi, who thought that he had sufficiently lowered the enemies’ morale, delivered the words of War Chief.

“Men from the Jianghu! We are the Great Hung Clan, the great warriors who rule the Great Plains! I am a warrior, Buchoi who is directly under the Great Chief, our War Chief Asara!”

“Woaaahhhhhh!!!”

After introducing himself, Buchoi went straight to the main topic.

“This land is ours! This isn’t the place where foreigners can wander. Go back to where you live right away! This is the only warning that you’ll be given. If you don’t go back, you will be killed by the swords and spears of our great warriors!”

“Waaahhhhhh!!!”

Even though the barbarians didn't understand what Buchoi was saying, they still shouted and helped in relay their power.

The shouts were so loud that their ear drums were pounding.

It was the moment when Buchoi, convinced that he had managed to scare them, turned back his horse and looked at the War Chief with a satisfied expression.

“Listen, Great Hung Clan!!!”

‘!?’

The very moment Buchoi turned, he had to look back at the Cult as the voice resounded strongly in the open land.

It wasn't the voice that shocked him.

It was because the one who spoke up was speaking their language.

Woong!

Even the warriors of the Great Hung Clan heard it.

There was no way that they couldn't have heard that.

'Did those people learn to speak our tongue?'

The pronunciation was a lot clearer than they expected.

Then followed the voice again.

"I am Chun Yeowun, the Lord of Sky Demon Order!"

'!!!'

Buchoi, Asara and even Sorachu were shocked at the accurate wording and precise voice, which could fool anyone into thinking he was a native speaker.

The name which was introduced was something they heard just an hour ago. There was no way they could forget the name.

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

“Chun Yeowun?... No, no way, Demon God?”

At Sorachu’s muttering, War Chief Asara pointed his mace at the troops of the Demonic cult and shouted with a bewildered expression.

“What kind of bullshit is this?! We were told that he wouldn’t be here!”

Chapter 409 - Great Hung Clan of the Great Plains (2)

409: Great Hung Clan of the Great Plains (2)

An innumerable number of torches were in view of the Demonic Cult's contingents.

There was a large army that seemed to be made up of thousands, no tens of thousands of people.

Even the Six Swords looked nervous as they watched the vast army gradually approach them.

Although their Lord Chun Yeowun is called the Demon God, it would be their first time facing such a large amount of warriors.

“No way... how is this possible?”

On the right side of Chun Yeowun, Baekhyun, who was riding his horse, became scared.

He didn't know that there were such a massive number of barbarians in the Great Plains.

Before heading north from the Demonic Cult's branch, he recommended that Chun Yeowun prepare a tribute to avoid any fights with the barbarians.

Except in rare cases, most barbarian tribes would receive the tribute and let people pass.

“Th-this is the first time this has happened.”

No barbarian would lead an army of that size just to drive away intruders.

Although the number of the Demonic Cult's contingents wasn't small, the barbarians seemed fearless, as if they didn't know what martial arts were.

“Uhh.”

Hu Bong shook his head as he sighed.

It wasn't like they hadn't thought that such a situation would crop up on their journey to the North Sea Ice Palace.

However, they couldn't blame anyone when the situation turned sour.

“This land is ours! This isn’t the place where you foreigners can wander. Go back to where you come from right away! This is the only warning that you’ll be given. If you don’t go back, you will be killed by the swords and spears of our great warriors!”

“Wahh!!!”

The shouts of the warriors of the Great Hung Clan resounded.

The high morale of their warriors scared the Demonic Cult, who had to advance quickly.

“The Great Hung Clan is the hegemon of the Great Plains.
They are dangerous.”

Baekhyun warned Yeowun with a serious expression.

The Great Guardian, Marakim, who was riding the horse left to Chun Yeowun, spoke in a low voice.

“Too many, Lord.”

There were definitely too many enemies for them to fight.

Moreover, there seemed to be a few who mastered martial arts within the barbarians.

As the army belonged to the Great Hung Clan, they couldn't just dismiss the matter.

At that time, someone not as huge as Ko Wanghur but middle-aged with a large body wearing blue armor spoke.

“Lord. The Great Guardian speaks facts. To defeat them, we need to be ready to make significant sacrifices.”

The opponents weren't ten times greater in number. Their numbers were a hundred times greater.

The middle-aged man who gave Yeowun the advice was the 6th elder, Mong Mu.

As the Demonic Cult was being expanded, Yeowun brought in warriors from the main base of the Demonic Cult.

‘.. it would be a waste of energy.’

Chun Yeowun had the same opinion as them.

If they went into a battle, it would be a loss for the Demonic Cult in many ways.

In that case, negotiating would be effective. If that didn't work, he could resort to intimidation in moderation.

‘Nano. Can you analyze their language?’

Chun Yeowun asked, pointing to the warriors of the Great Hung Clan who were screaming from afar.

And it didn't take long for an answer.

[It's close to Russian, the language of the East Slavic family.
Interpretation is available.]

‘Can you relay that to me?’

[Available. Transferring Russian into the user's brain.
Approve?]

‘Yes.’

Tring!

As the word 'yes' fell, his head stung from all the information of the Russian language flooding into his brain.

Their language, which he couldn't understand until recently, seemed clear as day.

“GO away! Strangers!”

“If you don’t go back, I’ll stick this spear into you and turn you into a kebab! Hahaha!”

There was a lot of swearing since they assumed that the Demonic Cult couldn't understand their language.

It seemed like they were dead set on not letting the Demonic Cult pass.

Chun Yeowun moved a little closer on his horse.

“Lord?”

“Why?”

While his subordinates were puzzled, Chun Yeowun shouted to the army of the Great Hung Clan.

“Listen, Great Hung Clan!!!”

A completely different language came out of Chun Yeowun's mouth, which shocked all the cult warriors.

‘How is he speaking their language?’

Baekhyun was the one who was shocked the most.

He was about to interpret for Chun Yeowun because negotiation needed to be done but hearing Chun Yeowun speak the language of barbarians, he was shocked.

While Chun Yeowun continued.

“I am Chun Yeowun, the Lord of the Sky Demon Order!”

This man clearly knew the language of barbarians. Even the Great Hung Clan, which was screaming, began to mumble.

Woong!

Once he said that Chun Yeowun began to negotiate.

“I am well aware that this is the land of the Great Hung Clan. Therefore, in respect of the tribe, a tribute has been prepared to pass through your land. We didn't come here to wage war against the Great Hung Clan, we want to avoid any friction for the sake of the people on both sides!”

At the attempt to negotiate, the faces of Sorachu, the War Chief Asara, and even the other warriors in front of the tribe, turned stiff.

Until a moment back, the Great Hung clan tried to threaten the Demonic Cult and send them back.

However, this was completely unexpected.

“Demon God? Kang Soah seems to have deceived us!”

Asara spoke in disgusted expression.

If what the Lord of Demonic Cult said was true, then Kang Soah had given them false information.

Okuro, one of the commanders of the tribe, the war commander, spoke to Asara.

“War Chief, they may be lying.”

“Yes!”

The other commanders agreed too.

Among the three major powers of Jianghu, the Demonic Cult is said to control the Yellow River, so for what reason could they be coming to the Great Plains?

As Kang Soah said, the Great Leader of the Forces of Justice didn't even move with their troops.

However, Sorachu objected to their words.

“War Chief. You need to be careful. We have no idea about them. However, since he himself revealed his identity, it might not be a lie.”

Sorachu was right.

They were the only tribe of barbarians who knew information about the Demonic Cult.

All because they were interested in martial arts, they constantly sent people to Jianghu to get information. However, the other tribes were unaware of martial arts.

“But he knows the language. Besides, he seems skilful in it. Maybe it isn’t the Lord of Demonic Cult, but other tribesmen joining in to help them!”

Almost every commander had a different opinion on what was happening.

“But among other tribes, those who know about Jianghu...”

“War Chief. There is nothing one can be perfectly sure about in this world. There is no way that the other tribes didn’t send their people to the Jianghu to gather information.”

Sorachu was speechless with those words.

It was certainly strange that the Lord of Demonic Cult was speaking their language.

At that, Okuro, the more warlike warrior, shouted bravely.

“War Chief! Why do we have to wait! Send me and my warriors! Let them know my martial arts, I will make them kneel!”

Seeing the strong intent in his words, Asara fell into thoughts.

The Demonic Cult only had six hundred men, which meant that the barbarians had nothing to fear.

No matter how skilled their martial arts were, there was no way the Jianghu men had that much stamina.

However, the absurd rumors about Demon God didn't leave his mind.

“War chief. All they asked for was permission to pass through to the North Sea. This isn’t a territorial war, why do we need to resort to fighting?”

The commanders were displeased with Sorachu's words.

It felt like something a coward would say. A man who is supposed to be beside the War Chief after fighting so many wars was talking like a coward!

“War Chief! Since when did the Great Hung Clan fear any enemies...”

When Okuro was about to make another complaint, Buchoi rode back to them and spoke.

“W-war Chief! It looks like he is the Demon God!”

“What is that supposed to mean?”

Buchoi answered the question of Asara, who was puzzled.

“Did you hear what he said?”

“Would there be anyone who didn’t hear that?”

It was so clear that everyone heard.

“But he didn’t scream.”

“What do you mean?”

“To allow them to hear me I yelled, but that person spoke in a very low voice. However, it isn’t unusual to speak with internal energy.”

Buchoi was a warrior who learned martial arts.

Having learned martial arts, he too, cultivated internal energy.

After honing his skills for a long time, he managed to reach Master level, and the voice of the one called Chun Yeowun, who claimed to be the Lord of Demonic Cult, reached a level that Buchoi couldn't even guess.

“Hmmm.”

Buchoi was a brave warrior.

Having learned martial arts, the commanders of the tribe considered Buchoi to be an excellent warrior and that made them puzzled by the fact that Buchoi seemed scared of the enemy before even fighting them.

Honestly, that was natural.

Chun Yewoun knew that people mastered martial arts among the barbarians, so he purposely used internal energy.

And those who knew about that would begin to fear him.

“Masei!”

“Wa-war Chief!”

Buchoi was the one Asara had ordered to go ahead because he knew martial arts, but there were others too.

“Do you have the same opinion as Buchoi?”

“Ugh, I don’t know if it is the Demon God or not, but his internal energy from that voice, he must be a lot stronger than us.”

Masei was also at the Master level, but was even stronger than Buchoi.

When he expressed the same opinion, War Chief Asara shook his head

If it was really the Demon God, no matter how superior their numbers were, the damage they would take would be greater.

“This is so frustrating! War Chief! How great are the martial arts that we need to be afraid of them? Do you need to believe all the words that warrior Buchoi has said?”

Okuro complained.

He too, had witnessed numerous battles in his life, but he didn't think that they would lose to an army they never fought.

“Are you going to back down just because you are afraid of six hundred strangers? All the other tribes will laugh at us! And do you really believe that false rumor of him flying and striking down lightning?”

At Okuro's provocative words, War Chief Asara's eyebrows rose.

He knew that Okuro was purposely hurting his pride.

“Rumors are often exaggerated. Even more so if it is about those people! Give me three thousand warriors. I will wipe them all out.”

“I think the same as commander Okuro. It is unacceptable for the Great Hung Clan to be swept away by those rumors!”

One by one, the young ones too began to agree with Okuro's words.

They didn't believe Buchoi, who had been to Jianghu.

Those who had been dissatisfied with the fact that the tribe had always let travelers through if they prepared a tribute, used this as an opportunity.

'These bums. Were they all upset?'

War Chief Asar's eye lit up.

Not many warriors of the Great Hung Clan believed in martial arts.

It was only natural that people began to feel displeased.

Then, a good war appeared.

“Sorachu. Are there any troops in the rear from the Yata tribe?”

“Yes there are.”

The Yata tribe was the last tribe the Great Hung Clan had defeated in a territorial war.

The victorious tribes would take in the losers, and they recruited 2000 young warriors as loot.

It was less than a fortnight ago, so they weren't well-integrated into the clan.

“Commander Okuro, I will give you 2000 yata warriors, and the 3rd corps, if you are confident, go ahead and show me your bravery.”

“War Chief!”

Bom!

Okuro shouted as he hit his chest.

“I will live up to your expectations!”

“Good! Go!”

“Yes!!!”

Asara gave Okuro three young commanders, who had agreed with Okuro.

Excited, Okuro rode his horse forward.

At this point, he only wanted to show off his bravery to the tribe, even if he didn't depend on the unit which learned martial arts.

‘I will get to confirm if it really is the Demon God.’

War Chief Asara looked at the back of the Okuro, who was gathering up his warriors and advancing.

Meanwhile, Chun Yeowun and his subordinates, who were waiting for a response, stood silently.

It was because they could see troops being divided and advancing towards them.

It seemed to be a troop of 2000 men.

“We seem to have failed in negotiations.”

Baekhyun spoke with a puzzled expression.

Although only a portion of the soldiers were advancing, the number was too large for the Demonic Cults.

They ended up entering the worst-case scenario that they desperately wanted to avoid.

‘Wh-what are we supposed to do?’

No matter how skilled the martial arts users were when compared to ordinary people, the difference in number was too great to ignore.

Baekhyun was worried about how many people would make it to the North Sea.

Contrary to him, Ko Wanghur, Bakgi, Sama Chak, and the others of the Six Swords moved ahead a little with confidence.

“Lord. What should we do?”

Although the army of the opponent was overwhelming, they weren't afraid.

If Chun Yeowun gave them an order to fight, they were ready to advance.

“... wait for a moment.”

“Yes!”

Chun Yeowun asked them to halt.

Negotiations were unsuccessful, but there was still one more thing to do.

Chun Yeowun slowly rode his horse forward.

‘Wh-what will he do going in there alone?’

Baekhyun looked concerned, unable to understand.

Dudududud!

As the force of two thousand began to get closer, the earth shuddered stronger.

As the distance grew closer, the commander, Okuro, who was riding his horse at the forefront, raised his hand and ordered the warriors of the Yata tribe to halt.

“All troops! Aim!”

As the order fell, the advancing warriors of Yata got their bows and arrows ready.

Not only the Great Hung Clan, but even the barbarians of the Great Plains looked skilled. They seemed more accustomed to horseback warfare.

Even on the moving horses, their bows were stiff.

“Demon God? Who would believe in such false rumors?
Don’t make me laugh!”

“That’s right. Commander!”

“Huh! Let’s send them back with our finest arrows!”

“Shoot!”

At the cry of the young commanders, including Okuro, the warriors who were aiming let go of their arrows.

The arrows, which were held back by the taut bowstring, rushed towards the Demonic cult's contingent all at once.

Arrows fell like rain in the dark sky.

Swoosh! Swoosh!

“Lift your spears!”

“Wahhh!”

The Great Hung Clan clan warriors picked up their spears to reduce their enemies down right after the arrow strike.

However, something incredible happened.

“What?”

Since the night was dark, they didn't notice it right away, but the two thousand arrows stopped mid-air.

Dum!

Barbarians had sharper eyes than the people of Jianghu.

Shocked that the arrows stopped, they stopped their advance too.

They have been to many battlefields, but this was the first time they witnessed such a sight.

“Wh-what the hell is that?”

In front of them, a young man riding a horse came into view.

The young man had fluttering hair and had his hand outstretched like he was the one who halted the arrows.

Just the sight of him gave off a dignified aura.

Okuro muttered.

“Is-is he the Demon God?”

He instinctively knew.

Chun Yeowun gently waved his outstretched hand towards them.

All the arrows which were aiming at the Demonic cult turned around and pointed at them.

Wheeing!

The direction the arrows changed and aimed towards them.

‘!?’

Flustered, Okuro shouted to the two thousand warriors.

“Di-divide!”

As his shout fell, the two thousand arrows which had rotated flew towards them.

Wheeing!

Puck! Thud!

The horses collided.

The warriors of the Yata tribe desperately tried to spread out, after seeing the absurd sight of arrows returning to them.

But,

Puk! Puk! Puk!

“Kuak!”

“Th-the arrows? Kuak!”

“Ack!”

Shockingly, all the arrows followed them and made sure to hit a person.

As if the arrows had a sense of direction, they went right for the hearts and heads.

Okuro was stunned, after looking back at what was happening because of the screams that came in from all directions.

“Th-that is ridiculous. How could this happe...”

The figure, who seemed like the epitome of bravery, vanished.

He, who dismissed the rumors about the Demon God, realized that he was wrong only when he was moments away from death.

Pak!

“Kuaak!”

Thud!

The commander, Okuro, was pierced through his forehead and fell off his horse.

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

War Chief Asara and the other commanders, who witnessed it from afar, couldn't hold back their shocked expressions.

Two thousand warriors who marched valiantly turned into corpses in an instant.

With just a single gesture.

“It-it was all true!”

There wasn't a pinch of lies in the rumors they heard.

Chapter 410 - Great Hung Clan of the Great Plains

Chapter 410: Great Hung Clan of the Great Plains

‘The rumors are really true!’

The prince of North Sea Ice Palace, Baekhyun, was so shocked that he couldn’t shut his mouth.

Chun Yeowun, the Lord of the Demonic Cult, moved alone, and he wondered why no one stopped him, but seeing that, he knew how reliable that monster was.

‘I thought that it was exaggerated...’

When Baekhyun went to the south to meet the Lord of the Demonic Cult, he heard many rumors from the people of Shaanxi.

It was rumored that the Lord of the Demonic Cult flew into the sky and caused lightning to strike in Jin Castle of the Tongho region, and because of that, he was called the Demon God.

Most rumors are inflated, so Baekhyun thought that the Lord was strong but didn't realize that he was super strong.

'That man is really the Demon God.'

Other than that, there was no other name to call him.

The fresh corpses of two thousand Yata turning cold was proof of that.

Wheeing!

The scent of blood in the cold night stimulated their noses.

The unbelievable sight that unfolded in front of everyone's eyes brought silence.

As everyone looked at the dead warriors in amazement, they couldn't even get themselves to understand what had happened.

"Did, did you see that?"

"The arrows came back? What the hell is that?"

It didn't take long for the two thousand warriors to die.
Maybe if they took 5000 troops, it would've taken longer.
The warriors felt outraged, but the chiefs felt different.

"H-how did this happen?"

"H-he is a monster!"

"What kind of skill did he use to do that?"

Seeing the mysterious and overwhelming power of the Lord of the Demonic Cult, Chun Yeowun, right in front of their eyes, not a single person wanted to move.

Chief Sorachu hurriedly spoke to War Chief Asara.

"War Chief! De-demon God, if he is that, we shouldn't fight that person. Just let them go."

To that, Asara nodded.

It was fortunate that the warriors they sent were from the Yata tribe and not their own.

Thud!

‘Kang Soah, that bastard!’

All the resentment was directed at Kang Soah of the Yulin clan.

He was the one who said that the monster, who annihilated two thousand warriors with a single gesture, would never come to the north.

Firstly, they had to avoid a fight with the Demon God.

War Chief Asara hurriedly ordered Buchoi.

“Buchoi! Make this right, and relay that the War Chief doesn’t want any friction.”

The only ones who could speak the language of Jianghu were Buchoi and Masei.

However, Buchoi didn’t respond to the orders.

Masei tried to do something and approached him, but Buchoi was looking somewhere with a white face.

“What is he doin...!?”

War Chief Asara’s expression froze when he looked at where Buchoi was looking.

It wasn’t just him. All the commanders and chiefs were the same.

They all frowned and had hardened expressions.

‘W-when?’

Chun Yeowun was supposed to be more than half a mile away.

However, he was suddenly standing in the middle of the enemy camp where Asara and his other commanders were gathered.

Buchoi, the escort warrior, couldn’t help but be shocked at this.

He didn’t even sense any movement.

‘I-I missed it even though I was watching him. If this monster puts his mind to it, War Chief and the others will die at any time.’

As an escort warrior, he wasn't supposed to think like that, but if the monster was really determined, he knew that no one could stop him.

However, that didn't mean that he was giving up his role as an escort.

"Protect the War Chief!"

Srrng!

Shocked by Buchoi's shouts, the warriors blocked the front of Asara by holding up their weapons.

Thanks to that, War Chief Asara could barely open his mouth.

"De-demon God! Wait a..."

Chun Yeowun reached out to them.

"Huk!"

The chiefs and commanders who remembered the annihilation of the two thousand Yata tribe warriors gasped in fear.

“High.”

“?”

Chun Yeowun raised his palm and lowered it, flipping it over in the process.

At that moment, intense vibrations rose from all directions creating pressure which made sure that both horses and humans couldn't stand up.

“Wh-what is this?”

“My body!”

Wheeing!

The horse they had been holding on to suddenly had their ankles crushed and legs broken.

Thanks to that, everyone who had been mounted on the horses fell to the ground.

Thud!

“Huak!”

“Kuaak!”

Seeing them all fall to the ground and groan in pain, Chun Yeowun nodded in satisfaction.

Chun Yeowun, who wasn't on his horse, moved closer to them after bringing them down to his height.

It was the way they saw him.

He pulled them down from their horses because he didn't want them looking down on him.

“Ugh! Wa-war Chief! Protect the War Chief!”

War Chief Asara fell from his horse, and the commanders who were around, went to guard him.

Their loyalty was so great that they were willing to protect their War Chief despite the frightened expression on their faces.

‘I’m sure that he is the Chief.’

Thanks to them, Chun Yeowun got to know who their chief was.

The chief, Sorachu, who stood in the front of the Great Hung Clan, raised both his hands as if he had no intention to fight and attempted to negotiate.

“De-demon God! W-we wish to talk.”

Seeing him break out in cold sweat, Chun Yeowun’s eyes went wide.

‘Demon God?’

It was a new name he had been given after he became one of the five strongest warriors.

If it was Jianghu, he would have reacted normally, but he never thought that the Great Plains would be so well informed about it.

Chun Yeowun, who stopped for a moment, walked forward.

“S-stop! Don’t come close...”

“I have nothing to say to you. Stay away.”

Chun Yeowun lightly waved his hand towards Sorachu.

Swish! Woong!

“Ugh!”

It was just a light swing, but the body of that man moved away as if he was a piece of paper that got blown away by the wind.

It wasn’t just that.

Every time Chun Yeowun waved his hand, those between him and the War Chief would be blown away.

Boong!

“Ack!”

Woong!

“W-what power! Ack!”

Buchoi, the martial arts user, was no exception.

The commanders and escorts who were supposed to protect their War Chief were thrown out of the way, and the War Chief Asara faced Chun Yeowun.

‘De-Demon God!’

A young man with a pure white face, who was smaller than himself.

However, the ferocious and subversive force radiating from his body made it impossible for Asara to treat the Lord of the Demonic Cult recklessly.

Facing him alone, Asara was at a loss for words on how to negotiate with the monster.

At that moment, Chun Yeowun opened his mouth first.

“Are you the Chief of the Great Hung Clan?”

“Y-yes. Demon God.”

At the following question of Chun Yeowun, War Chief Asara couldn't hide his embarrassment.

“... who ordered this?”

‘!!!’

Shockingly, Chun Yeowun was thinking that the Demonic Cult was being blocked by someone else's orders.

‘How did he know that? Is this man really a God?’

Asara couldn't help but be shocked.

In fact, it could be a pure coincidence.

The Great Hung Clan regularly dispatched people to Jianghu, so they knew about Chun Yeowun. However, they thought that the name was given just because someone made it up and not because of his skills.

‘Does he have a clue?’

It was a gamble, yet it seemed like it was right.

The truth came out when Asara looked shocked, and his fear of Chun Yeowun increased.

“We-we just wanted to scare you people back to your place. We never meant to fight.”

“... give me the full details.”

At Chun Yeowun’s cold voice, War Chief Asara immediately revealed the identity of the person.

After all, he had been deceived by him, so he had no intention of protecting that man’s identity.

“Kang Soah, the second son of the Great Leader of Yulin and the Forces of Justice.”

“Yulin?”

Seeing how Chun Yeowun looked a little puzzled, War Chief Asara thought that everything went well.

Now that he made a mistake, he decided to shift the blame onto Kang Soah.

He thought that the wrath of Demon God would be directed to Kang Soah.

‘Kang Soah, we are in this situation because of you, you need to suffer!’

“They came before you people arrived.”

Asara told the story of the delegation of the Yulin heading to the North Sea and the proposal Kang Soah had for them.

The proposal to block the Demonic Cult’s contingents for 3000 sheep.

Asara kept on stressing that he had no intention of battling and only wanted to intimidate them.

“We don’t have the power to stop the Demon God. Kang Soah, if he hadn’t lied about your presence, such a thing wouldn’t have even happened!”

Grunt.

Asara gritted his teeth.

In fact, if it wasn't for Kang Soah, such humiliation wouldn't have happened.

"We are angry too that such a situation cropped up because of him, that Kang Soah. Without him, two thousand warriors' lives wouldn't have been lost in vain."

Asara mentioned the two thousand who died.

He wanted to show that they didn't want to fight anymore and wanted to end the conflict.

"We will make way for you right away!"

'Please pass us! Aren't you people in a hurry!'

Although it was humiliating for the Great Hung Clan, their opponent wasn't human.

They weren't in a situation to hold their ground anymore.

Chun Yeowun nodded at War Chief Asara, who seemed desperate.

‘Ah!’

Joy filled Asara’s face, who thought that negotiation went successful.

‘Nice! Hahahaha!’

He was worried that Chun Yeowun, the Demon God, would end them, but fortunately, the misunderstanding was resolved, and thinking that Kang Soah will face the Demon God’s wrath, made him feel better.

“Thank you! I am grateful that we met with the Demon God of...”

Clang!

“Huh!?”

There was a sound of a mace falling to the ground.

His favorite weapon had fallen.

But it wasn't the only thing that fell.

Wriggle!

The nerves in the arm holding the mace moved as if they were alive. An arm fell to the ground. That arm belonged to Asara.

It happened so quickly that Asara couldn't even feel any pain. At that moment, turning blue, he began to scream.

Thud!

"Kuaaaak! My Arm!"

The pain of having his arm cut off was unbearable.

"War Chief!"

"W-why?"

The warriors of the Great Hung Clan who heard the conversation were shocked.

Everything seemed to be resolved, so why?

Looking down at Asara, who was suffering, Chun Yeowun spoke in a cold voice.

“I’m trying to get things done in moderation, but did you think that I would let the one, who attacked me first, get away?”

“Kuaaa... ku.... That...”

Asara was speechless.

Chun Yeowun grabbed Asara’s hair.

Grab!

“Ack!”

“You would have attacked the contingent if I wasn’t there. And you say it’s all Kang Soah’s fault?”

Asara’s face went pale at the words which flowed out of Chun Yeowun’s mouth.

He was aware of his own mistakes.

Gooo!

Asara was even more scared once Chun Yeowun began to exude energy.

“D-don’t do this! Ka... Kang Soah. We wouldn’t have known of the Demon God without him! Our clan wouldn’t have even stopped yours!”

“Well, you keep saying Kang Soah... Kang Soah, and that does seem true.”

“?”

Chun Yeowun spoke as if he wanted the entire Great Hung Clan to listen, almost as if he too was puzzled.

“The reason for you to lose both of your arms is because of Yulin’s Kang Soah. Remember that. Okay?”

“Two...arms?”

The words ‘two arms’ terrified Asara, he stepped back and staggered, trying to avoid it, but he couldn’t.

Thud!

Looking at that, Chun Yeowun smiled and spoke to Asara, whose hair he was still holding.

“Let all your resentment go to Kang Soah.”

“No, De-demon God! Please!”

Slash!

Before he could even finish, something passed through the left shoulders of the War Chief Asara.

“Kuaaaaakk!”

A horrifying scream filled the silent night.

A scream full of resentment.

Creep!

Commander Kang Soah, who was leading the unit to the North, suddenly felt a chill run down his spine.

He couldn't even figure out the reason why.

That was when he heard Jegal Sohi's voice.

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

“Leader Moyong, did you hear something like a scream?”

‘!?’

Oddly, those words bothered him a lot.

Chapter 411 - North

Chapter 411: North Sea Ice Palace (1)

If one goes up the Great Plains and to the north, one will reach an area called Seeu.

Although the northern side of Seeu is often regarded as a place with blizzards year around, it still consisted of dense and coniferous mountains and grasslands.

Of course, it's cold year-round, making it difficult to compare with Jianghu.

One could tell by just one look at the snow, which hasn't melted on the peaks of the mountains.

It was cold, and it snowed often.

There was a huge lake hidden on the northern side of Seeu.

The name of the lake is Lake Baikal.

It was a huge lake incomparable to an average lake which you could find anywhere on the continent. The people who settled on Lake Baikal called it several different names.

Sacred sea.

The blue eyes on the cold earth.

There were several names, but the name most known to the people of Jianghu is Vast Lake, the sanctuary of the North Sea Ice Palace.

And inside it was a vast island.

Although the lake is enormous, the island's total area is about 18 billion pyong (Korean unit of measurement).

It was unreasonable to dismiss such a massive island as a mere island.

That island contained shorter than average mountains and fields, and between mountain peaks on the southeast side, there was a huge palace nestled in like a fortress.

The exterior of the magnificent structure was not inferior compared to the main building of the Forces of Justice.

The un-melted white snow piled up on the red tiles made the fortress look like a castle made of snow.

People called that fortress the North Sea Ice Palace.

Just looking at it revealed beauty and tranquillity, making people feel calm, but currently, there were subtle tremors in the North Sea Ice Palace.

Grrrr!

Not just the huge palace, but also the walls were shaking violently.

The epicenter of the tremors wasn't that far from the North Sea Ice Palace.

The further north, the stronger the vibrations.

Grrrrrrrr!

Further north, where the vibration was getting stronger, there was no grass, just barren land.

If you go up to the northwest, there was a place made of solid bare mountains that look like they were made up of piled soil.

This was the only place on the island which had no living things.

There was even a feeling of death spreading around that place.

Surrounded by the bare mountains, there was the tallest bare mountain, and the entrance to the cave was located at the bottom of that mountain, which had been cracked because of the strong vibrations.

The cave was deeper than it looked.

If one entered the cave and walked along a narrow passage for a long time, there would be a vast and expansive space in the cave, made entirely from blue ice.

The ice-like stones are called Adularia stones which had the property of turning harder as the cold increased.

Whoop!

The space was lit with numerous torches.

Nearly five hundred warriors in white fur had their hands on the floor of the space, which was lit with torches emitting cold qi.

Jirik!

The intensity of the cold they radiated barely maintained the ice's hardness.

The warriors, dressed in white fur, were the people of the North Sea Ice Palace.

They were playing the role of infusing cold qi so that the Adularia stones wouldn't break. However, they all looked exhausted.

"Hold on a little more! The next shift will come. Until then, we need to keep the cold qi flowing!"

"Y-Yes!!!"

The shouts of the North Sea Ice Palace warriors were vague.

A middle-aged man with short silver hair played the role of encouraging them. He was an elder of the North Sea Ice Palace, Oh Mubang.

Jririk!

Oh Mubang's face was drenched in sweat.

He too was holding his palms on the floor, but he was also exhausted as he had been instilling cold qi into the cave for more than three hours straight.

Crrrrk! Rumble!

The glacial cave shook.

The vibration got worse with time. Despite cold qi being injected into the cave, the cracks in the Adularia stones only worsened.

Oh Mubang's face, who had been resting his palms on the ice floor, was unusual.

It felt more vivid when he had his palms on the floor.

The terrifying beating of the monster, who was struggling to climb up through the sealed ice.

Creep!

Every time he felt a throb, he was terrified to the point of nearly having a heart attack.

‘Any more than this is impossible.’

The Dragon Spirit, whose seals were released, kept growing stronger as the warriors turned weaker.

The cold qi injected in the Adularia stones in three shifts ended up reaching its limit.

That was how the cold worked.

Uh!

The new shift of five hundred men arrived at the exit side of the cave.

Seol Yi-jong was the one who brought them, but despite having their breakfast, they all looked utterly exhausted.

“Elder, we are here to change.”

That was when Oh Mubang responded to Seol Yi-jong with a serious expression.

“I don’t think that this will last any longer.”

“... I felt the vibration while coming here. The vibrations are strong enough that they can be felt from the palace too.”

“Kuak! It would be better for us to fight the bloody Dragon Turtle with all our forces in the palace than keeping this one locked up and exhausting ourselves.”

At the complaint of elder Oh Mubang, elder Seol Yi-jong nodded.

It was very evident that their warriors were exhausted.

Everyone was scared, but some people thought that fighting and dying was better than this.

“Be patient. Once the Yulin contingents come, even those who don’t want to fight will have to go and fight that monster to the death.”

“Ha! That bastard! He!”

“Elder! The men are listening, so...”

“Did I say anything wrong? There is no guarantee when those strangers will arrive, and we are being forced to sacrifice ourselves here... huh?”

Ttatata!

While the elder Oh Mubang complained in anger, someone rushed to the exit side of the cave and shouted so that all the people inside could listen.

“Y-Yulin contingents have arrived!!!”

At that cry, both the elder’s eyes widened as they looked at each other.

Right when they were all getting frustrated with the work, the Yulin contingents finally arrived.

Oh Mubang got up from the ground and asked.

“Where are they all now?”

“They are in...”

The pier in the southeast of the island.

The scale of Baikal Lake was so vast that it could be called a river or sea. Naming it a lake was a ridiculous decision.

There were two ways to enter the island.

Crossing by boat from the southeast or crossing by taking the ferry for a short distance from the northwest, it was better to cross by boat, as the latter took up too much time.

At the dockside, many palace officials from the North Sea Ice Palace gathered.

After hearing the news that Yulin’s contingents were crossing the lake, they rushed to greet them.

Looking out from the pier, one couldn’t even see the other side of the lake.

Above the watchtower perched up on a nearby hill, a middle-aged man and an elderly-looking man with white hair in grey robes with ornate pattering looked at the lake.

They were Dan Jucheon, the deputy king of the North Sea Ice Palace, and 1st elder Seol Young-gwi.

“See over there, my lord. It isn’t large, but we need to be happy.”

The Yulin's contingents came a long way and were waiting to be greeted by the deputy king.

"Don't call for them just yet. 1st elder."

"You right my king, excessive humility isn't good either."

Dan Jucheon smiled lightly at Seol Young-gwi's words.

Most people were already calling him the king instead of deputy king, as he had 80 percent of the control in the North Sea Ice Palace.

Dozens of ships could be seen in the middle of the vast lake.

In half an hour, they'll arrive.

"I hope that the prince is not on their ship."

Dan Jucheon's eyes, which smiled at Seol Young-gwi, turned cold.

Although the roles changed, at one time, the prince was his nephew, whom he taught martial arts.

"... don't talk about the prince anymore."

“Even if you are offended by this old man’s words, there is nothing we can do about it. Without him, the king will be able to unite the remaining people more naturally. I think we would be fortunate if the Demonic Cult took care of him.”

All the elders opened their arms and welcomed the report from Dan Juseong that their prince was going to ask the Demonic Cult for reinforcements.

Even outside Jianghu, everyone knew that the infamous Demonic Cult would never grant people’s requests.

If he came back alive, it would be a miracle.

“Huh!”

Seol Young-gwi spoke while looking at Dan Jucheon, who seemed pissed.

“Don’t you think that the former king brought this all upon us? If the former king hadn’t promoted the prince, who had no talent, as the crown prince, such a mess wouldn’t have happened.”

Most of the elders, even 1st elder Seol Young-gwi, were against it.

North Sea Ice Palace had a strict system based on merit.

In such a place, it was unacceptable for a person who achieved nothing as the prince to get placed on the throne just because he is the eldest son of the king.

“ ... ”

“Maybe the former king thought that if the treasure was found the situation wou...”

“Huh?”

Seol Young-gwi, who had been talking for a long time, was taken aback.

It was because Dan Jucheon was staring at another side of the lake.

‘What is he looking at?’

Dan Jucheon was known to be a Supreme Master who was skilled among all the warriors of the North.

“King?”

At the call from an elder, Dan Jucheon frowned.

“... it seems that the situation is completely different from our expectations.”

“Huh?”

“They are still far away so I can’t see clearly, but those black... I think it’s them.”

“What do you mean?”

Dan Jucheon, the deputy king of the palace, spoke in a low voice.

“Demonic Cult!”

‘!?’

At those words, Seol Young-gwi's expression hardened.

Slasp! Splash!

Dozens of ships were crossing Lake Baikal.

Among them, the leaders of Yulin were aboard the ship furthest ahead.

Everyone in there couldn't help but admire the vast lake, which was transparent and beautiful, almost forgetting about the Dragon Turtle.

A view which they could never see in Jianghu.

If it wasn't for the cold weather, they wouldn't have felt such a difference.

Jegal Sohi, who was admiring the superb view for a while, approached commander Kang Soah, who was looking at the faintly visible island from the ship.

"Leader Kang."

Kang Soah didn't respond to her call.

He kept looking ahead.

Jegal Sohi held back a bitter smile on her face as if she was getting used to his cold attitude.

“Leader Kang. The warriors of the contingent haven’t rested properly because of our plan to get here quickly. Why not ask the deputy king about giving them one day to rest if the situation isn’t urgent?”

Because of Dan Juseong, who said that the situation in the North Sea Ice Palace was urgent, their journey was made in haste.

Except for when the horses were given some time to breathe, no warriors had ample sleep. All the warriors in the contingent were tired.

It was highly unreasonable to travel as far as they did in just ten days.

“Commander Kang?”

At Jegal Sohi’s repeated call, Kang Soah responded coldly.

“As the commander, it is my decision to make. I didn’t come here as a warrior, so pay attention to what you are supposed to do.”

‘Ah...’

This made her upset.

She even thought it would have been better if she asked Moyong Kang, one of the leaders, to deliver the message to Kang Soah.

She knew how much Kang Soah hated everything related to Yeon Buso.

‘What I don’t like is my second priority, I don’t get why he had to insist on such an unreasonable march. If our warriors get too exhausted, dispatching them would be difficult.’

They knew that the situation was urgent, but after the meeting with the Great Hung Clan’s chief, Kang Soah hastened their advance.

He even decreased the break for the horses to rest from five times to three times a day.

Thanks to that, more than 30 horses died from exhaustion.

‘Something doesn’t feel right.’

It was because of the unique gut feeling that Kang Soah had recently.

He had a better sense of situation than others, and the night he negotiated with the Great Hung Clan, he felt something ominous.

That unsure instinct made him hurry even more.

“Huh, I can’t do this anymore. Do as you wish.”

Jegal Sohi, who had been holding her anger back, couldn’t anymore. Having said what she wanted to, she went into her cabin on the ship to get some rest.

It was then.

Woong! Woong!

A commotion was heard from the rear of the ship.

To be precise, it seemed like the sound was coming from the ships following them and not the one they were on.

“What is it?”

“I think something has happened. Miss Jegal.”

Moyong Kang, who was resting in his cabin, came out and said to her,

“I think we should go and take a look.”

As a result, Jegal Sohi and all the leaders moved towards the tail of the ship.

Since dozens of ships were crossing the lake, the entire back of their ship covered, they couldn't see the cause of the commotion, only the loud shouts could be heard.

‘What is it?’

Puzzled, Kang Soah focused on the sounds coming from the ships.

The warriors on the ship seemed to be shouting in shock and awe.

“There!”

“No way... that is ridiculous!”

“No, they are running on water!”

“Is that even possible?”

The shouts from the back ships were all about someone running on water.

It had been nearly a day since their ships set sail, and they were still a long way from land.

They were supposed to be halfway there.

Hwang Bo-neung, the head of the Hwang Bo clan, spoke to Moyong Kang.

“What do they mean by running on water?”

Moyong Kang frowned and mumbled.

“Water Step?”

Water Step.

People who reached a certain level ascended light⁽¹⁾ allowing them to use this technique to run on the surface of water.

Though not as known as walking in the air, warriors who have reached a certain level require a high energy level to run even on the shortest distance on water.

However, running on such a vast lake is close to impossible.

“Is that possible? This is such a wide lake. What the heck did they see to speak those nonsensical words... huh?”

Hwang Bo-nueng, who was complaining, stopped.

He doubted his own eyes.

“Go-goodness!”

Not just him, but everyone at the back of the ship looked at the same place with gaping mouths.

To their surprise, they saw a figure running across the lake at great speed.

Pat! Pat!

The water rippled where this man stepped, making the water look like a soft bed.

A genuinely electrifying skill.

‘How can such a thing be possible in this huge lake?’

Everyone was shocked. However, the figure moving towards them suddenly climbed onto the back of one of the ships Yulin contingents were on.

Tap!

“Ugh!”

“En-enemy!”

Srrng! Srrng!

The people on the ship, the warriors of the contingent, pulled out their weapons.

At that time, Moyong Kang and Jegal Sohi shouted at the same time.

“Lo-Lord Chun!”

The white-faced man swept his long hair to the back.

He was the Lord of the Demonic Cult, Chun Yeowun.

Everyone was startled, but Chun Yeowun looked at everyone on the ship with sharp eyes and spoke with a cynical voice.

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

“Who is Kang Soah?”

Kang Soah’s face turned perplexed as he heard his name coming out of Chun Yeowun’s mouth.

Editor's Note

⁽¹⁾ Neither I nor the translator are 100% sure what “Ascended Light” means. My interpretation is that at a certain level, martial arts “Ascend Weight” and are no longer bound to how heavy or light they are. I decided to leave it as is until the author clarifies what it means.

Chapter 412 - North Sea Ice Palace (2)

Chapter 412: North Sea Ice Palace (2)

Above the southwest pier's watchtower, Dan Jucheon looked across the lake in shock.

He only looked at the scene with a stiff expression until a moment ago, but seeing how his eyes were now trembling, 1st elder Seol Young-gwi asked in wonder.

"King! Did something happen?"

To that question, Dan Jucheon answered with a trembling voice.

"... The Demonic Cult has such monsters in it?"

"Monsters?"

“I’m doubting my eyes. To run across half the lake at that...”

“Wh-what do you mean?”

“Someone broke away from the Demonic Cult’s group, and ran across half the lake at a high speed.”

‘!!!’

Lake Baikal is as vast as a sea or river, so running halfway across it in such a short period of time is ridiculous.

Although the flow of the water was indeed calm. It was impossible for even Dan Jucheon, one of the strongest warriors in the North, to traverse the lake at such a high speed.

“How can that happen!”

“No way... did Chun Yujong, one of the five strongest warriors, come here directly?”

Dan Jucheon, the deputy king of the palace, mumbled while narrowing his eyes.

He didn't know the current news in Jianghu, so he had no way of guessing who it was.

On the other hand, at this moment on the furthest most ship.

Dan Juseong, an envoy from the North Sea Ice Palace, who was next to Moyong Kang, looked at Chun Yeowun in surprise.

No matter how much he looked at him, it seemed like he was a member of the cult.

However, as soon as Moyong Kang called the man Lord Chun.

"Lord? Leader Moyong?"

At the cautious question of Dan Juseong, Moyong Kang answered in a hushed voice.

"... you might not know, but that person is the Lord of the Demonic Cult."

"Th-the Demonic Cult!"

Dan Juseong wondered if it was true, but the man really was the Lord of the Demonic Cult.

He knew that the new Lord was young, but for it to turn out to be true.

The significance of the Lord of the Demonic Cult's appearance in the North Sea Ice Palace became clear.

'Did Baekhyun really persuade them? How... with what means?'

It was amazing.

He thought that Baekhyun was bound to fail.

The elders also expected him to get expelled from the cult, and in the worst case, they thought that the Demonic Cult would deal with him.

However, it was shocking that one of the three major forces that divided Jianghu in recent times appeared.

Woong!

'The Lord of the Demonic Cult?'

'Is he really the Demon God?'

The people were all in thought.

When they learned the person who came onto their ship's real identity, their faces turned fearful.

In particular, Moyong Kang, who was the only one who had seen what happened in the Jin Castle, was already breaking out in cold sweat, despite the cold weather.

'This is bad!'

Moyong Kang looked at Jegal Sohi.

She, too, nodded her head with a puzzled expression.

Rather than suddenly appearing on their ship, the problem was that Chun Yeowun was looking for someone.

'He must have bumped into the Great Hung Clan.'

Moyong Kang had heard from Jegal Sohi that Kang Soah, the commander of their current troops, devised a scheme with the War Chief.

They were worried about the scheme from the start.

They even thought that it would be better to dissuade Kang Soah, or maybe they felt like they should let him deal with the possible consequences.

However, as a result of various thoughts, they ended up thinking that even if the Demonic Cult did send troops, it was unlikely for Chun Yeowun, their Lord, to come.

‘We should act calm.’

Although it was an alliance, the relationship between the Yulin and the Demon Cult had been in disarray recently.

If it weren’t for the Blade God Six Martial clan, they would have been aiming for each other’s throat.

The situation in Jin Castle, the harm done to Yeon Buso, the massacre of people belonging to the Forces of Great Heaven, and the change of State Religion because of those reasons, all the factions of Yulin became outraged at the mention of the Demonic Cult.

‘For Lord Chun to appear here.’

Jegal Sohi was at a loss on how to solve this situation.

At first, she wanted to dissuade Kang Soah, but thinking of what Chun Yeowun did to her fiancée Yeon Buso, she decided to stay back.

She was literally on the lookout.

[Miss Jegal! If we don't take any measures right away, Kang Soah will be in danger!]

[Huh?]

[You might not know since it has been a long time since you've seen him, but any person who threatens Chun Yeowun never leaves alive.]

Chun Yeowun killed Nam Gung-kyong, the head of the Nam Gung clan, without even blinking an eye while in front of the Yulin leaders.

Even the Great Leader Yi Mok was unable to stop him.

It wouldn't be strange if he killed Kang Soah.

Jegal Sohi sent a message.

[For now, I'll get Lord Chun's attention.]

No matter how much she disliked Kang Soah, he was still the commander of their troops and the child of Yi Mok.

She couldn't let him get hurt.

But,

“It must be you.”

However, Chun Yeowun found Kang Soah.

‘Ahh!’

Jegal Sohi touched her forehead.

When he asked who Kang Soah was, everyone on the ship looked towards Kang Soah, allowing him to be found.

Diverting his attention was a failure from the beginning.

Jegal Sohi moved in front of Chun Yeowun, who hurriedly tried to approach Kang Soah.

Pak!

She politely greeted him.

“Lord Chun. It has been a long time. I am Jegal Sohi, warrior of Yulin and the Forces of Justice.”

There was only one thing she knew.

They had a small relationship that was created when she went to the Demonic Cult.

At that time, Chun Yeowun was the prince who saved the Yulin envoy, who fell into a trap because of the Blade God Six Martial clan, that was probably why she didn't think of Chun Yeowun as arrogant and self-righteous as the rumors said.

At least, that was what she thought.

But Chun Yeowun didn't even act like he knew her and spoke in a cold voice.

“Move.”

‘Ah...’

It was disappointing.

Even Moyong Kang, who was watching it, couldn't hide his embarrassment.

He knew how great Jegal Sohi's beauty was and thought that he would certainly talk to her out of consideration.

When the envoy went to the Demonic cult, he thought Chun Yeowun helped them because he saw the beauty of Jegal Sohi.

‘Is he a person who has no sympathy?’

Men tend to be weak in front of beautiful women, but not every man would wait for a beautiful one.

Even so, they would still show interest in beauty.

“Lord Chun. Why did you suddenly come onto our ship?”

She had to divert his attention.

She had to keep a conversation going.

But unfortunately, nothing worked.

“Are you deliberately pretending to not know?”

“!?”

At those words, Sohi’s eyes trembled.

She didn’t say anything for a long time, but she knew what Chun Yeowun meant.

‘We are in a crisis because we neglected that moment.’

She bit her lip.

Her face was hot.

Because it was the same as Chun Yeowun pointing out that they are protecting Kang Soah.

It seems that he came onto an enemy ship in the vast lake because he had to do something.

Kang Soah’s voice came from behind, while Sohi was in a pinch.

“He is my guest. Step aside.”

“B-but Leader Kang.”

“Don’t disturb us and leave.”

Jegal Sohi frowned at the stubborn voice.

‘Haha... this isn’t a place where your pride should be saved.’

There was nothing she could do.

She was disappointed at Kang Soah's cold words towards her, but she stepped aside.

In the current situation, there was no other way than for Kang Soah to overcome the problem he created alone.

She just hoped that he wouldn't do anything stupid.

'... Leader Kang.'

His opponent was one of the best warriors in the world.

If he put his mind to it, not a single person on the ship would survive.

Apologizing seemed like the best method to reduce damage to the warriors.

'This man is the Lord of the Demonic Cult, Chun Yeowun!'

Kang Soah's eyes narrowed.

He was a monster who turned his brother, Yeon Buso, who was a genius, into a cripple.

And if he could deal with the Lord of the Demonic Cult, it would be the shortest way to elevate his position in his clan, and he could even get a position in the Forces of Justice.

‘However, I was not supposed to make any mistakes.’

But of course, there were mistakes.

He never thought that the Lord of the Demonic Cult would personally lead their contingent.

‘He is not an opponent to easily take.’

Kang Soah looked into Chun Yeowun’s eyes.

It wasn’t normal to feel such pressure from a warrior by just looking into their eyes.

No frivolous tricks would work on such a person.

‘To destroy evil and reach heaven, I am prepared to make sacrifices!’

Pak!

Kang Soah put his hands together and greeted.

“It is an honor to meet the Lord of the Demonic Cult. I am Kang Soah, the one in charge of this contingent and the Black Shadow force.”

Strong voice.

A face with courage without a hint of fear.

‘Please...’

Jegal Sohi and Moyong Kang were both concerned.

But something unexpected happened.

Thud!

Kang Soah knelt on one knee.

And once again clasped his hands and said.

“If the Lord who came to our ship like this is angry because of the barbarians, I have no excuse. I asked them to stop anyone who pursued us.”

‘Ah!’

Everyone was shocked by Kang Soah's attitude, despite seeing Chun Yeowun.

They thought that he would speak subtly but never imagined that he would be so direct.

Moyong Kang praised him.

'Right. This might be the best way to deal with this.'

It could be humiliating, but this was a lot better than provoking the Lord of the Demonic Cult.

Now it was a matter of how Chun Yeowun responded.

Chun Yeowun, who had an expressionless face, opened his mouth.

"Then pay the price for it."

Srrng!

With those words, Chun Yeowun drew the White Dragon Blade, which was on his waist.

He was relentless even though he could have chosen another option.

Jegal Sohi, flustered and scared, shouted.

“Lord Chun! We are allies. Are you trying to harm the leader of the contingent sent from the alliance without even considering the circumstances?”

At that, Chun Yeowun spoke in a tone that said that nothing mattered to him.

“With what reason did you all plot that?”

“T-that...”

“Stop wasting my time and pay up.”

With those words, Chun Yeowun’s blade went for Kang Soah’s right shoulder.

It was then.

Clang!

Someone stopped Chun Yeowun's White Dragon Blade.

It was none other than Hwang Bo-neung, the head of the Hwang Bo family.

Trrrrn!

"Kuak!"

A gasp escaped from Hwang Bo-neung's mouth.

He was prepared to act if anything happened, so he managed to block it at the right moment, but the two palms holding the blade tore and oozed out blood.

'It looked like he swung it lightly, what is this formidable power?'

If one looks closely, one can see that the floor around Hwang Bo-neung was dented.

If it hadn't been for him, Kang Soah would have lost his right arm.

“Are you blocking me?”

At the question of Chun Yeowun, who was releasing energy strong enough to burn his opponent’s insides, Hwang Bo-neung exclaimed.

“Commander Kang is in charge of this contingent which is moving to help North Sea Ice Palace! How could I let you harm him!”

Despite suffering internal injuries, Hwang Bo-neung didn’t back out.

Considering the fame of Chun Yeowun, it was terrifying to be there, but seeing Kang Soah like that, he didn’t want to back out from the situation.

“Even if everyone calls you Demon God. I will not be afraid of you! Haa!”

Hwang Bo-neung raised his internal energy and straightened his bent knee.

After all, once he pushed Chun Yeowun, everyone would come up to help Kang Soah.

However, there would be those who would end up losing their lives in the process.

Kwk!

‘Th-this...’

His legs, which he was trying to straighten, dug further into the floor of the ship.

Of course, Hwang Bo-neung knew that the Demon God wouldn’t let himself get pushed, but the difference in power was too great.

“Kuaaak!”

Blaze! Blaze!

It was so strong that his veins stood up all over his body. Even when he tried to use all his internal energy, it didn’t make any difference.

As Chun Yeowun raised his energy further, Hwang Bo-neung fell to the floor.

“Ugh!”

Thud!

Everyone's faces on the ship hardened.

Hwang Bo-neung, the head of the great Hwang Bo clan, a renowned martial artist, and a leader in the Forces of Justice, was one-sidedly taken down.

With the title Demon God, Chun Yeowun was truly undefeated.

"If you disturb me once more, I will really kill you."

One last warning was given by Chun Yeowun, who approached Kang Soah, but the members of the Black Shadow forces drew their weapons and tried to stop him.

"St-stop!"

"If you want to kill our leader, you'll have to kill us first!"

No matter how terrified they were, they couldn't let Chun Yeowun have his way.

As Chun Yeowun's face turned colder, Kang Soah shouted.

“Everyone stop!”

“?”

The warriors of the Black Shadow force couldn't hide their embarrassment at the unexpected order.

If they stepped down, the Lord of the Demonic Cult, Chun Yeowun, would cut off his arm, so why would Kang Soah order that?

It was then.

Clash! Tear!

“Kuaaak!”

“Le-leaderrr!!!”

Something unexpected happened.

Kang Soah pulled his sword from his waist and cut off his left hand from the wrist down.

Jegal Sohi, Moyong Kang, and Dan Juseong were too startled at what they witnessed.

‘Wh-why?’

“Kuaaak! Haaa... haaa...”

Drip! Drip! Drip!

Kang Soah screamed in pain as he slowly kept pressuring the blood points to stop the bleeding.

He did it with his own hand, but even so, it was so painful that he couldn’t speak. While enduring, his lips opened.

“Haa... Haaa... ugh, I know that this doesn’t quench your anger. But this time, we are being sent to the North Sea Ice Palace.”

“ ... ”

“Kuk, pl... please give me time to finish this job. If you ask me later, I will pay the full price!”

At Kang Soah's words, Jegal Sohi admired him.

It was the 'to solve one's problem at the cost of their own body' strategy.

Sacrificing the body before the opponent could put pressure on the opponent, and the man would be able to avoid further pain.

'Haa... haaa... if I can get rid of this situation by giving up my left hand, it isn't a huge price to pay.'

If he did that, even the Lord of the Demonic Cult would feel troubled.

After all, seeing that he aimed for the shoulder, it looked like Chun Yeowun only wanted his arm.

It meant that he had no intention of killing Kang Soah.

'The rumors that those who can't kill aim for arms are true. Then, doing this to myself will reduce the damage.'

Kang Soah boldly cut off his hand.

The perfectly calculated outcome, as he was a right-handed person, and at the same time, it would give the impression that he paid for his sins with his left hand.

‘He will stop if he considers his prestige.’

The Lord of the Demonic Cult, one of the three major forces, if he pushed further, people would laugh at him.

Kang Soah looked at Chun Yeowun with a pale face.

Chun Yeowun looked at this and opened his mouth.

“... this is the first time something like this happened. phew.”

As he said those words, Kang Soah cried in joy inside.

It meant that his gamble paid off.

Rather, it was better this way than making some excuse to Chun Yeowun.

‘I just need to hope that the Dragon Turtle’s blood and core will work properly.’

Kang Soah wanted the blood of the Dragon Turtle.

According to ancient documents, it was said that if one took the blood or core of one of the five spirit beasts, severed body parts could be restored.

Taking that into account, he cut off his hand.

‘I need to get that blood.’

Kang Soah’s true purpose for volunteering for this mission was because of the Dragon Turtle.

He believed that if he took the core of the four-headed dragon, he would be able to explore its power which would make him rise closer to becoming one of the five great warriors.

Chun yeowun looked at Kang Soah and shook his head.

“I was thinking of taking your arm, I didn’t know you would make the first move. This is quite nice.”

At those words, everyone sighed in relief.

It looked like they were able to avoid the battle with the Demon God.

‘It was foolish, but the method worked.’

Jegal Sohi smiled bitterly.

Kang Soah expressed his gratitude to Chun Yeowun by enduring the pain in his wrist.

“Thank you for your generous mercy.”

‘I will repay you for this disgrace in the same way someday.’

His outside actions and inside thoughts were different, but he didn’t show his true intentions.

As the saying goes, a gentleman’s revenge is never too late. He was enduring this disgrace in order to destroy the Demonic Cult later.

‘He is scarier than Yeon Buso.’

Even Moyong Kang, head of the Moyong family, couldn’t help but admire Kang Soah.

Maybe in the future, when Kang Soah has the power and wits, he would be able to deal with the Lord of the Demonic Cult.

At that time, Chun Yeowun approached Kang Soah, who was relieved and asked.

“What do you usually do if someone who is likely to turn into a pain tries to get out of your sight?”

“Huh?”

“Seeing what kind of person you are, I only wanted to end this matter with one arm, but I changed my mind after seeing what’s rolling in your head.”

Kang Soah’s face turned pale at Chun Yeowun words.

He realized that the plan wasn’t going in the way he wanted them to.

‘N-no way!’

Confused, he tried to step back.

Kwak!

Chun Yeowun, who grabbed Kang Soah’s collar, calmly told him.

“Die here.”

“W-wait! What are you doing now...”

Slash!

At that moment, Chun Yeowun’s White Dragon Blade passed through Kang Soah’s neck leaving behind a white trajectory.

Kang Soah blinked his eyes at what happened so quickly.

“Da... damn... it... it...”

Slash!

Before he could finish speaking, his severed head fell to the ship’s floor.

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

Roll!

Looking down at Kang Soah's head, which had its eyes wide open, Chun Yeowun muttered in a cold voice.

"Your head is indeed rolling."

Chapter 413 - North Sea Ice Palace (3)

Chapter 413: North Sea Ice Palace (3)

Everyone onboard the ship thought that the situation had been resolved amicably.

Although the commander suffered the humiliation of cutting his hand off, it was far better than confronting the Lord of the Demonic Cult, Chun Yeowun.

But,

Clash! Roll!

Everyone was shocked to see Commander Kang Soah's head rolling on the floor.

Who would have imagined that he would meet his end like that?

Even though Kang Soah is the second son of Yi Mok, the head of the Forces of Justice, with whom they had an alliance, there wasn't an ounce of hesitation.

“Kang Soah!”

“Commander!”

Everyone on the ship cried out.

Their cries held both shock and resentment at the death of their commander and the leader of the Black Shadow force.

Jegal Sohi, the strategist of Yulin, shouted at Chun Yeowun with red eyes.

“Lo, Lord Chun! Isn’t this too much!?”

“Too much?”

“Commander Kang said he was guilty and cut off his own hand. Besides, apart from that, isn’t your cult and the Forces of Justice allies, isn’t this excessive action on your part?”

Jegal Sohi wouldn’t have acted like that if it was some other day.

However, when her fiancée Yeon Buso had returned half-dead, and now that she witnessed the death of Kang Soah, it ended up triggering her anger.

Pat!

At that time, Hwang Bo-neung, who had fallen through the ship because of the dent, came up.

Looking at the bloodstains on his face and mouth, it seemed like he barely had the energy to come back up, as he had a hard time stopping the energy which had invaded his flesh.

“H-how could you do this!”

Hwang Bo-neung was shocked to see Kang Soah’s severed head lying on the ground.

He never thought that Chun Yeowun would kill him.

Thud!

“How dare you kill our leader!”

“I cannot forgive you!”

The members of the Black Shadow force, who had been staring at the head of Kang Soah in despair, couldn't hold back their anger anymore and ran ahead with their weapons in hand.

The situation had taken a turn for the worse, and there was no point in holding back with Kang Soah dead.

Shhh!

Two warriors of the Black Shadow force simultaneously ran for Chun Yeowun.

The tactic of their strife, which was out of anger, wasn't common.

"I will kill you!"

However, they couldn't even reach Chun Yeowun.

Slas!

"No?"

At some point, an unidentified monster with a mask that held a unique pattern appeared in a black robe and blocked their attack.

As if blocking them wasn't enough, he threw them to the other side of the ship.

Thud!

"Ouch!"

"Ack!"

Plop!

After being hit in their chests for the second time, the two of them got thrown out of the ship and fell into the cold lake.

Moyong Kang of the Moyong family yelled with a stiff face.

"The Dark King!"

The man in the unidentified mask was Marakim, the Great Guardian of the Demonic Cult.

Of course, there was no way that Marakim would let Chun Yeowun go anywhere alone.

“Haa... Haa...”

Harsh breathing sounds came from behind the mask.

Although he was a Supreme Master, he seemed pretty tired as it wasn't an easy task to cross the vast lake.

[Haaa... Lord.]

“Hmp. Hmp.”

Chun Yeowun coughed at the soft telepathy message from Marakim.

He felt bad.

He left a message saying that he would come back once he resolved something and then left them behind.

The others had no choice but to stay still as it was impossible for them to follow Chun Yeowun.

Even if they could, they wouldn't be able to follow Chun Yeowun's speed.

‘Did he also run on this wide lake? Haha... the current Demonic Cult is full of bloody monsters.’

Everyone was shocked.

The eyes of everyone on the ship filled with tension. Even the infamous Dark King appeared as if Chun Yeowun wasn't hard enough for them to deal with. They couldn't see a favorable solution.

While everyone was hesitating, Chun Yeowun opened his mouth and pointed to the head of Kang Soah.

“I am making this clear. This incident happened because of this person. But, if you think that losing your colleague is so unfair, come at me.”

It was a calm voice filled with arrogance.

And that was enough for them to understand.

Chun Yeowun was strong enough to annihilate everyone on the ship.

Moyong Kang clenched his fists hard enough that they were bleeding and spoke.

“Lord Chun! Do you think that the alliance between the Forces of Justice and the Demonic Cult isn’t important? When forming an alliance, your sense of right and wrong needs to be left behind!”

It wasn’t Chun Yeowun who responded to that.

Marakim, who calmed his breath to some extent, spoke as he pulled out his sword from his waist.

Srrrng!

“I think that is something that our cult is supposed to ask. Did you really value the alliance, when asking the barbarians to attack us?”

“Th-that...”

It was like being stabbed in the throat.

He forgot it in his moment of anger, but the culprit was none other than Kang Soah.

They could have stopped it, but they stood aside and neglected the issue.

‘The Demon God and the Dark King...’

The pressure from the tip of Marakim’s sword made them feel even more nervous.

If things went any further, the result would be everyone aboard dying.

‘Ah... from the beginning, they weren’t blindly hurting us.’

Jegal Sohi, who failed to control her anger until a moment ago, sighed.

They had to accept what was done.

To put it bluntly, it was the only solution to rectifying the mistakes done if they supported the Demonic Cult’s words.

‘Is this what a person without power feels like?’

Up until now, the Yulin had the leading position in Wulin.

Not just in the Imperial family, but the entire Wulin respected them.

Although they had constant battles with the Demonic Cult, they were never pushed back. However, with the new Lord of the Demonic Cult, their position took a complete change.

‘Is there no one who can stop Lord Chun? Ahh...’

It was upsetting, but that was the reality.

Perhaps the enemy they really needed to worry about wasn’t the Blade God Six Martial clan but the Demonic Cult.

[Leader Moyong...]

‘Jegal...’

Moyong Kang closed his eyes when he saw Jegal Sohi shake her head.

After Kang Soah, who had been appointed as the commander, died, all authority directly went to Moyong Kang, who had the highest position.

Whoops!

Moyong Kang killed the resentment inside him and spoke.

“... this contingent has no intention of confronting Lord Chun. And... you have been paid. Please, for the sake of our alliance, I hope this ends here.”

Everyone waited for Chun Yeowun's answer with tense faces.

As Moyong Kang said, Chun Yeowun had to be the one to end this fight, and luckily he nodded with affirmation.

“Phew.”

Although it was humiliating, they were all relieved.

The presence of Chun Yeowun, who is the Demon God, made them all turn nervous.

‘Is that a relief?’

Chun Yeowun laughed as he looked at the response of the Yulin's contingents.

Right now, they were all thinking that the situation had been solved with the sacrifice of Kang Soah. However, they didn't know that the Great Hung clan was going to chase them to death.

‘I don’t have to tell them.’

It was something they had to face.

Without Kang Soah, the contingent would have to deal with the wrath of Asara, the War Chief who lost both his arms.

[Let’s go. Great Guardian.]

‘!?’

Marakim’s pupils shook as he heard Chun Yeowun’s message.

The direction he was headed wasn’t towards the Six Swords, who were on a ship behind them.

[Now that we have come this far, it’s better to go to the island first.]

[... yes!]

It was obvious, but Marakim reluctantly replied as he just barely managed to catch his breath, but the thought of crossing the lake once again seemed hard to him.

Shh!

First, Chun Yeowun left, and then Marakim too disappeared from the ship.

Shortly after leaving the ship, the people of Yulin looked at them and waited until they completely disappeared.

While everyone was doing that, someone lifted Kang Soah's head with both hands.

He closed the eyes of Kang Soah, which were open, and silently opened his mouth.

The man had a smirk on his face, which no one noticed.

'My leader. Your noble sacrifice for the heavens will be remembered forever.'

A shocking truth had been revealed.

The hidden identity of Kang Soah, the second son of the Forces of Justice's Great Leader Yi Mok, and leader of the Black Shadow force, was one of the leaders of the Forces of Great Heaven.

As he was silent, Jegal Sohi brought in the flag of the Black Shadow force and helped them retrieve the body.

“Lieutenant Mak. It must be difficult, but the mission isn’t over yet, so please lead the Black Shadow force on behalf of leader Kang.”

“... I understand.”

A middle-aged man with droopy eyes and half-white hair accepted the role; he was Mak Wijong, the lieutenant of the Black Shadow force.

Above the watchtower on the southwest pier of the island, Dan Jucheon, the deputy king of the palace, stared intently at the other side of the lake and suddenly spoke to Seol Young-gwi.

“Elder Seol. I guess we will have to go down right away.”

“Why so sudden?”

At those words, Dan Jucheon pointed his finger.

Seol Young-gwi looked at where he pointed and saw something he hadn’t seen before.

It was on the side which could be seen from the pier.

And as if they were running on flat ground, someone was approaching the island.

“Is-is he really doing that?”

Seol Young-gwi couldn't contain his shock.

When he heard Dan Jucheon speak about that, he couldn't believe it, but now that he saw it with his own eyes, he couldn't help but be surprised.

“What?”

However, they had never seen any person who performed such an arduous feat.

A bit behind, but there was another person who was keeping a stable pace.

“Ugh, not just one person... Who the hell are those people?”

Dan Jucheon, one of the best among the warriors of the North, saw two people do something he could barely achieve.

“I think we should go meet them.”

“Understood!”

Their exact identity was unknown, but they had to meet them to know.

It was clear that they had come from the Demonic Cult.

When they hurried down and arrived at the wharf, around a hundred people were waiting in advance, all from the North Sea Ice Palace.

“You have come? Deputy King of the palace!”

They were all soldiers of the palace, the Snow Sword Troops, one of the five battle troops of the North Sea Ice Palace.

The Snow Sword Troops leader, Baek Gojung, was about to report to the deputy king that the ship of Yulin hadn’t arrived yet when the surroundings became noisy.

“There, look over there!”

“Oh my gosh! They are running on the lake!”

“Wa-wait! Did they come all the way here like that?”

‘What kind of nonsense are you talking about! Even if you are exhausted, your eyes should be working fine!’

The Leader of the Snow Sword Troops, Baek Gojung, looked towards the lake while mumbling.

And he finally said.

“Th-that is?”

Shockingly, two people were approaching them by running on the lake.

It was unbelievable.

They were crossing the lake, which was usually crossed by ships, on foot.

“That’s not possible.”

Everyone was shocked, and the two people who were running on the lake stepped onto the dockside and approached them.

Woong!

The docks turned noisy.

Who were the two people who arrived earlier than the Forces of Justice of Yulin?

The first one Dan Jucheon looked at was the man in the mask.

‘A mask with a unique pattern.’

He heard about it from somewhere.

When he went to Jianghu to research the most famous people who could be a threat to the North Sea Ice Palace.

There was one who was mentioned.

“The Dark King?”

There was only one person in the Demonic Cult who would wear a mask.

The man was known to rule death on the battlefield.

Marakim, the Great Guardian of the Demonic Cult.

‘Is he really the Dark King? Does that mean that the Demonic Cult really sent a contingent?’

He guessed that it was the Demonic Cult based on the black flag and the red characters written on it but seeing Marakim. His guess turned into a correct answer.

This meant that prince Baekhyun really succeeded in requesting their support.

‘Wait!... The Great Guardian only moved beside the Lord of the Demonic Cult, then that means?’

The young man standing next to him.

The Lord of the Demonic Cult is supposed to be Chun Yujong, a man in his fifties, but the person next to Marakim seemed too young.

The young man moved a little closer and greeted him.

“Chun Yeowun, the Lord of the Sky Demon Order.”

‘Wah!’

All the people that heard him couldn’t hide their shock.

Unlike others, the people of the North Sea knew nothing about them.

Woong! Woong!

‘Aren’t we hearing something wrong?’

‘The Lord of the Demonic Cult?’

‘The De-demonic Cult, has come here?’

The dock turned even more chaotic.

Of course, though shocked, Dan Jucheon tried to hide his expression.

He tried to protect his dignity as the person representing the North Sea Ice Palace, yet he couldn’t stop his trembling eyes.

‘Unbelievable...’

The prediction he made on the watchtower.

It turned out half wrong and half right.

It wasn't Chun Yujong, the Lord of the Demonic Cult, that Dan Jucheon knew who had come to the North Sea Ice Palace.

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

“Uh, why, why is the Lord of Sky Demon Order here?”

Seol Young-gwi was surprised and stuttered until Chun Yeowun smiled at him and spoke.

“We have received a request to dispatch warriors from the prince of your palace.”

Chapter 414 - Collapse of the Ice Palace (1)

Chapter 414: Collapse of the Ice Palace (1)

Drrrr!

The office of the North Sea Ice Palace.

The intense vibrations caused all the furniture to vibrate and the office decorations to fall.

Two people were casually talking. Perhaps they were getting used to the continuous vibration, which only got worse with time.

They were Dan Jucheon, Deputy King of the Palace, and Seol Young-gwi, the 1st Elder.

“This is a problem. Word is quickly spreading among the officials in the palace.”

“... how long has it been?”

Dan Jucheon shook his head with a disappointed face.

The news that prince Baekhyun, the previous king's rightful successor and the Lord of the Demonic Cult, led a contingent into the palace spread quickly.

Thanks to that, news of the successful arrival of Yulin's contingent got buried.

"Hm, it is going completely different from the original plan. Ugh!"

Dan Jucheon wanted to use the success of his dispatch request to change the minds of several officials and direct members of the palace who didn't support him becoming king.

Instead, the prince, whose credibility had been lost in the palace, came back to highlight the unreasonable selection of the heir.

'The Lord of the Demonic Cult can't be considered since there was no official request sent to them. Haa.'

They could have used that excuse if it hadn't been for the Lord of the Demonic Cult, Chun Yeowun.

Everyone hated admitting it, but after seeing his high skill level while crossing the lake, it was hard for anyone to make a move.

The Ice Palace was already having a hard time dealing with the Dragon Turtle, and they couldn't afford to create a stronger enemy.

'Even if it was too much, should I have tried to defeat the monster with just the palace warriors?'

It was a regret.

But soon after, he realized that such a thought was foolish.

A four-headed dragon is almost a disaster class spirit beast.

It was completely unknown if there would be any piece of the North Sea Ice Palace left if they dealt with the Dragon Turtle alone.

'Right. It's impossible to ascend to the throne of the palace without making any sacrifices.'

Dan Jucheon wanted absolute power in the North Sea Ice Palace.

The fact that he was able to overtake the prince and take office as the Deputy King was only possible because of the support of the senior officials.

It was better to act safely than sacrifice everyone around him.

“It is highly unlikely that the prince will stay in the limelight for a long time.”

“Well, the senate officials are showing interest in the Lord of the Demonic Cult.”

“Those old people in the back room are quite meddlesome.”

Crack!

The handle of the chair that Dan Jucheon was sitting on cracked as he released his energy.

The senate officials had stopped him from time to time.

Starting from the time when the former deceased king competed with Dan Jucheon for the position of king.

‘This much should be enough.’

Seol Young-gwi was satisfied looking at Dan Jucheon’s expression.

His real purpose was to stimulate ill feelings towards the prince and make the Deputy King consider the prince a threat.

He thought that the Deputy King wouldn't make a move since the prince is his nephew and disciple, but that didn't seem to be the case.

'You shouldn't turn weak just because the person who decided to walk alongside you is a blood relative. Sympathy is not a good emotion.'

In order to do that, the bloody path should be faced head-on.

In his mind, Seol Young-gwi wanted to advise Dan Jucheon to eliminate the prince right away, but looking at his reaction on the watchtower, it wouldn't happen anytime soon.

Dan Jucheon asked.

"And their accommodations?"

"For now, only the leaders of both Yulin and the Demonic Cult are being given entry into the Royal Palace's VIP side, temporary barracks are being set up on the west side of the palace."

“Ugh, too many people...”

Originally, they only prepared residences for the Yulin contingents.

However, as the number of people increased, the accommodations inside the palace weren't enough, so they had to set up barracks.

“Once the dragon affair is resolved, we will have to expand the palace and increase the number of guests. I don't think the prestige of the palace will stand tall if we don't change.”

“I understand. Leave it to this old man.”

Elder Seol Young-gwi agreed to it.

Since the North Sea Ice Palace had never accommodated so many guests before, it felt like an expansion had to be done.

“I hope nothing goes wrong tonight.”

The vibrations had recently grown stronger. Now it was almost like an earthquake was happening right below their feet.

The source of the vibrations was where the Dragon was sealed, yet the tremors would shake the entire palace.

There was something wrong, and they tried to think of what was wrong, but they couldn't understand why the entire palace shook.

"It's strange how no one is surprised that the palace is shaking like this! Isn't it? Mun..."

Hu Bong, who was looking at Mun Ku, was shocked by the shaking and looked to the side.

Instead of standing tall, Mun Ku was clinging to Chun Yeowun.

She wasn't scared at all. Instead, she was smiling.

"Hehehehe. I am fine. My support here is pretty strong."

Grab!

"You, you~ Do what you want~."

The Six Swords all laughed at Hu Bong's ridiculous words as he pouted.

“What kind of stupid expression are you making?”

“Puaahhhh!”

Chun Yeowun ended up laughing out loud.

Walking down the hallway to get to the VIP residence reminded him of the old days in the academy.

In a way, those were enjoyable times for him.

“Don’t worry too much. Our palace is built out of a single stone, it is unlikely for it to collapse despite the shaking.”

The lieutenant of the Snow Sword Troops, Oh Young, who was guiding them to the VIP rooms on the fourth floor of the palace, spoke with a smile.

Although the palace shook quite a lot, it was weird to see that there were no cracks.

Unable to believe, Hu Bong spoke.

“If this is moderate shaking, then fine, but won’t this come down with stronger shaking?”

“W-well? I think it will be fine.”

“Ah! here! Here! There are cracks on this side.”

Looking at the wall of the hallway, Hu Bong pointed to the thin cracks.

It wasn't that bad, but Hu Bong, who never witnessed such a thing, couldn't help but worry that the palace would collapse.

Puck!

“Ugh!”

“Calm yourself. Such nonsense. Is this your bedroom? You keep making noises.”

Hu Bong only became silent after being hit on the back of his head by a huge palm.

Oh Young smiled awkwardly at that.

Actually, he was shocked in his heart.

The Demonic Cult he knew was supposed to be made up of rude and strong people with warlike tendencies, but seeing them up close, they were no different from normal people.

Tak!

Chun Yeowun placed his hand on the cracked wall.

‘Nano. What is the condition of this building?’

[I will scan and check the condition.]

Along with Nano’s voice, a faint light escaped from Chun Yeowun’s palm.

Mun Ku, who was the only one next to him, looked at Chun Yeowun.

Eventually, Nano told him the results.

[As a result of scanning the cracks in the wall, it is a crack that has progressed recently. As the damage is progressing at a rapid rate, the building is...]

Rumble!

“Woah!”

The palace shook again.

This time, it was a lot stronger than before.

The palace even wobbled a little.

“Ah...”

Even Oh Young, the lieutenant of Snow Sword troops, who just comforted Hu Bong, looked around bewildered.

‘What? Did it shake like this before?’

Until yesterday, there was only one huge vibration at a time.

And then it would get quiet for a long time, but this time, the interval between the vibrations was very short.

This time, Sama Chak, who had been calm till then, asked.

“Is this really okay?”

It was scary.

And Oh Young couldn't tell the guests of the North Sea Ice Palace that they weren't in a safe place.

Firstly, he felt like he had to calm the anxious people and then report to the deputy king right away.

"Although the vibrations are a bit severe, the palace is built out of a single stone, so it won't collapse..."

Rumble!

Crack!

Before he could even finish his words, the entire palace shook again.

As a result, fragments from the cracked area fell to the floor.

Everyone's faces went stiff.

And Hu Bong began to break out in cold sweat.

"... excuse me, is this really okay?"

There was a crack in the ceiling of the palace, which was supposed to stand strong.

They didn't fall since they were all well-versed in martial arts techniques about keeping their balance, but if there were any civilians inside, they would have fallen.

“I will report this to the deputy king of the palace, so I think that it would be better for our distinguished guests to go outside the palace! Follow me!”

Oh Young took the lead and tried to guide them outside.

It was then.

Rumble! Drrrk!

“Waahhh!”

“T-the building!”

This time the palace swayed from side to side along with the vibrations and ended up leaning to one side.

Perhaps, it was the impact that caused a huge change in the ceiling on the side of the wall, which was already cracked.

Crack!

The ceiling and wall, which was supposed to be made of a single stone, cracked and was about to collapse.

Flustered, Oh Young pointed to the window at the end of the hallway and screamed.

“You need to jump out!”

He wanted them to get out.

However, the fact that they were on the upper floor, which was collapsing, made it difficult.

Rumble! Rumble!

“Ugh! The floor!”

The floor cracked like it was going to break.

Even Oh Young, who had gotten used to the vibrations, couldn't help but lose his balance.

At that very moment.

Bang!

Crack!

Even those who learned the North Sea's Cold Qi wouldn't be able to create such a chill.

At that moment, frost began to form on the floor, which was about to collapse, and the cracks ended up freezing.

Shockingly, that wasn't the only thing.

As if the ceiling that was about to collapse was held by someone, every piece which was falling stopped mid-air.

Gooooo!

A heavy dust cloud filled the floor.

"Wh-what is this?"

Oh Young saw that Ko Wanghur, Hu Bong, Mong Mu, and Great Guardian Marakim all had their hands stretched out.

Three Superiors Masters and one Supreme Master had stopped the fragments falling from the ceiling mid-air.

And,

“No way...”

Cold energy radiated from the center of Chun Yeowun, the Lord of the Demonic Cult's, right foot.

The cold energy made the floor freeze.

‘How, how can he use such extremes...’

Unlike Oh Young, who was surprised, Hu Bong was on the verge of death.

‘Kuak! I knew this would happen! This was why I was anxious.’

He raised his energy to the sky in a hurry, but it was impossible for him to support the floor.

If it hadn't been for the four of them acting at the perfect time, the ceiling would have collapsed right away.

Shaking!

“Ugh, this is too hard. I think you and the Lord should head out first.”

“Huh... he is right. Lord.”

Marakim spoke in a trembling voice as he was also struggling with the task at hand.

What they were doing was a temporary measure.

They couldn't stand there and keep the ceiling up forever. All they could do was hold it up temporarily.

“Lord! Mun Ku! Sama Chak! Che Takim! Move!”

As Ko Wanghur shouted at them.

Chun Yeowun, who was holding the floor with cold energy, asked Oh Young, who was on the ground.

“This is collapsing, it shouldn't matter if we break it, right?”

“Huh?”

It was an incomprehensible choice of words.

Irrespective of that, Chun Yeowun ordered the four people holding the ceiling.

“Ugh. Hang on a little longer.”

“Y-yes!”

Leaving the four struggling warriors behind, Chun Yeowun raised his hand.

That was the moment when something amazing happened.

Crrrrk!

The frost condensed with a stronger energy, and hundreds of ice swords were created in the hallway.

‘Nano! Panel Mode!’

[According to the user’s command, the remote panel system has been activated.]

‘Destroy it all without leaving anything behind.’

[Understood. Target Lock On.]

When Chun Yeowun gave the command to Nano and extended his hand to the ceiling, the Ice Swords all aimed for the ceiling.

Wheeing!

And the swords pierced the ceiling.

Slash! Sha! Sha!

Bang!

The ice swords all dug into the ceilings at once.

Even Lieutenant Oh Young of the Snow Sword troops couldn't help but feel astonished.

“Goodness...”

He could see why Chun Yeowun asked him that.

The ice swords that had dug into the ceiling were smashing the walls too.

Kwa! Kwa! Kwa! Kwang!

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

Shockingly, the wall and ceiling fragments shattered so fast that not a single person was hurt or scratched.

It was a truly marvelous sight.

‘Is-is he... human?’

Chapter 415 - Collapse of the Ice Palace (2)

Chapter 415: Collapse of the Ice Palace (2)

Rumble!

The building collapsed because of the strong tremors.

The palace didn't just collapse on the guest rooms side of the Northern Sea Ice Palace.

It happened all over the entire palace at the same time.

Everyone who thought that the palace made out of a single stone would never collapse saw that it could.

Crack!

Cracks appeared on the walls of the palace's main building, which had its red tiles covered with white snow.

The walls began to crack, and the structure wobbled.

“E-earthquake!”

“Escape!”

Shouts erupted from everywhere, and the people in the palace began to run out.

No one was an exception.

Elders, the deputy, and the officials who were on the top floor of the main building all tried to escape from the palace, which was going to fall.

Bang!

Dan Jucheon broke the wall of the building and jumped out.

He was lucky that he was in a corner room on the top floor. If he had been in the middle of the palace, it would have been difficult for him to escape.

Thud!

“Th-this can’t be...”

Seol Young-gwi, an elder, jumped from the palace and landed next to Dan Jucheon, he couldn't hide from what he was seeing, the Ice Palace was collapsing in all directions.

Dan Jucheon had the same reaction.

He looked at the main building, which had cracks in the walls with distraught eyes.

'Why... why is this happening when I am trying to get my position...'

A disaster that had never happened since the creation of the Ice Palace.

Dan Jucheon's gaze turned to another place.

"Achkk!"

"Help me!"

As the main building collapsed, the screams from the inside grew louder.

Just as there were people who managed to escape at the right moment, there were also those who couldn't, and they were killed or stuck under the rubble.

What used to be a single stone which would never collapse turned into rubble.

If it were built with wood, except for those with horrible luck, everyone would have managed to escape outside.

Rumble!

The main building, which had tilted to one side, couldn't bear weight since the palace's pillars were broken, and the building was on the verge of falling.

"Kuak!"

Dan Jucheon, deputy king, hurriedly moved and spread cold qi on the broken pillars.

Swoosh!

White cold air gushed out of his hand and supported the broken pillars.

Thanks to that, the collapse of the main building, which was going to happen right away, was postponed.

Looking inside, he shouted.

“Come on, escape!”

He escaped in a hurry, but half the people and officials inside hadn’t come out yet.

And those who heard the shout from Dan Jucheon hurriedly ran out.

Whoop!

Many were found by rocks that fell from the ceiling.

Many were in shock.

“Help the others escape and freeze the building!”

“Y-Yes!”

The warriors of the Ice Palace, including the elders who escaped, all joined in to delay the collapse of the palace.

Suddenly, they remembered that the leaders of the Wulin were being escorted to the VIP rooms.

“Elder Seol! Find our guests first!”

“Understood!”

Seol Young-gwi stopped using cold qi and got on the move.

It was because the VIP side of the room was quite high up, and it would be difficult to get them out if that part collapsed.

Seol Young-gwi’s face hardened as he moved towards the VIP building.

“This!”

The VIP building, which couldn’t handle the vibrations, had collapsed to the ground.

‘This is bad!’

When a guest gets into an accident or gets wounded, such a situation can never be rectified.

Shocked, he hurried towards the building, and fortunately, he saw the guests from the Demonic Cult a little further away.

And it wasn't just them. Even those from the Yulin who were all covered in dust and gasping for air were there.

"Haa... Haaa..."

"It could have been worse."

Hwang Bo-neung of the Hwang Bo clan sighed in relief as he looked at the wreckage.

Seeing that, Moyong Kang too nodded and answered.

"If the ceiling hadn't been broken, we would have died."

The leaders of the Yulin were in their rooms on the third floor, and they were almost crushed to death by the sudden collapse.

However, the ceiling, which should have collapsed first, suddenly froze, giving them time to escape.

"I'm so glad you are okay! Thank god!"

Seol Young-gwi approached the officials of the Yulin.

The one who responded to him was Jegal Sohi, whose shirt was soaked in blood. Since she was a woman, she had been given a separate room, and because she wasn't able to react quick enough, debris had fallen on her.

"Haa... haa... What just happened? Didn't you say that the cave where the Dragon Turtle has been sealed is far from here?"

It was the movement of the dragon which had been trying to escape that created the vibrations.

It was said that the vibrations became stronger as the Dragon Turtle grew, and it seemed like it was moving.

"This old man is shocked as it all happened suddenly. If the Dragon Turtle has broken through the Adularia stones, someone must have... Ah! No! Has the seal been lifted?"

Seol Young-gwi looked in the direction where the Dragon Turtle had been sealed.

At the same time, from the mountains to the north of the Ice Palace.

Heeeing!

Unlike the Ice Palace, where the vibrations were at the peak, that place looked exceptionally quiet, except for the sound of cold winds.

The mountain that had the Dragon Turtle sealed inside it.

There was nothing but silence around it.

Five hundred warriors emit cold qi in the cavity lit by fluttering torches with their palms to the floor.

‘This is strange.’

Elder Oh Mubang and Seol Yi-jeong, who were concentrating on the ice, were confused.

Their expressions were stiff.

Their hands were placed on the floor, infusing cold qi, but something felt off.

‘I can’t feel the heartbeat.’

Usually, when they would place their palms on the ground, they could feel the dragon moving.

The floor was supposed to shake because it kept on trying to break through the ice, but it wasn’t happening anymore.

Not a single movement.

‘There is no way it died from exhaustion.’

It was the Dragon that hadn’t died despite being frozen for hundreds of years.

Elder Seol Yi-jeong, who thought that something was strange, suddenly remembered something and stood up.

“Move, I need to check something.”

With that, he looked at the opening of the cave.

He climbed out of the cave and went to the top of the mountain.

‘Please... please...!’

He hoped that his premonition would turn up wrong.

Shortly after, a shocking sight greeted his eyes.

The building, the Ice Palace in the south, was collapsing.

“N-No way...”

At the scene that followed, Seol Yi-jeong's eyes trembled.

Bang!

Although it had fallen, there was something which could be seen.

In the middle of the collapsing Ice Palace, something long and humongous appeared from the ground.

It had long black scales on his body and a dragon's head.

"Dr-Dragon Turtle!"

It was their delusion that they thought it was locked up in the cave.

Kwakwakwakwang!

The sound of something trying to come up from the ground.

Everyone could hear it.

It wasn't a simple earthquake. Everybody was warned by their five senses.

‘Well, something is coming.’

Grrrr!

And the ground in front of the main building of the Ice Palace curved in on itself with slight tremors until something huge appeared.

Crack!

Keeooooo!

Everyone held their breath as they looked at it.

A long and broad shadow was visible through the dust.

At first glance, it looked like a dragon, no, more like an Imoogi, but the body seemed different.

It looked like the Spirit Beasts that people once looked at in ancient books.

The only unexpected part was that it was so much bigger than what they imagined.

“How could this happen? Does that mean that it didn’t try to climb up the Adularia stones but went through the ground to get out instead?”

Looking at the long and huge neck of the dragon which appeared in front of him, Dan Jucheon couldn’t hide his shock.

The reason why the vibrations were getting stronger wasn’t because the dragon was getting stronger. It was because he was getting closer to the Ice Palace.

“We felt him until a while ago!”

Elder Oh Mubang looked at the dragon in fear.

This meant that the evil creature moved away by digging up the ground and only kept on returning to the original place to deceive the humans.

‘We kept looking down on the dragon!’

Spirit Beasts aren’t ordinary animals.

Their wickedness could be compared to that of humans.

Grunt!

Dan Jucheon looked at the Ice Palace, which had been destroyed by the dragon, grunting as he took out his weapon and flew for the dragon's long neck.

"You! You destroyed the Palace, so in return for that, I will take your head!"

Visor!

Dan Jucheon took out a single weapon, the Snow Field Blade, which began to release cold qi to strike down the dragon covered in black scales.

But,

Woah!

"N-No way!"

Even when the sword was releasing qi, it couldn't pierce the scales.

It was as if the scales were made of cold iron. The sword was the only thing that trembled.

He was shocked for a brief moment, but Dan Jucheon didn't give up as he swung his sword again.

Clang! Clang! Clang!

Instead of piercing the scales, all his sword could do was leave behind a small scar.

The only damage happening was to Dan Juecheon's pride.

"Kuwaaaakkkkk!!"

"Ugh! My ears!"

Everyone covered their ears at the loud roar.

It was then.

Flash! Flash!

"Ack!"

"Run!"

A flash of light appeared in the body of the roaring Dragon Turtle, causing a strong electric current to bounce everywhere.

Everything was so sudden that no one knew where to escape.

And Dan Jucheon was no exception.

Shock!

He created a shield using cold qi, but it broke in an instant as he got thrown thirty feet away.

“Kuak!”

Thud!

Dan Jucheon, who stopped rolling on the ground, couldn't hide his disappointment.

There were no significant injuries, but he couldn't hide his displeasure.

It had been a few years since he reached the Supreme Master level, and no one was a match for him.

However, he didn't realize that he would be so powerless in front of that creature.

It was indeed a creature worthy of being called a disaster.

'How can we succeed?'

The fact that he could only scratch the scales meant that no physical attacks would work on that monster.

The body of the Dragon Turtle was as strong as a gold ingot.

'We need to work together to find a weakness!'

Or they wouldn't be able to kill it.

Dan Jucheon looked around.

He shouted to the warriors who were wandering around the wave of lightning that the Dragon caused.

"Calm Down! Warriors! If we don't get rid of the monster today, the palace will never stand!"

"Y-yes!"

Dan Jucheon, including the elders who were panicking, calmed down.

As the top leaders stepped forward, the warriors who were scattered were brought under control.

Rumble!

At the same time, the troops of the Yulin, who were on the outskirts of the palace, discovered the Dragon Turtle and tried to come over.

It was then.

Kwakwakwakwang!

Another vibration came from the ground, along with another head of the dragon popping up from the broken ground.

“Ugh! A... a different head?”

The Dragon Turtle sealed in the Ice Palace was a four-headed spirit beast.

The newly protruding head of the dragon let out a menacing roar, preventing people from moving.

“Kwaaaaaaahhhhhhhh!”

“T-this! Everyone move!”

“Avoid!”

The ones in the lead shouted.

At the same time, just as it happened a moment back, a wave of lightning occurred from the Dragon Turtle’s roar.

Crack! Crackle!

The warriors of Yulin turned around to run.

However, it was difficult to respond immediately as the dragon’s attack was fast.

“Kuaaak!”

“Keep going!”

Some warriors bounced away after getting hit by the wave of lightning. They all fell since they were electrocuted.

“Get up!”

More than half of them had died from cardiac arrest.

In an instant, more than 80 people died.

“It can use lightning?”

Hwang Bo-nueng of the Hwang Bo clan, spoke.

He just realized that what he signed up for wasn't a battle with a wild beast.

Spirit creatures use energy.

“Miss Jegal, are you okay? It would be better if you stepped back for a while.”

Moyong Kang of the Moyong family tried to comfort Jegal Sohi, who had been hurt.

Even if she wasn't severely injured, he felt that it would be better to ask her to back off.

Despite their concern, Sohi tried to go somewhere with a serious expression.

Clench!

Moyong Kang grabbed her wrist.

"Where are you going?"

"W... we need to move. Leader Moyong. We need to inform the Lord of the Demonic Cult right away."

"About what?"

"That dragon, it's trying to defeat us individually!"

"?"

“If I am right, the first head appeared to examine the situation above. And it was no coincidence that our men were stopped. The other head should probab...”

Kwakwakwang!

Before she could finish her words, the ground shook once again.

The vibration was rushing to the northwest side where the Demonic Cult’s troops were located.

Just as Jegal Sohi predicted.

“Leader Moyong! We need to tell them to keep their distance from that thing!”

The contingents of the Yulin approached it hastily, and they ended up losing their lives.

If the Demonic Cult’s men were also hit by the Dragon Turtle’s lightning without any defense, they would die.

Moyong Kang frowned.

He didn’t want to help the Demonic Cult, but it would be difficult to deal with the Dragon Turtle if they lost too many troops.

‘Ah, there is nothing to decide.’

“Yuu!”

“Yes father!”

“Tell the Demonic Cult’s contingents to keep as far away from the Dragon Turtle as possible. Hurry up!”

“Yes!”

Moyong Kang’s son, Moyong Yuu, who had been listening to Jegal Sohi’s words, hurriedly moved to the northwest where the Demonic Cult was located.

Moyong Kang, who sent him away, shouted to the surviving warriors.

“Keep your distance! Bring in the fire arrows!”

“Yes!”

Since he was the only one who witnessed a dragon before, Moyong Kang had gone through all the ancestors' records and came to know about the use of the fire arrows.

Upon receiving the orders, the warriors began to light up the arrows which they had prepared in advance.

Meanwhile, Moyong Yuu, who was heading to the northwest, couldn't hide his shock.

"Da-damn it! Already!"

Kwakkwakwang!

He tried to outrun the dragon, but he couldn't beat the speed at which the dragon's huge neck moved.

Suddenly, the third head of the dragon popped out from the ground.

"D-dragon!"

"Move away!"

The cries of the members from the Demonic Cult could be heard.

Unlike when it blocked the advance of the Yulin troops, the dragon came up from right in the middle of their unit this time.

If the dragon used the lightning in that position, everyone would die.

Moyong Yuu, who wanted to say it, shouted as loud as he could.

“Spread out right now!”

But the moment he shouted, the dragon’s roar echoed everywhere.

“Kwaaaaaahhhhhhhhh!”

“N-No!”

In front of Moyong Yuu, a white flash of light appeared in the dragon’s body and then made its way outside, causing lightning.

Crackle!!!

Naturally, he thought that all the cultists would get electrocuted and thrown away.

But something unbelievable happened.

“Ugh?”

The lightning from the dragon didn’t spread out like before but went to one place in the ground and got absorbed by something.

“Wh-what went wrong?”

When he looked closely, all the cultists were bowing down, and they looked unharmed.

In various places, something like iron bars were stuck in the ground.

As if it had absorbed the lightning that the dragon emitted, they lit up blue.

Crackle!

“Unbelievable! Did they stop the lightning from the dragon with that one thing? Wh-what the hell is that?”

What was even more shocking was that the lightning that had descended through the iron rods flowed into the ground, and the cultists were slowly breathing, making sure that they weren't affected by it.

And when the lightning completely vanished.

“Success!”

“Wahhhh!”

All the cultists shouted at once.

Chun Yeowun looked at the footwear they were wearing.

It was footwear, which had a sole that was made from hardening the sap of a tree brought in as an imperial trade item.

All the cultists were wearing them.

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

[Current dissipated to the ground had been reduced by over 90%.]

‘Lightning rod and rubber? I was skeptical, but this is a success Nano!’

Chun Yeowun’s lips formed into a smile as he looked at the dragon.

Chapter 416 - The Dragon Turtle (1)

Chapter 416: The Dragon Turtle (1)

Chun Yeowun had heard from prince Baekhyun that the dragon was using powers related to qi, so he had, in advance, taken measures with the help of Nano.

At the very least, he managed to prevent everyone from getting shocked to death.

The measures prepared were a remarkable success.

“Grrrrrrr!”

Was it because of what happened?

The yellow eyes of the Dragon Turtle, which didn’t achieve its purpose, looked down with an unpleasant gaze.

It used lightning, yet not a single person had died.

‘Is this the first time I’ll see a live Spirit Beast?’

Chun Yeowun thought as he looked at the long and broad dragon.

He obtained the core of Imoogi and then the core of the Flame of Qllin, which was sealed in the Royal Shrine of the Imperial Palace.

However, it was always the core and energy of beasts that had been captured ages ago.

‘Those people were indeed great. To kill such monsters.’

He knew that the energy he felt from the dragon was completely different from other warriors.

As it was called Spirit Beast, it was safe to say that it is an entity different from humans.

‘But the entire time I was here, we were strategizing.’

He wasn’t just concerned with rushing to the north.

Chun Yeowun sent a message to someone.

And 6th elder, Mong Mu, who was in charge of the troops, came ahead and shouted.

“Now is the time, counterattack! All swordsmen draw your swords!”

“Yes!”

When the order fell, the six hundred warriors under the Six Swords yelled and drew their swords which were engulfed in energy.

Woah!

The scene of six hundred warriors raising their weapons was spectacular.

Moyong Yuu, who came to inform the Demonic Cult about the dragon, was in awe.

“Wow, they brought their elites with them.”

The warriors under the Six Swords were made up of talented individuals within the Demonic Cult.

Raising sword and defense units was a natural thing.

Sword and defense units are known for having the highest amount of military and discipline training. It was shocking to see the formation of the sword and defense units perfectly harmonious.

‘Let’s start.’

When Chun Yeowun raised his hand, 6th Elder Mong Mu shouted.

“All the 1st class warriors aim your swords for the neck of the dragon!”

“Yes!”

The cultists at the 1st class were close to Master level and could use sword qi.

Of the six hundred men, sixty Master level warriors surrounded the dragon and kept blasting the dragon’s thick neck with sword qi, internal energy, and other attacks.

Chachachacha!

The energy they were producing hit the neck of the dragon with a sharp sound.

The sword attacks weren't giving out huge wounds, but if they kept hitting the same place multiple times, the scales of the Dragon Turtle would tremble at the blows.

Pa! Tha! Cha!

The Dragon Turtle wasn't expecting such harmonious attacks, so it twisted and tried to counterattack to prevent qi attacks from being used on its body.

At that time, Great Guardian Marakim shouted.

"Six Swords and Lieutenant Hu, next step!"

Phat!

As Marakim moved to the sky, Hu Bong and the Six Swords simultaneously flew to the air and created a strong release of internal energy.

Woong!

Their target was the head.

If the six hundred men attacked and the dragon moved to avoid getting hit, they decided to target the head.

The seven of them, at the same time, made their effort to hit the head.

The first things used were Hu Bong's Illusion Sword technique and Marakim's Twenty Four Demon Sword.

Chachachachacha!

Kakakakang!

The slashing sword attacks spread across the dragon's head.

The head was also covered in hard scales that no attack pierced, but the dragon roared as if the attacks were reaching its body.

"GUOOOOOOOOO!"

"Keep attacking!"

The Six Swords, including Ko Wanghur, all aimed for the dragon's head at the same time.

Surrounded by strong attacks, they once again created distance and struck the demon.

Chachachachacha!

“KUOOOOOOO!”

The Dragon Turtle couldn't move and kept howling at the rain of attacks that came onto it.

The lower body was being attacked by the warriors, the neck was being attacked by the 1st class Master level warriors.

‘Th-that is! The Demonic Cult might be able to take down that dragon head...’

Moyong Yuu, who was watching, couldn't help but admire it.

No matter how hard the dragon's scales were, it seemed like the dragon despised getting attacked.

It seemed like Jegal Sohi, and his father's concerns were for nothing.

‘We're the ones in trouble.’

Moyong Yuu, who thought there was no need to worry about the Demonic Cult, tried to move back to where the Yulin troops were.

It was then.

Wooong!

“Th-this energy is?”

Moyong Yuu turned his head, startled at the tremendous energy he felt from behind.

The dragon’s head, which was covered in black scales, was rapidly radiating intense white light.

It was scary and ominous for some reason.

“A-avoid!”

Marakim, who continued to hit the dragon head, exclaimed urgently.

Similarly, Six Swords, who were startled by the ominous energy, withdrew at once.

It spread in all directions, but what the dragon seemed to aim for was the direction where Hu Bong was present.

A ray of blue light flickered through the mouth of the Dragon Turtle, who was barring its sharp teeth. It seemed to be emitting something different from lightning.

Crackle!

“Th-this!”

“Avoid at all costs!”

Shocked, they all tried to release shields knowing that the other warriors wouldn't be able to hold their defense with their internal energy.

“Damn... it!”

Hu Bong looked at the dragon's mouth, which was wailing.

Both its eyes seemed to be dyed white.

“Kwaaaaakkk!”

Crackle!

And then it paused, and a beam of pale blue lightning flashed from the dragon's mouth and split the air.

It was different from the waves of lightning it used before. This one was stronger.

Kwakwakwakwa!

Everything the lightning touched was destroyed, even clouds.

Mun Ku and Ko Wonghur were trembling at the tremendous power and shouted.

“Hu Bong!!!”

“Che Takim!!!”

It wasn't an attack that could be stopped.

Anywhere the lightning passed had black smoke spreading around. It held a power that no martial artist could defend.

Hu Bong and Che Takim, whom the dragon aimed at, wouldn't survive.

Mun Ku reached for the ground with red eyes.

"H-how could... this... happen... Hu..."

She didn't even know that the dragon was aiming for Hu Bong and Che Takim. It was such a tragic end.

She was on the verge of bursting into tears when she heard a familiar cry from afar.

"I'm not dead yet!"

"Huh?"

Mun Ku's eyes widened as she looked in the direction where the voice came from. Both Hu Bong and Che Takim were in the air.

And they were holding onto Chun Yeowun's hand, who was in front of them.

When it was about to attack, Chun Yeowun quickly pulled them down from the air.

If he was even a little late, both of them would have turned into a crisp.

“Hiing! I thought you were dead!”

“... we are not dead yet.”

“Hehe.”

Mun Ku smiled broadly, wiping away her tears.

Che Takim, who was too shocked, mumbled with a pale face.

“Lo-Lord, I almost died. Thank you.”

At those words, Chun Yeowun looked at the dragon with serious eyes, not responding.

It was because the dragon was once again condensing energy and was ready to shoot another beam of lightning.

Woong!

“A-again?”

Everyone looked at the dragon’s head with scared expressions.

Float!

“Ugh!”

Two people fell to the ground on their butts.

“Everyone get down!”

At Chun Yeowun’s cry, every member fell flat on the floor, no matter where they were.

Gooooo!

Strong white light condensed from the dragon’s mouth, and Chun Yeowun extended his hand towards it.

Crackle!

Cold qi rose in the air, and hundreds of ice swords appeared around the dragon's head.

The dragon's eyes widened, looking puzzled, but Chun Yeowun didn't care as he clenched his hands, and the ice sword rushed towards the dragon at once.

Chachachachacha!

"KUUAaaaaakK!"

Hundreds of ice swords hit the dragon's head and chin simultaneously, the dragon's mouth, which was about to release lightning, shut, and the attack disappeared.

Chun Yeowun frowned.

'... it's unpenetrated!'

Shhhhhh!

As the ice swords hit the dragon's head, each sword shattered due to the scales.

Even then, the cultists who fell to the ground watched and shouted in excitement when the lightning beam was blocked.

“Woah!”

When everyone’s morale rose, Chun Yeowun and Marakim shouted at the same time.

“Down!”

“No one gets up!”

The dragon roared.

“Kwakkkkkkk!”

Along with the roar, a wave of lightning rose from the dragon’s body.

Crackle!

The startled warriors quickly lowered their heads and bodies, lower than the lightning rods.

The wave of lightning emitted by the dragon got sucked into the rods, just like it did before.

But that wasn't the end.

Unlike the previous waves of lightning, which would end, the Dragon Turtle kept releasing more and more waves.

Crackle!

Crackle! Crackle!

Everyone was stuck to the ground, not moving, because of the constant waves of lighting.

"W-what?"

"H-how long does it plan to release waves of lightning?"

The faces of the cultists who leaned to the ground looked at the lightning rods, which were turning darker and darker.

The lightning rods, which were absorbing the lightning, were turning redder and curved.

It should have been exhausted, but the Dragon Turtle kept spewing lightning as if it had infinite power, driving the lightning rods to their limit.

Crack!

“Ugh!”

And the lightning rods began to bend one after another.

There were around sixty rods, and more than ten had already turned red and bent. Now the Demonic Cult was in a dangerous situation.

[The lightning exceeds the limit the rods can withstand.]

Chun Yeowun’s face went stiff at Nano’s voice which echoed in his head.

‘This can’t be.’

He tried to eliminate the Dragon Turtle by using strategy, but it looked like he misunderstood its power.

If things continued like this, everyone would die.

It had to be stopped, but the power emitted by the dragon was something that Chun Yeowun couldn't even understand.

In addition, the range of the emitted lightning was so wide that he wouldn't be able to cover it.

'Nano, is there any other way to withstand lightning?'

[The higher the thermal energy, the higher the wavelength of the atom impeding the movement of electrons.]

'... can you break it down into a simple way?'

[As the heat increases, the flow of the current decreases. However, the current emitted by the Dragon Turtle is too strong. It may be dangerous.]

'Ugh, it has to be dangerous.'

Otherwise, it would have been killed by now.

When Chun Yeowun slowly tried to stand up, Che Takim and the other cultists around him tried to stop him.

“Lo-lord! It’s dangerous!”

“Get away from me.”

“What?”

Wooong!

“Ahh?”

When Chun Yeowun slightly waved his hand, the warriors who were around him got pushed away.

Everyone was shocked, but then they felt the ferocious energy that was engulfing them.

Woong!

“Th-this is?”

At that moment, a change occurred in Chun Yeowun’s body.

Wheeeing!

Black flames rose all over his body.

It radiated a different level of heat from what Hu Bong showed his members.

Just being close enough would burn them down.

“B-black flame?”

As his whole body was covered in black flames, the yellow eyes of the dragon, which continued to release lightning, suddenly turned towards Chun Yeowun.

It seemed like the dragon had sensed the energy of another Spirit Beast from him.

“Kwaaaak!”

The Dragon Turtle emitted stronger lightning and tried to push Chun Yeowun down.

Crackle!

Crack! Crack!

Nearly half the lightning rods broke in an instant burning up in blue flames.

As a result, the remaining lightning rods couldn't completely absorb the attack, and the members close to the attack screamed in pain.

"Ackkk!"

"Kuakkk!"

Chun Yeowun moved to the air, his eyes filled with anger at the shouts and screams of his members.

Crackle!

Chun Yeowun's blinked a couple times.

Sparks were bouncing in all directions, but he seemed less affected with the black flames around him.

It was a tingling sensation.

'Cut it at once.'

An invisible sword made of the black flame was created in Chun Yeowun's hand.

Only by beheading the Dragon Turtle at once will he be able to prevent the worst from happening.

Swoosh!

Chun Yeowun broke through the lightning waves and reached for the dragon's neck.

At that moment, something unexpected happened.

"Ugh?"

The Dragon Turtle stopped the waves of lightning, and a white flash appeared in its mouth.

Cunningly, it waited for Chun Yeowun to approach it.

'Shit!'

Phat! Phat!

Shocked, Chun Yeowun immediately tried to change sides and move away.

But,

“Kwaaaaa!”

Once again, the intense lightning erupted as the Dragon Turtle opened its mouth.

As the dragon turned its neck to the side and kept on following where Chun Yeowun was moving.

Crackle! Crackle!

In an instant, Chun Yeowun’s figure disappeared in the light.

“L-Lordddddd!”

All the members of the cult, including Mun Ku, shouted in shock.

However, there was no time for such things. They all had to try their best to avoid the lightning.

The ray of lightning didn’t end after engulfing Chun Yeowun.

Crackle!

“A-avoid!”

The cult members who escaped waves of lightning spread all over the area to avoid the damage.

However, it wasn't an easy task to outrun the lightning, which was moving at the speed of light.

Crack! Shock!

“Kuaaak!”

“Ack!”

About 20 members of the team who couldn't escape got hit and instantly turned black.

Fortunately, the Dragon Turtle's target was Chun Yeowun, so it stopped.

As the members looked at the corpses turning into soot and the smoke rising from the dead, they became bewildered.

“L-Lord...”

Che Takim was the most shocked.

He blamed himself for letting Chun Yeowun get close to the dragon.

It was then.

“There, look over there!”

At the cry of one member, everyone turned their scared eyes.

Wheeing!

“B-black flame?”

In thick smoke, black flames flickered.

And the form seemed much larger than before.

“Wahhhh... how can this be!”

“The Lord is safe!”

“Woaahhh!”

All the members of the cult who thought that their Lord was dead began to scream and cheer.

“Haaa...”

Chun Yeowun gasped for air in the black flames.

He too, thought that he was done for when he saw the lightning get close to him.

But he survived.

Besides,

[Lightning qi charge 400%]

‘Huh?’

As Nano announced, the white light particles in the augmented reality unfolded.

His energy, which he thought would be rapidly consumed to block the lightning, actually increased by four times.

It turned into a situation where he was overflowing with power.

[In the process of absorbing the lightning weakened by thermal energy, it was converted into the user's internal energy. Cause unknown. Analysis required.]

‘Ha?’

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

Nano's emergency measure was to protect Chun Yeowun from the lightning. However, something unintended happened.

Chun Yeowun's mouth rose into a smile.

It was a strange phenomenon that even Nano couldn't explain, but it was great news that the lightning emitted by the Dragon Turtle no longer worked on him.

Editor's Note

Lightning Qi is his new attribute

Chapter 417 - The Dragon Turtle (2)

Chapter 417: The Dragon Turtle (2)

At first, dozens of people died by a single lightning bolt emitted by the Dragon Turtle.

As a result, they couldn't help but keep a certain distance between them and the dragon to avoid getting hit.

'Thousand White Ice Sound!'

Thousand White Ice Sound and the Divine Palm of Ice God.

It rained white frost as the deputy king, Dan Jucheon unfolded technique after technique.

It wasn't possible because he was alone, but because the elders of the North Sea Ice Palace used the same techniques simultaneously.

Shhhh!

“Kwaahk!”

The Dragon Turtle roared as the cold frost rained on his head.

It wasn't because of the pain, but instead, it was the anger that rose as the frost reminded him of the cold ice that had imprisoned him for hundreds of years.

Shhh! Shhhh!

Lightning erupted from the dragon's mouth.

Dan Jucheon and the elders, who were using the cold qi, immediately moved to make ice shields.

As they rotated their hands clockwise, transparent ice appeared in the form of a body shield.

Crackle!

“Kuk! Everyone! Hold on!”

“Y-yes!”

When the lightning hit the ice shields, it glided in a different direction.

Their bodies bounced because of the power of lightning, but not a single person died.

Thud!

“Kwak!”

The elders and Dan Jucheon, who fell to the ground, looked at the dragon yelling out in rage.

As the fight continued, they managed to discover one thing.

Although they couldn't pierce the dragon scales or give direct blows, the lightning didn't hit them if they defended with ice.

For some unknown reason, it happened, and thankfully because of it, they managed to hold onto their lives.

‘But this can't keep going on.’

The dragon showed no signs of being tired.

On the other hand, they were all tired.

As was the case with Dan Jucheon, most of the warriors had exhausted more than half their strength.

‘The remaining power...’

Looking around, there were more than six hundred warriors with tired expressions.

At first glance, that number was huge, but the number of corpses on the floor exceeded three hundred.

‘We need to find a way to kill it, not a way to stop its attacks.’

Otherwise, the humans will be the first to fall.

That was when someone’s voice was heard.

[Deputy King!]

When he turned his head in the direction the sound was coming from, he saw a woman.

[Miss Jegal?]

She was none other than Jegal Sohi, the strategist of Yulin. He was puzzled as she suddenly sent a telepathic message, but it was encouraging.

“The scales are vulnerable to fire?”

Dan Jucheon frowned while looking at the dragon, which was snorting smoke.

On the other hand, the dragon head on Yulin’s side was,

Pak! Pak! Pak!

“Shoot! Keep Shooting!”

The warriors kept on shooting fire arrows.

He didn’t believe it at first as the fire arrows didn’t seem to penetrate it, but then something changed.

As they continued to use fire arrows, the lightning produced by the dragon became weaker.

‘Oh my! That worked!’

Of course, for that to happen, half of their troops had to be sacrificed.

Nearly two hundred people died from the waves of lightning alone.

Although the Yulin men were keeping their distance while fighting, only half of the troops had survived.

At that time, Hwang Bo-neung, who was shooting fire arrows like everyone else, shouted to Moyong Kang.

“Leader Moyong! An arrow is stuck!”

An arrow had never pierced the dragon’s scale before. It was the first time in the battle.

When he looked at the place where Hwang Bo-neung pointed his finger at, an arrow was indeed stuck.

“Oh oh oh!”

Just as his ancestor’s records said, the fire arrows really did work.

But the problem was, there weren’t any arrows left.

It was a situation in which they were picking up anything that would work and shooting it.

‘We need to win at all costs.’

Moyong Kang gulped.

They kept shooting fire arrows while continuing to widen the distance so that they could avoid lightning.

Although it had weakened, it was still difficult for them to get close to it.

‘Someone has to sacrifice themselves at this point.’

Moyong Kang looked at the dragon’s head with determined eyes.

Even if it meant getting struck by the lightning, he had to die while taking down one head.

[Leader Hwang!]

Moyong Kang informed Hwang Bo-neung of his plan.

Hwang Bo-nueng, who paused for a moment at the mention of sacrificing himself, nodded his head.

If they didn’t kill the dragon, everyone would die.

“Give me a bottle of oil!”

“Here!”

At Moyong Kang’s cry, one of the warriors of the Moyong family, who was shooting arrows, threw half a bottle of oil.

Grab!

Moyong Kang, who caught the bottle, poured it on his sword.

And as he put it close to a fire, it caught fire.

Hrrrrk!

Hwang Bo-neung also poured oil on his great sword and made it catch fire.

It wouldn’t last long.

They had to make sure the task was done before the fire went out.

“Let’s go!”

“Nice!”

At the exhilarating cry of Hwang Bo-neung, Moyong Kang followed him.

It was impossible for the dragon to remain still when he saw two people rush towards it with their swords lit on fire.

“Kwaaaaahhhhh!”

The dragon roared, and lightning erupted from its body.

Although weakened, the lightning was still too dangerous for people to get close to it, and it kept shooting the lightning in front of them as if it didn't want them to get closer.

Crackle!

‘Endure this!’

Moyong Kang bit his lip as he kept moving forward.

It was then.

Crackle!

Crackle!

“Huh?”

In front of the two men, middle-aged men in white fur blocked the waves of lightning with ice shields.

The lightning which hit the ice shields glided away.

The people who blocked the lightning were officials from the North Sea Ice Palace.

“Go ahead!”

Path!

After blocking the lightning, they shouted to the two men behind them.

Thanks to them, Moyong Kang and Hwang Bo-neung didn't die because of the lightning. They sent their thanks to the men and ran ahead with their swords still on fire and struck the dragon's neck.

Slash!

The swords pierced through the scales, which were supposed to be impenetrable.

“KOOOOUUUUUU!”

The dragon screamed as it twisted its long neck.

The life-threatening adventure looked like it ended in success.

Hwang Bo-neung exclaimed as he put more force into the sword.

“You monster! Dieeee!”

Chak!

The swords of the two simultaneously pierced the thick neck of the dragon and cut it.

The swords entered the neck through one side and then came out from the opposite side.

Slash! Kwang!

The dragon's severed head fell to the ground.

The warriors of the Yulin all looked at the fallen head of the dragon, and once it lost the light in its yellow eyes, they screamed.

“Wahhh!!!”

“We killed a dragon!!!”

Two heroes valiantly beheaded the dragon, which wrecked the place.

The moments where they battled with fear and doubted whether they could kill that monster were finally rewarded.

Hwang Bo-neung slumped to the ground, tired, and waved his hand to Moyong Kang, who was near him and smiled.

It was then.

Thud!

Crackle!

A gooey liquid dripped all over the place as they rejoiced.

Moyong Kang, puzzled, raised his head to look at what was happening.

Wooong!

White flashes were visible in Moyong Kang's eyes which were looking up.

At that moment, a ray of intense lightning swept past Hwang Bo-neung, who was seated on the ground close to the warriors.

Kwakkwakwang!

When the lightning passed, nothing but black soot remained.

Moyong Kang yelled.

“Hwang Bo-neunggggggggg!!!”

The northwest side of the Ice Palace.

The invisible sword made of huge black flames in Chun Yeowun's hand, cut down the dragon's neck.

Slash! Bang!

As they looked at the huge head falling to the ground, the warriors of the Demonic Cult shouted.

“Woahhh!”

“Sky Demon Order! Lord Chun! Lord Chun!”

They shouted at the sight of Chun Yeowun, who cut off the dragon's head in one stroke.

The tornado of black flames which surrounded him slowly disappeared.

Swoosh!

“Phew...”

The white particles in the augmented reality, which were only visible to Chun Yeowun, who was panting, rapidly fell.

[The remaining amount of lightning qi 324%]

[The remaining amount of lightning qi 323%]

The energy, which soared to four times the normal amount, was rapidly consumed.

Perhaps, because it had exceeded the normal limit, the speed at which it decreased was fast.

‘A temporary phenomenon?’

The lighting absorbed by Nano to protect Chun Yeowun was a temporary amplifier.

His body turned weary as he exhausted his stamina.

[Exact cause is unknown. Analysis required.]

‘Okay. Well, once the flame is down...’

Crackle!

At that moment, an unidentified liquid fell all over Chun Yeowun.

‘What?’

Chun Yeowun, who raised his head at the unknown phenomenon, was shocked by the words that erupted from everywhere.

“Th-the dragon is still alive!”

“That is absurd! Despite it’s head being severed?”

It was shocking to everyone.

The dragon’s severed head reformed.

Perhaps it regenerated from the neck up, or a dragon head with scales lighter than the original was created.

The liquid seemed to ooze out of the regenerated body.

“W-what kind of regenerative power is this?”

6th elder Mong Mu mumbled in shock.

He heard of Spirit Beasts with excellent regenerative power, but what he just witnessed is supposed to be impossible.

“Grrrrr!”

Wooong!

A white flash of condensed lightning came from the mouth of the resurrected dragon.

Marakim was the first to shout.

“Lighting!! Everyone get away!”

“Run away!”

“Wahhh!”

Everyone spread out as the light formed.

Contrary to their thoughts, the dragon had a clear goal in its mind.

It was to take down Chun Yeowun, who cut its head off.

Crackle!

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

From the dragon's mouth, sparks burst along with intense lightning flashes.

'Shit!'

Chun Yeowun's face hardened.

Chapter 418 - The Dragon Turtle (3)

Chapter 418: The Dragon Turtle (3)

‘Shit!’

Chun Yeowun hurriedly raised his hand and tried to pull his energy up.

Black flames once again radiated and whirled around him, creating a huge body shield.

Crackle!

As the lightning hit the shield of the black flames, the electric charge dispersed in the heat and disappeared.

However, Chun Yeowun’s body was pushed back by the intense power the lightning held.

“Kuak! What amazing power!”

Crackle!

After he got pushed back around thirty feet or so, the lightning from the Dragon Turtle extinguished.

The newborn head of the dragon had an intense yellow glow in its yellow eyes and was glaring at just one person.

“GRRRRRRRR!”

The one which made its existence feel threatened.

From the viewpoint of the cultists, who felt elated at its death, they ended up in frustration and fear as the head regenerated even after it was decapitated.

In other words, they were dealing with an immortal monster.

‘Why isn’t it dead?’

Chun Yeowun stared at the dragon as that question ran through his mind.

Perhaps it weakened after its head was resurrected. Unlike the immediate attacks done before, the dragon seemed to gather energy before attacking.

The dragon did suffer damage, but the one at a disadvantage was still the cult.

Chun Yeowun turned his head in the direction of the other Dragon Turtle's head.

'Ah?'

Looking elsewhere, he saw that dragon's heads on the other side had relatively pale scales as if its heads were cut once.

Which meant that the Yulin and the North Sea Ice Palace had cut down the other heads of the Dragon Turtle once.

'So the head regenerates just like the normal body does? If all four heads are present, and then we die... wait, I don't see one head.'

Chun Yeowun realized something.

If the other dragon head appears, then the Dragon Turtle would end up killing everyone.

From the information he was given, it was clear that the Dragon Turtle had four heads and a shell like a turtle.

However, like a mole, only three of its heads stuck out.

‘No!?’

Pak!

Chun Yeowun put his palms on the ground.

Looking at that, the concerned cultists hurriedly yelled out.

“Lord! It is about to shoot once again! Avoid it!”

Despite the shouts, Chun Yeowun focused on the sensation that his hands would pick up from the ground.

Da-Dum! Da-Dum!

An intense beating under the ground.

It seemed like what was underneath was excited and started to gradually beat faster.

‘I knew it!’

As if he realized something, Chun Yeowun got up from the ground and shouted at Hu Bong.

“Hu Bong!”

“Yes!”

“Its lightning can be weakened by fire or extreme heat. Be at the center and protect the members of the cult!”

“Ugh! Me, Me? Ahh... I understand!”

Flustered at the heavy-duty he had been given, Hu Bong hesitated as he responded.

Among the cult, Hu Bong was the only one who possessed flame qi from the Flame Qilin. He was someone who could manipulate flames like Chun Yeowun.

Phat!

Chun Yeowun, who gave the order, quickly moved away and headed somewhere else.

He went to the middle point of the triangle from where the three heads popped out from, namely, right above the ruins of the Ice Palace.

Da-Dum! Da-Dum! Da-Dum!

‘Here it is!’

The place where the heartbeat felt strongest.

The body of the dragon was right below it.

‘If the heads keep regenerating, it’s a waste of time and effort to cut it.’

It was a gamble, but Chun Yeowun decided that he should aim for the dragon’s body.

[Lightning qi remaining 189%]

He still had double the amount of energy he typically possessed.

Except for the original amount he possessed, he had to release all the extra energy.

Phat!

Chun Yeowun quickly flew into the air.

Rising into the air, he stood over the collapsed palace ruins and raised his hands.

The wreckage and rubble began to rustle and tremble.

Drrr! Drrrrr!

Amid the rubble, the fallen warriors and officials began to float into the sky.

The sight of hundreds of dead people rising into the air was a spectacular and, at the same time, scary sight to witness.

Kooooooo!

There was no way that the warriors and skilled masters around wouldn't notice the intense energy, which was strong enough to cover and shake the entire island of the Ice Palace.

Even Dan Jucheon, the deputy king of the Ice Palace, who was dealing with the resurrected head of the dragon, was in shock.

‘That can’t be possible.’

Weapons responded to the energy.

The weapons dropped by the dead warriors and officials shook as they floated up to the sky.

Dan Jucheon and the other elders looked at the strange phenomenon.

“Lord of the Demonic Cult?”

“H-how did this happen?”

It was Chun Yeowun, who was in the middle of the ruined Ice Palace, causing such unbelievable things.

They weren’t the only ones seeing that.

Moyong Kang, who was madly attacking the dragon to avenge Hwang Bo-nueung, looked at the sky as the warriors mumbled something.

“Th... that... that light is!”

Something which was seen in the Jin Castle of the Tongho region, which earned Chun Yeowun the title of Demon God.

The technique which had engulfed the entire Jin Castle with blood and death was about to manifest.

“Is that something a human can really do?”

Moyong Yuu, who was guarding the wounded Jegal Sohi and Jegal clan’s warriors, looked at the air with a pale face.

When they first met, he thought that Chun Yeowun was a great man, but now, he looked like a monster.

He must have been trying to release the absolute technique of Sky Flash, the rumored technique which brought annihilation in the Jin Castle.

“Is that the one I heard about?”

“Ah, No!”

“Miss Jegal. What do you mean by that?”

“Look at those dragon heads!”

‘!?’

At Jegal Sohi’s words, Moyong Yuu looked at the dragon heads.

It was impossible that the dragon heads, which belonged to a Spirit Beast, didn’t feel the energy that Chun Yeowun just released.

Suddenly, the heads of the dragon all turned towards Chun Yeowun and opened their mouths.

Their goal, after sensing the crisis, was to end the source of their fear.

Woong!

White flashes with condensed energy and sparks.

At that, all the people from the Demonic Cult, North Sea Ice Palace, and the Yulin, who were fighting the dragon, shouted.

“Lo-Lord, protect the Lord!”

“Stop the attack from the Dragon Turtle right away!”

“We need to make room for Lord Chun to attack!”

Everyone tried to cut the dragon’s heads to help Chun Yeowun.

But, something unexpected happened.

Grrrrrr!

“L-land is?”

“An earthquake!”

The ground they were standing on began to shake violently.

With the land shaking so much, it was difficult for them to stand.

The dragon, which only used its three heads until now, sensed a crisis and finally moved.

Crack!

“Uh-huh?”

“Avoid it! Stay away from the cracks!”

Ominous sparks spouted from the cracked ground.

It was a sign that lightning was about to come up from the ground.

Despite flying away from the cracked ground, many people got caught by the lightning, which soared up from the ground.

Crackle!

“Kuaaack!”

“Euuuk!”

Screams from those who were near the palace.

Instead of stopping the dragon, people were busy running away and trying to protect themselves.

In the meantime, the dragon’s three heads, which had gathered condensed energy in their mouths, simultaneously shot lightning towards Chun Yeowun.

“Avoid!!!”

The cultists shouted in shock.

However, Chun Yeowun didn't even move, as if he had no intention of avoiding it.

The Six Swords screamed, but it was too late.

Crackle!

Streaks of lightning flashed from three different directions, all aiming for Chun Yeowun, who was surrounded in black flames.

Kwang! Crackle!

Flash!

When the beams of lightning, which were strong enough to turn everything into soot, came in from multiple directions, people began to lose hope.

“H-How could this...”

“Why... why didn’t he avoid it?”

“M-my Lord...”

Everyone stared at one place in the sky with bewildered eyes.

This time, despite being called the Demon God, they thought that their Lord wouldn’t make it out alive.

It was suicide.

“GRRRRRRR!”

The heads of the dragon, who gathered all their strength to eliminate their common enemy, constantly snorted as if they were showing their satisfaction.

The dragon turned its heads and focused on the people who were still standing on the ground until their yellow eyes widened at what they saw.

“GRRRRRRR?”

Likewise, even the people who looked at that shouted.

“Woahhhhh!”

“Lord Chun is safe!!!”

They were people from different factions, but for that moment, they were allies.

Surprisingly, Chun Yeowun, who was supposed to be dead, was still standing in the air.

“No way... to survive even after being... hit by the three... Lord of the Demonic Cult... you really aren’t... a human.”

Moyong Kang shook his head.

He thought Chun Yeowun had died for sure, but this man was alive even after being hit.

Besides,

Crackle!

Chun Yeowun’s entire body, which was already covered in black flames, now had lightning crackling around it.

It was as if he had turned into a God of Thunder and Black Flames.

Everyone shouted and cheered for Lord Chun.

[Lightning qi 1200%... at... limit... it is... dangerous... for the user... to use.]

Crackle!

Nano's voice cracked and then got cut off from Chun Yeowun's head.

The gamble of risking his life made him collect stronger energy.

However, it looked like Nano was overloaded or overheated in the process of absorbing such tremendous energy.

Crackle!

Flash!

"Phew... ugh... just hold on... Nano."

It was the same with Chun Yeowun, whose veins were popping out.

If he didn't quickly release the energy, it seemed like he would end up suffering massive damage to his body.

"I always give back what I receive."

Chun Yeowun reached out towards the shaking ground.

And,

Woong!

The weapons he gathered in the air, which had turned black because of the lightning, were now burning in black flames.

It seemed like he had to discard them and use sword qi, as was the case with the invisible sword, which would be used as an Air Sword.

Typically, such a thing should be impossible.

"Oh!"

"Is, is this Sky Flash!?"

Moyong Kang, the only one who witnessed Sky Flash, stared at the sight with trembling eyes.

“No. This is different. That is... that isn’t what we saw.”

“Huh?”

Everyone’s attention focused on Chun Yeowun as he stretched out his hand and ordered Nano.

‘Nano, Target lock.’

[Multi... lock... on system...]

Crackle!

Nano’s cracking voice resonated in his head. Numerous red targets in the form of trajectories worked around Chun Yeowun, whose augmented reality was opened.

Some of them aimed for the three heads of the dragon, which shot lightning towards him.

Beep! Beep! Beep! Beep! Beep! Beep! Beep! Beep!

‘Activate!’

At that moment, the black flame lightning, and the gathered swords bombarded and slammed into the ground where the Dragon Turtle was hiding its body.

Kwakwakwang! Bang!

Crack! Break!

A black ray of light with lightning in it split off in three directions and passed through the dragon’s heads at once.

The Dragon Turtle heads didn’t even have time to gather condensed energy.

In an instant, the parts where the necks got cut turned black as if they got burned.

Crackle! Crackle!

The heads of the dragon soon fell to the ground, just like they did in the past.

Thud! Thud! Thud!

There was no sign of regenerating.

Seeing the thick and long body of the Dragon Turtle lying on the ground, the deputy king of the palace, Dan Jucheon, was shocked.

“Su-such absurd power!”

Decapitating dragon heads seemed like a futile thing after the sacrifices everyone had to make.

But that wasn't the end.

Rumble!

The floor shook violently as the rays of black flame and lightning poured down, and the scream, which was different from the existing dragon heads, came out.

“KWAAAHHHHHH!!!”

The sound was coming from the body of the dragon below the ground.

Everyone who watched that cheered for Chun Yeowun, who was still alive.

“Th-the dragon is...”

“In pain!”

The power of the Demon God’s Sky Flash, which they only heard of, was a thrill for the eyes.

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

Even then, Moyong Kang, who saw that, mumbled in a trembling voice.

“Who the hell can stop that monster.”

It didn’t need an explanation to know whom he was referring to as a monster.

Chapter 419 - The Battle for the Core (1)

Chapter 419: The Battle for the Core (1)

Kwakwakwakwang!

“KUAHHHHHHH!”

A scream rumbled the sky.

It was the cry of the Dragon Turtle, which was suffering from the rays of black flames and lightning that rained on it.

Rumble!

All the people on the site of the North Sea Ice Palace tried to hold their balance as the land shook violently and the ground below their feet cracked.

“Woahhh!”

“Run as far as you can!”

“You need to get away from that!”

At first, they were shocked by the amazing technique which unfolded in front of their eyes, and then they ran as they watched the dragon change.

Chun Yeowun’s power was beyond everyone’s imagination.

Kwaarrrrr! Crackle!

“Ugh! Split up!”

“But where are we supposed to escape to?”

The problem was that the technique was so painful for the dragon that it seemed like the Dragon Turtle was moving wildly underground.

Even the officials of the Ice Palace, who were cheering, ran away, fearing for their lives.

“It... it’s breaking everything.”

“Seven hundred years since the palace... damn it!”

If it was just the palace, they could build it once again.

However, as the ground began to break in random places, rebuilding the palace seemed impossible.

[Lightning Qi... remaining... 339... percent.]

[Lightning Qi... remaining... 335... percent.]

Crackle!

Nano's voice echoed in Chun Yeowun's mind.

Looking at how the words of Nano kept cracking, it seemed like Nano wasn't in good condition.

‘I have already consumed most of the energy?’

Although Nano was helping him out, the Sky Flash consumed a lot more internal energy than other techniques.

Besides that, the energy drained so fast that it was making Yeowun dizzy.

Even with such an attack, it would be dangerous if the Dragon Turtle endured it.

[Lightning Qi... remaining... 203... percent.]

[Lightning Qi... remaining... 197... percent.]

It was around that time when the number displayed in augmented reality fell.

The land, which was shaking, then trembled and finally turned calm.

Finally, the dragon seemed to have stopped moving.

‘I avoided a huge disaster.’

It was fortunate that he went right to attacking before exhausting his energy.

Swooosh!

The black flames which covered Chun Yeowun's body slowly subsided.

When the energy fell, all the rubble and weapons which were still floating in the air scattered.

They weren't proper swords made out of qi, yet they stayed strong till the end.

"Haa..."

'Nano. Good Work.'

Without Nano, this adventure wouldn't have been possible.

However, something felt strange.

[Ove... overloaded... energy... rate... error... self... recovery... and... system... update... needs to... be done...
in standby... more... for... duration...]

Beep!

Nano's voice ended as if someone had halted it.

The augmented reality which was drawn by the white particles in his eyes also disappeared.

‘Nano? Nano! Nanooo!’

[.....]

Shocked, Chun Yeowun called for Nano, but there was no answer.

It was like it didn’t exist anymore.

When he judged that there was a problem with Nano, with whom Chun Yeowun lived with for more than four years, Chun Yeowun’s complexion darkened.

Sting! Sting!

At that moment, intense pain engulfed all of his body.

It wasn’t muscle pain but rather pain in the meridian veins which his energy flowed through.

‘Ugh! Is this a side effect of using a technique which exceeded my original strength?’

Yeowun grunted, trying to hold back the pain, but.

“Kuak!”

Flinch!

The pain made it impossible for qi to flow freely in his body, so he couldn't fly anymore.

“KUAK!”

Swoosh!

As he staggered, Chun Yeowun finally moved to the ground.

As he was having trouble standing still, the cultists who were watching him ran towards him at once.

“Lord!”

“Are you okay?”

He couldn't answer Marakim, who was concerned for him.

There was no way he could be okay. The meridians in his body were about to burst out in pain; it felt like his vessels which were flowing with qi, were empty.

“First, clothes!”

Hu Bong took off his long robe, which he was wearing, and tried to cover Chun Yeowun, who was naked.

“Kuakk!”

Crackle!

“Ugh!”

Sparks spread around Chun Yeowun, which turned into lightning sparks.

“Fi, firstly what should we do about the lightning sparks around the Lord’s body?”

6th elder Mong Mu also nodded his head as he agreed with Ko Wanghur’s words.

“I will try to drive out the qi from his body. Everyone stays back.”

“No. Elder Mong. This way...”

As the Great Guardian was about to say something, Chun Yeowun, who had his eyes closed, groaned.

“Haa... Haaa... I’ll take care of that thing, just take care of me.”

“Lord!”

Crackle!

“Ugh!”

With those words, Chun Yeowun soon sat down in the lotus position.

Qi was still emanating from his body, but at the same time, steam was escaping from his body.

“A-are you really fine with it?”

Hu Bong responded to Mun Ku, who asked the question with teary eyes.

“... for now, we must obey his orders.”

When he asked for them to take care of him, he meant that he would try to recover on his own.

What they had to do as subordinates was to ensure that no one would harm Chun Yeowun.

There were way too many people who could take advantage of Chun Yeowun’s current situation.

Marakim slowly gave the orders.

“Six Sword’s men, take positions!”

“Yes!”

All the warriors responded in a low tone and moved in unison, forming a circle around Chun Yeowun; they took up defensive stances.

Elder Mong Mu spoke to Marakim with a concerned expression.

“It will be dangerous if we get attacked by the Yulin or the North Sea Ice Palace. Wouldn’t it be better to take the Lord and go to a far away place instead of staying here?”

Mong Mu had a lot of experience on the front lines, so he didn’t trust the other forces.

The only reason they didn’t fight among themselves was that they had a common enemy called the Dragon Turtle, but now it was removed. It wouldn’t be unusual for them to attack the Demonic Cult.

Besides, didn’t Chun Yeowun kill the second son of the Yulin and the Forces of Justice’s Great Leader, Yi Mok, Kang Soah?

At those words, Marakim shook his head.

“The Lord’s words are absolute. And if the Lord was in a situation where he can’t handle himself, he would give us a different order.”

“But...”

“I know what your concerns are. But you don’t have to worry about that.”

“Huh?”

“There is the core and the blood of the Spirit Beast, which can boost one’s internal energy, so what will their first choice be?”

“Ahhh!”

All the people around were martial artists.

Beyond revenge, what martial artists wanted most was to elevate their skills.

And the prediction of Marakim was turning into a reality.

“Leader Moyong! Now is our chance! An opportunity like this will never come again.”

The opinions of the people from the Yulin were divided.

The people of Black Shadow forces, who lost their leader Kang Soah, insisted that they take revenge on Chun Yeowun.

In front of their eyes, Chun Yeowun had fallen down after losing his strength.

When else would they have such a great opportunity?

However, Moyong Kang shook his head at their requests.

“No.”

“Wh-why? If we can take him down, we get to take our revenge for our leader and it’s a needed outcome for the future of Wulin too...”

“You don’t know, but this has happened before.”

“Huh?”

Even in Jin Castle, Chun Yeowun used the Sky Flash technique.

At that time, everyone thought that Chun Yeowun ended up using all his internal energy.

“At that moment, the Masters of the Blade God Six Martial clan tried to take advantage of the weakened Chun Yeowun, do you know what the results were? Everyone died, not a single person lived.”

“!!!”

“Lord Chun. That person will never be beaten by others. Even then, he will cleverly come up with something to deceive his enemies. And now, with our current force, can you break into their defence formation?”

Compared to the Yulin’s men, the Demonic Cult’s warriors didn’t suffer extensive damage, while the Yulin lost four hundred men.

In addition to having over five hundred people, the Demonic Cult had the Six Swords and the Great Guardian standing unharmed.

If they moved to fight, Yulin would be the one to suffer.

“But it is clear that there is something wrong, seeing how he landed and staggered...”

The warriors weren’t convinced.

Opportunities to kill a monster were rare.

It would be advantageous to Yulin if just one of them could stick their sword in the Demon Lord's throat.

"What do you think about this, lieutenant?"

When Moyong Kang didn't speak, the members looked back at lieutenant Mak Wijong, who had been temporarily placed as the division leader.

As Hwang Bo-neung was killed, there was no one else left to back Moyong Kang.

Mak Wijong, too, stared at Chun Yeowun.

"Ah! Right! How about we join forces with the North Sea Ice Palace warriors, won't we have enough people to fight them? A temporary truce."

Even the warriors of the Ice Palace were heavily damaged.

However, since it was their stronghold, they still had power.

The warriors like Dan Jucheon and the elders who were skilled could join them.

'There is a definite chance to win. Even if I have to face the Great Guardian, I can try to make a sweeping blow...'

Like Moyong Kang said, this could be a trap.

What if this time, too, it was a trap laid out by Lord Chun Yeowun?

Rather, the warriors didn't look like they'd get convinced.

Besides,

"I agree, but there is no guarantee that they will help us."

"Huh? What is that... ah!"

When they looked at the direction Mak Wijong pointed at, the surviving warriors of the Ice Palace were gathering somewhere.

They headed for the headless dragon's body with a clear purpose in their minds.

"They have something more urgent to do than deal with the Lord of Demonic Cult."

Mak Wijong pointed to the dragon near them and spoke to Moyong Kang.

“Leader Moyong. In the current situation, it would be better for us to find a way to get the dragon’s blood. It is a dangerous force which we shouldn’t pass on.”

Spirit Beasts blood and core.

There was a legend that they would increase one’s internal and external energies.

From that, the Yulin side also thought that they should get the blood once the dragon died.

‘If the legend is indeed true...’

The Dragon Turtle’s core can reverse the Yulin forces’ situation, which ended up taking too much damage from the Demonic Cult and the Blade God Six Martial clan.

‘Now might be the right chance. If the Lord of Demonic Cult is really recovering, it would be right for us to take away the core of the Dragon Turtle.’

If he woke up, Chun Yeowun would make the first move.

And if that happened, there is a high probability that both the blood and core will fall into the hands of the Demonic

Cult.

Moyong Kang, who had been pondering, made a decision.

“The core is our priority!”

Meanwhile, Sama Chak, who was standing near Chun Yeowun, was restlessly watching the movements of Yulin and the Ice Palace warriors.

He looked to see if anyone was moving in to target their Lord, but he got angry when he saw the two forces head for the fallen dragon’s body.

“Great Guardian! Is it alright if we just leave it?”

Strictly speaking, the ownership of the blood and core belonged to Chun Yeowun, who killed it.

He spoke the words of the people in the cult who held the same opinion.

They all wanted to go stop those people.

“The Lord is our priority. Let’s stay here and do our role.”

Marakim answered him rather stiffly.

For him, the safety of the Lord was the priority.

Shockingly, Hu Bong, who would usually become furious at the other clan's actions, was rather calm, making Che Takim ask.

"Hu Bong. Don't you have anything to say? The blood and core of the Dragon Turtle will be stolen by them."

"Hehehe, those people? When one swallows a fish with thorns, one will get hurt or stung inside."

"Huh?"

It was something everyone should have understood.

And soon, they all came to understand what Hu Bong meant.

A shattering scream came from the Ice Palace warrior's side, which were clustered around the dragon's body.

Crack!

“Kwaaak!”

The palace warriors of the Ice Palace were surrounding the dragon body, which was on their side.

They looked at the dead body and the black soot all around them with shocked expressions.

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

“Ho-how could this happen?”

Crackle!

Lightning sparks and streaks flew across the dragon’s body.

Chapter 420 - The Battle for the Core (2)

Chapter 420: The Battle for the Core (2)

The huge body of the dragon lay dead on the ground of the Ice Palace.

Black blood oozed out from the severed part of the body where the heads had disappeared from.

What was unusual was the sparks which were bouncing little by little as if lightning was still flowing.

Crackles! Crackles!

Everyone stared at it blankly, knowing that approaching it would be difficult.

They tried to take the blood from the area of the body closest to them, but they hesitated to touch it.

But even more disturbing was,

‘This is the blood of the Dragon Turtle!’

‘It is said that those who take the blood will gain great power. Opportunities like that don’t come easily.’

There was no one among the warriors who didn’t display greed for the blood.

And such a reaction was natural.

And if they could take this back to Yulin, it would create a mess for them, such a strange sight that the blood of a Spirit Beast was in front of them, and they wanted it.

There was only one problem.

“How about someone tries the dragon’s blood first? Legend says that it can increase the internal energy, but we don’t know if that’s the truth, right?”

Chul Yi-myeong, the third seat of the Black Shadow force, spoke as the others agreed.

In such a situation, it wasn’t uncommon for most of them to covet the blood.

Moyong Kang objected to that.

“No.”

At the words of Moyong Kang, everyone turned stiff.

Most of them wanted to consume the dragon's blood, but their commander was against it.

To that, Moyong Kang spoke in a serious voice, as if he was warning them.

"The blood of a spirit beast isn't something that can be consumed so easily."

"What do you mean?"

"I know that you all think that you can have it and..."

Even before he could finish speaking.

Crackle!

"Kwaack!"

A scream erupted from the North Sea Ice Palace's side.

The people of Yulin looked over there with puzzled expressions, and Moyong Kang spoke as if he didn't have to see what was happening.

“Heard that?”

“What’s that?”

“What do you think? People die if they take the blood of a spirit beast without diluting it, the body can’t take the raw energy. Would you like to scream like that too?”

A member from the Black Shadow force, who kept an eye on the North Sea Ice Palace warriors, rushed back to report.

“Haa, did you hear that? Someone from the Ice Palace took the blood and then lightning qi engulfed his body and he turned into black soot.”

“Unbelievable!”

Woong!

Moyong Kang’s words were indeed true.

Everyone looked at him in amazement.

It was natural for Moyong Kang to know that taking the blood from the spirit beast would have side effects.

It was because, while the Yan Dynasty was doing well, they defeated a two-headed dragon.

“How did Leader Moyong know?”

“... ages ago, the ancestors of my clan caught a dragon spirit.”

“Ah! Then, does the leader know how the blood of a spirit beast needs to be consumed?”

Everyone looked at him with anticipation.

However, Moyong Kang shook his head.

No one in the Moyong family was able to consume the blood of the dragon spirit which they killed.

“You don’t know?”

“... I am sorry, but I have no idea either. Because it was stolen before we were able to try.”

“Stolen? Ha!”

According to the records, the dragon had a qi attribute.

It had sparks around it, and it was impossible to get close to the body, so the warriors left to look for a means to move it.

However, when they returned in the middle of the night, the core, which was supposed to be covered in lightning sparks, disappeared.

“Did the Moyong family catch the culprit?”

“... we tried, but we couldn’t.”

Rather, both units which were sent to search for the thief ended up getting annihilated by the criminal.

So, all the military forces of the Liaoning were mobilized to drive the criminal into a valley of Neungbong Mountain, but then he disappeared.

As if he evaporated into the sky.

The only trace the criminal left behind was that he was a master of a clan that had never existed in the Wulin.

Everyone was puzzled at the sight of the criminal's sword use.

"It's like the story of someone from the Blade God Six Martial clan, like the Blade God."

Because that was the only awing sword technique that the warriors were aware of.

"Well, you might think so, but it happened a long time ago."

It was a long time ago, even before the establishment of the Blade God Six Martial clan.

"To be honest, it wasn't the Blade God, but it looked similar to the techniques of the Sky Demon Order. It isn't that important. I'd rather try and find a way to move this sooner... huh? Where is lieutenant Mak?"

The temporary leader of the Black Shadow force, Mak Wijong, was nowhere to be seen.

At the question of Moyong Kang, 3rd seat Chul Yi-myeong pointed to the huge defense line created for Chun Yeowun.

“The lieutenant went there with a few others saying that he would bring us the core of the dragon.”

“What? When?”

“It hasn’t been that long.”

At the words of the 3rd seat, Moyong Kang turned nervous.

According to the records, the core of a Dragon is supposed to be full of qi.

Obviously, it would have a lot more qi than a two-headed dragon, so how are four to five people going to bring it out?

‘He left without even reporting it to me.’

It was strange, but he had to hurry up.

If they touched the core in haste, they would turn into black soot, just like the warriors of the North Sea Ice Palace.

“They shouldn’t. Hurry up! Miss Jegal!”

“Yes leader.”

“I think we need the help of your warriors. Come over with everyone.”

The warriors and scholars of the Jegal clan who mastered the Book of Qi and All Knowing⁽¹⁾.

With them, Moyong Kang thought that he would be able to move the core.

“Leader Moyong... really wants to go there?”

Jegal Sohi asked as she looked at the Demonic Cult’s side.

It was natural what she was concerned about.

Moyong Kang took a deep breath and answered.

“Phew. It is better to take the core away from the body instead of letting the Lord of the Demonic Cult take it away. Did you see his power? We can’t let that happen.”

At those words, Jegal Sohi’s complexion darkened.

The Lord of the Demonic Cult seemed like he was the strongest in the current Wulin.

However, if he ends up taking the core and the blood of a Spirit Beast, the balance of power in the Wulin will be completely destroyed.

The world will be under the foot of the Demonic Cult if that happens.

“... understood.”

Jegal Sohi thought about it and agreed with Moyong Kang.

She thought it would be better to take away the core for the sake of the future of Yulin.

“Hurry.”

Moyong Kang hurriedly led the troops and headed for the hole.

Meanwhile, on the Ice Palace’s side.

Crackle!

“Kuak! Save... me!”

Pst!

A man whose body was covered in sparks was shocked to death.

Everyone who looked at that had bewildered expressions on their faces. They paid the price for their greed and excitement.

“Why?”

Even Dan Jucheon couldn't understand the reason.

He could feel the raw qi flowing in the blood of the dragon. He could feel how strong people would become if they had it.

He, too, thought that taking it would increase their internal energy, so why were people dying because of lightning.

“King. It seems like we should stop. Why not freeze the blood and disperse the qi first?”

He nodded at the words of elder Seol Young-gwi.

They had already confirmed what would happen from the two people who tried and died.

It felt like it would be better to reduce the qi and then ingest the blood.

“... that would be better. Are the elders okay with it?”

“I think so too.”

“What the 1st elder said is correct.”

At the question from Dan Jucheon, everyone nodded their heads.

But one person didn't answer.

“Elder Won?”

They looked, but couldn't find the sixth elder, Won Sangho.

Two elders had died, and elder Seol Yi-jeong was near the ice cave, but the man who had been here until a moment ago disappeared.

It was suspicious, but Baek Gojung of the Snow Sword troops rushed in to report.

“Deputy king. The Yulin men are heading into the underground tunnel right now!”

“How!”

Their purpose of heading into the underground was obvious to everyone.

“They are going for the core.”

The most important thing was the core.

The core is where the raw natural power of the spirit beast is gathered, a true treasure.

“King! We must not let them get it.”

“We need to head there right away.”

The elders, who knew that the situation wasn’t favorable for them, asked their deputy king to act.

Dan Jucheon, who had the same idea, made the elders and the warriors move to the underground.

And ordered Baek Gojung of the Snow Sword troops.

“Leader Baek. Go to the ice cave and tell the elders there to follow the tunnel which the dragon drilled all the way here.”

“Yes!”

Dan Jucheon felt that it was fortunate that they didn't lose too many warriors.

If they went into the underground tunnels and the Yulin warriors were indeed there, and Elder Seol Yi-jeong brings in another 500 warriors from the cave, they could attack the Yulin from both sides. If that all happened, then the core would belong to them.

Under the command of the deputy king, Baek Gojung and lieutenant Oh Young hurriedly went to the cave where the elders were.

Baek Gojung, who arrived right away, entered the cave.

But as soon as he went down, something strange happened.

“What is this?”

“Leader... this is the smell of blood.”

A foul odor that tickled their nose wafted from the underground cave.

A strange chill crept down Baek Gojung's spine as he went down, but when he reached the last level, he was in shock.

"H-how did this happen?"

Five hundred men that were supposed to be there guarding the Adularia stones. Were in the form of numerous corpses scattered far and wide with traces of fierce fighting everywhere.

A single glance was enough to know that five hundred bodies were there.

This didn't mean that the battle happened when the dragon broke out.

"Who the hell raided this place?"

Judging from the cuts on the corpses, they must have collided with an armed group of people.

"Leader here!"

While examining the bodies, Oh Young found footprints that headed somewhere.

And that place was,

“This...”

The tunnel the dragon dug.

It looked like someone raided the place when the battle happened outside and went into the underground tunnel.

Whoops!

“Who the hell entered this place?”

Baek Gojung, unable to contain his anger, ground his teeth.

Then, he quickly contained his anger.

“You must go back immediately and report this to the deputy king!”

“Bu, but leader, you?”

“I will track them, hurry up. Only then will they be able to know!”

“Yes!”

Baek Gojung looked at Oh Young, who exited from the cave, and then he hurriedly entered the tunnel.

Crackle!

Lightning qi, which flowed through his body’s meridians.

In order to control it, Chun Yeowun focused on his breath.

The most effective method was something he had learned while controlling the Sky Demon Force, but with his current body, he chose to use the method he used for the Twenty Four Demon Sword.

It wasn’t the greatest one, but it had the greatest effect when meditating.

In a situation where it was difficult to control his body and the lightning, nothing else could be done.

“Kuak!”

Crackle!

Every time he inhaled, sparks from the lightning qi flashed all over his body.

The unfamiliar qi simulated his meridians and disrupted the flow of energy in his body, but the Sword Force of the Sky Demon was protecting him.

If it wasn't for that, which was in his Dantian, the lightning qi could never be controlled, and Yeowun's body would have burst.

'If Nano protected my meridians through self healing, this would be a lot quicker.'

The Sword Force of the Sky Demon didn't have the speed.

However, Yeowun would try to hurry up, but if he did so, the meridians in his brain would be damaged, and the lightning qi would run wild.

He never thought that something would go wrong with Nano

The moment when he was focusing on the qi.

Crack!

[Error! Error! An error... has... occurred... in... the... system]

‘Nano!’

At the sudden voice of Nano in his head, Yeowun called out for it.

However, Nano didn’t respond and kept repeating, error, error.

‘Nano. Are you hurt?’

He asked with concern, but suddenly something changed in Chun Yeowun’s vision.

Though his eyes were covered, his pupils saw white light particles and the augmented reality opened.

‘Why augmented reality?’

Crackle!

[vi... video... devi... device... lock is... temporarily... released... need... to... fix... system... error... self... recovery...]

Crackle!

Nano's voice got cut off, and a space that he never saw before opened up in the augmented reality.

It was a phenomenon that Nano used in the past for Chun Yeowun. It was the 3D (Three Dimensional) augmented reality.

‘Where is this place?’

In front of Chun Yeowun, a different world appeared.

There were many devices that displayed three-dimensional images around, and space was entirely filled with unknown machines.

There was only one thing he was familiar with, the picture of heaven, which was written in red letters and background, which symbolized the Sky Demon Order.

Below it was something written in English, not Chinese, but English which Nano had injected into Yeowun's head.

[Sky Corporation Development Room.]

At the incomprehensible view, Chun Yeowun looked at the white particles, which showed something above the augmented reality.

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

[AD Year 2940.12.24]

‘What the hell... what is this recorded video?’

Editor's Note

⁽¹⁾ Before anyone asks, “All Knowing” is the full name of the technique. We don't know what they are “All Knowing” about. We will have to wait until the author hopefully clarifies it in the future.

Chapter 421 - The Battle for the Core (3)

Chapter 421: The Battle for the Core (3)

The entire wall was filled with items he had never seen before.

It was the first time he saw a wall made of cold iron and not of stone or wood.

In addition, there was a transparent and thin wall that showed the other side, and Yeowun instinctively thought that the place might not be the current Jianghu.

There was no movement in the video.

When he realized that what he was seeing was a 3D stereoscopic image, he thought that the image would be jumbled, but it felt like the video was fixed in one place.

‘Is this a record which has been locked?’

There were a few instances when the system was locked when he asked Nano for something.

However, due to an error, the lock was released, and it was clear that what he was seeing was a video that shouldn't have been shown to him.

'Can I move in this state?'

He tried to concentrate. However, his vision seemed fixed.

'Nano! Nano!'

He called for Nano several times, but there was no answer.

It seemed like he was seeing this video because of an error, but what use is it if he can only see one area?

It was boring.

Weigh!

'Uh?'

The door on the left wall split down the middle and opened up automatically.

And a young man in his early thirties and a middle-aged man in white came in wearing strange outfits.

But the bizarre outfits seemed familiar.

It was a long time ago, and his memory was hazy, but Yeowun was sure that he saw them.

And the middle-aged man in a white coat opened his mouth.

“Director Chun, you are a stubborn man. If the Nano Machine has been implanted into the eye, can’t you just give out prescribed glasses to avoid vision problems? Tch. Tch.”

“Eh, how can a doctor say that? The ID chips are dangerous and I know that if one gets implanted with a Nano Machine, tracking by the TP will be faster.”

At those words, the middle-aged man who was called a doctor stuck out his tongue.

Chun Yeowun, who watched this, was bewildered.

He could understand what they were talking about, but the content of their conversation was somewhat difficult.

‘Are they talking about Nano from Nano Machine? What the hell is a TP?’

Regardless of his questions, their conversation continued.

“Doctor Baek. Is there any way to remove the ID chip from the body?”

“How many times have I explained it to you? If the chip stops, it will be recorded as dead. And to get rid of the chip flowing through the blood, we would have to dialyze all of the blood, which would mean losing all of one’s martial skills. Does that sound nice?”

“Ah...”

At those words, the young man in a bizarre outfit frowned. He seemed concerned about losing his martial arts.

“Even if it isn’t hemodialysis, shouldn’t there be a way to stop it with an electric shock or an EMP (Electromagnetic Pulse)?”

“You do know that the ID chip has been equipped with an EMP canceller, right? And as Chun knows, it would have to exceed over 10 million volts to induce the chip into failure because of electric shock... afterwards, I don't have any intention to stop you if you want to die, and your younger sibling who is training in the Demonic Academy would like the results."

"Huhhhuhu, I see that there is no easy way."

"I heard that he passed the fifth test, and if a position turns vacant, he can join the board without taking the sixth test."

"... I can't let him join the board that easily. I barely managed to beat Mong to enter."

Knowing that the doctor's stubbornness would give him no results, the young man called Chun slowly walked around the space and approached the side where Chun Yeowun could see him.

'Ah...'

He didn't notice it until the young man passed by him, but the young man's face strangely resembled him.

He had a pure white face, sharp eyes, and if someone who knew Chun Yeowun saw him, they would totally think that the two of them were brothers.

‘Ah?’

The young man suddenly stretched out his hand towards Chun Yeowun’s field of vision.

And Chun Yeowun looked at what was just lifted and placed between the young man’s fingers.

As if his hands were holding onto something, Chun Yeowun sensed the alien liquid for a while as he looked.

‘What is he up to?’

The young man called Chun turned his head to Dr. Baek and said.

“Because of this liquid, the 7th generation Nano Machine... What if the Nobel Prize for Science flies away? Doctor.”

“... don’t know. Had it not been for his lifelong research and contract, I would have taken the sample to Sweden at once.”

“Hahahaha, don’t joke. After all, the metal extraction would be considered illegal by the Gate, and you know that what you stole will never be deemed as legal.”

“Are you trying to get revenge on me or something?”

At the words of Chun, Dr. Baek shook his head with a dissatisfied expression.

“Doctor. Just in case, is there enough metal left in the Gate to mass produce the 7th generation?”

“If there was so much metal left, those Gatekeepers would have already come in with warrants in hand. Or maybe the guys from the other side of the Gate would come in.”

“Well... that’s a pity. There is only enough for one person.”

No matter how much he listened, Yeowun couldn’t understand their conversation.

Even when he understood the English words mixed in the conversation, it was difficult to interpret as they seemed to be referring to something.

“It would be great if we can mass produce an untraceable Nano Machine.”

“If that happens, the Sky Corporation will become a law-breaking company from that day forward. Phew, to be honest, I don’t understand what you mean.”

Dr. Baek approached Chun and continued speaking.

“Although most of the systems of the 7th generation Nano machines have been locked, don’t you know how dangerous it is to hand over an untraceable device which can withstand magnetic fields and the time portal to someone from the distant past?”

“Wasn’t it said that when the time axis changes it creates a different dimension? Then why are you so concerned while knowing that the present world won’t be affected by it?”

The young man called Chun waved his hand while saying that.

But Dr. Baek spoke in a serious voice as if he couldn’t shake off his concern.

“Do you believe that the Blade Six group will disappear if we stop the founding of the Blade God Six Martial clan during the time of the South Lord, and the Slashing Demon Emperor? Don’t you know that they can’t do anything as long as they are a start-up company that partnered with the government?”

These were the only words he could understand.

‘South Lord?’

South Lord was the title of the former lord, Chun Yujong. Who the hell is the Slashing Demon Emperor?

‘Slashing Demon Emperor? The one who went after the arms?’

It was his first time hearing about it, but it oddly felt familiar.

And listening to what they were saying, it felt as if this wasn’t the present either.

At the words of Dr. Baek, who was dissuaded, the one called Director Chun, who had a smile on his face, opened his mouth with a cold face.

“Doctor, you always said that the time axis is different, so stopping them wouldn’t be possible. But how would you explain the historian’s extremism?”

“... What’s that supposed to mean?”

Push!

Director Chun took out a small device from the pouch hanging around the left side of his waist.

And when he lightly pressed that small device, a hologram was formed by a bright light.

Wheeing.

The hologram showed the face of a middle-aged man with thick eyebrows and strong features.

Next to him, white particles were drawing just like the augmented reality for Chun Yeowun.

[Blade God

Born: AD 1967.XX.XX~

Education: Doctor of Martial Arts, Beijing Martial Arts University

Award: President of People's Republic of China Award:
AD.2018>XX>XX

United Nations Peace Service Citation: AD.2352.XX.XX

Asia Gatekeeper Achievement Award: AD.2380.XX.XX

.....

Experience: AD 2013.

Professor of Law, Beijing Martial Arts University.

AD 2025. President of Beijing Martial Arts University

AD 2134. 1st level commander of the Blade Six Group.

AD 2225. Honorary Chairman of the Blade Six Group.]

In addition, a lot of other information came out.

Seeing that, Chun Yeowun couldn't understand.

Speaking of the Blade God, isn't he the forefather of Blade God Six Martial Clan, who disappeared while fighting the Sword Demon in the past?

But seeing what was written in front of him, it was as if the man had lived for over a thousand years.

‘What the hell does this mean?’

Everything became confusing.

It could have been the record of someone who shared the same name, but Yeowun couldn’t calm his heart.

Aside from the anxiety, the young one called Chun spoke while looking at the hologram.

“A hero who broke the Six Dimension Gates alone, which was a catastrophe to mankind, a history chart that states that he has lived for over a thousand years and on top of that he’s the strongest living being on earth. Do you really think that this man, who did all of that, and lived all of those years, managed to find success with martial arts alone?”

There was a reason for saying that.

“It’s impossible to live that long without the aid of medicine or technology especially with today’s degenerated martial arts.”

“But, don’t many keepers and those of their family’s lineage not admit that he is a legend who reached the level of natural wonder?”

“Not a single person knows what it is, so would they have any means to prove their words?”

At the words of Dr. Baek, Chun asked back.

The martial arts of this era seemed to have deteriorated considerably compared to the past.

In an era when martial arts degenerated, the Blade God, who reached the state of natural wonder, was a living legend and divine existence.

“Hmm, if you put it that way, then the president at the headquarters who reached the Super Master level acknowledged it, you should know that, right?”

“...”

“You must know that if one has a Nano Machine or an ID chip inside their body, they are being tracked by the Time Patrol? Trying to make this excessive guess about him time travelling after asking for the development of the 7th generation Nano Machine...”

“Not a speculation.”

The young one, called Director Chun, pressed the other side of the device.

The hologram on which the information of the Blade God was written had disappeared, and numerous photos appeared.

There were scans of very old photos uploaded to the web.

[Blade God, was he really born in 1967?]

There were a few photos that had questions on them.

What was more shocking was that, 1870.XX.XX had been developed on the bottom of some photos, and the Blade God seen in the hologram looked similar to the one in the pictures.

“How do you plan on explaining this? Are you going to tell me that this is just a rumor floating around the web? And...”

Wheeing!

Once again, the hologram changed.

However, the data which appeared this time.

‘Sky Demon Order’s Historical Records?’

It was a book that recorded the history of the Sky Demon Order.

The holographic book opened with a complicated process, starting with a retina scan and then entering the password as if it was a forbidden item.

“W-wait a minute. Director Chun. Historical data can only be viewed by the direct descendants of Chun, right?”

Dr. Baek turned away in embarrassment.

At that, the young man, Chun, said that it was okay.

“It doesn’t matter. I will only show you what you need to see.”

‘Is he a direct descendant of the Chun family? What are they talking about? And why is the Cult in a 3D image?’

What was incomprehensible was that this man seemed to be keeping a 3D image of the Sky Demon Order’s Historical Records, which should have been stored in a safe made of old cold iron in the mountains.

Besides, it looked much older than what Chun Yeowun saw.

At that moment, Chun Yeowun's eyes caught a familiar name.

-the 24th Lord. Chun Yeowun, the Slashing Demon Emperor.

'Chun Yeowun, the Slashing Demon Emperor?'

He was dumbfounded.

His name was attached, along with a title that sounded familiar.

Chun Yeowun tried to look closer, but the young man moved the hologram with his hand, and the page turned over.

'Damn it!'

It was something he was very curious about, but he didn't get to see it.

But there was one thing he knew for sure.

Although it was very confusing, this video could happen in the future.

‘Future...? Is that really possible?’

When that thought came to his mind, the existence of Nano became increasingly suspicious.

He didn’t know how it came to him, but Yeowun knew that Nano wasn’t a thing of the present.

Starting with the amount of information it held, Yeowun had doubts about its abilities, such as its body-healing, and its secrets were gradually revealed.

-The 7th generation Lord. Demon Sword, Chun Muhui.

‘Ah!’

Chun Yeowun gasped.

It was the time when the Blade God had made his first appearance.

At first, he only heard of the story from Lee Hameng, but after taking over the title of Lord, he learned more about it through the Historical Records.

“How is this...”

Dr. Baek, who was examining the contents of the hologram historical records shown by Chun, couldn't hide his shock.

"Did the 7th lord get killed by Blade God? How could that..."

It was his first time seeing this as no one except for the Chun family could see the records.

Director Chun spoke to Dr. Baek, who couldn't keep his mouth shut in shock.

"... what if the present time axis and reality were manipulated by the Blade Six in the past? Is that why the martial arts degenerated in the current era but just not in the Blade Six?... Dr. Baek, isn't this quite suspicious?"

At his serious question, Dr. Baek was dazed for a while before opening his mouth.

"If that is true... it can't just be a theory. Why didn't you disclose this information?"

"Because of what the Doctor said."

“No way... The time axis?”

“Yes. If the time axis changes, then reality changes... moreover, if the past and time axis change, then reality will disappear or change.”

Something called the butterfly effect.

Even a small intervention can cause a significant impact on the future.

Although the direct descendants of the Chun family had their doubts, they didn't want to change the past.

It was because they weren't sure how their existence would change.

“Wait. If so, then you are going to use the Time Portal even after considering all of this, is this really your goal?”

“Yes?”

“Then why do you have five time portal packs in your suitcase?”

Dr. Baek was pointing to the pouch on his waist.

He seemed to have peeked through the pouch when Chun opened it.

“You only need two to make the trip, why get five? Your goal isn’t just to inject Nano...”

It was at that moment.

Beep!

The video in the augmented reality stopped.

And everything turned dark.

‘Wh-what?’

At the moment when something important was going to be said, everything turned black around Chun Yeowun.

He couldn’t comprehend what happened, but they seemed to be talking about the past.

He thought he should know that, but then it got cut off, making him irritated.

At that moment, he heard Nano’s voice.

[Lock on... video... records... have... been... placed... again... quickly recover from errors...]

Crackle!

‘Kuak!’

The pulsation of his mind ran through his entire body.

At the same time, Nano’s voice got cut off again.

Grrrr! Pick!

‘Huh?’

A blue flash flashed in front of him, and then the paused augmented reality was activated again.

However, the white particles were all floating in the dark space, and there was nothing to see.

Instead he heard a sound.

Taktaktak!

The sound of something bumping.

A familiar voice could be heard.

“It must have been like this.”

The voice of the one called Chun.

He didn't know why he only heard Chun's voice, but the young man seemed like he was looking for something.

And then a scream rang through the air.

Push! Flash!

“Kuaaaak!”

Another scream was heard.

About six people seemed to be dead.

He heard the rustle and movement of Chun, who soon spoke.

“Uhm, you have your identity engraved. Let’s see... escort? Ah... what! Did I get something wrong? Were these people trying to protect the Slashing Demon Emperor? Damn it!”

Chun seemed like he was blaming himself for something.

And then the sound of a machine close by was heard.

Visor! Visor!

“Found it.”

Once again, rustling sounds could be heard in the dark. This time, there was no scream as if everyone had been killed properly.

Then,

“Achkkkkkkk!”

The scream of someone running away, and then the sound stopped.

It seemed like he had been killed.

At that moment, Chun Yeowun, who was scared, heard something.

“Nice.”

A voice he had heard for a while.

Chun Yeowun was turning more and more frustrated at it.

He wanted to look past the darkness.

At that moment, Chun’s voice was heard.

“Yah, my ancestor must be in a good mood to die here.”

At that moment, Chun Yeowun felt his wandering mind go still.

It was no mistake that Chun’s face and voice felt familiar.

‘No... no way?’

Beep Beep!

With a beep, the Director’s perplexed voice could be heard.

“Did they find me already? Damn it! Nothing more can be done. I was going to teach you how to use this.”

Click!

With those words, his dark vision brightened.

Finally, not only the sound but also the sight was seen.

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

He covered his eyes at the sudden influx of light, but what shocked him was the sight he saw through his fingers.

‘No... this is ridiculous!’

It was his childhood self, dying from blood loss.

Chapter 422 - The Battle for the Core (4)

Chapter 422: The Battle for the Core (4)

It was a different experience to see yourself from a third person's point of view.

Chun Yeowun's mood right now was more than just chaos.

'I... it is me...'

The sight of him four years ago when he was wounded and dying at the hands of assassins.

He was confused and bleeding, so he thought that it was guard Jang who saved him.

However, the vague memories that remained in his mind weren't false.

[Yah. My ancestors must be in a good mood to die out here.]

[Boo! Seeing you hurts me. It's done now. Ancestor?]

[Please be successful and let your descendants also reap the benefits. Since this Nano Machine is the latest version, using it will be easy, so please learn it well.]

The young man in the bizarre outfit was the one called Director Chun.

His words overlapped with the video record.

'Ancestor... ancestor...'

Stunned, he kept thinking the same words again and again.

His head, which had been filled with chaos and confusion, suddenly turned clear.

He seemed to know one thing for sure through the video.

'This one... he is my descendant!'

It wasn't a guess. It was a fact now.

Looking at the circumstances, in the Sky Demon Order Historical Records, which Chun showed, there were things that weren't written yet, which meant that Nano must have been created in the distant future.

'Is that what this is?'

Unbelievable. But it was real.

Nano's ability to make the impossible possible is a gift from future generations.

When he accepted the truth, it felt like his vision which had been narrow, widened.

'Even in the future, the Demonic Cult existed. Ha!'

Excitement came out of nowhere.

It was amazing.

Even in a world that was completely different from the present, the Sky Demon Order continued its legacy.

It was shocking.

'Wait... but my name wasn't the Demon God.'

His title was Slashing Demon Emperor.

For some reason, he thought that his title felt familiar, but he tried to ignore it.

‘Ahh! The fact that the title changed is because reality changed when my descendant gave me Nano.’

If his descendant heard such thoughts, he would be amazed by the insight.

It may not be a reality that would be believed. But, he accepted it because of his exposure to future technology through Nano and the broader view of thoughts he gained after reaching the Divine Master level.

‘My descendant from the future intended to change the past.’

There was a part that bothered him all the time he watched the video,

That was.

‘Blade God!’

The future, he saw in the video, knew of the existence of the Blade God?

In the information on the hologram, the Blade God had been said to be more than a thousand years old.

However, if they looked at the records left in the Sky Demon Order's Historical records, the Blade God appeared a lot earlier than mentioned.

'Maybe they had the same name...? No, that can't be that... ah!'

Chun Yeowun suddenly remembered something when he thought of the Blade God.

Come to think of it, there were traces of Extreme Blade Art on the sword of Chun Muhui, the 7th lord, and that was when the Blade God first appeared.

'It seems weird when I put it like that. The slashes in the valley were a lot more developed than those on the slab of the treasury.'

Thanks to that, Chun Yeowun managed to learn the Extreme Art of the Blade God.

It wasn't based on internal energy, and it was a method that was developed as time went on, but he knew that the skill of the past was superior to the one people were using in the present.

‘Is the Blade God really someone from the future? But why did he have to come to the past?’

He couldn’t understand that.

At that time, Chun Yeowun’s vision was about to go off again.

Pick!

The video which was played in augmented reality got cut off. And a blue flash along with a sting went through his head.

Crackle!

‘Kuak!’

He was trying hard to not get dizzy, but then he heard some noise, and the white particles of the augmented reality drew lines to create text, and a familiar voice resounded in his head.

Whoops!

[Self-healing of the chip damage caused by an overload of energy and strong lightning has been completed.]

‘Nano!’

Finally, Nano was done completing the repairs.

‘Nano! Are you okay now?’

Despite the question, Nano only reported its status.

[The upgrade has been completed so that the gaterinium consisting of Nano can handle the current chart of energy.]

Woong!

‘Upgrade?’

An amazing performance.

The ones from the future would be shocked to know that.

Of course, it would have been absolutely impossible if Nano was made of general material, but the metal called gaterinium, which Nano was made of, was a material that wasn't from earth.

A metal that changed based on the impact.

That was the core technology of the unique 7th generation Nano Machine.

It was possible because of this technology that it could withstand the flame, the lightning, and the cold energy that all existed in Chun Yeowun's body.

[Some locks have been released during self-recovery. Do you want to lock them again? Y/N]

‘!?’

Chun Yeowun's eyes lit up at the sign that the locks had been released.

He couldn't help but wonder because the locks which never got lifted were open.

He asked, questioning what all had been locked from him.

‘Is it okay if I decide what to lock?’

It was only natural that he would hesitate to ask.

[If locking hasn’t been decided, the user can use the functions then decide.]

‘Can I see what the functions are?’

[Understood.]

When Nano’s voice ended, the unlocked functions were displayed.

Chun Yeowun, who looked at the functions, couldn’t hide his shock.

Among the functions, when Chun Yeowun asked about various things in the past, Nano said that it couldn’t respond because they were locked.

‘Is... is this really?’

There were too many.

Almost 60 functions were unlocked, and most of them were really questionable.

[In addition to the energy generated in the body, functions that weren't available have been activated.]

Chun Yeowun, who was examining the functions, gave orders without any hesitation.

'I'm not going to lock them.'

[Understood. I will unlock them.]

Woong!

The white particles on some of the displayed functions, which were written inside triangles, turned into circles.

After Nano's restoration and the locks had been released, Chun Yeowun ordered the most urgent matter.

‘Nano. The lightning qi remaining in my body will be absorbed, so repair the damaged meridians.’

He had to deal with his injuries.

[Understood. I will self-repair the damaged parts of the body.]

Sting! Sting!

When Nano’s voice ended, the nanomachines throughout his body, which had been stationary, were activated, and he once again felt like numerous ants were crawling in his body.

Because of that, he was able to tell that Nano had been completely revived.

On the other hand, in the underground of the North Sea Ice Palace, which was pierced by Sky Flash.

The power of the Sky Flash was so strong that underground holes had been drilled.

For a long time down, the light that entered through the Sky Flash holes could be seen.

The North Sea Ice Palace’s warriors, who went down in a hurry to avoid losing the core of the Dragon Turtle, were able to encounter the Yulin’s men without pursuing for long.

Rumble!

A vibration that couldn't be felt above ground reverberated throughout the underground cave.

The Ice Palace warriors, who filled the underground cave with lit torches, and the Yulin warriors, conversed.

Dan Jucheon, the deputy king, spoke in disbelief.

“Even after being attacked, it's still alive... huh...”

“We came here to see it too, but the body of the dragon couldn't be found, and all we saw was a hole.”

Moyong Kang pointed to a huge hole on the right side of the cave.

It was on the eastern side, and unlike the hole in the mountain, this one was newly created.

Surprisingly, the dragon, which everyone thought was dead, was alive.

It was the fundamental reason that the two sides who coveted the core didn't fight.

Rumble!

Watching the underground tremble, it seemed like the beast was still digging a tunnel.

Crack!

Cracks broke out in the ceiling, and debris fell.

It was quite unstable because it was dug by the dragon while trying to escape; rather than a properly created tunnel, this tunnel had no support.

Jegal Sohi looked up at the ceiling and spoke.

“Leader Moyong. It’s better for us to retreat. If we go deeper into the cave, the ceiling might collapse onto us and we would get buried in ice.”

As she said, chasing the dragon was dangerous.

For now, the ceiling was fine, but if they went further deeper inside, there was no guarantee that they could save everyone’s life.

“Khm.”

A situation where both sides had to worry.

At that time, Seol Young-gwi, an elder of the North Sea Ice palace, spoke in a serious voice.

“King! Come to think of it, if the dragon continues to drill holes to the east, it would lead to the lake.”

“No!”

Everyone couldn't hide their shock at those words.

If the dragon continued to break through the ice and reach Lake Baikal, where the pier was located.

Which wasn't that far away.

Then the water in the lake will enter the island through the hole it dug.

Not just certain people would get buried, everyone would die.

‘What should we do now!’

Moyong Kang was troubled.

The situation was too restrictive to pursue the dragon.

At that time, the elder Oh Mubang pointed to the underground path.

“Deputy King! Are we letting go of this opportunity? Look here!”

It was hard to see as the crowd was large, but when they looked at the ground, sticky liquid was all over the place with sparks flashing around it.

Crackle!

The blood of the dragon.

It seems like he suffered a lot of damage.

“The dragon is wounded now and running away. If we don’t follow it and kill it now, we will face dire consequences in the future. We cannot retreat!”

“Elder. As you said, it is injured, but if we chase him too hard, he could end up rushing outside!”

Seol Young-gwi objected to Mubang's words.

At that, Oh Mubang spoke in a frustrated tone.

"How do you plan on taking out a spirit beast without taking any risks? If we miss it now and the dragon reappears later, how do you plan on stopping it?"

"That..."

Answering it was difficult.

Obviously, a spirit beast, an evil dragon would come back to take revenge on the Ice Palace, which kept it imprisoned.

If all it wanted was freedom, it would have run away by now.

Grrrrr-!

The ground shook.

The longer they delayed, the harder it was to do anything.

Whoops!

Oh Mubang bit his lip before talking to Dan Jucheon.

“We don’t have time to hesitate. King! We need to go ahead and decide!”

In that situation, Jegal Sohi sent a telepathic message to Moyong Kang.

[Leader Moyong. We are being held back. Whatever the decision of the Ice Palace, we need to retreat now. Chasing it isn’t the problem.]

Moyong Kang also nodded his head in agreement.

There were multiple reasons why they wanted the core, but strictly speaking, the Yulin wanted to take it to prevent the Demonic Cult from getting it.

If the dragon ran away to the lake, there was no need for them to pursue it.

Moyong Kang, who decided to retreat, was about to tell Dan Jucheon that they would resign.

But from afar, someone showed up.

“King!”

Dan Jucheon’s eyes looked in that direction.

It was Oh Young, the lieutenant.

He had commanded them to bring in elder Seol Yi-jeong and the five hundred warriors on the other side of the cave, but only one of them had come, and they weren’t that far from the other side.

“Huh, huh... huh... we have a problem. Deputy king!”

The man was gasping for air as he came over.

Feeling something ominous, Dan Jucheon asked right away.

“What happened?”

“Huh... huh... king! All the warriors in the cave have been annihilated!”

‘!?’

Dan Jucheon was astounded at what he heard.

“What? How is that possible? Did the Dragon Turtle attack them?”

“Hah... hah... no! I went there to give your orders along with the commander. They seem to have been attacked by an unknown group.”

“An unknown group?”

Dan Jucheon already had enough things to deal with because of the dragon.

But he couldn't help but be shocked at the new information he had been given.

Looking at the side of Ice Palace warriors who seemed to have turned serious, Moyong Kang also had a hard time figuring out what to do.

‘What are they talking about? Were there other people who attacked the Ice Palace?’

It meant that there was someone other than Ice Palace warriors, Yulin, and the Demonic Cult.

At that time, Sohi looked around and spoke.

“... no vibration.”

“Huh? Miss Jegal, what do you mean?”

“Look. The whole cave was shaking before, but now, I don’t feel it.”

“Ah!”

As she said, the vibration had stopped.

The cave, which had been trembling until then, went silent.

‘Did the dragon make a hole in the lake? No, then...’

The water from the lake would have reached them if the dragon had escaped.

Moyong Kang, thinking that something had changed, tried to inform the Ice Palace side, who turned serious.

It was then.

‘Huh?’

Something felt weird in the tunnel where the dragon had escaped to the east side of the island.

It was when Moyong Kang looked intently at that side of the hole.

Swoosh!

“Kuak!”

“Ack!”

The place where the Yulin’s men had gathered.

In an instant, a group of ten people got cut in half. It was like an ambush.

“We are being attacked!”

“Defend!”

Visor! Visor!

As a response to the sudden attack, the Yulin warriors and the warriors of the Ice Palace took out their weapons at once.

“Sword Qi?”

It was said that those who are that skillful with sword qi are people who reached the Supreme Master level.

Flustered, Moyong Kang looked in the direction where the ballistic sword qi came from.

‘Ah!’

To the east, where the dragon went, unidentified men wearing iron masks and more than 30 people with swords stood at the cave entrance.

All of them had strong energy.

“Blade God Six Martial clan!”

In Moyong Kang’s mind, the story told by Dan Juseong came to his mind.

The group that deceived the king of the Ice Palace and aimed for the dragon spirit.

“Blade God Six Martial clan!”

It was definite that they were strong.

At that, one middle-aged man who didn't wear an iron mask spoke.

“I didn't think that there would be visitors for the Palace.”

The middle-aged man didn't deny his identity at all. At that, Moyong Kang yelled in anger.

“I am leader Moyong Kang, of the Forces of Justice of Yulin! Do you think that you would be able to escape after committing such an act?”

They were the ones who awakened the dragon which had been asleep in the North.

It was obvious that they were aiming for the entire fight to end.

The middle-aged man, who seemed shocked at the words of 'Forces of Justice of Yulin', spoke with a sly smile.

"Forces of Justice? Hmm, I was planning on walking away after I was done with my work, I guess my plan won't go as planned."

The middle-aged man lifted up the bell he was holding in his left hand.

And he waved it lightly and spoke to the ones wearing iron masks.

"It's time to work."

At the sound of the bell, a huge clear blue rose from their weapons.

Woong! Woong!

One can estimate the level of a person by the energy which radiates from the body.

Tension stood on the faces of everyone, including Moyong Kang and Dan Jucheon.

“... they are all masters at the superior level.”

Shockingly, everyone in the iron masks were skilled.

Some of their levels couldn't even be estimated.

The middle-aged man laughed as he looked at the nervous faces of the Yulin and the Ice Palace.

“I would have spared your lives if you hadn't come down here trying to covet that core. Huh?”

Swoosh!

At that time, the middle-aged man looked at the sound which came from a distant place.

A sound which seemed like something was getting close, and two eyes which shone in the dark.

‘Wh-what?’

In the blink of an eye, a creature with luminous eyes appeared.

A being that flew through air landed on the ground in the middle of the two sides, which were facing each other.

Thud!

From the head, it was as if black armor had been attached to its body tightly, making sure no gaps were there.

Everyone stared at the mysterious being, dressed in black armor with a puzzled look.

Woong!

‘Is that flying?’

‘a person...?’

If it wasn’t for the glow in the eyes, everyone would have thought it was human.

The middle-aged man frowned as he asked about the new existence.

“What the hell is your identity...”

Swosh!

The middle-aged man's eyes widened.

His arm, which had been pointing its finger, suddenly fell to the floor.

"My... arm? Ackkkkkkkk!"

A voice came from the inside of the black armor of the unidentified person.

There were no gaps in the armor, except for the eyes, yet the voice came out without being muffled.

"Can you at least release the one on my head?"

Ssssss!

With an unknown word, the helmet of the black armor suddenly disappeared, revealing its identity.

A young man with sharp eyes, a pure white face, and fluttering long black hair.

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.SiteOnly

Seeing that, Jegal Sohi mumbled in a trembling voice.

“Lord, Lord Chun?”

The monster inside the black iron armor was the Lord of the Demonic Cult, Chun Yeowun.

Chapter 423 - Nano Machine Advent (1)

Chapter 423: Nano Machine Advent (1)

The faces of the Demonic Cult's warriors who were waiting for Chun Yeowun to respond were stiff and calm.

The most important thing for them was the safety of their Lord.

However, while they stood guard, they saw that the warriors of Yulin and the palace warriors of the North Sea Ice Palace were heading down to the underground.

The fear that their Lord, who defeated the dragon, would end up losing the core of the Dragon Turtle pissed them off.

'Damn bastards. It is true that there is no sage in front of the treasure.'

It was just like that.

The Dragon Turtle, which brought disaster when alive, turned into a treasure that everyone coveted once it died.

To the extent that the whisperings of eternal life and the regeneration of the body turned every faithful man into a greedy bastard.

‘Lord. Please get up.’

Everyone wanted Chun Yeowun to recover quickly.

They wanted him to show his anger to those who revealed their true colors.

At this time, impatience was spreading.

Crackle!

“Oh?”

The sparks which were on Chun Yeowun’s body suddenly began to shine a lot brighter.

The cultists standing around the Lord immediately moved back a couple of steps as they didn’t want sparks to fall on them.

“The lightning is becoming stronger!”

The faces of the Six Swords who were watching it darkened.

However, Chun Yeowun, who was supposed to control the qi, seemed to be having trouble.

But, it was a concern for only a moment.

Wheeeekkkk!

The lightning and sparks extending out in the shape of a circle were absorbed into Chun Yeowun's body.

A strong energy emanated from Chun Yeowun's body, which hadn't been giving out any energy except for the lightning qi.

"Ah! Finally!"

"Lord!"

As expected, Chun Yeowun succeeded in subduing the lightning qi.

As the new energy got absorbed, which was in the middle of his dantian, a true coexistence of energies existed in his body.

But,

‘It’s out of balance.’

Compared to the demonic energy and the Qilin’s flame, the lightning qi seemed insufficient.

He absorbed the qi emitted by the dragon, so it temporarily increased, but in order to balance out the lightning with the other energies, a constant formation and balance of lightning qi was needed.

And that source was,

‘I need to have that core.’

The novelties of the other three attributes naturally replenished when Chun Yeowun consumed them.

Unlike the lightning qi, the other energies would restore when used.

In the same way, it seemed like he could only balance out the true spirit of the four energies in his body with the core of the dragon, which is known to have infinite energy.

When he opened his eyes, the cultists who had been waiting for Chun Yeowun shouted.

“Wahhhh!!!!”

“Lord has woken up!”

Hu Bong hurriedly ran with the robe in his hands, trying to cover Chun Yeowun.

Seeing that, Chun Yeowun realized that his clothes got burnt out.

Chun Yeowun, who covered his naked body with the long robe, asked.

“What happened? Hu Bong.”

Chun Yeowun sensed that many of the people who stayed on the ground disappeared.

Except for more than three hundred white-haired people of the North Sea Ice Palace, who watched from a distance and the cultists, no one could be seen.

“Lord! Just a while ago, the men of Yulin and the North Sea Ice Palace went down to get the core of the dragon.”

Chun Yeowun shook his head at the words of Hu Bong.

He expected people to covet it, but he didn't like how they actually went.

"And them?"

Not all the warriors of Ice Palace had gone down.

Looking at the ones in the distance, it seemed like those warriors were keeping an eye on the Demonic Cult rather than trying to fight.

It was Marakim who gave the answer.

"Lord. They are warriors and officials directly under the control of the Ice Palace's king."

"Officials?"

"I can answer that."

At that time, Baekhyun, who was outside the defense circle, approached Chun Yeowun.

It seemed like he had been waiting for a while to explain it.

“Lord, those people...”

The remaining royal officials of the Ice Palace were the followers of the deceased former king.

They didn’t support Dan Jucheon, the deputy king, who was currently in power.

The corners of Chun Yeowun’s lips went up.

“Nice.”

“Huh?”

“Those who have to be dealt with and those who are on our side are separated.”

Baekhyun’s face turned pale at the words of Chun Yeowun.

It sounded casual, but he couldn’t overlook it.

He didn’t know about the clans of Jianghu, but Chun Yeowun, the Lord of the Demonic Cult, was someone who kept his word.

“We need to hurry.”

“I’ll bring you some clothes.”

“No. You don’t need to.”

When they tried to summon the cultists to replace Chun Yeowun’s clothes, he refused.

After all, there was something he had to test.

It was one of the three features he had been most curious about.

‘Nano. Gatelinium Nano suit!’

[Equipping Gatelinium Nano suit.]

Ssssss!

“Uh?”

Numerous black particles came out of Chun Yeowun’s body and covered it.

The black particles that came out were agglomerated and covered the entire body of Chun Yeowun, creating an ultra-thin, black armor.

Wheeing!

Even his entire face had been covered, leaving only two holes for the eyes.

[Nano suit has been equipped.]

Woong!

Nano's augmented reality opened up in Chun Yeowun's vision.

All the preparations were completed as white particles drew lines and marked up information.

At the tremendous change that happened, all the cultists were shocked.

"A-armor has been made!"

“Lord, what is this?”

Gatelinium Nano suit formed without gaps, making him look like a non-human.

In the same way, his appearance looked more like a real demon.

The word of ‘Demon God’ kept flowing out from everyone’s mouth.

‘It’s a lot more conspicuous than I thought.’

He thought that there would be subtle changes, but seeing the reactions of everyone around, it seemed a lot more extravagant.

Chun Yeowun briefly explained while looking at the Six Swords, Marakim, and elder Mong Mu.

“It’s Nano armor.”

Woah!

With those words, Chun Yeowun’s body floated into the air.

While light magnetic-field particles spewed out from the two feet of the Nano suit.

[Using the magnetic-field force of both hands, it is possible to change the direction and balance.]

The suit's hands were also emitting some magnetic-field particles.

As he floated into the air, everyone was nothing short of amazed.

Chun Yeowun flew away after saying two words to them.

"Follow me."

Phut! Swoosh!

Chun Yeowun's body wearing the Nano suit flew through the air in an instant and then disappeared to the underground, which got pierced by the Sky Flash.

The cultists, who were amazed at what their Lord was doing, shouted.

“Woahhhhhh!!!!”

Hu Bong, who looked at Chun Yeowun fly away, spoke one word.

“Nano armor!”

It made his heart skip a beat.

Jegal Sohi wasn't the only one who was flustered when the face behind the Nano suit was revealed.

Moyong Kang was equally shocked at Chun Yeowun's appearance.

What the hell was the armor on his body? And it was astonishing for him to see Chun Yeowun recover from qi deviation in such a short time.

‘This...’

Dan Jucheon, the deputy king of the palace, was also perplexed.

Before the Lord of Demonic Cult recovered, he wanted to absorb the core and explode his internal strength, so he didn't expect the man to appear so quickly.

‘How did he recover so quickly after being attacked by the dragon?’

It wasn't that the internal energy had been exhausted, but his body had taken too much lightning qi, and to recover from that, despite being a Divine Master level, it would take a long time.

They all thought that it would take half a day or so, but this was too fast.

“Lord, Lord Chun, I am glad to see you are safe.”

Moyong Kang, who was confused and not sure what to do, spoke cautiously.

If Chun Yeowun had appeared, then there is nothing good that would come from fighting him.

At that, Chun Yeowun turned towards him and opened his mouth.

“Quite refreshing, how people who covet other people's belongings were worried for me.”

“Kuk!”

Moyong Kang became quiet at those words.

It was because he didn't know how Chun Yeowun would react if he said anything else.

However, the North Sea Ice Palace didn't stand still.

"What do you mean by other people's belongings? Although Lord Chun did the most work, strictly speaking everyone joined together to fight the dragon, it doesn't belong to just one person."

Among the elders of Ice Palace, the warlike one, Oh Mubang, spoke out.

Oh Mubang too had rushed down to where the dragon was to covet the core and gain strength for himself and himself alone.

Seol Young-gwi, too, came out to help out.

"What the elder said is right. And Lord Chun. While you were recovering above, we only came here to confirm the death of the dragon. Please clear this misunderstanding that you have."

Seol Young-gwi made up excuses.

So far, they haven't been able to directly occupy the core of the Dragon Turtle.

He thought that no matter how great of a Lord he was, he couldn't do anything if they hadn't occupied it yet.

[Good Job. Elder.]

Dan Jucheon, the deputy king, praised Soel Young-gwi for his quick words.

He, too, didn't want to confront the monster who just restored his strength.

'A pity, but since elder Seol had to make up a justification for this, I think we should only deal with the ones from the Blade God Six Martial clan, and discuss the core at a later time.'

Nothing good ever came out from the presence of those men.

However, the expressions on Yulin's side weren't good.

Moyong Kang looked at them and shook his head with a disapproving look.

'What?'

When he was puzzled.

Clang!

Chun Yeowun, who was at the entrance of the opening, suddenly appeared in front of Oh Mubang.

‘Wh-what amazing speed?’

Tat!

Instinctively, Oh Mubang tried to spread the distance,

Slash!

“Kuak!”

Thud, roll!

With a short scream, the head of Oh Mubang, which had been decapitated, rolled on the ground.

Seol Young-gwi, the elder next to him, was startled at what happened so quickly.

“Lord Chun! What the hell...”

Slash!

Seol Young-gwi’s right arm flew through the air before he could even finish speaking.

Seol Young-gwi’s expression distorted with pain that came from the slash, and a terrifying scream erupted.

“KUAACCCCKKKKKK!”

All the warriors of the Ice Palace were shocked as they saw the bloody arm.

“No way!”

One elder had his head cut off and the other his right arm cut off. They were both Superior Masters.

Even outside the Ice Palace, the Superior Masters were treated with respect, but they seemed like kids in front of Chun Yeowun.

Chun Yeowun looked at Seol Young-gwi, who was grunting in pain and spoke in his usual cold voice.

“You keep making excuses that don’t even make sense.”

“Kuuuuuu.”

‘Are our positions being changed here? This, this isn’t good.’

Only then did Dan Jucheon, the deputy king of the Ice Palace, understand why the appearance of Moyong Kang and Yulin changed upon the arrival of Chun Yeowun.

They knew how the Lord of the Demonic Cult would act.

‘Too... strong.’

He could clearly feel it with just one movement.

Although Dan Jucheon is one of the strongest in the North, this man in front of him was on a completely different level.

‘How can this be?’

When he was in a moment of shock,

The middle-aged man who had his arm cut off waved a bell and yelled.

“Ack! Ki-kill that bastard!”

Tring!

With the sound of a bell, the people in iron masks, who had been waiting in stance with their weapons, rushed for Chun Yeowun.

Swoosh!

“Hm.”

Chun Yeowun looked at them.

They were above the Superior Master level, but the martial arts they were using weren't that of the Blade God Six Martial clan.

Chun Yeowun's eyes narrowed as he looked at them.

'The former lord was also said to be wearing an iron mask.'

There was a possibility that the former lord of the cult was among them.

The easiest way to check would be to battle all of them at once.

Chun Yeowun, in his armor, went for the people in the iron masks who were rushing at him.

Shhh!

Clang! Clang! Clang!

When Chun Yeowun and the iron masks collided, the entire cave was filled with sounds of clashing.

Just the clashing sounds from the swords were enough to shake the entire cave.

At that time, Jegal Sohi spoke to Moyong Kang.

“Leader Moyong! Now is our chance! We need to retreat!”

They weren’t sure what would happen if Chun Yeowun turns out to be in a bad mood after the fight.

Moyong Kang also nodded as he agreed and spoke to Dan Jucheon.

[Deputy King, as you can see, we need to retreat right now. I know that nothing good will come out of trying to touch Lord Chun’s belongings.]

Dan Jucheon’s face hardened.

It was a shame, but it was an undeniable fact.

Dan Jucheon quietly ordered his men.

“Retreat quickly!”

The warriors all nodded their heads and moved to retreat.

The passage created by the dragon was so wide that even if they all moved at once, it wasn’t cramped.

They were in a hurry to get back onto the surface, but Dan Jucheon suddenly stopped and raised his hand.

As a result, the Ice Palace and the Yulin warriors stopped.

Someone was walking into the dark cave.

Moyong Kang, who frowned at that, spoke in a bewildered voice.

“The Dark King!”

The one walking in was the Great Guardian, Marakim.

Marakim drew his sword from the waist.

Visor!

With the sound of the sword being pulled out of the sheath, he pointed it at the Yulin and the North Sea Ice Palace forces.

“In the name of our Lord. Overpower everyone who rebels and kill them!”

Woong! Woong! Woong!

As soon as his words fell, many white and black flags fluttered in the dark passage behind Marakim.

Hundreds of swords illuminated in the darkness.

Everyone held their breath at the sight of the people emitting immense energy with vicious blood lust.

Clench!

Even Moyong Kang and Dan Jucheon, who held onto their swords, were scared for their lives.

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

‘... this is the worst.’

Would this situation go well with the phase of ‘regression and dilemma’?

The shadow of despair engulfed the warriors of North Sea Ice Palace and the Yulin forces.

Chapter 424 - Nano Machine Advent (2)

Chapter 424: Nano Machine Advent (2)

Are people aware that when a mouse gets cornered by a cat, the mouse bites the cat?

It was the same with Dan Jucheon, the deputy king of the palace, who was flustered.

In reality, the only person he was afraid of was the Lord of the Demonic Cult, Chun Yeowun.

Even though the Demonic Cult was one of the top three forces in the Jianghu region, the North Sea Ice Palace was the hegemon of the North, and he was one of the strongest men in the North.

‘They have looked down on me!’

Dan Jucheon’s gaze was fixed on one person.

Among every warrior, there was only one person who could be his opponent. It was the Dark King, Marakim.

[Leader Moyong. I will deal with the Dark King. Can you deal with one of those three over there?]

At the telepathic message, Moyong Kang looked at one of the three Dan Jucheon was referring to.

A muscular man with a huge beard, it was Ko Wanghur, one of the Six Swords.

‘To reach the level of Superior Master at such a young age.’

It wasn’t just that.

It was the same with the hooded young man next to Ko Wanghur.

Just looking at them, it was clear that both of them were in their mid-twenties, but they were both Superior Masters.

‘Those two are fine, but that person is the problem.’

The person Moyong Kang felt uneasy about was the strong middle-aged man in blue armor.

The one he heard of.

The swordsman with a high reputation, the man who showed his skills in the battle between the Demonic Cult and the Forces of Evil.

‘Those two are at the beginning of their bloom, but that man, Mong Mu will be really difficult to deal with.’

If he had to deal with someone, he’d rather deal with someone stronger.

The two Superior Masters could be handled by the elders of the North Sea Ice Palace.

However, if they fought, the Demonic Cult would consider them as their enemy.

Carefully looking at Jegal Sohi, he noticed how she too nodded at the plan.

To that, Moyong Kang responded to Dan Jucheon’s request.

[Understood. Let’s try and solve this problem by working together.]

[Understood!]

There was only one answer.

They all had to end their battles before the Lord of the Demonic Cult dealt with the Blade God Six Martial clan members.

Visor!

“Do not be afraid! I’ll take the lead!”

Shhh!

As Dan Jucheon drew his sword, an intense chill spread all around.

He was relatively exhausted as he had to deal with the Dragon Turtle. However, he was a Supreme Master who could use cold qi.

When being compared to the five strongest warriors, he wouldn’t be pushed too far.

Phat!

Marakim and Dan Jucheon, the best on both sides, took the lead.

As the two men took the lead, the warriors of both sides advanced in unison.

“Waaaaa!!!”

The cave the dragon had built turned into a battlefield. A fierce fight began to unfold.

‘This can’t be compared to the crown prince.’

Dan Jucheon’s sword had such an intense chill that ice formed whenever his sword passed through the air.

Just as Marakim was shocked, Dan Jucheon couldn’t hide his shock.

Choo!

First, in order to subdue the opponent right away, Dan Jucheon used the Ice White God Sword. However, Marakim dodged the attack despite being very close to getting hit.

And suddenly moved behind him to attack.

‘He is called the Wind God. What amazing speed!’

Before the sword could even touch his back, an ice shield formed around him.

He would temporarily achieve a defense better than a shield if he managed to produce more than six layers of shield with the Ice White God Sword.

Chachachacha!

The Twenty Four Demon Swords unfolded by Marakim kept breaking down the ice.

In the meantime, Dan Jucheon unfolded a light foot technique as he twisted his body and aimed for the heart by shifting his sword to his left hand.

Wheeik!

Marakim did a backwards roll to avoid getting hit.

Dan Jucheon frowned.

‘He avoided this? He’s an annoying one.’

He always thought he hadn’t met a proper opponent ever since he reached the Supreme Master level.

However, when he finally met a talented person of the same level as him, it felt like he was nowhere close to being strong.

‘We need to subdue them quickly.’

As if it was a life-and-death battle, they were all desperate, all because of Chun Yeowun.

In the end, Dan Jucheon decided to avoid useless battles.

‘Eighth level of New Body!’

Anyone who reached the eighth level was known to be a supreme being in the North.

Jjjjjak!

White steam formed around Dan Jucheon’s body, then frost began to form all over his body.

It seemed like anything he touched would turn into ice.

“Dark King! Let’s end this!”

Dan Jucheon's sword created a thick white frost and tried to corner Marakim, who moved around freely.

'Hmm!'

Marakim judged that it would be hard to keep dodging the attacks when the opponent was going all out, so he raised his internal energy tenfold and unfolded the Twenty Four Demon Sword again.

Chachahcahgang!

The two people's swords collided in the air, causing sparks.

Like their fierce confrontation, Moyong Kang, too, was engaged in a battle with Mong Mu.

Although they were experienced leaders in the clan and cult, it was their first time fighting each other.

Mong Mu, who had dealt with the masters of the Forces of Evil head-on, had the upper hand in this confrontation.

"Hahah! Very good!"

Chachachahcang!

He was so excited that he laughed as he fought.

‘I’m excited!’

Unlike him, who was full of courage, Moyong Kang was impatient.

It was the same with Dan Jucheon.

If they couldn’t hurry up and end their battles, they knew how the situation would be overturned, and that scared them.

‘We have the numbers!’

In terms of warriors, since the Yulin and Ice Sea combined their forces, their warriors exceeded six hundred.

‘The problem is execution.’

The Demonic cult, including the Six Swords and the other warriors, were of the Super Master level and above and in good condition.

The only way to win would be to take down their leaders.

As predicted, the North Sea Ice Palace elders worked together to subdue Ko Wanghur and Hu Bong.

‘If we can’t control them, we will be at a disadvantage.’

On the battlefield, one should always subdue the higher-level ones.

As the higher-level ones are the first to attack the enemy and move back, they must be taken down.

‘Ugh, if my arm was still intact, I wouldn’t have struggled this much against a kid.’

Elder Seol Young-gwi was facing Ko Wanghur.

He lost one arm, and because of that, he lost a great deal of balance.

Originally, he could have overpowered the kid, but the balance in his movements was broken, leading to an equal level confrontation.

‘If this person wasn’t hurt, I would’ve been pushed back.’

Ko Wanghur could feel that.

Seol Young-gwi's martial arts skills were very detailed despite having to use only one arm.

If his other arm wasn't cut, Ko Wanghur would have been in danger.

Jeez!

'I blocked it with my energy, but the cold qi penetrated my body.'

It was his first time competing with a master who used cold qi, which made it even more difficult for him to fight.

He had to subdue his opponent while maintaining a minimum distance with the opponent.

'We need to show them that we can subdue them with our own strength even if the Lord doesn't intervene.'

Just as the Ice Palace and Yulin thought about escaping, the warriors of the Demonic Cult were fighting with a sense of duty to show their Lord how strong they have become.

No one was fighting without reason.

From the beginning, the battlefield inside the cave became more and more intense,

Meanwhile,

‘W-what kind of monster is he?’

The middle-aged man who got his arm cut off wasn’t able to hide his embarrassment.

He couldn’t tell if he was really seeing a monster or imagining it.

Kwak!

When Chun Yeowun’s hand in the Nano Suit touched their head, the warrior with the iron mask died.

Five of the iron mask warriors had already died from getting their heads snapped.

He had never met such an opponent.

The same thing kept happening over and over again, and Chun Yeowun didn’t seem like he was exerting any power.

Chachang!

“Not you.”

Kwa! Kwaaak!

“Kuaakkkk!”

After checking the sword skills of each man in the mask, Chun Yeowun would kill them without hesitation.

It was as if he was doing a verification process.

Of course, not everyone in the iron mask were weak.

Bang!

The internal energy which stretched out from the fist of a master in an iron mask struck the back of Chun Yeowun, who was dealing with three people at the same time.

Woah!

Along with the sound of something getting blasted, the fist didn't even touch his back before the energy scattered.

"No, how can energy scatter? What the hell is that armor?"

The middle-aged man was shocked as he saw the Nano Suit block the energy.

Even if the attack got dispersed, the fact that Chun Yeowun didn't even budge made it even more shocking.

[Dispersed the impact of the concentrated energy attack.]

'Nice.'

Chun Yeowun responded to Nano.

The Gatelinium metal could absorb and withstand a tremendous amount of energy, even the lightning qi of the Dragon Turtle.

If the suit could handle that much, a simple attack wouldn't even scratch him.

"Kuk!"

Perhaps resentful that his attack was blocked, the master in the iron mask tried to use the same attack again.

There was no way Chun Yeowun would leave it alone.

When Chun Yeowun stretched out his hand towards the iron masked master, a black flame sword appeared in the air and clashed with him.

Chaa! Tatatk!

As a master who seemed to be above Master level, the one in the iron mask bounced backwards.

Phat!

As he flew quite a distance back, the master in the iron mask ended up getting between the Yulin and the Demonic Cult's battles.

"Ugh?"

Moyong Kang was shocked when he saw that someone had suddenly interrupted their fight and backed away.

The ones in the iron mask were all Superior Masters, and there was no way Moyong Kang could charge them recklessly.

Chow! Crack!

The iron mask split in half and fell to the floor.

He flew backwards because of the impact, but he was unable to avoid the attack from the black flame sword.

But when his face was revealed, Moyong Kang was shocked.

“Th, this can’t be...”

Blood was dripping from his messy white hair and his face full of wrinkles, but when he saw the six seals on his forehead, Moyong Kang knew who he was.

“Saint Gu-jung!”

The old man’s identity hidden behind the iron mask was Saint Gu-jung, the former head of the Shaolin temple.

He was a famous saint who disappeared eighteen years ago.

Moyong Kang, who had been in Yulin for a long time, recognized the man's face because he had a close relationship with Saint Gu-jung.

"Saint! How could you side with the Blade God Six Martial... huh?"

Swoosh!

He approached the man and tried to talk with him, but Moyong Kang suddenly increased the distance as the man unfolded the Shaolin Dragon Tide with his hands.

'Why is he attacking me?'

Saint Gu-jung was a good-natured person.

He was a man who devoted himself to justice and stayed humble despite having outstanding martial arts skills equivalent to the five strongest warriors, and he learned half of the seventy-two rites of Shaolin.

It was shocking to see such a man attack him.

"Saint! What is this! Do you not remember me? Moyong..."

“ ... ”

He kept announcing himself, thinking that the man would recognize him, but the saint kept looking at Moyong Kang with blank eyes as if he knew nothing.

‘Ah!’

There was no light in his eyes.

It was strange as if the man had no emotions or thoughts running through his mind.

Moyong Kang didn’t like what he was seeing, as he saw the saint gather energy into his fists once again, and then Saint Gu-jung flew to the place where the Lord of the Demonic Cult was.

“Uh? Saint!”

It seemed like the man only had thoughts about Chun Yeowun.

‘What the hell happened to Saint Gu-jung to act like this and follow the Blade God Six Martial clan?’

However, apart from Moyong Kang, who was shocked, there were many people equally shocked.

“No way! That is the Fourteenth Plum Blossom Sword!”

“No! That one! That master in the iron mask is using the fortune sword!”

“He-he is using the Wudang clan’s sword?”

Shockingly, among the masters in the iron masks, some belonged to the 9 great clans.

Moreover, their movement was so refined that it was definite that they all were the top seat in their factions.

“The Sword of Four Kings!”

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

Even in the Forces of Evil, there weren't many who used the Sword of Four Kings.

The problem was that very few people practiced such martial arts, and only the direct descendants of the clan were taught it.

There was no way any of the great clans would teach or let outsiders steal their martial arts.

“Wh-what the hell does this mean?”

Chapter 425 - Nano Machine Advent (3)

Chapter 425: Nano Machine Advent (3)

The martial arts users in the iron masks used the martial arts of prestigious academies and clans, yet their identities were unknown.

Their presence shocked the warriors of Yulin.

There was only one thing they all guessed.

‘Is it possible that they all lost their way?’

Moyong Yeon, who saw the face of Saint Gu-jung from the cracked iron mask, speculated the same thing as the others.

But even if they guessed, there was no way for them to prove it or get answers.

Dealing with the warriors of the Demonic cult was daunting, and now they had to break through at all costs.

Kwak!

However, they soon fell into serious trouble.

Half of the iron masked warriors had already been killed by Chun Yeowun.

Even if the great clan's techniques were being used, the result didn't change.

No one in the iron masks could use more than three strikes.

'That man is not human. We need to find the warriors and move.'

If things kept going like this, it would be the worst outcome for everyone.

There was a conspiracy plotted by the Blade God Six Martial clan, and instead of digging into the depths of the plot, they would get annihilated since Yulin took out their weapons towards the Demonic Cult they had formed an alliance with.

'This isn't it. This has to be stopped right away.'

Moyong Yeon stopped fighting and hurriedly headed towards Moyong Kang.

On the other hand, the middle-aged man of the Blade God Six Martial clan, Byeok Liu, was looking into the cave in shock.

He stuck his tongue out as he thought.

‘How is he able to fight against the Spirit Squad...’

Spirit Squad.

A combat unit that had been built after a painstakingly long time in the Blade God Six Martial clan.

They were created for the sole purpose of battle, and the squad was completed after ten years of gathering famous masters of Jianghu.

‘Th-the Demon God, it’s impossible.’

They never dreamed that the Lord of the Demonic Cult would come to the North.

If he hadn’t come, the Blade God Six Martial clan would have been able to annihilate the North Sea Ice Palace warriors with just 20 members of the Spirit Squad.

He should have listened to the Blade Lord, who only asked them to get the core and withdraw.

It was only a matter of time before they all get annihilated by Chun Yeowun.

He didn't know if any of them were from the Demonic Cult, but till now, Chun Yeowun killed every one of the iron-masked masters without hesitation.

'Please, I hope it's done.'

Tatatatak!

After running for a while, Byeok Liu reached the end of the cave.

An amazing sight was at the end.

There was the shell of a giant turtle, the size of a small mountain, and more heinous and bigger than the three heads of the dragon was one head, which was lying on the floor.

The corpse of the dragon which was trying to escape.

Spark!

A strong lightning shock surged upwards from the top of the dragon's shell, which looked like a mountain.

Only the middle part of the shell had been opened, and something unusual seemed to be happening outside. Everything seemed to be filled with sparks.

Near the dragon, the Slaughter Blade Master was moving, dismantling the parts of the dragon.

“Byeok Liu!”

Then a middle-aged man with a goatee approached Byeok Liu, who was running.

He was Woo Jin-chang, one of the Six Martial Masters.

He asked Byeok Liu, who lost one arm.

“How come you are here alone? Don’t tell me, you got into trouble with Yulin and the North Sea Ice Palace?”

“As if that could happen!”

After responding sharply, Byeok Liu glared at another middle-aged man in white fur.

He was Won Sang-ho, the 6th elder of the Ice Palace.

However, his true identity was Won Sang-ho, one of the masters of the Blade God Six Martial clan, who was sent to the North as a spy many years ago.

“What were you doing all this while! Master!”

Byeok Liu shouted at Won Sang-ho, who was puzzled.

“That damn Chun Yeowun, he is supposed to be recovering from the hit he took from the dragon, so how did he appear down here?”

“Wh-what? No way! I saw it with my own two eyes and saw that the Lord of the Demonic cult was in trouble. He was hit by the lightning of the three dragon heads at the same time, how can he be fine...”

Only after confirming that, Won Sang-ho informed the other people.

Believing that, they all went into the process of dismantling the dragon and fighting the Yulin.

“In the hands of that demon, more than half of them are dead, can you come up with an excuse for what happened? Just look at that scene... Kuka!”

As his arm went numb, Byeok Liu touched the cloth pressing on his wound.

Woo Jin-chang, who recognized the seriousness of the news that half of the Spirit squad was dead, spoke.

“It looks like it will be impossible for the squad to take down the demon.”

Initially, the purpose of the spirit squad was predetermined.

It was to eliminate the remaining power of the Yulin and Ice Palace.

“Slaughter Blade Master?”

Byeok Liu asked while looking at the sparks flashing from the dragon’s shell.

To that, Woo Jin-chang shook his head and answered.

“Not yet.”

“Haa... this can’t be.”

Byeok Liu sighed.

The Slaughter Blade Master was a greedy person, enough to covet the core of the Spirit Beast for himself.

He was rejecting the request to retreat or get reinforcements for the sake of obtaining the core.

If it wasn't for the warriors he brought along, he would never be able to break the body of the dragon.

If only the Blade Lord found out that one of the Six Martial Masters was hiding his ambition, Byeok Liu wondered how he would react.

'Even If he really absorbs the core facing Chun Yeowun would still be impossible. I can't understand what that man is thinking. Is he planning on using the Demon God as an excuse?'

Rather, they were supposed to be thinking about how they're going to get out of the hands of the demon.

Byeok Liu asked what he was originally going to ask.

"Are the adjustments finished?"

At those words, Woo Jin-chang answered with a look of relief.

“Fortunately, it has been completed.”

“That’s good. Hurry before the demon gets here...”

Before Byeok Liu could finish speaking, a pounding sound entered their ears.

Swoosh!

At the familiar sound, his face went stiff.

“Damn it!”

Byeok Liu turned back into the cave and looked at it with intense eyes.

Something flashed in the dark; white eyes seemed to approach them with great speed.

“W-what is that?”

Woo Jin-chang, the Blade Master, who knew nothing about it, asked Byeok Liu.

“Demon God.”

“What?”

“Now isn’t the time to discuss it. The enemy is approaching us! Stop what you’re doing and get into formation!”

“Yes!!!”

Visor! Visor! Rrrrng!

At Byeok Liu’s cry, the people who were busy dismantling the dragon stopped what they were doing and pulled out their swords from their waists in perfect harmony.

Eventually, the creature flying through the air emitting white light arrived at where the dragon’s corpse was.

Swoosh! Clang!

Chun Yeowun, in the black Nano suit, knelt on one knee as he landed on the ground from a great height.

A thrilling scene for those who saw it.

Tension was visible in the eyes of those who belonged to the Slaughter Blade Master's unit.

Swooosh!

The helmet of the armor scattered away, revealing his face.

Long hair, white face, and sharp eyes.

Undoubtedly, the Demon God.

'Nano. If we land like this, we will end up getting attacked.'

Because it flies using a magnetic field, Chun Yeowun left the landing to Nano.

Fortunately, the opponents were all too tense to move when they saw Chun Yeowun.

Nano said something incomprehensible.

[The Nano suit's flight landing is a widely used superhero landing. It is used for suppression of energy.]

'... it isn't bad to land on my knees before regaining my balance. But don't.'

[Understood.]

Chun Yeowun shook his head as he got up from one knee.

Despite the presence of more than a hundred people, everything was silent.

Such overwhelming power he held.

No matter how large the number was, not a single person moved to attack.

"Blade God Six Martial clan. There is no place for you guys to go."

Chun Yeowun was making fun of them.

The Demonic Cult, Yulin and Ice Palace were all on the other side.

Glancing at the dragon's shell, Chun Yeowun spoke to them.

“If you aim for someone else’s thing, you always have to pay a price.”

Kooooo!

Intense energy began to emanate from his body, along with tremendous fear rising in the opponents.

There was no way that they could withstand the energy from someone who was in Divine Master level.

‘M-monster!’

The Slaughter Blade Master’s people lost their fighting spirit before even clashing swords with Chun Yeowun until Byeok Liu hurriedly shouted.

“Demon God! Will you really be able to act like this against us?”

“Huh?”

Byeok Liu took a bell and shook it.

Thud!

Thud! Thud!

Someone slowly walked out of one corner of the cave.

The one coming in was wearing the same iron mask as those who fought Chun Yeowun in the entrance.

If anything, this one's energy seemed a lot messier.

His clothes were almost at the level of rags, and entire body was covered in marks.

Tring!

"Take off your mask."

At Byeok Liu's ring and command, the man in the iron mask took it off.

The face of an old man with gray hair, white eyebrows, and a long white beard.

‘!!!’

As he saw the face and body full of scars, Chun Yeowun’s face hardened.

‘No way!’

Even if he never saw the face, maybe it was because he shared the same blood?

Chun Yeowun could instinctively sense who the old man was.

“Kahhahahahaha! I guess you recognize him. Your grandfather, Chun Inji.”

The identity of the man whose eyes looked dead.

The former lord of the Demonic Cult, Chun Inji.

He was the one who handed Baekhyun his identity slate.

‘Thank god. The adjustment was done on time.’

Byeok Liu felt relieved.

Looking at Chun Yeowun's reaction, his plan worked.

I didn't bring this man to use him this way, but it turned out to be helpful.

'I have no idea how he managed to survive, but I am really lucky. Kukuku!'

They entered the frozen ice cave where the dragon had been sealed, and they found the former lord, Chun Inji, freezing to death.

They managed to get a report on what happened inside the cave and found out about how he escaped; they talked to him about the medication they bought and used it on him.

And they succeeded just in time.

'Even if he is a merciless Demon God, can he really kill his own blood and flesh?'

Even great masters showed weakness in front of their own blood.

This spirit member was strong in action, and they were created for only one reason.

Feeling glad, Byeok Liu exclaimed.

“Demon God. I am warning you. If you try to resist a single attack from him, your grandfather’s head will burst, and he’ll die.”

Chun Yeowun’s eyebrows rose at Byeok Liu’s warning.

He was the one who received the report from Baekhyun, and he had doubts on why Chun Inji was wearing a mask and sided with the Blade God Six Martial clan.

But it turned out that there was no siding.

‘... is this the reason why they managed to find out that there was the sword technique of their clan in the academy?’

The most curious secret had been unfolded.

Except for the guardians and Chun Yeowun, the only one who knew about the hidden treasure was Chun Inji, the one who gave up his position 20 years ago.

“Give him a sword.”

At Byeok Liu's order, one of the members threw a sword.

Clang!

Chun Inji, who received it, pulled the sword up with an indifferent look.

And that wasn't all.

The warriors looked at Byeok Liu, waiting for orders to fall.

"Release sword qi!"

Woong! Woong! Woong!

Once the order fell, energy was emitted from the swords of a hundred warriors.

The warriors under the Slaughter Sword Master were all Superior Masters and skilled.

With a smile, Byeok Liu warned.

"Move even a little, and it's all over for you."

He was a thorough man.

In addition to the members of the slaughter squad, there were four Blade Masters, and a blue qi was radiating from all their swords, ready to attack.

Tring!

“With that sword, you will kill your grandson, the Demon God, no! The strongest man in Demonic Cult right now!”

At that command, Chun Yeowun’s eyes turned cold.

‘Hahaha! Bloody person.’

On the other hand, Byeok Liu’s mouth raised wickedly.

He couldn’t hide the satisfaction that he cornered Chun Yeowun, the greatest enemy of their clan, with his own hands.

If he could kill Chun Yeowun, the Blade Lord would recognize his effort.

If he did well, maybe he would have a chance to surpass everyone and rise to a new level.

Tremble! Tremble!

However, Chun Inji, who seemed dead in the eyes, had convulsions all over his body and refused to obey commands.

As soon as the bell rang, one was bound to obey orders.

‘How the hell is he rejecting a command from the technique that has been perfected after ten years?’

Byeok Liu frowned.

Even if his body refuses, the worm in his head will force him to move.

The bell in his hand rang twice.

Tring! Tring!

“Kill your grandson!”

Chun Inji, who refused the command, slowly moved as the veins on his forehead stood up.

Wong!

A blue hue on his sword.

He, who unfolded a sword technique, was aiming his sword at Chun Yeowun.

And the sword technique was,

‘Sky Demon Sword.’

The strongest sword which former Lord Chun Inji could unfold.

There were only two people who learned it, Chun Inji and the second generation Chun Ma.

Chow chow chow chow chow!

Twenty-four types of swords seemed like they were exquisitely rushing for Chun Yeowun, who didn’t move.

The power of the Sky Demon Sword, which is known to be the strongest in the Demonic Cult.

Chow chow chow!

The energy spread in all directions as the sword kept on unfolding, the sword was strong enough to crack the floor below.

Looking at how Chun Yeowun didn't even move a muscle, the masters of the Blade God Six Martial clan and Byeok Liu were joyful.

Chow chow chow chow chow!

A flashy sword pierced Chun Yeowun's body in an instant.
At that moment, an amazing thing happened.

Srrr!

As soon as the sword pierced him, Chun Yeowun's body turned into an afterimage and scattered.

"Illusion? That bastard! I warned him not to move!"

Byeok Liu, realizing that Chun Yeowun avoided the sword, rang the bell three times.

Tring! Tring! Tring!

If the bell is shaken three times with a certain injection of energy, it will self-destruct the brain, and the spirit squad member will kill himself.

Clench!

At that very moment, Chun Yeowun grabbed the head of the former lord, Chun Inji.

Woo Jin-chang, who realized that Chun Yeowun was up to something, shouted at the warriors.

“Attack now!”

Chow chow chow chow chow!

As soon as orders fell, a hundred sword qi's flew towards Chun Yeowun.

Kwakwakwakwang!

In the aftermath of numerous sword qi's flying towards him, dust rose everywhere.

Without stepping back, the men began to attack Chun Yeowun from a distance with the help of sword qi.

Chow chow chow chow!

After attacking for a while, Woo Jin-chang felt a subtle energy.

It didn't feel like the qi had cut something down.

Rather, it was as if the qi was stuck in something.

Then came the sound of a deafening scream.

Crackle!

“Kuaaak!”

‘!?’

Byeok Liu looked at the dust, which gathered with a puzzled expression as if the sound of someone being electrocuted was heard.

Frustrated, he waved his hand towards the dust.

The wind created by the internal energy calmed the dust, which was obscuring their vision.

Crackle! Crackle! Crackle!

The moment he saw it, his eyes trembled.

“Ah... no!”

Around Chun Yeowun, a large circular shield covered with lightning and sparks was protecting him.

“Lightning qi? H-how?”

What was even more absurd was that the former Lord Chun Inji, whose head should have exploded, fainted.

Seeing that his body twitched, he didn't die.

“No-no way! The order wasn't triggered! How could this happen...”

Once activated, the host's brain had to explode. At least, if not explode, the brain is supposed to burn.

It can only be canceled by killing the worm inside the head, which is impossible.

Chun Yeowun brushed his long hair aside as he sighed.

“Phew...”

[5% of energy consumed. Removing shield.]

Crackle!

Nano's voice resounded, and the protective shield disappeared right away.

When the shield disappeared, Chun Yeowun spoke with a cold voice, which bewildered everyone in the place.

“Kill your grandson? Ha!”

Crackle!

As soon as he said that, cold energy engulfed the entire cave.

The soldiers looked around as the yin energy exuded by Chun Yeowun made it hard for them to breathe.

“Oh... my god...”

“How can...”

The reason was, an uncountable number of ice swords filled the space.

At first glance, it seemed like there were hundreds of them.

Creepy!

A chill ran down their spines.

Their eyes, which knew that they were pushed into the corner by the Demon God, trembled in fear and terror, losing their will to fight.

Byeok Liu mumbled with a pale face.

“Y-you... how...”

Chun Yeowun sentenced everyone to death.

“Everyone, die.”

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

Swoosh!

As soon as the words were finished, the ice sword filling the space ran towards the warriors as if they were waiting for the order.

Chow chow chow chow chow chow!

Chapter 426 - Thunder Qi (1)

Chapter 426: Thunder Qi (1)

Transparent ice swords poured down like rain.

It didn't take long for the ice to turn red.

As the entire area around was closed and the only exit was blocked by Chun Yeowun, all the members of the Blade God Six Martial clan ended up getting killed.

Chow chow chow!

"Kuaaak!"

"Kuk!"

Screams echoed through the cave.

Although the men were supposed to be the best of the Blade God Six Martial clan, each ice sword moved with efficiency, almost as if a man was wielding it.

Of course, not everyone was helplessly beaten by the swords.

Clang! Clang!

Byeok Liu struggled to block the ice swords with a single arm.

It would have been a disaster if he hadn't practiced the sword with his left hand.

But it was only a matter of time.

Whoop!

"Ugh!"

The floor already turned red from the blood of the cold corpses.

More than 30 members died without even being able to fight back.

If it had been the attack he did in the Jin Castle and not ice swords, everyone would have died right away.

‘It’s a good thing, but why isn’t he using the Sky Flash?’

Suddenly, Byeok Liu got lost in his thoughts.

The Sky Flash of the Demon God was a famous story everyone knew.

Against a large number of people, there is no attack more horrifying.

It was strange that Chun Yeowun didn’t use the Sky Flash out of anger that the former lord had been ordered to kill his grandson.

Swoosh!

That was when Byeok Liu saw the path that the ice swords were moving in.

The ice swords only targeted the warriors and didn’t even scratch the walls or the cave’s ceiling.

‘What monster-like abilities! Even if he is a Divine Master, there is no way he should be able to handle so many swords, let alone handle them with such precision... wait up! Is he acting like this out of fear that the cave will collapse?’

When the thought passed, Byeok Liu's eyes turned to where Chun Yeowun was standing.

Holding his unconscious grandfather with his left hand, he controlled the swords with his right hand.

However, the floor where he was standing was full of slashes, but not a single dent was there.

Despite being attacked by so many sword qi's, the floor seemed fine.

'He dispersed the sword qi by not letting it pass through the lightning qi.'

Everything became certain.

The reason why Chun Yeowun used ice swords instead of the Sky Flash was to deal with his opponents without damaging the cave.

Beep!

And his guess was accurate.

From the moment he entered the cave and landed on the floor, the augmented reality marked several locations in the space red as if to declare danger.

A little closer to the ice, and the lake would flow in.

Before long, the worst-case scenario would greet them.

‘This needs to be fixed quickly.’

It was possible to win this battle with sophistication and not destructive power.

More than half of the Blade God Six Martial clan warriors who were avoiding the ice swords were dead.

Around thirty-six people were barely holding on.

It was then.

“Hmph!”

Kwang!

Krrrrrrrrrr!

The entire cave shook with a loud sound.

Chun Yeowun noticed that Byeok Liu was standing at the back wall of the cave.

Blue-colored hue radiating from Byeok Liu’s sword, it looked like he was going to try to break the wall with all his might.

Kwang!

Rumble!

He wasn't the only one who hit the wall.

Blade Master, Woo Jin-chang, also noticed Chun Yeowun's intentions as he threw his sword straight into the eastern end of the wall.

Thanks to that, cracks occurred in the ceiling of the cave, and fragments fell.

The dangerous situation began.

"Demon God! If this is going to be our grave, then I will take you to hell with me!"

"Let's go together! Woah!"

Byeok Liu and Woo Jin-chang once again tried to hit the wall with qi.

'Nano!'

[Activating Focused Target Mode.]

Beep beep beep beep beep beep!

At the call of Chun Yeowun, the red particles in the augmented reality began to focus on Byeok Liu and Woo Jinchang.

Wheeing!

The ice swords around them rotated and rushed towards the two.

“Kuak!”

“No!”

But the other warriors didn’t stand still.

Two warriors and Won Sangho of the Ice Palace blocked them and tried to break the ice swords.

“We will stop these! Go ahead and break the walls!”

Chow chow chow chow chow chow!

The ice swords which got blocked soon shattered and broke.

That was the only drawback of the Air Swords made of ice.

They weren't strong enough to withstand the attack of masters higher than the Superior Master level.

“S-stop the Demon God!”

“Risk your life and defend those behind us!”

Papapapa!

The three of them, while protecting the two of them, rushed towards Chun Yeowun simultaneously unfolded sword techniques as if they were prepared to die.

‘Nano. You can draw any amount of internal energy. Stop them!’

[Understood.]

Crackle!

Energy was generated in the body, and more ice swords were created.

“Huh? Ah, still!”

“That monster!”

Even the men who were rushing towards death were shocked.

They thought that there had to be a limit after handling hundreds of Air Swords, but that didn't seem to be the case.

Bang! Bang! Bang!

In the meantime, Byeok Liu and Woo Jin-chang frantically attacked the walls with qi to break them and bring in the lake water.

“Shit!”

Hit!

Chun Yeowun, who decided not to, hurriedly put down his grandfather, Chun Inji, and flew.

As the magnetic field was activated under his feet, he moved a lot quicker.

“Huh?”

At the sight of Chun Yeowun, who appeared in front of them in an instant, the three warriors couldn’t hide their shock.

‘What is the Lord of the Demonic Cult wearing?’

One might think that it’s heavy, but in reality, the Nano Suit was very light.

The role of the Nano Suit was not to interfere with Chun Yeowun’s movements but rather to help battles run smoothly.

Even more shocking is,

‘Nonsense... how is he moving while controlling the Air Swords?’

As far as they knew, Air Swords consumed a huge amount of internal energy and concentration, moving had to be very difficult.

However, Chun Yeowun moved independently despite controlling the Air Swords.

‘Did the Demon God really come into this world?’

Either way, he had to be stopped.

“Damn it! Do you think we’ll let you interfere?”

“Let’s go!”

“Even if he is the Demon God!”

At the same time, the three warriors performed the sword techniques they were the most confident in.

Even if he was the Demon God, they thought that he would have to stop if three people unfolded sword techniques simultaneously.

However, the disparity was too great.

Moreover, Chun Yeowun was well aware of the weakness of every sword technique of the Blade God Six Martial clan.

Wheeing!

Jjjjkkkk!

In Chun Yeowun's right hand, a black flame sword appeared, and in his left hand, a black ice sword appeared.

"Dual sword wielder?"

"In-invisible sword!"

It took a while for everyone to regain their concentration.

In an instant, the swords skillfully used the Sword Force of the Sky Demon and the Extreme Art of the Blade God.

The hot trail of black flame, which could burn anything, and the black ice, which was turning even the air into frost, cut and crushed their bodies.

Chow chow chow chow chow!

“Aaahhhh!”

“Ahhhh!”

Thud! Thud! Thud! Thud!

With a scream, their bodies split into dozens of pieces in an instant.

The parts cut by the black flame sword were burnt and the smell of burned flesh spread around, and the parts cut by the black ice sword turned into ice.

It was at the moment when Chun Yeowun killed them all in an instant and was about to deal with those who tried to destroy the walls.

Kwang!

Crack!

The cave walls began to crack.

It started with a small stream of water coming from the cracks.

Crack! Push!

Rumble!

As water burst from here and there, the cave began to shake violently.

It was a sign that the wall could no longer withstand it and broke down.

“This...”

Chun Yeowun frowned and looked at the spots where water was gushing out.

Looking at the cave that was finally about to collapse, Byeok Liu was filled with euphoria as he turned his head towards

Chun Yeowun and shouted while laughing.

“Kuaaahahahah! You are too late! Demon God! Let’s die together!”

Even if he was called a monster, it would be impossible to prevent a natural disaster.

If the cave walls collapse with that huge amount of water pressure from the lake, even Chun Yeowun will be swept away by the water and die.

“This is something that no one in the Blade God Six Martial clan will be able to withstand...”

Slash! Thud!

Before he could finish speaking, Byeok Liu’s neck got slashed as his head fell to the ground.

The man didn’t even know that he died. His eyes were wide open.

“Talk all of that bullshit in hell.”

“Byeokkkkkk! Kuak! Demon God, you!”

Chow! Slash! Slash!

Woo Jin-chang, who was surprised at the death of Byeok Liu, ran for Chun Yeowun.

Even if the Six Martial Masters were all present, taking down Chun Yeowun was impossible, there was no way he alone could do it.

Slash!

“Kuk!”

Yeowun cut down Woo Jin-chang, who ran towards him in one hit.

The invisible sword, which had a great amount of qi in it, couldn't be stopped by anyone.

There was no time to waste killing these people.

‘I need to stop this!’

Phhhhhh!

Chun Yeowun placed his palm on the wall which was cracking.

And raised his cold qi.

Even if he couldn't completely stop the water, he had to buy time for himself and his men to get out of the cave.

“Ugh...”

Shhhhhh!

White frost appeared all over the wall, and the cracked wall began to freeze.

Thanks to that, the water stream, which kept flowing through the cracks, froze.

If the warriors of the Ice Palace had seen that, they would have died from shock.

However, Chun Yeowun's expression wasn't good.

‘There is a lot of outside pressure.’

As his hand was placed against the wall, he could feel the pressure on the other side.

Freezing the cracks was only a temporary measure.

After a while, the wall would definitely collapse.

Shhhh!

Chun Yeowun created a thick wall of ice.

‘I need to freeze this as much as possible and get out of this cave with the core.’

Otherwise, everyone would die, just as Byeok Liu mentioned.

At that moment, Chun Yeowun heard a large amount of movement.

When he turned around without taking his hand from the wall, Hu Bong, Bakgi, and Mun Ku, who were leading about 50 men, had come.

“Lord! Ug-this?”

“The dragon!”

“This big?”

They couldn't hide their shock when they saw the corpse of the dragon.

Fearing that Chun Yeowun would face trouble as he hurried into the enemy's side, they brought in their troops, but all they saw were corpses.

“Lord?”

They only saw Chun Yeowun freezing the wall.

As they approached, Chun Yeowun shouted.

“Don't come! The cave will collapse soon!”

“Huh. What?”

Rumble!

As Chun Yeowun said, the cave shook.

It didn't seem like the cave would last much longer.

Chun Yeowun pointed out the former lord, Chun Inji, lying on the floor to the bewildered people.

"The former lord is over there. Take him and get out of the cave immediately!"

"B-but Lord, you!"

Mon Ku cried.

The cave would collapse soon, and there was no way she would leave without Chun Yeowun.

Laughing softly, Chun Yeowun spoke to her.

"Once everyone gets out, I will bring the core up. If you stay here, I won't be able to concentrate."

"Lord..."

And that was the truth.

Seeing how Chun Yeowun kept on freezing the wall, they knew that waiting there was nothing more than turning into a burden for him.

In the end, they retreated with bitter expressions.

“Lord! We will retreat quickly, so don’t stay long and come out right away!”

Chun Yeowun lightly nodded at Hu Bong’s cry.

As they hurriedly escaped from the cave along with the former lord Chun Inji, Chun Yeowun continued to thicken the layer of ice.

Shhhhh!

‘Nano. Can you feel the water pressure? How long can this ice hold?’

[15 minutes is the limit. You need to get out of here quickly before being swept away by the rushing water.]

Chun Yeowun smiled bitterly at Nano’s warning.

No matter how strong he was, he knew that avoiding a natural disaster was impossible.

‘I’ll hold on a little longer and get out right away.’

If it lasted for that long, everyone would be able to widen the distance and climb onto high ground.

Chun Yeowun kept applying cold qi to make sure cracks don’t form in a short amount of time.

Eventually, when exactly 15 minutes passed.

‘I can let go now.’

No matter how much cold qi had been injected, preventing cracks turned out to be difficult.

He didn’t have much of a chance.

If he didn’t get out quickly, he would end up getting sucked in by the water current.

Thud!

Chun Yeowun, who lifted his hand from the wall, climbed onto the dragon's shell.

It was impossible to absorb the core in this place, so he had no choice but to take it out with him.

Crackle!

There was a hole in the middle of the dragon shell, where sparks flashed.

It seemed like the Blade God Six Martial clan had drilled a hole in order to take the core.

'Nice.'

Chun Yeowun tried to jump into the hole.

It was then.

"Oh?"

Crackle! Spark!

Suddenly, lightning surged from the pierced shell, creating pillars of lightning.

Chun Yeowun retreated, not wanting to take chances.

Crackle!

From the lightning pillar, a fanatic cry was heard.

“Kuahahaha! Finally, I have absorbed the lightning qi from the dragon!”

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

Crackle! Spar!

As the pillars of lightning gradually ended, a young man surrounded by flashes of lightning, as if he was the thunder god, descended.

Chun Yeowun, who saw that man, felt nothing but extreme irritation.

Translator's Note

Normally, cultivation novels use thunder qi. However, Nano Machine's author used lightning qi here.

Chapter 427 - Thunder Qi (2)

Chapter 427: Thunder Qi (2)

Slaughter Blade Master, Sang Dal.

He was the only one of the Six Martial Masters who had been recognized for his loyalty towards the Blade Lord.

Along with fulfilling his respective duties, he had been carrying out the most important tasks from the Blade Lord.

The thirty-six Superior Masters and even the Six Martial Masters all envied him and called him the loyalist.

However, there was another side of the loyalist which they didn't know.

Ingratitude, he was hiding his ambition to surpass the Blade Lord.

He had been thoroughly hiding the feeling for decades, so people didn't even know that such a side existed to him.

'Is this the dragon?'

The underground of the Ice Palace.

He found the dragon, which desperately moved through the frozen underground.

The dragon was on the verge of dying.

‘Neither that person nor the Demon God are humans.’

Power beyond humans.

The reactions of people who encountered the two beings were divided into several categories.

For example, feelings of fear or awe.

However, for Sang Dal, the Blade Master, his ambition and greed aroused jealousy.

‘If I had such power...’

The moment he saw the Dragon Turtle, his ambitions took over his mind, and the greed he tried to hide had surfaced.

With just a few attacks he was able to end the life of the already dying Dragon Turtle.

[Huh? Blade Master? Didn't you put it in the core holder?]

[Well, as long as the North Sea Ice Palace, Yulin and the Demonic Cult... along with that Demon God are here, taking it out won't be easy.]

[Blade Master, I might know about the reaction the dragon blood will have, but the core...]

[Rather than letting them take away the core, wouldn't the risk of me absorbing it be better?]

Their leader, the Slaughter Blade Master, repeatedly came up with excuses to forcefully absorb the core. Could the lower-ranked warriors really stop him?

However, there was only one concern.

Compared to the other forms of qi, the core of the creature who was a Spirit Beast was different.

Absorption was only possible by the skilled.

The qi inside the core itself is so strong that it would burst out lightning without letting anyone get close to it. There was no way one could absorb it.

However, Sang Dal, one of the Six Martial Masters, was a Supreme Master who had risen to the end of the level, which meant he had the qualification to absorb the core.

Crackle! Crackle!

“Ahhahaha!”

His internal energy had increased to the extent that it was incomparable to before.

And the internal energy, with the properties of thunder qi, had the ability to destroy everything.

‘My choice was right!’

Strictly speaking, Sang Dal couldn’t absorb all of the core.

Although he was in a stage where he could handle the qi, his whole body would burn out if he greedily accepted more thunder qi that was inside the core.

He only accepted half of it, but that alone gave him huge growth.

After fully embodying it, he decided to take the rest of the qi to reach the strongest level.

‘If I can use the lightning qi along with the Extreme Art of the Blade God, I will be able to deal with both the Blade Lord and the Demon God...’

Creepy!

Sang Dal, who just absorbed the core of the dragon, looked at the intense chill which spread around.

Looking to the source, he saw a young man with long black hair in black armor, which he had never seen before.

‘Pure white face and sharp eyes... Demon God?’

According to the things he heard, it had to be Chun Yeowun.

An unimaginable energy radiated from him, who seemed very annoyed.

Despite absorbing the core, he could feel immense energy from Chun Yeowun.

Gooooo!

The corners of Sang Dal’s mouth rose slowly.

“I was hoping to release this overflowing energy, you did good coming here. Demon God.”

Sang Dal wanted to test how far his power had reached.

At that moment, he found the right person to confirm his growth.

But then, he felt something else.

‘Huh?’

Rumble!

Crack!

His gaze turned towards the ice wall at the end of the cave.

His sense, which had been extremely developed because of the core, could clearly let him feel the water pressure that was gradually rising on the outside.

Soon the walls will collapse, and the entire cave will get buried.

No matter how strong he was after absorbing the core, he could never avoid natural disasters.

‘I just gained new power. There is no way I’ll get myself killed in this place.’

Making a rational decision, he suggested to Chun Yeowun.

“Oh Demon God. If we stay here, both of us will die. How about we go above ground and fight each other?”

His proposal had to be accepted.

There was no way that Chun Yeowun would want to stay and fight.

However, Chun Yeowun’s decision was different.

“Who do you think you are to covet someone else’s thing and ask to relocate the battle?”

“Covet? Huhuhu, think what you want. If we delay the decision, you will also lose your life, don’t do things like getting swept away by needless emotions...”

Wheeing!

‘Black flame?’

Before he could even finish his words, a black flame sword formed in Chun Yeowun's hand and came aiming for his neck.

Crackle!

Shocked, Sang Dal instinctively raised his hand.

Then, to his surprise, sparks flashed from his hand, creating a thunder sword.

Crackle!

'Ahhh!'

His eyes, which knew that he managed to block the black flame sword with a thunder sword, were filled with joy.

He unconsciously thought that he was holding onto a sword and somehow managed to succeed in creating a thunder sword.

"My invisible sword!"

Crackle!

He never guessed that the core's power would be so amazing.

Chun Yeowun was also impressed looking at the thunder sword.

He tried to deal with the enemy at once but didn't expect that he would create an invisible sword.

'Is this his level, despite not absorbing the entire core?'

Inside the shell, the thunder qi core was still radiating.

Compared to that, the man only absorbed a part of it, yet his growth was amazing.

'Since the beast just died, the energy inside the core hasn't scattered, which means that it's more effective than the core of the Flame Qilin.'

"Kuahahahaha!"

Drunk on power, Sang Dal laughed in joy.

He didn't just regain his youth by absorbing the core. His entire body was reconstructed.

In a triumphant voice, Sang Dal spoke.

“Demon God. The worst will happen to you. Do you know what's the difference between victory and defeat in a battle between people of the same level?”

Crackle!

‘New form?’

Sang Dal moved quickly like lightning.

As if he was the lightning, he reached Chun Yeowun's back in an instant and unfolded the Extreme Art of the Blade God with a thunder sword.

Crackle!

It was the supreme technique.

Originally, it was a simple sword technique, but with the power of thunder qi in it, it seemed to reach a whole new level.

Tatatata!

In an instant, everything changed. Sang Dal was desperate to turn Chun Yeowun's body into meat.

However, it was impossible for Chun Yeowun, who was experienced in battles, to get caught by such moves.

Sang Dal was fast, so fast that his image couldn't be seen, but in that moment, Chun Yeowun took two steps back.

Crackle!

He created a black ice sword and responded with the same technique.

"Huh?"

Sang Dal's eyes widened at the familiar sword technique.

In the place where the swords clashed, thunder and chill harmonized, creating an intense pounding sound.

And the two of them were pushed back a couple steps.

‘How... how is he using our clans?’

It was even more shocking that Chun Yeowun was using it perfectly.

There was no way that Chun Yeowun could have learned it by watching Sang Dal use it.

The Extreme Art of the Blade God was a martial art that was impossible to use without proper training as it exceeded physical limitations.

“Demon God. How do you know our martial arts?”

“You don’t need to know.”

“Huh?”

Of course, he wouldn’t tell him.

He had a very small amount of time.

It was a situation where they were fighting each other, so they had to defeat the other person and escape the cave before the water flowed in.

‘Extreme Art of the Blade God doesn’t work on him.’

It was helpful when he used it against others, but it seemed impossible to contain Chun Yeowun with that.

The best martial arts of their clan was the right answer.

Swoosh!

Chun Yeowun moved as he approached Sang Dal.

A black flame sword and a black ice sword formed in both his hands, and the sword techniques of both swords blended in.

Both the Sword Force of the Sky Demon Sword and the Extreme Art of the Blade God unfolded perfectly.

One of the sword techniques was good when dealing with a large number of people, it couldn’t be used everywhere since the power the technique exudes is very strong.

Chow chow chow chow!

‘Different technique with both hands?’

Sang Dal was shocked at two different techniques being unfolded at the same time.

He had no idea that different techniques could be used in such a clever way.

However, there was an unexpected drawback.

‘I see you.’

Sang Dal’s eyes twinkled.

As soon as the sword approached him, Sang Dal, widened the distance like lightning, just like Chun Yeowun did a couple moments back, and used the Extreme Art of the Blade God .

Shhh! Shhh! Shhh! Shh! Shh!

What amazing speed.

At the moment he used his sword, the two interlinked sword techniques were destroyed at once.

Tatata!

Using the momentum to counterattack, Chun Yeowun quickly moved back.

‘He destroyed the right sword?’

As if he was shocked, Chun Yeowun frowned.

Seeing that, Sang Dal shrugged and spoke.

“Was it surprising? I was quite shocked seeing two different sword techniques unfolding, but if I know the techniques, it can be stopped.”

Before the two swords could intertwine, Sang Dal had broken the formation.

This man seemed considerably more capable than the previous Six Martial Masters Chun Yeowun had dealt with before.

However, Chun Yeowun’s interests lie elsewhere.

“Are you familiar with both of them?”

Even if he knew the Extreme Art of The Blade God , how did this man know about the Sky Demon Sword?

Shrugging his shoulders, Sang Dal counter-questioned Chun Yeowun in a gloating voice.

“Demon God. Let me ask you something. Do you think that no one has completed their analysis of the Sky Demon Sword? The law to destroy that sword technique has long been perfected.”

‘... former lord.’

At those words, Chun Yeowun could make a rough guess.

If they succeeded in taking over the mind of the former lord, it was natural for them to analyze the sword technique.

However, just like the Extreme Art of the Blade God , the Sky Demon Sword couldn’t be learned through words or watching, so they learned how to destroy the sword technique rather than learning it.

“Hahahaha! Did you really think that you can win over me, a Blade Master, with sword techniques I am already aware of!”

Sang Dal felt that he was in the best situation.

Among Chun Yeowun’s martial arts, he knew that the Sky Demon Sword was his best move.

‘You won’t be able to use the Sky Flash in a cave that will collapse. Huhu!’

Normally, the Sky Flash would have been a problem for Sang Dal.

However, the fact that their surroundings didn’t allow him to unleash it made it seem like heaven wanted the Demon God to die.

“Demon God! This will be your grave!”

Phat!

Sang Dal, who knew he had the advantage, tried to unleash the Extreme Art of the Blade God with thunder qi.

At that very moment, Chun Yeowun got rid of the black ice sword and performed a strange technique with the black flame sword.

It was very similar to the Sky Demon Sword, but it felt different.

“You said that you found the law to destroy the technique... that is a serious misunderstanding.”

“What?”

Ssshhhh!

At that very moment, Chun Yeowun’s body turned into 24 afterimages.

Like clones, all 24 of Chun Yeowun’s images used the same technique.

“What! Demon God! I already know this attack... what!?”

Swoosh!

At the same time, the clones of Chun Yeowun, who had divided, turned into one being and all their swords united at one specific point.

Startle!

Something ominous was felt from the overwhelming sword technique.

Blade Master knew that this sword couldn't be stopped.

'I need to avoid it!'

Swish!

Sang Dal activated the thunder qi in his body and accelerated his movements.

At that very moment, the new form of Chun Yeowun, who merged into one, passed by him.

Chow chow chow chow!

'How, I just avoided him?'

It didn't seem like Sang Dal had avoided it.

A sharp pain was felt in his left shoulder.

"Ugh!"

Wheeeik!

A tremendous amount of swords kept coming for his body one after another, and the body of Sang Dal, which only wanted to avoid the attacks, couldn't do anything but get hit.

Phat!

Thanks to the qi in his body, he managed to stay alive.

Sang Dal's shoulder had a hole the size of a fist.

"Pant... pant... pant..."

Sang Dal groaned as the hole healed.

If he disregarded its power and went head-on with the sword, his chest would have been pierced.

Perplexed, Sang Dal asked.

"... this, just what technique is this?"

"Sky Demon Sword."

“What? As if that could be... there is no ridiculous sword like that, and calling that the Sky Demon Sword!”

“You only learned about destroying the half completed sword, so there is no way you would know.”

“Half?”

Sang Dal was shocked.

‘Did that old man deceive us? No way. He has been telling us everything over the past ten years.’

It was natural to not know.

Among the Sky Demon Order successors, the only ones who mastered the perfect Sky Demon Sword were Chun Ma, who created the sword and the second generation Chun Ma, Chun Yeowun.

“Then the Sky Demon Sword has other variations?”

‘Hmm?’

Chun Yeowun said half, but Sang Dal misunderstood.

But Chun Yeowun didn’t say anything because he wasn’t obligated to answer.

Realizing that he misunderstood the technique, Sang Dal bit his lip as he lifted the thunder sword.

“You are looking down on this Blade Master! The technique you just showed me is undoubtedly the secret Sky Demon Sword!”

No matter how much he thought, the technique was just a little better than the previous one.

There was no way that another variation could exist.

‘There is no way, right?’

There was no way that a high ranking man like himself would get deceived.

Instead, something else affected him.

Perhaps, because of the injury, he was becoming impatient, or maybe it was the pain in his shoulder.

Crackle!

‘I don’t know how he knows the Sky Demon Sword, but it will be different this time.’

The Six Martial Masters have their own new sword techniques.

What he intended to unfold was the new sword technique which gave him the name Slaughter Blade Master.

Phat!

Chun Yeowun moved.

‘Sky Demon Sword or Extreme Art of the Blade God ?’

He knew about the Sky Demon Sword technique.

The new one couldn’t be tackled, but he knew the other techniques.

Most of them could be destroyed if he used the Extreme Art of the Blade God .

Wheeing!

At that time, the black flame sword in Chun Yeowun's hand began to unfold the Sky Demon Sword.

The corners of Sang Dal's lips went up.

He just informed Chun Yeowun that he knew how to destroy the Sky Demon sword, yet, not caring, he unfolded the same thing again.

'You're stupid.'

His lips formed into a smile that reached his ears.

When the 3rd formation of the Sky Demon sword changes to the 6th formation, the loophole gets revealed.

Crackle! Whoops!

'This is the fifth, now the 6th formation!'

The moment Chun Yeowun will deploy the 6th formation, his thunder sword will cut off Chun Yeowun's right arm.

But then, that didn't happen.

He believed that the 5th formation would naturally move up, but then the movement changed, and the Extreme Art of the Blade God began to unfold.

Rumble!

“Wh-what is this?”

As an unexpected sword unfolded, Sang Dal was bewildered.

The Extreme Art of the Blade God was capable of transcending the limits of the physical body; despite knowing that, he was shocked.

Chahcahcha!

“Uhk!”

At that moment, Chun yeowun’s sword cut in an unexpected direction.

The Extreme Art of the Blade God could move in a direction that a normal sword couldn’t reach.

Where Chun Yeowun aimed,

“Let’s take the arm.”

“No! Ahhhhh!”

Slash!

The sword swiftly cut off the right arm, which was holding the thunder sword, and the smell of the burning flesh pierced their noses.

“Kuaaaaaaaaaaaaaa!”

A scream erupted from Sang Dal’s mouth at the pain of his arm being severed.

Crackle!

Throwing out thunderbolts like crazy, he moved back.

Chun Yeowun didn’t pursue him.

Rather, he stood still, with sparks of lightning on his black armor, as if he was just shocked.

“Kuak!”

Sang Dal grabbed his blood-drenched shoulder and looked at Chun Yeowun in disbelief.

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

‘That man, I am not mistaken! He... he made... the Extreme Art of the Blade God and Sky Demon Sword into one martial art!’

A shocking thing happened that even ‘that person’ didn’t expect.

Translator's Note

As the readers might have noticed in this chapter, lightning qi changed to thunder qi as the author suddenly changed it. We assume that lightning qi turns into thunder qi once the core gets absorbed.

Chapter 428 - Thunder Qi (3)

Chapter 428: Thunder Qi (3)

It was no exaggeration to call the martial arts of the Blade God Six Martial Clan the best in Wulin.

The reason that their martial arts are so strong is that they deviate from the general principles and go beyond the limits of human muscles and joints.

And if one reached perfection in the Extreme Art of the Blade God, then even the Sky Demon Sword is inferior.

Despite that, the Sky Demon Sword was far superior in reality and even displayed power higher than the Extreme Art of the Blade God.

‘Is he combining both the methods of the Sky Demon Sword and the Extreme Art of the Blade God? Isn’t that a monster like a founder?’

Founder.

It refers to the founding of a clan and martial arts.

Learning martial arts and creating them were two different things.

‘Something has to be wrong. Is he the Demon God I really know? I was told that such a thing was definitely farther in the future...’

It was very different from the contents left in the legacy of 'that person' that the Blade Lord talked about.

Everything which had been thoroughly prepared for a long time based on the legacy seemed out of whack.

If one cog brakes, the subsequent parts would eventually fail.

'Blade Lord must know about this. This sword technique is too dangerous.'

He spent a long time studying methods of destroying sword techniques.

However, if a new sword technique was born, then they were in for the worse.

Throb!

"Kuuuk!"

The section where his arm was severed was hot.

The loss of energy was too great.

He thought he should inform their lord, but there was no way out.

As if losing his right arm wasn't enough, a hole was drilled into his left shoulder, and maybe something was wrong in the blood vessel of his left arm since he couldn't move it.

His victory or defeat will be decided by the fact that both his arms couldn't be used.

'Is this the end?'

He lost the moment he got drunk on his own power and arrogance.

Even if he couldn't fully embody the core of the dragon, he thought that he would be on equal footing with Chun Yeowun.

It was the moment when he was about to fall into despair.

Grrrr!

“Kuk!”

The veins and muscles on the left shoulder of Sang Dal, which were open, trembled.

He looked at it with a bitter expression, and the trembling veins continued to regenerate.

‘Ho?’

Sang Dal was shocked by what he saw.

He knew that the core had regenerative power, but seeing it was amazing.

He had no idea that the recovery would be so quick.

‘Unbelievable! This is the level of regenerative power?’

Sang Dal's expression, who lost his fighting spirit, changed.

The pierced part regenerated quickly, and the strength in his arms returned.

‘Ah!’

The severed right arm hadn't regenerated, but being able to use one arm brought in a glimmer of hope.

But there was no time.

Crack!

Pssss! Pssss! Pssss!

Water began to flow in from small cracks in the ice wall.

The speed of the water seemed faster than before, so fast that within a couple seconds, the water reached their ankles.

"This!"

It was not an environment where they could fight anymore.

'The cave will be buried soon. No more wasting of time. If I don't escape quickly...'

Crackle!

At that moment, in the eyes of Sang Dal, who could see that he was releasing thunder qi, looked at the water.

'The thunder qi, I released it by accident... ah!'

Suddenly, an excellent idea popped into Sang Dal's mind.

The only way for him to escape and kill Chun Yeowun.

Step! Step!

Chun Yeowun, who stood still, began to move again.

Sang Dal's eyes gleamed.

Crackle!

Sang Dal gathered all of the thunder qi in his body.

Ready to release, he waited for Chun Yeowun to come to the place where more water was on the ground with tense eyes.

Phat!

Chun Yeowun's form turned blurry as he narrowed the distance in an instant.

That moment, he entered the place where there was more water,

"I waited for this! Demon God!"

Crackle!

As soon as he said that, a tremendous amount of lightning raged.

The lightning, which flowed out through the water, filled the entire cave with sparks.

The sparks were so bright that even Sang Dal couldn't see what was happening.

Crackle!

Chun Yeowun's body, which stepped into stagnant water, was covered by intense lightning.

Since it was lightning, it felt like Chun Yeowun would burn down.

'Done!'

A smile spread across Sang Dal's face.

"Kuaahahaha! This is my victory. You will burn in the thunder qi and turn into soot."

Sang Dal kept pushing out thunder qi.

It meant a lot if he could kill Chun Yeowun.

Crackle!

The figure of Chun Yeowun covered in sparks.

It looked like the armor was burning.

'Kuk, no matter how strong he is...'

It was then.

Step! Step! Plop! Plop!

There was the sound of armor treading in puddles.

The whole area was filled with lightning flashes and sounds of thunder.

"He survived this? No way. This can't..."

Something black was approaching him.

The glare from the two eyes of the armor looked creepy as hell.

[Charged 250%]

[Charged 255%]

[Charged 260%]

The white particles in the augmented reality of Chun Yeowun, who was walking through the water, increased.

‘Nice!’

Chun Yeowun’s face, which was hidden in the Nano Suit, turned into a smile.

Unfortunately for Sang Dal, his calculations turned out wrong.

The reason Chun Yeowun had stopped for a while was because he absorbed the qi through the Nano Suit.

And now, the Gatelinium was readily accepting the thunder qi.

Crackle!

“How! Why is it not working!”

Step!

Step!

The thunder qi he pulled out with all his might was of no avail.

Chun Yeowun stood right in front of him, breaking through the water.

Sang Dal, who lost his courage, looked at Chun Yeowun in disbelief.

“Yo-you are a monster...”

Clench!

Before he could finish speaking, Chun Yeowun grabbed him by the neck.

“Cough!”

He placed his right palm on Sang Dal’s chest.

Even amid the pain, he knew what Chun Yeowun was about to do. The black particles in the Nano Suit trembled.

Creepy!

‘Th-this is?’

Sky Demon energy rose from the suit and soon enveloped Chun Yeowun’s entire body, and this time he didn’t even look like a human figure in the Nano Suit, he looked like a demon from hell.

It was as if he saw the ferocity of a demon.

“Throw out what you stole.”

“Kuk... kuk, what?”

The moment he wondered what Chun Yeowun was saying, Sky Demon energy entered his body.

Crackle!

“Kuaaaak!”

Such shocking things.

As the Sky Demon energy entered his body, the dragon’s core in his body got engulfed helplessly.

“M-My strength... Kuak.”

The greedy Sky Demon energy began to swallow it.

Since his body and Nano had already adjusted to the thunder qi, there was no hesitation in absorbing it.

‘As expected.’

It was just like how the cold qi and the flame qi were absorbed.

He didn’t know why, but the Sky Demon energy had great absorbing skills.

It was like it had some absorption technique.

“Kuaaaak! Pl-please! Stop...”

As the thunder qi began to disappear, Sang Dal became helpless. He pleaded again and again, to no avail.

‘My strength! My power... ugh!’

All of the thunder qi in his body was taken away.

Crackle!

Chun Yeowun felt the thunder qi entering his body.

It was permanent qi, not just temporary qi like before.

It was then.

Crack!

“What?”

At the sound of cracks, Chun Yeowun looked at the ice wall.

The ice wall was barely holding on. It could no longer withstand the pressure and was about to collapse.

‘This!’

Crack! Splash!

Chun Yeowun broke Sang Dal’s neck and threw him into the water.

The dream of Sang Dal, who was trying to achieve his ambition by obtaining the core, ended with death.

‘I need to hurry!’

Chun Yeowun hurriedly moved to the dragon shell.

The core of the dragon, which was still radiating the thunder qi, gave off a brilliant light from the shell.

Crackle!

Crackle!

No ordinary person would be able to touch the core, but Chun Yeowun wasn’t ordinary.

Since he had already adapted to the thunder qi, there would be no difficulty in absorbing it.

Thud!

‘It’s huge. Nano.’

[Understood.]

Srrrkkk! Woah!

Dozens of wires protruded from the suit, turning into the size of a head they surrounded the core.

Now he had to get out of the cave.

It was the moment when Chun Yeowun, who obtained what he wanted, hurriedly got down from the dragon shell and was about to move away.

Rumble! Swoosh!

What he feared happened.

The ice wall collapsed, and water started rushing in with raging force.

If the water only occupied half the cave, he could have flown.

However, the water which rushed into the cave was vast.

Splash!

“Ugh!”

Chun Yeowun was quickly swept away by the water.

He tried to balance himself in the water, but he couldn't.

He was being swept away by a huge current, and it was hard to gain balance when his entire body was being swept away.

Splash! Splash!

Kwang!

Kwang!

The only sounds which could be heard were crashes.

As if being sucked into the abyss, Chun Yeowun's body kept being swept away.

Even if he wanted to stand, he didn't have any ground to stand on.

Beep! Beep! Beep! Beep!

[Emergency. Invoke Nano Suit's dive mode. Oxygen remaining 90%.]

Bubble! Bubble!

The only good thing was that the Nano Suit had a submersible function.

Since the helmet wasn't open, Nano quickly entered into dive mode, which prevented drowning.

Thud! Thud!

With the current being so strong, Chun Yeowun kept hitting into the cave's walls.

He wasn't hurt because of the constant hits, but as time went on, Chun Yeowun began to get dizzy.

All he could see was darkness and bubble-filled water.

'This is going to be a huge problem. Nano, night vision mode.'

[Opening night vision goggles mode.]

Nano's voice resounded, and Chun Yeowun's eyes trembled as his dark vision slowly brightened.

‘I’m not able to keep my balance.’

He never knew that water currents could be so scary.

Chun Yeowun’s body was swept away at a very high speed.

Thud!

Chun Yeowun wasn’t the only thing that was being swept away.

The dead bodies in the cave were also being swept away.

Swish! Swish!

Besides the corpses, the weapons too were swept away and would occasionally hit Chun Yeowun.

If the Nano Suit was not there to protect him, the sharp swords would have done a great deal of damage.

Of course, because of the Nano Suit, he suffered no injuries.

Bubble! Bubble!

Chun Yeowun, who was being swept away, realized that he was spinning around a huge cave.

‘No!’

He was swept away suddenly, so he didn’t realize it then, but now he knew.

He was in the giant cave where the Sky Flash had pierced.

He never knew how far in the holes were drilled, but it seemed like the swords of the Sky Flash pierced pretty deep.

[Remaining oxygen 60%.]

Almost half of the oxygen had been consumed.

‘It’s dangerous to get sucked in any deeper.’

Chun Yeowun, who thought about the worst-case scenario, tried to withstand the current and move his body.

Pang!

‘Ach!’

However, instead of overcoming the pressure, he was still being swept away.

The power of the spinning current was so great that it was almost as if he was battling a mountain.

Thud! Thud!

His body kept hitting the walls.

Chun Yeowun saw the broken swords which were pierced into the walls of the cave.

‘I need to hold onto that!’

Chun Yeowun decided that he would hold onto the wall and withstand the pressure.

Chun Yeowun, who was concentrating, waited for the moment he was going to hit a wall again.

The chance came.

‘Now!’

At that moment, Chun Yeowun moved his body to collide with the wall and thrust his left fist into it.

Kwang!

He had to hold on with his left hand as his right hand was holding the core.

Chun Yeowun, who held onto the wall with the help of the Nano suit, barely managed to avoid getting swept away.

Tak!

However, due to the speed of the current, he was pushed quite far.

Chun Yeowun felt something supporting his back.

Shh!

He managed to stop getting pushed away thanks to a thick metal stick, which stuck to him like a backrest.

‘Haha... thank god. The weapons are stuck on the wall... huh?’

Chun Yeowun turned his head to look at the metal stick which was supporting him.

It was no ordinary weapon.

It was a gorgeous golden staff that radiated cold qi.

‘This is?’

He had never seen anything like this among his enemies.

It wasn’t an unusual amount of cold qi.

It was just the wand that looked unusual. Upon closer inspection, he noticed that something was engraved on it.

‘Nano enlarge the text.’

[Understood.]

At Chun Yeowun’s command, Nano scanned the text and displayed it.

The white particles showed what was engraved on the staff, and Chun Yeowun felt interested in it.

‘Isn’t that martial arts?’

Shockingly, the phrases written on it were the long characters used to write martial arts.

The name of the martial artist was written on top of the engraving,

[Ice Cold of Heaven]

It was an ice technique that cold qi users knew.

Seeing the text, Chun Yeowun’s eyes trembled.

‘Ha!’

Ice Cold of Heaven is a cold qi technique that is supposed to be learned and handed down by the palace King of the North Sea Ice Palace.

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

It was a legendary staff with a technique that was incomparable to any other technique. It was strong enough to freeze the dragon spirit for hundreds of years.

‘Well, how did the situation turn out like this?’

Getting swept away was supposed to be the worst outcome.

However, the disaster coincidentally led to the discovery of the sacred object of the Ice Palace, which ended up getting lost along with the sealed Dragon Turtle hundreds of years ago.

Chapter 429 - Divine Object (1)

Chapter 429: Divine Object (1)

Once upon a time, a bloody disaster occurred in the North Sea.

An existence that couldn't be stopped with manpower.

As one of the five Spirit Beasts, the Dragon Turtle appeared in the North Sea Ice Palace, putting it on the verge of extinction.

At that time, a warrior decided to risk his life to stop the dragon.

He was the fifth king of the North Sea Ice Palace, Dan Seojung.

Although he was the best warrior of his time, he lacked the ability to kill the dragon, a spirit beast.

In the end, Seojung came up with an extreme method to save the palace.

He frantically slaughtered numerous royals in the palace and lured the dragon, which had devastated the North Sea, into a hidden cave in the North Sea Ice Palace.

The place where the sacred objects of the Ice Palace, the tablets of the previous kings, and the visions of martial arts were kept hidden.

The secret place was made entirely of Adularia stone and was difficult for anyone trapped in it to get out.

Adularia stone, which had the property of becoming harder while absorbing the cold outside, played a major role. Since so much Adularia stone was gathered in one place, the barrier was very strong.

Seojung, who lured the dragon into a trap, succeeded in locking him up with the help of Ice Cold of Heaven.

However, due to using the Ice Cold of Heaven, the technique ended up hibernating for a long time.

Bubble!

In the dark cave, bubbles rose.

Chun Yeowun's eyes scanned the structure of the Ice Cold of Heaven.

It seemed different for some reason.

'Is this possible?'

He was shocked to see what was written on the orb of the staff.

The Ice Cold of Heaven could be divided into five forms. It can be made into cold ironstone by injecting cold qi into any hard material such as stone when one reaches the basic third or fourth level.

'When one reaches the fourth level, would it be possible to make cold iron by injecting cold qi?'

He had heard about cold iron being formed with the help of cold qi, but he never thought that it was actually possible.

It was written that when one reached the fifth level of cold qi, one could create cold iron with an intensity comparable to the coldest season.

‘Cold iron as cold as winter?’

It wasn’t easy to believe that.

Even the ice swords created by cold qi were weak.

And whenever they collided with a weapon inserted with qi, they broke right away.

‘If this is really possible...’

Chun Yeowun would be able to use the ice swords without having to use any other general weapon.

Bubble! Bubble!

He looked at the wall, which reflected the rising bubbles.

If possible, he might be able to climb the wall at high speed and break through the swords to reach the ground.

He had already reached the basic fifth level of cold qi cultivation needed.

When he reached the Divine Master level, he had overcome all the boundaries of cultivation.

But,

[Remaining oxygen 33%]

‘Sigh...’

He was running out of time.

In order to use the Ice Cold of Heaven, he had to raise his cold qi from the first level.

He wasn't supposed to directly jump to the 5th level.

[Remaining oxygen 30%]

With Nano's voice, the augmented reality's field of view turned red.

A sign of danger.

The current was still spinning wildly, sucking everything in. Chun Yeowun was getting impatient.

[Remaining Oxygen 28%]

'Damn it, I'm running out of time.'

It was the moment when Chun Yeowun turned impatient, looking at the decreasing amount of oxygen.

Nano's voice echoed in his head.

[Remaining amount of oxygen is supplemented by extracting the dissolved oxygen in the water.]

'What is this?'

Surprisingly, strong air bubbles were touching the Nano Suit, and the remaining amount of oxygen displayed on the augmented reality screen began to go up.

Bubble! Bubble!

[Oxygen produced 30%

Oxygen produced 32%

Oxygen produced 34%]

As the remaining oxygen level went up, the red warning light disappeared.

Chun Yeowun, who thought it would be difficult to breathe, was shocked.

‘... shocking.’

He didn’t know that the Nano Suit had such a feature.

This meant that Chun Yeowun wouldn’t have trouble breathing anymore.

If he had known this beforehand, he would have reacted to the situation calmer.

‘Nano... if there is a guide to the uses of the Nano Suit, transfer it to my brain.’

[Understood.]

He hurried into the cave, and Chun Yeowun knew that it was due to his negligence that he didn’t fully understand the suit and its uses.

On the other hand, he was amazed at the limitless abilities of Nano.

Just by releasing some locks, amazing functions got unlocked, and he wondered how strong it would be if all the locks were released.

‘Firstly, I need to get out of here. Nano. Transfer the Ice Cold of Heaven technique and theory into my brain.’

[Understood. Would you like it to be done right now?]

‘Yes!’

At a similar time,

“The site of the ruined North Sea Ice Palace! I need to save the Lord!”

“Mun Ku! Calm down! How will you even enter that swirling water!”

Ko Wanghur managed to stop Mun Ku from rushing in.

No one could ever come back alive from a water current swirling that deeply and violently.

“Lord! He was supposed to come out right away!”

Even Hu Bong turned teary-eyed as he looked at the swirling water.

It was unbelievable though. Chun Yeowun should have escaped a lot earlier than them.

‘What could have happened...’

They were unaware of the presence of Sang Dal, the Slaughter Blade Master, who appeared after the Six Swords escaped.

Seeing the broken people of the Demon Cult, Moyong Kang couldn’t hide his joy.

‘Does this mean that the Demon God couldn’t get out of the cave? Ahhh! What great luck!’

From the viewpoint of Yulin, this was the best situation.

If the Lord of the Demonic Cult, who went to get the Dragon Turtle's core, had failed to escape and died, the Yulin achieved what they wanted.

'For the sake of the Forces of Justice, heaven has helped us! Since the core of the dragon didn't get taken by anyone, I can rest easily!'

Unlike Moyong Kang, Jegal Sohi looked at the water with a bewildered expression.

It was shocking that the monstrous Demon God couldn't get out of the cave.

'In the face of a natural disaster, even you, the Demon God, couldn't escape.'

As a member of Yulin, she was supposed to be glad, but why did she feel bitter?

The reason why they were all alive was because Chun Yeowun had killed the dragon and dealt with all the members of the Blade God Six Martial clan.

For the benefit of the Forces of Justice, she had turned her eyes away from injustice several times before.

Convincing herself that it was all for the sake of the Forces of Justice's future.

'What kind of... faction are we?'

Whoo!

She pursed her lips.

The bitter feeling soon turned into skepticism.

Meanwhile, a group of people approached the place where Dan Jucheon, the deputy king, and the other surviving elders stood.

They were the guards directly under the control of the palace and the council.

‘Council... Dan Baekhyun!’

Anger rose in the eyes of Dan Jucheon, who was looking at Dan Baekhyun.

At first, he thought that Baekhyun moved to kill the dragon.

But when he thought about the current situation of the Ice Palace, where more than half of the people were dead, and the palace turned into ruins, it seemed like everything was the prince’s fault.

‘If my brother didn’t make him the prince!’

This situation would have never happened.

They had entered the cave by breaking down the ice while trying to recover the hidden treasure.

At that time, an elder of the council Sol Am-baek, gave the royal order.

“Catch Dan Jucheon, the instigator of treason, and everyone beside him, detain them right away.”

“Yes!”

The council had been waiting for this very moment.

This was the right moment to subdue the injured Dan Jucheon and the other elders.

Seol Young-gwi, shouted at the sight of guards approaching them.

“On whose orders are you moving right now? Didn’t you people break the rules of the palace and set up an unqualified prince, creating this kind of chaos!”

“Huh! Who was the one who brought in outsiders and drove the king to death! These kinds of words are often heard from people like you, Elder Seol!”

Sol Am-baek responded to those words.

At that 8th elder, Baek Hak asked with a puzzled expression.

“I don’t get this at all. Why bring in the outsiders? Wasn’t it that the prince, whom you supported, brought in the wicked people of the Demonic Cult and caused this situation?”

“Ha! Are you actually blaming the prince for the situation you caused! Stop with your bullshit! Catch them now!”

“What!”

When they tried to subdue them, the elders who supported Dan Jucheon tried to fight back.

This would normally lead to a civil war.

At that time, Dan Jucheon, who had been silent till then, spoke in a voice full of anger while watching the prince, Dan Baekhyun.

“Baekhyun. If you, who isn’t qualified to become the crown prince, were handed the title, do you really think that the council will actually understand and follow you?”

He tried very hard not to hate his nephew.

But he no longer wanted to.

As a response, Baekhyun brought out the words he always kept inside.

“Uncle Dan! If you really thought that I didn’t deserve the title, you should have officially requested it from the royal council. I don’t want to hear this from you, who for your own ambition, brought in outsiders who harmed your own family!”

Baekhyun had been upset too. All the emotions he had kept buried inside him for all this time rose to the surface.

Dan Jucheon, the deputy king, spoke with a twisted expression.

“Elder Seol was right. I should have taken care of you right then. At least now, I will correct it.”

Goo!

With those words, cold qi rushed towards Baekhyun’s body.

No matter how frightened he was of Chun Yeowun, Dan Jucheon was still one of the top warriors in the North.

He had the ability to deal with the council and their guards alone.

“Wh-what are you doing right now! Dan Jucheon!”

At the urgent cry of Sol Am-baek, Dan Jucheon smiled bitterly.

“Elder Sol! I am trying to figure out the situation. Did you think that I wouldn’t act just because we surrendered to the Demonic Cult? I am doing this to prevent the royals from dying in the hands of the Lord of the Demonic Cult. And if he died and Baekhyun dies, we won't have..."

It was then.

Rumble!

Before he could finish his words, the ground shook.

"Huh!"

"E-earthquake!"

They all wondered if the land they were standing on would collapse.

However, it was different from an earthquake.

'Strong. This is...'

Something thrilling and intense could be felt beneath the ground.

It was at that moment.

Bang! Kwang!

Intense light erupted from a place not far from where they were standing.

Everyone turned their eyes at the unfamiliar light.

"W-what is that?"

Moyong Kang, who looked at it, mumbled with terrified eyes.

"N-no way..."

He didn't want it to happen, but the light was energy.

Suddenly, the rays of light which spewed out disappeared, and a column of water sprung up.

However, a black figure appeared above the water.

Swoosh!

The moment the black figure was noticed, the cultists shouted at once.

“Woahhhhh!!!!”

“The Lord!!!”

Chun Yeowun, who was wearing the black armor, no Nano Suit, floated in the air.

Twelve brilliant ice swords were spinning around him.

“N-no, that's ridiculous!”

“He... he survived?”

Unlike the happy Demonic Cult, the Yulin and the warriors of the Ice Palace were all confused.

Dan Jucheon, who just released his energy, looked at him.

‘Does this mean that he isn't a human?’

He came back alive from a natural disaster.

It was impossible for him to make it out alive from that water with luck alone.

At a loss for words, he looked at the golden staff in the left hand of Chun Yeowun.

“Th... that?”

Not just him, but the others too.

There was no way that the elders of the palace wouldn't know about the golden staff.

It was a staff similar to the one the stone statue in the main altar of the Ice Palace held in its hand.

“Ice Cold Staff!”

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

Ice Cold staff.

It had been lost for a long time, a lost treasure of the Ice Palace.

In a situation where everyone was shocked, Prince Baekhyun spoke with a smile on his face while looking at Dan Jucheon.

“You were saying something about the Lord of the Demonic Cult?”

Chapter 430 - Divine Object (2)

Chapter 430: Divine Object (2)

Ice Cold staff.

An object left behind by Dan Yeong, the founder of the North Sea Ice Palace.

The reason why the gold brilliance did not die down despite the passing of so many years was because of the material.

It is said that a star fell into the North long ago.

It was said that Dan Yeong, a researcher born outside the North, was a master in using cold qi and made this object out of the material from the star.

Since the star, the meteorite, couldn't be made into a staff with its material alone, he mixed it with high purity gold and made the staff.

However, for some reason, the Ice Cold Staff was left in the underground site of the palace, where the tablets were stored.

However, there was one legend that everyone in the palace knew.

'Ice Cold Staff, the hidden staff is known to be found only by the true palace king!'

The golden staff glimmered in the eyes of Dan Jucheon.

Because of that legend, the previous royal family tried to break down the Adularia stone and find the sacred object.

It was because no matter how incompetent the prince was, all the people in the palace would side with him if he gets the divine object.

“What were you saying about the Lord of Demonic Cult?”

A smile spread across the prince’s face.

When he found out that the Lord of the Demonic Cult was alive, he couldn’t hide his relief.

He was the only one who could suppress Dan Jucheon.

‘Thank god. If Lord Chun had really died, everything would be over.’

If Chun Yeowun had really died, he wouldn’t have been able to take revenge for the unjust killing of the previous king.

Sol Am-baek, the elder of the council, hurried the people and gave orders again after seeing Chun Yeowun.

“Hurry up and arrest them!”

“Yes!”

As if waiting for the orders, the guards responded loudly and tried to subdue them.

He thought that there would be no further resistance because Chun Yeowun had been resurrected.

But something unexpected happened.

“You cheeky bastards! Let go of me!”

Pang!

The two guards who tried to capture Dan Jucheon were thrown back.

“Kuak!”

“Kuk!”

Baekhyun and the others couldn't hide their bewilderment at the strong, unbending appearance.

If it weren't for him, the other elders who sided with Dan Jucheon would have surrendered.

However, Dan Jucheon was a Supreme Master who wasn't going to back down.

“Da-Dan Jucheon! Are you really going to fight it to the end?”

“There are a lot of men who wouldn't be able to touch a hair on my body! Once this matter gets resolved, I will never let this go!”

Flinch!

At the bloody pressure emanating from him, the guards took a step back.

They were gripped by a strong fear that they would die if they got close.

Dan Jucheon shouted back at Chun Yeowun, who was still floating.

“Lord Chun!!!”

‘Huh? What is this man trying to do?’

Far from being afraid of Chun Yeowun, when he called him, everyone seemed to be in awe.

It was an act which Dan Jucheon would have never done.

Chun Yeowun survived, and Dan Jucheon tried to covet the core which rightfully belonged to the Demonic Cult.

And if he was bound to bump into Chun Yeowun, he decided to go all out.

‘Apart from the core, conflicts will arise in the palace. We need to stop the Demonic Cult from intervening! If he promises not to interfere, everything can be resolved.’

He called Chun Yeowun, thinking that, but Chun Yeowun didn’t even look at him.

“Lord Chun...!?”

Chun Yeowun, who was floating, went down to the place where the Demonic Cult was standing.

There was no way that Chun Yeowun would talk to him as soon as he came back from a disaster.

‘I need to get that staff!’

That was the priority.

If the staff fell into the hands of Baekhyun, everything would come to an end for Dan Jucheon.

Tat!

“Ah! Dan Jucheon!”

Dan Jucheon hurriedly looked at where Chun Yeowun was.

An old man from the council clicked his tongue.

“Tch, he’s asking for his own grave.”

The Demonic Cult already had the core on their side. Trying anything with them wasn’t the right choice.

However, Sol Am-baek knew what Dan Jucheon was trying and urged Baekhyun.

“Prince! You need to move. Dan Jucheon is aiming for the —!”

“Divine Object.”

They realized what Dan Jucheon wanted.

He wanted to make a deal with Chun Yeowun and obtain the Divine Object.

If Dan Jucheon gives up his pride and surrenders to Chun Yeowun, and swears an oath of allegiance, he would achieve what he wanted.

Phat!

Baekhyun and Sol Am-baek hurriedly moved.

It became weird.

The guards, who didn’t know what was happening, decided to pursue them.

In the current situation, the one who holds the Divine Object will be the one to secure the position of King.

“Follow the King!”

“We need to help the deputy King!”

Both sides headed to the place where the cultists were standing.

On the other hand, Chun Yeowun, who came back from the disaster, was warmly welcomed by the cultists.

Of course, not everyone cheered.

“Lord! I told you to stop surprising me like this! What if something went wrong and Lord... ugh.”

He had no choice but to appease Mun Ku, who was wailing.

“Mun Ku is right. Lord! Please listen to us!”

“Hmm!”

Hu Bong and the other Six Swords also chimed in, and Chun Yeowun let out a bitter laugh as he heard their nagging.

Since they shared the joys and sorrows in their lives since the early days of the academy, he was well aware of their worries.

“But, Lord, the staff?”

Marakim asked.

It was clear that the sparks coming from his right hand was the core of the dragon.

Just by looking at it, one could feel the tremendous energy it was radiating.

However, the golden staff was unusual.

Whew!

“It has amazing qi.”

Chun Yeowun was suppressing its qi, and still the qi felt from it wasn't normal.

Despite the North being cold, the cold qi from the staff was chilling.

Chun Yeowun casually responded.

“It seems like a Divine Object of the North.”

“Divine Object? Ah!”

When they heard the word ‘Divine Object’, they recalled the story Baekhyun told them.

They knew what the former king was trying to find.

They didn't know how Chun Yeowun got it, but it clearly held great power.

“Lord. Then will you hand it over to the prince?”

Chun Yeowun answered a little flustered at Mun Ku's question.

“I did think so, but the staff...”

Tatatak!

Before Chun Yeowun could finish his words, someone approached them.

Marakim and the other Six Swords blocked him at once.

Visor! Visor! Visor!

“Stop right there!”

“I’m here to meet with Lord Chun!”

The one who arrived was Dan Jucheon.

Marakim, who stopped him, shook his head.

“I warn you, wait until the Lord responds.”

In the underground, Dan Jucheon gave up in the battle with Marakim and expressed his intention to surrender.

No matter how hard they tried in the underground, they were unable to overpower the Demonic Cult because the swordsmanship of the Six Swords and Marakim overwhelmed the warriors of the Ice Palace.

‘This is for the future of the Ice Palace. I should throw away all of my pride.’

Thud!

At that moment, Dan Jucheon knelt on the floor.

Marakim’s eyes narrowed at the unexpected actions.

Dan Jucheon, who displayed that he had no intention of opposing them, asked again.

“Please let me speak with Lord Chun!”

At the earnest request, Marakim looked back at Chun Yeowun.

Chun Yeowun took a step and then walked forward.

“Talk about what?”

As a response to the blunt question, Dan Jucheon banged his head onto the floor.

Thud!

“I apologize for trying to covet the core!”

Although he was the deputy king, the Ice Palace, the highest head of the North, he folded his pride and apologized.

All the cultists who had been hostile at the Ice Palace warriors couldn’t hide their fluster.

When Chun Yeowun remained silent, Dan Jucheon continued to speak.

“I wanted to increase my power by acquiring the core, the treasure of heaven and earth, but it goes against the doctrine which says the one who kills gets the core. I know I was in the wrong. Please forgive me.”

It wasn’t easy for a Supreme Master to throw away his pride.

In reality, it was almost as if the man had expressed his intention to surrender.

“I know that apology isn’t enough. Of course, I won’t just give up the core and corpse of the dragon, but I will do whatever Lord Chun wants, even if it is to abandon the alliance with the Yulin and form an alliance with you.”

‘!!!’

Woong!

An unconventional suggestion came out of his mouth.

Giving up the alliance with Yulin.

Suspension of all official activities with Yulin meant that they would give up on all the power they held outside the North.

Chun Yeowun, who had been silent, opened his mouth.

“... what do you need when you are making such an offer?”

Neither one of them was a light suggestion.

What he was willing to do would make the Yulin contingents extremely unhappy.

They had come all the way to the North to help them because of the alliance, and now this man was willing to end it.

“If I am given two favors, I’m willing to give anything that Lord Chun wants.”

“Ha! How dare you propose a deal with our Lord?”

Hu Bong asked in a serious tone.

Dan Jucheon decided to throw away his pride for the survival of the North Sea Ice Palace.

“Interesting. What are the favors?”

He didn’t have to listen, yet Chun Yeowun asked.

Feeling relieved, Dan Jucheon spoke.

“The first one, please don’t interfere in the matters of the palace. Each side has their own reasons. I hope you understand that.”

He spoke directly.

In a way, he was asking Chun Yeowun to not interfere, like helping Baekhyun out.

As long as he could get Chun Yeowun to agree to that, the prince could be dealt with.

“The second one?”

“The golden staff that Lord Chun is holding is a Divine object of the palace. So please hand it...”

It was then.

“Noooo! Lord Chun!”

An urgent cry from afar.

Baekhyun and elder Sol Am-baek.

As they were lower in martial arts than Dan Jucheon, they arrived late.

“Lord Chun. You mustn’t hand that staff over to that person!”

It was shocking how the man had asked for the staff.

If the staff went into the hands of Dan Jucheon, the hearts of the royal officials would change.

“How dare you interfere in the conversation of the two heads?”

Goo!

Dan Jucheon, who was on the ground, stood up and threatened them.

He didn't want anyone to disturb his conversation with the Lord of the Demonic Cult.

Baekhyun pointed his finger at Dan Jucheon and shouted.

"Lord Chun. This man said that you died inside the cave, and no demon..."

"What nonsense are you talking about!"

Phat!

When Baekhyun was trying to repeat what Dan Jucheon had said earlier, the deputy king tried to close the mouth of Baekhyun as he brought out his weapon.

Dan Jucheon, who narrowed the distance in an instant, aimed his weapon at Baekhyun's neck.

"Ugh!"

But,

Shhh!

Before he could reach Baekhyun, someone stopped him.

It was Marakim.

Despite moving half a beat later than Dan Jucheon, he blocked him.

Papapa!

As the momentum couldn't be stopped, their arms bumped lightly three times.

Dan Jucheon, who was giving his best, couldn't hide the shock at how effortlessly Marakim moved.

"Prince. Please continue what you were saying."

Marakim, who protected Baekhyun, spoke to the prince.

"Lord, he said that if you didn't exist, no one would be afraid of the cult!"

At that, Dan Jucheon looked at Chun Yeowun with fear.

"Lord Chun! Don't believe that kid. I never said anything like that. I just said that I am not afraid even if I didn't have the protection from the Demonic Cult."

After giving an explanation, he looked at Baekhyun and shouted.

"You really lack the qualifications of a prince. How can you try and solve the internal matters with the help of an outsider?"

"Ha! Are you really saying those words? Is that why you brought in those outsiders and made my father, the former king, die!"

Dan Jucheon bit his lips at those words.

He was ashamed at how he brought in the people of the Blade God Six Martial clan to avoid getting blood on his own hands.

"Deputy King!"

“Prince!”

Grrrrr!

At the same time, the followers of each side arrived.

It turned into a fight between the two sides.

It was horrible for them.

One side didn't want the intervention of others, and the other side wouldn't win if Chun Yeowun didn't intervene.

“Lord Chun! You must remember the request I had earlier? If you don't intervene, I am willing to give you anything you want...”

Even before he could finish, Baekhyun interrupted.

“Lord Chun! Didn't we write a contract in the beginning? The cult and the palace decided to form an alliance...”

“What?! You signed a contract as if you were the representative of the palace!”

Dan Jucheon asked back flustered.

It was absurd that the prince, who had no authority, signed a contract.

‘Noisy.’

Because of Marakim's intervention, Chun Yeowun sighed as he looked at them arguing.

‘This is a success.’

Dan Jucheon, who thought Chun Yeowun sighed at Baekhyun's words, felt happy.

This was his goal.

When the outsider, the Lord of the Demonic Cult, killed Baekhyun for signing a false contract in front of everyone, he could smile.

He had to keep making Baekhyun look like an idiot and make sure that Chun Yeowun wouldn't interfere.

"Baekhyun, if you get help from an outsider, even when you get that divine object, do you think the palace will follow you?"

"That's funny. Then why are you asking Lord Chun to hand it over? Isn't it because you can violate the ordinance with the order?"

The people who were behind mumbled.

The order was something no one could escape.

"The order?"

Baekhyun answered the question of Chun yeowun.

"It is something left behind by the founders of the palace. That those who get the divine object will be recognized as the true king of the palace."

This was the reason why the two of them were trying to hold the staff.

Most of the royals were blood relatives, but they couldn't aim for the throne.

The king would now get decided by whom Chun Yeowun passes the staff to.

Dan Jucheon hurriedly tried to persuade him.

“Lord Chun! Please make the right decision. What good will it do to hand over the divine object to that kid? If you give me the divine object, the palace will fully support your faction!”

Dan Jucheon used the practical approach.

At least he showed that Baekhyun had no power.

It meant that the prince had no power apart from the support of the council and the guards.

“Lord Chun! Don’t fall for this man’s words!

Baekhyun and the others pleaded with Chun Yeowun.

Both sides were the same.

However, the words which came out of Chun Yeowun’s mouth broke everyone’s expectations.

“Did you say that the one who holds this staff is the true king of the Ice Palace?”

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

“Y-yes.”

“But the staff is in my hands.”

‘!?’

Both Dan Jucheon and Baekhyun were stunned at Chun Yeowun's words.

Chapter 431 - Divine Object (3)

Chapter 431: Divine Object (3)

Dan Jucheon and Baekhyun were both speechless.

The two of them nervously anticipated who Chun Yeowun would hand the staff to.

However, they couldn't help but be flustered when he said something completely out of the ordinary.

The reaction of the elders was the same.

'Wh-what the hell is that man talking about?'

'Does he mean that he'll hold onto the Divine Object?'

Some thought so, but the faces of the Six Swords didn't change.

They knew Chun Yeowun wouldn't talk in vain, so they knew exactly what he was going to do.

'We're going to take over the North Sea Ice Palace!'

The original plan was to form an alliance with the Ice Palace.

However, after getting the Divine Object, Chun Yeowun's plans changed.

'Will there be backlash?'

6th Elder Mong Mu was deeply concerned.

Of course, if the North Sea Ice Palace, the hegemon of the North, came under the Demonic Cult, it would be a great achievement.

However, if he tried to absorb them, there could be severe backlash.

“Lord Chun... I think your words just now were out of context. This isn’t something like the Dragon Turtle’s blood. This is the Divine Object of the palace.”

Dan Jucheon, the deputy king of the palace, spoke in a very cautious tone.

Baekhyun was the same.

“Lord Chun. Thank you for all your help, but who would stay still when an outsider covets the Divine Object of the palace?”

Woong!

Even the warriors of the Ice Palace were on edge.

If anyone other than Chun Yeowun had made such a remark, all the warriors of the Ice Palace would’ve been enraged and attacked.

However, they didn’t do that because he held the Divine Object and his monster-like strength, which surpassed the limits of human capabilities.

Everyone was hoping that what Chun Yeowun said would be deemed as a joke.

But,

“But didn’t you say it with your own mouth? The one who holds the Divine Object is the true king of the Ice Palace?”

Unfortunately, Chun Yeowun wasn’t joking at all.

He seemed like he really wanted to claim himself the king of the Ice Palace.

‘Ugh, this man!’

Calming his heart, Dan Jucheon opened his mouth.

“Lord Chun. That is not what it means. It isn’t a royal decree. It’s a decree which applies to the family of Dan. It’s not something that applies to everybody in the world.”

“... this mans’ words are right.”

Dan Baekhyun helped him.

It was hard to believe that they were the same people who wanted the other dead a couple minutes back.

If they didn’t, they’d lose their power.

“This is interesting. I don’t remember a passage ever saying that I am an outsider.”

“What?”

Thud!

Chun Yeowun put the golden staff he was holding in his left hand on the ground.

And then, a piece of paper that was engraved with energy appeared.

All the royals who saw the writing on the paper couldn't hide their surprise.

"Oh..."

Dan Jucheon and Baekhyun, too, looked at it with bewildered eyes.

"Those who have obtained the Ice Cold Staff are the ones qualified to be the true palace kings! Wasn't this it?"

The prince and deputy king couldn't deny anything.

It was the royal order engraved right in front of the statue of Dan Young, in front of the main palace.

They didn't know that Chun Yeowun, who only stopped for a second near the main palace, would accurately remember it.

"Do you think that I easily got my hands on the Divine Object? Why haven't the other lords who served the palace and the successive ones been able to find it until now?"

Wooong!

The reaction of the warriors changed with Chun Yeowun's words.

It was obviously a nonsensical point, but Chun Yeowun was the one who killed the Dragon Turtle and saved the palace's people.

In addition, he also ended up finding the Divine Object, which was buried underground, which would have sunk into the lake if not found by him.

In that way, regardless of him being an outsider, his heroic actions dominated their minds.

‘Prince does have the legitimacy, but his skills are insufficient to the point where he can’t even properly use the Divine Palm of the Ice God.’

If he ends up being the king of the North Sea Ice Palace, he is supposed to have cold qi and be a Supreme Master.

He’s supposed to have silver hair, not black hair.

‘The deputy king is strong in the North Sea... but he is still a traitor who brought in outsiders to awaken the dragon and kill the former king.’

When one starts making comparisons, it ends.

The wave, which only started with keeping the Dan family on the throne, began to think that someone like Chun Yeowun would be a nice king.

As opinions changed, both Dan Jucheon and Baekhyun began to sense a crisis.

‘No way... are the royal officials thinking?’

‘Baekhyun... Baekhyun... you made the worst move.’

Dan Jucheon shook his head.

All this wouldn’t have happened if Baekhyun hadn’t brought Chun Yeowun.

The hearts of the royals who were dissatisfied with the succession of the royal prince were leaning towards Dan Jucheon.

However, when they learned about the truth of him bringing in outsiders to kill the former king, the gazes of the young officials changed.

‘It shouldn’t have turned out like this. Once they start thinking, everything gets out of control. I can’t let Chun Yeowun sweep them away!’

The Ice Palace couldn’t be handed down to anyone outside the Dan family.

When a situation like this came, Dan Jucheon sent a telepathic message to Baekhyun, who was also struggling to solve the problem.

[Do you realize what you have done?]

[You are the last person I want to hear those words from.]

[... Well, this isn’t good. If we don’t overcome the situation, the palace will fall into the hands of that evil demon. It is an entirely separate issue from an alliance. You wouldn’t want that either.]

With a darkened expression, Baekhyun nodded his head.

At that, Dan Jucheon made a suggestion.

[You’re a part of the lineage of the king. You know that very well. The secret hidden inside the order.]

[Ah!]

Baekhyun’s eyes widened at the words of Dan Jucheon.

He was a little confused, but then he understood.

[Ice Cold staff, the Divine Object, chooses its owner. It can only be taken by qualified people. Do you remember what the qualification was?]

[... blood of the Dan family!]

[Yes. No matter how strong the Demon God is, he cannot be chosen. Aim for that.]

An oral tradition passed down to the people of the Dan family in the Ice Palace.

As Dan Jucheon said, the Divine Object chooses its owner as if the staff was alive.

Only the Dan family, the royal family, knew about it, and they had to use that to reverse the mood of the officials.

“Lord Chun! Did you know about this by any chance?”

Dan Jucheon spoke loud enough that everyone could hear.

“Ice Cold Staff, the Divine Object of the palace, can choose its owner!”

“Oooh!”

“A spirit resides in it!”

At those words, the officials turned to him.

Although they weren’t of royal blood, they had heard the rumors which passed through the palace.

The truth is that Divine Objects weren’t simple items.

“What do you mean?”

It was Baekhyun who reacted to Chun Yeowun's dull question.

"Lord Chun. If you aren't chosen by the Divine Object, you cannot be called the true king."

"King... is there any way to prove that?"

'Caught him!'

At that question, both of them grinned inwardly.

However, they didn't express it. They proceeded with what they intended to do.

"The Divine Object was made by the person who founded the North Sea Ice Palace. Of course, we can prove that!"

With a smile, Chun Yeowun spoke.

"Interesting."

With those words, he boldly picked up the golden staff and stuck it in the ground.

They thought that there should be a little more persuasion, but Chun Yeowun casually gave them a chance.

'... he must be convinced that there is no such thing since he held onto the staff.'

Dan Jucheon guessed it by looking at Chun Yeowun.

Having found the Divine Object and touching it, he thought Chun Yeowun would know more about it.

However, ownership couldn't be proven by just touching it.

‘You will regret giving me a chance. Young Lord of the Demonic Cult.’

Dan Jucheon looked at Baekhyun and calmly pointed at the golden staff with his hand.

As if to give him the first chance.

At that, the council and the guards of the Ice Palace looked at Baekhyun with eyes full of anticipation.

If he proves himself, no one would deny his power.

‘He thinks I’m not qualified and is giving me a chance on purpose.’

Whoop!

Looking at Dan Jucheon’s confident expression, Baekhyun grunted.

‘I will break that confidence of yours.’

Baekhyun slowly approached the golden staff.

Looking at it intently, he took a deep breath.

‘Father... and the previous kings of the palace, please help me so that the Divine Object does not fall into the hands of that traitor!’

Hoping, Baekhyun reached out his hand.

Tak!

It was that moment.

Jjjjjk!

“Ugh! Han-hand... kuaaak!”

Everyone was shocked.

Baekhyun’s hand, which held onto the staff, turned into ice because of the unimaginable coldness.

As if the staff was really alive.

‘The cold qi is gushing out!’

‘Is the prince really being chosen!’

Everyone’s attention was focused.

At that time, Sol Am-baek, the elder from the council, who judged that Baekhyun was in trouble, yelled.

“Prince! Use the Divine Palm of the Ice God! You need to endure it to be chosen!”

‘Divine Palm of the Ice God!’

Amid the pain, Baekhyun heard him and quickly tried to unfold it.

He only reached the fifth level, but there didn’t seem to be another way to endure the cold.

Swoosh!

When he used that, Baekhyun’s hair turned to silver.

It was that moment when he, who was unfolding the technique, tried to endure the cold.

Bounce!

“Kuak!”

Baekhyun’s body bounced back as if it had been hit.

“Prince!”

Shocked, the elders and guards who supported him ran towards him.

However, Baekhyun’s right arm was completely frozen.

“Ho-how can this...”

“Did that mean the prince wasn’t chosen?”

They couldn’t hide the miserable feeling.

With his legitimacy and their loyalty to the previous king, they supported the prince, despite knowing that he lacked the qualities of a king.

However, they didn’t know that the Divine Object wouldn’t choose him.

Tak!

“Prince, I will help with driving away the cold qi.”

Sitting next to him, elder Sol Am-baek decided to disperse the cold qi which had frozen his hand.

Meanwhile, Dan Jucheon smiled and slowly walked towards the golden staff.

A sound entered Baekhyun’s ears.

[You were thoughtless. Baekhyun. There was one thing you didn’t know.]

Baekhyun, who was concentrating on driving away the cold qi, had to listen to what was said.

Dan Jucheon stood in front of the staff and continued to speak.

[Of course, the bloodline of the Dan family is a qualification, but there is something more important. As you know, by experiencing it yourself, you need to have the strength to conquer the staff and claim it.]

‘....’

[It’s not something that a kid who only reached the fifth level can claim.]

Clench!

Baekhyun, who couldn’t move, felt resentful.

Regardless of that, Dan Jucheon spoke to Chun Yeowun in a polite voice.

“Lord Chun. Can I prove myself?”

“Go on.”

Dan Jucheon looked back at all the people and then smiled.

The moment he’s chosen by the Divine Object, he will be accepted as king.

Even the elders who opposed him will accept him if he gets chosen by the staff.

‘Here goes!’

Swoosh!

An intense cold emanated from Dan Jucheon's body, who was ready to unfold the Divine Palm of the Ice God.

It had the momentum to freeze everything it touched.

'Such strength!'

'They won't have any choice but to admit my skills.'

Even though they didn't support him, the council admired his power.

Satisfied with the reaction, Dan Jucheon grabbed the golden staff and tried to lift it.

Grab!

He grabbed the staff and tried to lift it with eyes full of joy.

Jjjjak!

"Wh-what's this!"

Dan Jucheon couldn't hide his shock.

Even though he unfolded his strongest technique, the cold qi which entered his hand pained him.

As a Supreme Master, he barely managed to stop the cold qi from freezing him, but he couldn't subdue the cold qi no matter how hard he tried.

Woong!

"Kuak!"

In addition, not only the cold qi, but strong energy rose from the staff.

It was as if the staff refused to be held by him.

“Th-this can’t be. Why... why is it rejecting me!”

It couldn’t be, but the Divine Object didn’t choose him, and the cold qi continued to rebel.

Since he was a Supreme Master, he just kept on forcing himself onto the staff.

Woong!

Even the elders couldn’t hide their wonder at the sight.

According to what Baekhyun and Dan Jucheon said, it was natural for the royal family members to get chosen by the staff.

It was then.

Chun Yeowun reached out towards the staff.

And,

Pak!

“Ahh!”

The staff, which was in Dan Jucheon’s hand, got pulled into Chun Yeowun’s hand.

Shockingly, the Ice Cold staff, which had refused to be held by the two, went towards Chun Yeowun and began to shine.

Gooooo!

“No, that’s absurd! How can this happen?”

Dan Jucheon couldn't understand what he was seeing.

"Ignorant. You should have realized it the moment you caught the Divine Object."

'!?'

Unlike Dan Jucheon, who was stunned, Mun Ku and the Six Swords gleamed.

They remembered what Chun Yeowun said earlier.

'This was why he didn't want to give them the staff.'

It was because Chun Yeowun was already chosen by the Divine Object.

Of course, the staff had already chosen its owner, that was why it was refusing to be held by others.

Woong!

The air around them changed.

'Unbelievable!'

'Isn't the royal family the only one who can hold the Divine Object?'

The elders all looked at Chun Yeowun, who was holding onto the staff.

Chun Yeowun sent a message to Dan Jucheon, who looked helpless.

[Thank you. You gave me a good situation.]

'!!!'

The moment he heard those words, Dan Jucheon's eyes shook.

At first, he thought that Chun Yeowun had fallen into the plan.

But it was all just an illusion.

Chun Yeowun quietly listened to them and gave them a chance knowing that they would fail.

'H-he used us to convince all the warriors!'

As they failed, Chun Yeowun played a more prominent role.

Now there was no way to reverse what they did.

"Is that the Divine Object of the North?"

"Why is it shining in the hands of Lord Chun?"

Moyong Kang and Jegal Sohi, who came to see what the Demonic Cult and Ice Palace were doing gathered together, were shocked at what they saw.

"Nice. We have enough witnesses."

Chun Yeowun saw them, looked at Dan Jucheon, who seemed lost, and raised the Ice Cold Staff.

It wasn't like he was forcing the staff.

"Ohh! Lord of the Divine Object!"

One of the elders naturally fell to his knees and bowed his head to Chun Yeowun.

Tak!

The atmosphere was strange.

As one man knelt down, the others began to bow their heads slowly.

As if they were empowered by unspoken words, all the palace officials and guards bowed in front of Chun Yeowun, as if swearing allegiance, except for a few.

‘How can such a worst-case scenario exist?’

Moyong Kang was at a loss for words.

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

As if the core going into his hands wasn't enough, the Divine Object of the North Sea Ice Palace fell into the hands of Chun Yeowun.

It was unbelievable.

Chun Yeowun looked at Jegal Sohi, Dan Jucheon and Baekhyun, as he spoke calmly.

“Everyone has witnessed it. As of this announcement, the North Sea Ice Palace is mine.”

Chapter 432

Chapter 432: The Five Spirit Beasts (1)

It has been more than a month since the Lord of the Demonic Cult, Chun Yeowun, took the North Sea Ice Palace.

The Ice Palace, which lost its structure, ended up in ruin and in water.

The palace had been passed down from generation to generation for hundreds of years, but rebuilding something which collapsed wasn't an easy task.

Everyone moved to the east from the old site and started to rebuild the palace.

Of course, even if they were planning to build a new palace, making a palace from nothing is still difficult.

Since more than half of the site was submerged in water, working on the site would be difficult. So how could they do it?

“This is great.”

People were looking down from a hill towards the place where many people in white clothes worked.

They were the elders of the North Sea Ice Palace and Baekhyun.

Baekhyun couldn't help but be in awe at the ruins of the palace.

‘Is it possible to achieve that level of greatness if I constantly practiced martial arts?’

It was natural for him to think that way.

The huge hole in the ruined Ice Palace where water began to emerge from was now completely frozen with no trace of water.

Chun Yeowun made it possible.

‘He really is not human.’

He still remembered how Chun Yeowun froze it.

Chun Yeowun, who created ice swords that were as strong as cold steel, froze the water-filled hole by exuding cold qi along with the Sky Flash.

Thanks to that, they were able to start construction without any problem.

“Even if he isn’t related to the North, there is no one else other than him who can do that, right?”

At Baekhyun’s words, Sol Am-baek, who was next to him, nodded and answered.

“He isn’t in a stage where normal people can even be compared to him. Still, it’s only because of him that things went smoothly. King.”

Shockingly, Sol Am-baek called him king.

How did this man turn into the king?

“Right. I ended up misunderstanding the master until I realized his true wisdom.”

Baekhyun thought that everything had been stolen away from him.

He hated how a situation occurred where the throne was being taken away by someone other than a blood relative.

However, in front of the council, Chun Yeowun made an unexpected announcement.

[I will take Prince Dan Baekhyun as my disciple and pass on the Ice Cold of Heaven to him.]

Baekhyun and all the others were puzzled.

But that wasn't the end.

Chun Yeowun, who had promised to take Baekhyun as his disciple, announced that he would step back from being king and pass on the post to his disciple.

Although they acknowledged the Divine Object choosing its owner, the palace people rejoiced when they heard that outsiders weren't going to control them.

'Maybe he was aiming for that since the beginning.'

It didn't matter since one way or another, they knew that they would end up as subordinates of the Demonic Cult.

Just because he entered the academy as Chun Yeowun's disciple, it didn't mean the person in charge would change.

However, Baekhyun, who became the palace king, wasn't countered by any palace officials.

"King. Are there no lessons today?"

One of the elders asked him.

After becoming his disciple, he was taught the Ice Cold of Heaven from Chun Yeowun.

And it was about time for his class.

“They said that they would be interrogating him today.”

Everyone knew who that was.

“... why don't you ask the Lord to execute Dan Jucheon? It's better to get rid of him, even if the elders object to it.”

“That's how the elders think.”

The majority of the elders wanted Dan Jucheon to be executed.

However, along with, elder Seol Young-gwi, one of the instigators, he was currently being confined with his blood points sealed.

“If he is executed, the backlash from him and those who support him will increase.”

“Hmm...”

Baekhyun didn't know if the elders thought of that.

However, the problem was that there were still many followers of Dan Jucheon.

Baekhyun's supporter, Chun Yeowun, displayed the martial arts of the North Sea Ice palace and eroded some dissatisfaction, but the words of Dan Jucheon, in the end, caused a big stir.

[Kill me! I will never follow you!]

From his stand, he said that he would never work under the Lord of the Demonic Cult and asked to be executed.

Judging that he had lost everything, he was ready to accept death and even gained the support of a few officials.

Moyong Kang and Jegal Sohi of the Yulin thought that Chun Yeowun would get rid of the ones who rebelled, but shockingly, he did no such thing.

[I'm not a resident of this place, if I execute him here, will you and your men be able to handle the consequences?]

Baekhyun was unable to respond to Chun Yeowun's question.

Right now, the Ice Palace was oppressed under the power of Chun Yeowun, but one day, when he leaves, the backlash will resurface.

At that time, Baekhyun accepted Chun Yeowun's decision.

'... I don't know. But keeping him alive is dangerous. Wouldn't it be better to deal with the opposition?'

Whenever the elders were concerned, such thoughts would enter their minds.

But, the final decision would be made today.

‘Because this is going to be the last interrogation...’

It wasn't known why Chun Yeowun was interrogating Dan Jucheon for the last time today.

At the same time, the temporary detention room in the reconstruction site of the Ice Palace.

In the middle of the site, which was full of barracks, there was only one building made of ice, an ice prison built by Chun Yeowun with the newly found Ice Cold of Heaven technique.

An ice prison that was cold enough to make even Dan Jucheon's body go numb and unable to move.

‘This is really the Ice Cold of Heaven technique.’

Cold qi couldn't be produced to such an extent.

It was lucky that the technique was found, but learning it would be impossible.

‘Did he have no problems learning it because he is past human limitations?’

In the past, one of the five strongest warriors of Wulin used cold qi. Despite being above Dan Jucheon in strength, he wasn’t exemplary in cold qi.

There was no other way to say it, but Chun Yeowun is a true monster.

‘I thought I would die from the cold.’

Regret.

Being imprisoned like that, it was hard waiting for death.

It was then.

Keek!

The entrance to the ice prison was opened, and someone entered.

It was hard to see the man because of the light behind him, but he could guess who he was by looking at his long hair.

‘Lord Chun.’

Chun Yeowun, the Lord of the Demonic Cult who visited him just three days ago.

However, the atmosphere was different from when he first saw him.

Gooooo!

‘Kuk!’

He wasn’t sure since he had been inside the ice prison for a long time, but being close to Yeowun made him run out of breath.

‘... he completely absorbed the core!’

Dan Jucheon bit his tongue.

He never knew that the core, which held humongous energy, could be absorbed in such a short time.

He was a monster before absorbing the core. Dan Jucheon couldn’t even imagine what Chun Yeowun was now.

At that time, Chun Yeowun approached,

Step!

He unsealed Dan Jucheon’s blood points.

Chun Yeowun, who unsealed the blood points, spoke first.

“We found the body of Wong Sangho, the elder of the Ice Palace who disappeared.”

“ ... ”

“Based on your words, one charge on them for the missing dragon head has been dropped.”

At Chun Yeowun’s words, he bit his lip.

“... No.”

He said one charge.

It was said that one of the heads of the Dragon Turtle, which should have been on the western side of the ruins near the Demonic Cult’s barracks, had disappeared.

At that time, the whereabouts of Won Sangho, an elder who followed Dan Jucheon, were unknown, and then his body was found.

Dan Jucheon claimed that it wasn’t him, but his innocence wasn’t proven. Fortunately, the palace officials who were working on the reconstruction found Won Sangho’s frozen body.

“It could be the Yulin.”

Dan Jucheon argued that it must be Yulin who stole the head.

And it made sense.

The Blade God Six Martial clan could have stolen it too, but they later found that a few people of the Yulin had gone missing.

Lieutenant Mak Wijong, the temporary captain of the Black Shadow troops, had disappeared along with some other men.

Moyong Kang and Jegal Sohi claimed that they disappeared to find the core, but since they couldn't find Mak Wijong in the underground despite coming across the Blade God Six Martial clan, Yulin was at the top of the suspect list.

However, Chun Yeowun didn't think like that.

“No. It isn’t the Yulin.”

“... what do you mean by that? Weren’t there people of that faction who disappeared?”

“Some of their bodies have been found.”

“What?”

Shockingly, the bodies of some of the men of the Black Shadow troops were found two days ago.

A hundred miles to the southeast, people found their corpses which were left behind after animals ate them.

The corpses were extremely damaged, but there was one thing that couldn’t be hidden.

“There were traces of the Blade God Six Martial clans’ martial arts on their bodies.”

“No? ... So they stole it?”

Dan Jucheon's eyes trembled at the results.

The Red Mountains of Lhasa.

The Potala Palace which was located on an alpine mountain at an altitude of 12,139 feet.

The Potala Palace was known to be the sacred place of the Bodhisattva.

It was a mystery how the palace was built in such a high place.

The building, made of a mixture of granite and wood, had a white exterior wall and a dark red roof.

The majestic palace towering over the mountain left viewers in awe.

Normally, everyone would look at it in awe.

However, there was a problem with the palace.

The Potala Palace was divided into two parts; the White Palace and the Red Palace. The ruler, the Dalai Lama, was in charge of the affairs and held religious ceremonies in the Red Palace.

The Red Palace, where one would normally hear the recitation of sutras, was completely gone.

Half of the palace was in ruins as there had been a war, and in the middle of it, more than a thousand bodies were burning.

Fire!

“Ugh.”

A man shook his head at the smell of the burning flesh.

Among the black soot, a bunch of sparkling white marbles could be seen.

They were called Sarira or relics and they gave off a mysterious light.

“They came out in large numbers because there were a lot of monks.”

The Potala Palace was full of the monks’ disciples.

When the dead Dalai Lama was burned in the perpetrator’s hands, the relics that came out of him were equal to what came out of ten disciples.

That was proof of how strong he was.

However, even the Dalai Lama wasn’t able to withstand more than three sword techniques and died.

“How long will it take for the Blade Lord to completely absorb it?”

Two days ago, he locked himself in the Dalai Lama’s room in the White Palace.

He informed his men to never disturb him unless it was something urgent, as he dealt with something difficult.

At that time.

Flap! Flap!

“Uh!”

A hawk flew across the blue sky towards a man.

It wasn't a wild hawk, he naturally lowered his claws and settled down on the arm of the bandaged man.

This hawk was trained to deliver letters.

There was a small cylinder tied to its toenail, and when untied and opened, a rolled-up paper came out.

Swoosh!

When the paper was opened, there was nothing written on it.

It was empty, but the bandaged man, who was accustomed to it, took out a reagent from his pocket and dripped a drop of it on the paper and strangely the paper began to turn dark at places.

“Let’s see.”

The eyes of the bandaged man who was examining the content were unusual.

Soaked in embarrassment, he gave the hawk over to a subordinate and entered the White Palace.

Entering the White Palace, he rushed towards the Dalai Lama’s room, which was towards the basement.

After going downstairs, there was a thick and large door.

Gulp!

The bandaged man, who gulped, carefully knocked on the iron door.

Knock!

After knocking a couple times, instead of hearing any answer from inside, the tightly shut door began to open.

Kiiik!

Swoosh!

As the door opened, cold air escaped out.

The bandaged man entered the room with trembling footsteps, looking at everything which had frozen as if they were in the North Sea.

In the middle of the room, a giant bird with its head cut off and an enormous body came into view.

It was one of the five Spirit Beasts, the carcass of the Great Bird, which is known to transform into a large fish in the Arctic.

‘Where is he... ah!’

As he looked around, he saw a middle-aged man meditating on the corpse of the Great Bird.

He was the Blade Lord.

An intense cold qi emanated from his body, and it seemed like he had absorbed the beast’s core in two days.

‘Kuk, how do I explain this?’

Scary.

There were supposed to be no more problems.

However, never in his wildest of dreams would the man have thought that their plans would go awry.

As he was hesitating, the Blade Lord, who was seated with his eyes closed, opened his mouth.

“I told you to not disturb me unless it’s something important.”

“Bl-Blade Lord!”

Thud!

The man fell flat on the ground and apologized.

“What happened?”

“Th-that...”

“Do you want me to aim for your heart?”

Swoosh!

With a voice full of displeasure, intense energy surrounded him.

In the end, the man decided to tell him what he read.

“Bl-Blade Lord! The men of the Slaughter Blade Master and the Spirit squad were all killed.”

Woong!

“Uhk!”

As soon as his words finished, the body of the bandaged man floated into the air and was dragged towards Blade Lord, who was sitting on the dead bird.

“What are you talking about now? Did they all die unable to take down the Ice Palace warriors and the Dragon Turtle?”

“N-not that. Two masters and a couple more are alive...”

Wheeing!

“Kuk!”

Blade Lord grabbed the neck of the man and asked.

“Doesn’t that mean they failed?”

“Kuk... Kuk... Demon... Demon God... in... North Sea... Ice Palace...”

‘!?’

The grip on the man weakened with those words.

The man decided to let him explain.

“Demon... God?”

“Ye-yes! If he hadn’t intervened, they would have safely brought the dragon to our place... a- a young prince of the palace seems to have requested the Demonic Cult to send reinforcements! Even then, our people ended up colliding with him and one of the dragon's heads..."

Phut!

With strong force, the man's body was thrown to the side.

The power was so strong that after the impact the man began to cough up blood.

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

"Kuak! Kuah!"

Not caring, Blade Lord jumped up from his seat and mumbled in a voice filled with anger.

"... it can't be. Is he also aiming for the five Spirit Beasts!"

Chapter 433

Chapter 433: The Five Spirit Beasts (2)

Many scholars had books called the Three Great Books.

One of them was the Moral Sutras of Heaven.

It was a book that narrates the legends and the bizarre stories from the distant past, enough to be referred to as a Spirit Book, which has one hundred and eight chapters.

The book mentioned something about the Book of Rites and the Five Classics, which talk about spirit beasts: the Yinglong, Qilin, Phoenix, Dragon Turtle, etc.

There were only legends, and there was no mention of them appearing or anyone discovering them.

However, the five spirit beasts discussed in the Moral Sutras of the Heaven were different.

As if the author had seen the five spirit beasts in person, he described them very vividly.

The five spirit beasts first appeared in Jianghu in the days of the Three Sovereigns and Five Emperors.

Spirit beasts weren't usually found, but when one does appear, it only happens when an era passes.

While ferocious spirit beasts such as the Dragon Turtle and the Flame Qilin slaughter humans, most spirit beasts focus on accumulating spiritual power because their purpose is to ascend back to the heavenly realm.

Significant information was written on the last page of the book, which described the details of the five spirit beasts, but most of it was just passed down generally.

However, someone who took this seriously appeared and turned Jianghu into a mess.

The first emperor to control the Jianghu was the Qin Emperor.

According to the story, a priest named Seo Baek led thousands of people into Jianghu to find the five spirit beasts in order to fulfill the wishes of the Qin Emperor.

In it, it was written that Seo Baek, who headed into Jianghu, disappeared, and the emperor eventually disappeared.

However, it was said that the priest had found the Great Bird, one of the five spirit beasts, but decided to hide it as he heard that the emperor had turned into a tyrant who ruined the name of the royal family.

Dalai Lama's room which was located in the White Palace of the Potala Palace.

On the desk in the office, there were four different papers.

One of them was a map that pointed to the Potala Palace, and in the lower right corner, the words 'King's Belonging' were written.

It belonged to a bureaucrat named Seo Baek.

Gooooo!

The entire room was filled with energy, and the air seemed heavy.

The bandaged man took off his bamboo hat, he looked like he was about to die, but he didn't show his fear.

Because the wrath of the Blade Lord couldn't be escaped even after death.

'Ouh, I'm going to die.'

In recent years, all their plans had failed, and now, it was taking a turn for the worst.

It wouldn't be very strange if the Blade Lord killed him in anger.

It was then. The Blade Lord opened his mouth.

"First the Flame Qilin's core, now even the core of the Dragon Turtle got taken away. Huh."

"..."

He couldn't answer.

If he made any excuses, the Blade Lord would definitely kill him.

Slightly lifting his hand, he made sure only one item on the desk was lifted.

It was the map of the entire continent, the North Sea Ice Palace, the Empire, everywhere.

A few places were marked, indicating the locations of the five spirit beasts.

“Everything has become useless!”

Clench!

Blade Lord clenched his hands.

And,

Wheeing!

Three maps floated in the air and burned.

The Blade Lord’s eyes burned in anger as he looked at the maps, which turned into ashes.

‘Eek!’

To the bandaged man, the Blade Lord spoke.

“I’m giving you one last chance. Head to the Changbai Mountains first and get the core.”

“Cha-changbai Mountain is...”

“Do you think that I’ll hand over the remaining spirit beasts to him!”

Bang!

When Blade Lord slammed his fist on the desk, it broke and turned into ashes.

Blade Lord was so strong that he didn’t have to put much effort into destroying things.

“Blade Lord... the Changbai mountain entrance is guarded by ‘that man’. You have seen that man’s martial arts...”

He was scared.

The Blade Lord’s first appearance in Jianghu was around 20 years ago.

Their first target was the spirit beast which held the power of Wind in the Northeast’s Changbai mountain.

However, far from entering the mountain, right at the entrance, everyone was defeated, and they had to return.

After that day, the Blade Lord trained for twenty years.

The Blade Lord reached the Divine Master level, yet he never once mentioned the Changbai Mountain as he was conscious of the defeat.

Wheeing! Clench!

“Kuak!”

Hwang Heol, who was caught by the neck again, was in agony.

He tried to avoid arousing the Blade Lord’s anger, but he failed and ended up getting pulled into his grasp again.

“Who told you to get rid of ‘that one’?”

“Kuak... uh?”

“The fact that Chun Yeowun obtained two cores of the five spirit beasts means that he will aim for the other one to gain the power of immortality. He will also head to Changbai Mountain! Do you get what I’m saying?”

At those words, Hwang Heol's eyes fluttered.

It was because he understood what the Blade Lord was saying.

The temporary ice prison in the North Sea Ice Palace.

Chachachacha!

The golden staff disintegrated and turned into armor that completely covered the chest and upper back.

Dan Jucheon, the former deputy king, was shocked by the change.

The golden upper body armor disintegrated and formed into the staff once again.

"Th-this is the hidden power of the Divine Object?"

Chun Yeowun nodded his head at the question.

Dan Jucheon, who was shocked, pursed his lips.

He had argued with Chun Yeowun that finding the Divine Object was a plain coincidence and that he only became its owner because he found it first.

'Neither in the ancestors' records nor the legends have I ever heard of the Divine Object possessing such power.'

He couldn't help but be surprised.

There was no record that the Divine Object had the power to transform itself.

If so, that meant that not a single king had managed to unfold the true power of the object.

None of the past owners of the staff were actually able to use the weapon.

The only thing the ancestors knew of the hidden power of the Divine Object was that it possessed the Ice Cold of Heaven technique as it's engraved on the staff.

'If so, that means he was chosen by the staff.... Does that mean that the staff chose someone, not from the family bloodline?'

Thud!

He knelt down.

It was even more shocking than when he first found out that Chun Yeowun had been chosen.

He had no choice but to think that the spirit of Dan Young, the first ancestor, was disappointed in his descendants.

'Did we reap what we sowed?'

Maybe it was destined for the Divine Object to fall into the hands of an outsider.

Desperate, Dan Jucheon looked at the golden armor.

Chun Yeowun spoke to him.

"If you are planning to give up your life, I will behead you right here. But, I have one last proposition."

"Proposition?"

“For you, the North Sea Ice Palace might be your final destination, but it’s the beginning for me.”

‘!?’

Dan Jucheon’s eyes widened at the word ‘beginning’.

He knew what it meant.

‘Is it possible... that he plans to be the strongest?’

The true purpose of the Lord of the Demonic Cult.

It was impossible for Chun Yeowun, who had the qualities of a king, to just stay as one of the five strongest warriors.

Chun Yeowun continued to speak.

“Are you satisfied with being just the king of this palace?”

“That...”

It was the future he had long dreamed of.

It was the lifelong wish of Dan Jucheon, who thought that he would always be the second choice for the people of the palace.

However, the next words that came out of Chun Yeowun’s mouth were even more shocking.

“If you swear allegiance, follow me. I’ll give you the position of Ruler of the North.”

“Ruler of the North!”

It meant that he wouldn’t be tied down to the North Sea Ice Palace but be made a person in charge of the outside world.

It wasn't just simply following Chun Yeowun, but a position which was a lot bigger than he could achieve. Dan Jucheon was shaken.

'Ruler of the North? Does that mean that I'd rule the entire north?'

He never thought that far.

He was satisfied with reaching the Supreme Master level inside the Ice Palace.

And that was the extent of his ambition.

With a tiny spark, it seemed like a fire inside him began to burn.

Chachachachacha!

'Ah!'

The Divine object, which had transformed into armor, had once again turned into a golden staff.

Chun Yeowun, who grabbed it, handed it to Dan Jucheon.

"This Divine Object will be the symbol of what I'm proposing."

Tak!

As if possessed, Dan Jucheon's hand reached out for the staff and grabbed it.

Shockingly, the Ice Cold staff, which had rejected him in the past, no longer rejected him.

"Ahh!"

Clench!

Dan Jucheon's eyes, which looked at the staff he grabbed, came to life once again.

'... this Demon God is setting me ablaze!'

It was unknown if the man in front of him was going to be the strongest in Wulin.

But the desire to take up a position beside him began to grow in Dan Jucheon.

'I will stand again!'

After all, the pain and regrets he had were pushed aside, Dan Jucheon's broken heart, which was ready to accept the death, was completely revived.

With life back in his eyes, he knelt on one knee.

Thud!

"I will accept the opportunity that the Demon God has given me with all my heart! Although I am lacking in skill and body, please accept my loyalty!"

Chun Yeoun spoke with a smile on his face.

"I am appointing you the head of the Academy and 3rd Great elder."

"Yes!!!"

Dan Jucheon responded once again while clenching the Divine Object.

Clench!

Thus, in the Sky Demon Order, where Chun Yeowun had taken power, the 1st Great Elder was Ran-yeong, the 2nd Great Elder was Wang Jing, and then came Dan Jucheon.

What would happen if the people of Wulin found out that Chun Yeowun managed to gain another Supreme Master under him?

This was huge.

This was the first time that Chun Yeowun had revealed his true ambition.

‘It’s fine.’

Chun Yeowun looked at the Ice Cold Staff in the hands of Dan Jucheon and remembered what happened.

A new thing was discovered during the disaster.

Chun Yeowun had gradually begun to imbue cold qi from the first level into the staff.

As he already had yin qi, he was able to learn cold qi until the 4th level without much training.

If Dan Young, the founder of cold qi, had seen that, he would have been shocked.

When he was about to enter the 5th level, something unexpected happened.

Grasp!

A dazzling light rose from the Divine Object. Chun Yeowun had gotten sucked into a place with infinite darkness.

It wasn't the first time that happened.

The same thing had happened when he got the Sky Demon Sword.

In that place, Chun Yeowun saw another vision.

Flutter! Flutter!

[This can't be...]

A scene of an unidentified middle-aged man wearing a white fur coat subduing a huge bird with humongous wings at the North Sea Ice Palace.

The man who subdued the Great Bird for half an hour inserted the golden staff into the heart of the bird.

Intense energy flowed out from the heart of the Great Bird and began to get absorbed into the staff.

[This is...]

Chun Yeowun looked at it as he remembered what he saw before his ascension.

In the past, some men used the Sky Demon Sword to cut off the head of Imoogi and put the sword into its heart.

[Are they absorbing the spiritual energy of the spirit beasts?]

It seemed like the scene played out for a long time, but it was a fleeting vision for Chun Yeowun, who escaped from the disaster, but he found out what the hidden power of the golden staff was.

The only reason the staff was able to produce such a large amount of cold qi was because it had absorbed the spiritual energy of a spirit beast.

Chun Yeowun guessed what the animal was.

The only spirit beast with the shape of a bird was the Great Bird.

[This was the hidden power inside the Divine Object.]

Chun Yeowun absorbed the power of the Great Bird, which was inside the staff, after taking in the Dragon Turtle's core.

As it hadn't been touched for hundreds of years, there was no loss of energy inside the staff, however, the cold qi inside Chun Yeowun was in harmony with the power of the Great Bird.

After absorbing all the spiritual energy, the staff was able to disintegrate and transform into a type of armor.

[... there has to be something.]

Chun Yeowun found it strange.

So he had Nano analyze the material of the golden staff.

And he found some surprising results.

[The metal of the golden staff is the same material as the Sky Demon Sword. It is a substance that does not exist on earth.]

[Ah!]

He heard from Baekhyun, the new King of the palace, that Ice Cold Staff, a sacred item of the North Sea Ice Palace, was made by mixing gold with pieces of the meteorite that fell.

That said, then the Sky Demon Sword, too, must have had pieces of meteorite in it.

‘Is it just a coincidence that two weapons made from fallen stars have come into my hand?’

He had such a question.

In any case, thanks to the absorption of the Great Bird’s energy, other people were able to touch the staff.

Chun Yeowun took all the spiritual energy and gave the Ice Cold Staff to Dan Jucheon without any regrets.

He already had a Nano suit, which meant another piece of armor was meaningless.

‘There is nothing to lose if I can acquire a talented person like him by my side.’

Dan Jucheon’s face, while he held the staff, was glowing with joy.

It was then when someone rushed into the prison.

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

“Lord!”

It was Hu Bong.

When Chun Yeowun looked at him, he spoke in an urgent voice.

“The former Lord has woken up!”

Chapter 434 - The Five Spirit Beasts (3)

Chapter 434: The Five Spirit Beasts (3)

Marakim, the Great Guardian, stayed by Chun Yeowun's side most of the day.

However, whenever he had free time, he would visit the infirmary and check on the Former Lord, Chun Inji, who was unconscious.

The first buildings built by the Ice Palace warriors during the reconstruction were the infirmary and lodgings.

It was natural that there were many wounded people in the battle fought in the underground and against the dragon.

A separate infirmary was built for the members of the Six Swords.

Over there, an old man, full of wrinkles, was lying down on a bed.

The lightning seemed to have burned away everything from his hair, eyebrows, and beard, but the majestic appearance of the Former Lord of the Demonic Cult didn't disappear.

"Lord..."

Marakim's eyes, which had been looking through the gaps in his mask, were sad.

Since Chun Inji was the Lord he served, the words 'Former Lord' didn't come to his lips.

Hu Bong, who was in the infirmary with him, didn't blame him either.

"I think we should hurry up and head back to our place. Great Guardian."

Marakim nodded at Hu Bong's words.

The current condition of the Former Lord Chun Inji wasn't very stable.

The damage to his energy was so great that he showed no signs of waking up even when Chun Yeowun and Marakim tried to infuse their internal energy.

All the members of the North Sea Ice Palace couldn't figure out the cause.

Chun Yeowun could guess,

[... maybe it is the side effect of that worm in his head.]

Chun Yeowun used Nano's assistance to bring out the worm from his brain and disintegrate it as it flowed out through his nostrils and mouth.

However, since it had been in his head for a long time, there was no way he could be fine.

[The Former Lord even suffered damage to his heart because of the side effects of the Blood Rever...]

It took several months for even the Former Lord Chun Yujong to wake up.

The exact cause was unknown, but since Chun Inji had been in the dark for a long time, no one could predict when he would wake up.

Chun Yeowun decided to hurry back to the Ten Thousand Mountains as soon as he absorbed the core and finished the work in the Ice Palace.

‘Lord... please wake up. A lot has changed while you were away. The cult was controlled by the six clans... the Blade God Six Martial clan, which you considered as a danger, is now afraid of the current Lord.’

It would be horrible if Chun Inji left the world without knowing all that.

“Lieutenant Hu. Please look after him.”

“Understood.”

It was the moment when he was about to leave the infirmary.

“Cough... cough!”

Marakim turned his head at the heavy cough.

Shockingly, Chun Inji, who had been lying on the bed, woke up.

“Lord!”

Marakim approached him right away and supported him so he could raise his upper body and cough.

His condition, with that haggard face and coughing, didn’t seem good.

“Cough... Great... Guardian...”

Marakim’s eyes trembled at the voice of Chun Inji, who called him after a long time.

Marakim asked Hu Bong in an urgent voice.

“Lieutenant Hu. Bring the Lord here right now!”

“Ah, understood! I will go fetch him right away!”

Tat!

Hu Bong, who was too shocked at the sight of the Former Lord waking up, hurriedly moved.

“Lord! Are you alright?”

“Cough... Cough... Great Guardian, to see you again like this.”

Although his condition was bad, Chun Inji looked at Marakim with happy eyes.

Seeing his subordinate for the first time in twenty years was a good sight for him.

“Cough! Cough!”

“Lord!”

Marakim’s eyes widened.

The corners of Chun Inji’s mouth had blood.

When they were infusing their internal energy, they found no traces of internal damage. The only damage was to the internal energy itself.

Flustered, he tried to help Chun Inji, but he refused.

“Cough... cough... I am fine. It isn’t mine.”

Drip!

He told Marakim to not worry, but the nosebleed which started seemed severe.

Chun Inji cleared his breath and soon tried to condense his energy.

Goo!

However, his body was giving out a gold hue, which was something completely different from what the cultists do.

“This?”

The energy of martial arts and Buddhism made it look like a halo was created behind Chun Inji.

Marakim had seen that kind of energy before.

“The Yin Jin Jing (Reverse Health Preservation)?”

It was a supreme technique that only the highest monk of the Shaolin Temple could learn.

Bodhi Dharma, who created it, is said to have known and contained the true essence of Buddhism.

‘How does the Lord know the Reverse Health Preservation?’

It was a technique that was completely different from the things taught in the Sky Demon Order.

He knew that what was taught in their cult would enhance one’s internal energy, while the Reverse Health Preservation would strengthen the body.

However, since the characteristics are different, it could create conflicts with the techniques learned in the cult, which meant that one technique had to be abandoned to learn the other.

Pak!

Then someone opened the door to the infirmary and rushed in.

“Lord!”

It was Chun Yeowun.

He rushed over the moment he heard the message from Hu Bong.

Goooo!

“This is?”

Chun Yeowun frowned at the energy which was flowing in the infirmary.

Although he never directly experienced it, he knew that this was the energy of Buddhism.

“What the hell is going on?”

At Chun Yeowun’s question, Marakim shook his head.

“The Former Lord woke up, but his condition didn’t seem good as he was coughing up blood. And then he started this... as you can see that this is the Reversal Health Preservation.”

“Reversal Health Preservation? How does grandfather know the martial arts of the Shaolin Temple?”

“I think we will find out once he is done.”

The reason was unknown to Marakim too.

However, the haggard complexion on Chun Inji gradually turned brighter.

There was no other option than to wait.

How long has it been?

The energy which had been radiating for an hour slowly subsided.

When the golden energy completely disappeared, Chun Inji opened his eyes.

“Sigh...”

Chun Inji, who looked better, sighed.

And then found Chun Yeowun, who was standing near him.

‘!?’

He only looked for a moment, but he was shocked.

Even though Chun Inji’s internal energy had been damaged, he was still someone who reached the Supreme Master level, and he could understand the power of an opponent.

‘Who is this young one? And what amazing power...’

The young man in front of him, his power couldn’t be measured.

The aura of martial arts which was emanating from him was thrilling.

Chun Inji looked at Chun Yeowun with serious eyes and asked Marakim who was standing next to him.

“Great Guardian. Who is this young man?”

Chun Yeowun was the one who answered.

“... Chun Yeowun, who is here for his grandfather, the Former Lord.”

Wide!

Chun Inji’s eyes shook as he looked at Chun Yeowun.

“Chun Yeowun? Hwayeon’s child?”

He couldn’t have not known the name.

He remembered it correctly because he had intervened directly because of the riots of the six clans about Chun Yujong marrying her.

‘This man is her son?’

He was the one who was named Chun Yeowun before leaving the cult.

It was because Chun Yujong, who didn’t ask for names for the children born to his six other wives, asked him for the first time.

“He is the current Lord.”

“The current Lord?”

Chun Inji was more shocked at Marakim’s words.

“No?... Is, is that really true?”

It was unbelievable. Chun Inji blinked his eyes a couple of times while looking at Chun Yeowun.

He assumed that the current Lord was still Chun Yujong.

It was because he thought that Chun Yujong would carry out his words about taking down the Blade God Six martial clan.

‘How could this child be the Lord... what happened!’

He couldn’t help but be shocked.

He thought that the next Lord would be from the six clans.

Chun Yeowun didn’t belong to any of those clans, Chun Inji felt very upset that no matter how much Chun Yujong loved Lady Hwa and her son, he would be unable to protect the kid from the six clans.

‘What a miracle!’

He thought that the Cult would be bound by the six clans.

However, he couldn’t express his joy when he realized that the Lord was no longer bound by the other clans.

It was amazing, yet he wouldn’t have believed it.

However, seeing Chun Yeowun’s energy, he knew that it was achieved.

“It is amazing that you became the Lord... come closer!”

At Chun Inji’s words, Chun Yeowun calmly approached the bed.

Chun Yeowun felt strange at the mention of his mother, Hwayeon’s name.

It was because, after her death, Chun Yeowun never felt any kind of love.

“You are very similar. Just like your mother...”

With that short word, he said everything he wanted to say.

Chun Yeowun spoke, despite trying to stay blunt, his voice seemed emotional.

“I am glad you are safe... grandpa.”

Chun Inji’s eyes trembled at the last word, grandpa.

He, too, had no choice but to soften his heart at the sight of his flesh and blood after 20 years.

‘Grandchild...’

Just the word made him cringe.

“Heh heh heh.”

At that thought, Chun Inji smiled.

Although he was strict with Chun Yujong and his other kids, he couldn’t help but soften as he looked at his grandson, who was all grown up.

‘... he’s different.’

It was Chun Yeowun’s first time seeing Chun Inji since he was a baby.

For the first time, Chun Yeowun was able to feel emotions rising inside him, feelings of love when he looked at his grandfather’s smile.

‘Family...’

A feeling, an emotion he never felt since childhood.

Blood was really strange.

It made even Chun Yeowun’s frozen heart melt.

‘I wanted the Lord to see how much we have changed.’

Marakim, who looked at those two, decided not to speak.

Sometimes, men do not express much, yet an exchange of emotion gets communicated through the eyes.

And now there was such a situation.

Somehow, Chun Inji’s complexion darkened as if he remembered something.

“Great Guardian! This place is?”

“Calm down. This is the North Sea Ice Palace.”

Marakim, who noticed how Chun Inji became, tried to calm him.

When he heard the word ‘North Sea Ice Palace’, he wondered.

“North Sea Ice Palace? Then... kuek!”

“Grandpa!”

He grabbed his head with both hands.

When Chun Inji was in pain while breaking down in cold sweat, Chun Yeowun and Marakim tried to support him only to get refused.

“I’m fine, fine. It’s because my memory isn’t perfect.”

Chun Inji was in a confused state.

As he got released from the clutches of the worm, his memories were mixed.

There was only one thing he could remember.

“Yeowun-ah!⁽¹⁾ W-we need to stop them right now! We shouldn’t let the core of the Dragon Turtle fall into their hands.”

“Calm down.”

“There is no time for that! When they get the cores of the five spirit beasts!”

“Grandfather!”

As Chun Inji staggered and tried to get up from bed, Chun Yeowun pushed him back onto the bed gently.

Thud!

‘This power?’

Although his condition wasn’t perfect, Chun Inji could still feel the overwhelming power from Chun Yeowun.

He guessed it by seeing him, but the feel of it said that he was way stronger than he thought.

“The core hasn’t fallen into their hands, so don’t worry.”

“It-it didn’t fall into their hands?”

With a smile on his face, Chun Yeowun answered by scratching his head.

“I took the core of the dragon.”

“What?”

Perhaps it was an unexpected answer. Chun Inji looked at Yeowun in shock.

It was flustering how just a minute back, he was trying to prevent them from getting the core.

“Y-yeowun-ah. You took it?”

To prove it with action rather than words, Chun Yeowun gathered thunder qi on his hand.

Crackle!

“This! This is... true?”

At the lightning flashing in his palm, Chun Inji was shocked.

He never imagined that Chun Yeowun would have obtained the core of the dragon.

“haa...”

Thud!

With a sigh of relief, Chun Inji leaned back onto the bed.

He was genuinely happy about it.

Hesitating for a bit, Chun Yeowun asked with a worried expression.

“... grandfather. You just woke up, but I have been meaning to ask, what happened? Rather than trying to get the five spirit beasts... why did you get caught by the Blade God Six Martial clan and used by them?”

There were so many questions, and he unintentionally asked them all at once.

Maybe Chun Yeowun was in a hurry.

Even if the questions weren't answered, Chun Yeowun wouldn't be upset.

“Ahh...”

Chun Inji closed his eyes as he sighed deeply, and the eyes of Marakim and Chun Yeowun, who were looking at him, were mixed with curiosity and worries.

If they thought about it, the man had sacrificed himself for the sake of protecting the Yulin and the Demonic Cult.

‘I was stupid. I was overconfident in my strength.’

But it was arrogance.

Even when all the masters had combined and tried to take the enemy down, they got caught.

Fortunately, one of the five cores was absorbed by Chun Yeowun.

Chun Inji, who cleared his thoughts, opened his eyes and spoke.

“Everything is this old man's fault. Because of me, Saint Gu-jung and ‘they’ too got sacrificed.”

“Saint Gu-jung?”

The saint Gu-jung was the head of the Shaolin temple, who disappeared eighteen years ago.

The man from the Moyong clan was indeed talking about Saint Gu-jung.

As they were confused, Chun Inji spoke.

“They came to the North Sea Ice Palace to take the core of the dragon, those ones.”

“Are you talking about the Blade God Six Martial clan?”

“... you know about them too. Ugh, I was just trying to stop them from waking it up.”

‘Ah!’

Marakim’s eyes lit up at Chun Inji’s regretful words.

He vaguely guessed why he disappeared.

It could be because of the Blade God Six Martial clan.

The Former Lord continued to speak.

“I don’t even know where I am supposed to start... right. This is the right place. Do you know about the five spirit beasts? The Imoogi, the Dragon Turtle, the Flame Qilin, the Great Bird and the Feng bo.”

Chun Yeowun and Marakim also knew them.

These are the five spirit beasts mentioned in the books.

“We came to the North Sea Ice Palace, but then came to learn that the Blade God Six Martial clan were aiming for the core of the five spirit beasts.”

‘I knew it.’

At those words, Chun Yeowun nodded his head as one of his questions was answered.

Thanks to the recent incident, he assumed that they were trying to gather the cores of the spirit beasts.

“It is really fortunate that you took one of them, the Dragon Turtle. My memory isn’t perfect, but they are aiming for the cores of the other ones too.”

“That... I guessed that to some extent.”

At Chun Yeowun’s words, Chun Inji looked puzzled.

“You guessed?”

“I prevented them from taking the core of the Flame Qilin in the Royal Shrine of the Imperial Palace.”

“... what?”

Chun Inji couldn’t hide his embarrassment.

The core of the Flame Qilin, which was in the Imperial palace, he was about to say that they shouldn’t be given it.

“Considering what grandfather just said, the reason why they had planted the spies in our cult was because they aimed for the core inside the cult.”

“No. What now?”

Chun Inji knew nothing about the Imoogi.

Chun Yeowun showed his right arm, which was covered in a black band, soon to change into the shape of a sword.

Chachachacha!

“Thi-this is?”

“The Sky Demon Sword.”

“Sky-Sky Demon Sword!!!”

Being the Former Lord of the cult, there was no way that he was unaware of the Sky Demon Sword.

The legendary sword which could only be obtained by the true heirs of the Sky Demon Order.

It was shocking that Chun Yeowun was the one holding it.

But the surprise didn't end there.

“The Sky Demon Sword contains the core of the Imoogi. As you can see... I took this away too.”

‘!!!’

Chun Inji looked at Chun Yeowun as he heard the words of the Imoogi core being with him.

He wondered what all happened when he was being held behind the iron mask.

“Ye-Yeowun-ah! Yeowun! You said you stopped them from the Royal Shrine. Did you take the core of the Qilin too?”

“Yes.”

“What? What... the... what... ha!”

Chun Inji was at a loss for words.

He had to make a lot of sacrifices to get that information.

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

He even tried very hard to somehow let the cult know that the five spirit beasts had to be taken away from the Blade God Six Martial clan, but it was absurd that his grandson, Chun Yeowun took three cores.

‘... did he take the core of the Great Bird too?’

Seeing Chun Inji’s reaction, Chun Yeowun became a little worried.

Editor's Note:

⁽¹⁾ “-ah” is a term used to show closeness in Korean.

Chapter 435 - To Changbai Mountains (1)

435: To Changbai Mountains (1)

It took a long time for former Lord Chun Inji to calm down.

The news filled with surprises about the Sky Demon Sword and the cores made his heart tremble.

‘How could all of this be?’

It was considered that the legitimacy of the Demonic Cult was cut off after the seventh generation Lord, Chun Muhui.

A false sword was replaced by the actual Sky Demon Sword.

The blood of the heavenly family.

But despite the huge gap in time, a new Chun Ma was born in the Demonic Cult.

“This old man forgot to formally greet you.”

‘!?’

Chun Inji staggered as he stood up, straightening his back, he slowly began to kneel on one knee and clasped his hands.

“Grandfather!”

Chun Yeowun tried to dissuade him but to no avail.

“Chun Inji, the 22nd Lord of the Great Sky Demon Order, greets the current Chun Ma!”

Tears were falling from the corners of his wrinkled eyes.

It was a joy that the Sky Demon Sword was once again brought into their lives.

And it wasn't some other person from the clan but his very own grandson. Chun Yeowun, who looked at that, spoke.

“Grandfather, this is troublesome.”

“What is troublesome? This is the happiest day of this old man's life.”

‘... he's serious.’

Chun Inji loved the Demonic Cult.

Not just as the Lord, but he cherished just being a member of the cult.

Therefore, he disappeared, intending to carry all the burdens and sacrifice himself.

‘He is a true Cultist.’

He felt the same respect after meeting Ran-yeong, the great woman who sacrificed herself in the Royal Shrine for many years.

If only the heads of the six clans within the cult had acted like them, the Demonic Cult wouldn't have suffered.

As the emotions subsided, the trembling of his heart stopped as well.

Chun Yeowun asked with worry.

“Grandfather. You said your memory isn’t perfect. Would you like to talk after you rest a little more?”

To that, Chun Inji shook his head and answered.

“... No. I have had enough sleep.”

He smiled widely and looked at the sword, which had transformed back into a wrist guard, and his expression changed into a serious one.

“Yeowun-ah, the fact that you obtained the Sky Demon Sword... and that you obtained the cores before they fell into the hands of the Blade God Six Martial clan might be the guidance of Chun Ma.”

“Guidance...”

Suddenly, Chun Yeowun remembered the illusion he saw when he held the Sky Demon Sword for the first time.

At that time, a man who was supposed to be Chun Ma had spoken.

[It will take a long time. I don’t think it will happen in my lifetime.]

Why did those words come to his mind?

“Maybe it’s just the thought of the people who stay in the Cult. Heheh, but one thing is for sure, it seems like something bad is going to come. This could be fate. Now is the time for everything to be revealed. Ahm.”

Chun Inji, who nodded at his words, started recalling stuff.

“According to what you said, as time passed, it must have been around 25 years ago.”

Chun Inji, who was the Lord of that time, had a great reputation.

During the reign of Chun Inji, the Demonic Cult was expanding its territory to the west, the domain of the Forces of Evil.

And the Forces of Evil was led by one of the five strongest warriors, King Hang Yen, who had defeated the former head Ok-hyun.

Even though he was called a ferocious monarch, he was unable to defeat the army of the Demonic Cult, which was led by Chun Inji, and he ended up getting pushed back.

“It was a time when we continued into the west. Even after having a few victories, there seemed to be a lot of dissatisfaction among the six clans.”

“... I remember. At that time, everyone seemed puzzled at the order to subjugate the west, despite us having the power and number to take over the Yulin faction which was in the north.”

Marakim also added to Chun Inji’s words, as he remembered those days.

At that, Chun Inji seemed upset.

“I can say it out loud now, but at that time, I didn’t see another choice. This old man had made an oath to him.”

“Oath?”

“... with Saint Gu-jung, the former leader of the Shaolin Temple.”

Seventy years ago, Chun Inji had passed the six tests of the Academy.

Chun Inji was so talented that he managed to pass the six tests, which no one had passed for a long time, and not long after that, he took over the title of Lord.

“It had been fifty years or so since I first saw Gu-jung.”

Chun Inji, who was full of spirit and energy, tried to move to the north, the place of the Yulin, just as the previous Lords of the Demonic Cult had done.

In fact, there was a time when he was trying to go north until the Henan province.

“At that time, Saint Gu-jung was the one who stopped me.”

Saint Gu-jung, the then leader of the Shaolin Temple, was called the ‘enlightened one’ and was respected in the Yulin. However, he wasn’t famous for anything other than that.

However, Saint Gu-jung, who brought ten disciples and one hundred and eight Hanjin, was different from the rumors.

“I found out for the first time. The fact that many hidden geniuses were in Wulin.”

Surprisingly, Chun Inji, who was called one of the five strongest warriors, experienced defeat for the first time.

As a result of the battle, which lasted for half a day, he suffered severe internal injuries and was defeated.

“Grandfather lost?”

Even Marakim was shocked. It was his first time hearing about it.

“Huhu, for the first time, I managed to learn the true power of the Shaolin Temple.”

They seldom participated in any events, but once they moved, they weren't a force that could be tackled.

“... that was why you didn't take over the north?”

“Well, you can think of it that way. One thing... in the beginning, it was because of my pride.”

“Pride?”

“At that time, I lost to Saint Gu-jung, I made an oath with him.”

The oath was to meet once every five years at a fixed place and compete in martial arts.

Chun Inji, who had suffered his first defeat ever, wanted to fight him again.

At that time, Saint Gu-jung suggested.

[Amitabha! Lord Chun. Let us meet again and compete, but if you keep bringing your army every time, there will only be more casualties. Wouldn't it be better if only you and I fight each other?]

At first, Saint Gu-jung suggested meeting once every ten years.

However, ten years was too long for the Lord of the Demonic Cult.

As Chun Inji asked it to be every five years, Saint Gu-jung accepted, and their relationship started to bloom.

“It’s embarrassing, but for the first twenty years that I met him, not once did I ever win.”

Chun Inji constantly honed himself to win.

However, Saint Gu-jung, who had the will to prevent the Demonic Cult from moving North, also didn’t neglect his training, every time, the result was the same.

During the four meetings, the two of them had a strange affinity as rivals.

“The fact that we did not go to the north in the end for the past years...”

Chun Yeowun decided to cut his words, not wanting to hurt his grandfather’s pride. Not caring, Chun Inji smiled.

“Hehehe, you take this old man too lightly. The fifth time I competed with him, I defeated him for the first time.”

The fifth battle ended in victory.

A long-awaited victory, and despite defeating Saint Gu-jung, Chun Inji was unable to move north.

The twenty-five-year relationship was enough time for them to understand and respect each other.

“Since I beat him for the first time, we turned into healthy rivals.

The relationship between the two of them was strange.

Starting out as enemies, they turned into friends.

After that, Chun Inji, considering his friendship with Gu-jung, decided to give up on the North and turned his attention to the west, the Forces of Evil.

From a political standpoint, Saint Gu-jung was nothing less than a hero.

However, only the two people who battled knew that fact.

“Whenever I suffered from political affairs or had concerns, I would meet up with him and talk about the deep dissatisfactions I had. He was a true Buddhist.”

It seemed like he missed those past days.

Chun Inji’s expression turned dark.

“And then one day, it happened.”

As usual, Chun Inji headed to the promised place to meet with Saint Gu-jung, he waited for a fortnight but was unable to meet him.

He was wondering if he should wait any longer, but then he found information.

“Someone from the Shaolin Temple said that some leader went missing from the mountain southeast of the Anhui fortress, and Saint Gu-jung went there directly.”

Thinking that it was inappropriate to be involved in the affairs of Yulin factions, he wondered if he should wait a little more or return.

However, Chun Inji, who was conflicted, knew that he wouldn’t get too many chances to meet Gu-jung, not being able to overcome his curiosity, he headed to Mt. Biam.

The southeast of Anhui fortress wasn't far from the Demonic Cult, so he thought of heading there alone.

"After five days, I arrived at Mt. Biam and tried to find out the whereabouts of Saint Gu-jung."

Naturally, Saint Gu-jung and the other monks of the temple would be trying to find the missing person.

However, Chun Inji, who was on Mt. Biam, found something deep in the forest.

"It was a coincidence, but there were traces of a fight."

Several traces.

He found traces of a technique that belonged to the Shaolin Temple and traces of a technique that he had only seen once before.

"Extreme Art of the Blade God!"

Chun Yeowun, who guessed it, opened his mouth.

"Extreme Art of the Blade God?"

"It's a technique of the Blade God Six Martial Clan."

"Oh, how did you find out the name?"

"I heard it from one of their members."

Chun Inji couldn't hide his surprise.

Either way, it was the right answer, and Chun Inji nodded.

"... right. It's the Extreme Art of the Blade God. This old man who passed the sixth test in the academy saw their ultimate technique, which seemed like the greatest one in the world, and it seemed like Gu-jung had fought with one of them.”

Since it was the first time he ever came across such a shocking technique, Chun Inji clearly remembered the slashes.

However, his techniques were inherited from the cult’s hundreds of years of legacy, so he didn’t think deeply about the new slashes.

It was because he thought that he would never cross paths with a master of the sword technique.

However, upon discovering the slashes, Chun Inji decided that something felt unusual and tried to find Saint Gu-jung right away.

“In the traces I found, the Shaolin Temple technique used was a lot lower than Gu-jung’s level, so I guessed it was the traces from the missing leader.”

Saint Gu-jung had reached Mt.Biam before Chun Inji.

Realizing that, Chun Inji tried to find him in a hurry, he searched for two days and finally found traces of martial artists.

And footprints heading to the east.

“I hurriedly followed and reached a gorge which was in the west of Zhejiang province. There, I was lucky enough to find Saint Gu-jung.”

It was literal luck.

It was because there were sounds of battle from the side of the gorge.

So he hurried there.

“Saint Gu-jung was competing with an unknown master.”

The monks of Shaolin Temple, who were his company, all turned into defiled corpses at the bottom of the valley, and Saint Gu-jung seemed to be struggling.

Chun Inji joined in and helped Gu-jung.

“Starting with the basics, we used every technique we could think of, but their martial arts, it definitely depended on the blade technique and the Blade God.”

No matter how excellent the martial arts were of the unknown man when Chun Inji joined, the situation reversed.

Although it took a while, they were able to defeat the enemy.

“Saint Gu-jung said something while we were subduing them.”

[Lord Chun! You can't kill them!]

The reason was unknown, but it was a request, so a few people were captured without being killed.

Saint Gu-jung was tired from the long battle.

When he recovered the next day, Chun Inji heard about what had happened.

[Lord Chun. They are the descendants of the Blade God.]

He expected that to some extent, but it was still shocking.

The descendants of that person had disappeared a long time ago, but they surfaced again?

“This old man thought that this only started when Saint Gu-jung was looking for that missing man. But I was wrong.”

“It wasn’t?”

Chun Inji, the former Lord, answered Chun Yeowun’s question.

“... Saint Gu-jung knew about them.”

“Knew about them? Like their existence?”

“Yes.”

Saint Gu-jung revealed the truth, pointing to the descendants.

[I didn’t want to tell you, strongest one, but since Lord Chun seems to know a little about them, I’ll tell you. Amitabha.]

Five hundred years ago, the Blade God first appeared in Wulin.

The first victim was Chun Muhui, the seventh Lord of the Demonic Cult.

The Blade God, who killed one of the five strongest warriors, disappeared and reappeared exactly two years later.

That was,

“Mt. Song!”

“Huh? How do you know that?”

When Chun Yeowun knew about it, Chun Inji couldn't help but be puzzled.

Marakim answered it.

“After you disappeared, the Lord passed the sixth test in the academy, and when he entered the cave, he learned about the legacy of the Sword Demon.”

“What? You passed the sixth test?”

Chun Inji couldn't hide his surprise.

Thinking about it, it would be strange if Chun Yeowun, who had such outstanding skills, was unable to pass the sixth test.

“... you keep surprising this old man. Huhu.”

After he calmed down from the surprise, Chun Inji spoke again.

“The place he appeared again, two years later, was Mt. Song. At that time, Gong Yun, a master in the Shaolin Temple, was assassinated despite being one of the five strongest.”

It was even shocking that Chun Muhui, the Lord of the Demonic Cult, had been murdered.

Gung Yun was a monk who had been respected by many in Yulin. This was why Yulin was dead set on catching the mysterious person who suddenly appeared and killed people. The 9 great clans and the smaller clans had the same wish too.

“The result, you might know, was a failure.”

After that, two years later, Yuk Jingkem of the Forces of Evil was killed by the Blade God.

“At that time, the only person who stopped him was the Sword Demon. Having passed the sixth test, you know why the academy was built?”

“... to prepare for the Blade God and his descendants who will appear in the future.”

“Right. However, that isn’t the only reason.”

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

“Then?”

“As two strong people of the Yulin were murdered, a secret group was formed within the faction to track him down.”

Chun Inji took a deep breath once and said,

“The name of the secret group which Saint Gu-jung belonged to was Eun Jarim.”

Chapter 436 - To Changbai Mountains (2)

Chapter 436: To Changbai Mountains (2)

“Eun Jarim!”

Chun Yeowun and the Great Guardian Marakim were both shocked.

Eun Jarim.

It was supposed to be a legendary group, only heard about.

Eun Jarim literally meant hidden martial artist.

Eun is taken from the word which means a group of martial artists, a hidden group of warriors.

According to the legends, Eun Jarim is comprised of warriors from all the great clans of Wulin.

However, since not much is known about it after five hundred years, the people of Wulin regarded it as a false rumor.

However,

“Eun Jarim is an organization which actually exists. Saint Gu-jung belonged to it.”

Such a group existing was shocking.

And their purpose wasn't to relay their own techniques but to find and block the descendants of the Blade God who would appear in the future.

“Among the factions of the past, there were many who were concerned about the Blade God who suddenly appeared.”

That was a natural reaction.

Most of the five strongest warriors of that time were killed by that one man.

It was nowhere like the usual battles of the Wulin, where clans fought each other for victory or defeat.

The unprecedented murders were enough to raise doubts.

“They prepared differently from our cult.”

Unlike the Sword Demon, who was focused on cultivating warriors who could defeat the Blade God, Eun Jarim focused on tracking his existence.

But there was a huge problem.

The Blade God left no traces. It was as if he never existed.

“Giving up would have been better, but the Eun Jarim was sure that he would show up again. It was like they were able to foresee the distant future.”

And that prediction came true.

It was said that the people in Eun Jarim, who searched day and night, found traces of the Blade God’s descendant for the first time.

It was more than two hundred years before the Blade God disappeared.

“Then, that means that the Extreme Art of the Blade God was found two hundred years back?”

“... it was just a trace.”

Eun Jarim found some marks which were believed to be from the Blade God’s descendant on Mt. Baekyang.

They were all elated about finding some traces, but there was something odd about it.

The sword marks they found seemed far less complete than the marks left on the bodies of the Shaolin monks who were recently killed.

“As if they weren’t inheriting the martial arts of the Blade God, the senior of Eun Jarim said the newly found marks were imitating the previous ones.”

‘Eun Jarim senior?’

Chun Yeowun had some doubts about that senior who was mentioned, but he didn’t ask about it.

Chun Inji continued to speak.

“And after the traces were found, his whereabouts were unknown, but five years later, traces were once again found to the north.”

And the traces were discovered after a very long time.

However, the traces found this time were far more advanced than the ones at Mt. Baekyang.

Of course, even if it was better, the traces still seemed lacking compared to the Blade God, but there was considerable progress.

“Did Eun Jarim find them?”

“No. It was as if they completely hid themselves, leaving nothing but a few traces behind. Even the Eun Jarim who pursued them were beginning to have doubts.”

Even though time kept passing, the fact that there were traces meant that the descendant of the Blade God would appear once again.

Therefore, Eun Jarim decided to not give up and continued to search.

“Since the first day Eun Jarim was first formed, they have found numerous traces of the Blade God’s sword technique. And we were able to discover a fact through those traces.”

“Fact?”

“The traces left behind by that descendant were turning more and more similar to the Blade God’s.”

“Ah!”

The traces were becoming closer and closer to perfection.

In the end, it was safe to say that he would completely display the perfect technique of the Blade God.

“Eun Jarim came up with that hypothesis. There are descendants of the Blade God, but they weren’t taught by the Blade God in person.”

Chun Yeowun nodded, agreeing to it.

‘A reasonable hypothesis.’

Although the Blade God’s martial arts are more difficult to learn, the fact that the Blade God could use them meant that some kind of training existed.

However, just because he wasn't seen anywhere didn't mean that the training methods weren't taught or that the descendants were all self-taught.

"The one thing which matters is that what the Eun Jarim and the past Lords of the Cult were worried about was gradually turning into reality."

The Sword Demon and Eun Jarim were concerned that the Blade God would appear again.

It was because they knew that even if the three major factions joined forces, they would still be unable to handle the Blade God if he appeared with skilled warriors.

"At that time, the thing they were worried about finally happened."

They were beginning to appear.

No matter how secretly they moved, anyone was bound to get caught.

They realized that people of the Blade God Six Martial clan hid within the Wulin, and people tried to find them.

"We noticed it because the masters inside the Eun Jarim were starting to disappear one after the other."

As a hidden organization, Eun Jarim consisted of a small number of masters.

As a result, when three or more masters went missing, people noticed that the Blade God's descendants became braver.

The Blade God Six Martial clan was researching a method to teach their martial arts.

“Ahhh... then the Shaolin Master, Master Ju-am?”

At Chun Yeowun’s question, the former lord nodded his head.

Master Ju-am also belonged to Eun Jarim, and he decided to be bait.

Traces of the Extreme Art of the Blade God appeared in Anhui, Zheijiang, Jiangsu, and Master Ju-am tried to lure them out.

“As you said, Master Ju-am did a great job. It was his sacrifice which brought the first contact with those monsters.”

Saint Gu-jung was the one who told Chun Inji all that.

Chun Inji, who learned all about Eun Jarim from Gu-jung, remembered it.

He thought that perhaps helping them uncover the descendants of the Blade God might change the future of the Demonic Cult.

“Actually, I had no choice. When Gu-jung revealed it to me, he said it with the intention that I would join him.”

Saint Gu-jung, who said that he was going to the base of Eun Jarim along with the captured men, asked Chun Inji to cooperate with him.

“... I thought that it would be good for the cult.”

Too many problems in a short amount of time.

There was a saying, to scare snakes by stomping on the grass, but no one could do that, as no one knew where the descendants were even hiding.

“And that was how I turned into a member of the Eun Jarim and worked with them.”

That was twenty years ago.

More than half of the hidden secrets about the former lord Chun Inji have been revealed.

Marakim turned bitter as the story ended.

‘Lord, no, former lord, has such a sense of duty and carried that heavy burden all alone.’

It was by no means an easy task for the Lord of the Cult to give up everything and sacrifice himself.

It was something that had to be respected.

“... but how did grandfather get into the hands of the Blade God Six Martial clan?”

Chun Inji asked with a puzzled expression at Chun Yeowun’s question.

“Aren’t you curious about the captured descendants of the Blade God?”

“There is a worm in their heads. And when you try to extract it, it blows up.”

Chun Yeowun had been able to obtain a lot of information by capturing the people of the Blade God Six Martial clan.

Based on his experience, he thought that Eun Jarim would have come up with a way to get information.

With a smile, Chun Inji spoke.

“Ha! Yeowun-ah, you are making a strong impression on this old man. Right. You are right. Before we could get anything, their heads would explode, and they died.”

He praised him, but Chun Inji’s voice seemed bitter.

It was because the sacrifice of Master Ju-am had turned insignificant.

As Chun Inji joined, many more descendants were captured by the Eun Jarim, but they failed to find information every time.

“The masters in Eun Jarim and this old man thought that it wouldn’t work this way.”

Twenty years ago, they encountered unexpected enemies.

Enemies who seemed invincible.

“The man who seemed invincible didn’t fall even when the five strongest warriors came together to kill him.”

He appeared with four men in iron masks. Thankfully Chun Inji and the others were able to respond thanks to the Eun Jarim masters who were hiding and gathered close by.

[Old Colleagues. Enjoy this. Kukul!]

At first, no one understood what the man said.

The man who seemed invincible lost and the others were caught.

Managing to subdue them, they took off the iron masks.

“... they were the dead masters of Eun Jarim who died in the hands of the Blade God sixteen years ago.”

They couldn't find any reason for what happened.

They tried to find numerous answers to solve their questions, and while trying, the masters in iron masks' heads would explode, and they would die.

Among the four, only one faced a different death.

He was Master Ju-am, who sacrificed himself in the past.

“Shockingly, we managed to get information before Master Ju-am died.”

Although not all the information could be remembered, Master Ju-am told them important facts about how he was abducted.

“He said that those people held a huge force and that they reached a level where they could deal with the entire Wulin.”

Master Ju-am, who gave the information, died pretty soon after.

In fact, he was severely wounded during the battle, there was no way they could have saved him.

But unlike the other three, he died normally.

“With the permission of Gu-jung, the brain was dissected to look for the reason, and that was when we learned about it.”

The brain of Master Ju-am had contracted.

As if the brain had gone into hibernation.

“While examining, one thing was noticed, it seemed like something was affecting the functioning and will of the body’s owner.”

While listening to the story, Chun Yeowun looked at Chun Inji with trembling eyes.

It was because one question he had was solved.

“Grandfather!... Don’t tell me that you joined because of it?”

“... Right. You’re right. It was to infiltrate their base directly.”

He didn’t deny what was running through Chun Yeowun’s brain.

The Reverse Health Preservation was created by Bodhi Dharma, something which needed extreme mental strength.

Unlike other methods, this method had a great effect in stabilizing the mind and body.

“Did the former Lord disappear to learn more about them?”

Marakim thought that Chun Inji had left to restore the Demonic Cult to its former glory.

To that, Chun Inji answered.

“That is the reason, but it was also to learn the Sky Demon Sword.”

Chun Inji believed that only the Sky Demon Sword could oppose the Blade God Six Martial clan.

However, learning it took a lot of time, and it seemed impossible to complete it.

“I was going to stay in the Cult until I mastered it. But...”

The more he began to depend on the spirit of Buddhism, the lesser the Sky Demon Sword unfolded.

As the secondary energy began to grow in his body, Chun Inji decided that it would be better to hand the cult over to Chun Yujong and the six clans before they noticed the changes in his body, and left the cult earlier than planned.

Thud!

Marakim knelt down and spoke in a trembling voice.

“Ho-how could you go through all that on your own? If only you let me know...”

Pat!

At that, Chun Inji gently placed his hand on Marakim’s shoulder.

“Great Guardian. Your mission is to protect the Chun Ma and the next Chun Ma of the cult. How could this old man overlook your role?”

“Ahh!...”

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

‘Grandfather...’

Chun Yeowun was speechless at the sacrifices Chun Inji had made.

It wasn't that he was kidnapped by them. Rather, he let himself get kidnapped so he could find out information about the real enemies.

To win a war, several tricks will have to be used.

Chapter 437 - To Changbai Mountains (3)

437: To Changbai Mountains (3)

Chun Inji, the former Lord of the Demonic Cult, looked at the two people's reactions and continued his story.

"After years of preparation, this grandfather of yours and Saint Gu-jung, with a strong sense of duty in our hearts, pretended to be subdued and infiltrated them."

Since this was the most important part, Chun Yeowun concentrated on his words.

It was said that they were captured.

When they woke up after losing consciousness from the battle, he arrived at a place he presumed to be the base of the Blade God Six Martial clan.

"I was prepared for anything... yet, it was a difficult time."

They didn't try to immediately brainwash the captured men.

At first, they tried to persuade them into voluntarily giving out information about the Yulin and the Demonic Cult.

Natural, they didn't give in, and it didn't take long for the polite people to resort to threats and torture.

"... they did everything they could think of to make Gu-jung and I give in."

Thinking back on that time, Chun Inji's complexion darkened.

No matter how strong he was physically and mentally, the memories of being tortured by them were so strong that it was etched into his bones.

'Grandfather...'

Chun Yeowun had seen the revived body of Chun Inji.

In order to wash away the dirt on his body which had accumulated since getting caught, Chun Yeowun had removed his clothes to clean him, seeing the traces of torture, he could barely contain his anger.

"But it was foolish. I took the measures and thought that if I hold on and be patient, I would be able to get information about them."

But the torture lasted for 10 long years, and it devastated him.

In the pain which was inflicted on him, his pride and ego disappeared.

"At the end of the day, I learned nothing."

Chun Inji thought he could resist the worm in his head like Master Ju-am, but it didn't work out the way he wanted to.

While the Yulin and the Demonic Cult were busy devising countermeasures, the Blade God Six Martial clan too were improving themselves.

In order to grow, they too began to learn everything about their ancestors.

“They ended up closing off my internal energy flow for ten years.”

As his internal energy was stopped, he couldn't force the worm out, and his body and mind, which had turned weak due to the torture, had no other choice but to lose.

“... this is embarrassing, but I don't remember a single thing that I did under orders. But there was no way I could die either.”

Chun Inji thought that he would never wake up from the control of the monsters, but it changed.

Believing that he was completely brainwashed, he was placed into the Spirit Squad, and they began to use him in earnest.

At that time, he was able to escape from a few orders given by using Reverse Health Preservation.

“When I realized that I could get control of myself for a few seconds despite being under their control, I began to figure out their purpose.”

However, since the entire Blade God Six Martial clan was made up of top-level warriors, deceiving them wouldn't be an easy task.

Sometimes, it would take an entire month for Chun Inji to regain consciousness, and as things happened, he gradually began to get confused.

“It seemed like the worm was getting used to my technique.”

The first time he used Reverse Health Preservation, he could feel his vision clear up, but from one point on, everything was blurry, and the pain only increased.

He guessed that Saint Gu-jung was in the same situation.

“... did you find anything?”

At the question, Chun Inji shook his head.

“They are quite good at what they do. I couldn’t understand more than half of anything they said because they were using code language and simplified Chinese characters so that information wouldn’t leak out.”

‘Ah! No... simplified Chinese?’

At those words, something came to Chun Yeowun’s mind.

Simplified Chinese was used to write a book called Treasure of Godliness, which was the direction for the Blade God Six Martial clan.

If Chun Yeowun could see those characters, he could read them with the help of Nano.

‘Ah... it’s a pity.’

If only Chun Inji had escaped with it, Chun Yeowun could have interpreted it, but considering the condition Chun Inji was in, just getting out alive was enough.

With regret, Chun Inji spoke.

“Ugh, every time they would plan something, I took time to transcribe the letters.”

“Is that true?”

At the puzzled question, Chun Inji answered.

“No matter how impossible it was to interpret, I tried to figure out their true purpose, but would they let me live if they found out? The problem was to get the copies.”

As the spirit squad was put in the field, getting by information was tough.

And there were many instances where the spirit squad wasn't around while the information was being relayed.

But after a long wait, an opportunity came.

“To obtain the Dragon Turtle, I managed to learn that.”

Chun Inji, who couldn't miss out on the opportunity he obtained after thousands of hardships, hid the copied paper in the Hubei province on his way to the north.

He wanted to hide it close, but he had to do it discreetly due to surveillance.

“It was confusing, but from the investigation I did, this old man has to remember those cryptic words.”

Chun Yeowun's eyes twinkled at those words.

If the records of the Blade God were known, their real purpose could be discovered.

What came next was the same as what Dan Baekhyun had said.

Chun Inji, who was temporarily released from control while dealing with the dragon, entrusted his slate and asked for help.

“Who would have known that you would come to save your grandfather like this. I think this is a blessing from Chun Ma.”

“Grandfather...”

Chun Inji’s sincere voice made Chun Yeowun choke.

He was looking at the true leader of the Sky Demon Order.

As they looked at each other drenched in their own emotions, Chun Yeowun, who controlled himself, asked.

“By the way, earlier, you said that we shouldn’t let the cores of the five spirit beasts fall into their hands. Is there any reason?”

To that, Chun Inji replied with a serious expression.

“You might not believe this, but... what they are doing, they want to attain the cores of the five spirit beasts to gain huge power.”

“What do you mean?”

“... to gain eternal immortality.”

“Eternal immortality?”

Eternal Immortality.

It literally means to enjoy life forever and never disappear.

“Eternal immortality? Former Lord, is that even possible?”

“If what they were talking about was true... then it probably is.”

“Huh!”

Marakim, who wouldn't normally show much reaction, was shocked.

Immortality is known to be a myth, but if it was indeed true, then it was a good enough reason to spend as much time and resources as they had.

‘Ah!’

Suddenly, something came to Yeowun's mind.

When Nano faced complications because of the Dragon Turtle's lightning, he ended up seeing things from the future.

At that time, he heard of someone who was called the Blade God, who had reached the level of natural wonder by living close to a thousand years.

‘Right! If that Blade God I saw in the video was real, he must have attained immortality.’

Chun Yeowun realized that what he saw in the video was true.

That was when he became aware of one more fact.

‘According to the original timeline, he must have obtained all five cores?’

A clear thing.

But it isn't happening now because of Chun Yeowun.

Starting with the Imoogi inside the Sky Demon Sword, then the Flame Qilin in the Royal Shrine, and now the Dragon

Turtle and the spiritual power of the Great Bird, all were acquired by chance.

‘Like someone set them...’

All the cores got absorbed by himself.

Now all that was left was the core of the Feng bo.

And if what Chun Inji was saying was true, if the core of Feng bo could be obtained, Chun Yeowun would gain eternal life.

‘Ah!’

He didn’t wish for immortality, but it was absurd to listen to.

In a bright voice, someone spoke.

“This might be a good thing.”

“?”

“If the head of that clan managed to gain immortality, the entire Wulin would have fallen into his hands. But I am glad that you have three cores.”

‘... four... huh. No.’

He was about to say four but decided to stay silent.

“Yeowun-ah. Thankfully you took in the core of the dragon, but the Blade Lord must have tried to get the core of the Great Bird from the Potala Palace.”

It was something that Chun Inji heard the warriors of the Blade God Six Martial clan talk about on their way to the Ice

Palace, that the Blade Lord was going to Potala Palace to get the core of the Great Bird.

‘Huh?’

Chun Yeowun’s eyes lit up.

He had obtained the core of the Great Bird, but from what Chun Inji said, there had to be another one alive.

‘Ah, it could be because the divine object of the Ice Palace is too old.’

Chun Inji, who didn’t know that Yeowun had obtained the core of the Great Bird, continued his story.

“If that person has obtained the core of the Great Bird, he will learn that the core of the dragon got taken away, and he will try to get the core of the Feng bo, the last one.”

He felt that this situation had to be taken advantage of.

“You have taken three, but that man, he is a monster who can’t be compared to any master this old man has ever seen.”

Chun Inji remembered the first time he went to the base.

At that time, the Eun Jarim, who were put into the spirit squad, and twenty masters attacked the Blade Lord.

Chun Inji, who was conscious at that time, thought it to be the best opportunity to get rid of him.

But the results were shocking.

Two Supreme Masters and eighteen Superior Masters worked together, but not one was able to touch the Blade

Lord.

“Yeowun-ah. That man is a monster. If he obtains two cores, he will be stronger than you, who has three cores. It will be a tough fight.”

‘hmm...’

He’ll have to fight to know the results.

Apart from obtaining the last core, he wondered how strong the Blade Lord was.

Chun Inji thought that the situation had been used to their advantage.

“Hurry and take the core of Feng bo and get ahead of him. If that happens, no matter how much he tries, he won’t be able to handle you.”

Energy rose in Chun Inji.

The thought of his grandson obtaining four cores made him feel proud, and that way, the Blade Lord would have no chance against Yeowun.

Chun Inji really considered this situation to be a blessing on the Cult.

“Yeowun-ah. It must be fate that this old man lived all this time to see you.”

“... I’m grateful too.”

“Not just that.”

Chun Inji shook his head.

“This old man saw the sword of the Blade Lord. It isn’t something that a human body can do.”

It wasn’t wrong to say that the sword was something that transcends the limits of the human body.

Chun Inji brought up the main point.

“The only sword which can go against theirs is the Sword Force of the Sky Demon left behind by the ancestor. You must have seen that, right?”

Chun Yeowun nodded at that question.

Behind the sapphire stone, he came to know about the sword.

However, it was unfinished, not going beyond five forms.

“Before infiltrating the Blade God Six Martial clan, I tried to use the Sword Force of the Sky Demon. At least, I tried to make it into something which exerts more power.”

Chun Inji considered his efforts as well-spent.

He was convinced that if Yeowun could learn it, then he would be able to face the sword of the Blade God Six Martial clan.

“You need to hurry, and I will pass it to you today. I could only learn 70 percent, but with your abilities, the dead technique of the Sword Force of the Sky Demon can be saved.”

Chun Inji said it with a smile.

He was happy to think that he could fulfill his duties as grandfather and former lord.

‘Ah...’

At that, Chun Yeowun had an embarrassed expression.

“Huh? What is it?”

He thought that his grandchild would be happy to learn the sword, but the reaction was different from what Chun Inji had expected.

“Gr... Grandfather. I apologize. I have already found the method that was left on the sapphire stone monument and completed the Sword Force of the Sky Demon.”

“... WHAT?!”

Chun Inji turned pale and yelled as he heard Yeowun’s words.

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

His intentions turned into nothing in an instant.

‘... W-what has my grandchild been doing until now?’

His eyes were filled with despair and humiliation at the same time.

How would Chun Inji react if Chun Yeowun said that he combined the Sky Demon Sword and Extreme Art of the Blade God into a new sword technique?

Chapter 438 - To Changbai Mountains (4)

438: To Changbai Mountains (4)

The fifth day after the former Lord Chun Inji woke up,

After finishing their journey to the North Sea Ice Palace, Chun Yeowun and the people of the Demonic Cult began to head back to Jianghu, despite wanting to head back right after he woke up.

It was because they had come across two problems.

The first was Chun Inji's body was severely damaged and needed time to recover.

[Then, Grandfather. I will show you the Sword Force of the Sky Demon and then imbue energy into you.]

But the man refused, saying that his way was better than the cult's way.

As said, Chun Inji managed to efficiently use the Reverse Health Preservation and started to move within three days.

The second problem was the demand for food.

Although the cult did suffer casualties during the battle with the dragon and the Yulin, the remaining people still needed food, and more than five hundred men were still alive.

In the process of going to the North Sea Ice Palace, the Demonic Cult had used up all their food, so they had to fill up before they could head back.

If the North Sea Ice Palace hadn't collapsed, it would have been a lot easier to replenish their food.

"Master. Won't you stay a little longer?"

Baekhyun, the new king of the palace, suggested that Chun Yeowun stay longer, but Yeowun, who had already done everything he could inside the palace, had no time to spare.

Chun Yeowun said it was because they had to head to Liaoning Castle right away.

Moreover, if the Demonic Cult's men continued to stay on the island, it wouldn't do any good for Baekhyun, who had to unite the palace officials.

"You're talking nonsense."

"Ah, no. Why would I talk nonsense? There is still a lot to learn..."

"I taught you everything that I could teach. I have also passed down the method for the Ice Cold of Heaven. Later, I'll check and see if you've learned it properly."

"Huh?"

At Chun Yeowun's words, Baekhyun couldn't hide his emotions.

He liked the feeling of finally being able to enjoy his freedom after Yeowun left, but Yeowun's last words felt like a stab in his back.

“To check?”

“You’re my first disciple. I won’t ignore you that easily.”

Although he only taught the Ice Cold of Heaven to Baekhyun, Baekhyun was still his disciple.

It was Chun Yeowun’s smooth ploy to take the North Sea Ice Palace under his wing, and as long as Baekhyun was his disciple, there was no way he could rebel.

“Five members of the Six Swordsmen (The unit under the Six Swords) will reside here, and I will periodically check if you’re neglecting your training or not through them.”

“... I will not disappoint you.”

Baekhyun answered with a pale face.

‘Tch!’

Chun Yeowun clicked his tongue internally.

While teaching Baekhyun, Chun Yeowun understood one thing about him.

Although Baekhyun lacked basic talent, he didn’t have any interest in learning the family technique despite being from the royal family.

Dan Jucheon, who was now in the Demonic Cult, was also disappointed about that.

Although Baekhyun had the legitimacy and the support, if the future of the Ice Palace was considered, then Dan Jucheon was much more qualified to be the king.

‘Well, maybe luck does play a major role?’

Baekhyun was someone who had luck on his side.

If he hadn't met Chun Inji, the former Lord of the Demonic Cult, then nothing good would have happened to him.

"Lord. All the preparations are done."

"Good work."

Marakim announced that they were all ready.

Chun Yeowun, who told Baekhyun to not neglect his training, got on the boat.

Hu Bong, the lieutenant, spoke to Chun Yeowun, who got on the ship and walked towards the boat's head.

"Lord, since we took the palace under our wing, wouldn't it be better to change the name of the North Sea? For example, Sky Demon North Branch. Kya~ wouldn't that be a kill..."

Tak!

"Auk!"

Hu Bong, who was hit on the back of his head, turned to see Hou Sanghwa, one of the Six Swords, looking at him with a sneer on her face.

"Yah! Do you think my head is a drum?"

It was a wail along with a warning.

"Be careful about what you say. Lieutenant. Hu. Bong!"

"... Eh."

Hu Bong, who listened to Hou Sanghwa's words, decided to keep his mouth shut.

On the ship, which crossed the lake, there were new members of the Demonic Cult.

Dan Jucheon, who turned into the 3rd Great Elder, and the royals who followed him.

From the elders of the North Sea Ice Palace, Elder Seol Young-gwi and two others joined Dan Jucheon. However, Chun Yeowun didn't care about it.

[Even if three elders decided to come with me, what would happen to the North Sea Ice Palace?]

[... Understood. We will consider this as the final order from the former deputy king.]

Of course, Chun Yeowun had no intention of letting Dan Jucheon gather supporters.

Until he could trust him.

Still, in order to save Dan Jucheon's face, around a hundred of his supporters were allowed to follow him.

However, there were two other people besides the ones from the Ice Palace.

[Miss. What are we supposed to do?]

It was Moyong Yuu, son of Moyong Kang, who sent the telepathic message in an anxious tone.

The person he sent it to was Jegal Sohi, the second head of the Yulin contingent, who was standing next to him.

Why were they staying in the palace instead of returning back with the Yulin troops, which left the Ice Palace three days ago?

[Don't worry too much. Lord Moyong. As long as we are being considered hostages, no one will harm us too easily.]

[... that cold-blooded person?]

Moyong Yuu shuddered.

They were being held as hostages of the Yulin while letting the rest of the contingent leave.

At first, Chun Yeowun tried to deal with those who tried to take the core of the dragon, but then he decided that clashing with the Yulin wouldn't do any good and decided to take hostages from them.

'Because the Blade God Six Martial clan still has to be dealt with.'

Moyong Kang was humiliated, yet he accepted it.

To save his troops.

Fortunately, Chun Yeowun said that he would decide whether to release the hostages or not after discussing it with the Great Leader of the Forces of Justice.

[Miss Jegal. I think that we should escape when the chance comes. We don't know when that cold-blooded monster will change his mind and decide to cut our arms off or kill us!]

With all that happened, Moyong Yuu was extremely scared of Chun Yeowun.

Even in their first meeting, he knew that Chun Yeowun was stronger than him, but now he was plain terrified.

[... do you think you can escape?]

Jegal Sohi responded with a question.

She understood Moyong Yuu's feelings, but how could they escape from the monster's hand?

[Do not give up! Miss Jegal! It's said that even when the sky falls, there will be an opening for us to rise, but when an opportunity arises, should we at least try...]

"Lord Moyong,"

"Eik!"

Even before he could complete it, someone had called for Moyong Yuu.

The one who approached him was Baekgi, one of the Six Swords, who stood with a calm face.

Moyong Yuu, who was trying to come up with plans to escape, stuttered.

"Wh-what is it?"

"The Lord is calling for you."

"Lo-Lord Chun? Wh... why? I didn't do anything and stayed quiet."

Moyong Yuu looked terrified as Jegal Sohi shook her head.

'Ugh, how do you plan on escaping? Lord Moyong.'

There was nothing he could do against the Lord of the Demonic Cult, Chun Yeowun, but to at least plan an escape, he should be less frightened.

“You’ll find out when you come.”

Moyong Yuu, who was called over, turned white in front of Chun Yeowun.

To him, Chun Yeowun asked.

“I heard that the Moyong clan is from the Liaoning province?”

It wasn’t a question he thought he would be asked.

He was worried that Chun Yeowun was planning to become the hegemon of the Moyong clan.

Contrary to his concerns.

“When we arrive in Liaoning, guide me to Changbai Mountain.”

“Huh? Chang... bai mountain?”

The purpose of Chun Yeowun’s summon was for him to guide them.

That evening, the Demonic Castle in the Ten Thousand mountains.

Chun Yujong, who had recovered a lot, was able to move freely.

His recent routine was to receive treatment in the morning and restore his internal energy in the afternoon.

He was recovering to his original state with steady efforts.

A guest had come to visit him while he was training in the room.

It was the Right Guardian, Submeng.

Submeng, who seemed different from usual, visited him to deliver good news.

“Di—did they find my father?”

Chun Yujong couldn’t hide his surprise at the news which was delivered to him.

The man had gone missing twenty years ago, and he assumed that he was dead.

But that didn’t seem to be the case.

“Don’t be so shocked. Lord didn’t just find the former lord, but he also managed to make the North Sea Ice Palace affiliated with the cult!”

“What?”

He asked Chun Yujong to not be surprised, but it would be weird if he wasn’t.

Although Chun Yujong went through numerous wars since he gained power, he never got such results.

“The North Sea Ice Palace? Ha!”

And Chun Yeowun was really amazing.

He changed the State Religion shortly after becoming the Lord and then turned the capital into a realm of the Demonic Cult.

And he even managed to get North Sea Ice Palace into his own hands.

“Isn’t this because his conviction was recognized that they decided to turn into disciples of our Lord? Such great news for our cult! Chuckle!”

Right Guardian, Submeng was excited as he talked about it.

Seeing him like that, Chun Yujong thought of his dead wife.

‘Hwayeon... your child is much better than me.’

He never dreamed that the new Lord would be so talented.

He would have liked it if she was alive to see this day.

Still, it was supposed to be a happy day. He even thought of having a drink after a long time.

“I feel nice. Right Guardian. Since you brought me good news, get some alcohol...!”

Crash!

Before he finished what he was saying, Chun Yujong threw sword qi to the window.

He was so rushed that the sword qi hadn’t taken the shape of a sword and stayed near the half-opened window.

“For-former Lord?”

Tat! Crack!

Right Guardian, Submeng, who was puzzled as he saw Chun Yujong leave through the window, followed him.

Chun Yujong's eyes narrowed as he looked around the garden in front of the residence, which was lit by torches.

"What are you doing?"

Chun Yujong tilted his head to answer Submeng's question.

"I thought someone was eavesdropping on our conversation. Maybe I was mistaken."

"Huh? What do you mean?"

Despite the Six Swords not being present, this residence was supposed to be heavily guarded.

Moreover, even though he wasn't fully recovered, Chun Yujong was still a former member of the five strongest warriors.

"Maybe it is because your internal energy is damaged. Phew. Come on in."

"Hmm... I guess so."

Chun Yujong shook his head and went back into the residence with Submeng.

On top of the Ten Thousand Mountains, not far from the castle.

Woong!

At the top of the peak, the land shook with blue light.

Chi-chi-chik!

The space seemed to crackle.

In the empty space, what seemed to be a fabric made of some unique material disappeared and reappeared repeatedly.

Crck!

“Damn it.”

A person with unique colored clothes appeared where no one was present.

There was something there from the beginning, but it just looked like no one was there.

Drip!

His clothes were cut below the waist, and blood was dripping.

“I should have been completely invisible to the naked eye, but to notice me, he is a monster.”

Despite approaching them carefully, he got caught.

The man with unique colored clothes looked at his cut and saw smoke rising from a square bag he had.

“Ugh!”

The man took it out of the bag.

And threw it with all his might.

Bang! Woo!

The circular smoking object flew through the air and was soon sucked into space with a roaring sound.

The man who looked at it mumbled.

“Damn it, one is gone.”

Thud!

The man, who sat on the floor, looked at the other two circular objects in the bag, both identical to the one thrown before.

He shook his head, knowing his original plan had gone awry.

The man who sighed mumbled.

“...Ah, the original plan has gone to waste. I can’t walk from here. I might get caught...”

Beep! Beep! Beep!

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

At that time, a strange mechanical beeping sound came from the bracelet on the man’s hand.

Annoyed.

“Tch... did they already detect me just because I used two? They’re fast!”

The man hurriedly took out another circular object from the bag and did something, then space shook with blue light, and his figure disappeared.

Chapter 439 - Guardian of Changbai Mountain (1)

439: Guardian of Changbai Mountain (1)

The base of the Forces of Justice.

The main conference venue where all major matters of the Forces of Justice and the Yulin were decided.

Due to keeping the other major powers in check and the other major roles they played as one of the three major factions, the leaders couldn't gather for quite some time.

Moreover, especially since the leaders were scrambling to uncover the Blade God Six Martial clans plan, it took even more time.

However, despite waiting such a long time, the leaders of the Forces of Justice had gathered.

The number of leaders gathered couldn't be compared to when they were discussing the non-aggression treaty.

At the top was the seat of the Great Leader.

On either side of him were foreign affairs Gam Woon-seo and internal affairs Ha Ji-jin.

At the first seat on the right side of the table, people were seated in sequential order by military rank.

1st leader, Shanxi Sword Master, Mu Gu-cheon

2nd leader, Shaolin Temple's head, Saint Gak-yeon.

4th leader, Hangsan clan, under the Shaolin Temple, Monk Sathi.

5th leader, Wudang clan, Hyun Jinja.

6th leader, Mount Hua clan, Poong Chungwun.

8th leader, Head of the Four Skies clan, Dang Pil-yeon.

10th leader, Elder of the Jeom Jang clan, Ho Hyeon-ja

11th leader, Beggars association head, Hong Palwoo

12th leader, Elder of the Kong Tong clan, Elder Cheong-su.

13th leader, Jegal clan head, Jegal Young.

14th leader, Jongnam clan, Elder Jeokyang.

16th leader, Jinju family head, Yeon Young-in.

17th leader, Habuk clan's head, Peng-gyu

In addition to the leaders and heads of each clan, each combat group that held power stood in the room.

The only ones who couldn't attend were four leaders and two commanders.

Of course, they had reasons for not being able to attend.

They were 7th leader Moyong Kang, who hadn't returned from the North, Hwang Bo-neung, who died in the North Sea, the head of the Nam Gung clan who died in the Jin Castle, and the 9th leader who was killed in a surprise attack by the Blade God Six Martial clan in his province.

And the two commanders who didn't attend were Yeon Buso, who was depressed, and Kang Soah, who went to the North and lost his life.

'The atmosphere isn't that serious.'

Poong Chungwun of the Mount Hua clan thought while looking at the room.

The heads of each clan had gathered.

With such strong people gathered, the atmosphere should've been intense.

'Why were we summoned so urgently? What happened?'

For the ones who didn't know, it was suspenseful, so they wondered why.

The Great Leader looked at all the leaders with a hardened expression.

1st leader Mu Gu-cheon, who was the closest to Yi Mok, was the one who opened his mouth.

"Firstly, I would like to express my gratitude to the leaders and commanders who responded to the emergency order. We don't have much time, so I'll get right to the point."

Woong!

Everyone knew that something had happened.

What was the reason for such an emergency meeting that one of the five strongest warriors, Yi Mok, had to call for them right away?

"Come in."

As the order from Yi Mok fell, a man in a black uniform entered the room.

The man, with half white hair and drooping eyes, was Mak Wijong, the temporary captain of the Black Shadow group.

‘Why is it that person?’

‘Lieutenant Mak? Wasn’t he part of the north’s contingent?’

A few people who knew him were puzzled.

No one was allowed to attend the meetings of the leaders unless they were a commander or above.

‘Didn’t he leave for the North Sea with Commander Kang?’

In their last meeting, there were a few leaders who knew that Kang Soah, the second son of Yi Mok, was sent to the North Sea as the leader of the contingent.

But the contingent hadn’t returned, so why was this man back?

Thud!

“The new commander of the Black Shadow group, Mak Wijong, greets the leaders.”

“Commander?”

Everyone was shocked, unable to understand what happened.

The commander of the Black Shadow group is Kang Soah, and he was the one who created the group, there was no way he would give up the title.

Unless he died.

“Great Leader, what does this mean?”

2nd leader, Gak-yeon, was asking the question when Yi Mok cut off his words.

“First, we will listen to his report.”

“Amitabha.”

It was embarrassing that he was asked to be quiet, so Gak-yeon kept mumbling sutras.

Unless something happened, there was no way that their Great Leader would act as such.

At that, Mak Wijong spoke.

“I will get to the main point. We have found the base of the Blade God Six Martial clan!”

“Blade God Six Martial clan!!!”

Mumble

Whispering and mumbling rose at the unexpected news.

After a portion of their province was taken away, the leaders tried their best to find their base.

Despite creating several troops, everyone went missing, and no one managed to get any information.

At that moment, one leader raised his hand while speaking.

“Hold your horses. Now, the new commander, Commander Mak, found something that no leader has been able to find until now?”

At that, Mak Wijong spoke with a light smile.

“Yes. Leader.”

“Where the hell is this so-called place?”

Peng-gyu, the head of the Peng family, who lost his arm after meeting Chun Yeowun in the Imperial Palace, asked.

The other leaders focused on Mak Wijong, wondering what his answer would be.

As everyone looked at him, waiting for an answer, he pointed to Zhejiang province, which was under the Yulin’s territory.

“It’s right here.”

“Isn’t that Mount Huang?”

The place where Mak Wijong pointed to was Mount Huang of Zhejiang province.

A scenic spot, but the mountains around it were rough and surrounded by steep peaks.

If it was there, then it was the best place to hide their base.

‘Ah! This is why the emergency meeting was issued?’

All the leaders now understood the reason.

If what they found was indeed true, it made sense to call in all the leaders.

If the base could be identified for sure, which no one knew until now, Yulin could wage war.

“Commander Mak! That’s great. This achievement deserves great praise!”

Jegal Young, the head of the Jegal clan, spoke in an excited voice.

But not everyone believed that.

Hong Palwoo spoke.

“How did Commander Mak find their base? Up until now, even the beggars association members over there always ended up dying.”

After striking the forts of Yulin, the defense against the Blade God Six Martial clan had become firm.

Even the beggars, who were known to be information gatherers, were killed or disappeared after entering the Zhejiang province, which was why he felt suspicious about it.

“I understand why you think that way. But please see this first, leader.”

At the request of Mak Wijong, the Great Leader nodded his head.

As the room doors opened, two men came in with something much larger than an average cart.

“Th-this?”

“Goodness!”

Everyone was shocked by what they saw.

What was in the cart was the head of the dragon with his eyes turned over.

Hyun Jin-ja, a leader, shouted in shock.

“The Dragon Turtle!”

It was the head of the dead dragon.

The head’s size itself resembled the legends of the dragon.

“Amitabha!”

Gak-yeon closed his eyes at the sight.

Most of the other leaders who saw it got up from their seats to get a better look at the severed head of the dragon.

Drrr!

It wasn’t the end of the meeting.

Another cart came in, loaded with something hidden in woven straw cloth, decomposing corpses were inside it.

However, each body was unique.

“H-head is?”

Their heads exploded.

“Euk!”

Everyone covered their noses at the same time.

Hong Palwoo burst out at the sight of dead corpses.

“What the hell are these corpses?”

“They’re members, masters of the Blade God Six Martial clan.”

‘!?’

Hong Palwoo, who was shocked, approached the corpses at the word ‘master’.

There was a simple way to know if one was from the Blade God Six Martial clan.

Those belonging to the clan, the ones who were masters, had restrictions placed on them, making sure that no information would leak even when captured.

Tak!

Hong Palwoo’s eyes trembled as one hand covered his nose, and the other looked for the pulse.

The same symptoms that the other corpses of the Blade God Six martial clan in the past had.

“... true. He is right.”

When the verification was done, the room became noisy.

At that, Yi Mok spoke in a loud voice.

“I hope everyone quiets down and goes back to their seats!”

At the loud order from Yi Mok, everyone went back to their seats, and the room became silent.

When it became silent, Yi Mok brought up the main topic.

“As we have all seen, there is the head of the dragon and then corpses of the Blade God Six Martial clan. Commander Mak of the Black Shadow group has successfully tracked those who were fleeing from the North Sea and found the base of that beastly clan and captured the dragon’s head.”

At the brief praise from the Great Leader, Mak Wijong nodded his head.

It wasn’t something to be happy about.

Certainly, according to the words of the Great Leader, it was indeed a great achievement for the Forces of Justice.

It was something that no one else has ever accompanied.

“The evidence is solid, but I have a question.”

Someone raised the hand with doubt.

It was elder Cheong-su.

He had resigned from the position of leader, but when he managed to win the bet he placed against Peng-gyu, he was given his position back.

“What do you mean? Elder Cheong-su?”

“Of course, the head and corpses seem very credible, and I will acknowledge them, but how did you find their base, which no one else managed to find?”

Mak Wijong tried to avoid that question previously too.

Moreover, if they tried to bring out a theory that he could have stolen the dragon’s head and returned, they wouldn’t trust him at all.

To that, Mak Wijong answered without hesitation.

“What elder Cheong-su asks is right. If they had their full strength, I wouldn’t have come back alive.”

“Hmm? Now, do you mean to say that they weren’t their usual selves?”

“Yes. When I secretly pursued them and found their base in Mount Huang, almost all their forces seemed tired. If we all head there right away, we will be able to subdue them.”

“Ah!”

At those words from Mak Wijong, everyone looked at each other.

They could guess how important this meeting was.

‘Are we finally going to move?’

Yi Mok must have decided to wage an all-out war against the Blade God Six Martial clan.

All the leaders who ran the Yulin met at one place, the Forces of Justice’s base.

‘If what he says is true...’

If they gathered all their power and went to their base, they would wipe out the entire clan.

Of course, only if it was clear that the Yulin had the upper hand would a war do any good.

“Military leader.”

“Yes.”

At the call from Yi Mok, the military leader, Yoo Beom-ryeo, seated to the right, got up.

He took out three chess pieces from his pocket and placed one knight on the so-called base of the Blade God Six Martial clan.

Tak!

Then, two more knights were placed on the left and upper sides of the mountain.

Two rooks were placed on the north and left sides.

“King?”

When everyone was puzzled, Yoo Beom-ryeo opened his mouth.

“This is information that the Great Leader recently got from the Forces of Evil. Recently, the head of the Blade God Six Martial clan, the Blade Lord, led his army to Lhasa.”

“Ugh!”

“That means?”

The leaders couldn't help but be shocked at the unexpected news.

If so, their main base was indeed empty.

Yi Mok spoke while pointing to the two knights on the north.

“Perhaps some might already know this, but the clan seems to have aimed all their power into getting the core of the dragon in the North Sea.”

Woong!

When Yi Mok said that, those who didn't understand began to mumble at the sudden realization.

The fact that the contingent went north was made public, but the reason wasn't disclosed.

Who knew that the dragon, a spirit beast, was what the Blade God Six Martial clan was aiming for.

Yoo Beom-ryeo spoke.

"From the information gathered so far, we found out that their goal is to conquer the entire Jianghu."

Yoo Beom-ryeo.

He had the official position of military leader, which meant he was the Military Commander of the Yulin.

Ever since the Blade God Six Martial clan turned into a pain for Yulin, he asked numerous people as well as Jegal Sohi with numerous commissions and analyzed them.

At that time, Mak Wijong brought in his information, making him realize what the Blade God Six Martial clan was aiming for.

"They targeted the Imperial Palace, the North Sea, and the spirit beast in Lhasa."

Their purpose became clear.

Their reason for constantly cornering the other factions while avoiding any counterattacks, everything came clear.

“Amitabha! The spirit beasts? Which means they are aiming to covet the cores just like they did with the Flame Qilin in the palace?”

Yoo Beom-ryeo nodded in response to Gak-yeon’s question and pulled something out of his sleeve.

A book,

“Moral Sutras of Heaven?”

It was one of the Three Great Books.

A book that talked about myths and legends, which the scholars didn’t acknowledge.

“What about that book?”

At that, he turned to a page and spoke.

“As Saint Gak-yeon said, the Blade God Six Martial clan are targeting the spirit beasts. To be precise, they are aiming for the cores of the spirit beasts.”

“The cores? For the sake of power?”

“Well, honestly, it’s just another legend in this book but seeing how they are aiming for the cores of the five spirit beasts, I’m certain.”

“What the hell is that? Just answer already.”

Hong Palwoo urged him as he was running out of patience.

“They seem to believe that immortality is possible.”

“Immortality?”

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.Site Only

“It’s said here that the one who attains the five cores of the beasts will attain eternal immortality.”

All the leaders and commanders who were listening thought that it had to be a mistake.

Everyone knew that the core of any spirit beast would give immense power and even prolong a person’s life.

However, the term ‘eternal immortality’ meant real immortality.

Chapter 440 - Guardian of Changbai Mountain (2)

440: Guardian of Changbai Mountain (2)

Hong Palwoo of the beggars association asked with a frown.

“Hold on. Unless this old man has heard something wrong, you are actually referring to the immortality that was supposedly coveted by some emperor?”

“Yes.”

Mumble!

‘Immortality?’

‘This has to be some kind of joke! Does the Blade God Six Martial clan really believe in such bizarre legends?’

‘Did they really analyze our enemies?’

The room became noisier.

It was a natural reaction when the Military Commander of the Forces of Justice decided to base his findings on a mysterious book which the scholars didn’t even acknowledge.

At that, the Great Leader spoke in a loud voice.

“Of course, not many people believe it. That is also the case with this Great Leader. However, the important thing isn’t the concept of immortality. According to the information gathered by the Military Commander and Commander Mak, we know we can corner those bastards. Military Commander!”

At those words, Yoo Beom-ryeo pulled out two knights with the letters of ‘Conquest’ written on them.

He placed one knight on Mount Huang, the base of the Blade God Six Martial clan, and the other on the Changbai mountains southeast of Liaoning province.

As everyone looked there, Yoo Beom-ryeo opened his mouth.

“The Great Leader has decided to wage an all-out war for the future of Yulin.”

‘!!!’

The words of an all-out war made all the leaders in the room become serious.

There have been many minor wars between the three major factions for the past decades, but there has never been an all-out war.

However, now they were planning for such a war.

‘Was this why the commander of the west was called? But, if we decide to move, wouldn’t the Forces of Evil in the west put us in a dangerous situation?’

Hyun Jin-ja, an elder of the Wudang clan, was concerned about it.

As if reading his thoughts, Yoo Beom-ryeo explained.

“Currently, the Forces of Evil is in a very chaotic state as a civil war is going on. And this is the perfect time for us to wage war.”

“What about the Demonic Cult? Since we are allies with them and we have decided to go all out, wouldn’t having them with us reduce the amount of damage that we take from the Blade God Six Martial clan?”

Jegal Young of the Jegal clan asked.

At those words, all the leaders nodded their heads.

When going to the war against the Blade God Six Martial clan, if the Demonic Cult participates, then the Yulin would get to conserve their power.

In addition, there were concerns that the Demonic Cult would stab them in the back.

At that moment, a strong objection was raised by a man.

“There is no need to get help from the Demonic Cult in this all-out war! And as the Military Commander has mentioned, this is for the sake of the future of Yulin and the Forces of Justice!”

Anger rose in the man’s eyes as he spoke.

“Great Leader... what does this mean?”

“According to the reports from Commander Mak, the Demonic Cult and their Lord are in the North Sea.”

“The Demonic Cult is in the North Sea?”

Everyone seemed puzzled at the unexpected information.

Not long ago, they knew that the Demonic Cult was busy with the establishment of their new academy.

So why did the Lord of the Demonic Cult head to the North Sea all of a sudden?

Mak Wijong resolved the doubts of the leaders.

“The core of the Dragon Turtle has gone into the hands of the Demonic Cult’s Lord, Chun Yeowun. He is also aiming for the other cores just like the Blade God Six Martial clan.”

“The Lord of Demonic Cult is aiming for the cores of the spirit beasts?”

Everyone’s complexion darkened.

That monster, which was difficult for them to handle without any cores, was aiming for the cores?

Which meant, if the core did fall into his hands, then Chun Yeowun must have gotten stronger than before.

Peng-gyu spoke.

“No. I don’t know about this concept of immortality, but isn’t it too dangerous to let that core enter into the hands of that monster?”

Yoo Beom-ryeo answered.

“The war is to prevent that from happening.”

“Huh? What do you mean? The core has already gone to him, how do you plan on preventing that?”

“It isn’t over yet.”

Yoo Beom-ryeo pointed his finger at Changbai mountain.

“I don’t know about the spirit beasts and stuff. However, according to the rumors, there is a legend about the Feng bo in Changbai Mountain.”

“No... are you talking about the white tiger?”

The leaders close to the mountains, who heard of the rumors, immediately mumbled the words ‘white tiger’.

They heard about some magical beast walking around in Changbai Mountain.

But they never expected it to be a spirit beast.

“This book here talks about one of the five spirit beasts, the Feng bo. If you look at the description in here, it resembles the white tiger, a spirit beast in Changbai Mountain.”

“God...”

If the white tiger was indeed a spirit beast, then it’s bound to have a core.

Then, as Yoo Beom-ryeo mentioned before, the spirit beast would surely be targeted by either the Blade God Six Martial clan or the Demonic Cult or both.

If either of those two clans gets the core, then the Yulin is bound to disappear in an instant.

“Ha, shouldn’t we stop them?”

“Right. The all-out war is for our sake!”

Yoo Beom-ryeo pointed to the knight on the map, indicating the power of the faction.

“From now on, the Great Leader will divide the forces into two groups which will head for Mount Huang and the Changbai mountains.”

All the leaders listened to the entire plan without raising any doubts.

Perhaps, it was because this all-out war would determine the future of the Yulin.

Smirk.

The corners of Mak Wijong’s lips went up while looking at the leaders and commanders of the Forces of Justice.

‘Commander Kang... your death has turned into a spark which gives rise to a huge flame.’

At the same time, the Great Plains.

The procession of the Demonic Cult’s warriors continued in the southeast direction.

In five days, they crossed half of the Great Plains.

Unlike when they first entered the place for the first time, despite coming across barbarians, they never attacked them.

The news that Asara, the War Chief who had hegemony over the Great Plains, got both his arms cut off spread all throughout the land.

Unknowingly, Chun Yeowun, who was known as the ‘Demon God’, turned into an object of fear among the barbarians.

Swoosh!

The warriors of the Demonic Cult lit bonfires here and there. As the day darkened, the procession stopped, and the people were busy setting up fires.

Unlike when they were in a hurry because of the dragon, they headed south this time and had sufficient rest.

“Uh? Are those Ger?”

Hu Bong looked amazed at the barracks and other things they brought from the Ice Palace.

The barracks they brought were from the Ice Palace, which were portable ones that could be used in the Great Plains.

They had a cylindrical wall and a dome top.

“Can we use that?”

“Lieutenant Hu, didn’t you say that you wanted to try it?”

Dan Jucheon asked.

Throughout the journey, Hu Bong followed Dan Jucheon’s horse, saying that their tents were weird, and he insisted that he should be given one.

“Oh oh! The inside is so cool!”

“... I’m glad you like it.”

Hu Bong was elated when he entered the Ger.

This man, Hu Bong, didn’t seem to be that skilled, but his energy seemed like he was at the level of an elder.

Dan Jucheon asked Mong Mu, the 6th elder who was looking at the Ger from close by.

“Do you want one too?”

“I’m fine. Rather. I hope you could give one to our Lord.”

“Ah!”

Mong Mu thought that Dan Jucheon didn’t want to give one to Chun Yeowun.

But the truth was when he looked around, he couldn’t find Chun Yeowun.

“The Lord is?”

“Probably with the former lord.”

“Ah, are they training?”

“Huhuh, I guess so.”

They all knew that Chun Yeowun and Chun Inji would separate themselves from the troops to train.

A bonfire was lit in a place on a meadow a few miles away from the troops, and an old man was wielding a sword.

The old man with little hairs growing out like a beard was the former Lord, Chun Inji.

Chow! Chow! Chow!

His sword, which was unfolding in front of the fire, was the Sword Force of the Sky Demon.

The splendid trajectory of the sword unfolded.

Chun Inji’s sword, which unfolded until the fourth form, filled him with satisfaction.

“That was wonderful, grandfather.”

“Huh, thank you. You know this by following the basics.”

Chun Inji realized how simple the technique Chun Ma made was.

Chun Ma who made the Sword Force of the Sky Demon was a genius.

Chun Inji didn't know that by subsequently using each form, the technique only became stronger.

‘Upsetting.’

Chun Inji felt lost.

It would have been better if he had built up more internal energy before using the technique, but it was impossible for him to change from Reverse Health Preservation back to the Demonic Cult's way that easily.

“Oh, would you like to practice the fifth one too?”

“The fifth form is a lot harder than you think.”

The theory was clear.

However, it wasn't easy to unify 24 swords into one.

Still, Chun Inji was proud as he could properly learn the technique.

“Yeowun-ah, I'm sorry for what you had to go through.”

Chin Inji apologized to Yeowun.

In a way, he should be the one who taught his grandson, but now, his grandson was the one teaching him.

“No. Since you are the former Lord, learning this sword isn’t so weird.”

“However, the fact that this old man, who resigned from the position of the Lord, is trying to learn the martial arts of the cult, the best technique...”

“... not the best.”

“Huh?”

At Chun Yeowun’s words, Chun Inji was puzzled.

The Sword Force of the Sky Demon was the best martial art created by their ancestor.

However, the second generation Chun Ma denied that it was the best.

“What do you mean? The Sky Demon Sword isn’t the best?”

Chun Yeowun pondered for a while before opening his mouth to explain.

He didn’t want to tell him, but then Chun Inji had devoted his life for the sake of the Demonic Cult, which meant that he deserved to know it.

“ ... ”

“... on the valley cliff, the sword left behind by Chun Ma was unfinished.”

“Unfinished?”

Chun Inji tilted his head at the words he was hearing for the first time.

At that, Chun Yeowun lifted his sword and spoke.

“You’ll understand it better if you see it for yourself.”

With those words, Chun Yeowun moved, drawing a delicate trail with his sword under the moonlit night, and unfolded the sword.

Chow! Chow! Chow! Chow!

Chun Inji’s eyes trembled as he looked at Chun Yeowun’s sword.

He thought that he couldn’t be shocked anymore, but he was wrong.

He couldn’t help but be astonished when he saw the true sword, the swordplay of Chun Yeowun was thrilling.

“Uh-how did you get that sword?”

If his eyes weren’t seeing things wrong, the new sword was mixed with the Sword Force of the Sky Demon and the Extreme Art of the Blade God.

The sword was turning into something which would be difficult for the human body to unfold.

‘Is this really a sword that humans can use?’

When he finished the sword, Chun Yeowun spoke in a calm voice to Chun Inji, who was shocked.

“This is it.”

“Th-that is the unfinished sword that the ancestor made?”

Strictly speaking, it was a sword technique that no one tried to complete.

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

When Chun Inji was in thought, Chun Yeowun spoke.

“... I named it Sword Art of the Demon God.”

Sword Art of the Demon God.

This legendary sword technique was something that no one except for Chun Yeowun could learn.

Chapter 441 - Guardian of Changbai Mountai

441: Guardian of Changbai Mountain (3)

After four days of procession, they were finally moving towards Changbai and arrived at the northern border of Liaoning province.

In the meantime, some changes occurred.

It wasn't just the former Lord Chun Inji who mastered the Sword Force of the Sky Demon.

Crackle!

Heeing!

Thunder qi emanated from the body, making the horse get excited.

Despite being good at handling horses, he was unable to stop the horse from running wild.

Tat!

Eventually, he had to get off the horse.

“Hahahah! If you have trouble controlling the thunder qi, you might not be able to ride a horse for the rest of your life.”

Ko Wanghur laughed wildly and made fun of the man who came down from the horse.

The person he laughed at was Bakgi, the Third Sword of the Six Swords.

Crackle!

Lightning flashed across his entire body.

“Tch!”

He tried several times to ride a horse but kept failing again and again due to his body unconsciously releasing thunder qi.

How did Bakgi end up getting thunder qi?

A small trigger made it happen.

The members of the Six Swords, who had been together ever since the days of the academy, often honed their skills through battles among themselves.

Originally, Bakgi used to fight against Ko Wanghur.

However, as if Mun Ku becoming stronger wasn't enough, Ko Wanghur had suddenly reached the Superior Master level.

In order to overcome the huge gap between them, he learned a new martial art created by Chun Yeowun, but that wasn't enough to fill the gap between them.

Meanwhile, the worst thing happened to him.

[Wah! I won for the first time. Hehehe!]

He ended up losing to Hu Bong.

Unlike the other Six Swords, Hu Bong always followed Chun Yeowun and gained experience, and somehow Hu Bong seemed different.

‘Unbelievable! For me to lose to Hu Bong...’

He was incomparable to the past.

It wasn’t like he hated Hu Bong, but it was true that he hated Hu Bong slightly as a martial artist.

And the feeling of losing within five seconds was even more miserable.

This created a ripple inside Bakgi, who had no other desire but to be the strongest under his Lord, Chun Yeowun.

‘... I must be crazy.’

Bravely, he drank the dragon’s blood.

All the warriors of the Demonic Cult had seen how the officials of the North Sea Ice Palace who drank the blood had turned into soot, so they knew that it had to be diluted.

However, Hu Bong succeeded in taking in the blood of the Flame Qilin, but it was done because Hu Bong was in a drastic situation.

Even if Bakgi died, he wanted to try it.

And the result.

Crackle!

Just like Hu Bong, who was able to generate flame qi, he got thunder qi.

Of course, he was on the verge of death.

If it wasn't for Chun Yeowun, who appeared at the right moment and calmed the raging thunder qi in his body, Bakgi would have died.

However, despite absorbing the thunder qi, controlling it was difficult.

[It's different from Hu Bong. It may be because the dragon died recently, so more qi seems to remain in the blood.]

Chun Yeowun judged it as such.

And his prediction was almost right.

The blood of the Flame Qilin in the shrine was diluted for ages.

[If the thunder qi in his body can be completely circulated, then the thunder qi won't come out unconsciously.]

That was what the former lord, Chun Inji, had said after checking Bakgi's condition.

At first, he couldn't understand what Chun Inji was saying, but then he explained it in an easy-to-understand manner.

[You need to reach the Superior Master level.]

[... what?]

If reaching that level was an easy task, then Bakgi would have climbed it at once.

Recalling that Hu Bong was much lower than him when taking in the blood of the Flame Qilin, Bakgi thought that it would be the same for him.

He managed to take in the thunder qi, but he didn't manage to level up.

'... were Hu Bong's qualities superior to mine?'

He was confused.

In the academy, Hu Bong was the weakest. Bakgi couldn't understand just how much Hu Bong had grown.

Looking back at Hu Bong, who was riding his horse, Bakgi sighed.

"Uh."

Hu Bong never wanted to compete with anyone.

He was just faithful to his responsibilities, and he attained enlightenment as if he was being rewarded for it.

'I was stupid. He is he, and I am me.'

He came to that realization.

Martial arts wasn't something that could be treated hastily.

Rather than being envious of Hu Bong or Ko Wanghur, it was important for Bakgi to steadily walk on his own path.

Crackle! Crackle!

"Kuk!"

When he relaxed a little, the thunder qi got released once again.

Hu Bong, riding his horse, spoke with a serious voice.

“I understand Bakgi’s feelings. With great power comes great responsibility.”

‘This bastard...’

Bakgi turned angry at the words, which didn’t seem to console his emotions.

But the words that followed.

“I, too, couldn’t sleep for nights as I was trying to suppress the sweltering heat in my body. Hehehe.”

It was close to a joke.

‘... to be pushed by this guy.’

His heart, which tried to acknowledge Hu Bong, disappeared.

And he understood one thing, he had to work very hard to get ahead of Hu Bong.

“Ugh! Bakgi!”

Hu Bong was embarrassed by Bakgi’s attitude, which seemed to ignore Hu Bong.

Chun Inji, the former lord, looked at them with a smile.

“You’ve got interesting people.”

Chun Yeowun, who was riding alongside him, nodded.

When he first met Hu Bong, he was trying to oppress Chun Yeowun, but now he was someone who brightens everyone’s mood.

Chun Yeowun was more than satisfied with having Hu Bong as his subordinate.

It was then when someone riding a horse caught up with them.

“You ca-called for me?”

It was Moyong Yuu, the son of Moyong Kang.

He looked nervous every time he went to Chun Yeowun.

“Since we are close to Liaoning. You can guide us to Changbai from here.”

“...L-Lord Chun. Are you really going to Changbai Mountain?”

“Hm?”

The last time they talked about Changbai Mountain, Moyong Yuu had a dark expression on his face.

However, even now, he seemed to have the same reaction, as if he knew something about that mountain.

At Moyong Yuu’s actions, 6th elder Mong Mu, who was next to him, asked.

“You are only asked to provide guidance. How dare you question the plans of the Lord...”

Sh!

“Ah!”

Chun Yeowun raised his hand and interrupted him.

And asked Moyong Yuu.

“Why are you looking at me like that?”

At first, he thought that maybe Moyong Yuu was intimidated by his presence, but it didn't seem like that was the only reason.

After hesitating for a while, Moyong Yuu opened his mouth.

“Outsiders might not know, but there is an unwritten rule for people living in Liaoning province.”

“Unwritten rule? What is it?”

“... the rule states that one should never enter Changbai Mountain.”

“What?”

Their destination was that very mountain.

According to Chun Inji's information, the Feng bo is the spirit beast inside Changbai Mountain.

However, there is an unwritten rule that no one should enter that mountain, which sounded absurd.

“What's that supposed to mean?”

“I-I didn't mean to say it like that. It was just something that my father and grandfather always told me to follow. Because of that, despite being from Liaoning province, I have never even been to the beginning of the mountain in my entire life.”

“What kind of unwritten rule is that?”

6th elder Mong Mu clicked his tongue.

He knew that the Changbai Mountain was right between the two countries.

And no one country could control the entire mountain.

“I’m telling the truth.”

“You have no idea why?”

“... my grandfather said that there was a monster guarding the entrance of the mountain. And if I didn’t want to die, he told me not to go to that place.”

“Monster?”

Chun Yeowun tilted his head as he sent a telepathic message to Chun Inji.

[Maybe he is talking about the white tiger.]

It was just a random guess.

When Chun Yeowun waited, Chun Inji sent his response.

[... I don’t remember it perfectly, but somehow, this old man remembers hearing something like that.]

[Sorry?]

[The people of the Blade God Six Martial clan used to talk about the monster protecting Changbai Mountain. However, if this old man’s guess is correct, then us entering might be difficult, just like the child has said.]

What the hell was in Changbai Mountain?

[Do you have any guess as to who or what is in there?]

At Chun Yeowun's question, Chun Inji looked into his eyes and responded.

[East God!]

Two days ago,

The area where the southern border of the Jilin province met with the eastern border of the Liaoning province.

The land to Changbai Mountain was steep, and the land vibrated with hundreds of hooves and thousands of steps.

Dududud!

As the land shook, a large army was advancing.

In the middle, there were flags that held the symbol of Justice, fluttering in the wind.

The large army belonged to the Yulin.

The army had 5,000 members in different uniforms, made up of elite soldiers and various clans.

Those who rode at the forefront were seven leaders of the Forces of Justice and some commanders.

Leader Mu Gu-cheon, the commander along with leader Gak-yeon of the Shaolin temple, 3rd leader Monk Sathi, 11th leader Hong Palwoo, 10th leader Ho Hyeon-ja, 16th leader Yeon Young-in, and 17th leader Peng-gyu were all heading for Changbai Mountain.

Behind them was the new commander Mak Wijong followed by five more commanders and fifty smaller clan heads.

Thud! Thud!

“This is the first time we’ve moved like this.”

Ho Hyeon-ja, who was riding the horse, clicked his tongue as he watched the large army follow them.

They were all members of the Yulin faction.

All the people in the army were elite warriors.

With this force, if they wanted to, they could even destroy a castle in half a day.

“Amitabha. I don’t know if taking this many people to Changbai is right.”

Monk Sathi, who was riding next to him, spoke.

Yoo Beom-ryeo, who was in charge of the operation, had only let a measly number of warriors stay behind to defend each clan, and every elite who could be found was gathered and sent to Changbai Mountain.

“I also share the same opinion as Monk Sathi. It would have been better to give more people to the unit raiding their base.”

At those words, Hong Palwoo spoke.

“Despite hearing about the operation, I don’t understand why so much power is being sent with us.”

“Leader Hong Palwoo. It isn’t like that. The reason that so many people are being sent to the mountain is that the core has to be obtained by us...”

It wasn't understandable.

Even though the spirit beasts are known to be strong, with the force of Yulin, they would be able to get to the core in less than half a day.

Gak-yeon, who was listening to it, spoke.

“Amitabha. Leader Ho might not be familiar as it hasn't been long since you turned into a leader.”

“What do you mean? Saint?”

“Why do you think that all the top-rank warriors and the leaders are being pushed to Changbai Mountain?”

“To persuade the guardian of Changbai Mountain? Even if he is one of the Five strongest warri...”

“It has nothing to do with being the five strongest warriors.”

Before he could finish, Hong Palwoo intervened.

“What is that supposed to mean?”

“That monster is locked up in Changbai Mountain and didn't take a single step out of there. If that monster decided to move in earnest, maybe that monster would be called the best in Wulin.”

“The best... in Wulin?”

Hong Palwoo's answer made Ho Hyeon-ja doubt his ears.

He knew that this monster was the oldest of the five strongest warriors.

However, he could understand why Yi Mok and the other leaders were so scared of this person.

“Honestly, it isn’t just about the talks, but if the Great Leader was right, our plan isn’t just to convince him, as he is someone that can deal with the Demon God.”

It was one of the three orders they received from Yoo Beom-ryeo.

The first, to persuade ‘the man’ who guards the mountain, the second, obtain the core of the spirit beast, and the third, create a trap where the Demonic Cult and the Blade God Six Martial clan would be attacked.

That’s the most ideal scheme, but all this would only be possible if that monster agrees.

“I can see it.”

While they were having a conversation, 16th leader Yeon Young-in spoke while looking at the vast mountain.

In the distance, the huge white peaks of Changbai Mountain began to rise.

If they followed the path, they would soon enter the mountain.

“I hope that he’ll join our side.”

“I hope he gets convinced.”

Whether the advance squad which left ahead of them succeeded in persuading him or not, they had to wait near the forest to know.

The time to move forward.

Mu Gu-cheon, who was at the forefront, moving ahead, suddenly stopped.

The other leaders looked at him, hoping he would tell them why he stopped, but a disgusting smell that wafted through the wind filled their noses.

“What is this?”

“Smells like blood.”

There was no way that they didn’t know the smell of blood.

The smell of blood which greeted them gave them an ominous feeling.

Hong Palwoo was the one who spoke.

“Something seems to be wrong. This is blood...”

It seemed one or two people had died, and it wasn’t a nice smell.

The people were worried.

At the part where the mountain starts, something happened.

Gooooo!

‘Huh!’

“This!”

Cha!

The men who were in the lead grabbed their weapons at the sudden energy they felt.

Everyone thought that it was their final moments.

In the path they were supposed to walk, a strong aura and ominous energy.

‘This is a terrible feeling.’

It was as if the forest was telling them, ‘another step and I’ll attack’.

However, advancing wouldn’t be possible if they decided to head through the forest.

Mu Gu-cheon, the commander, raised his hand and commanded the troops.

“Move Forward.”

“Yes!!”

As soon as the orders fell, something shocking happened.

Thud!

In the middle of the road which leads into the mountain, an unidentified person wearing a bamboo hat appeared.

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

A great gust of wind blew around him, and the leaves on the trees seemed to rustle.

Wheein!

At the unusual sight, Saint Gak-yeon mumbled in a trembling voice.

“East Challenger God!”

Chapter 442 - God of the East, Ark Wui (1)

Chapter 442: God of the East, Ark Wui (1)

‘East Challenger God?’

Woong!

The moment when 2nd leader, Saint Gak-yeon mumbled those words, all the leaders of the Forces of Justice and the clan heads were astonished.

East Challenger God, Ark Wui.

He is one of the Five Strongest Warriors of Jianghu.

Called the God of the East, he was the only man of the five strongest warriors who wouldn't use any weapons and only his fists.

Among the five, he was the first one to be given the title of God.

‘Is that person really the East Challenger God?’

‘Was it really true that he is hiding in Changbai Mountain!’

The people of Jianghu didn't know his whereabouts.

Ark Wui was a name they heard for a brief time before the man disappeared, but in reality, only a few people in Wulin knew the truth.

‘Amazing.’

‘For such energy to come out with simple moves...’

Even the leaders of the Forces of Justice were looking at the man with trembling eyes.

All he did was come down, and the energy around them fluctuated.

It was as if he controlled the air around them.

All five thousand troops of the Yulin went stiff, unable to move because of the sense of suffocation from the man.

However, his purpose was malicious too.

‘The thick smell of blood... and the East Challenger God... not good.’

“Amitabha.”

Gak-yeon, who looked at the man in front of him, had a stern expression.

Even though he didn’t want to be that stiff, he couldn’t help it because of the hostile energy the man was giving out.

The advance squad, which should have been waiting for them, couldn’t be seen, and the entrance only gave out the smell of blood.

[Saint Gak-yeon, do you see the bloodstains on the man’s clothes?]

Peng-gyu sent a telepathic message to Gak-yeon, who was in his thoughts.

He was so stuck in the overwhelming sense of intimidation that he didn't see it, but there were bloodstains on the man's white coat.

'This...'

They didn't want what they were thinking to turn out to be true.

The advance squad seemed to have failed in persuasion and died at the hands of the person who thought that the unit had malicious intentions.

That was when Hong Palwoo sent a message.

[... I, I think that the plan should be abandoned.]

It didn't seem like they would be able to persuade him anytime soon.

1st leader and commander, Mu Gu-cheon, didn't share his thoughts, but his hand was trembling while holding the sword on his waist.

Mu Gu-cheon, who was ready to leave, looked at the other leaders, and they nodded in agreement, and he spoke to the man blocking their path.

"Are you the God of the East, Ark Wui? I am Mu Gu-cheon, leader of the Forces of Justice and the Shanxi Sword Master."

Even if a conflict arises, they wanted to try negotiating one more time.

Even if the advance squad failed to convince him and got annihilated, bringing the God of the East to their side despite the losses didn't seem like a bad idea, he was an ally they wanted.

It was because this man could compete against the Demon God, Chun Yeowun and the Blade Lord.

'We're different from the two hundred people in the advance squad.'

The two hundred elite warriors in the advance squad were dead.

Now there weren't any first-class elite warriors, but they had 5000 men with them.

Even if the God of the East was skilled, he wouldn't attack them in haste.

'Why isn't he saying anything?'

The man didn't respond but turned his head slightly and glanced in the direction of Changbai Mountain.

As if he was conscious of something.

Although he didn't affirm his identity, he didn't deny it either, so Mu Gu-cheon brought up the main topic right away.

"You must have heard what our intentions are from the man leading the advance squad?"

Looking at the blood, it was evident that he met with the warriors.

However, if Mu Gu-cheon asked him to take responsibility, confrontation might happen, so he only mentioned them.

“God of the East. There seems to have been some kind of misunderstanding, but we will do our best to prevent future crisis...”

“Leave.”

‘!?’

That was the first time the man in the bamboo hat had spoken.

The problem was that his words were more like a warning.

“Lord. As you might have heard, there are forces aiming for the spirit beast of...”

“Leave right now.”

‘... he isn’t listening.’

Had someone else said it, they would have tried to be more persuasive.

However, this man in the bamboo hat didn’t seem to leave any room for negotiation.

Mu Gu-cheon looked at the other leaders, and they too sighed as they nodded their heads.

‘I wished he would join us... we can’t help it. Even if it requires sacrifice, we need to obtain the spirit beast’s core.’

The fact that this man, who was presumed to be the God of the East, was still guarding the place meant that neither the Demonic Cult nor the Blade God Six Martial clan had arrived.

If so, they had no choice but to push through with their power.

“Nothing else can be done.”

Srrrng!

Mu Gu-cheon pulled out his sword.

He may not be one of the five strongest warriors, but he was still a leading martial artist in the Yulin, and he was called one of the best swordsmen.

“Amitabha.”

Golden brilliance shone from the hands of Gak-yeon.

After Gu-jung, Gak-yeon was the only one who was notable in taking up the position.

Chang!

Likewise, the others too drew their weapons and raised their energy.

Since the opponent was one of the five strongest warriors, everyone had to do their best in subduing the man without taking much damage.

‘I thought that we could talk it out and solve it, but it doesn’t seem like he wants to... for now, step back and watch what happens. I will be able to tell if the rumors are exaggerated or not.’

The new commander of the Black Shadow group, Mak Wijong, looked at it and decided not to move ahead.

The energy from the unknown man was too strong.

Mu Gu-cheon gave signals to the other leaders with his eyes.

If the first plan failed, the second plan was for all the leaders and warriors to work together and suppress the supposed God of the East.

‘I wish it didn’t come to this.’

For their end, they advanced and decided to open the formation that they worked on during their journey to the mountain.

The leaders of the Forces of Justice moved into a dipper-shaped formation, and with each position, the power only increased.

Goooo!

When they were getting ready, the man in the bamboo hat opened his mouth again.

“This is the last warning. If you don’t leave now, all your lives will be in danger.”

At the warning close to the threat, Ho Hyeon-ja mumbled.

“Goodness. No matter how great of a warrior he is, to act like this in front of 5 thousand warriors!”

They realized that their levels were very different.

Mu Gu-cheon shook his head and shouted.

“Move ahead! Now!”

Phat!

When the orders fell, all the leaders of the Forces of Justice who were on the frontlines began to move out.

Woong!

Anticipation stood in the eyes of the people who were behind watching it.

Although they failed to persuade him, did there really have to be a confrontation between the two?

As the seven leaders leading the troops moved, they surrounded the man.

‘I will be the north lead!’

Mu Gu-cheon, one of the best swordsmen, decided to take the lead seat of the formation.

The dipper formation was created by a pioneer in strategies, and it was based on the constellations and the harmony of Yin-Yang.

The north lead was the weakest in the formation, which was why Mu Gu-cheon had taken that spot.

Tat!

The moment he took his position, he was ready to unfold the Linked Invincible Sword.

Once the formation was done, not a single person bothered with basic techniques.

Chowchowchow!

From the moment the north lead decided to attack, the attacks would only increase.

‘Yes!’

Even Mu Gu-cheon, who was unfolding the sword, could feel how perfectly the formation was done.

“God of the East! Feel my sword!”

Mu Gu-cheon’s exquisite sword aimed for the man.

Indeed, he only concentrated on his sword and didn’t bother thinking about how the opponent would respond.

It was then.

Rnnnng!

‘This?’

The man slightly stretched out his fist towards the sword.

It wasn’t any special fist technique. It was just a simple fist.

Mu Gu-cheon was puzzled, until,

Grrrr!

‘What is this?’

Space seemed like it shook, and the outstretched fist made an invisible gust of wind erupt.

Cha! Cha! Cha!

“Th-this can’t be...”

His sword, which was hit by the wind, wasn’t just pushed back, it shattered into pieces, the very sword which was treasured by his family.

Shocked at his broken sword, he decided to gather his energy to avoid any internal damage.

Puck! Thud!

“Kuak!”

The unknown man’s kick hit him in the ribs.

With the sound of breaking bones, the body of Mu Gu-cheon flew dozens of steps away.

“How could this happen?”

The six leaders couldn’t hide their bewilderment.

Even though he was the East Challenger God, Mu Gu-cheon was trained and experienced.

Such a person got taken down with just one kick and one punch.

That wasn’t all.

Punch!

“Ugh!”

Before long, the man arrived near Peng-gyu.

Shocked, Peng-gyu tried to defend himself, but the man’s fist hit him faster than he could defend.

Punch!

“Kuak!”

It seemed like he had been hit with a dagger to his chest, coughing up blood.

‘This monster.’

Two of them were taken down in an instant. This man was super strong.

The problem wasn’t overpowering him.

The problem was that they had to be ready to die.

Chachachahca!

Deciding so, Ho Hyeon-ja moved stealthily and decided to stab him in the back.

However, his sword didn’t even reach the man.

Srrr!

‘This?’

As soon as the sword touched the form of the man, he dispersed like smoke.

As they were trying to find the man’s location, they heard the cry from Monk Sathi.

“Up!”

‘Up?’

A completely unexpected location.

He tried to create distance to avoid it, but it was already too late.

Bang!

“Kuak!”

Crack!

Ho Hyeon-ja, whose neck broke with just one punch, got his knees pushed into the ground.

What outstanding power.

“Help us! Saint!”

Path!

As he moved towards Monk Sathi, he began to unfold the sword of the Hangsan clan.

‘Amitabha!’

Hearing her cry, Gak-yeon tried to help by shielding the leaders from this madman’s unstoppable attacks.

Tatatata!

A golden shot stretched out from his palm, hitting the man wearing the bamboo hat.

Whoo!

Papapak!

The man didn’t move back but only rotated his posture. Shockingly, the energy which was shot at him got absorbed by his body.

“What is all this?”

It was an incomprehensible phenomenon.

Shockingly, the man pretended to punch Gak-yeon, who was thirty steps away.

Gak-yeon was shocked, as the space in front of him shook.

Phut!

“Kuak!”

With a huge gust of wind, Gak-yeon got pushed back as he coughed up blood.

He quickly used ‘Diamond Never Breaks’, but he couldn’t stop the wave of energy penetrating his body.

“Saint!!!”

Hong Palwoo cried out as he saw Gak-yeon flying.

It was the first time that he had seen saint Gak-yeon suffer so helplessly.

‘Th-this isn’t right!’

He couldn’t believe it.

The man, who defeated the saint with just one punch, didn’t bother and quickly knocked down Monk Sathi, who was trying to strike his neck.

The remaining leaders were Hong Palwoo and Yeon Young-in.

‘Ugh, that person is different. He isn’t human.’

They knew that he was a monster, but this man was different.

He didn't act like he was trying his best either, he just lightly punched, and the best of the Forces of Justice got thrown to the ground with a punch and a kick.

Which meant that they weren't even drawing out the full power of the opponent.

"... ugh! Leader Hong!!!"

As he was in disbelief, the shouts from the commanders entered his ears.

When he came back to his senses, he saw the man defeat Yeon Young-in and walk towards him.

"Da-Damn it!"

Chow!

Hong Palwoo unfolded the sword of 'Sleeping Dragon in Water' (Meaning the Sleeping Dragon would drown in water).

It was a method where the opponent was meant to die. As the sword unfolded, dust began to rise everywhere.

"Kwak!"

Puck! Whoops!

He didn't even know that he had been hit; the fist had come for his stomach.

Hong Palwoo's consciousness got cut off with the pain of his organs getting hit.

"This... is impossible."

“For the leaders to be defeated...”

The clan heads and the commanders who were supposed to take part in the formation were shocked.

All seven of them had fallen to the ground and showed no signs of waking up.

Hesitant about losing their lives, but Mak Wijong shouted.

“W-we don’t have time to watch! We are five thousand! We need to work together...”

At that moment.

Gooooo!

All the people, including Mak Wijong, looked at where the energy rose to see energy gathering at the man’s right fist.

The energy seemed strong enough to bring down the entire mountain in front of them.

“N-no!”

The place where the man was aiming for was where Mak Wijong and his men were gathered.

The commanders and the clan heads who sensed that shouted.

“Spre-spread away...”

Before they could even finish.

The man’s fist stretched across the distorted space.

Kwak!

With the sound of everything being destroyed, the gust of energy centered around the man's fist struck where the warriors were gathered.

Kwakwakwang!

The ground cracked, the trees were uprooted, and the wind was being pushed.

It wasn't an attack to stop them from attacking.

The gust of energy was to make sure that no one would be able to take one step into the mountain, it was to destroy every one of them.

The only things that could be heard were the cries of the warriors who had been hit and swept away by the gust.

"Kuak!"

"Kaaak!"

There was no exception.

'... we need... to move!'

Woong!

"Ackk!!"

Even Mak Wijong, who was ready to run away with his tail between his legs, was swept away by the wind and fell down unconscious.

As the gust blew, warriors collided with each other, only causing secondary damage.

The people in the back row were the only ones who didn't get hit, but they were too shocked.

'... how...'

Around a thousand people and the leaders were scattered all around.

It was hard to believe that a single man had caused so much damage.

All the people had one thought running through their minds.

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

'This is the power of God of the East, Ark Wui!'

A monster out of monsters.

Seeing strong people lose in front of them, the warriors lost their will to fight, and the man in the bamboo hat spoke in a loud voice.

"If you have no intention to die, take them and get lost."

Chapter 443 - God of the East, Ark Wui (2)

443: God of the East, Ark Wui (2)

A truly rare sight.

There were around four thousand men of the Yulin still standing, unhurt.

However, despite the enemy being just one person, they all lost their will to fight.

It was natural for them to act as such, they just witnessed the incredible abilities of the man in front of their eyes.

Woong!

Everyone was confused at the words of the man in the bamboo hat.

‘Does he mean that?’

‘Is he really going to let us leave?’

It could be that the man was showing generosity, but it was hard to believe.

“I told you all to get lost quickly.”

Bang!

As the man took one step, the ground beneath his feet cracked.

‘Is he leaving?’

Everyone looked at each other puzzled.

At that time, several clan leaders, who were unharmed despite being hit by the gust of wind, looked at the conditions of those on the ground and noticed something.

‘Ah! He didn’t die!’

They thought that at least seven to eight hundred men would be dead in an instant.

They checked out of fear, apart from those who were swept up by the wind and landed on their necks, the others still seemed to be breathing.

‘That is why he asked us to take them.’

Contrary to their expectations, the man showed mercy.

If so, there was a high probability that the leaders who fell down were also unharmed.

‘If that monster has shown mercy, we need to back down.’

After all, they knew that they had no chance of winning.

Yu Doji, the leader of the White Rock Sword clan, decided to accept the mercy they were being granted.

Pak!

“Thank you for showing us mercy. Lord, God of the East. We will do as you said.”

Despite him speaking so politely, the man didn't even look in his direction.

It wasn't because he was arrogant, it was because he didn't want to talk to them.

"Hurry up."

"Understood. Warriors of the clans, pick up your own comrades."

"Yes!!"

All the major leaders were down, making him the only one in command.

The clans, who were ordered by Yu Doji, hurriedly picked up their fallen leaders and comrades.

And in unison, they straightened their formation and changed direction.

"Retreat. Start!"

"Yes!!!"

The clans who were able to lift up the injured hurriedly retreated with a look of relief.

Their fear, which was created by the man's overwhelming power, made them hurry back to their clans.

'We should all be happy here. Sigh.'

It was no different for Yu Doji, the leader of his clan.

He was fortunate to be going back to his clan.

Creep!

There was a strong sense of murder that stimulated the five senses.

Goosebumps rose all over his body, and in a brief moment, his entire body began to get drenched in cold sweat.

‘N-No way...’

For a moment, he wondered if the man had changed his mind, so he quickly looked back.

However, the man in the bamboo hat was nowhere to be seen.

‘What is with this murderous intent even after the God of the East disappeared?’

The entire forest of Changbai looked like a ferocious demon.

The more he stayed, the more suffocating it felt.

Yu Doji, who felt a vague fear rise because of the murderous intent, urged the people to hurry.

“Move, hurry!”

“YES!!!”

Likewise, the warriors who sensed the murderous intent moved faster.

The forest which leads to Changbai Mountain wasn’t large.

But because of the overgrown greenery, even the slightest sunlight wouldn’t enter the place, making it dull.

Tak!

The man in the bamboo hat, who headed into the mountains, was moving.

He looked to the bushes.

Rustle!

The bushes trembled violently as if they felt fear.

The place which was giving out the murderous intent that was sensed by the retreating unit was here.

A voice came from the place, which was obscured by the bushes and the darkness.

“Isn’t this different from what you promised?”

The language didn’t seem like the native language of Jianghu.

The man in the bamboo hat shook his head left and right as if he understood the words, and the man spoke again.

“Didn’t you decide not to interfere with the crawling ones?”

“They left.”

“Ah!... your expectation of finding a suitable person is truly tearful. I see that you went further from the beginning of the mountain to block them. But how long will this be possible?”

“Keeping the oath.”

“Oath? Hahahaha, you bastard. What was it? Six days until the ten years are completed. Look forward to it. Look forward to dying by my hands.”

Ssrrrr!

With those words, the murderous intent spread in all directions subsided.

The existence of the person hidden in the shadows disappeared.

“Sigh...”

After staring at that place for a long time, the man in the bamboo hat had disappeared as well.

At the same time, a mountain peak about five miles from the beginning of the Changbai Mountain.

Above it, a man with bandages covering his face and body, a man who looked like a thief, was looking in the direction of Changbai Mountain.

He looked at the mountain while clicking his tongue.

“... even though it has been over 20 years, he’s still undefeated. That monster still protects the place.”

He was here to observe if the monster still lived, and he did.

The man, too, had participated in the battle which took place in Changbai mountain with the leaders of the Blade God Six Martial clan, and it was a nightmare he would never forget.

The monster in the mountain was the one who managed to delay their plan by twenty years.

“Master Hwang-heol?”

“That isn’t the problem. I didn’t expect the other factions to move first. Did information leak?”

They had come from the Potala Palace without rest.

All to prevent the Demon God from reaching the mountain first.

But this was unexpected.

‘With that number of people, around 4 to 5 major clans had joined in. Did such a huge army try to enter Changbai mountain?’

It was hard to think of it as a simple coincidence.

The fact that the Yulin brought in such numbers to enter the mountain.

There was only a guess he could form.

“Master Hwang-heol! Isn’t it possible that the Yulin too are aiming for the spirit beast?”

“... it seems very likely.”

It was impossible to guess how they knew or if the information had leaked, but it looked like the Yulin was aiming for the spirit beast too.

This was bad.

Not just the Demon God, but another faction was involved.

“If that is true, we are out of time. Are we supposed to wait for the Blade Lord to arrive?”

There were currently two leaders and two hundred people.

Even if their individual abilities were superior, the number of Yulin warriors was too great.

“Right. That would be better. But... maybe this is good.”

“?”

The man in bandages smiled as he spoke to the man beside him, who seemed curious.

“Well, we now know that the monster in the mountain can collide with the Demon God, so we won’t have to deal with it.”

“Ah!”

That was their purpose in the first place.

Their purpose was to make the monster and the Demon God collide.

It would be better if both of them died, but even if that didn’t happen, the one who lives would be too injured to fight them.

“They are the problem.”

The man in bandages looked at the retreating army of Yulin.

They were trying to quickly get out of the mountain, yet they still had the power and number to march into the mountain at any time.

“Will they stay here despite losing like that?”

“If their purpose is the core, they will simply retreat, but if the information that their leaders lost spread, they would try to fight back, as that is their best solution.”

If the man in bandages hadn't arrived on time, he wouldn't have been able to guess what happened.

In that sense, it could be said that he was fortunate.

"Then what do we do?"

"If possible, we should take out the power of the Yulin."

So that they could get rid of all nuisances at once.

If that happens, he will regain the trust of the Blade Lord, which he lost.

The man next to him nodded his head and agreed.

"... but, Master, who do you think will win?"

He knew what fight the man was referring to.

The man in bandages pondered for a moment and then answered.

"God of the East."

It has been four days since the Yulin had failed to enter Changbai Mountain.

Although the Yulin was devastated by the confrontation with the powerful man, they didn't withdraw from the worst outcome.

They established their camp around 200 miles to the north.

Originally, they intended to head west or northwest, where establishing a food supply would be easy because of the Moyong clan.

[Northeast would be the best, but...]

The mountain to the northeast was rugged and made up of country people, so entering that place didn't seem like a plausible choice.

The army of 5000 wasn't just noticeable, but it could also create friction between the residents of the clans.

Fortunately, they managed to find a place surrounded by mountains on three sides.

For two days, they were in dire straits.

It was because the wounded leaders had to recover.

Fortunately, by the fourth day, most of the leaders woke up and even recovered from their internal injuries.

Those who recovered the fastest were the leaders of the Forces of Justice.

Of course, not all.

Unfortunately, there was one casualty among them, leader Ho Hyeon-ja.

Unlike the others, his neck was broken, and he died.

In the barracks, which was put up for temporary meetings.

The leaders who had gathered were sighing with a heavy feeling.

Since they had 5000 warriors, they all thought that they could take down the God of the East.

But the results were absurdly disastrous.

They gathered for a meeting, but not a single person could open their mouth.

“Amitabha. There is one thing I can’t understand.”

Gak-yeon was the one who spoke first. Making the others look at him.

“There were unfortunate casualties, but four days ago, the God of the East managed to push us out without causing much harm to the troops.”

Everyone nodded at that.

If the man had made up his mind and attacked them, it was definite that the Yulin troops would have died.

Almost half of the troops could’ve been annihilated.

“Actually, even I have the same thought.”

At that time, Yu Doji joined the conversation.

Then Hong Palwoo asked.

“What do you mean?”

“Like Saint Gak-yeon said, it seemed like the God of the East was trying to prevent us from entering the mountain rather than trying to fight us.”

At that time, Mu Gu-cheon spoke as if he remembered something.

Before the battle, he looked around the mountain, as the God of the East was conscious about something.

Peng-gyu, who was frustrated, burst out.

“What nonsense is that? How could that monster annihilate so many people of the advance squad if he had no intention of harming us?”

At that, Gak-yeon spoke.

“Amitabha. That is what I am trying to point out. Why did he let us go after annihilating the advance squad?”

It was absurd.

The leaders only suffered injuries.

At the very least, it meant that the God of the East tried his best not to kill anyone.

“Perhaps the one who annihilated the advance squad...”

At that time, someone interrupted Gak-yeon’s words.

“Hold on. Aren’t you taking this matter too lightly?”

He was the commander of Black Shadow troops, Mak Wijong.

When he suddenly interrupted them, leader Yeon Young-in spoke in a displeased manner.

“Even if you took the position of Commander Kang in recognition of your achievements, do you think you have the right to intervene in the leaders’ conversation?”

It was a warning.

Not a single person in the barracks regarded Mak Wijong as a true commander.

No matter what clan they were from, the position of commander was based on the skills of a warrior.

However, Mak Wijong was given that position in haste because he managed to find the Blade God Six Martial clan's base.

'Just watch, you pathetic men.'

Although his intentions were different, Mak Wijong bowed his head.

"I apologize if I offended you. I am saying this because it seems like many of you leaders are taking this sacrifice lightly."

"What?"

"Surely, the loss of troops was moderate. But they were all valuable comrades and family members."

'This person...'

Yeon Young-in, who was about to get angry, frowned and went silent.

If it was ignored that the sacrifice was small, then the other clans would find it unpleasant.

"Besides, leader Ho Hyeon-ja was also a leader of the troops. I just don't think that it is wise to jump to the conclusion that we can't deal with him and let the matter go."

Hearing that, Gak-yeon looked at Mak Wijong and sighed.

"Amitabha. Right. Commander Mak is right. If you think about it, I was taking the victims lightly."

As a monk, he was ashamed of it.

The others didn't raise any objections either, as there was some truth in Mak Wijong's words.

Of course, not everyone was of the same opinion. Yu Doji didn't seem convinced.

"I'm assuming here, but there seems to be something other than the God of the East that's dangerous in Changbai Mountain. Just because Commander Mak thinks that we are taking the victims lightly doesn't mean that we head back into the mountain."

He couldn't still forget that murderous intent he felt from the forest when he was retreating.

And it was definite that God of the East wasn't the one who was releasing that intent.

During the four days that they waited for the leaders to recover from their internal injuries, Yu Doji concluded that the God of the East had appeared to make sure that no one stepped into the mountain and they got killed by the murderous intent lurking inside the forest.

"Ha! Aren't you being too pretentious here, leader Yu Doji? Who else could have touched the advance squad if not for the God of the East himself?"

Peng-gyu was the one who asked.

As a response to that, another master who was unharmed like Yu Doji spoke.

"You fainted at that time, so you mustn't have felt it properly, right? Don't you think you are taking the words of Master Yu too lightly?”

“What? Are you trying to put the blame on me?”

It was an emotional outburst.

Mu Gu-cheon, who was silent till then spoke.

“Please calm down! What matters isn’t that. We don’t have much time. The first and second plans have failed, so the last plan laid by the Military Commander needs to be implemented.”

They all nodded with the words of Mu Gu-cheon.

The purpose of their deployment was to prevent the spirit beast in the mountain from entering the hands of the Demonic Cult and the Blade God Six Martial clan.

“Amitabha. The commander is right. There is no point in arguing with each other. Right now, we need to go ahead with the other plan. We have to help our faction by taking down the God of the East who is guarding Changbai mountain.”

Monk Sathi said those words to help Mu Gu-cheon.

The plan that Yoo Beom-ryeo made was done in preparation for the worst possible situation.

Originally it wasn’t a plan made to deal with the God of the East, but rather, it had to be done because they couldn’t even enter the mountain.

However, seeing that the God of the East was enough to take them down, they were forced to implement the third plan.

“Even if God of the East blocks the leaders of the Demonic Cult and the Blade God Six Martial clan, with our remaining power, he can be dealt with.”

From the viewpoint of the Yulin, the core of the spirit beast was very important.

The Demonic Cult and the Blade God Six Martial clan, their plans had to be stopped.

Looking at Mak Wijong, Hong Palwoo spoke.

“Commander Mak. You returned from the North Sea, so I believe you, but this plan cannot be implemented until Chun Yeowun of the Demonic Cult comes into the mountain. And let’s hope that your prediction is right.”

New hurdles.

Like Yeon Young-in, Hong Palwoo emphasized the point several times during the meeting.

Not concerned, Mak Wijong responded.

“Don’t worry, leader. Despite coveting the core of the Flame Qilin, Lord Chun came all the way to the north to get the dragon core. He will definitely come to Changbai Mountain.”

Liaoning was a place where major clans of the Yulin stayed.

In order to enter Changbai Mountain, the Demonic Cult would have to enter the domain of the Yulin. There was no way that they wouldn’t get informed of the Demonic Cult entering Liaoning.

“If we prepare in that time, we may be able to kill the Demon God and not just for the sake of the core but for the future of the faction too.”

“That’s a fun plan to implement.”

“What’s fun about that... what?”

Mak Wijong looked around to see who said that.

However, no one in the barracks said that, as they all looked around to see who spoke.

“Who said that just now?”

“Me.”

‘This voice?’

A voice they heard somewhere.

It was then.

Woong!

At the barracks entrance, the area shook, and in a place where no one was, an unidentified entity in black iron armor appeared.

A monster covered in black except for its radiating eyes.

“Uh!”

All the leaders in the barracks pulled out their weapons.

Visor! Visor!

“Wh-who?”

“How did you break into the barracks?”

Among all the leaders in the barracks, not a single one sensed this unknown man's presence.

Even Mu Gu-cheon, who was the strongest leader here, couldn't.

Flustered at that, they all looked at the man with glowing eyes in shock, who soon revealed his identity.

Wheing!

The moment his face was seen, Peng-gyu, and even Monk Sathi, turned pale.

"L-Lord Chun!"

Lord Chun Yeowun of the Demonic Cult.

It would be strange if they couldn't remember the face of the man who took away their precious arms.

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

It was the same with Mak Wijong.

'Ho-how is... this person here?'

Chun Yeowun looked at Mak Wijong and spoke with a smirk.

"I wondered where you disappeared to. I see that you were planning trickery over here?"

Chapter 444 - The End of the Alliance (1)

Chapter 444: The End of the Alliance (1)

Seven days ago, the academy branch opened inside the capital.

An unexpected visitor arrived there.

Since the academy inside the capital was critical, 12th elder Gu Chuyong was asked to look after the opening on the orders of Lord Chun Yeowun.

While Chun Yeowun led the Six Swords and their men to the North Sea, he and Wang Jing took charge of the academy's opening.

Seeing the people waiting in the reception room of the academy, Gu Chuyong couldn't hide his shock.

"Elder Huan! Ah... elder Yin is here too,"

They were elders of the Demonic Cult, 2nd elder Yin Moha, and 7th elder Huan Yi.

It would only be possible for an elder to come if the Lord returned or gave some orders.

However, Chun Yeowun, the Lord of the Cult, hasn't returned yet, and somehow the elders have come.

“Are there any orders from the Lord?”

“Fufufu, no. We just came to look.”

“Huh?”

Gu Chuyong frowned at the sight of the woman who smiled with her hands covering her lips.

If they came without any orders from the Lord, in a way, it was treason.

With narrowed eyes, Gu Chuyong spoke.

“Elder Huan, you’re in a position where you shouldn’t leave the base unless told to, but if you move without orders from our Lord...”

Before he could finish, Huan Yi pulled something out of his sleeves.

A paper.

“Order of Chun Ma!”

Everyone in the reception room knelt down on one knee at the sight of the order, which held the seal of Chun Ma.

“The 12th elder must be aware of the Order of Chun Ma?”

“Ugh!”

Huan Yi spoke again as he held onto the paper.

“Fufufu, I am not dogmatic. For this very day, the Lord of the Sky Demon Order has entrusted me with this.”

Just as Huan Yi explained.

During Chun Yeowun's long period of absence from the Demonic Cult, the authority to manage the cult was delegated to 3rd elder, Mun Yun.

However, Huan Yi, too, was given an order when Chun Yeowun was away. He had the right to prepare for any emergency situation.

"Is it an emergency, is it because of the movement of the Forces of Justice? But, we sent a letter to the North Sea and the main base too, but there was no response yet."

One of Huan Yi's eyebrows rose at Gu Chuyong's words.

It was the same with elder Yin Moha.

The information to the north of the Yellow River was cut off after Chun Yeowun, and the Six Swords went to the North Sea.

"As expected. It hasn't been that long, so you might not have noticed yet. 12th elder."

Gu Chuyong tilted his head as he didn't understand Yin Moha's words.

7th elder Huan Yi looked at lieutenant Yuk Shim-myeong.

Wondering, he spoke.

"Lieutenant Yuk Shim-myeong of the Ghost Illusion clan."

"What? Ghost Illusion?"

The lieutenant of the branch was assigned by none other than the Lord.

Gu Chuyong was unaware of that and was stunned.

Because the Lord hadn't mentioned it at all.

"I apologize to Elder Gu. This was a direct order from the Lord, so I couldn't reveal my identity."

"Huhu, this is a little..."

"I too apologize to Elder Gu. Because this was the main point of the opening, we sent him here to create a base for us. Huhuhu."

Contrary to the apologetic words, they seemed rather happy.

Gu Chuyong shook his head at their words.

"Then, shall we hear the urgent report first? Were people sent to the main base too?"

"Haven't heard anything yet about the Yulin, but I was thinking of heading down there and checking for myself."

Recently, based on the information they gathered, more than half the people of the Ghost Illusion clan inside other clans have lost contact.

It had only been five days, but for the Ghost Illusion clan, which collected information in a short period of time, this was trouble.

"From the Yulin faction's Military Commander, Yoo Beom-ryeo, it must be his doing. Something must be going on for the people who never touched our clan to touch us and get information for their advantage."

Huan Yi stroked his chin with his right hand and looked concerned.

Yoo Beom-ryeo was the most difficult person to deal with.

After the strategist Jegal Sohi stopped by their cult, they knew about this man's existence and that he was trying to learn about the Blade God Six Martial clan.

"Does the elder not know that the entire force of Yulin is moving?"

"Entire force?"

Yuk Shim-myeong of the Ghost Illusion clan explained it.

It meant that the entire force of Yulin was divided into two forces, one to the northeast and the other to the southeast.

Since so many were moving, they could grasp a few facts, and they tried to get the information back to the cult.

"Ha! For the Yulin to plan something like this!"

Yin Moha became angry at that.

But for Huan Yi, all this information made pieces fall into the big picture.

Like putting up a messed-up puzzle together.

'The power of the Yulin is maintained only to protect itself from the southern part of the Yellow River. This is to prevent and notice our cult's movements. However, the fact that our information network is being confused by them...'

"It seems like it is the life and death of Yulin this time."

"Life and death? Then our cult?"

The alliance was still alive, but they didn't understand why the Yulin was doing this.

To the puzzled question, Huan Yi spoke.

"The reason why we didn't touch them is because of our new academy. Maybe that was why they had an easy chance to block off our information."

"But how long will they block? They should know that we will catch on."

No matter how much was being blocked, there was a time limit to when people would start noticing.

Of course, if the information was being given in scattered form, but for the Demonic Cult, who was always on guard, it would only seem strange.

"The reason is simple. They are trying to do something with all their might. They could be concerned about what came from the North Sea, but... they are moving too fast."

Huan Yi had gotten a report from the Six Swords on what happened in the North Sea.

Knowing that the Yulin too coveted the core of the Dragon Turtle, Huan Yi knew that friction would arise sooner or later.

But he didn't expect it to happen so quickly.

'It must be because of the death of the Great Leader's second son.'

Huan Yi had no doubt in the judgment of the Lord, but for the Great Leader of the Forces of Justice, it turned into an opportunity to move.

No matter how rational the Great Leader was, his two sons were destroyed. Anyone would have trouble suppressing their emotions.

“Even if this calls for being scolded by the Lord, coming here did good. Somehow, splitting their forces into two and sending one northeast seems like it has something to do with the Lord.”

“Hold on! If I understood Elder Huan’s words correctly, we didn’t get any letters from our troops which left the North Sea.”

12th elder Gu Chuyong said.

The Yulin must be desperately trying to block information.

To that, Huan Yi replied with a smile.

“That is why Elder Yi and I came here. Don’t worry. Huhuhu.”

With that mumbling, they looked in the direction where the Yulin’s base was located.

“It has been a long time since I wanted to fight with my brains against that Yoo Beom-ryeo. I need to teach him that such stupid tricks don’t work on us. They only look like they work because we play with them. Huhuhu.”

“H-how are you here?”

All the leaders of the Forces of Justice and Yulin were in shock.

This was entirely different from the plan they had to follow.

They made sure to block as much information about them as possible from the cult as their march progressed to Changbai.

‘We even mobilized the best people we had to block the information going to the North Sea, so how?’

Mak Wijong was speechless at the unexpected situation.

Step! Step!

As Chun Yeowun slowly approached him, the leaders of each clan drew their swords and shouted.

“St-stop!”

“How the hell did you enter here?”

No matter how skilled he was, there’s a limit to how much he could hide his energy.

It was broad daylight, and now the entire unit was on alert. Everyone was out guarding.

‘We couldn’t see him till now, and then he popped out. What kind of trick is he using?’

Shocking, even the leaders of the Forces of Justice were the same.

Even Gak-yeon couldn’t feel Chun Yeowun until he showed himself.

He was so sure that no one was around their barracks.

‘This is a success.’

Chun Yeowun was satisfied as he looked at their expressions.

Among the functions of the Nano Suit, which were opened up as the lock was released, there was one thing that Chun Yeowun wanted to try the most, and it was 'transparency mode'.

It allowed light to pass through his body as if he didn't even exist.

Of course, it had a weakness too.

If there was rain or any other environmental changes, the suit function would get affected.

In addition, it was something that could only be used for a short while to hide on the battlefield.

"How can you be this rude even if you are a leader of the alliance?"

Yeon Young-in was the one who came ahead and shouted at Chun Yeowun.

Although he only took one step ahead, he couldn't hide the tension in his eyes as he met with the Demon God.

'Leader Yeon!'

Peng-gyu and Monk Sathi looked bewildered at him.

He didn't know, but provoking the Demon God was the worst thing anyone could do.

"Rude... who is being rude?"

Ssh!

Chun Yeowun reached for Yeon Young-in's head.

Despite wanting to raise his sword, he wasn't able to do it.

Thud!

"Kuak!"

Great energy suppressed him.

Shocked by the energy which suppressed him, he tried to counter it, but.

Th-thud!

"Kuakk!"

Rather, he kept getting crushed into the ground.

'Wh-what power is this?'

The leaders inside the barracks couldn't hide their bewilderment as they looked at that.

Yeon Young-in was a leader who was at the beginning of the Superior Master level.

They couldn't imagine how such a strong person was getting crushed by a simple release of energy.

'Unbelievable? Did his energy grow from before?'

Hong Palwoo's eyes widened in shock. That was when he remembered Mak Wijong's report.

'He got the core of the Dragon Turtle. I can see the truth right in front of my eyes.'

Otherwise, such power made no sense.

It was the first time that he saw a Superior Master get suppressed by energy alone.

If things kept going like this, then only horrible things would unfold for them.

“Lord Chun!”

Hong Palwoo spoke out in a rush as he didn’t want anyone to get hurt.

He spoke with the utmost caution.

“Please release him. We are still in an alliance. Doing this is too much, especially without talking it through.”

At his words, Chun Yeowun lowered his hand.

And Yeon Young-in was released.

“Gasp... Gasp...”

The man gasped for breath.

Just by looking at the sweat dripping down his face, they could tell just how desperate he was.

But Hong Palwoo was glad.

He thought that there was no room for discussion seeing Chun Yeowun rage like that, but it felt like they had hope when he stopped.

“Thank you, Lord Chun!”

Pak!

Hong Palwoo thanked him.

However, Chun Yeowun began to walk again and headed for one place, where Mak Wijong was.

“Before that, let me solve personal matters.”

As Chun Yeowun approached, three leaders who were near him stepped back.

Just feeling the energy radiating from his body was enough for them to walk away.

However, they couldn't let Chun Yeowun kill the person he wanted to.

“S-stop! Lord Chun!”

Chun Yeowun gently waved his hand towards them.

As if a massive wave slammed into them, the three of them were thrown sideways.

“Huh!”

“Ack!”

Thud!

Those who tried to stop him were thrown away.

When the people between him and Mak Wijong disappeared, Chun Yeowun opened his mouth.

“When you touch other people's things, you have to pay the price.”

“... what do you mean by that? How can you say...”

Listening to those words, Chun Yeowun tilted his head.

“This is strange. You were at the Super Master level then and today too, so how are you dealing with the thunder qi which is flowing through your body?”

‘!?’

At those words, Mak Wijong’s face hardened.

‘How did he know? I dispersed the energy in my dantian all throughout my body...’

It was something he learned. It had the effect of lowering the internal energy.

A technique to hide his growth after taking in the qi by scattering his internal energy throughout his body. However, the original martial arts he learned would become impossible to unfold.

And it was banned, as the moment they would need to release the qi would be a huge disadvantage, so it was deemed weak.

‘Is it because of the thunder qi?’

While taking the dragon’s head, he drank its blood, and thunder qi was generated.

At first, he was unable to control it, but in less than a month, he managed to control it and even hide it.

‘Great Leader Yi Mok couldn’t even notice it. Is it because he absorbed the core?’

Without that, he couldn’t have noticed the qi in Mak Wijong’s body.

Mak Wijong was at a loss on how to deal with the situation.

Even if he lifted the ban on the qi, he wasn't Chun Yeowun's opponent, but if he tried to run away, maybe he would have a chance.

It was then,

"Amitabha! Lord Chun! You are being too much."

Sss!

At that time, Gak-yeon of the Shaolin Temple came and stood between the two.

He wasn't the only one.

Even Ma Gu-cheon appeared next to him and opened his mouth while his hand was ready to grab the sword.

"Lord Chun. It's our first time meeting. I am Ma Gu-cheon. I'm here as the commander. Please consider our alliance and talk about this..."

"Woah, I am exhausted with this alliance thing."

"What?"

"Move."

Chun Yeowun stretched out his hands and pretended to make a gap between Gak-yeon and Ma Gu-cheon.

At that moment, as if a wall of energy was created, it pushed the two leaders away.

'What amazing power!'

The two were shocked, seeing how they got pushed.

Thud!

“Kuak!”

“Euk!”

The two were pushed three steps away.

Unlike Yeon Young-in, who was pushed away like a straw doll, these two were at the end of the Superior Master Level, so the difference was huge.

“Lo... Lord... Chun... Stop!”

“Amitabha! Let’s talk...”

“You’re pretty good.”

Wooong!

‘!?’

As soon as his words finished, the two leaders trembled.

Energy stronger than before was forced on them.

Saint Gak-yeon and Mu Gu-cheon, who were barely holding on, got pushed away helplessly.

‘Does having this energy even make sense?’

‘How could those two get pushed away like that?’

They couldn’t believe it.

They knew that Chun Yeowun is a Divine Master, but they never imagined that he would be this strong.

Because the gap between them seemed too large, they would all lose if the others didn't intervene right now.

It was then,

Crackle!

"Thanks to both the leaders!"

A great power emerged from behind. A sword surrounded with lightning flashes went for Chun Yeowun, who was pushing the two leaders away.

The person who unfolded the sudden thunder sword was Mak Wijong.

"Commander Mak?"

Be lifted the ban on the qi, but it wasn't at all perfect. Drawing out internal energy, he unfolded the lightning sword.

'This is the gap!'

At first, he tried to escape, but seeing how Chun Yeowun was using both hands to suppress the leaders, he decided that it was the right opportunity to strike and aimed for a surprise attack.

'Die by someone weaker than you!'

"Die!"

Crackle!

Pak!

“Ah?”

Because he was so close, Mak Wijong thought that the attack would work.

However, the sword with blue lightning suddenly disappeared, and his sword was stopped by the bare hands of Chun Yeowun.

“H-how can you stop the thunder qi?”

Crackle!

The lightning was still raging.

Chun Yeowun wasn't even using his thunder qi. All he was wearing was that black armor, so getting electrocuted should be easy, but that wasn't happening.

“I see.”

“What?”

“This thunder qi.”

At that very moment, the thunder qi of the blade, which was stuck in his two hands, began to flow back.

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

However, the level of qi flowing back was different.

Crackle!

In an instant, a lightning storm filled the entire barrack, and the body of Mak Wijong, who was holding the sword, was covered in light.

“Kuaaaakkkkk!”

Chapter 445 - The End of the Alliance (2)

445: The End of the Alliance (2)

Crackle!

‘Kuakkk!’

Mak Wijong was unable to determine what was happening to him.

His plan hadn’t worked on Chun Yeowun, so he wondered if he should release all his thunder qi.

But there was nothing that could be done to the man who absorbed the entire core.

‘I need to stop! I might die like this!’

Fortunately, there was one good thing.

Although it was painful, it was because of the thunder qi in his body that Mak Wijong didn’t get electrocuted.

‘There is nothing I can do about this monster right now. I should run away.’

He might end up getting killed if this continues, then he won’t be able to create a world of justice.

But,

“You’re holding up better than I thought.”

Crackle!

“KUAKKKKKK!”

There was no end to the thunder qi, which kept coming in through the blade he was holding.

Even If he wasn’t dying from being electrocuted, the shock, which gradually continued for a long time, was making him lose consciousness.

At that time, a few people belonging to the Forces of Great Heaven came to their senses and attacked.

“Stop right now!”

“Hmmp!”

They were afraid that Chun Yeowun would kill him, so they thought that if they could get Yeowun to let go of the blade, Mak Wijong wouldn’t die.

But it wasn’t an easy task.

Without even turning his head, Yeowun pretended to lower his left hand.

Bang! Bang! Bang!

“Kuak!”

“M-my body!”

The three people went face flat into the ground.

Even Yeon Young-in had trouble standing, and these people were far less skilled than the leaders of the Forces of Justice.

‘Mak Wijong is in danger.’

Gak-yeon, who was pushed away by the energy, couldn’t stand watching it. He unfolded the Seventy-Two Rites of the Shaolin Temple in order to save Mak Wijong.

“Lord Chun! Please forgive my rudeness one more time.”

Swoosh!

Golden energy aimed for the right hand of Chun Yeowun, which was holding the blade.

Because it was sword qi, avoiding it was tough, but Chun Yeowun’s reaction was calm.

“I was being so considerate because you’re a monk from the Shaolin Temple.”

“Huh?”

When Chun Yeowun slightly lifted his left hand as if he held a sword,

Psssh!

An invisible sword rose and passed through the shoulder of Gak-yeon.

“Kuak!”

Gak-yeon, who had his shoulder pierced, coughed up blood and bounced back.

He had no idea that such a devastating trick could be performed by a man who seemed like he was flipping his hand of cards.

“Kulak... invisible sword!”

It was an invisible sword, something that only Divine Masters could achieve.

The invisible sword that dug into him wasn't something anyone could stop. Only the best could defend themselves.

‘He really is a Divine Master.’

‘Saint Gak-yeon of the Shaolin Temple looks like a third-rate warrior!’

Fear stood in the eyes of people who encountered Chun Yeowun for the first time.

The same feeling that they felt when facing the God of the East.

They were all wondering if they would ever feel the same emotions they felt when facing the God of the East, but it was happening again in just four days.

And when that happened, no one thought of stopping Chun Yeowun.

Srrrr! Crackle!

At that moment, lightning flashed from Chun Yeowun's hands.

“Kuuuk!”

Thud!

During the time of the attack, Mak Wijong fell on his knees.

He was waiting for an instant when the thunder qi would stop, but moving was difficult after being electrocuted for so long.

‘I... I need to run away...’

It was the moment when he was staggering to run away.

“Let’s get this done properly.”

‘?’

Chun Yeowun pointed to the location of the dantian with the sword.

For a moment, Mak Wijong was startled,

“Wa-wait? Lord... wait!”

Push!

The sword in Chun Yeowun’s hand penetrated his dantian.

A great pain which he never experienced before swept over him, and Mak Wijong screamed.

“AAAHHHHH!!!”

When his intact dantian got destroyed, it seemed like the energy inside him ran rampant and disappeared.

For any warrior, it was a more painful punishment than death.

Chun Yeowun, who looked at the man who was wheezing and rolling on the ground, spoke.

“There are a lot of intruders in here. Hold on.”

Swoosh!

With those words, Chun Yeowun stretched out his hand, and cold qi filled the barracks.

“Th-this cold?”

‘How could such yin come out?’

The people in the barracks were startled, but the body of Mak Wijong, who was on the floor, began to freeze.

Swosh!

As his body froze amid the pain, the bewildered expression of his face went still.

While he was speaking.

“Kill me...”

Shhh!

Mak Wijong completely froze up in an instant.

He turned into an ambiguous state that neither lived nor died.

The barracks turned silent.

‘Uh, how can the human body possess such a variety of qi?’

‘Is this person really a monster just like the God of the East?’

All six leaders of the Forces of Justice were astonished seeing Chun Yeowun use cold qi and thunder qi.

But what was more creepy was Chun Yeowun's attitude.

There were always factions who would restrain their opponents, but they never expected him to break his dantian and lock him in ice.

They couldn't even mentally prepare themselves.

1st leader eyes went narrow.

'As expected, this person is the Demon God more dangerous than the gods. He doesn't even stray a single step from the monster in Changbai Mountain, but if this man is determined to take it...'

The balance of the three factions would be disrupted.

It was enough to tell commander Yoo Beom-ryeo, as well as Yi Mok and the Forces of Evil, to join forces to prevent Chun Yeowun from taking the core of the spirit beast.

Right now, Chun Yeowun was standing alone in the center of 5000 Yulin warriors.

'But seeing him, if left alone, we will suffer.'

For the sake of the future of the Yulin, it was better to kill him at all cost.

He was trying to make up his mind.

When Hong Palwoo's message reached him.

[1st leader! You can't fight that man. We need to let him go to the mountain and confront that monster.]

At those words, Mu Gu-cheon frowned.

That was the best way.

However, Chun Yeowun, Lord of the Demonic Cult, heard them talking about their plan.

[It won't work. Leader Hong. And he won't even listen to our words.]

[But!]

Mu Gu-cheon shook his head.

If talks worked, then such a situation wouldn't have taken place.

Convincing Chun Yeowun seemed impossible.

It seemed better to act strong than display their weakness.

Visor!

Mu Gu-cheon raised his sword and pointed it at Chun Yeowun.

"Lord Chun. You're in the middle of the entire troops of the Yulin. It may be possible to sneak in here, but you won't be able to safely escape from the 5000 elite warriors in here!"

With those words, Mu Gu-cheon raised his hand.

He, too, was in the end-stage of the Superior Master Level.

Grrrr!

When he released his energy, the barracks shook, and it opened up in all directions.

As the barrack opened up, a large number of warriors appeared with their weapons ready.

“Lord of the Demonic Cult!”

“Demon God!”

Hearing the noises and screams from the leaders, they surrounded the barracks.

However, when the barracks opened up, they were shocked to see an unexpected person.

“How did the Lord of the Demonic Cult get in here?”

“What the hell were the guards doing?”

It was a place where high mountains surrounded them.

Thanks to that, the security was concentrated on the entrances, but seeing Chun Yeowun inside the barracks, they couldn’t understand.

Woong!

“Warriors of Yulin! Listen, as you can see, the Lord of the Demonic Cult invaded our troops. Are you planning on watching this happen!”

“No!!!”

Wrrrr!

As soon as the words fell, about 5000 people moved in unison.

The warriors who held swords surrounded the barracks in a circle, and the archers were ready with their bows aiming for just one person.

‘How did he get in there?’

‘He is indeed the head of the Demonic Cult.’

No matter how strong he was, one would be nervous when surrounded like that, but Chun Yeowun looked at the 1st leader.

And opened his mouth.

“This is how you guys operate.”

Flinch!

With short words, energy radiated around Chun Yeowun.

Their opponent was Chun Yeowun, the Demon God who was currently the best in Wulin, especially his way of killing.

At that, the 1st leader spoke.

“We don’t want to fight you and make sacrifices either. To be honest, you heard it when you broke into the barracks. We are concerned that you and your cult will take the core of the spirit beast. I’m sure you can understand our reasons.”

“ ... ”

“Still, you and the Great leader have an alliance. If you promise to give up the core, we will take back our swords.”

Even though they pointed their swords, they wanted to talk it out too.

At those words, Hong Palwoo, Peng-gyu, and Sathi hoped that there wouldn’t be a fight.

This was a risky gamble which would cost Mu Gu-cheon his life, and if a fight broke out, he would be the first to die.

“What do you plan on doing? If you go against us, we will risk our lives till the end and fight back! No matter how strong you are, do you think you can escape from 5000 warriors, all alone? Please choose. Either give up the core and choose peace with the alliance or see blood...”

Creepy!

“No!”

Crack!

Mu Gu-cheon wasn't even done with his words when he felt something and moved.

At that moment, a pounding sound came from behind, along with screams.

Swoosh!

“Kuaaak!”

“Kuhk!”

When he turned his head, thanks to him moving, the people behind him were the only ones who got cut with the invisible sword.

Some had their arms cut off, or worse, their bodies cut in half

At that sight, Mu Gu-cheon shouted.

“Lord Chun! We will break the alliance with you and shed blood...”

That moment, Chun Yeowun, who was far away, came near in an instant.

‘Shit!’

Mu Gu-cheon tried to widen the distance, but Chun Yeowun lightly wielded his sword while an invisible sword crossed the air behind him.

Chachacha!

‘How can this be? My sword is being taken down...’

Without delay, Chun Yeowun grabbed the 1st leader by his neck.

Clench!

“Kuk!”

Everything happened too fast, but Mu Gu-cheon tried to stab Chun Yeowun in the left side of his waist with his sword to get released.

But Chun Yeowun’s hands were faster.

Grasp!

“Kuak!”

When 1st leader Mo Gu-cheon’s wrist broke, the sword he was holding dropped to the ground.

Drop!

But that wasn’t the end.

“The alliance... alliance... alliance...”

Chun Yeowun grabbed his wrist and applied energy in it.

In an instant, Mu Gu-cheon's right arm was pulled right out of its socket.

Tear!

"Kuaakkk!"

He couldn't scream loudly as his neck was clutched, yet, Mu Gu-cheon screamed at the top of his lungs.

Everyone was shocked by what happened.

Push!

His right arm was torn off, and blood began to gush out.

This one action was enough to make everyone fear Chun Yeowun.

"H-he ripped off the arm?"

"Of a master warrior..."

The others were no different.

The gap between them was painfully large.

To those who were worried, Chun Yeowun spoke.

"I'm sick and tired of you people using the alliance whenever you need it."

"L-Lord Chun. The Blade God Six Martial clan is still there if we keep fighting..."

Hong Palwoo tried to say something, but Chun Yeowun cut it off.

“What do you mean?”

Hong Palwoo’s eyes trembled at his resolute words.

“W-what I mean is...”

“The alliance ends now.”

‘!!!’

Everyone’s faces went stiff at the words from Chun Yeowun about ending the alliance.

Their alliance which was already as thin as a thread because all that happened, got cut off.

Chun Yeowun spoke to those who were bewildered, in a voice brimming with pride.

“For the Blade God Six Martial clan, the Demonic Cult’s strength is enough. Just because there was an alliance between the two factions, did you think that you are on the same level as us? Such ignorant fools!”

Gooooo!

When Chun Yeowun released his energy, in an instant, thunder qi flowed around.

Even though the elites could stand tall, those who were on lower levels felt like they were suffocating.

“Th-this absurd qi!”

‘He is a lot stronger than in Jin Castle.’

Pak!

“Kuak!”

Throwing Mu Gu-cheon to the ground, he raised both his hands.

And the wrist cuffs on his hand trembled as a response.

“You were aiming for my life, so you must have been pretty well prepared, right?”

Hong Palwoo was flustered as he tried to speak.

“It-is is the Sky Flash! Shatter the weapons you are holding right now! Hurry!”

“Smash the weapons!”

At Hong Palwoo’s orders, people kept relaying the message and broke their weapons.

The sword technique of the Demon God.

If weapons were in their hands, it was nothing but asking for a death wish.

One of the reasons why the leaders were afraid of Chun Yeowun was because of this ability.

Clang!

Clang!

Hearing the cries of the leaders, the warriors tried to break down their weapons by over imbuing energy into them.

“Crush them more!”

They were crushing them down into powder. Not even fragments could be found.

‘Did he think we wouldn’t take countermeasures?’

Even if it wasn’t for the Sky Flash, which would use hundreds of weapons, fighting weaponless was an option for the Yulin.

Seeing their actions, Chun Yeowun calmly responded.

“I guess you people do learn.”

Swoosh!

With those words, Chun Yeowun raised his hands higher, and the air around them became colder as if they were transported to the North Sea.

The cold was suffocating.

It was as if extreme yin was flowing around.

“Ugh?”

“Wh... what is that?”

Shockingly, the coldness soon began to take the shape of a sword.

Sssshhhh!

In an instant, more than two hundred brilliant ice swords formed in the air.

At best, they had destroyed their weapons, but with the ice swords forming, the warriors of Yulin couldn’t hide the bewilderment.

Hong Palwoo, shouted trying to prevent their morale from falling.

“Do not be afraid! To unleash sword qi along with the ice swords and move them is impossibl...!?”

Woong!

Before he could even finish his words, Hong Palwoo was shocked at what he saw.

The ice swords were made of sword qi.

“Th-this can’t be...”

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

It wasn’t impossible because he had recently learned the Ice Cold of Heaven in the North.

“What can’t be done now?”

Chochochoch!

With those words from Chun Yeowun, his hand lowered, and the ice swords floating in the air poured down like hail.

Chapter 446 - The End of the Alliance (3)

446: The End of the Alliance (3)

Kwakkwakwang!

With rays of blue light, the entire area where the Yulin was camping got surrounded.

The pouring of the swords was like a bombing.

Screams erupting from everywhere.

“Kuak!”

“Ack!”

“Avoid!”

Those who couldn't cope with it had no other way to avoid it.

Everyone tried to avoid it. However, it was as if the swords were moving according to their target.

‘Dam-damn it! This is the only thing that isn't different from Jin Castle.’

Hong Palwoo didn't know what had to be done now that the Sky Flash was falling down.

In Jin Castle, this attack wasn't targeted at the Forces of Justice.

However, now that it was diverted to them, the damage was unbearable.

'It can't be.'

Mercy didn't exist for Chun Yeowun, who broke the alliance.

Without blinking an eye, the Sky Flash kept falling.

It didn't take long. There were already hundreds of casualties.

'It's different from back then.'

At that time, there were too many people in Jin Castle.

As several factions like the Yulin, the Forces of Evil, the Demonic Cult, and the Blade God Six Martial Clan were there, it took a lot of time for the Sky Flash to hit their targets.

'Only if Lord Chun is killed will this genocide stop.'

Anyway, there were only a few people who could block the swords.

In that way, annihilation was coming for them in no time.

Swoosh! Clang!

"Kuak!"

Hong Palwoo created a shield of qi and shouted.

His voice, which was being carried by energy, spread in all directions.

“If we are meant to suffer like this, then let’s kill the Lord of the Demonic Cult. The enemy is alone. A sword through his heart would bring victory to us!”

His repeated cry influenced the reluctant warriors.

It was because that was the only way they could escape from despair.

If they could handle two hundred or so ice swords at once, it meant that the Lord of the Demonic Cult was defenseless.

But it wouldn’t be an easy task.

Kwakkwakwang!

The sword qi around Chun Yeowun was protecting him.

If they get caught in close range, they will die right away.

Moreover, as much as they wanted to move, the intimidation and fear given by Chun Yeowun couldn’t be overcome.

‘People lost courage because of fear.’

The leaders thought as such.

As Hong Palwoo said, there was only one opponent.

Of course, he was a monster who exceeded the power of humans, which meant that everyone had to unite to survive.

“Kuu... Warriors of the Forces of Justice!”

“Ah? Leader Mu?”

At that moment, someone screamed in a pained voice. It was Mu Gu-cheon, the commander and 1st leader.

Despite his arm being pulled off, he decided to sacrifice himself to change the situation.

“Must live, die, must die, live.”

If one wants to live, they die, and one wants to die, they live.

Those were the words of a famous general, Ogi, who was never defeated in seventy-six battles.

“Do not run away from the enemy just because you’re afraid of dying. If you kill that evil demon with the determination to die, you will live! I will take the lead!”

Phat!

Mu Gu-cheon shouted, picked up his weapon, and ran for Chun Yeowun.

To save the people of his faction, he didn’t mind sacrificing himself.

“Oh, ugh!”

“That’s dangerous!”

The people around shouted in shock, but it was already too late.

Mu Gu-cheon had managed to get within 20 steps from Chun Yeowun.

Shoo!

'I need to endure this!'

Kwang!

He drew on his own fighting spirit and moved, trying to block the swords which were coming for him.

"Kuak! Kuak!"

Although he kept coughing up blood because of the power in each Ice Sword, he didn't stop moving forward.

The figure he showed was close to a true warrior that people dreamed of becoming.

"Leader Mu!"

The eyes of people who wanted to run away looked at him.

Even though he knew he would die, he kept moving, making everyone cheer for him.

"Leader Mu! Go!"

"Behead that monster!"

Voices joined in from people around, all cheering for him.

All the people of the Yulin kept chanting one name.

"Mu Gu-cheon! Mu Gu-cheon!! Mu Gu-cheon!!!"

"Wahhh!"

As if to repay them for the support they were giving him, Mu Gu-cheon kept moving forward despite coughing up blood.

‘There is still hope for Yulin. This leader will serve to ignite the embers.’

It would be nice if Chun Yeowun could at least be touched, but it didn’t matter.

If he died fiercely, the faction would gain courage and start to fight back.

Clang!

At that time, the sword he was holding in his hand broke.

Although it wasn’t a simple weapon, it was a treasured sword made of cold iron, but even that couldn’t withstand the constant attacks from the ice swords.

Swoosh!

Three ice swords came rushing towards him.

‘This is the end!’

It was at that moment.

Kwakwang!

“Wahhh!!!”

The people shouted at once with louder voices.

Mu Gu-cheon’s eyes twinkled.

As he sacrificed himself to revive the courage of the faction, he thought no one could interfere, but two leaders and one commander prevented his death.

“We will do this!”

“Did the 1st leader think that he’ll get a cool ending!”

“Live desperately! Let’s live together!”

It was Monk Sathi, Yeon Young-in, and commander Oh Maeng.

Mu Gu-cheon smiled as he looked at them, blocking the swords.

‘Lord of the Demonic Cult. This is the power of the Forces of Justice.’

In times of crisis, they unite.

With such determination, if everyone fought together, the Demon God wouldn’t see another day.

“Sacrifice isn’t done by a single warrior. Whoop! Let’s move!”

Woong!

Mu Gu-cheon smiled and raised the broken sword in his left hand, and moved.

And to protect him, the three of them kept blocking the incoming swords.

Finally, the distance narrowed to ten steps.

All the others who managed to avoid getting hit kept their eyes on the four of them.

As if concentrating on the Sky Flash and the Air Swords, Chun Yeowun stayed still.

If they closed in three more steps, they could lessen the distance.

A dream they always had.

‘He needs to be stopped. If the Sky Flash can be stopped, I will have a chance to revive the broken courage.’

Mu Gu-cheon had two purposes.

It was to save the faction and prove that Chun Yeowun and his Sky Flash can be taken down if everyone joined forces.

‘Eight steps.’

‘Seven steps.’

‘Six Steps.’

‘Five steps.’

‘Four steps.’

The warriors were all counting it in their heads.

“Behead the Lord of the Demonic Cult!!!”

Even though they knew that it wasn’t a possibility, everyone hoped that it could be done.

Even the leaders were looking at Mu Gu-cheon with tearful eyes.

Finally, 1st leader Mu Gu-cheon took the third step.

Although his face was bleeding with gashes, he felt satisfied that he managed to accomplish this before dying.

[Leader Hong. Be sure to tell my family about how I died.]

The future generation will also fight the Demon God on his behalf.

No more regret.

“Ahhhh!”

Mu Gu-cheon sent one last message to Hong Palwoo, and pulled out sword qi from his left hand and tried to stab Chun Yeowun in his neck.

It was then.

“That jerk would have caused a huge strife.”

“What?”

Tatat!

Chun Yeowun moved.

Naturally, they thought that he would move to avoid getting hit.

However, it was different from what they expected.

Swoosh!

“How is this?”

“W-why isn’t the Sky Flash stopping?”

Monk Sathi and Yeon Young-in mumbled.

When Mu Gu-cheon attacked, they thought that the Sky Flash would stop, but it continued.

“This makes no sense! How is he moving while handling so many Air Swords?”

Mu Gu-cheon was also shocked, but Chun Yeowun lightly dodged the sword and grabbed his wrist, breaking it.

Crack!

“Kuaaaak!”

And that wasn’t the end.

Chun Yeowun placed his left hand on his chest,

Jjjjkkkkk!

With tremendous cold qi rising, Mu Gu-cheon’s body froze.

It wasn’t entirely frozen like Mak Wijong. The head was left out.

“Wh-what is?”

Mu Gu-cheon, who was ready to sacrifice himself, turned into a strange statue of ice.

All of a sudden, Chun Yeowun moved towards Monk Sathi, who was blocking the Air Swords.

“Chun Yeowun!”

Panicking, she widened the distance, but the gap in their skills was too large.

Chun Yeowun evaded the attacks by moving his body and imbued internal energy into her.

Kwang!

“Ackk!”

There was no way she was going to be okay. It was as if her dantian was messed up.

Her dantian, which she had been training for decades, was destroyed in an instant.

“I can’t fall yet.”

Jeez!

Chun Yeowun froze her falling body, except for the head, which was coughing up blood.

Yeon Young-in, who was flustered, tried to move away from Chun Yeowun.

“Where!”

Kwakwakwang!

“Damn it!”

In front of him, swords slammed down as if making a steel cage.

The moment he was blocked in, Chun Yeowun approached and stabbed him before freezing him.

Four masters who wanted to sacrifice themselves turned into ice statues, leaving only their heads outside.

‘N-no!’

This was different from the original plan.

If they died, the faction would have abandoned their fears and burned with anger.

Kwakkwakwang!

“Kuak!”

“Ack!”

In the meantime, the Air Swords still moved.

Mu Gu-cheon, who wasn't killed, was trapped in ice forced to watch his men die.

“Lord of the Demonic Cult! What is this! Are you insulting us? Is it okay to trample on the pride and the sacrifices of people like this? I'd rather wish for death!”

Even if he feared death, he didn't want this.

Chun Yeowun's actions were as if he was insulting the leaders.

“Sacrifices?”

At that time, Chun Yeowun looked somewhere and pretended to smile while lowering his hand.

And,

“Ah!”

“Th-they stopped?”

The Sky Flash stopped.

The people who were running around screaming stopped.

All their eyes looked at Chun Yeowun and the four people who were frozen in ice.

‘Did he run out of internal energy?’

‘No. It can’t be. Even in Jin Castle, the Sky Flash raged longer than now...’

All the leaders stared at Chun Yeowun with wary eyes.

They didn’t know what to do.

It was then Mu Gu-cheon spoke.

“Lord of the Demonic Cult! I don’t know what you are trying to do, but even if you try to restore the alliance, you have crossed an irreversible line...”

“You talk a lot.”

Crack!

“Kuak!”

Before he could finish his words, his jaw distorted and dangled.

As his jaw was broken, Mu Gu-cheon couldn’t even speak.

“1st, 1st leader! You vicious demon!”

Chun Yeowun looked at Monk Sathi, who yelled at him.

“If you were planning on sacrificing yourselves, I shouldn’t ignore your determination.”

“What?”

“W... what does that mean?”

“I’m giving you a chance.”

‘!?’

Yeon Young-in looked at Chun Yeowun and Monk Sathi with a questioning look.

At that, Chun Yeowun shouted so that all the people there could hear it.

“You warriors of the Yulin. I don’t believe that you move with one heart and one will.”

“?”

Wooong!

At Chun Yeowun’s words, all the leaders went stiff.

It was because they could guess that the end wasn’t going to be nice.

‘What is he planning to do?’

Chun Yeowun continued to speak.

“Even though I keep giving the leaders chances, they keep aiming for the life of me, a fellow member of the former alliance. I don’t wear the mask of a mature gentleman like you people. Those who target me and my cult will be killed and removed like weeds.”

At the voice which warned them, everyone gulped.

Chun Yeowun looked at everyone and spoke.

“Let me give you a special opportunity to create great sacrifices. I don’t like to create such a situation, and I have no intention of slaughtering thousands of people, as I am not a blood-loving killer.”

Woong!

‘He doesn’t want to slaughter?’

‘Is the Lord of the Demonic Cult reaching out?’

Everyone became alert.

Some, who were trying to live until a moment back, had hope.

Seeing that, the leaders wondered why Chun Yeowun was saying such things.

‘No. We can’t be shaken like this!’

Hong Palwoo realized that it was dangerous for the faction, so he spoke.

“Lord Chun! Do you think that we will easily be divided if you shake us like this?”

Chun Yeowun answered with a cold look.

“I don’t need to divide. It’s a simple matter to consider.”

“What?”

“Let me give you a choice. It’s entirely up to the leaders and the commanders to choose.”

At Chun Yeowun’s words, Hong Palwoo bit his lip.

He realized his intentions.

No division? Was he trying to convince the warriors to give up their leaders in exchange for their lives?

Creating division was a coward's way of life.

Everyone looked at Chun Yeowun.

'Lord of the Demonic Cult! It is all your fault. To use such intimidation, this will only unite us.'

Overcoming his fear, Peng-gyu shouted.

"Lord of the Demonic Cult! I think those who see your foolish tricks would rather sacrifice themselves..."

"You have misunderstood."

"What!"

"The options are simple. You can exchange the lives of your family members for the warriors who follow you or vice versa. I will make sure to spare whoever you decide."

'!?'

The moment they heard Chun Yeowun's words, no one could hide their bewilderment.

The leaders even more so.

He thought they would choose between the warriors and the leaders, but not the warriors or their families.

When he spoke about sacrificing their families and relatives, Peng-gyu yelled out.

“Sacrificing family! What nonsense... ugh!”

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

Peng-gyu went silent.

He forgot what he wanted to say.

Chun Yeowun spoke in a cold voice.

“Isn’t this justified? The sacrifice that you people wanted so much has to be this heavy, right?”

Chapter 447 - The End of the Alliance (4)

447: The End of the Alliance (4)

The weight of sacrificing others.

It was different from sacrificing oneself.

Even leader Mu Gu-cheon, who tried to raise up the warriors' morale by sacrificing himself, couldn't hide his shock when he heard Chun Yeowun's words.

'Family and relatives...'

The opportunity suggested by Chun Yeowun was something he came up with by finding loopholes in Mu Gu-cheon's words.

Rather, if he had chosen to ask for the lives of the leaders, all the clans would have chosen to fight as one.

However, he was testing them by involving their families.

'He brought in a dilemma.'

Not just him. Even the other leaders were the same.

Fortunately, Monk Sathi and the other monks of her clan had no family members.

But everyone's reaction indicated that they were troubled by Chun Yeowun's words. Even Peng-gyu felt lost.

‘This...’

Peng-gyu didn’t know what to do as he looked at the cold gaze of Chun Yeowun.

Anything else would have been fine, but Chun Yeowun’s attempt to shake the warriors succeeded.

‘I knew he was clever, but this Lord of the Demonic Cult is really...’

Hong Palwoo shook his head.

He, the head of the Beggars Association, also didn’t have any family members.

So he was able to look at the entire situation in a broad and calm manner. This one move of Chun Yeowun was enough to divide the faction.

‘I know about the warriors, but the others...’

There were groups of voluntary soldiers and warriors who joined them.

And they were believers of justice as their ideology, but it would be impossible for them to choose death without a cause.

‘This needs to be overcome!’

They had to come up with a proper solution.

Not just Hong Palwoo but all the other leaders who were in a dilemma couldn’t speak out.

It was difficult to lay down one’s own life, but there was no way they could drive their own family to their deaths.

As thoughts rose, the ripples grew.

Woong!

‘If their families are important, do we die?’

‘Even during scouting, they all spoke about sacrifice for justice, but isn’t this just plain nonsense?’

‘Such hypocrisy!’

Small whispers from all over the place could be heard.

Chun Yeowun looked at them.

It was funny that the leaders who advocated for sacrifice were in a dilemma when needed.

‘Regardless of the time or age, this never changes.’

It was like seeing the six clans of the Demonic Cult.

Giving them any more time seemed like a waste.

Chun Yeowun raised his hand.

Srrrr!

A blue hue appeared on the ice swords, which were waiting in the air, waiting to fire at any moment.

He spoke, looking at the bewildered people.

“It seems that the choice made by your leaders is their families’ survival. I hope you will respect the choice made by your leaders who are of the same faction.”

With those words, Chun Yeowun tried to lower his hand, and screams erupted.

“S-stop! Why do we have to sacrifice for their families?”

“Right! Family is important to everyone, but who will care for our families if we die?”

The leaders were confused.

They couldn’t open their mouths because they knew that such a situation would pop up, but with Chun Yeowun’s sly act, it burst out.

As one shouted, people began to join in.

“Why must we sacrifice for them?”

“I won’t! Shouldn’t the leaders who lead the Yulin be the ones to set an example?”

“How can you all force us to sacrifice ourselves?”

‘... this is bad.’

Even the commanders couldn’t hide their flustered expressions at the complaints from the warriors.

If the leaders spoke, then the division in the troops would turn into reality.

If that was the case, then the evil Demon God, Chun Yeowun, would get what he wanted.

Yeon Young-in called out Chun Yeowun.

“Lord Chun! What is this cowardly act? The task here needs to end here! To bring our families into this!”

As a response to his cry, the other leaders shouted too.

“Everyone of the Yulin faction, do not fall prey to this evil man’s plan! Everything he is doing is to tear us apart!”

“If we divide like this, everything will go according to the Demon God’s plan! We need to work together and defeat this evil!”

Despite their heated shouts, people didn’t seem convinced.

On the contrary, it seemed to rile them up.

One of the members of the White Sword came forward and pointed at Yeon Young-in and shouted.

“Do you think we are fools! Of course, we know that he is trying to divide us! But why do you leaders and clan heads remain silent without saying a single word?”

“Yes, he is right! If the leaders really think of us as your people, then you should have spoken up before, but why did you choose to keep your mouths closed?”

In a moment, Yeon Young-in’s mouth shut.

As they said, not a single leader had come forward to sacrifice their families for the sake of the warriors.

It was difficult to answer as their families were brought in, but in the end, they’d rather lose the warriors than their own bloodline.

“And how great was your team up against the Demon God? Not a single leader could do anything to him... tch! In the end, it’s no different from saying that we are the only ones who will die!”

As the number of people who spoke increased, different words came in.

‘Huh, did we fall for such a shallow ploy?’

‘This is bad!’

Not everyone was shaken.

Among the clans, some respected the leaders, while some were dissatisfied.

The latter was more abundant because their lives were at stake.

At that time, one person spoke.

“If you really think of us as your siblings of war, don’t the leaders have to be the ones making the sacrifice? Do you people think that your families are the only important ones? More lives are at stake if our families are left alone.”

It was simple math.

As a result, if the warriors of the Yulin died, thousands of people would end up being killed for the sake of a couple leaders.

Such dissatisfaction caused the clan heads to speak out.

“No. So you want us to kill family members who have nothing to do with this? How can you people speak such words?”

“R-right! You people are easily putting the blame on us, but you avoid the fact that you would never sacrifice yourself for the heads of the clan and the faction?”

At that desperate situation, Sathi mumbled.

“Ahhh... Amitabha.”

In the end, the words which should never be said were spoken.

As she feared, even the leaders who kept silent till then were disappointed at the cries of the clan heads.

Even those who dedicated their lives to the Forces of Justice couldn't hide their disappointment.

Thanks to that, the voices of dissatisfaction only grew louder.

“Has everyone heard? How can we trust them and their concept of justice! Lord Chun! We cannot make sacrifices for the leaders.”

“I agree with their words! I can't give up my life.”

As one or two and then hundreds of people spoke, the leaders were pushed into a dead end.

The leaders decided that the situation could no longer be reversed.

Once everyone feels the same, persuading them is difficult.

[Monk Sathi.]

[Leader Hong?]

[This is a pity. But there is nothing we can do.]

Hong Palwoo looked at the leaders and clan heads.

It was shameful because there was no way to change the minds of the warriors, and escaping seemed better.

The other leaders nodded as if they understood.

“I am from the White Sword too. I agree with the opinion of many people here. How can we make sacrifices...”

It was then that someone interrupted and shouted.

“Amitabha! Brothers of the Forces of Justice. How can we fall for the devil’s game and fight among us! On behalf of the commander, I will speak here. I order a retreat by turning a blind eye to what happened here!”

“Retreat?”

It was Gak-yeon who had given the order.

Hong Palwoo was the one who wanted to declare retreat before further damage was done.

When they were confused, Gak-yeon shouted once more.

“You don’t have to decide! You don’t have to be struck by the Sky Flash. Run, retreat!”

The only way to save the warriors was if they escaped.

Pah!

As soon as his order fell, some people were shocked.

They were the clan heads.

“Ah!”

“A-are we running away now?”

It was shameful and humiliating.

The only thoughts in the leaders' minds were that they had to get out of this place and protect their family members.

They were currently in a place that was surrounded on three sides.

At their pathetic plan, Chun Yeowun shook his head.

"You people shake a lot of hands." (Meaning no fixed trait)

Starting with the leaders and then the warriors, they all tried to retreat.

"Follow the clan heads."

"Divide and run away!"

Woong!

Around four hundred people.

Leaders, who noticed it, took advantage of the situation and made way to run.

'Ugh, Lord of the Demonic Cult!'

'One day, we will definitely pay off this debt!'

Thinking that this was the worst humiliation they ever faced, they ground their teeth and vowed to seek revenge.

Their plan was to avoid the Sky Flash as much as possible.

No matter how skilled the Demon God was, there was a limit to what he could do with that Sky Flash, which meant they had to get far away from Chun Yeowun.

It was then,

Kick!

Yeon Young-in stopped in his tracks.

He saw something shocking ahead.

“Th-this...”

“An ambush?”

Shockingly, hundreds of cultists were blocking their way out of the mountains.

At the forefront stood a man with a unique mask,

“The Dark King!”

He was the Great Guardian, Marakim.

Along with him, the man who stays beside the Lord of the Demonic Cult at all times was the Six Swords and their warriors, all blocking their escape.

“Kuk! He didn’t come here alone.”

Peng-gyu looked at them with fearful eyes.

The strength of the Demon God’s subordinates was widely known ever since the battle in Jin Castle.

But, even if it was his first time seeing them, he saw how dangerous they looked.

‘The silver-haired man on the right and those with fur coats... is he?’

To their shock, people were dressed in the North Sea Ice Palace attire.

Around a hundred, they all looked like royal warriors from the Ice Palace.

‘Why are they here?’

Even Mak Wijong, who returned to the base right away, didn’t know what had happened in the Ice Palace, so no one could even imagine that the Ice Palace was in Chun Yeowun’s hands.

What was certain was that the Ice Palace was cooperating with the Demonic Cult.

‘The internal energy from that person is unusual.’

The one Peng-gyu looked at was Dan Jucheon.

And then he looked at a woman, who had sharp eyes. Although she looked strong, it didn’t seem like she could defend herself.

‘That girl seems to be weak.’

Maybe because of the huge energy being released by the cult, he decided to go for the woman who looked weak.

The only way he could escape was if he could break through their line.

Phat!

“Follow me!”

Peng-gyu closed the distance at once and jumped to the left where the woman was standing.

Seeing him do that, Ko Wanghur of the Six Swords smirked.

“He must have a death wish.”

Peng-gyu was totally unaware as his mind was clouded with the desire to run away alive.

Rather than killing her, it was his desire to defeat her and then escape from the path she was blocking.

But,

Chachachang!

“H-how is that frail girl taking my attacks so easily?”

Shockingly, the woman was able to stop Peng-gyu’s attacks.

As if that wasn’t enough, she unfolded sword qi, which cut his head off at once.

Slash!

“Kuak!”

With a short scream, Peng-gyu’s head dropped to the ground and rolled.

The young woman mumbled as she stepped on the head.

“Young one? I have outlived you. You whiny little girl.”

At the confident attack of Peng-gyu and his immediate death, those who followed him were shocked.

“Leader Peng-gyuuuu!”

“No!”

Although he lost one arm, Peng-gyu was still a leader of the Forces of Justice. They never expected him to lose in such a manner.

“You rushed it, elder Yin Moha. Tch!”

Although she looked young, she was an elder of the Demonic Cult, a Superior Master.

In recent years, she managed to learn the twenty-four Demon Swords, and she was even one of the top three swordsmen in the Demonic Cult. She was someone who the enemies should fear the most.

Chachacha!

“Woahhh!”

Screams came from the right side.

The body of Yeon Young-in, who was taken down by the warriors of the Ice Palace, was found.

It was no use trying to drive away the cold qi which was already in his body.

“Wh-who is this monster...”

He looked at Dan Jucheon, who didn’t move a single step.

He, who was the strongest in the North, was on the same level as the five strongest warriors.

“Sorry to my old allies, but no one can go past this place.”

Wheein!

Cold qi rose around as he took each step.

The eyes of the leaders of Yulin who looked at him were dyed in despair.

The heads who looked at this clicked their tongues.

‘He didn’t stop us on purpose.’

‘They were already blocking our way out?’

There was a reason why Chun Yeowun didn’t make his Air Swords follow them.

He was confident that his men would stop them, while the Yulin thought he couldn’t control the Air Swords after a certain distance.

Although many tried to retreat, around 3000 were still on the site.

‘... they chose.’

‘Because I didn’t choose allies as fellows, I only tried to save my own family...’

They looked bitterly at the leaders.

Even though they led the Yulin, the leaders couldn’t just sacrifice thousands of people.

All that was left was hope that Chun Yeowun would keep his promise.

The ice swords showed no signs of disappearing.

That was when one spoke.

“Lord Chun! We accept your offer. I doubt that you would break your oath...”

He glanced at the ice swords above.

He didn't have to say anything. He asked Chun Yeowun to get rid of the ice swords and not threaten them.

As Chun Yeowun raised his hand, the swords disappeared.

Swosh!

"Ah!... uh?"

But, the other ice swords were still moving in the air.

What did that mean?

"... Lord Chun. Why didn't you disperse all the swords..."

"Don't worry. I keep my promises."

"Sigh...."

At the words of Chun Yeowun, the warriors sighed.

If he changed his mind and decided to kill them, no one could stop him.

"Move!"

"Huh?"

At that time, warriors of the Demonic Cult crossed the site and brought in five large wooden boxes, and placed them near Chun Yeowun.

As they put down the boxes, the man in the red hood, who seemed to be responsible for those boxes, spoke out.

"Lieutenant Hu Bong brought 'it' to the Lord as ordered."

“Good work.”

The young man was Hu Bong, lieutenant of the Six Swords.

Hu Bong glanced at the warriors with curious eyes and spoke to Chun Yeowun.

“You could just bring them with you. Why did we have to put them in the boxes?”

What on earth was in those boxes?

The cultists opened the lids of the wooden boxes.

They were all filled with tiny black items.

Woong!

Looking at the uneasy feelings and expressions on their faces, Chun Yeowun spoke.

“Everyone will take a piece of it, and then you can leave.”

“What does this mean? No... is this poison?”

A warrior asked in a trembling voice.

Chun Yeowun nodded his head casually.

‘!?’

All the members were shocked at the honest answer.

Clan head, Seong Jin-kyeong, couldn’t hide his anger and shouted out.

“Lo-Lord Chun! Didn’t you say that you would spare us? Then why are you feeding us with such dogmatism?”

It was obvious for anyone to act like that.

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

With a cynical smile, Chun Yeowun answered.

“You want to live, right?”

This man had no intention of letting anyone live.

The ice swords spun around, emitting huge energy, urging the leaders and clan heads to decide.

Chapter 448 - The One Trapped in Changbai Mountain (1)

Chapter 448: The One Trapped in Changbai Mountain (1)

The troops of the Yulin were surrounded by three mountains.

After the battle, the place where the troops stayed was stained with corpses, blood, and stench.

Even those who died in this place alone exceeded a total of two thousand eight hundred.

All of the top clans' heads, except for the 6 leaders of the Forces of Justice, were alive.

"Cough... cough..."

There was a woman who was shedding tears while looking at the bodies of the dead.

The beautiful woman who never cried so much now had swollen eyes. She was Jegal Sohi, the strategist.

"I am sorry. I am really sorry."

She kept muttering the same thing again and again while looking at the corpses.

People of the Yulin would grieve their deaths, but why was she apologizing?

Two people were looking down at her from the mountain.

An old man with a short beard, Chun Inji, the former Lord of the Demonic Cult.

And next to him, a young man with long hair and calm eyes, looking down on the battle's outcome, the current Lord of the Demonic Cult, Chun Yeowun.

"Thank you for respecting the wishes of this old man."

Chun Inji looked at the people who were evacuating powerlessly at the bottom of the mountain.

They were the survivors of Yulin.

Among the clans, the one with the most survivors was the Shaolin Temple.

"There was more blood than I expected. No matter how strong one is, it's natural that no one wants to be humiliated."

Chun Inji looked down at the corpses with sad eyes.

In the end, there were more than six hundred people who refused to take that black pill and were killed.

Among them, Seong Jin-kyung, who yelled out, fought till the end.

Among the warriors who surrendered and tried to save their lives, many gave up their pride because they had families.

However, even they didn't want to take the pill and betray their faction.

"It was their choice."

For Chun Yeowun, there was no reason to release those people who didn't obey him.

When he first learned about their plan to send him to the God of the East, he wanted to annihilate everyone.

However, his plan was unexpectedly changed due to the opposition of two people.

Two days ago,

Jegal Sohi, who entered the barracks of the Lord of the Demonic Cult, fell on her knees.

With tears in her eyes, she begged that her faction be spared.

Since Chun Yeowun was a lord, she thought he might want to reduce unnecessary sacrifices, but Chun Yeowun wasn't interested in mercy.

[You are a prisoner of war, don't get involved. Scram.]

Despite Chun Yeowun's warning, she didn't give up.

She put her head on the ground.

[I'm aware that you are enraged by it, but among them, most of them are being dragged there regardless of their will.]

6th elder Mong Mu shouted at her insistence.

[Our Lord, with his broad generosity, allowed you to wander around here despite being a prisoner, but you, you are acting like you run this place. Look here. Guards, arrest this woman and take her into custody.]

The cultists came in and tried to take her when she shouted.

[Please! Please just listen to me! If Lord Chun can show even a little generosity, you can divide them and make them surrender without taking their lives!]

Chun Yeowun's eyes lit up at Jegal Sohi's words.

She offered strategies for the cult.

[I won't ask you to save everyone. Please just let those who surrender leave. I will risk my life and assist you until Lord Chun feels satisfied.]

Watching Chun Yeowun, she knew that he wasn't someone to show mercy to his enemies.

Preventing a big sacrifice was the best thing she could do.

[Make them surrender?]

Chun Yeowun, who was interested in the plan, stopped them from taking her away.

Only to hear what this plan was.

In that way, she informed the leaders of the tactic which would divide the troops.

Upon hearing it, the leaders in the barracks couldn't hide their admiration.

If things went as she said, there would be a huge division among the troops.

It wasn't a bad offer.

But,

[That is a fun trick to use. However, even the surviving factions who surrender would still keep coming back.]

It was declined.

Those who beg for mercy now will aim for revenge later.

Chun Yeowun had no intention of leaving people alive, knowing that he would be their target.

[Lo-Lord Chun!]

[Take her!]

Jegal Sohi, who came to beg with little hope, was dragged out of the barracks.

Then an unexpected person came forward and asked Chun Yeowun to reconsider her opinion.

He was Chun Inji.

Chun Inji, who asked for a private conversation, spoke with Chun Yeowun.

[This grandfather of yours wants you to reconsider the words of that child of Jegal.]

[... which is why I have given those Yulin bastards multiple chances already. Any further mercy to them is pointless.]

It wasn't worth reconsidering, even if it was his own grandfather.

It was Chun Yeowun who provided multiple chances to the Forces of Justice who kept trying to stab him, all for the sake of fighting the Blade God Six Martial Clan.

But now, with power on his side, he didn't have to spare the Forces of Justice.

The fact that those people were camped in Changbai Mountain to annihilate Chun Yeowun's men and push him into a death battle with the God of the East.

[I know what you mean, but some don't come by their own will, as she said. Besides...]

The fact that there were monks of the Shaolin Temple.

Chun Inji didn't want those monks to be hurt because they were of the same temple that his friend Gu-jung belonged to.

However, the decision rested in Chun Yeowun's hands.

Chun Inji, who thought that Yeowun wouldn't change his decision, changed his approach.

[This old man has something to tell you. Do you know the meaning of Wulin?]

[...]

Silent affirmation, Chun Inji continued.

[Let me tell you, killing enemies is not the only skill. If you try to rule everything with power and force, there will be repercussions.]

It wasn't wrong. There was a saying that a ruler should have virtue.

[It's impossible to kill all enemies. And subjugating them is the most common way of ruling.]

Chun Yeowun nodded his head at those words.

What his grandfather was telling, he already knew about it.

He, too, didn't intend to kill the enemies.

Even if he gave them multiple chances, they would keep coming back to take his life.

However, the fact that Chun Inji was talking,

'I think it's because of his relationship with Saint Gu-jung, that colleague of his.'

He would probably ask for the members of the Shaolin Temple to be let off.

However, if he killed all the others and saved the Shaolin monks, then the temple would face repercussions in the faction, so he decided to use Jegal Sohi's idea.

[Hu... understood. Since grandfather has said it, I will show them mercy.]

Chun Yeowun, who read Chun Inji's intentions, accepted it.

It was to save his grandfather's face.

[... thank you.]

[I'll just add one more thing to her plan.]

That was the pills.

Originally, Sohi's plan ended with returning those who surrendered.

But Chun Yeowun wasn't that kind.

He made sure that the survivors wouldn't try anything foolish just because he spared them.

A warning to the Forces of Justice.

Since more than 2000 people took the pill, the Yulin won't even dream about revenge.

And with that, the place got cleared up.

The dead corpses were all left there, and clearing up didn't take that long either.

"Now we head to Changbai mountain?"

At the question from Chun Inji, Chun Yeowun nodded.

Having resolved the feud with the Forces of Justice, it was time to head for Changbai Mountain.

They had to get the core of the spirit beast before the Blade God Six Martial Clan.

Easter of Shanxi.

Hwang-heol, who was wrapped in bandages, moved to the southwest.

Originally, they stayed near Changbai Mountain and tried to make the Yulin and the Demonic Cult collide, but they had no reason to even descend.

"Damn it, that Yulin!"

It was because he received a message that the other troops of the Yulin were heading for their base.

It wasn't like the base was empty. There were more than 4000 warriors, including the future candidate for Lord, in there.

If the Yulin was trying for a measly attack, he would have ignored it, but it was said that the Yulin was taking 20,000 warriors.

Literally, the Yulin was indeed lashing out an all-out war.

"Those bastards!"

It couldn't be overlooked anymore.

Getting the core was important, but not losing their base was even more important.

"By now, the elite ones must be near Shanxi."

He received a message from the Potala Palace saying that they crossed the Gan Mountain.

Thanks to the alliance with the Forces of Evil, they were moving fast.

"Hurry. Otherwise..."

Their main base would be destroyed by the Forces of Justice.

The two men on horses stopped near a ridge.

Duuuu!

In front of them, a group of up to a thousand people was moving on horses.

Although far away, it was the elite troops of the Blade God Six Martial Clan.

“Aha! We aren’t late!”

Their troops were moving faster than predicted.

The two hurriedly rode their horses.

The elites, who noticed them, stopped advancing.

He hurriedly tried to provide the full information about the Forces of Justice troops.

“Where is the Blade Lord?”

At that question, an old man with a white beard and a golden eyepatch on his left eye answered.

“We received an urgent message from the Blade Lord saying that he was heading for the base alone four days ago.”

“Al-alone?”

Come to think of it, there were no Blade Masters except for the Blade Lord.

Which meant that he was alone as he headed for the base.

“Why did you come here? If you received the message, you should know that the base is in danger. You should head to the base...”

“Huhuhu, we are on our way to Changbai Mountain on the orders of Blade Lord.”

“To Changbai mountain?”

Hwang-heol was shocked.

Although he knew that Blade Lord was competent, how could he send the clan's warriors away from the base when Yulin was coming for him.

He was strong, but how could he stop an entire army?

The man in the eye patch smiled.

"Don't worry too much. Blade Lord said that he will be joining us very soon, so we need to go ahead and do what we were ordered to do."

Around the same time.

Mount Huang.

There was a huge battle happening.

Around 20,000 warriors close to a country's military force were engaged in all-out war in the base of Blade God Six Martial clan.

The battle continued for half a day, and they only managed to survive all their time there.

As the number of warriors was large, there were hundreds of casualties from the Blade God Six Martial Clan as they were unaware of the Forces of Justice's modes of fighting.

"Keep pushing!"

"Don't spare your arrows! Shoot!"

People of each faction raised their voices, trying to increase the morale of their own men.

As Mak Wijong said, the elites of the Blade God Six Martial Clan were missing from the base.

But, despite that, the Yulin troops seemed to be suffering helplessly, despite a positive result.

If things kept progressing this way, they might be able to capture their base by night.

“Hmph!”

Kwakwakwa!

Yi Mok, who was in charge of the attack, attacked the archers shooting arrows from the mountain’s cliffs with Air Swords.

More than fifty people were killed by his hands.

“Terrifying. The whole mountain has been transformed into their fortress. Great Leader.”

Poong Chungwun of the Mount Hua Clan spoke.

At their attempt to enter the base, due to the traps installed in the mountains, more than 1,000 warriors had suffered.

“They won’t last long.”

The scholars of the Jegal Clan were dismantling any traps.

They did say that 2 hours were needed to check and dismantle the traps, but it didn’t take that long.

‘After capturing the base, we will plan for an ambush on their main forces.’

These were all tactics that Yoo Beom-ryeo had planned for dealing with the Blade God Six Martial Clan and even the Demonic Cult.

An all-out war.

If they couldn't succeed, then the Yulin would fall into their worst times.

"Let's win this war today and lay the groundwork for justice! Warriors of the Forces of Justice!"

"Wahhh!!!"

At the cry from Yi Mok, all the warriors shouted.

Everyone knew the importance of this war, so they fought hard to break down all the defenses.

Swoosh!

"Kuak!"

Another man was killed by a master of the Blade God Six Martial clan.

All the elite members were supposed to be away, but it seemed like there were some people close to the Super Master Level.

'There.'

At that moment, Yi Mok noticed the person who shot the arrow and was about to launch an Air Sword.

"You are the leader of the Forces of Justice."

Startle!

An unidentified man in a bamboo hat stood in front of Yi Mok.

‘When?’

He was too concentrated on the war.

He didn’t even notice until the man came extremely close to him.

And Yi Mok was supposed to be one of the five strongest warriors.

“Who?”

Visor!

Poong Chungwun of the Mount Hua Clan was startled at it.

He, too, didn’t realize when this man had appeared.

“It has been a while since someone aimed their sword at me.”

With those words, the man in a bamboo hat lightly swiped his hand.

Great energy released.

Kwaaak! Woahh!

“Kuak!”

“Kuk!”

Startling things unfolded.

As if an unseen road was laid down by the man, a straight line was drawn by the energy.

Crack!

Even the body of Poong Chungwun, who intersected the line, was cut in half.

He couldn't even get a scream out before his body was torn in two, falling on either side.

Thud

"Leader Poong!!!"

The enemy transcended a human's level.

If Yi Mok's eyes weren't wrong, this man just used invisible energy.

With trembling eyes, Yi Mok asked.

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

"You... who are you?"

"This is the one who stands at the apex of all martial artists in here, the Lord."

'!!!'

The unidentified man was the Blade Lord, the head of the Blade God Six Martial Clan.

Chapter 449 - The One Trapped in Changbai Mountain (2)

449: The One Trapped in Changbai Mountain (2)

With the North Sea Ice Palace warriors and the Six Swords and their men, around six hundred people were heading South.

Chun Yeowun, who was riding a horse in the forefront, had his usual calm expression.

However, Chun Inji had a rather dark expression.

It was because of what he heard from a member of the Shaolin Temple's disciple before they left for Changbai.

The only remnant of the Eun Jarim left in the Shaolin Temple was Monk Wu Chun.

Returning the favor for allowing the monks of the Shaolin to live and out of consideration for Chun Inji, he informed them about the man in the bamboo hat and the murderous intent they felt from the mountain.

[He didn't even use a technique, yet he defeated the leaders?]

It was hard to believe what they were hearing.

Even Chun Inji, a Supreme Master and one of the past five strongest warriors, would have to unfold two or three techniques.

However, he couldn't help but be shocked when he heard that Superior Masters were beaten with simple punches and kicks.

'If he is that strong, he can't be called one of the five strongest warriors anymore.'

It was no exaggeration to call him the best.

The ultimate goal of any martial artist is to exert great power with the least movement.

If the God of the East managed to achieve that, then he was above all martial artists.

Chun Inji looked at his grandson, Chun Yeowun, who was riding the horse beside him.

'... he is my grandson and has incredible skills. But what will happen?'

In this war, he managed to see Chun Yeowun's skills with his own eyes.

With more than two hundred ice swords that he wielded for himself, he seemed like a demon.

Still, he couldn't figure out why his heart felt concerned.

Maybe it was because the opponent seemed to have reached the apex.

[Amitabha. Be careful. Lord Chun. The reason why we aimed to send you to the God of the East wasn't because we took the Demon God lightly.]

Monk Wu Chun warned.

[... as a member of the Forces of Justice, it would be good for a monster like Lord Chun to fight the God of the East and get defeated, but as comrades, I hope that your grandson never fights him.]

He, too, had seen Chun Yeowun fight.

Nevertheless, he had warned them about the malice in the mountains.

‘Even after hearing all that, he isn’t bothered.’

Despite the warning, Chun Yeowun seemed calm.

Chun Inji didn’t know if it was because Chun Yeowun believed in himself or because of his overwhelming control.

Before heading back, Monk Wu Chun said one more thing.

[That isn’t all... but it looked like the God of the East was trying to protect us.]

[Protect?]

They were defeated, right? What was this new information?

[It might sound absurd, but rather than preventing us from entering the mountain, it felt like he was warning us about something inside. It was as if he was preventing us from entering a place filled with wild beasts.]

In fact, a lot of people from Yulin had felt something from the mountain.

Most of them remembered that murderous intent, and Monk Wu Chun was convinced that the God of the East was helping them.

‘In any case, according to Monk Wu Chun, the God of the East will try to prevent us from entering the mountain.’

About 5000 Yulin people were blocked by him.

Naturally, he wouldn’t have to put much effort to block the Demonic Cult, which had only one-tenth of that number.

Their only choice was to collide with him.

To obtain the core.

“Ah!”

“I see the mountains!”

As they moved, those in the lead shouted.

In the distance, huge mountain peaks could be seen.

The tallest of them all was Changbai Mountain, tall enough that it seemed like it touched the sky.

Finally, they were getting close to Changbai Mountain.

“... from here, I don’t know much.”

Moyong Yuu, the one who was guiding them, spoke with a worried face.

It was his first time ever getting that close to the mountain.

Changbai Mountain, whose peak was covered in fog, created a mystical atmosphere as was rumored.

‘Damn it! My grandfather told me to never get this close.’

He had no idea that he would come this close.

He just wanted to get out of there safely.

“Hmm.”

Chun Yeowun let out a small moan as he admired the vast mountain.

The mountain seemed like it was full of energy, mysterious enough to be called magical.

It seemed like the best place to train one's internal energy.

‘I don't feel any special energy yet.’

He opened his senses and tried to feel any energy, but he couldn't feel the energy of the one called the God of the East.

Only small energies of the wild beasts moving around.

Their original purpose was to obtain the core, but ever since he heard about the God of the East, he had other plans.

‘When I get close, I'll get to find out more.’

If the God of the East was indeed blocking the entry of Changbai Mountain, then he was bound to run into him.

When Chun Yeowun raised his hand, 6th elder Mon Mu gave an order.

“Go ahead!”

“Yes!!”

The cultists who stopped began to advance in a straight narrow line.

Unlike Chun Inji, who was worried, most cultists and the Six Swords moved without any concern.

They had been watching Chun Yeowun for a long time, so they were sure that no one could defeat their Lord, the second generation Chun Ma.

Hu Bong, who was riding a horse, asked Ko Wanghur, who was next to him.

“The Dragon Turtle had a dragon-like head and turtle shell, so will the Feng Bo be a tiger with white fur?”

“Maybe so.”

As the name suggests, it had to be a tiger.

And tigers were known to have orange fur with dark stripes.

“Hehe, since it has Feng in its name, it needs to be something related to wind. Maybe it has wings...”

Creepy!

‘!!!’

Hu Bong turned alert and turned his head before even speaking.

Ko Wanghur was also startled at the creepy energy he felt.

It wasn’t just the two of them.

Wheein!

The horses began to wail.

Making the leaders ahead stop abruptly, and the rows following them stop with a slight collision.

Thud!

At once, all the birds sitting on the trees close by flew away.

The entire area trembled, creating an eerie feeling of the forest being an untouchable place.

Not a single person couldn't feel the energy.

'What kind of murderous intent is this?'

Gooooo!

An intent that seemed like it wanted to encroach anyone who got close to it.

For those with low skill, this intent would suffocate and terrify them.

'Well, he is here.'

He truly deserved to be called the guardian of Changbai Mountain.

'Where is he?'

Chun Inji looked around with a stiff face.

It was impossible to pinpoint the person who was releasing this energy's location.

'Strange'

Chun Inji couldn't comprehend this strong hostility.

Especially trying to scare people off without even meeting them face-to-face.

This man was surely one of the five strongest warriors, but his hostility towards the unknown was too strong.

“Yeowun-ah.”

Chun Inji looked at his grandson.

But it was strange.

Chun Yeowun, who had been riding his horse until a moment ago, now was stiff-faced.

His eyes narrowed as if he was concentrating on something.

‘Is he nervous?’

He was correct.

Chun Yeowun felt a thrill that he never felt before.

Even when dealing with top masters, he never felt this emotion before.

However, the owner of the murderous intent was different.

It wasn’t a human’s energy, it was like energy from a wild beast, but he couldn’t make a perfect guess.

“Coming!”

“What?”

They all looked in shock.

From the place where Chun Yeowun's gaze was directed, the sound of someone flying came across.

Swoosh!

Something moved at a tremendous speed and looked like it was flying close,

'Like me'

Just like Chun Yeowun.

When Chun Yeowun raised his hand, the White Dragon Blade got pulled out from his waist.

Something got hit.

Visor! Clang!

The sound of weapons crashing, an intense energy storm occurred, and those around them backed up.

"Huh!"

"Wh-what power!"

Chun Inji, Marakim, and even Dan Jucheon, who were all Supreme Masters, endured it, but even then, they got pushed back by ten steps.

Tremble!

Chun Yeowun looked at the man who collided with his White Dragon Blade.

A man in his early thirties wearing a black dress with sharp eyes and a unique weapon.

‘Is that a sword?’

It was different from a regular sword used by people in Wulin.

It was as if it was too thin compared to a regular sword and seeing that blade.

‘The strength is unusual.’

It had been a long time since Chun Yeowun felt like that.

Chun Yeowun, who had reached the Divine Master level, could not find a suitable opponent for so long.

Shockingly, the unknown man possessed physical abilities, which Chun Yeowun slightly lacked.

“Huh?”

Chun Yeowun wasn’t the only one shocked.

The man in the black muttered something as if he was excited about it, but his language was different.

“You seem to be lucky. Right. You looked like a cheeky bastard but moved quickly.”

Chun Yeowun frowned.

He couldn’t understand what was being said.

It didn’t seem like the language of Jianghu.

‘Nano.’

Nano’s voice echoed at Chun Yeowun’s call.

[Although there are many dialects mixed in, it is Korean.]

[Korean?]

[It is the language of a country located on the eastern part of the central plains.]

This made Chun Yeowun quickly transfer that language called Korean into his head.

In an instant, with a tingling sensation in his head, the foreign language of Korean got sent to his mind.

The ability to get information right away is the best.

“I need to kill all of them before that bastard arrives...”

“Are you the God of the East?”

The man in black looked at the words which came out of Chun Yeowun’s mouth.

Visor!

The man in black pushed the sword and spread the distance.

And spoke to Chun Yeowun.

“Are you from Goryeo?”

‘Goryeo?’ (Ancient Korea)

It seemed like he was referring to the country in the east.

Chun Yeowun shook his head.

Then the man in black grumbled in disappointment.

“I knew it. There is no way a man from Goryeo would come north like this. Right.”

He kept talking to himself without answering Chun Yeowun’s question.

With those actions, it wasn’t sure if the man in black was malicious or not.

Chun Yeowun asked once more.

“Are you really the God of the East? If that is the case, we are not trying to fight you, but here in Changbai Moun...”

It was then.

Before Chun Yeowun could finish his words, the man aimed for his throat only to get blocked again.

Clang!

“It is the first time that the same man blocked me twice, except for that bastard. What about Changbai?”

Paaang!

‘!?’

The man in the black released a tremendous amount of energy from his sword, and Chun Yeowun’s White Dragon Blade bounced.

It seemed to be the energy called wind.

A very sharp sword-like wind.

‘Wind?’

Chun Yeowun's eyes fluttered.

At that, the man in black pointed to his sword and said in annoyed words.

"You men keep making the same fucking mistake. This is not Changbai Mountain. This is Mt. Baekdu. Call this Changbai mountain one more time... shit. This isn't Changbai mountain. Well, I will kill you all here anyway. I ended up correcting you for nothing. Tch."

Chun Yeowun's eye narrowed at the warning of the crazed man who spoke with a smile.

He wondered about the true identity of the man in black, who showed such confidence while clashing with him, and the malicious energy he was releasing.

This person seemed very different from what Monk Wu Chun had talked about.

It was then,

"First of all, you're a very annoying man. Shall we try to solve this first?"

‘!?’

Phat!

As soon as he said that, the man soared into the air.

The man in black, who jumped several feet high, flipped his body as if it was a natural thing to do.

Wheeing!

A tornado seemed to form from his body, which turned into a huge gust of wind.

What was even more shocking was that the gust of wind was carrying energy, and each touch of the wind made it feel like a sword was cutting into the flesh.

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

Chachachach!

“How is this possible?”

This single human looked like a natural disaster.

The faces of the Demonic Cult’s warriors darkened at the sight of the crisis they were about to face.

Chapter 450 - The One Trapped in Changbai Mountain (3)

Chapter 450: The One Trapped in Changbai Mountain (3)

Above the highest peak of Changbai Mountain.

There was a man who was practicing.

The place where the man in the bamboo hat was located was a place where one could see the entire western mountain range of Changbai Mountain.

Behind him was a large lake, clear and transparent, reflecting the blue sky.

He was feeling the calmness of the lake with his eyes closed.

Ripple!

A small wave appeared on the calm lake behind him.

The waves, which spread out like ripples, began to become stronger and stronger.

Wheeing!

Cold wind brushed the cheeks of the man as bushes swayed.

The man in the bamboo hat opened his eyes and looked in the direction the wind was coming from.

To the north.

An intense vibration flowed through the land, which seemed to move the mountain.

“Sigh...”

The man let out a deep sigh.

‘I warned them to not come that far.’

He was deliberately guarding the west, thinking that people would come again.

But on the contrary, they seemed to have come north.

‘I barely managed to prevent them from coming further. I don’t understand why this is happening again.’

Shaking his head, he got up from his seat.

Looking to the north, he narrowed his eyes.

An unusual thing was happening north of the mountain.

As the white clouds gathered in one place, the wind gradually grew stronger, taking on a dark grey color.

‘He must have been confident since he met them first.’

He knew that he’d find out, but he didn’t expect the intruders to get spotted so quickly.

Maybe the ten-year pact he created could be dangerous.

If he didn’t hurry and stop that ‘one’, the mountain’s entrance would be stained in blood once again.

Grrrr~

The thick clouds gradually turned into gusts of wind.

‘Strange. Even when he slaughtered the invaders earlier, he didn’t have to use the power of wind.’

If so, then.

Maybe a large amount of people like before must have come or,

‘Is there someone strong enough for him to use the power?’

He looked to the north, where the gusts of wind were about to hit.

Whatever was happening, he had to hurry and prevent the spill of blood.

Swoosh!

Before long, his form disappeared.

The ripples in the lake, which stopped, became larger.

At the same time, the black clouds in the north began to gather.

Wheeing!

The gusts of wind by the man in black merged with the mist which was coming down from the clouds, creating a powerful tornado, just like a disaster.

It seemed dangerous enough to cut down anything which got close to it.

Kwakwakwang!

The ground was already cracked, displaying its destructive power.

If they decided to stay there, horrible things could happen.

“Everyone move!”

“Avoid the wind!”

“Yes!!!”

At the cry from Ko Wanghur and Baekgi, the people at the frontline rode their horses away to avoid it.

However, those horses which were already close to the wind couldn't move.

Wheeing!

“Wh-why are the horses stuck! What's happening?”

“This?”

Drag!

The horses were getting dragged into the tornado, which kept becoming stronger.

They all tried their very best to survive by moving the horses, which seemed stuck, but to no avail.

Eventually, they had to abandon their horses.

“Jump off!”

The cultists who were close to the wind abandoned their horses and moved away.

The moment they left their horses, the wind engulfed their horses as if sucking them in.

Swoosh!

Push!

“Shit!”

“Th-the horses?”

The cult members who watched that couldn’t hide their shock and disbelief.

Before the wind sucked in the horses, a sharp whip-like wind slashed the animals, splattering blood everywhere.

It was as if the wind had life, like strong sword qi.

“Huh! It was supposed to be a simple blast!”

Hu Bong, who got hit by the horses’ splashed blood, looked bewildered.

It was ridiculous for a natural disaster to unfold, and even if it did, there was no way humans could prevent the damage caused by a disaster.

“Don’t let go!”

Woong!

Ko Wanghur raised his fist.

Blue-colored qi, which was raised to the maximum, began to glow.

“Ah!”

Maybe the other Six Swords knew his intentions. They too began to imbue their weapons with qi.

When the major leaders and members gathered qi, Ko Wanghur shouted.

“Shoot!”

Chowchowchow!

The strong winds, which were moving around, moved away.

When they faced the Dragon’s head, they had managed to work well together, so when they released their qi this time, it aimed right for the center of the tornado.

‘Only the person who created it can stop it!’

At the center was the man in black.

Hitting the man should be enough for this tornado to die down.

No matter how vicious the gusts of wind were, it was nothing but wind, which meant that sword qi could break through it.

But,

Rumble!

“Ah?”

“Qi in the wind?”

Something unexpected.

The qi, which they believed would pass through the wind, was swept away by the wind, and the tornado turned blue.

“You guys are really stupid. Yeah. Kikiki!”

The man amid the tornado reached out his hand.

The blue qi, which was swept away by the tornado, came back out at once and flew back to the Demonic Cult.

Swoosh!

“Kuak!”

“Avoid!”

The members of the cult who couldn’t avoid it got cut.

There was no way they could suddenly avoid the attack.

Chachacha!

On the other hand, the Six Swords couldn’t hide their fluster.

They hurriedly decided to block the attack as stopping it wouldn’t be possible.

Clang!

“Wh-what is this!”

The sword qi, which was swept away by the tornado, seemed to have become stronger.

Thanks to that, they were being pushed back.

“Kyak!”

Mun Ku had raised her energy to catch the sword qi with her palms when Chun Yeowun came in and caught it.

Clench!

“L-Lord!”

Calming down her blush, she looked at him when Chun Yeowun spoke in a serious voice.

“It isn’t serious. Keep your distance from the gusts, Mun Ku, and the others too.”

“Yes, understood!”

If the wind was strong enough to deflect the sword qi, then the ordinary members of the cult wouldn’t be able to handle it.

Only those above the Superior Master Level could survive, barely.

“Can humans create wind? Hu?”

They were all terrified by this natural disaster.

Chun Inji pulled out the sword which was on his waist.

Visor!

“If the rotation force is strong enough to return the sword qi!”

Chun Inji gathered and condensed a strong energy on his sword and moved right for the tornado.

Chun Inji, whose sword was in his right hand, swung it in the air.

The sword, which moved on its own, flew for the tornado as if it was alive.

“Air Sword!”

“Great Guardian! We can only stop this by stopping the party causing the gusts!”

“Understood!”

Marakim, who understood Chun Inji’s words, also raised his sword.

However, as he was at the beginning of the Supreme Master Level, he couldn’t generate enough energy to control the sword properly, so he had to concentrate way too hard on controlling it.

“I will help too!”

Visor! Swoosh!

Dan Jucheon, the new addition to the party, raised his sword too, generating a strong cold qi, and unfolded the Air Sword.

The three swords spread out at the same time, rushing for the tornado.

The sword qi was hard to control once it left the hand, but with the Air Sword, the control was different.

Whoo!

Chun Inji, who clenched his teeth, concentrated on breaking through the tornado.

The sword of Chun Inji, loaded with qi, went to break through the tornado.

‘It has to be pierced!’

Breaking through wouldn’t be easy.

The tornado looked like it turned into a wall, resisting the swords.

The swords looked like they would break any moment if they continued.

‘What kind of power can block an Air Sword?’

Chun Inji felt lost.

Despite pouring out all his energy into a single sword for the best results, he couldn’t even pierce the tornado.

Clang!

“Kuak!”

Marakim’s Air Sword finally broke.

As the sword was connected with the energy of the user, when the sword broke, the energy would flow back into the user at once, making Marakim cough up blood, leaking out through the gaps in the mask.

“Arrogant bastards. You think you can pierce through my wind?”

Crack!

As the wind became stronger, the swords used to cut it broke.

“Kuak!

Thud!

Chun Inji, who unfolded the sword, coughed up blood and staggered as he fell to one knee.

But that wasn't the problem.

Chachachacha!

The fragments of the broken blades flew towards the cultists.

Scared, Chun Inji tried to create an energy barrier to stop the sword fragments from hitting the cultists.

“Ugh! No!”

It was then.

Papapak!

Energy rose from behind the cultists in the frontline, and all the fragments got blocked.

Chun Yeowun was the one who stopped the attack.

If he was even a little late, all the cultists ahead of him would have been injured.

‘Air Swords are also being stopped?’

Chun Yeowun had thought of the same method, but he was troubled when he saw that it didn't work.

That was when something caught his eye.

Papak!

“Huh?”

He thought that all three swords had been blocked by the tornado.

However, one sword managed to pierce through the tornado.

It was the Air Sword of Dan Jucheon.

“It worked... ah!”

Dan Jucheon, who was elated for a second while looking at the Air Sword which pierced, soon turned dark.

The sword, which went inside, lost its energy and bounced back.

“Shit!”

Clang!

Dan Jucheon blocked the sword, which returned.

Chun Yeowun appeared next to him.

“How did you do it?”

“What do you mean?”

“Did you put sword qi into the sword?”

Dan Jucheon was puzzled at Chun Yeowun’s question.

“I put sword qi and cold qi in it.”

“Cold qi?”

Chun Yeowun’s eyes widened.

The sword with cold qi was the one that managed to pierce the tornado.

Chun Yeowun, who was worried about using a flame qi sword and creating a fire tornado, realized something.

‘The tornado seems to have wind properties. Even if I break through the gusts of wind, my energy will certainly be reduced.’

This enemy was really a tough one.

He knew that if he didn’t hurry, the members of the cult would get swept away by the wind.

The force of attraction being created by the tornado grew stronger and more dangerous.

‘Nano, how the hell did this storm come?’

It was incomprehensible for a human to create a natural disaster.

Nano’s answer echoed in his mind.

[It isn’t possible to explain how the wind is created, but, it looks like a typical tornado, it is a phenomenon caused by the combination of hot updrafts from the surface and cold high-speed downdrafts from the clouds. Additionally...]

Beep! Beep! Beep! Beep!

Augmented reality opened up, and white particles began to appear around the tornado to analyze it.

The upward rotation was marked with red, and the descending rotation was marked with blue particles.

And the white particles showed the entire tornado,

[The gusts of wind are surrounded by an energy called Sword Qi. Approaching it is very dangerous.]

Chun Yeowun frowned at Nano's explanation.

Although he didn't fully understand it, it was similar to a tornado, but it seemed more complex.

'A hot updraft means heat?'

[You can think of it as a high-temperature energy phenomenon.]

'Is there any way to get rid of it?'

[If either the hot or cold updraft can be controlled, it can be stopped.]

'Ah!'

At those words, Chun Yeowun realized something.

Maybe it could work, and it was definitely worth a try.

Meanwhile, the wind was moving towards the retreating members.

"Keep watching. I will kill you all."

The man in black sneered as he looked at Chun Yeowun.

It was then,

Tat!

“Huh?”

Chun Yeowun blocked the gust of wind that was moving towards the members.

The huge gust of wind with terrifying speed could sweep them away at any moment, but Chun Yeowun decided not to move.

“You stupid man. My wind cannot be stopped head-on. If you’re hoping to get crushed by it, I will give you what you desire! Kekek!”

He was convinced that Chun Yeowun had a death wish.

At that time, Chun Yeowun raised both hands.

“What are you doing... huh?”

The man in black looked.

Jrrk!

Cold qi erupted from all sides.

At the same time, innumerable ice swords began to form in the air where the strong winds blew.

The number was so great that even the tornado couldn’t be seen.

“How is such cold energy being handled by a human’s body?”

The man in black was stunned.

If the cold qi that this man was using was indeed this intense, then there was no way his opponent was human.

“This feels strange... you bastard. You’ve found the core of a spirit beast!”

He was sure that Chun Yeowun had obtained the core of a spirit beast.

The man in black didn’t know how, but he was enraged at it.

“Arrogant bastard! I’ll kill you!”

Gooo!

Wheeing!

As the man in black began to increase the energy and speed of the wind, sharp energy rose around him.

Chachacha!

The ice swords which came were either broken or stuck.

“I don’t know what you are planning to do, but this is useless.”

He broke the ice swords before Chun Yeowun could come up with any new tricks.

It was then,

Swoosh!

The ice swords, which were unbroken, began to rotate in the opposite direction of the wind.

The ice swords, which were close to a thousand, rotated, and at first, they staggered with the wind, then picked up speed.

“No. What are you doing?”

The eyes of the man in black widened.

He never imagined that a human could control so many ice swords at once.

It was something that even he couldn't do.

But the surprise didn't stop there.

“Let's bring you out of the wind.”

Swoosh!

Wheeing!

When Chun Yeowun began to release his energy and increased the speed of the ice swords. Shockingly, the man in the tornado became bewildered.

“You bastard! What are you doing? How can you have such power...”

It was getting difficult for him to control the wind.

The swords were blocking the rotational force.

As the cold qi seeped in, the heat in the tornado weakened, and the range of the gusts gradually decreased.

“Phew...”

Cold sweat ran down Chun Yeowun's face.

He was also strained while facing the man in black. He ended up consuming a lot of energy.

Creating ice swords despite them breaking was a terrifyingly straining task.

However, the effect was evident.

“It-it can’t be!”

“The winds are stopping!”

The cultists who were retreating couldn’t hide their surprise at the sight.

The gusts, which were weakened by the ice swords, slowly disappeared as if it never existed.

Swoosh!

And the figure of the man in black appeared.

It was outrageous that his winds had disappeared, and his eyes were red with anger.

“Yo-you cheeky bastard!”

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

It was then.

“Now it’s my turn.”

‘!?’

Chun Yeowun flew into the air and appeared in front of him, with his White Dragon Blade in his left hand and the Sky

Demon Sword in the other. He unfolded techniques at the same time towards the man in black.

Chapter 451 - The One Trapped in Changbai Mountain (4)

451: The One Trapped in Changbai Mountain (4)

Chachachacha!

The White Dragon Blade in Chun Yeowun's left hand and the Sky Demon Sword in his right hand harmonized perfectly as they went for the man in black.

The momentum of the two swords looked like it could turn him into minced meat in an instant.

The eyes of the man in black, who witnessed this for the first time, radiated red.

'The eyes?'

It looked similar to the Blood Reversion Art, but it looked different.

It seemed more like something that a ferocious animal would do.

"You cheeky bastard, just because you got rid of the wind, you seem to be gleaming!"

At that moment, the sword in the man's hand changed.

It was a technique that was completely different from the previous mid-range style, but it wasn't harmonious. However, it was like a one-hit death sword.

‘What is this technique?’

The power of the sword that Chun Yeowun saw for the first time was comparable to that of the Extreme Art of the Blade God.

Chachachang!

The two sword techniques collided violently, causing sparks.

The elders of the Demonic Cult who were witnessing couldn’t hide their surprise.

“He is blocking both the swords of the Lord?”

Even Marakim, who had been by Chun Yeowun’s side for a long time, was shocked.

That technique, where the Extreme Art of the Blade God and the Sword Force of the Sky Demon was used in tandem, wasn’t defended by anyone until now.

However, the man in black was able to block it, despite seeing the technique for the first time.

‘He isn’t from Jianghu. Just who is this man?’

Chun Inji frowned as he watched the confrontation.

The man in black was showing a technique that could gain him the title of Supreme Master.

But something felt off.

‘I heard that the God of the East only uses his body for battle.’

Among the five strongest warriors, the only one who didn't use weapons was the God of the East.

However, the man in black was using a longsword, which wasn't something warriors of Jianghu used.

'Is it possible that he isn't the God of the East, but something else?'

If that was the case, then it was a shock.

Didn't that mean that there was another person with hidden talents who surpassed the five strongest warriors in Changbai Mountain?

Chachachang!

On the other hand, the man in black who collided with Chun Yeowun was shocked.

Contrary to the harsh words he uttered out of anger, he kept trying to find the opponent's weakness.

'He is using different techniques in both hands?'

The opponent, who Chun Yeowun had been battling, had never seen another man use different techniques in both hands.

No, no one had ever managed to, but this man was unfolding perfect techniques with both hands.

Shhh!

He whipped his head to the side, avoiding getting hit by the technique which was aiming for it.

If it weren't for his reflexes which surpassed a human's, he would have already been killed four times.

'This jerk! It's so annoying! But it seems familiar....'

He has definitely seen it somewhere.

However, he didn't have the time to think about the technique as he was about to get cut by the swords.

'First, I need to take down this intruder.'

The speed of the man in black was much faster.

It seems that he and the air were flowing together.

'He became faster?'

Chun Yeowun's eyes trembled.

Obviously, Chun Yeowun had an advantage when using two different techniques with both hands.

However, the man in black was able to escape every crisis by moving his body as if he had great vision.

Chachachang!

'Bottom left.'

Chun Yeowun's right sword aimed for his head, and his left sword twisted in a strange way aiming for the man's back.

It was something that could be performed since Chun Yeowun had muscles that go beyond the limits of human beings.

Most of the warriors wouldn't be able to do that with two swords in their hands.

But,

Swish!

'Again?'

The man in black whipped his head to the side and avoided the right sword.

And in that state, he suddenly twisted his arm behind his back and used the sword in his right hand to block the incoming sword.

'He twisted his arm behind his back?'

Chun Yeowun was flustered.

Thanks to the Extreme Art of the Blade God, he overcame the limits of his muscles.

But this man didn't seem to have any restrictions on his muscles.

'He doesn't have eyes on the back of his head, but he blocked the attack without even looking back? This beastly feeling.'

It was something that humans could never do.

As Chun Yeowun's doubts about the person grew, his eyes became sharper.

Dudu!

The arm of the man, which was twisted backwards, moved forward with force to hit Chun Yeowun.

‘A counterattack in that state?’

A groan escaped from his mouth.

For the first time ever, a person had blocked both his techniques in a one-on-one confrontation.

Besides, he was even counterattacking.

‘But!’

Ordinary warriors wouldn’t be able to change their direction in mid-air, but not Chun Yeowun.

He sprinted and avoided it.

Choo!

The sword of the man in black slashed empty air.

Not missing this, Chun Yeowun tried to cut him down with his left hand.

Swosh!

‘Rotating in that position?’

The man in black swung his sword as if he was a top rotating.

Thanks to that, Chun Yeowun had to avoid going ahead with the attack and twisted his body.

Chachachacha!

The man in black was spinning like a top in mid-air.

He turned and looked at Chun Yeowun, who was floating in mid-air as if the wind supported him.

“You jerk! You are really getting on my nerves!”

Chun Yeowun was floating in the air, just like him.

He was able to stand in the air while using his energy.

Woong!

“Who, who the hell is that person able to fight against our Lord?”

“But, isn’t the God of the East supposed to fight with his bare hands?”

All the members of the cult who were watching the fight from below were shocked.

They had never seen Chun Yeowun fight this long against a single person.

But apart from being shocked, they were in wonder.

It was because they knew that it wasn’t the God of the East.

‘The left and right swords aren’t enough. This person can only be dealt by using that sword technique.’

Cha!

Chun Yeowun put the White Dragon Blade he was holding in his left hand into the sheath he had on his back.

At that, the man in black became puzzled as he asked.

“What are you doing? Is attacking with both swords getting tough for you?”

“No. I’m going to deal with you properly.”

“What?”

Shhhhh!

As soon as he said that, black smoke began to rise from Chun Yeowun’s body.

It was the Sky Demon Force.

The vicious energy which exuded from his body wrapped around the Sky Demon Sword.

Creepy!

Even the members of the cult became nervous at that sight.

On the other hand, the man looked at the black energy rising from Chun Yeowun’s body.

“You aren’t the only one who can do such things. Besides, I can ascen...”

Shhk!

Before he could finish his words, Chun Yeowun’s figure moved and narrowed the distance at once.

‘He got faster?’

Chun Yeowun’s speed couldn’t be compared to before.

The man in black tried to stop Chun Yeowun in a hurry, but,

Visor!

Rather, the hand holding the long sword bounced.

“Huh?”

That was when Chun Yeowun did something strange.

Chun Inji mumbled as he watched that.

“Sword Art of the Demon God!”

It was similar to the Sky Demon Sword, but the grip method was different.

Hmph!

The man in black flinched for a second.

It was his first time ever seeing a sword technique that exudes so much energy and fear towards the opponent.

He was shocked, and he tried to hit Chun Yeowun with his sword, which was bounced back, but,

Swoahhhh!

The sword full of the Sky Demon Force swooped in on him like a roaring dragon.

As the man in black tried to move away, the Sky Demon Force had already touched his body, creating bloodstains.

Chachacha!

“Kuaakk!”

A scream erupted from the mouth of the man in black.

Chun Yeowun looked at the man whose body just got cut.

‘Done.’

Only one attack was blocked. 23 more managed to cut him and with every cut energy entered into his bloodstream.

The Sword Art of the Demon God was flawless as it was made of the Extreme Art of the Blade God and the Sword Force of the Sky Demon.

And it wasn’t something that could be avoided just because one had a flexible body.

What’s more, if used head-on, the opponent should be dead...

Swoosh!

Chun Yeowun turned his head in surprise at the vicious intent he felt from behind.

The man should be dead, but what was he feeling? What was this energy?

“No way!”

Chun Yeowun’s eyes widened.

Unbelievable.

The blood on the man in black and the scars he got were all being cleared at a tremendous speed.

Fix!

“A monster?”

“Regeneration?”

Even the warriors of the cult couldn't hide their shock.

The blow should've been huge, but the murderous intent he was releasing was a lot stronger than before.

“Grrrr. You bastard. You want me to fight with you properly, I guess. Fine.”

With those words, the man in black's shirt began to bulge and then tear.

Tear!

It was like watching the Blood Reversion Art, but different.

As the muscles swelled, the skeleton twisted too, as if it was changing into something else.

Besides, something was coming out of the body, like black hair.

‘He has to be stopped. Before he completely transforms.’

It was an unknown phenomenon, but Chun Yeowun decided that as it was unusual, he had to deal with the man or animal before the change was completed.

Phat!

Chun Yeowun narrowed the distance at once.

If his most powerful technique, the Sword Art of the Demon God couldn't kill him, then he had no choice but to behead it.

Swoosh!

With a sword qi made of Sky Demon Force, he aimed for the man's head.

It was then.

Chun Yeowun went shocked at the strong energy that his five senses felt and forcibly stopped his sword and went back.

Step!

'Kuk!'

His right arm throbbed as the technique was uncompleted and pulled back.

As he moved away from the man who was mutating, something fell from the air.

Bang!

In an instant, the ground where this thing landed hollowed out with cracks.

Chun Yeowun's two feet, which were also on the ground far away, went down.

Kwakwang!

'What energy!'

Despite the distance, the power of the energy could be felt.

If the warriors were close to it, they would've gotten crushed by that immense pressure.

"Kuaaak!"

The man in black who was mutating screamed.

But this one, who fell from the air, had pushed the man in black and his face into the ground.

The mutating stopped, probably because of the shock.

‘Bamboo hat?’

The unidentified man was in a bamboo hat.

A distinctive look could be made out from the man in the bamboo hat.

It was probably because he saw Chun Yeowun standing straight despite him releasing so much energy.

‘He survived this?’

Chun Yeowun also felt the same.

‘He is strong.’

Although he had no weapon in his hands, the man in the bamboo hat emanated the energy that only martial artists had.

The kind of pure energy which didn’t need weapons to make it to the opponent.

Chun Yeowun, who paused for a moment, opened his mouth.

“Are you the God of the East...”

It was before he even finished speaking.

Swosh!

The man in the bamboo hat stretched out his fist in the direction of Chun Yeowun.

It was then, tremendous energy stretched from the man and hit Chun Yeowun as if an explosion had happened.

‘This!’

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

Kwakwakwang!

It was as if a storm was sent in the direction of Chun Yeowun.

The warriors of the Demonic Cult, who couldn’t see much because of the rising dust, yelled out in shock.

“Lordddddd!!!”

Chapter 452 - Demon God vs. God of the East (1)

Chapter 452: Demon God vs. God of the East (1)

The man in the bamboo hat was amazed at the powerful energy he felt from the north.

There was no human who could deal with that thing.

Even if it was one of the best in Wulin, they would still fail.

‘How are they still fighting?’

He thought that the one facing that thing would be dead.

Its power grows stronger as time goes by, but it hasn’t yet reached the apex of its power.

He knew it better than anyone as he competed with it once every ten years.

‘... is there a person who can deal with it?’

Such a person would be close to the ‘apex’ like himself.

Anxiety crept over the man.

He was worried that ‘that person’ might reappear with time.

Phat!

Finally, he reached the area where the battle was taking place.

If it was 'that' then it was definite that the people would be killed on the spot.

Woong!

The man in the bamboo hat moved high in the air.

He stopped in the air and focused his eyes on the place where two people were fighting.

'Huh?'

However, it wasn't 'that person' who was competing.

'If it isn't him, how is he being cornered? Ah!'

In the eyes of the man in the bamboo hat, he saw black energy rise from the sword of the man competing with that thing.

The vicious energy wasn't internal energy.

'He absorbed a spirit beast.'

Now he understood.

Otherwise, he wouldn't have been able to compete with it.

The purpose of the one with the black energy's visit was clear.

'He's aiming for the spirit beast.'

He couldn't let him enter.

Other than the man with long hair, the other people didn't seem that tough to handle.

That was what he thought,

“Lorddd!!!”

He used Void Punch twice, but the energy didn’t go down.

If the man was indeed hit, then his energy should have at least fluttered, but instead, it rose.

‘What?’

Black energy rose in the dust.

The man in the bamboo hat waved his hand, trying to clear the dust and see his opponent.

One hand was outstretched, and a large invisible sword blocked the attack like a shield.

‘He blocked it both times?’

The man was in shock.

After twenty years, he found a man who stopped his attack twice.

And with an invisible sword too.

“... I see, a Divine Master.”

Since he blocked the punch, the man was indeed experienced.

“Phew.”

Chun Yeowun’s eyes narrowed.

Even when he was dealing with the one in black, all he had to do was use his energy, but this time he had to create an invisible sword to defend himself.

“You’re the same as me.”

The man in front of him was a Divine Master too.

He also reached the end of the Divine Master Level.

It was his first time experiencing a warrior who could do such things.

“N-No mistake. He, he is...”

After confirming that his grandson was safe, Chun Inji, who felt relieved, looked at the man in the bamboo hat with a firm expression and said.

“God of the East, Ark Wui!”

He was a man who reigned as one of the five strongest warriors with just his fists.

There were rumors going around for a long time that he was the best in the world, but he never thought that the man would be so strong.

A thrilling master who made everyone feel inferior.

“Does such a person exist?”

Marakim and Dan Jucheon, who were nearby, had the same reaction.

The two looked at the man in the bamboo hat with trembling eyes.

In the mountain, the only person who could deal with their Lord head-on was that person.

‘Two gods have gathered at one place.’

The meeting of two of the five strongest warriors who had the word god in their titles.

The bamboo hat man, who judged that Chun Yeowun wasn’t an easy opponent, increased his energy.

Goo!

“Kuak!”

“Wh-what energy?”

At his energy, the lower leveled warriors of the cult staggered as the air became heavy for them.

They felt as if their bodies were trapped.

Even Ko Wanghur and the other Superior Masters felt the same way.

“Th-that monster.”

He was someone who could crush the crowd with just his energy.

It was no exaggeration to say that he blocked the 5000 troops of the Yulin all alone.

If he had such strength, not just blocking, he could annihilate them too.

Everyone looked at those two with tensed faces.

Chun Yeowun opened his mouth.

“The fact that you threw a fist at me twice means that you have no intention of conversing, right?”

If there was no hostility, he would have tried to talk first.

However, he attacked twice without even knowing if the man was an opponent or not.

But, contrary to their expectations, the man opened his mouth to answer.

Drrr!

The man underneath his hand trembled.

Even before being attacked by him, the man in black was undergoing mutation, and now he returned to his original state.

As the man in the bamboo hat took three steps back, the man in black stood up.

“Ugh! Bastard! How dare you crush me!”

He grumbled with a voice full of displeasure as he looked at the man in the bamboo hat, making the latter point his finger at the mountain.

“You’re the one who tried to break the oath first. Go back now!”

At that, he shouted.

“I’ll do what I... cough!”

A handful of blood gushed out of the man in black’s mouth.

He thought that it was an internal injury caused by the man in the bamboo hat crushing him, but it wasn't that.

The man made a face as if he couldn't understand something. He thought that his body was restored to its original state.

'Aren't the wounds healed?'

The 23 slashes he sustained had completely regenerated.

However, the parts where he was hit were still throbbing.

Looking at Chun Yeowun, he grunted.

Step!

"I knew it, you bastard! You absorbed the core of a fallen spirit beast!"

'Fallen spirit beast?'

Chun Yeowun frowned at the unfamiliar words.

All he did was use the Sky Demon Force of all four qi's he had.

"What do you mean by fallen?"

"How dare you ask me that!"

At Chun Yeowun's question, the man took a step towards him with a malicious grin, but the man in the bamboo hat stopped him by grabbing his shoulder.

"Stop."

“... if you don’t take your hand off my shoulder, I’ll cut off your fingers and throw them away.”

It was strange.

The man had the ability to do what he said.

However, despite the threat, the man didn’t let go.

“If you don’t drive out that energy, you won’t be able to fulfill the oath. Does that not matter to you?”

Startle!

The man’s eyebrows rose at the word oath.

It was as if the word oath was a kind of restriction.

Pak!

The man shook off the hand on his shoulder roughly and mumbled while calming his anger.

“Damn you bastard. Instead, I will definitely kill you.”

After those words, he glanced at Chun Yeowun and moved to Changbai Mountain in anger.

But there was no way Chun Yeowun would leave him alone.

Chun Yeowun’s question wasn’t answered, and his identity was unknown.

When Chun Yeowun tried to move, the man in the bamboo hat stopped him.

Bang!

At that, Chun Yeowun took a step ahead.

At that moment, as if ripples could exist on the ground, yin soared around, creating frost on the ground.

Jrrk!

A huge rock rose from the ground and blocked the man who was heading towards the mountain.

The eyes of the man who barely managed to hold back his anger turned red.

“You arrogant jerk! Did you block me with ice?”

Ice could be broken right away.

He pulled out his sword and attacked it at once.

Clang!

“What is this?”

The ice which should have broken didn't break. Rather the long sword bounced off of it.

The man couldn't even understand what was happening.

Bang!

He hit the ice with his fists.

‘What's wrong with the ice?’

The ice swords which were created before weren't that strong.

However, this ice rock was very hard, as if it was stone.

Not natural.

Unlike the ice swords, this ice rock was made up of the essence of the Ice Cold of Heaven technique, and it had the strength to capture even a spirit beast in it.

‘That bastard! He absorbed a core, but is he really a human? If I don’t transform my body, I won’t be able to wake up.’

Trickle!

In addition, the last attack of Chun Yeowun was interfering with his movements.

He could have moved away from the ice, but he wanted to destroy it and then move. It was then, he felt energy from behind.

‘Huh?’

When he turned around, Chun Yeowun had his sword stretched out.

“I never said I’ll let you go.”

Swosh!

The large invisible sword that stood like a shield in front of Chun Yeowun a moment back now aimed at him. But,

Woong!

The man in the bamboo hat blocked the sword as he moved his hand and rotated it before sending it down.

‘He stopped the invisible sword?’

And that wasn’t the end.

Kwang!

When the man pushed the sword to the ground, the ground trembled.

In a short time, he realized that only if the yin was constantly being released would the rigidity of the stone be maintained.

“Hurry.”

“Tch!”

The man in black frowned at the words of the man in the bamboo hat and stepped on the ice, and jumped away.

Phat!

“Who said you could?”

When Chun Yeowun raised his hand, numerous ice swords appeared in the air.

And as he tried to release them, the man in the bamboo hat moved, extending his fist towards Chun Yeowun.

Pang!

The sound of air being ripped could be clearly heard.

‘This?’

It looked like a light punch, but it wasn’t.

The fist stretched out a lot, and its effect and power didn’t reduce.

It was as if a raging volcano exploded.

‘As we reach the end of the Divine Master Level, we focus on the capabilities of the effectiveness of one thing rather than useless techniques. You can’t stop me with those clumsy moves.’

Once he was done, no one would be able to stand in front of him properly.

Unlike the previous punch, this one was difficult to respond to.

If the young man was really a Divine Master, then the difference between him and the young man should be felt.

‘Smiling?’

Chun Yeowun, who should have been shocked, was smiling.

And something unique happened.

A ferocious black invisible sword was born in Chun Yeowun’s hand, and all 24 forms of the Sword Art of the Demon God aimed at one point.

‘!?’

The man in the bamboo hat realized it.

The unification that took him several decades was already being unfolded by the young man in front of him.

In an instant, the sword in his hand, which unfolded all aimed for one point.

Kwang!

As if a bomb had exploded, the strength of the two rattled the place around them.

The aftermath of it was the members of the Demonic Cult being pushed away.

Swoosh!

“Wh-what kind of aftermath?”

“Euk!”

Some bounced off.

The capabilities of the combatants were overwhelming the other warriors.

When the dust fell, a large pit with a five foot radius formed where the two attacks collided.

“L-Lord?”

The cultists checked to see if their Lord was okay.

As the dust moved, the figure standing in the center was Chun Yeowun.

A haze-like smoke rose from Chun Yeowun’s upper body as if it was driving away the opponent’s energy.

He moved three steps back, and there seemed to be several clashes.

“Did our Lord hit him? Ah!”

They found the man ten steps away.

His face was revealed under the torn bamboo hat. He was a middle-aged man with pure white hair and a strong face.

A haze rose from the middle-aged man’s chest too.

Looking at the blood running down his lip, he must have suffered internal injuries.

Shh!

The man wiped off the blood with his sleeve.

He was unable to move for an instant.

‘I tried to suppress it immediately because the technique seemed poor, but I got pushed back by the counterattack.’

This was what happened in the short time of the exchange.

As Chun Yeowun’s sword came for him, he tried to kick Chun Yeowun’s right shoulder.

Chun Yeowun, who avoided it, hit the man in his upper body.

Pupuk!

‘No?’

He thought that Chun Yeowun would be thrown away when his punch reached him, but his fist began to turn cold.

In his moment of hesitation, Chun Yeowun’s sword pierced his chest.

As a result, he got pushed back ten steps.

‘His energy is impossible to understand. He’s hard to push.’

He figured it out in the short exchange of blows.

Srrrr!

Chun Yeowun, who had driven out the energy of the middle-aged man which was digging into his body, looked at him.

‘He is able to unify all his energy and concentrate on executing it perfectly?’

It was admirable.

Chun Yeowun understood that.

The Sword Art of the Demon God was based on the Sword Force of the Sky Demon.

It was given the right to move freely.

‘Every single blow aims for death.’

This man in front of Chun Yeowun was the toughest opponent he ever met.

It was no exaggeration to call him the strongest.

To become that strong without a core, he is a great person, even if he is an enemy for now.

Chun Yeowun’s energy, which was increased as he obtained four cores, exceeded the man’s.

However, the middle-aged man in front of him, who hadn’t taken a single core and reached this level, was commendable.

‘How long did he practice to achieve that level?’

Maybe he was a person with talent.

To some extent, they managed to understand each other.

The man relaxed and walked.

“It has been a long time. Since I fought properly.”

He clenched his fists and spoke, taking out his energy properly.

“It would be unfair for me to not use my full strength against a warrior like you. It’s the first time in several decades that I’ve had to use the Void Punch.”

Chun Yeowun too acknowledged his opponent.

And the man accepted him, not as an uninvited guest to the mountain, but as a true opponent.

Gooo!

Energy rose in both fists of the man, who warned.

“From now on, lose a little concentration, and you’ll die.”

It has been a long time since he fought properly, so he wanted to use all his skills.

That was what his warning meant.

At that, Chun Yeowun responded.

“Those words. Right back at you.”

As soon as that was done, the space around Chun Yeowun shook, and his energy began to condense.

Three invisible swords were created in an instant.

All three had different attributes.

Crackle! Jjjjk! Flare!

They were the black thunder qi sword, the black ice qi sword, and the black flame qi sword.

Completely different from ordinary sword qi.

As Chun Yeowun slightly moved his hand, the three swords aimed for the opponent.

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

“A little carelessness, and you’ll die. God of the East.”

The warning held no ounce of a lie.

‘... hiding the power, we both were doing the same.’

Tension stood in the eyes of God of the East, who saw three attributed swords raging with energy.

Chapter 453 - Demon God vs. God of the East (2)

453: Demon God vs. God of the East (2)

‘Huh... does that mean that what he showed this old man wasn’t his full power?’

Seeing the three invisible swords floating around Chun Yeowun, the former Lord Chun Inji couldn’t help but marvel.

The invisible swords themselves were surprising, but to create invisible swords, all with different attributes, was something else.

The attributes were thunder qi, flame qi, and ice qi.

‘I knew that he absorbed the cores, but is it possible for one body to handle so many different attributes at the same time?’

Under normal circumstances, it was absolutely impossible.

However, it was the Sky Demon energy that made it possible.

The energy taken in from the Imoogi was the Sky Demon energy, and it was pivotal. That energy was what made the three different attributes harmonize.

‘... this confrontation will truly decide who is the best.’

Among the other five strongest warriors, no one could defeat the Demon God.

And if the God of the East was taken down, then Chun Yeowun would truly be the strongest in the world.

But that wouldn't be an easy task.

Even before the former Lord, Chun Inji became one of the five strongest warriors, the God of the East had maintained his position.

And no one faced him.

'Be careful. Yeowun-ah.'

As cheering was all he could do, he tried his best in that.

The two were facing each other with their full power, not a single person moved.

There was a saying that true masters fight invisible battles through their vision.

Chun Yeowun and the God of the East's eyes constantly moved as if they were busy looking at each other's truth.

'After taking the attack, his openings are completely gone.'

The God of the East's form had become perfect.

It was difficult to find one spot which could be attacked.

But even the God of the East was the same.

'Those swords are dangerous.'

It was his first time seeing invisible swords with attributes. In addition, each attribute seemed to be mixed with that vicious black energy.

Maybe what he did before couldn't stop them.

'This is something I haven't felt in a long time.'

The greatest advantage of the Martial Void Fist was its perfect defense.

And if that defense didn't work, the battle would be difficult.

In the confrontation of vision, it was the God of the East who moved first.

Phat!

'If I handle the three swords properly, it will be like handling three different masters. If that's the case, the answer is to stay close and not give him any gaps.'

The God of the East, who concluded his thoughts, quickly moved three steps closer to Chun Yeowun.

The space twisted as he raised his fist.

Pang!

At the same time, as if he controlled the wind, pressure rose, and it struck Chun Yeowun.

'This is wind. However....'

Chun Yeowun moved his right hand lightly.

The invisible sword with black ice qi rotated and protected Chun Yeowun from the oncoming tornado.

That wasn't the end.

As Chun Yeowun stretched his left hand forward, the black thunder qi sword penetrated the center of the tornado and moved towards the God of the East.

Crackle!

"That looks like thunder qi."

The wind was used as a diversion.

If Chun Yeowun had only focused on blocking the tornado with his ice sword, the God of the East would have hit him directly.

'He noticed?'

As his idea failed, the God of the East moved his left hand in a circle.

With the space twisting, the thunder qi sword which rushed for him collided with it.

Pang!

A cracking sound echoed.

With that, the black thunder qi sword couldn't move any further and stopped.

'It was blocked.'

Unlike any normal invisible sword, it wasn't canceled out, but rather it only stopped moving forward.

If that was the case, then defending was easy.

When the most fearful thing didn't happen, the God of the East felt relieved and tried to deliver another punch to Chun Yeowun.

It was then,

Crackle!

The black thunder qi sword, which he had managed to halt, pierced it and attacked him.

Flustered, the God of the East stepped ahead.

Grrr!

Fragments of the ground broke and rose up, blocking the approaching thunder qi sword.

However, he had no choice but to retreat a couple steps back as the rocks destroyed by the sword were sent flying towards him.

'Is it impossible to stop them?'

The energy from the invisible sword was released, but not the lightning.

He was trying to single out one sword by focusing on it with his capabilities, but if the sword could react as such, then it would be hard to block.

Startle!

"This!"

The invisible black flame sword which flew above him came barrelling towards him.

This sword looked more ferocious.

Blaze!

The black flame qi sword moved in a splendid trajectory, and the sword came. It was coming in while unfolding the Sword Art of the Demon God.

‘Can invisible swords be used like this?’

He frowned as he looked at the sword acting on its own.

The trajectory of the black flame qi invisible sword coming in wasn’t something that could be prevented by distorting the space.

‘This is nothing. Martial Void Punch. Void!’

Tatatata!

As God of the East widened the distance, he moved his arms around.

An invisible circle was born in the space where his hands touched, reproducing his previous technique

Blaze! Papapang!

The black flame qi sword collided with the distorted space, causing lots of destruction.

It was just two techniques colliding, yet the entire place was being ravaged.

Tatatak!

“Wow!”

The God of the East got pushed back around six steps.

By unfolding the Void Fist, he had to concentrate all his abilities into one point, and he managed to stop the sword from moving, but his defense ended up losing.

Chun Yeowun too was a victim.

Sting! Sting!

Chun Yeowun frowned at the intense pain that ran through his hands.

‘Is he focusing his capabilities with invisible energy?’

Thanks to that, the black flame qi and the black thunder qi swords collided and were destroyed, and the shock from it flowed back to him.

However, Chun Yeowun’s body, which absorbed four cores, was beyond perfect.

All the internal wounds he received from the energy suddenly returning were quickly healed.

There was no need for Nano to self-heal.

Crackle!

Again, invisible swords made of black thunder qi and black flame qi appeared.

He still had plenty of internal energy.

Drip!

But that wasn’t the case for the God of the East.

Beads of sweat dripped down from his forehead, and his arms trembled.

As he kept using the Martial Void Fist, his internal energy was running out quickly, and on top of that, he was using up his mental ability by focusing his attacks at one point and going against a man who was in the Divine Master level wasn't easy.

"Haaa..."

At the sight of Chun Yeowun, who seemed to be fine, the God of the East clicked his tongue.

'I'm in trouble.'

He could display the same energy as Chun Yeowun in battle.

However, he didn't possess the stamina that Chun Yeowun had, which was why he was at a disadvantage.

'Does that mean that his internal energy isn't running out?'

It felt like he was dealing with a spirit beast.

Unlike humans, spirit beasts belong to mother nature and never run out of power.

Chun Yeowun, who took in four cores, possessed a tremendous amount of energy that could be close to infinite.

The God of the East shook his head at the thought.

'I have no other choice but to offer my flesh to take out his bones.'

Some sacrifice was inevitable to win.

Determined, he threw a punch.

Phat!

The God of the East stretched his arm out towards him.

‘This?’

Seeing him rushing in, Chun Yeowun realized that his opponent wanted to win the battle with a final blow.

Given the disadvantage that the God of the East had, it was a natural choice to make.

‘Smash the three invisible swords simultaneously with the Invisible Fist and then defeat him with the Martial Void Fist.’

It was a simple tactic, but one which could cost him his life.

When the invisible swords with different attributes were all concentrated on him, he had to overcome their force and the aftermath of each clash before Chun Yeowun could react and take him down.

‘I’m coming!’

Goo!

He was ready to make sacrifices.

His aim was the invisible swords, which suddenly rushed for him.

But it felt strange.

As he got closer to Chun Yeowun, the three swords stopped moving.

He didn't know what the trick was, but the closer he got, the more advantageous it was for the God of the East.

Without unfolding the Invisible Fist, he could move onto the second step.

That was until Chun Yeowun opened his mouth.

"Thanks to you, I learned something good."

'?'

He wondered what that meant, but the three swords suddenly aimed for him.

'What is he doing... !?'

The eyes of the God of the East trembled.

Goo!

Among them, the sword with the black thunder qi had energy concentrated on its tip.

Chun Yeowun, who was learning to unify the 24 forms at one point, was still trying to perfect it.

And now, he intended to unfold it with an invisible sword with an attribute.

Drrr!

Chun Yeowun's surroundings shook.

When space trembled, tremendous energy that was strong enough to shake the earth was concentrated at one point. The God of the East, who wanted to take down Chun Yeowun, had to abandon his plan to defend himself from the sword.

‘Avoid, I need to avoid getting hit.’

He knew that the sword couldn’t be stopped anymore.

It was the moment when he tried to widen the distance.

Bang! Crackle!

Dazzling light erupted from the black thunder qi sword, which roared like thunder.

It seemed like a ray of lightning that would come out of a dragon’s mouth.

The black thunder qi sword looked like it wanted to destroy everything close to it.

Kwakwakwang!

Its speed could be considered a flash, and the God of the East might not be able to avoid it.

‘Kuak!’

With his right fist, he tried out to bring out the Martial Void Fist to not take damage.

When he raised his fist, the space around trembled, causing ripples on the land.

Woong!

At the same time, Chun Yeowun’s black thunder qi sword entered.

Kwaaak!

“Kuk”

As the two techniques collided, blood gushed out of God of the East’s mouth.

With the amount of energy, which was several times of his own, spreading out from the sword, he ended up taking damage.

If he kept trying to endure the sword and its energy, he would be swept away and die.

‘Th-this is unreasonable.’

With all his energy, he raised his fist, which caused ripples.

Wook!

“Kuak!”

The price he had to pay was harsh.

The bones and the muscles of his right hand twisted, making it tough for him to raise it.

But thanks to that, the black thunder qi sword which was aiming for him was deflected upwards.

Grrrr!

The thunder qi sword’s lighting hit the mountain peak which was behind him.

Rumble!

Rocks fell down from the mountain peak.

A hole was drilled into it.

The cultists who saw the confrontation couldn't help but be astonished at the amount of power the mountain peak got hit by.

"Oh my god..."

"No, that is ridiculous!"

"Through a mountain!?"

It was monster-like power.

The God of the East, who barely managed to escape from getting hit, grabbed his right shoulder and twisted it roughly.

"Ugh... pant..."

It wasn't really something a human could do.

His eyes trembled as they looked at Chun Yeowun, aiming his invisible black flame qi and the black ice qi swords at him.

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

"Indeed, you're great. Try stopping this too. I'll shoot them the same away again."

'What!?'

At those words, the face of the God of the East turned pale.

If the invisible swords which had such capabilities kept coming at him, that meant that his opponent still had a lot of energy to use.

Chapter 454 - The Fallen Spirit Beast (1)

Chapter 454: The Fallen Spirit Beast (1)

The God of the East was flustered.

Beads of sweat were forming on Chun Yeowun's forehead as he looked at his opponent.

The technique Chun Yeowun was using had multiple overlappings, and the amount of energy that it consumes couldn't be small.

About three-quarters of the energy generated after taking in a core would get consumed.

'Huu... imbuing two attributes into one invisible sword isn't enough, and concentrating it at one point would be a huge waste.'

For now, three or four times was the limit.

However, the power was beyond the imagination, severely injuring the God of the East's right arm, with a small attack too.

It was truly a technique that was fearsome to face.

"Indeed, you are great. Try stopping this too. I'll shoot them the same way again."

Chun Yeowun spoke those words.

If it was any normal person, Chun Yeowun would've killed them, but since the God of the East was great and he acknowledged the power and capabilities of the man who achieved it all with his own strength, he said that.

Although he was preventing Chun Yeowun from entering the mountain, he didn't want to risk his life against a true warrior like the God of the East.

Chun Yeowun's intentions seemed to work to some extent.

'... if there is another offensive attack like that, blocking it would be impossible.'

In addition, one arm was twisted, and the muscles seemed to be strained, so it was difficult for him to fight.

In terms of a swordsman, it was like holding a broken sword.

However, if the purpose of this confrontation was to simply compete for a winner and loser, then accepting defeat would be best.

"This battle is won by you. Just like it was said, the old water of the Yangtze River gets pushed to the front because of the stronger new water. You're stronger than Chun Majong of your cult."

"Lord Chun Majong?"

Chun Yeowun frowned at the words which came out of the God of the East's mouth.

It was a name he had heard a lot.

It must have been the name of a past Lord.

'No. Did the God of the East know my father?'

Chun Inji, who was hearing his words, eyes widened.

Chun Majong was a former Lord and his father.

When Chun Inji was active in the cult, he knew that the God of the East is one of the five strongest warriors, but he didn't know that he shared a relationship with his father.

'Just how old... ugh.'

Although he had white hair, he only looked like a middle-aged man.

Even if he reverted back to a younger age, this man had to be over a hundred years old.

'He is a warrior from the same generation as great-grandfather. That is why his martial arts are so pure.'

The man had reached this point in his life because of his ability.

And he is so skilled because of his age.

And his understanding of Chun Yeowun and his men was probably because he had already met cultists in the past.

"Ha..."

The God of the East, who held his breath, sighed.

Although he acknowledged his opponent's victory, his eyes were full of determination, he wasn't willing to give up.

Why was he trying to stop people from entering Changbai Mountain?

"You were acquainted with my great-grandfather?"

When he realized how old the man was, Chun Yeowun showed his respects to him.

To that, the man shook his head and replied.

“We weren’t acquainted. We just competed a couple times.”

“That can be considered as a relationship too. But what I want to know is why are you stopping us from entering Changbai Mountain.”

In response to Chun Yeowun’s question, Ark Wui pursed his lips before opening them.

“Here in Changbai Mountain, there are creatures that others can’t hold. I’m guarding this place to prevent people from encountering those beings.”

‘Ah!’

Chun Yeowun’s eyes lit up.

The words of Master Wu Chun from the Shaolin Temple were true!

It wasn’t that he was stopping people. Rather Ark Wui was trying to protect people from something hidden inside.

“Are you talking about that crazy-eyed one?”

Clearly, that man was dangerous.

The power he held was completely different from normal warriors, and it was the first time that Chun Yeowun had experienced such a murderous intent with so much hatred.

He was someone who could be called the Great Death Bringer.

At Chun Yeowun's question, Ark Wui answered.

"Haa... right. That's the existence which is dangerous because it's been toiling in hatred, anger, and murderous intent for years."

At that, Chun Yeowun asked.

"Indeed, the existence, so it doesn't have a human body?"

At that, Ark Wui seemed troubled.

The battle was stopped abruptly, but since he already fought it, Ark Wui had no choice but to tell him.

Especially since its body was transforming.

'By any chance... a fallen spirit beast?'

It was a strange thought, but that's what he thought.

There were a lot of confusing things, like the way the man used wind. It clearly looked like he could control the wind.

It could be that the man absorbed the core of the Feng Bo (White Tiger), but that didn't feel like the right answer.

Looking at Changbai Mountain, where the man had disappeared to, Chun Yeowun said.

"You said it was to prevent people from encountering that existence. Did I look like I was in trouble?"

When the fight was stopped abruptly, Chun Yeowun had the upper hand.

Besides, Chun Yeowun hadn't gone all out.

Ark Wui thought for a while.

‘... this person is certainly different.’

He wasn’t someone who had to be protected.

It was the first time that this happened, so he was worried about what he had to say.

In his mind, he remembered the mutation.

‘As long as I live and guard this place, I hope to keep people out, hoping for purification.’

If his eyes weren’t wrong, Ark Wui hadn’t degraded in skill.

But then, one day, he would end up becoming weak and lose in the battle against that man, and he would run out to massacre the people of Jianghu.

‘Thinking about it, I was hoping to send that man to hell with my own hands.’

But it was harder in his current state.

It was the tenth year, and his arm, which was hurt, wouldn’t heal right away.

Of course, even if he did his best, the result would be unknown because of his current condition, but if he lost, that being would break out of the mountain.

After sighing, Ark Wui, who had been lost in thought, opened his mouth.

“Is your purpose also the core of the spirit beast?”

A straightforward question.

The people who came to Changbai Mountain only had one purpose.

It was to gain the core of the spirit beast, the Feng Bo, to increase their power.

Regardless of the faction, that was the truth.

‘Will you, like everyone else, explain the validity of taking the core with a cause?’

Those who tried to obtain the core were all the same.

Saying that they couldn’t let it fall into someone else’s hands, so they came to take the core for themselves.

The reason was the same for everyone.

But,

“Do you think there is another reason for coming here?”

‘Huh?’

Chun Yeowun didn’t deny it.

Since the Yulin troops were diplomatic, he thought that this person, who seemed like the Lord of the Demonic Cult, would come up with some reason, but he didn’t.

“... you don’t even try to hide your greed.”

It would be better that way.

Rather than trying to make a false justification, he was honest.

But,

“It seems like you have obtained many cores. Why are you being so greedy?”

He couldn't understand it.

The existence of the Feng Bo was well known, so many people aimed for it.

However, the other spirit beasts were rather difficult to find, and if he could take away those cores, then he didn't have to aim for this one.

“If it's you, no one in Jianghu would be able to win against you, so why covet this core too?”

In addition, since Chun Yeowun had multiple cores, he would live for a long time.

There was no need for such excessive greed.

Chun Yeowun thought seriously about the questions Ark Wui asked.

‘He wouldn't believe it if I say that it's to prevent the Blade Lord from obtaining immortality.’

He hadn't even told that to his subordinates.

Who would believe that nonsense?

“Recently, there is a rise of a clan called the Blade God Six Martial Clan, which began to grow suddenly. Their head is aiming for eternal life...”

Kwang!

Just then, they heard a loud roar.

Ark Wui looked shocked at the sound.

It came from the side of Changbai mountain.

At the peak, there was a vast lake, and he could see a column of water rising.

Swoosh!

‘What was that just now?’

Shocked, he looked around as the sound echoed.

“Growllll!”

The sound of a tiger roaring from the peak of the mountain.

Chun Yeowun looked over there with sharp eyes.

‘Is that... the White Tiger?’

That wasn’t a roar that a human could produce.

“Is he breaking the oath?”

He was puzzled for a moment at the incomprehensible mumble from Ark Wui, who immediately moved.

Tat!

His expression was serious as he was trying to reach the peak.

At the top was the place where that man lived.

He didn’t know what happened, but the cry meant that something terrible had happened.

Swoosh! Swoosh!

As he hurried, he heard someone catch up to him.

Ark Wui glanced to the side to see Chun Yeowun.

The excellent display of martial arts.

“Was that the White Tiger?”

At Chun Yeowun’s question, Ark Wui nodded his head without saying anything.

Chun Yeowun spoke.

“It looks like we were hit on the back of our heads by the Blade God Six Martial Clan while we were fighting.”

“Blade God Six Martial clan?”

Come to think of it, Ark Wui had heard the people of the Yulin utter the same name.

It was something he wasn’t concerned about because whoever it was, he had no intention of letting them into the mountain.

“The situation has gone out of control. It has to be stopped.”

“It would be dangerous if the core gets into the hands of the Blade God Six...”

“Not that.”

“?”

“That man should never be allowed to turn into his original form!”

Chun Yeowun thought that Ark Wui was concerned about the core falling into other's hands, but what he heard was completely unexpected.

Of course, he thought it was because Ark Wui didn't know about the Blade God Six Martial Clan.

With their power, hunting the spirit beast wasn't a difficult task.

Gooooo!

"This... what the hell?"

Chun Yeowun looked at Changbai Mountain with trembling eyes.

Dark clouds gathered in the sky, which looked clear until a second back.

He couldn't help but be shocked by it.

To that, Ark Wui spoke.

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

"It's a spirit beast which has lived for nearly a thousand years and has ascending in the ranks. A monster which should never be released into this world."

Creepy!

A horrendous energy engulfed the mountain.

Above the peak of Changbai Mountain, which was covered with dark clouds, an infinitely dark and huge tiger appeared.

Chapter 455 - The Fallen Spirit Beast (2)

Chapter 455: The Fallen Spirit Beast (2)

Feng Bo.

One of the five spirit beasts.

Among the five, the Feng Bo (White tiger) was the only beast whose habitat was known.

To the east, in Changbai Mountain.

It was written in one of the Three Great Books.

Many details of the five spirit beasts were described in the book called the Book of Spirits.

However, it was said that the five of them, the spirit beasts, live for many years, and when their spiritual power reaches a certain point, they rise to a higher level.

It was meant to denote that they reach a level of supremacy when they reach enlightenment and ascend to the realm of the gods.

There was a passage in it that says that a normal person or even a master who cultivates internal energy can obtain enlightenment and turn into a deity.

An example would be Elder Jang Sambong of the Wudang clan.

Swoosh!

Near the entrance of the mountain.

Two humans were traversing the forest with great speed.

“Is what I’m thinking right?”

At Chun Yeowun’s question, Ark Wui nodded his head.

The shadow of the giant tiger seen from afar was under the clouds.

As the name Feng Bo, which means White Tiger, implies, the existence which should have been white with black stripes was engulfed in darkness.

“Pitch black darkness.”

“As he couldn’t ascend, his power eroded with anger and hatred. It turned into that.”

Ark Wui still hadn’t forgotten about that time.

The transformation of the White Tiger, who was crying in anger.

It was a process in which the sacred spirit inside Changbai Mountain, which he knew, turned into a monster that could destroy everything.

Chun Yeowun frowned at the words of Ark Wui.

‘I feel like I saw it somewhere.’

Chun Yeowun looked at the black wrist guard on his right arm.

Sky Demon Sword.

When he first got it, he saw a man cutting down the horns of the Imoogi, which was about to ascend to heaven as a dragon.

At that time, the white body of the Imoogi had turned dark.

The mysterious figure in white disappeared, and in its place came a ferocious monster that was killed by Chun Ma.

‘Was the Imoogi corrupted too?’

It looked that way.

The spirit beasts who were supposed to gain spiritual power and ascend to heaven lost their lives.

‘It has to be like that.’

He felt that Imoogi was different as all he saw were images of it.

However, the Imoogi, which had turned into a monster, was something that could split the earth and heaven too.

‘... the more I know, the more I feel like Chun Ma had reached the level of a God.’

It was also the case with the word ‘Sword’, which was engraved on the old tablet.

With a single character, he managed to subdue all the swordsmen.

At what level was that possible?

Chun Yeowun, who remembered something, asked.

“Was it possible that the White Tiger was forcibly obstructed from ascending?”

At that question, Ark Wui’s expression hardened.

It seemed like several things had happened.

Chun Yeowun, who thought it must be something personal, decided not to ask further questions when Ark Wui opened his mouth with a bitter expression.

“He lost his precious friend over a hundred years ago.”

“Friend?”

“... yes. He was a friend of mine too.”

A hundred years had passed, but he still remembered him.

He was a relative and friend with whom life and death could be shared with.

“He was such a fun person that even the guardian of Changbai Mountain, which everyone was afraid of, turned towards him. If he hadn’t died in vain, this wouldn’t have happened.”

Ark Wui felt regret.

His death had many repercussions.

To the extent where even a spirit beast gave up on his ascension and got corrupted.

“Grrrrrrr!”

A great roar from the tiger could be heard again.

As he looked at the sky covered in dark clouds, Ark Wui bit his lip as he watched the beast rage in anger.

The guy who hadn't broken his oath for 100 years reverted to his original body.

'Why on earth did he break the oath he made himself? What provoked him... was it?'

He looked at the peak of the mountain.

He raised his energy to get a clear view as he moved faster.

Meanwhile, on the peak of the mountain.

Swoosh! Wheeing!

The vast lake, which was reflecting the sky, was covered in dark clouds which swayed the waves violently.

"Grooooooooo!"

"Woah!"

"My ears!"

Numerous warriors of the Blade God Six Martial Clan were near the lake, covering their ears.

Just the roar made their stomachs drop.

Even those who were supposed to be strong were on the ground coughing up blood, while others' ears were bleeding.

Thud! Thud!

The man in bandages glanced at the warriors who had fallen.

He was baffled to see how the situation turned out.

“That monster is the White Tiger?”

The monster in front of him was thirty meters tall.

This monster, with its red eyes and ferocious energy, had the shape of a tiger, but it was completely different from the White Tiger they had heard about.

Tak!

“Haa... haa... damn it! I have no idea what the hell that thing is.”

A bald old man sat next to the man in bandages.

The old man was covered in cold sweat as he held onto his left shoulder.

His left arm, stained with blood, was torn off by the huge claws, and it looked like his arm would fall off at any moment.

“Former Lord, are you alright?”

“Ah... would anyone be alright? I just lost an arm. How could a normal-looking human even turn into a monster?”

The old man called the former Lord, who tried to stop the man’s mutation, was hit.

He tried to subdue it, thinking that it was some kind of Blood Reversion Art, but it ripped off his arm.

“Hwang-heol. What the hell is that monster?”

It was supposed to be huge but it’s too huge.

They heard that the tiger is supposed to be three times the size of a regular tiger.

Of course, they knew that as the spiritual energy increased, the spirit beast would grow, but this was close to being a monster.

Tak!

At the time, someone approached Hwang-heol.

An old man wearing a golden eyepatch, he was Woo, a former Lord of the clan.

He too was shocked at the roaring beast.

“I don’t know what that is. But does this mean that the man we saw before is the monster?”

“Are you blind just because you only have one eye?”

The bald man asked, annoyed.

Former Lord Woo kept his mouth shut, realizing that it must be hard for the other man as he just lost his arm.

Hwang-heol was at a loss for words.

‘That black monster is really the Feng Bo? The White Tiger?’

Arriving near the mountain, they knew that a battle was taking place in the north and took the opportunity to climb up the mountain.

In the process of searching for the spirit beast, they met an unknown person.

It was a person who seemed to be annoyed, and the moment he saw them, he attacked them.

[Dirty worms keep invading my Mt. Baekdu! I'm going to kill you all!]

He didn't speak Chinese.

At first, they thought that this man was protecting the mountain.

However, they were shocked to see him unfold techniques that didn't belong to Jianghu.

That man's techniques were as dangerous as their clan's.

They never expected such a person to be hiding in the mountain along with the God of the East.

[No more. I'll take you all down.]

Although he was injured, the man had the ability to annihilate half of the troops and the left arm of their former lord.

He was unscathed despite fighting against two former lords.

However, the man who was attacking suddenly turned into a beast.

"KKUAAAKKKk!"

Kwang!

"Kuak!"

"Euk!"

“M-Move!”

When the black tiger roared, dozens of people lost their lives.

It wasn't something that martial arts could overcome.

It was safe to say that the monster is a natural disaster.

About a thousand people were attacked, and most of them died pointlessly.

Hweeeing!

“Wh-what's happening now?”

Another strange thing happened in the sky where rain and dark clouds had formed.

The dark clouds gathered around the giant black tiger, and mist began to form, which soon took the shape of a tornado.

Wheeing!

“Wi-wind?”

It wasn't just one.

Four tornados appeared as if dragons were moving around trying to protect the black tiger.

Hundreds of people got swept away in an instant by the tornados.

“Ackkkk!”

“Help me!”

Even those who were excellent warriors were no exception.

The tornados were different from a natural disaster.

Every time the tornados spun, it was as if swords were attacking.

Clash!

“Kuk!”

“Ugh! H-how is the wind this sharp?”

“Everyone! Move away from the tornados!”

The masters and the warriors spread out in all directions.

Even a simple gust of wind was killing them. This was not something they could deal with.

Hwang-heol mumbled.

“How can... this is so different.”

They were all there during the battle with the Great Bird.

But even the Great Bird didn't seem this strong.

In comparison, it was the difference between an adult and a child.

“Kuaaaaaa!”

Creepy!

It roared again.

It was when the two former Lords and Hwang-heol were trying to figure out how to attack it.

“Oho. Is this the fallen spirit that I’ve only heard of?”

“B-Blade Lord!”

The three people were shocked to see their Lord appear with a bamboo hat.

He said that it would take longer to join them as he would take care of the Yulin troops, but they didn’t expect him to come this quick.

This meant that this man had tremendous power, which took down the Yulin.

“You came? Blade Lord!”

Everyone bowed to the man at the same time.

Ignoring that, the man called Blade Lord looked at the tiger surrounded by tornados.

“Wh-what are we...”

“I will go.”

“Huh?”

Phat!

Before they could even question him, the man flew into the air.

The Blade Lord, who was floating in the air, reached the vicinity of the tornados which were blocking the huge tiger.

The Blade Lord pretended to cut down the tornados with his hand.

Woong!

Huge invisible energy rose as his hand slashed down the tornados in an instant.

Slashhh!

The warriors who watched it began to cheer.

“Blade Lord!! Woah!”

“He cut down the tornados!”

“N-no! They haven’t been taken down yet!”

Wheeing!

The tornados didn’t die down.

The parts which got cut soon began to reconnect.

That was what he was aiming for.

Swoosh!

He aimed to pass through the brief gap which formed in the tornado.

With the sword he pulled out from his waist, he leaped, aiming it at the chest of the huge black tiger.

Visor!

The tiger roared at the appearance of the man and raised its front paws to strike him.

“Grrrrrrr!”

Wheeing!

Just by extending its sharp claws, huge wind pressure was created.

The right front paw moved, wanting to kill everything in front of it.

He shifted his approach, cleared his breath, and wielded his sword.

Woong!

At that moment, space shook in the direction where he was wielding his sword which contained an enormous concentrated power .

Bang!

Part of the black tiger’s right front paw hit the sword and bounced up.

The black tiger roared in pain as one of its paws got cut off.

“KUAAAAAAKKKK!”

The Blade Lord’s lips formed into a smile.

‘This is payback for what you did 20 years ago.’

It was his growth after what he faced in the past.

After 20 years, the Blade Lord was able to take down the opponent.

Phat!

“I’ll cut off that head of yours just like this!”

Phat! Phat!

Not missing the opportunity, the Blade Lord aimed for the neck of the black tiger.

Across pouring rain, his figure moved.

It was then.

“Kuaaaak!”

“No!”

Huge wind erupted from the mouth of the black tiger and attacked the Blade Lord.

It was wind that could cut down a mountain. The Blade Lord immediately created a huge invisible sword.

But the pressure was too strong, he got pushed down to the bottom of the lake.

Thud!

“Blade Lord!!!”

The ones who were watching it shouted in surprise.

But that wasn’t the end of the surprise.

“No?”

The tiger raised its intact front paw and stomped it into the lake.

Thud! Splash! Thud!

Its heavy paw created a new image of the lake.

It was aiming to kill the Blade Lord.

The two eyes of the black tiger gleamed in red as it looked down at the lake.

“How dare you!”

Former Lord Woo, wearing the golden patch, was so angry that he tried to attack it.

It was then,

Jjjjkkk!

The water in the lake, which was raging, began to freeze.

From the place where the black tiger had stepped.

It froze so quickly that the tiger couldn't react.

Jjkkkk!

As the cold began to seep up to the paw, it lifted its paw.

The ice shattered as the paw was lifted from the lake, and at that moment the Blade Lord jumped out.

Jjjjkkk!

Then, two invisible swords appeared with ice qi in the air and stabbed the black tiger in the chest.

“The core!”

As the ice qi swords touched the center of the tiger's chest, the tiger roared and released its energy to deflect the swords, but the ice qi which had penetrated into its body, spread.

Jjjkkk!

“KUUUUAAA KKKKKKK!”

The tiger howled in pain as it tried twisting its body and swinging its paws.

The body of the Blade Lord, who was concentrating on the ice qi in the tiger’s body, bounced back.

Bang!

“Kuak!”

In an instant, the body of the Blade Lord bounced back 30 meters or so.

He was quite shocked at it, seeing how blood flowed from the corner of his lips.

However, since he absorbed a core, he managed to recover from his injuries, and his complexion brightened.

“You are quite rebellious.”

If it used a little more energy, he would have gotten crushed.

It was the moment when he was about to move again and strike it down.

Startle!

From the north, immense energy was felt as it merged with the tornado and pierced the chest of the huge black tiger, which was suffering from the ice qi.

Kwak!

“Kuaaaakkk!”

All eyes turned to what pierced into the chest.

Crackle!

A ray of black lightning passed through the tiger’s chest and then disappeared.

The black tiger, which got hit again, twisted its body.

Bang! Bang! Bang!

As it wriggled in pain, the fragments of the frozen lake went everywhere.

“Wh-what’s going on?”

“What was that just now?”

It was that moment when everyone was equally confused.

The eyes of the warriors of the Blade God Six Martial Clan focused on one place.

The place where the huge chest of the tiger was open wide, and something was shining in it.

“Th-that!”

“Core!”

The core was shining brightly.

But it wasn't just the core.

Eyes gleamed from the pierced chest to someone in black armor who stood there.

The armor that seemed soaked in the blood, moved away from the black tiger, which was crying out in pain.

Woong!

As if he could walk on air, the one in the black armor moved a couple more steps away.

The helmet of the armor disappeared, revealing the face behind it.

Long hair fluttered in the wind and rain.

“De-Demon God!”

Hwang-heol shouted at the man he recognized.

“What?”

“The Demon God?”

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

The two former Lords were shocked at the man being called the Demon God.

Amid everyone's attention, Chun Yeowun smiled and shouted to everyone who had gone silent.

“You all did good!”

The face of the Blade Lord, who was on the mountain, distorted terribly.

Chapter 456 - The Fallen Spirit Beast (3)

456: The Fallen Spirit Beast (3)

“It took nearly a hundred years to purify him. As per his friend’s words, all he had to do was return to his original state and climb up. But... it all looks unreasonable now.”

It was Ark Wui who had given up a hundred years of his life.

However, the hatred and resentment inside the White Tiger didn’t weaken but instead grew.

Its appearance now is much closer to the form it took a hundred years ago, and the hatred inside it was all being directed to the Jianghu.

“The guy who threw off the shackles created by the oath returned to his own body, which will stain the entire place in blood. Just like the six-headed dragon spirit which almost annihilated the entire Jianghu region during the days of the Three Sovereigns and Five Emperors.”

Spirit beasts who have reached the highest point would be dangerous and difficult to kill.

The only opportunity to kill him would be when he cannot take his original form even after 100 years.

In a bitter voice, Ark Wui asked Chun Yeowun.

“... this is the calling that was originally for me, but if it doesn’t work, kill him with your hands.”

It was unclear if Ark Wui would be able to kill the beast or not.

Judging that he might fail due to his injured right arm, he asked Chun Yeowun.

“You won’t regret it?”

“I was holding onto him with affection and cause. But now it won’t be possible, and I can’t let innocent people of Jianghu get killed.”

Ark Wui’s words were resolute.

He didn’t care about the deaths of the warriors or the leaders.

However, he didn’t like the idea of innocent people getting killed.

‘You are a true friend.’

Chun Yeowun admired Ark Wui’s intentions.

He seemed a lot better than the warriors of the Forces of Justice who advocate justice.

Such a person was the one warriors respected.

“Understood. I’ll hurry up and return your favor.”

“Huh?”

Chun Yeowun’s words made Ark Wui wonder.

Ark Wui had hurt his right arm, his body was out of balance, and he wasn't able to speed up either.

Even if he punched the air, he doubted that it would be with his full force. What could he even do?

It was then.

Tsutsutsutsu!

Something began to generate from Chun Yeowun's body, and it turned into black armor.

Ark Wui's eyes widened at it.

It shouldn't have been a big deal, but he was just shocked to see Chun Yeowun suddenly wear armor which even covered his face.

"I'm going ahead."

"?"

Woong!

White smoke appeared from the feet of the armor, and he was pushed into the air.

Wooh!

"What was that?"

Ark Wui was stunned as he looked at Chun Yeowun.

Chun Yeowun, who flew towards the peak at once, saw someone competing with the giant black tiger.

He was someone who was able to make full use of his abilities and focused energy at one point, just like the God of the East.

Moreover, this man could freeze the lake in an instant.

It must have been the one who absorbed the core of the Great Bird.

‘Is that person the head of the Blade God Six Martial Clan?’

Chun Yeowun remembered the words that his grandfather spoke.

He said that the Blade Lord, the head of the clan, had gone to the Potala palace with all his forces to obtain the core of the Great Bird.

‘Blade Lord!’

In the meantime, the man Chun Yeowun was so curious about had finally appeared.

And he somehow aimed for the fallen White Tiger.

‘What is he aiming for? Nano. Find the place where the core of the black tiger is concentrated.’

[Understood.]

Nano began to analyze it in augmented reality.

When a cross-shaped target was painted on its chest.

[A lot of energy is concentrated in the thorax that goes down the black tiger’s neck.]

‘Nice.’

There was no way he could lose the core of the White Tiger.

And it was a great opportunity as the Blade Lord was weakened by the blow.

‘If I intervene in the middle, I wouldn’t be able to do this or that, and I’d get caught between the spirit beast and the Blade Lord.’

There was a simple way to do that.

First, he had to take the core of the White Tiger.

It would make the Blade God Six Martial Clan angry if they who had been aiming for the core and fighting against the black tiger all this time saw the core enter Chun Yeowun’s hands.

“Kowwww!!!”

It wasn’t just because its chest was hit, but the black tiger, which had been hit near its core, twisted its body and cried out.

Since the core, where all its spiritual energy is gathered, was being taken away, perhaps it was the same as destroying a martial artist’s dantian.

‘This should be better than letting those people take it away.’

Chun Yeowun looked at the core, which was emitting a brilliant light.

Just a touch, and he could feel its great energy.

Seeing Chun Yeowun float in the air, Hwang-heol, who was initially bewildered, yelled in anger.

“Demon God! Isn’t that something you should be ashamed of? Only cowardly people do things like pickpocketing!”

Unlike him, the former Lords on either side were different.

The fact that he broke into the middle of the fight and took the core was infuriating, but the overwhelming energy they felt was petrifying.

‘The power of that blow was terrifying.’

Even their Blade Lord had failed to penetrate the tiger’s body despite connecting on several blows.

However, the Demon God, Chun Yeowun, made a hole in the chest with just a single blow, even if it was a surprise attack.

“He’s more of a monster than I’ve heard.”

“Huh. He can’t be dealt with without the Blade Lord. It makes sense for the Six Martial Masters to keep losing.”

Hwang-heol frowned at the words of the former Lords, who were supposed to be the best in the clan.

Even if Chun Yeowun was a monster, the core shouldn’t fall into his hands.

“Even so, we need to kill him here. According to the records left behind by ‘that person’, this must...”

Before Hwang-heol could finish speaking, the warriors shouted.

“Blade Lord!”

“The Blade Lord has come! Woah!!!”

Shhhh!

Suddenly, the Blade Lord appeared in the air in front of Chun Yeowun.

The Blade Lord, whose bamboo hat got torn, was revealed to be a middle-aged man with a short beard.

And a horrible expression showing how angry he was.

“Demon God!”

Blade Lord pretended to swing his hand.

Then, in front of him, invisible energy gathered, giving off a sharp feel, and it moved with the momentum to cut Chun Yeowun in half.

Clang!

However, it couldn't cut him.

It was blocked by an invisible sword that emerged in the air.

Chowchowchow!

However, in the aftermath of the collision between the invisible swords, pressure threw some people, while others had to get out of their vicinity.

“Ah, amazing!”

“Move!”

“Everyone, keep your distance!”

Kwang! Kwang!

The aftermath of it was trees and the grass on the ground being uprooted.

So this was how dangerous a battlefield would be when two people of the highest level would fight.

The warriors of the Blade God Six Martial Clan all moved away at once.

The Blade Lord opened his mouth.

“Demon God. Hand over the core.”

His gaze was on the core, which was in Chun Yeowun’s left hand.

Maybe it was because he lost what he was aiming for. He had a grim expression.

However, Chun Yeowun said something weird.

“You... who are you?”

The Blade Lord raised his eyebrows, puzzled by what was asked.

At his level, he thought that Chun Yeowun would naturally recognize his existence and title.

“I’m the current head, who stands at the apex.”

Shhh!

Blade Lord moved forward, maintaining his invisible sword, and tried to attack Chun Yeowun.

It was the fifth form of the Extreme Art of the Blade God.

Normally he was someone who would unfold a technique with the sleekest movement, but now he didn't want to follow up the technique.

Chow chow chow chow!

Invisible sharp attacks came for Chun Yeowun.

At that, Chun Yeowun slightly moved.

It was then, his invisible sword created a dense sword net, blocking the form of the Extreme Art of the Blade God.

“Don't use what you stole!”

Suddenly, the Blade Lord appeared from behind.

It was an illusion skill of some kind.

And he aimed for Chun Yeowun's left arm, which was holding the core.

Chun Yeowun's actions were,

‘This guy?’

The Blade Lord frowned as he looked at what he was aiming for with his sword.

He didn't expect the core to be used as a defense by Chun Yeowun.

If the core got damaged in any other way than being absorbed, all its energy would be drained, and the core becomes useless.

“Then I'll cut off your head!”

The sword turned and aimed for Chun Yeowun's neck.

Startle!

As soon as the sword was about to touch his neck, the Blade Lord jumped back.

Swoosh!

As soon as he moved, a blue ray of light fell to the ground where he was previously standing.

It looked like a steel sword.

He wondered if someone other than Chun Yeowun was present and threw the sword at him. However, the ice sword covered in a blue hue floated in the air.

"An Air Sword made of steel-like-ice?"

The Blade Lord was shocked.

He too had attained yin and the core of the Great Bird.

So, making an ice sword wasn't a difficult task, but no matter how much he concentrated, the sword didn't last long.

"Truly amazing. It's been twenty years since I met a warrior like you."

He was truly amazed.

With all reports he got about the Demon God, he knew that the man was strong.

However, he considered himself superior, but now Chun Yeowun was a much more difficult opponent than he had expected.

“Then I can’t lose the core!”

The Blade Lord raised his yin.

Swoosh!

Their entire surroundings became so cold that frost began to appear on the ground. Even the raindrops froze and fell to the ground.

Drop! Cha! Cha! Cha!

“Even if I can’t work with sword qi, I can use this!”

The raindrops which froze all aimed for Chun Yeowun.

However, the numerous frozen raindrops that aimed to hit Chun Yeowun stopped mid-air, making the Blade Lord frown.

“Did you erase my qi?”

Chun Yeowun raised his hand and stretched it towards the Blade Lord.

The ice drops and the cubes, which had stopped mid-air, turned around, heading towards the Blade Lord.

‘How is this possible?’

Pang!

The Blade Lord jumped to a higher position.

Yet, all the frozen ice followed him.

‘Is he manipulating the ice?’

No matter how strong this man was, there had to be a limit to what we could do, and what Chun Yeowun was doing wasn't simple.

However, Chun Yeowun was controlling everything.

"But, it's just ice."

Whoop!

The Blade Lord created a huge invisible wall that broke the ice.

Kwakkwakwang!

"Indeed, fighting against the Demon God is truly meaningful..."

The Blade Lord, who was talking, went silent.

While he was busy taking down the frozen rain around him, numerous ice swords covered in a blue hue surrounded him.

Chun Yeowun spoke with a smile.

"The Sky Flash isn't just a wide area technique."

As soon as he finished speaking, the blue hue began to shine brighter, and the numerous ice swords which surrounded him rushed towards him.

Swoosh!

The eyes of the Blade Lord shuddered as he saw the Ice Swords coming in from all directions without gaps.

"You bastard!"

The Blade Lord's face distorted as he began to concentrate on what was happening.

He decided to unify his energy.

Whoops!

As if space was distorted, ripples rose around him, and numerous beams of light rushed towards him and were sucked into him, disappearing.

"... this is how it's stopped."

Chun Yeowun was shocked at Blade Lord's technique.

He didn't seem much different from Ark Wui.

Rather, this man was more difficult to deal with as he had absorbed the core of the Great Bird and could take in ice qi.

"Is, is that even a confrontation between humans?"

"This is my first time seeing such a battle."

The two former Lords, who were watching the confrontation between the two lords, couldn't hide their astonishment.

It was impossible to keep their calm as they were witnessing such a high-level battle.

"Woah, they are total monsters."

"The Blade Lord is being pushed like that?"

The same was true for the other warriors.

The two people who were fighting in the air were so great that they couldn't take their eyes off of them.

However, there was one variable in their confrontation.

“Kuwaaak!!”

The huge black tiger, which roared again, shattered their eardrums.

Losing the core from its body, everyone thought that it would fall to the ground, but it only became angrier than before, raring with blazing red eyes.

“No!”

The Blade Lord frowned at that too.

The one whom the black tiger was staring at intently was Chun Yeowun, who held its core.

‘How didn’t he die?’

He was skeptical, but he decided to deal with the most important task.

The black tiger swung its huge front paw and tried to hit both Chun Yeowun and the Blade Lord at the same time.

It was that moment when the two of them were about to move away simultaneously.

Bang!

“Kuwakkk!”

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

The huge body of the black tiger, which was about to swing its front paw, fell under great pressure and bent its knees as it crashed into the frozen lake.

As the massive tiger suddenly fell in, the ice shards bounced in all directions.

Wondering what was happening, there was a figure between the eyes of the giant tiger, with his fist clenched.

“God of the East!”

Chapter 457 - You Aren't Him (1)

457: You Aren't Him (1)

The Blade Lord's eyes fluttered.

No matter how much time passed, he would never forget him.

The monster who brought in the first defeat of the Blade Lord, who was proud of his existence.

As a result, their plan was delayed.

'God of the East!'

Twenty years had passed, but he was still the same.

Except for one thing.

'Did he hurt his arm?'

His right arm had been injured, so he twisted it back into place, yet it still looked hurt.

Even so, seeing him take down the huge black tiger with just his left hand was still unimaginable.

'Not just the Demon God, but even the God of the East?'

Hwang-heol, who was watching this from the other side, couldn't hide his shock.

Twenty years ago, when they were aiming for Changbai Mountain, this man appeared.

At that time, the God of the East showed tremendous power enough to defeat the clan's warriors with simple attacks.

It was clear then,

'Huh? But the Demon God arrived first to defeat the monster?'

Something seemed strange.

They had been the ones who waited for Chun Yeowun to lead his clan to the entrance of the mountain, and then the Blade God Six Martial Clan made their way up.

It was so both the Demon God and the God of the East would fight and become exhausted.

This meant that the God of the East had collided with Chun Yeowun.

'Ah!'

They looked at the God of the East's right arm.

They were so concerned with the black tiger that they didn't look at it, but it looked like Ark Wui was injured.

'Does that mean he was defeated by the Demon God?'

Otherwise, he shouldn't have been hurt like that.

Who else could even injure that monster?

But there were doubts.

‘The Demon God never shows mercy to his enemies. But not long after they collided, they arrived... stopping their battle in the middle.’

Hwang-heol thought that the battle between the two was incomplete.

The cause was the tiger.

They must have felt that vicious energy forming on the mountain, and there was no way that Chun Yeowun would ignore it and continue the battle.

As soon as the Demon God appeared, he aimed for the core.

‘Then, this is good. We can let those two people fight.’

There was no need for the Blade Lord to work.

He should let the other two fight it out, and then once the winner is decided, he could overpower them.

Thinking so, Hwang-heol shouted towards the God of the East, who was on the black tiger.

“God of the East! The core of the White Tiger lies in his hands!”

‘Core?’

At those words, the God of the East turned his gaze towards Chun Yeowun, who was holding the core.

His eyes darkened.

He did make the request with a bitter heart, but he didn’t know that Chun Yeowun had already taken the core.

‘Then why didn’t he fall?’

Ark Wui wondered.

The heart was pierced, and the core was lost.

Any spirit beast would have succumbed to this, but this one was still raring to go.

‘What spirit beast can be this strong?’

He was puzzled when Hwang-heol shouted again.

“That man there is aiming for the core of the White Tiger! God of the East!”

It was his intention to make him and Chun Yeowun battle it out.

Thinking that he was provoking them, he continued to shout, but no fight broke out.

“Maybe it’s because he lost the battle...”

It was then,

Ark Wui extended his fist in the direction of Hwang-heol.

And space distorted.

Pang!

At the same time, great wind pressure rose in front of Hwang-heol.

It was aimed at him and not the Demon God.

“Ugh, wh-why?”

Phat!

Flustered former Lord Woo, the man with the golden eyepatch and the other former Lord, who had one arm injured by the black tiger, blocked it.

“Stand back! Hwang-heol!”

“Former Lord Woo! Block it!”

“Good!”

Visor!

To protect him, the two men drew out their own swords, creating a huge wave of energy, and swung their swords towards the wind which was coming for them.

All they wanted to do was prevent the wind from hitting them forcefully.

But,

Kwang!

“Ah! What power!”

“Kuk!”

They taught the Six Martial Masters, and they were also Blade Lord candidates.

Even if their opponent was a Divine Master, they thought that if they worked together, they would be able to block the attack, but it was all a mistake.

Clench!

The energy wave, which was made from two different swords, couldn't overcome the wind pressure, and on the contrary, they were thrown backwards.

Chachacha!

Both the former Lords got pushed away almost instantly.

If it wasn't for Hwang-heol, the man in bandages behind them, they would have just avoided the attack.

The cost they were paying was very high.

Thud!

"Kuak!"

The former Lord, with an injured arm, knelt on the ground, coughing up blood.

Even the man in the golden eyepatch wasn't in good condition.

His stomach felt twisted by the attack, which seemed to penetrate his flesh.

"Fo-former Lords!"

Hwang-heol, who was saved thanks to the former Lords blocking the wind, was worried as he looked at them.

Srrr!

Energy rose from their bodies.

The two of them were skilled. They weren't at the stage of the Blade Lord, but they were on the same level as the five strongest warriors, yet with just one hit, they suffered internal injuries.

‘Is-Isn’t he a complete monster?’

Still, they thought that the situation would be different from what happened twenty years ago.

Not just the Blade Lord, but even the other clan members became a whole lot stronger.

However, they still couldn’t withstand a single attack from that person.

“You’re doing useless things.”

The Blade Lord’s eyebrows rose when he saw the two people injured by Ark Wui.

While trying to help Hwang-heol caused a lot of trouble.

‘I can’t take my eyes off this guy yet.’

His desire to repay Ark Wui for the past was burning bright, but he couldn’t overlook the enemy in front of him.

Besides, the core was in Chun Yeowun’s hand, and he had to take it.

There was only one way for that to happen.

First, he defeats the Demon God and then fights the God of the East.

[Hwang-heol.]

The man was startled at the sudden message he was sent and looked at the Blade Lord.

[B-Blade Lord?]

The Blade Lord looked and smiled at him, then gave him an order.

[While I'm dealing with the Demon God, do everything you can to prevent the God of the East from interfering.]

[Understood!]

He responded right away.

The fact that he had given the order meant that he was confident that he could take Chun Yeowun down.

In that case, he had to make sure that the order was fulfilled.

Hwang-heol exclaimed.

“Listen to me, the warriors of Blade God Six Martial Clan. Our opponent is the God of the East. Even if you have to sacrifice yourselves, stop...”

Before he could even finish the order.

Crack!

The ground trembled, and something huge seemed to move.

The black tiger was big enough to make the land vibrate just by moving.

“Ah, is it still not dead?”

They all thought that the tiger died when it was hit by the God of the East.

But he was up again!

“Kuaaaaaa!”

The huge black tiger, with its four limbs spreading wide, roared and roared.

Anger clearly visible in its red eyes.

Gulp!

Hwang-heol, who was about to give the order, closed his mouth.

Even the Great Bird didn't act like this.

He was puzzled by the God of the East, who was on the neck of the large black tiger.

The fist which struck the tiger was his best.

‘You lost your core. Even then, you’re trying to survive with everything you’ve got?’

He didn't know what was holding him up.

But it was dangerous that the tiger was overcoming physical pain and death with pure hatred and anger.

Shhhhhh!

Suddenly, the hole in its chest began to regenerate. If the core was lost, the ability to regenerate would be lost too, but seeing the flesh heal, this wasn't the work of the core.

This monster was still very much alive.

“Kuaaaaooooo!”

A change occurred in the dark sky, which was covered with dark clouds at its howl.

The rain stopped for a second and then became heavier.

Kwang!

Thunder clouds began to form, and lightning struck.

Wheeing!

The wind moved around Changbai Mountain.

Everything around got escalated.

“What the hell?”

“Thunder and lightning?”

Everyone who saw that couldn't hide their shocked expressions.

As if the tiger was the eye of the typhoon, the strong winds went in all directions around it.

Tornado gusts spread all over the mountain.

Tututut!

Pull!

Starting with the gravel and grass around the lake, even the trees began to get uprooted.

Fragments of ice floated in the air.

Gooooo!

“Uh-oh!”

“Mo-move!”

Even the warriors of the Blade God Six Martial Clan got picked up by the wind.

Holding on wasn't an option for the low-skilled warriors.

“Ackkk!”

There were no exceptions.

The only thing they could do was try and withstand the typhoon, which seemed no different from a natural disaster.

Booong!

“D-damn it!”

The warriors of the Blade God Six Martial Clan began to concentrate their energy from their dantian to their feet to increase their weight, but when trees were being uprooted, how could humans stand?

Kwang!

Ark Wui, who was barely holding onto the fur of the black tiger, felt stiff.

‘... just like that time.’

What he feared happened.

This was why he wanted to kill the black tiger before he went back into its original state.

100 years ago, this man devastated the land around Changbai Mountain, and for a while, the land was dead, and no trees grew.

“Kuaaaaaaa!”

Ark Wui stared at the black tiger.

‘Is death only possible if its head is cut off?’

To not die despite its core being pulled out meant that it had to be beheaded.

He bit his lip as he made up his mind.

Grrr! Bang! Bang! Flash!

On the other hand, two humans were steadily balancing despite the thunder and lightning.

They were Chun Yeowun and the Blade Lord.

Despite the situation turning into a disaster, the two of them were still facing each other.

However, they were able to endure it because of their internal energy.

‘This is good. While the God of the East deals with that white tiger, this one will be dealt with.’

The Blade Lord saw this as an opportunity.

This crazy situation would bring in the reversal they needed.

Woong!

As the Blade Lord held out his hand, a huge invisible sword imbued with ice qi was created.

Wheeing!

Slash!

Despite the noises around them, the sound of the sword was the only thing that could be heard.

“Demon God! I will kill you right here and change the future.”

‘Future?’

At the words of the Blade Lord, Chun Yeowun’s eyes narrowed.

“Haaaah!”

Slash!

With eyes full of determination, the Blade Lord rushed towards Chun Yeowun.

The sword imbued with ice qi seemed like it would freeze everything.

It was the first created technique of the Blade God Six Martial Clan. The technique that the clan depended on, the Extreme Art of the Blade God.

Chachacha!

The power of the technique, which unfolded in the form of an invisible sword with ice qi, created a tremendous momentum that couldn’t be compared to existing techniques.

Everything felt strange.

Ch!

It had the power to destroy and freeze everything.

Chun Yeowun, who looked at the sword, unfolded his own technique.

‘Sword Force of the Sky Demon!’

The Blade Lord smiled at it.

Even if he was the Demon God, he would never be able to defeat the present Blade Lord because he knew about it from the records.

And he had already figured out how to destroy the Sword Force of the Sky Demon long ago.

“Demon God! Even with sword technique created by Chun Ma, you can no longer defeat the Extreme Art of the Blade God.”

It was then.

Hweeing!

An invisible black flame qi sword emerged from Chun Yeowun’s right hand.

The Blade Lord’s eyes narrowed at the bizarre sword, which contained both the Sky Demon Energy and the Qilin’s flame.

‘Can an invisible sword have different attributes?’

But that wasn’t the end.

Swosh!

Wheeing!

There seemed to be something different about Chun Yeowun's sword technique, which stretched forward and drew trails of black flames.

It wasn't the Sword Force of the Sky Demon that he knew.

'What is this sword?'

Across the wind and rain, the traces of the black flames created numerous lines that seemed to create a form of the Extreme Art of the Blade God.

Chachahcang!

Kwang!

When the two techniques collided, the wind and rain got pushed away instantly, the place cleared up.

And the newly cleared-up place had white snow and black flames.

Constant clashes which didn't stop.

It seemed like neither one of them wanted to get pushed back. After around seven clashes, something weird happened.

As the sword technique wasn't the one he knew, the Blade Lord's face changed.

'This isn't the Sword Force of the Sky Demon.'

It looked similar, but it was different.

It even had their own technique added to it.

Holding a thrilling power that seemed closer to perfection than the originals of both techniques.

‘Th-this is different from the one in the records?’

This sword technique couldn’t be destroyed.

As twelve clashes passed, the eyes of the Blade Lord, who was getting pushed back, realized that he was losing.

Chow chow chow!

In the end, the Blade Lord, who lost his composure because of witnessing a new sword technique, shouted.

“Ugh! Yah! How? What is that sword?”

Chun Yeowun’s lips turned into a smile as he watched his opponent get pushed back.

“Sword Art of the Demon God.”

‘Sword Art of the Demon God?’

Kwakwag!

The sound of something breaking.

It was something that happened as the invisible sword made of ice qi was still unfolding the Extreme Art of the Blade God.

Chun Yeowun continued to speak.

“3rd formation, Extreme Art of the Sky Sword⁽¹⁾.”

Chachang!

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

As soon as he said those words, the Blade Lord's invisible sword shattered, and then traces of the black flames were drawn by the Sword Art of the Demon God.

Wheeing! Rumble!

“Kuak!”

Editor's Note

⁽¹⁾ We're assuming that this is one of the formations within the Sword Art of the Demon God. It's not specified by the author though.

Chapter 458 - You Aren't Him (2)

458: You Aren't Him (2)

Ancient memories.

It was a time when there wasn't much interaction with humans.

Often guests came from the peninsula to the southeast of the sacred mountain where he resided or from Jianghu to the northwest.

There were numerous warriors and martial artists who said that they wanted to cultivate.

The funny thing was everyone was honest about their desires.

They aimed for the core, which contained his spiritual energy.

It was a repetitive thing that happened since the day he was born on earth.

'Frustrating. Annoying.'

He just wanted to gather spiritual energy and climb up the ladder as years passed, but he couldn't figure out just why people were aiming for him.

There were times when he was angry since all he wanted to do is avoid unnecessary conflict.

‘It isn’t because I’m afraid of them.’

He just didn’t want to see blood.

As the years went by, he accumulated enough spiritual energy to ascend, and miraculously he gained the ability to transform into anything he wanted.

‘This is amazing.’

The ability was proof that he had accumulated enough energy.

As the years passed, a new tiger with overflowing spiritual energy was born among the white tigers of the mountain.

The birth of Feng Bo, the White Tiger, who would succeed him.

It also meant that he was getting closer to ascension.

He met the young white tiger before he ascended and learned a lot.

‘This is more fun than I thought.’

Ordinary animals were afraid of him, a spirit beast, and among humans, he was surrounded by those who wanted his core, yet because of his strength, no one came close.

But there was one problem.

Because of the new guy, he was exposed to humans more than when he was alone.

Lacking spiritual energy and experience, that one was overly active, and even when humans appeared, it roamed around without hesitation, creating messes.

‘Act a little more modest.’

No matter how many times he warned it, the newborn tiger was reckless.

It looked like the new one was four months old, so he had no choice but to protect it until he ascended.

Then one day, the young one wasn’t seen anywhere.

‘Did something happen?’

With an ominous thought, he ran across the mountain to find him.

After wandering around for a while, he saw the new one in the northern part of the mountain, surrounded by a group of humans.

‘You make me see blood even in the end. You humans.’

Humans are always greedy when it came to their nature.

Dealing with ordinary humans wasn’t difficult.

However, among humans, there were those whose power wasn’t human-like.

‘You need to be careful. Even if you’re going to ascend to heaven, dealing with such a human would be dangerous for you.’

He was warned like that, but he was in a crisis.

Unlike himself, who reached the pinnacle of spiritual energy, the young white tiger lacked strength and experience.

The moment he was in a hurry to help him, something unexpected happened.

Chachacha!

[Kuak!]

[Kuk!]

Suddenly, an unknown middle-aged man with shocked eyes appeared and slaughtered the group of people surrounding the white tiger cub.

The group of people looked like martial artists, yet they were helpless.

‘Did he kill them because he covets the core?’

For some reason, the man looked dangerous.

Even he, who reached the peak of spiritual energy, could sense that.

He moved there in haste,

[How dare you damn bastards aim for the divine guardian deity of Mt. Baekdu. From now on, anyone who even steps one foot into the mountain will be killed.]

It was his first time meeting that man.

Contrary to his expectations that the man was aiming for the core, the man went somewhere in the mountain after annihilating the enemies.

‘What was that? What was that guy?’

A weird one.

Throughout the hundreds of years that he lived, it was his first time meeting such a man.

Curiosity began to rise in him.

Often some martial artists cultivated in Changbai Mountain.

And the man settled too and began to polish his martial arts.

‘Is he here to practice?’

He was stronger than any human he had ever seen, so he decided to watch and observe him.

If that man made up his mind, then the White Tiger cub would be in danger.

And the man was special.

[He didn’t want them to enter?]

He expelled or killed the men who tried to enter the mountain.

In particular, he seemed to hate the martial artists from the north. There was no mercy for them.

The only survivors were the ones who came from the peninsula.

‘Such a strange guy.’

It was as if the man was trying to cover up a murder.

He decided to sit and see how long the man would stay like that.

Five years passed.

Strangely, he repeated only training and chasing out intruders for all five years.

In the meantime, the White Tiger cub was saved several times.

But still, he didn't want to trust a human, so he was just watching the man until he ascended.

But one day, the man spoke to him.

[Ahh. There is the tiger. Hasn't it been a while since we ate together? I'm bored. Let's have a drink together.]

He was a good-natured man.

'... what is he planning?'

Although he watched him for many years, it was the first time the man spoke to him.

Even though he deliberately pretended to not notice him, the man talked.

After about a month, he began to love the silly jokes of the man who drank alcohol.

The man said that he previously served as a military officer in the southern peninsula.

Just the talk of the man's military days could pass the time while they drank alcohol.

[I told my king later. We need to beat those cheeky bastards to death and restore the glory of the old predecessor. But the King didn't listen to me. I was pretty frustrated as he fell for the words of those whose heads were full of shit.]

Complaints, complaints.

That made the White Tiger feel like the man wasn't different from any other human.

Still, he enjoyed it.

Living for hundreds of years, this was fun.

[Wah? I must have gone crazy! Divine Spirit. So you're saying you can transform into a human? Wah.]

The man even got the honor of seeing the White Tiger use his ability for the first time.

What was more unusual was that even after seeing that ability, the man continued to joke around.

[Amazing. By any chance, hmm, can you turn into a woman? Ah... No? That's a pity.]

The man had a variety of emotional changes.

He taught the White Tiger martial arts because it kept watching him train.

[I haven't taught anyone outside of our family lineage, but there is nothing about not teaching an animal. Hehehe.]

The man was excited and then taught the White Tiger.

The White Tiger learned because he was interested in the experiences he was getting for the first time.

At first, it was just a pastime for the White Tiger, but with the variety of things being taught, he learned them all.

The man even talked about some interesting methods.

While learning one thing, something interesting happened.

[This is very special. Wait. There is an energy circle in your chest, but I never thought that you would have another energy circle in your Dantian too.]

Such a strange thing.

Even the White Tiger never thought that a new core would be created.

If the original core had formed with the passage of time, the new core came from the training.

Thanks to that, the White Tiger was excited as he kept on practicing new things constantly.

‘The human bastard. Does he have no friends?’

At some point, the White Tiger began to talk in a tone and language similar to the man.

Despite turning into a human, he never learned how to speak, but spending time with the man allowed him to grasp a few words.

[Why don’t you have a close friend?]

The man who was always alone brought a human into the mountain.

They were talking with each other.

The man he brought in was someone called Ark Wui, who was just as strong as the human.

He said that Ark Wui was the only friend he had in the Jianghu region, and he turned out to be a better person than the White Tiger had thought.

Like the man, he didn't covet the core of the spirit beast either.

[Because you hate humans, you began to get close with the spirit beast? Sa-kyung. Hahaha!]

This new man, who was full of spirit called Ark Wui, was also a good one.

Somehow, the White Tiger came to be with the two humans and had the most enjoyable time of his life.

'Before I ascend, heaven gave me a gift. Right.'

He regarded it as a gift from heaven.

However, the fact that their friendship grew was true.

The White Tiger just hoped that the happiness and joy wouldn't vanish until he reached heaven. But the worst happened.

As a spirit beast that accumulated spiritual energy for a long time, it reached its time.

The man congratulated him and said that he felt sad that his old friend was leaving.

[If there is a meeting, there is also a parting. Right. Goodbye, my friend. I will train hard in the future and come for you, so don't act all arrogant because you went first.]

The White Tiger wanted to ascend in a good mood.

However, right when he was about to move, unknown sinister energy broke into the mountain.

Someone with tremendous energy, as if he were a spirit beast who was also ready to ascend to heaven like the White Tiger, yet, the White Tiger felt danger from the presence.

[Don't worry, you go ahead and ascend. I'll go and take care of it.]

'This is different. Something so creepy and dangerous might be out there.'

[Hahahah, my best friend. Before coming here, I was called the best warrior in Goryeo. What would dare to fight me? Haha.]

Showing confidence, the man set off towards the ominous energy.

The real definition of a cool guy.

Just by listening to his words, the White Tiger's anxiety disappeared.

This time, he hoped that he would get the task done.

But everything turned out wrong.

As he was concentrating on ascending, he felt the energy of the man weaken.

As if that wasn't enough, he heard the wailing of the next White Tiger.

[Koooooooo!]

The sound of a painful death.

No matter how hard he tried to focus on ascending, the two things he noticed made it difficult.

In the end, he couldn't concentrate anymore and headed to the place in the mountain.

‘!?’

An unidentified man was pulling out the core of the new White Tiger.

The guy who pulled out the core of the young white tiger didn't even have a single emotion on his face.

He was such a monstrous person that he couldn't be considered human in any way.

[This is fun. You turned into a human?]

With those words, the man was about to approach the White Tiger with his blue sword.

[Cough... cough... run, run away... this... man... is ... a monster...]

His friend, who had collapsed with his arms cut off, coughed blood and shouted before he closed his eyes as if he died.

‘Sa-kyung?’

When he saw that, the White Tiger lost his mind.

‘KWOOOOOO!’

The idea of ascending left his mind completely.

Hatred began to consume him.

He fought with the monster-like man who held a sword.

After colliding several times, he transformed into his natural form to kill him.

After that, he remembered nothing.

The hatred and lust for destruction consumed him.

By the time he came to his senses, the peaks surrounding Changbai Mountain were all destroyed and in ruin.

Bang!

One by one, the fists which came at him were strong enough to bring him back to reality.

If it wasn't for Ark Wui, his other friend, the White Tiger would have run amok.

[He's dying. Without even listening to him, do you want to destroy the world?]

'He's alive?'

The young white tiger was dead.

However, Sa-kyung was on the verge of death, gasping for breath.

'Sa-kyung! Sa-kyung!'

[Cough... cough... I thought today... was a good day... but, it doesn't seem like that. Haha... I wanted to see you ascend...]

with my own eyes... but you lost it because of me. Cough... cough.]

‘No! If you take my blood, you might live.’

The White Tiger bit his arm and let his blood run down the lips of Sa-kyung.

He never did it before, but he knew from the words of the Wulin people that his blood had the power to regenerate anything.

However, both his arms were cut off, and even his dantian was broken.

[Kuaaaaaak!]

Sa-kyung’s veins stood up as if they were about to burst.

On the contrary, if he was in top condition, he would have been fine, but now his state was horrible.

‘It shouldn’t be like this. This can’t be...’

He didn’t want to see his friend in pain.

But death was approaching, yet the man spoke without resentment.

[Cough...I... I had something wonderful before I left... right, if... if it wasn’t for that bastard... today would have been... a good day.]

‘No. Sa-kyung. Sa-kyung. You shouldn’t die here.’

Even Ark Wui shed tears.

Seeing him dying, hatred and anger started flowing again.

He wanted to catch that bastard and tear him apart piece by piece until there was nothing left.

[... I... have a request.]

‘What is it?’

“Cough... cough... please... you. You don’t need to give up on your dream for revenge. Got it?”

‘No... don’t say things like that.’

[Cough... cough... you are quite... stubborn. Hehe. Ark Wui. This friend of mine... cough... stop him. Don’t... cough... let him... do... anything.]

He made a request to Ark Wui.

He accepted the request, but he was too concerned that the monster would return.

It was natural to be concerned because he was the monster who killed his friend and ran away.

‘Do you think I can’t kill that bastard!’

[... my best friend for a long... time... cough. You’ve been building yourself... for your dream. Leave those... for Ark Wui... and...]

Sa-kyung’s eyes lost focus and became blurry.

And his body turned cold as if his soul separated from it.

“Sa-kyung! Sa-kyung! Wake up! Does it make sense that you, the strongest in the world, are defeated by someone and die?!”

Ark Wui grabbed him by the shoulders and shook him, but to no avail.

A lost soul couldn't be trapped.

"I want to talk more with you... to see your face... why..."

Before he could even finish speaking, the man died.

He pretended to be calm for the sake of his living friends, but his body was trembling, and he was afraid of dying.

When the strength in his hands was lost, the world the White Tiger knew shattered

He wanted to get his revenge on the man.

It didn't matter if the opponent was a monster or not.

His hunger would only be relieved if that person could be found and killed.

[Are you going to betray your friend's last wish for revenge?]

His hatred and anger was suppressed by Ark Wui.

Their friend prayed that the White Tiger wouldn't be bound by revenge and ascend.

It was because he knew the wish of the White Tiger, who had spent all its life for that.

However, once hatred took hold, the spirit beast got eroded by the devil.

And it would never ascend without purifying.

Ark Wui said that he would remain and help purify the spirit beast.

‘Move! If you keep blocking me, I’ll kill you too!’

[... I will handle your wrath. If I fail to handle you, you can do whatever you want.]

‘Handle my wrath?’

Like that, Ark Wui confronted him every ten years and helped him release his anger, but the White Tiger was different from humans.

Humans tend to forget things and erase painful memories.

However, for a spirit beast, even after hundreds of years, memories couldn’t be erased.

The hatred grew, and he wanted to kill everyone and everything in Jianghu.

‘They stole everything.’

He slaughtered everyone who came to the mountain.

He hated them.

Since the blood didn’t stop flowing, instead of being purified, the ill intent only grew.

And today, the traces of that monster were felt again.

These men had something to do with that monster.

‘Maybe the spirit of Sa-kyung is helping me. Today, I’ll erase those bastards from the world.’

The men in front of him were nothing but enemies, and he had no intention of holding himself back for the sake of the oath.

He wanted to kill them all, leaving no one behind.

But his wish was about to disappear.

Slash!

‘!?’

He had surrendered himself to hatred, and a sharp slash on his neck was felt.

Swoosh!

He looked at the wind and rain with a bitter expression, he couldn’t tell if he was crying or if the rain was falling.

The man who hit him had something in his hand.

‘Sword?’

The only thing left behind by his dead friend.

And the other friend who vowed to never use a weapon for the rest of his life swung it at him.

And the target of the sword was the White Tiger’s neck.

Sa-kyung!

As his head got cut off, his mind thought of only one thing.

‘Maybe... this... is... for the... best...’

Swaaaaah!

Wheeing!

The rain and the wind in the dark clouds made everything look sad.

As the giant head of the black tiger got cut off, the strong typhoon gradually weakened.

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

Ark Wui mumbled bitterly at the death of the tiger while holding the sword in hand.

“I will carry all your hatred. You will meet our friend in the afterlife and in the not-too-distant future, I will come there too, so let’s have a drink like the old days.”

Rumble!

He looked up, but the rain didn’t stop. Blazing black flames drew in the air drawing numerous trajectories.

Chapter 459 - You Aren't Him (3)

459: You Aren't Him (3)

“Kuaaak!”

The Blade Lord got hit by the Sword Art of the Demon God, which came for him with black flames.

As he got swept back by the sword, he felt his entire body get cut and burnt.

It seemed like killing him was more forgiving.

Thud!

In the aftermath of that technique, his body sank into the frozen lake.

Swoosh!

Each time a raindrop fell on his open wounds, it hurt.

He couldn't even understand what was happening.

He lost.

But from what was written in the records, the Demon God, the current level of the Demon God, shouldn't even be capable of standing in front of him.

But facing him, he was like a monster.

‘I kept getting pushed back.’

Even after absorbing the core of the Great Bird, he got pushed back, and even when using his clan's techniques, he lost.

He never imagined that there was anything more than the Sword Force of the Sky Demon in the Demonic Cult.

No, even in the records, it was far into the future when the Demon God even acquired one core.

'What went wrong?'

Although the appearance of the God of the East was a variable, before Chun Yeowun had appeared in the mountain, the Blade God Six Martial Clan had moved and prepared everything according to the records.

He even prepared his own body.

'I am the head who is supposed to gain eternal life and immortality. Why is this happening to me?'

He was even more miserable now than after his first defeat.

Rather, the God of the East wasn't even recorded in the records, so he could be considered a variable in their plan, but the Demon God shouldn't even be in the region.

Woong!

He wasn't the only one who faced the aftermath of defeat.

Even though they were swept away by the typhoon, the impact the warriors faced was too much.

"B... Blade Lord is defeated?"

"Does that mean that the Demon God is stronger?"

“That can’t be.”

To the Blade God Six Martial Clan, the Blade Lord was God.

The person who is as strong as a mountain that would never break collapsed in front of everyone.

The figure, which raged covered in burns and blood, was that of a loser.

‘No. It can’t happen like this!’

Hwang-heol, the one in bandages, couldn’t hide his shock as he watched the warriors’ morale drop sharply because of their Lord’s defeat.

If he doesn’t do something, everything they did would be for nothing.

It would be possible to save their power by trying to hold back the two monsters, the Demon God and the God of the East, and then flee, but even then, it would only be possible for the elite to escape.

[Hwang-heol.]

He turned his head to the person who sent the telepathic message.

It was the former lord Woo, with the golden eyepatch, who was trying to calm his breath and mind.

[This old man and the other former lord with the remaining spirit squad will stop those two monsters. Hurry up and retreat with the Blade Lord and the other warriors. However, there is no chance we will win.]

They hated to admit it, but nothing could reverse the situation.

Like Hwang-heol, the former lords chose to save their people and preserve power.

Even if the others were abandoned, their Lord had to be taken away.

[How can you two make such sacrifices? You lead the troop...]

[They aren't people you can handle. We are prepared to use the Blood Reversion Art if needed.]

Hwang-heol didn't respond to the voice full of determination to sacrifice their lives for the sake of their Lord.

As former lord Woo said, there was no way that Hwang-heol could handle both the monsters and survive.

[Then, please run away!]

With those words, former lord Woo shouted to the warriors of his clan.

A voice filled with internal energy resounded throughout Changbai Mountain.

"Listen, everyone. Unless we kill those two monsters here, there is no future for us. I remove all restrictions placed on you. Kill them by any means possible!"

"Yes!!"

Responding to his order, the surviving men shouted at once.

Of the 1,000 warriors, only about 400 survived the typhoon.

Even so, if that many people could use the completed Blood Reversion Art, even if the opponents were monsters, they would be unable to do anything.

Bubble!

Bulge!

Once the order fell, almost everyone began to use the Blood Reversion Art.

The completed Blood Reversion Art showed the body's maximum ability, and it played a vital role in boosting someone's energy and regeneration speed.

However, there were side effects of using it.

Still, the side effects were much less dire than the incomplete Blood Reversion Art's, which was practiced in the past.

"GRRR!"

Howls of wild beasts could be heard everywhere.

The energy of the warriors, whose muscles and skeletons grew unusually large, looked terrifying.

The first ones to transform were the elite members of the clan who were above Master level.

"These are evil things which need to be destroyed."

Gooooo!

Seeing them like that, Ark Wui turned to the fight with enthusiasm.

He felt terrible after killing his friend, so he had no desire to show mercy to them or himself.

“God of the East!”

“Kuak!! Die!”

The Blade God Six Martial Clan warriors, who were all in close vicinity of Ark Wui, rushed towards him.

Their swords were glowing with sword qi.

It was clear that everyone was rushing towards the Divine Master while putting their lives on the line with higher energy than before.

“Foolish!”

Ark Wui extended his fist towards them.

The space distorted, and a strong wind swept them away.

Kwakwakwang!

“KUAK!”

“Kuk!”

Their bodies were torn to shreds by the strong pressure.

How could they withstand the blows from the God of the East, who was the best at what he does?

They all just fell.

Srrr!

“GRRRR!”

“Well?”

Ark Wui noticed something.

Some sacrificed their bodies to protect their heads.

Such people overcame the pain as their bodies began to regenerate rapidly and marched towards him again.

“Trying to become a monster with a human body?”

He knew how to stop their movements, either cut off their heads or crush them to bits.

Like how he killed his friend.

Ark Wui frowned with displeasure and then once again unleashed another fist at them.

Phat!

Meanwhile, Chun Yeowun, who was moving towards the Blade Lord, who was stuck to the ground, was also surrounded by the warriors who unfolded the Blood Reversion Art.

The first person to attack him was former lord Woo.

Swish!

Chun Yeowun blocked the incoming attack, which came in with a huge force.

Chachachang!

The momentum of the sword technique was amazing.

In terms of executing it, it exceeded even those who were in the Supreme Master Level.

“GRRRR! Die! Demon God!”

From the very beginning, former Lord Woo possessed skills comparable to that of the five strongest warriors.

As he unfolded the Blood Reversion Art, his original limit was exceeded, and the attacks seemed divine.

It was his conviction to do anything and everything to kill the opponent.

Chachachang!

‘... he intends to die.’

Even if Chun Yeowun used his invisible sword, he attacked without hesitation, and Chun Yeowun had no choice but to stop the sword technique the man was using.

‘Endure everything. To make time for the Blade Lord to escape.’

From the beginning, the man knew that he wouldn’t win against Chun Yeowun.

As long as they made time for their Lord to escape, it didn’t matter if their lives were lost.

Papak!

“Die!”

At that time, the other warriors who were around Chun Ywoeun attacked.

Their energy, which unfolded after the Blood Reversion Art, was also unusual.

Their red eyes were dyed with conviction.

‘You are too occupied with former lord Woo’s attacks.’

As much as he struggled to prevent the attacks of former lord Woo, Chun Yeowun couldn’t move as he was already busy dealing with one person.

Maybe they could corner him.

“GRRRR! Haaaa!”

With the growl of an animal, the warriors attacked Chun Yeowun from behind.

Their faces filled with joy when they thought that they could kill the man,

Clang!

‘!?’

Their sword qi which was radiating, split in two.

Thinking that the armor made of black metal would be strong, they swung their swords with their full strength, but it was even stronger than they imagined.

“What kind of armor is that strong?”

Even former lord Woo, who was ahead, couldn’t hide his surprise.

Sword qi is known to cut through rocks.

But it didn't even work on the armor.

"You didn't think that I had some useless armor on, did you?"

Pierce!

After a moment, Chun Yeowun's two fingers stabbed former lord Woo in his eyes.

It was an unexpected attack. Trying to cover his eyes, he screamed.

"KUUUUUU! My eyes! My eyesssss!"

Chachachacha!

Even though his regeneration was fast, it wasn't fast enough.

Chun Yeowun grabbed the man through his eye socket and cut off his head with an invisible sword.

Slash!

He rushed in with determination, but in the end, it was futile.

Seeing former lord Woo fall down with his head cut off, the others shouted.

"Former lord Woooo!"

"You don't have time to worry about others."

Chun Yeowun cut the throats of the warriors behind him.

Slash!

Contrary to the God of the East, Chun Yeowun had fought countless times against people who used the Blood Reversion Art.

Cutting their necks is how they are stopped.

However, the number was large.

At least two hundred or more red-eyed monsters were around him.

‘Beheading them one after another is too much work.’

It would take a considerable amount of time.

“GRRRRR!”

“Kill him!”

Dozens of warriors jumped at him.

There was nothing he could do, which meant that he had to suppress them with overwhelming power.

At that, Chun Yeowun mumbled with cold eyes.

“I know that this is a plot to stall for time. Do you really think that it will work?”

With those words, Chun Yeowun stretched out his arm towards the dark clouds.

Grrrr!

Thunder could be heard from the dark clouds, and bright lightning flashed.

Even the warriors whose rationality was half blown away because of the Blood Reversion Art were confused and looked at the bizarre phenomenon.

“Grrrr! N-No way!”

“As if...”

No matter how much they thought about it, the thunder had to be a coincidence.

It was that moment.

“Take them down.”

Grrr! Bang!

As Chun Yeowun lowered his hand, the dark thunder clouds began to release lightning.

As the huge lightning bolts fell, it was nothing short of a disaster.

“Wh... crazy!”

“Is he not human?”

Lightning couldn’t be summoned in such a short amount of time.

Shoot! Crackle!

Their bodies were soaked, and the land was flooded. More than two hundred warriors were struck by lightning and electrocuted.

Crackle!

“KUUUUUUAK!”

“KUUUUUU!”

Chun Yeowun had taken in thunder qi, so obviously, he could control it.

He was able to create such a phenomenon because of the thunder clouds which were already present.

Grrrr! Bang!

Hwang-heol, the man in bandages, bit his lip as he watched the lightning fall.

At first glance, he knew who was doing it.

‘... he is no longer human.’

He knew that Chun Yeowun absorbed the core of the Dragon Turtle and was capable of using thunder qi, but watching it gave him a different feeling.

It seemed meaningless to call the man human.

The only person who was supposed to be a God was their Blade Lord, who reached the pinnacle of martial arts, but that didn’t seem to be the case any longer.

‘Blade Lord...’

Hwang-heol looked at the Blade Lord, who was on the back of a warrior.

Grunt!

The Blade Lord’s body was regenerating little by little.

But it was completely different from what he thought.

Having absorbed the core, he expected the body to recover faster, but now it was as if something was restricting the healing.

‘That ferocious sword that Demon unleashed is interfering with his regeneration.’

The Blade Lord would have regenerated much faster had it not been for the black energy that seeped into his body.

While being carried away, the Blade Lord focused on getting that energy out.

‘Demon God!!!’

Grunt!

An intense anger, which he felt for the first time after his loss against the God of the East, came over him again.

He felt that he was disgraced and looked miserable.

It was pitiful. They were sacrificing their elite men for only a handful of masters to run away.

The masters who rushed down Changbai Mountain kept silent, knowing how their Lord must’ve been feeling.

Retreating, escaping, either of them was depressing for anyone.

“Bitter defeat is nourishment. Demon God... this head never settles for defeat. Enjoy today’s victory. After all, time is on our side.”

Calming his mind, the Blade Lord spoke to his warriors.

It was to prevent a drop in their morale.

“Even if we are defeated now, the legacy will never stop. Remember the blood and sacrifices we had to make. This head promises to you all...”

It was then,

Blue rays of light fell in front of them as they rushed down the mountain.

Kwakwakwang!

“S-Stop!”

All of them had to stop at once.

Hwang-heol mumbled in a trembling voice.

“This, Sky Flash?”

As soon as he finished speaking, someone flew across the air.

Swoosh!

It was the Demon God, Chun Yeowun, who stood in their way.

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

Chun Yeowun landed in front of them and spoke.

“There is no next time for you. Fake Blade God.”

‘!!!’

Hearing the last part, the eyes of the Blade Lord shook.

Chapter 460 - You Aren't Him (4)

Chapter 460: You Aren't Him (4)

The words which came out of the Demon God's mouth about the Blade God didn't just shock the Blade Lord.

Even Hwang-heol and the other masters weren't able to hide their shock.

Blade God.

It was their ancestor.

The problem wasn't that he knew the name.

Many people in Wulin knew the name Blade God, a man of the past.

In addition, there were factions in the Yulin and the Demonic Cult who were aware of the descendants of the Blade God, and they knew it through the clan's spies.

But that was all.

No one could know the true secret behind their clan.

"Fake... Blade God?"

But why did Chun Yeowun refer to the Blade Lord as a fake Blade God?

Their secrets couldn't be known.

Raging, on the back of a master, the Blade Lord yelled out in anger.

“I haven’t inherited the title yet, but you Demon God has no right to know about those things.”

‘Inherited?’

Chun Yeowun’s eyes lit up.

Because of the Blade Lord’s words, he realized that the name Blade God was equivalent to the name Chun Ma in the Demonic Cult.

With a single unintentional stimulus, unexpected information was obtained.

Chun Yeowun remembered the face he saw in the video of Nano.

‘Different.’

The strong face of the Blade God with thick eyebrows was completely different from the Blade Lord.

But the Blade Lord’s words meant that he was the Blade God who controlled the future.

This only made him more confused.

‘Then, as the descendant called Chun said, someone from the future altered the past, but as the Blade Lord said, is it possible for someone in the future to inherit the name of Blade God?’

He made some assumptions.

There was a high probability that he was a separate person from the Blade God who appeared in the past and fought the Sword Demon.

It felt more realistic than making complicated connections.

One thing was certain.

“You are not.”

The Blade Lord felt strong displeasure from Chun Yeowun’s determined tone.

“... what are you talking about now, Demon God?”

“You don’t need to know.”

“How dare you!”

Chun Yeowun calmly made him realize his reality.

“Do you think that you have the right to ask me that when you’re escaping at the expense of your subordinates?”

Trembling!

‘Blade Lord...’

The master who was carrying the Blade Lord felt his trembling.

They also felt his intense hatred towards Chun Yeowun and his humiliating words. Were they any different from the Blade Lord?

However, it seemed like the Blade Lord was suppressing his anger.

Ssss!

The Blade Lord was doing everything he could to get rid of the ugly energy which seeped into his body.

If they left, he could regenerate.

But if everyone died, the Blade God Six Martial Clan would receive a wound that cannot be healed.

‘The Demon God will follow us to the base, right?’

They had to delay their departure.

Originally, they wouldn’t bother answering, but the only thing they wanted to do was overcome the crisis.

“... what do you want to know about the main seat?”

Chun Yeowun’s eye lit up at the Blade Lord’s question.

Since he thought that the man wouldn’t give an honest answer, Chun Yeowun was planning on subduing and torturing him.

[The internal energy of the injured person is active.]

Nano’s voice echoed in Chun Yeowun’s head.

‘I know.’

Even if Nano didn’t tell him, he could feel the internal energy of the Blade Lord rising.

Besides, he knew more by looking at his tense eyes.

‘... playing tricks. Are you trying to stall for time to release my energy in your body?’

He immediately understood his intentions.

Chun Yeowun, who was concerned for a moment, decided that it would be better to do something else.

When he tried to get information from one of the past masters of the Blade God Six Martial Clan, who was detained in the Demonic Cult, he lost his reasoning without even giving out a few words.

‘But since he’s the head, the probability of that happening is low, but...’

He couldn’t be sure that a thorough clan like the Blade God Six Martial Clan wouldn’t have placed a ban in the mind of its head.

If that was the case, acting like he was fooled was the best choice.

Chun Yeowun opened his mouth while looking at the Blade Lord.

“You promised to kill me and change the future.”

‘Shit!’

The Blade Lord’s eye fluttered.

He never expected Chun Yeowun to remember and ask that.

Even when he was trying to keep a calm expression, Chun Yeowun, who could see everything from his facial muscles to the contraction of his pupils, asked.

“... I see that you know the future?”

‘!!!’

As a response to that question, not just the Blade Lord but even Hwang-heol was shocked.

It was just out of curiosity, but their actions gave him the answer.

‘So, it’s true?’

Chun Yeowun asked it, going off an assumption.

If you could go back to the past, what would you do to change the present?

Implant your descendants with Nano Machines.

If so, those who claim to be the descendants of the Blade God are likely to have received something from the one in the future.

‘H-How did he even? How did the Demon God kno...’

Those who were aware of that fact were few in the Blade God Six Martial Clan.

The Blade Lord opened his eyes and looked at Hwang-heol.

[Hwang-heol!]

[I-I too, what is happening?]

[...was the record left behind by him leaked?]

Without that, there was no way that the Demon God could ask such an accurate question.

To that, Hwang-heol replied, bewildered.

[There is no way that could have happened. Blade Lord! No one has invaded the base with the record. Besides, even if it's leaked, the only people who can read it properly are me and the other two former lords.]

Hwang-heol was right.

Even if it was leaked, only four people could read the record, including the Blade Lord.

As a test, they asked literates to read it, but no one managed to interpret it.

It was because, besides the simplified characters, there were words that didn't exist in the current Jianghu.

In the end, it meant that they couldn't read it.

'Record?'

Chun Yeowun's eyes narrowed.

Thanks to the ability, which helped eavesdrop on others' telepathic messages, he could hear their conversation.

Suddenly, he remembered what Chun Inji said.

[They are pretty great people. I couldn't get much information because they used words with simple strokes of Chinese characters.]

At that time, Chun Yeowun assumed that it was simple Chinese words.

If these two people were talking about that, then Chun Inji must have copied what was being referred to as the record.

Not knowing that Chun Yeowun was listening to them, Hwang-heol continued to deny it.

[It's absolutely impossible for the Demon God to know that!]

[Saying you are 'definite'... wait!]

The Blade Lord's eyes trembled.

He knew that the record wasn't leaked.

But something felt strange.

When thinking about it, according to the record, the Demon God was still supposed to be the crown prince of the Demonic Cult.

And the reason he was involved with Chun Yujong, the former Lord, was to prevent Chun Yeowun from even becoming the crown prince.

'I didn't really care, but because he can't intervene directly in the past, not all records left behind fit perfectly.'

Even if the Demon God was growing faster than mentioned in the records, this speed was too fast.

Now they couldn't even stop him.

As the Demon God gets called the Second Generation Chun Ma in the future, according to the records, they took it as a warning and tried to obtain all the cores.

But coincidentally, he interrupted them every time.

Thanks to that, the core of the Flame Qilin, Dragon Turtle, Imoogi, and now even the White Tiger got taken away.

‘Initially, we were thinking in the wrong way. Since he is the second generation Chun Ma, it isn’t so unexpected that he moved like that.’

The Blade Lord looked at Chun Yeowun with a stiff face and said.

“You know the future too. Demon God!”

Without that, how could he turn all of their plans into dust?

Hwang-heol looked at Chun Yeowun in a way that said he didn’t want to trust what he heard.

Chun Yeowun’s eyes became gloomy at those words.

‘This is going in a completely different direction.’

He didn’t know the future.

He only knew that someone from the future intervened in the past.

Although his opponents were ignorant, he didn’t consider it necessary to deny that.

‘I can get more information.’

Maybe they didn’t know who the real Blade God was.

Chun Yeowun said casually.

“You’re pretty quick. Then you know that you can’t cheat, right?”

They faltered when he went along with their question.

In particular, the one called Hwnag-heol responded.

[Bl-Blade Lord! It's impossible. His records clearly state that something in his body couldn't be removed and that the TP intervenes, so no one but himself can intervene in the past!]

'TP?'

It wasn't the language of Jianghu, nor was it something from this era.

Chun Yeowun had heard that word somewhere.

The word was definitely mentioned by Chun in Nano's video.

[Doctor, your words are right. Still, the ID chip is dangerous. You do know that if you get a Nano Machine, tracking by the TP will be faster, right?]

Even his descendant Chun seemed concerned about it.

He didn't know what this TP exactly was, but it seemed like something which prevented the people from the future from intervening in the past.

This clan's descendants also seem to have injected themselves with Nano Machines and disappeared because of it.

Chun Yeowun's eyes widened, thinking about it.

'Wait up, does that mean that the person they keep talking about didn't just help them from the future but also stayed in the past?'

He didn't go back like descendant Chun.

He was in the past.

Wondering, he thought about the traces of Blade God Six Martial Clan's sword, which first appeared in the days of the past, in sword valley, and even during the time of Chun Ma.

In addition, the Extreme Art of the Blade God had developed over time.

'I was wrong. Right. That's it. He went further back in time!'

Chun Yeowun spoke to them.

"The one you keep talking about is the Blade God..."

It was then.

Swoosh!

A black haze spurted from the Blade Lord's body.

The release of the entire Sky Demon Energy in him.

At the same time, the eyes of the Blade Lord, which looked like death, were revived, and he flew towards Chun Yeowun.

Swoosh!

"Indeed, you, the Demon God, has to be killed here!"

Whoo!

Space distorted from the hand of the Blade Lord, which condensed energy.

It was the unification of energy.

The Blade Lord, who raised his energy and the ice qi of the Great Bird, tried to kill Chun Yeowun.

Now that he was lost in thought, it was his only chance to kill Chun Yeowun.

Then,

Crackle!

‘This?’

An invisible sword made out of black thunder qi formed in front of Chun Yeowun.

It was a mistake to think that the Blade Lord wouldn’t be vigilant because of his injuries.

Yet, Chun Yeowun was in perfect condition.

“Not worth it.”

With those words, Chun Yeowun stretched out his hand.

Crackle woong!

The space distorted as all the energy unified on the tip of the black thunder qi invisible sword.

“Un-Unification?”

Blade Lord couldn’t help but be shocked.

He had to spend twenty years learning the supreme secret.

It was a secret move he had been hiding until the very end, even when he was on the verge of losing against Demon God on the peak.

“No way. You, how can yo...”

Crackle! Crackle!

Before he could even finish his words, a beam of black lightning struck him.

The Blade Lord responded by urgently unifying the energy he gathered in his hand.

Pang!

“Kuak!”

Blood gushed out of his mouth.

He tried to hold the energy shield with all his might.

“KUUUUU!”

It was impossible to stop the sword technique, which was rushing in with black thunder qi and an invisible sword all unified together.

Chun Yeowun spoke in a cold voice.

“Don’t dream of playing around.”

Crackle! Kwakwakng!

“De-Demon God! No! Eukkk!”

The attack of the Blade Lord was destroyed, and his body got swept away by the lightning in an instant.

The screams were strong and terrifying until they slowly became fleeting.

The only traces left behind were the spots that the black lightning burnt.

“Uh... how did this happen!”

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

“Blade Lorrddddd!!!”

Hwang-heol and the other masters screamed and tried to find him, but there were no traces of him.

As if he disappeared.

As if he vanished completely, leaving no cells behind.

Chapter 461 - On the Verge of Life and Death (1)

461: On the Verge of Life and Death (1)

Swoosh!

The rain, which had been falling hard, gradually stopped.

The eight masters who lost their leader, the Blade Lord, had no choice but to be devastated.

Who would have known that he, who surpassed the limits of a human, would suffer so vainly?

There was nothing left of him.

As if nothing ever happened.

‘No. He can’t be human!’

‘He has gone beyond what we can do.’

A battle was possible only when there was a certain degree of odds.

The sense of deprivation from losing their Lord caused fear to rise inside the remaining master’s minds.

Chun Yeowun looked at the eight masters and Hwang-heol.

“Now it’s just you. Rather than running away from me this clumsily, I’d like to advise you to choose a clean fight or surrender.

Grunt!

Hwang-heol became angry at his warning as he ground his teeth.

But the reality was cruel.

Being angry doesn't mean that the irreversible situation could be reversed.

Hwang-heol shouted at the masters, who all turned pale and began to sweat.

"Everyone spread out in all directions!"

There was only one glimmer of survival.

As if waiting for the orders, all the masters rushed in different directions.

Ta! Tatata!

Anyone had to live.

At least one master had to make it back to their base and ensure that the Demonic Cult couldn't invade them. If not, everything would be lost.

'We can't give up this easily.'

Chun Yeowun shook his head.

If the clan were the type to abandon everything just because their head was dead, they would have collapsed already.

‘Is there anything left to do?’

He couldn’t use his qi anymore.

If he drew out the remaining qi, he could surely bring out another attack, but then he wouldn’t be able to defend himself if someone attacked.

‘If it’s them, then this much should be enough.’

The masters all seemed like warriors who reached the Super Master Level.

Even if he didn’t unfold invisible swords with qi, the Sky Flash should be enough.

Phat!

White particles were emitted from the soles of the Nano Suit as Chun Yeowun floated into the air.

As he raised his hands high in the sky, extreme yin was released, causing the temperature to drop and frost to rise around.

Jjkkkk!

The condensed frost soon formed into swords.

Chun Yeowun, who had reached a high level in cold qi cultivation, could make ice swords stronger than iron.

Twenty-seven ice swords formed.

‘For now, this is the limit.’

Any further consumption of internal energy had to be restrained.

‘Track them.’

[Yes. Operating the remote panel system according to the user’s command.]

When Nano’s voice ended, three ice swords went out in each direction towards the fleeing masters.

A blue hue was glowing on the ice swords which streaked through the air.

Woong!

It looked like the swords were moving at the speed of an arrow.

‘Nano!’

[Enabling multi lock-on system.]

Nano’s voice resonated in his head, and red targets in the form of crosses formed in the augmented reality where white lines were drawn towards them.

Beep beep beep beep beep!

When the masters who were scattered in all directions were running away and were designated as targets, Chun Yeowun stretched out his hand.

The ice swords made of cold qi turned blue and rushed for them.

Chachacha!

The faces of the masters who were running away with all their might turned pale.

There was no way that they weren't aware of the energy which was coming from behind them.

"Ugh. The Sky Flash! Damn it!"

"This is crazy! How does he still have energy left?"

They didn't know that the swords were flying towards everyone and thought they had bad luck as out running an Air Sword was impossible, so some tried to stop it.

However, the power of the Air Sword, which was being used during the Sky Flash, was too great for them to stop.

Chachang!

"Kuak!"

The sword of a master broke with two attacks from one Air Sword while another Air Sword pierced his chest.

The other masters were no different.

The power of the Air Swords was too strong for them to block.

"Kuak!"

"Kuk!"

Swords with huge blue wings came for them, and their targets in the augmented reality disappeared one by one.

There was only one red cross left.

It was Hwang-heol, the man in bandages who endured it.

Chachachang!

His sword broke because of the 3 Air Swords which came for him, and he struggled to block the Air Swords with sword qi from his bare hands.

Kwak!

“Ack! My arm!”

His arm flew off as he tried to stop the Air Sword, which couldn't be stopped.

Enduring the pain of losing his arm, he tried to escape from it, but it pierced his chest.

Kwak! Thud!

“Ugh! This, this can't...”

Drip!

Blood began to flow from the corner of Hwang-heol's mouth.

Hwang-heol looked down at his chest, which had a hole the size of his head. His entire body trembled, and he stopped breathing.

“Phew.”

Chun Yeowun, who was floating in the air, took a deep breath.

With that, the remaining power of the Blade God Six Martial Clan was annihilated.

‘Did Ark Wui take care of everything?’

All that was left was the base of the Blade God Six Martial Clan.

If that one place was annihilated, the Blade God Six Martial Clan, which had been trying to secretly cause waves in the lives of the Wulin people, would disappear for good.

Of course, other things had to be done before that.

‘Grandfather said that he copied a few things down from the record, so I should check that out before heading south.’

If he could read the hidden record his grandfather kept, he would discover some secrets.

‘Let’s head to the God of the East for now.’

It was the moment when Chun Yeowun was about to turn towards Changbai Mountain.

Creepy!

‘Hold... what was that?’

He felt a rise in energy.

It wasn’t that big, but it was definitely something that didn’t feel nice.

Chun Yeowun looked up at the top of the mountain.

The side of the mountain was so quiet that it felt like something was wrong.

‘Fleeting feeling. But...’

At the top of Changbai Mountain was Ark Wui.

Even the Blade Lord couldn’t stand in front of that man, but something strange seemed to have happened.

So he decided to hurry up.

Shhhh!

Nano formed the helmet, and with the white energy released from the soles, Chun Yeowun flew towards Changbai Mountain.

Swoosh!

It wasn't long after Chun Yeowun disappeared.

In the place where the dead body of Hwang-heol was, afterimages shook, and a figure appeared.

Shrek!

A handsome young man with bright red hair.

With careful steps, the young man approached the corpse of Hwang-heol and turned over the body.

The body was cold, and the whites were the only things that could be seen in his eyes.

Tak!

The young man pressed on Hwang-heol's neck vein with two fingers.

A very faint heartbeat could be felt.

How could the man who got his heart pierced still have a heartbeat?

"You endured."

The young man's lips formed into a smile as his two fingers began to gather energy and pushed it into the blood vessels which were on the side of Hwang-heol's dantian.

Tatatata!

After a few tries, he pulled something out of his sleeve.

A small jar, the size of a fist, and when the lid was opened, a foul odor came out.

The young man brought the jar to Hwang-heol's lips.

Flow!

The dark red liquid flowed out of the bottle and entered Hwang-heol's mouth.

The young man supported Hwang-heol's neck as he lifted his head a little for the liquid to enter his throat.

The dark liquid flowed down his throat.

The young man with bright red hair, who poured every last drop of the liquid, looked at the dead man with tense eyes.

No change.

"What? Did he really die?"

The young man was puzzled.

It was then.

Hwang-heol's eyes, which only had the whites showing, moved to their original position, and the man let out a rough breath.

“UGHHHHHHH!”

At the same time, a surprising change occurred.

Gurgling!

The veins in his chest, which were all torn, began to reconnect like threads.

Not just the veins, even the muscles began to reattach.

After a while, the hole in his chest was completely regenerated.

Attach!

When the chest was completely healed, the right arm, which was lost too, began to regenerate.

It didn't take as long as the chest did.

“Pant... pant... pant...”

And it didn't stop.

Psssss!

The area around the head, which was always bandaged, began to bulge too, and soon hair started to grow.

It was dark blue hair and not black hair.

Hwang-heol, who was lying on the floor, raised his upper body and exhaled.

“Haaa.... Haaa...”

Seeing that, the red-haired young man smiled and spoke.

“You did well. So, how does it feel to be alive after almost dying?”

Hwang-heol looked at the young man with absurd eyes and asked.

“Would you say the same thing if you died too?”

“It’s hard to say if you were dead or alive. You were in complete tatters despite him not using his full power.”

At that Hwang-heol mumbled.

“...not using full energy? He’s a total monster.”

“Those are the words you said, Hwang-heol, the second in command. It looks like his growth exceeded our expectations.”

Hwang-heol spoke to the red-haired young man.

“Too fast. It’s like he is getting stronger with every breath he takes.”

“... you mean?”

“The Blade Lord was overwhelmingly defeated!”

No matter how much he thought about it, Chun Yeowun became so strong so quickly that calling him the sword genius didn’t do him justice.

That was enough to change the course of the existing history.

“Ah!”

Suddenly, Hwang-heol spoke as he remembered something.

“He needs to be stopped. He has the cores of four Spirit Beasts. If he takes one more, we’re going to be in trouble!”

The one who absorbs the cores of the five spirit beasts.

Is said to gain immortality.

“Four cores? I heard from the reports that only three were taken.”

“No. That guy probably absorbed the core of the Great Bird too. I felt the spirit of the Great Bird from him.”

“I guess you’re pretty sure.”

If he really had four cores, then they were in serious trouble.

And that meant that Chun Yeowun had to be stopped.

“Are you sure that others aren’t needed?”

At Hwang-heol’s serious words, the man with bright red hair spoke with a smile.

“I don’t need others.”

“What?”

“According to what you said, this is good. I should go to him personally.”

‘!?’

Hwang-heol’s eyes widened at the young man’s words.

Chun Yeowun flew to the peak, where the battle took place.

Swoosh!

His suit began to descend as he arrived in front of the frozen lake.

‘What the hell...’

An unbelievable scene unfolded before his eyes.

Chun Yeowun saw Ark Wui dead with his arms cut off, and in front of the dead Ark Wui, a man was on his knees.

“This is great. To get me on my knees.”

Contrary to his words, the voice sounded dry.

Emotionless.

There was a wound near the man in the black robe’s chest, which swelled up and then returned to normal.

Attach!

The man passed by the dead body and opened his mouth with an emotionless face while looking at Chun Yeowun.

“It has been very long. No, this is the first time that we are crossing paths in this place. Demon God.”

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

Chun Yeowun’s eyes fluttered.

A strong face with thick eyebrows.

It was the face he saw in the video record that Nano showed.

“Blade God!”

Chapter 462 - On the Verge of Life and Death (2)

Chapter 462: On the Verge of Life and Death (2)

Honestly, he didn't expect to meet this man so quickly.

'I don't feel anything from him,'

The man's energy felt the same as the surrounding nature's.

However, the strength exuded from his face told him that he was different from those whom Chun Yeowun had met before.

The Blade Lord was strong.

And the God of the East, Ark Wui, too, would give out a scent of profound martial artists.

However, from the man in front of him, something felt amiss.

'He doesn't seem to have any emotions.'

It was almost correct based on the man's expression.

Even animals have emotions, but this person didn't seem to have any.

The Blade God.

'The legendary assassin.'

Several stories were attached to his brief appearance in Wulin.

A person who came and competed with the legendary swordsman, the Sword Demon.

For the first time since Chun Ma, the title of the best martial artist had changed.

And,

‘He’s from the future.’

If Chun Yeowun’s guess was correct, this person reversed time.

Amidst the tension, the Blade God opened his mouth.

“Excuse me for a second.”

“?”

Kwang!

The Blade God stepped forward and slightly leaned into the ground.

The ground shook as if there was an earthquake, and in an instant, a hole with a three feet radius formed around his foot.

Thud!

“Phew.”

The Blade God exhaled.

He was wondering what the man was doing until he felt a familiar energy from the ground.

‘This?’

It was the power of the Void Fist.

The Blade God scanned the ground and spoke.

“I tried dispersing it in my body, but man, it’s such an annoying power. That was the first time I met someone who reached that level with pure internal energy.”

With those words, he glanced at Ark Wui, who was behind him.

Energy spread through the floor, and despite the intense vibrations, he stood upright.

Like a deep-rooted old tree.

He shook his head at the sight.

“It was the first time since your founder that I met someone with such ruthless and strong pride. I liked that.”

He spoke as if he knew Chun Ma.

An ancestor of the distant past, more than eight hundred years ago.

‘This guy...’

There was something more unpleasant than curiosity.

The first true warrior that Chun Yeowun had acknowledged was Ark Wui.

“... you don’t seem like someone who liked that.”

Contrary to the man’s praise, there was no emotion in his voice.

When he heard that, Chun Yeowun felt like snapping at him.

“I’m sorry that you feel that way. I can understand your emotions. Having lived for so many years, I have become emotionally numb.”

With those words, the Blade God turned around, raised his head, and looked at the cloudy sky.

Swoosh!

Dark sky and rain coming down.

‘No?’

But Chun Yeowun hadn’t realized it. The raindrops didn’t touch the Blade God’s body.

The raindrops flowed down so naturally on everything else that he hadn’t noticed it until then.

‘He isn’t repulsing it.’

The raindrops bounced off.

This man used internal energy so naturally as if breathing.

Like an old man who was looking for his death, the Blade God, who was looking at the sky, slowly turned his head and then turned to Chun Yeowun.

“Time is indeed a strange thing. In ten years, rivers and mountains will change. But that isn’t everything. Even emotions change.”

“What are you trying to say?”

“It seems like our positions have changed. Colorful. Because you are a Demon God with human emotions... at that time, you were literally a Demon God, no you were a perfect God.”

Chun Yeowun frowned.

He had no idea what the man was talking about.

But hearing what he was saying, it was as if the man knew Chun Yeowun long ago.

The Blade God was from the far future and went back to the distant past.

He had no connections to the Blade God.

“From the beginning, you acted like you knew me, but this is the first time I’ve met you.”

Despite Chun Yeowun’s words, the Blade God continued.

“I always wondered what it would be like to stand on the same line as you, who was perfect in every sense. I wanted to know for sure.”

“?”

“It might be ridiculous to say it like that. Just because a fly flies in front of my eyes doesn’t mean that I feel ill about it. It’s just an annoying thing.”

“What?”

“You will feel the same way I’m feeling now.”

Shhh!

As soon as his words were finished, the Blade God, who had been far, approached him suddenly.

It was completely different from the light footwork that the others used.

It was as if the man was jumping through space.

‘Just when?’

The Blade God, who came closer, kicked him.

Swoosh!

It looked like a light swing, but a feeling of weight resonated through the air as the kick came for him.

Chun Yeowun quickly raised his left arm and blocked it.

Kwang!

“Kuk!”

The moment he stopped the kick, he flew backwards and bounced on the ground.

Yet, he barely managed to block it.

Chiik!

‘What unbelievable power.’

Even though he had the Nano Suit on, the destructive power still hurt his hand, causing his entire body to tremble and scream in pain.

“Pretty good. I kicked you intending to break your arm.”

‘!?’

Swoosh!

The Blade God, who somehow managed to get behind Chun Yeowun, kicked and hit him.

Chun Yeowun hastily crossed his arms by bringing out internal energy.

Kwak!

Tremendous destructive power.

Twice, no, he was kicked three times, and all three kicks held the same power.

Chun Yeowun tried to defend himself, thinking that the intensity of the kick would reduce.

Thud!

It was then, his body reached the ground as his knee fell to the ground.

‘Like this, my power will drain...’

Kwakwakwang!

The ground, which had already dug in with Chun Yeowun’s ankles sunk deep, kept moving further down.

Drip!

As he suffered an internal injury, blood flowed out of Chun Yeowun’s mouth.

The Nano Suit helped absorb the blows, but it looked like the suit cracked.

Shhh!

[The bones in both wrists are cracked. I will go into self-repair.]

However, due to the cores and Nano's power, the cracks were restored quickly.

The Blade God's eyes changed.

It wasn't because Chun Yeowun had blocked his attacks twice in a row.

"The armor isn't breaking?"

What puzzles him was that the Nano Suit didn't break even under the attacks.

Normally, even armor made of cold steel would break.

"Isn't that a plain armor? No. The technology from the future..."

Wheeing!

At that moment, scorching heat rose from Chun Yeowun's hand.

The black flame soon took the shape of a sword.

The opponent in front of him wasn't at a level where he could spend time thinking and countering.

This man was the strongest enemy Chun Yeowun had ever met.

“Oh ho. Black flame? Dealing with different energies at the same time is surely interesting, which I haven’t tried before.”

Not a single sign of nervousness.

Although he called it interesting, the man’s eyes were as emotionless as ever.

Chun Yeowun frowned and answered.

“Experience it for yourself whether it’s interesting or not.”

As soon as those words finished, the invisible black flame sword began to draw a trajectory of flames.

Whoo!

It was the first formation of the Sword Art of the Demon God, Sword Dance of the Mysterious Wave.

The swordsmanship was in the form of a raging wave as if it would swallow the sun itself.

In an instant, 24 trajectories were drawn as the black flame sword went for the Blade God.

‘!?’

Chun Yeowun’s eyes fluttered.

Contrary to his expectation that the Blade God would also unfold an invisible sword, the man lightly handled the internal energy and blocked Chun Yeowun’s sword.

Wheeing!

Of course, that didn’t stop the attack.

As the sword kept changing its trajectory, the Blade God knew that it couldn't be stopped, so he moved back.

Tatatk!

"The Blade Lord coming here was a good thing. Are you mixing the Extreme Art of the Blade God with the Sword Force of the Sky Demon?"

The way he spoke, it was as if the man watched his fight against the Blade Lord.

Chun Yeowun didn't care about the Blade God's words and concentrated on the battle.

Wheeing! Chachacha!

At the near-perfect attack, the Blade God's lips trembled.

For the first time, he seemed to be interested in swordsmanship, which exceeded his expectations.

Swoosh!

The second half, which made the sword aim for blood, the Blade God reached out his left hand, which he hadn't used, and decided to block the attack.

Chachachang!

Shockingly, he opened up another barrier with his left hand and completely blocked the sword.

The Blade God spoke as he watched the black haze rise from the sword, which was being blocked by his left hand.

"You certainly didn't disappoint me. You made me use both hands."

Pak!

As soon as he finished saying those words, the Blade God's sword cut straight through the air.

'Invisible sword?'

With the sudden rise in energy, Chun Yeowun applied more internal energy into his invisible sword made of black flames and held it like a shield.

Chaa!

"Kuak!"

Tatatat!

Chun Yeowun got pushed away by the strong attack.

As he continued to be pushed more than 20 steps away, a crack occurred in the invisible sword made of black flames, which was being used as a shield.

'Shit!'

In the end, he couldn't stand the power of the Blade God.

It was an unbelievable power that surpassed the mix of different styles.

Whoo! Crack!

The invisible sword made of black flames, which was cracking, finally broke, and the Blade God's invisible sword tried to rip through Chun Yeowun's stomach.

Slash!

A screeching sound came from the Nano Suit as the blade slashed it.

That was when an amazing thing happened.

Tring!

[Gatelinium Nano suit durability has been damaged by 9%]

The Nano Suit, which was made from the strongest material, was cracked.

Although it wasn't completely split open, the energy on the sword of the Blade God had penetrated into his stomach through the cracks in the suit.

Chacha!

As the attack didn't stop and the energy seeped into his body, his intestines were ripped.

"Kuaaak!"

Chun Yeowun screamed as his blood began to flow out of his mouth.

It was the first time that he suffered such severe internal injuries.

"Cough.... Cough..."

The cores' power and Nano's self-heal quickly restored the torn organs, but it was painful because he couldn't release the seeped-in energy of the Blade God from his body.

'This blade energy needs to be released...'

Chun Yeowun, who barely stopped the attack, concentrated on the energy in his body.

In order to discharge the blade energy that was tearing his organs, his remaining amount of internal energy had to be consumed.

“Kuuk!”

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

He had to overcome the pain.

Walking leisurely towards Chun Yeowun, the Blade God said.

“Now is the time when I can’t afford to slow down.”

Chun Yeowun’s eyes trembled as he understood the full meaning behind the man who understood his condition’s words.

Chapter 463 - On the Verge of Life and Death (3)

Chapter 463: On the Verge of Life and Death (3)

Surprisingly, the Blade God was aware of Chun Yeowun's condition.

After several consecutive battles, Chun Yeowun had consumed a lot of internal energy.

After dealing with the human form of the fallen White Tiger, the God of the East Ark Wui, then the White Tiger's original form, the Blade Lord, and the remaining subordinates, around 2 percent of his energy remained.

Attach!

His intestines tore and were regenerating again.

The pain was indescribable.

It was a situation in which he had to spend a lot of internal energy trying to get rid of the Blade God's blade energy, which dug deep into his body.

"You bastard... were you watching me?"

At Chun Yeowun's question, which came out harshly, the Blade God answered calmly.

"Isn't that a basic tactic to wait for the opponent to weaken? Even if the opponent is a trivial fly?"

Chun Yeowun frowned.

After acting cowardly, the man had the audacity to insult him.

The man thoroughly calculated and waited for the moment Chun Yeowun became weak to reveal himself.

Honestly, it was the right decision.

“... I get it.”

“I learned everything by watching you.”

“Haa... Haa... you learned from me? When... what the hell are you blabbering about?”

Most of what the Blade God said was difficult to understand.

He kept talking as if he had known Chun Yeowun long before their first meeting, but Chun Yeowun had never met the man.

To that, the Blade God pointed his finger and body at Chun Yeowun and said.

“If you weren’t wearing that, I think it’d be unreasonable for you to fully understand what I am saying. But that suit. It definitely looks like a Nano Suit from the future.”

‘!!!’

Chun Yeowun’s face went stiff at the words nano suit.

He didn’t expect anyone to recognize the suit.

This made him sure.

‘This man must have come from the future!’

As Chun Yeowun was still in shock, the Blade God continued to speak.

“Originally, I had no plans to meet you here. Because over the years, all my feelings and emotions for you have diluted.”

Understanding what he was saying was difficult.

Chun Yeowun focused on the invisible blade energy as much as he could and didn't take his eyes off the Blade God, who pointed to the cracked Nano Suit and spoke again.

“But I am curious because you turned out a lot stronger than the original history.”

“Original history?”

“Come to think of it, there is no way that someone didn't do what I think they did. This only gives proof that the Demonic Cult is alive in the distant future.”

“...”

Chun Yeowun couldn't utter a single word.

With the Nano Suit alone, he knew that the Blade God knew things.

This man was incredibly insightful.

However, as if he couldn't understand one thing, the Blade God spoke.

“It's weird.”

“Ha... ha... what are you talking about now?”

“You have technology in your body that shouldn’t exist in this day and age, so why don’t they know about your existence?”

‘They?’

Chun Yeowun was puzzled as he didn’t know who the Blade God was talking about.

The Blade God, who was staring intently at Chun Yeowun’s Nano Suit, didn’t say anything as if he was thinking of an answer himself and then spoke.

“So unfortunate. If we were in the future, I would have hacked it and taken it.”

The Blade God revealed his greed for the Nano Suit.

He clicked his mouth as he spoke about taking it.

And walked towards Chun Yeowun again.

“Now that my doubts have been resolved, I need to take care of my original business.”

Gooooo!

Unusual air flowed around. Chun Yeowun, whose face turned pale because of cold sweat, tried to remove the blade energy from his body in a hurry.

‘Just a little more...’

There wasn’t much left.

All he had to do was get the blade energy out of his body.

But the Blade God wouldn't stand still knowing what Chun Yeowun was doing.

Phat!

The Blade God, who narrowed the distance at once, reached for Chun Yeowun.

What he was aiming for was,

'The core?'

It was the core of the fallen White Tiger, which he had fixed on the back of the Nano Suit.

"Let's take this away first."

Grab!

In one second, he caught the core, which was fixed to the Nano Suit.

The Blade God pulled on it, willing to tear the suit.

Paaang!

However, there was no way that the core, which was covered with gatelinium metal, could be torn that easily.

Which was why Chun Yeowun got pulled back by the Blade God.

"Kuak!"

"This is so annoying."

Woong!

The hands of the Blade God trembled as he began to create an invisible sword.

At once, he tried to cut the metal which was surrounding the core.

It was then.

Chachacha!

Energy erupted from Chun Yeowun's body along with heat.

It was an invisible sword unfolding the Extreme Art of the Blade God.

"Woah?"

Chachachang!

The invisible sword which was moving towards him got easily blocked by the Blade God.

Without missing the opportunity, Chun Yeowun kept attacking while keeping a distance of four steps.

"You cannot run away."

The sword of the Blade God, which blocked all the attacks from Chun Yeowun, again aimed for him.

It was then.

"Haaa... haaa... stop this too."

Pach-chik!

A black thunder qi invisible sword formed right in front of the Blade God.

Despite it being just one sword, the air around shook as if all the energy around was being concentrated into it.

Unification of energy.

‘This is dangerous.’

The Blade God frowned for the first time.

Whatever it was, Chun Yeowun was aiming to create distance between them, and the Blade God couldn’t avoid the attack.

Pach-chik!

With no way to move, the beam of lightning flashed right in front of the Blade God’s nose.

The lightning was something that neither Ark Wui nor the Blade Lord managed to stop.

‘It can’t be avoided.’

Kwak!

The lightning immediately covered the Blade God.

As it touched right in front of him, cracks formed on the ground as the debris bounced everywhere.

Crackle!

But something amazing happened.

Woong!

The Blade God, who had his hand stretched out, blocked the lightning.

The air shook near his hand, causing ripples.

It was similar to what Ark Wui would do, but the only difference was that this man was stronger.

‘It needs to be pierced!’

Chun Yeowun gathered the rest of his qi.

Only by somehow piercing the man would he be able to take him down.

Crackle!

The brilliant black grew more and more intense.

Crackle!

The lightning kept touching his hand and turning into ripples, desperately trying to break through.

Tak! Tak!

Half of the Blade God’s palm was dyed in black.

Little by little, he got pushed back.

It was then.

The whole body of the Blade God, who had concentrated his powers into his palm and tried to block it, soon pulled back his hand as if he absorbed the lightning.

At that moment, the other hand of the Blade God, which looked like it was holding a sword, moved.

Kwang!

At the same time, the lightning soared into the air.

‘!!!’

He blocked the lightning!

It wasn't like he was undamaged. Half of the Blade God's right hand was melted.

Chun Yeowun's eyes trembled.

‘He... blocked it?’

Sting! Sting!

“Kuak!”

Chun Yeowun, who consumed most of his energy, staggered as he lost his strength.

He clenched his teeth and tried not to fall.

“Hm?”

The Blade God looked at his right hand, which had been half blown away, expressionless.

‘My hand isn't regenerating?’

The dark energy in the wounded area was preventing the regeneration from happening.

The Blade God, who looked at it with interest, pushed out the dark energy.

Srrr!

The black energy was released, and his melted hand began to regenerate.

Attach.

Bones, blood vessels, muscles, and skin were all restored in an instant.

When the hand was back to normal, the Blade God walked towards Chun Yeowun again.

“You are definitely stronger than the God of East. To make me use an invisible sword. But this is how far you go.”

The Blade God pretended to draw a line with his hand.

With a terrifying amount of energy, it pierced through Chun Yeowun’s body.

Puck!

It wasn’t an invisible sword with energy.

It was literally an invisible sword.

“Kuak!”

Blood gushed out of Chun Yeowun’s mouth.

Something had clearly pierced through his body, and it seemed fundamentally different from the qi swords.

It was as if he stabbed Chun Yeowun with his will.

Chun Yeowun’s whole body trembled at the sharp pain which tightened his heart.

Thud!

Chun Yeowun's body, which was struggling to hold on, fell forward.

Tremble!

His entire body kept trembling.

"It will be difficult to get rid of that sword at your level. At least not when you've consumed all your energy. Watching you die trembling in pain like this might be a pleasure that I haven't felt in a long time."

The lips of the expressionless Blade God moved.

He seemed really happy that Chun Yeowun fell.

"Now, I need to get the core."

Grab!

As the Blade God lightly waved his hand, invisible energy rose, and the area of the suit which was holding the core was torn.

Roll!

The core of the fallen White Tiger rolled on the floor.

It was the moment when the Blade God went to pick it up.

"Cough... Cough..."

'!?'

At the sound of someone coughing behind him, the Blade God turned.

The Blade God spoke with his usual expressionless face.

“Such an amazing will.”

Shockingly, the person coughing was Ark Wui.

With his arms still cut off and his head lowered, he was still staring at the Blade God with a tired and pale face.

He was bleeding so much that he had to be dead, but his eyes didn't look dead.

At that moment, the Blade God's eyes trembled.

Ark Wui, who was supposed to collapse, took a step forward.

‘... how is he moving?’

He couldn't understand it.

He had to be dead.

It was impossible for the man to walk anymore. Despite all his friends being killed, the Blade God couldn't understand just why Ark Wui was still fighting to live.

Tak!

Ark Wui took another step.

Perhaps because of Ark Wui's glare, the eyes of the Blade God, who was intently looking at the man, trembled.

“You make things really difficult. After losing both arms, how do you even plan on fighting?”

Woong!

Energy trembled on the Blade God's blade and soon condensed into a formless sword.

He acknowledged the man's fighting spirit and thought about sparing him, but seeing the eyes of Ark Wui, it looked meaningless.

He decided to cut Ark Wui in half.

Ark Wui took another step and spoke.

"Friend... spoke..."

"?"

"Is the burden you are going to... carry... that... light?"

"I have no idea what you are even talking about, but I plan to send you to the underworld..."

It was before the Blade God could even complete what he was saying.

"KWAAAAAAAA!"

Kwang!

Ark Wui puked blood where he was and took another step forward while shaking his shoulders.

Even though he had no arms, it looked like he was swinging his fists.

The Blade God shook his head as what he saw looked absurd and tried to send the formless sword at him.

It was then.

Bang!

As if a shell exploded, tremendous power touched the Blade God's chest, and his body got pushed back before he fell on one knee.

Thud!

"Cough!"

Blood gushed out of the Blade God's mouth.

He shook his body, thinking that it was absurd for him to fall on one knee, raising his head as he looked at Ark Wui and mumbled.

"Heart Fist?"

It was the Heart Fist.

The Blade God got hit because it was an unexpected blow. Getting up from the ground with narrowed eyes, it looked like he had gotten angry for the first time.

He wanted to repay the disgrace that Ark Wui had given him right away.

When,

"This... man?"

Ark Wui, whose eyes were open, was ready in a stance.

He took his last breath.

The Heart Fist was performed just before his death.

Swoosh!

The corners of Ark Wui's lips were lifted as the blood on his face got washed away by rain.

Finally, he felt satisfied after doing the best he could?

Or was it a smile that came from the satisfaction of being able to see his friends leave before him?

It was something only Ark Wui knew.

'For bringing me such disgrace!'

The Blade God, whose expressionless face was terribly distorted, threw the formless sword at the dead man to split his body in half.

But,

Throb!

"Kuak!"

It seemed like something was clenching the heart, which got hit by the fist, as he coughed up blood.

The power of the Heart Fist, that which destroys the opponent's will destroying their body.

That was why the Heart Fist was terrifying.

'Not Chun Ma... or the Demon God, but to be hit by someone like this!'

He felt enraged.

Maybe he would have felt less offended if the Demon God had hit him like that, but this was an insult to the Blade God's current self.

First of all, he had to drive out the energy which was tormenting his heart.

Gooo!

The Blade God began to use the energy of nature to drive out the energy in his heart.

However, maybe because of the dead man's strong will, the energy couldn't be dispersed.

'Damn bastard.'

The Blade God trembled in anger as he reached for the core, which was on the floor.

'Let's release it quickly by taking in the core.'

Maybe doing it with the energy of nature would take a long time.

So the Blade God decided to absorb the core, which he took into his hand.

At that moment, his face went stiff.

'How?'

The core, which should be full of spiritual energy, was empty.

Only a small amount of energy was left in it, enough to make it shine.

The Blade God turned to Chun Yeowun, who had collapsed.

'It can't be. There was no time for him to absorb the core.'

An incomprehensible thing.

There was no way that Chun Yeowun could absorb the core while he was fighting.

Obviously, he confirmed that the core was empty.

‘I’ll check again.’

Enduring the pain which was torturing his heart, he walked towards the fallen Chun Yeowun.

Chun Yeowun’s body trembled at the sound.

Six steps.

Five steps.

Every time the footsteps got closer, Chun Yeowun’s closed eyes became anxious.

‘Nano. Status?’

[Progress 98%.]

Four steps.

Three steps.

It was the moment when the Blade God was two steps away.

Nano’s voice echoed in Chun Yeowun’s head.

[All analysis of the energy-charged in Gatelinium has been completed. Starting to convert the charged energy into your energy.]

Woong!

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

At that very moment, Chun Yeowun's Nano suit dazzled.

It shone in a similar light to the core of the White Tiger.

"H-how does the spiritual energy get absorbed by the Nano suit?"

The ever-composed eyes of the Blade God shook and trembled in shock.

Chapter 464 - On the Verge of Life and Death (4)

Chapter 464: On the Verge of Life and Death (4)

Before the start of the one-on-one battle with the Blade God, Chun Yeowun decided that he had to be prepared for any possible situation.

Regardless of the opponent's skills, he didn't know what the outcome would be if the Blade God was as strong as the Blade Lord.

'Nano. Can you absorb the spiritual energy of this core into the Nano Suit like you did with the Dragon Turtle's lightning?'

[It is possible. Gatelinium is a metal with a structure suitable for energy absorption and shock absorption.]

'Is it possible to analyze it while absorbing?'

[It is.]

It was possible with the computational power of Nano.

Handling numerous Air Swords at once with the panel system, there was simply no way that Nano couldn't do two tasks at once.

Chun Yeowun's judgment was correct.

[Converting the original energy absorbed by Gatelinium Nano Suit into the user's energy, in progress. Current Progress 3%.]

Gooooo

The Nano suit emitted a brilliant light and radiated strong spiritual energy.

The eyes of the Blade God, who looked at that, became embarrassed.

After gaining power comparable to that of the future Demon God for more than eight hundred years, the Blade God's interest and commitment to the task had almost faded.

And contrary to the history that he knew, after receiving the report that Chun Yeowun had already obtained the cores of three Spirit Beasts, he decided to stop Chun Yeowun.

'Immortal life is a right that only I can enjoy in this world.'

He had to build a world where he was the one and only absolute.

If someone was on equal footing with him and tried to interfere with the Blade God's plan, he had to execute that person.

'Those in the past couldn't absorb the core's spiritual energy, so how can the Nano suit do that? Does that mean the technology he's using is from a farther future than I know?'

If not that, the Blade God couldn't think of another answer.

Of course, his guess was partially correct.

But fundamentally, the Nano Suit can absorb the core's spiritual energy because it was made of Gatelinium, a metal not from earth.

“Haaa... haaa... did you think I’ll let you absorb the core’s spiritual energy?”

The air around the Blade God swished as a sword formed in his right hand.

After condensing energy on the blade, he tried to kill Chun Yeowun at once.

Chun Yeowun, who was lying face down, bounced back as he put pressure on his palms and stood up, immediately stretching out a sword.

Rumble!

An invisible sword made of black flames formed before him, blocking the Blade God’s sword like a shield.

“Is your internal energy already restored to this level? But do you think this will work?”

The Blade God tried to cut it down with a condensed invisible sword.

However, the sword made of black flames, which stood tall like a shield, aimed at the tip of the Blade God’s sword and tried to stab him.

Rumble

“Huh!”

Swoosh!

The Blade God had to lean to his side and block the invisible sword.

As if the sword broke, the black flame sword split in half and disappeared.

No matter how much Chun Yeowun's internal energy was restored, the gap between their two internal energies couldn't be narrowed at once.

'To destroy the invisible sword instantly.'

Throb!

"Huh... huh..."

Chun Yeowun staggered.

It was hard to breathe as the blade energy was still in him.

'I need to discharge it...'

The core's spiritual energy was constantly rushing through the Nano Suit, but there was no time to use it and drive it out because the Blade God attacked him.

The Blade God instantly came close to Chun Yeowun as if he could control space.

"Kuk!"

'My wrist!'

Chachachang!

Right then, Chun Yeowun's arms spread out to avoid getting hit. His heart throbbed, but he didn't care.

And he wasn't able to move because of the overwhelming force his opponent gave out.

“Did you think that if you absorb the spiritual energy, you could overwhelm me at once?”

Clench!

‘What energy is that?’

It was no use even if Chun Yeowun concentrated on the energy in his hand.

It felt like his wrist was about to be crushed by the huge energy coming from the Blade God.

Even though Chun Yeowun was constantly absorbing the spiritual power, it was difficult to fill the gap.

‘Then!’

Swoosh!

Chun Yeowun, who gave up on putting pressure on his wrist, tried to stab the opponent’s heart with another sword he created in his left hand.

The Blade God raised the invisible energy with his opposite hand and cut off the left one in a second.

Slash!

“Kuaaaak!”

A scream erupted from Chun Yeowun with blood gushing out of his hand.

To such a sight of Chun Yeowun, the Blade God smiled and spoke.

“See this? You and I are like flies and humans...”

Throb! Throb!

At that moment, blood gushed out of the Blade God's mouth.

He didn't let go of Chun Yeowun's slashed wrist, but with the opposite hand, he grabbed his chest.

"Kuak!"

The Heart Fist caused great pain in his heart.

He tried to suppress the pain with a vast amount of internal energy, but the Heart Fist wasn't something that could be suppressed like that.

Cold sweat ran down his face.

'Damn that bastard.'

He really didn't know that the final blow from Ark Wui would torment him this much.

If he didn't remove the energy invading his body right away, he knew the huge damage it would do.

The Blade God then looked at the Nano Suit emitting dazzling light.

'Rather, I should use this energy.'

He thought of a good solution.

It was a killing two birds with one stone method where he makes sure that Chun Yeowun would release the energy before the Nano Suit completely absorbs it.

Thud!

“Kuak!”

The Blade God broke Chun Yeowun’s wrist.

And then used his sword, trying to damage the Nano Suit.

‘After breaking it, I will absorb the released spiritual energy at once.’

Cha!

It was at the moment when the sword of the Blade God was about to touch Chun Yeowun’s stomach.

In a brief moment, the Blade God saw Chun Yeowun’s eyes.

Obviously, the man had just cut off his hand, so his eyes were frowning in pain, but they were also hawklike, hunting their next prey.

‘No?’

It was the moment when he saw that, a sense of awareness rushed into the Blade God.

‘Nano! Now!’

[5% of the energy is being emitted as a wave.]

Swoosh!

“Th-This!”

At the same time as Nano’s voice ended, a brilliant light emitted from the Nano Suit, causing waves in the form of a round sphere.

It was similar to a magnetic field, but it was nothing more than a transformation of spiritual energy into physical energy.

Bang!

“Kuak!”

In an instant, the energy swelled up to a radius of 5 meters, and the Blade God, who received a great shock, was thrown away.

The Blade God, who was bouncing back and forth in circles, tried to balance himself.

But for a moment, his focus broke, and his heart hurt again.

Throb! Throb!

“Kuak!”

He gripped his chest, which throbbed in pain.

It was then.

Wheeing!

Crackle!

Crackle!

“No!”

The enormous energy which surrounded him was raging as the Blade God held his chest.

There were invisible swords made of black flames, black thunder, and another of black ice.

‘Three different energies at once? How is that possible!’

While he was spinning around, the eyes of the Blade God looked at Chun Yeowun, who could barely support himself with his right hand, and with the severed left hand, he stood.

Thud!

Chun Yeowun’s wrist, which was slashed and bent back, quickly returned to its original state.

However, the Blade God’s blade energy was still in his body.

Kuk!

“Ugh!”

With the agony his heart was in, Chun Yeowun fixed his fingers and thumb, then created an energy sword.

‘I-I can’t miss this!’

He wasn’t sure how the Blade God would act if he managed to regain his balance.

Now was the only opportunity when the Blade God was still suffering from the God of the East’s Heart Fist.

Chun Yeowun screamed as he coughed up blood.

“Cough... cough! Die!”

Woooo!

At that moment, separate ripples broke out from the tips of the three invisible swords that surrounded the Blade God as immense power erupted from them.

Kwakwakwang!

Kwakwakwang!

Kwakwakwang!

The three invisible swords rushed towards the Blade God simultaneously as they pierced through the air.

The face of the Blade God, who was holding his chest, distorted.

If he couldn't prevent it, he would get hit directly. Despite being immortal, it felt like his life would be in danger.

'To make me use this technique!'

The Blade God stretched out his hands to the left and right despite the excruciating pain.

At the same time, he drew a unique trajectory with both hands using blades.

Chachachang!

Then, his energy began to create several circular ripples around him, almost like a curtain.

It looked like a veil, but the Blade Film contained the essence of the Extreme Art of the Blade God.

'I have to endure this.'

The Blade God clenched his teeth.

At that moment, the three swords hit the veil.

Kwakwakwang!

“Kuak!”

Kwang!

Simultaneously, three different beams of light spurted as the Blade God groaned.

It wouldn't have been such a burden for him if he had been in his original state, but he couldn't be perfect in his current state, where there was too much strain on his heart.

“Kuuuk!”

The same was true for Chun Yeowun, who focused on driving out the blade energy with all the energy he received from Nano.

Both of them were under the same pressure.

But there was one thing different.

“Haa... ha ha... God of the East... do you think I will... blow away the... opportunity... he created!”

The will left behind by the dead God of the East made even Chun Yeowun overcome his death.

Chun Yeowu poured all his internal energy into his heart. He wanted to kill the Blade God, even if it meant his own death.

“Kuaaaak!”

Wooo!

Crack!

At that moment, the beams emitted by the three invisible swords grew thicker, and the veil created by the Blade God began to crack.

‘How can he do this with the blade energy raging in his heart...’

The Blade God’s eyes fluttered.

Even he would never raise his internal energy to the maximum when he knows another energy is causing his heart to fail.

No matter how much he suffers, it would mean nothing if the heart bursts, and he would be defenseless until it regenerates.

Jjkkkkk!

Once the veil starts cracking, no matter how many times he tries to fix it, it doesn’t recover.

The Blade God’s emotions, which had been dead for a long time, were completely revived.

Because of rage and embarrassment.

“Demon... God!!!”

Jjkkkkkk!

As soon as he mumbled those words, the veil shattered entirely, and the sword went for the Blade God, who was in the middle.

Kwakwakwang!

Black flames, black thunder, and black ice rays all collided at the same point, the rain which was pouring down halted right away, and a huge explosion erupted.

The explosion's effects extended till Chun Yeowun, who was five fields away from the Blade God.

Pang!

Chun Yeowun, who got caught in the aftermath, bounced back.

He tried to endure everything, but it felt like his heart just ripped into shreds because of how exhausted his body was, and he had already gone past his limits.

Pain similar to the cruelest death.

Break!

“Kuaaaak!”

Chun Yeowun, whose heart was damaged, fell to the floor as he screamed at the excruciating pain.

He didn't even know how far he was thrown away by the explosion. He kept groaning.

The pain was to the point where it felt like he would faint any moment.

‘He... he...’

He couldn't let himself close his eyes unless he confirmed the death of the Blade God.

The first thing that Chun Yeowun's blurry vision caught was a huge hole that had blown away the entire lake.

The hole seemed to be at least 20 meters wide.

“Haa... haaa...”

Swoosh!

The dust was still rising, and the rain began to fall even faster.

But the moment the dust disappeared, Chun Yeowun's eyes widened.

"No... cough... way... cough... cough!"

In the center, he saw someone staggering but standing up.

His clothes were ragged, and it was definite that the Blade God was in the settling dust.

However, the Blade God wasn't in great condition.

"Ugh! Cough! Cough!"

He kept on coughing up blood over and over again.

Starting with his right arm, half of his upper body was completely blown away.

Although such a wound on a normal person would mean the man was dead, the Blade God was immortal.

The Blade God, who kept on coughing up blood, stared at Chun Yeowun, who was far away with bloodshot and furious eyes.

"DEMON... GOOOODDDDDDD!!!"

He never imagined that he would turn out like this.

If his body would immediately regenerate, he wanted to rip Chun Yeowun into millions of pieces without even killing him and then make sure that no one would even find his body.

But there was a problem.

‘What on earth is that bloody black energy!’

Creepy!

The vicious dark energy kept on preventing him from regenerating.

He was the one who had absorbed the cores of the Five Spirit Beasts and turned into an immortal being.

It was a serious matter that his wounds weren’t healing. He would only be an immortal if he can regenerate his wounds right away and never age.

‘I need to get rid of this energy,’

If he had been in his original state, he might have been able to get rid of it.

Throb! Throb!

“Kuk!”

However, the Heart Fist was also preventing him.

It was like he was being pushed to his death.

“God of the East... kuuk!”

He felt resentful towards the dead man.

If he didn’t release the God of the East’s energy from his heart, he wouldn’t be able to control the black energy, and then the Blade God might actually die.

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

Shush!

A handsome young man with bright red hair appeared in front of him.

He was the same one who saved Hwang-heol.

“Lord!”

Chapter 465 - Natural State (Heavenly Master) (1)

Chapter 465: Natural State (Heavenly Master) (1)

“Qu... Qu Yuan.”

The handsome, bright red-haired man called Qu Yuan supported the Blade God who was about to trip.

Qu Yuan was shocked to see the Blade God dying from exhaustion and his body's state.

It was natural, after erasing the Demon God from the world a long time ago, he who was supposed to get the core of the White Tiger leisurely, had ended up like this.

“Lord. Are you alright?”

“Kuaak!”

It was strange.

The body of the Blade God, which had absorbed all five cores of the spirit beasts, became immortal, yet it wasn't regenerating.

Upon closer inspection, it was noted that a vicious dark energy was hindering the process.

Qu Yuan tried to help.

“I will help.”

At that, the Blade God shook his head and spoke.

“Him, kill him. He needs to be killed.”

“But it could be dangerous if you don’t recover right...”

“Haaa... haaa... do it now!”

In the end, Qu Yuan frowned at the decisive command from the Blade God.

‘Lord?’

The Blade God, who usually wasn’t the kind to show his emotions, was now showing murderous intent.

It meant that Chun Yeowun, the Demon God, could fill in the gap and drive the Blade God into a corner.

‘Then he’ll have to be killed right here.’

He decided that it would be best to kill Chun Yeowun so that he wouldn’t have to face repercussions from the Blade God.

“I will follow your orders.”

Qu Yuan, who placed the Blade God down carefully, took a step forward.

“It has been so long.”

As soon as he finished, his entire body got covered in red flames.

It was like seeing Ran-yeong of the Demon Cult.

Rumble!

Despite the rain, the flames were so intense that they soared high.

Qu Yuan, who had turned into a human torch, had radiating eyes as he moved towards Chun Yeowun.

Phat!

Qu Yuan, who moved out right away, intended to turn Chun Yeowun into ashes.

‘As the Lord said, this Demon God has to be killed here.’

Chun Yeowun blinked a couple times as he couldn’t make out the flames that came for him because of his blurred vision.

No matter how hard he tried to move his body, even his toes weren’t moving due to his heart’s pain.

‘... is this the end?’

It was then.

Chun Yeowun’s skin began to feel cold.

‘This?’

That moment,

Jjjjkkkk!

When Qu Yuan’s form was only three meters away, a huge ice wall arose in front of him, stretching out in a line.

‘!?’

At the same time, a silver-haired middle-aged man stood in front of him.

Bang!

In an instant, the flames collided with the ice, and steam rose.

Chhhiiikkkk!

Qu Yuan tried to burst through at once, but his opponent wasn't normal.

In a short moment, both their techniques collided, but instead of breaking through, they both got pushed back.

Tatak!

Qu Yuan, who was interrupted, glared.

"Who are you?"

The silver-haired middle-aged man, who was asked the question, exclaimed in a loud voice.

"3rd Great Elder of the Demonic Cult, Dan Jucheon."

'Demonic Cult?'

Dan Jucheon was a Supreme Master from the North and the newest addition to the Demonic Cult.

There was a gleam in Qu Yuan's eyes.

'Was there such a person in the Demonic Cult?'

It was his first time hearing about it.

Even looking at the man, Qu Yuan could feel the strong internal energy rivaling the five strongest warriors.

As there was no information from the North, Qu Yuan had no way of knowing about the recently added Dan Jucheon.

Frowning, Qu Yuan spoke.

“You look pretty strong. Unfortunately, I don’t have time to fight you.”

If Chun Yeowun was removed, everything could be sorted out.

All he had to do was cut off the dying man’s head, and he didn’t feel the need to fight everyone for that cause.

Qu Yuan turned and tried to overtake the new man and head towards Chun Yeowun.

But,

Chachacha!

“What?”

Someone blocked him with a fierce sword.

Qu Yuan avoided it, but his opponent’s attacks were too strong.

Wheeing!

‘What kind of attack is this?’

The man’s sword, which was moving at the speed of light, finally pierced through the flames and brushed against his cheek.

Slash!

“Kuk!”

Tatata!

In the end, he once again couldn't get to Chun Yeowun, and Qu Yuan was more than eight steps away.

The one who stopped him was a man wearing a unique mask.

He didn't know about the other, but the information on this person was so popular that he knew it thoroughly.

"The Dark King?"

He was the Great Guardian of the Demonic Cult, Marakim.

"Whoever tries to touch my Lord will die by my hands."

'How did this person even come here?'

Qu Yuan's expression hardened as he saw Marakim aim his sword at him.

He didn't realize it as he was too concerned with killing Chun Yeowun, but there was too much energy closing in.

Unsurprisingly, other figures appeared from the mountain behind Chun Yeowun.

"My Lorrddddd!"

They were the Six Swords and his lieutenant, who were right under Chun Yeowun.

After that, a lot of cultists came up.

Hu Bong, who arrived first, looked at Qu Yuan, whose body was burning with flames with shocked eyes.

"Ah! That flame?"

A very familiar feeling.

It looked like he was watching Ran-yeong.

Hu Bong, who possessed a strong sense of loyalty, ran towards Chun Yeowun.

He hurriedly supported Chun Yeowun, who was about to fall.

“Lord! Are you alright?”

“Haa...”

Chun Yeowun couldn't speak a single word because of the pain and only exhaled.

Mun Ku, who arrived late, had tears in her eyes as she supported the other side of Chun Yeowun.

“Lord! How did it get to this point...”

It was their first time seeing Chun Yeowun suffer such damage.

He was groaning as he looked at his severed left hand.

But,

Swoosh!

“H-Hand!”

The veins in Chun Yeowun's hand got tangled up, and the hand that was cut off began to regenerate.

Hu Bong explained to Mun Ku, who was shocked.

“Lord has taken in the cores of the Qilin and the Dragon Turtle, so he is regenerating.”

“Ah!”

Since Hu Bong absorbed the blood of the Qilin, he was well aware of how quickly the cores promote human regeneration.

‘Tch.’

Qu Yuan couldn’t hide his annoyance as he saw all these people who stood in his way.

If it was only Dan Jucheon who arrived first, he might have been able to overpower him and deal with Chun Yeowun.

But if he tried to deal with all the new people, he would end up putting himself at risk.

In that case, the Blade God couldn’t be protected if something happened.

‘... it’s a pity, but we have to retreat.’

It would violate the order, but he thought that Blade God would understand the situation.

It was then.

“No!”

Qu Yuan’s eyes caught someone closing in on the Blade God at high speed.

An old man with short white hair, Chun Inji, the former Lord.

He had reached the top of Changbai Mountain at the same time as Dan Jucheon and Marakim and discovered Blade God. When he noticed the other man go forward, he went for him.

‘Whoever made my Yeowun like that has to be killed!’

It was probably because of his insight due to his experience in martial arts.

“No, no!”

In order to prevent that from happening, Qu Yuan moved towards the Blade God, but Chun Inji had already arrived.

‘To see that he’s still alive after looking like this... that means that he’s not human. Huh, kill him at once.’

Chun Inji was shocked to find that the man was still breathing despite a quarter of his body being blown away.

Chun Inji, who reached forward, tried to unleash the Sword Force of the Sky Demon.

It was then.

Pak!

‘!?’

Someone snatched the Blade God before Chun Inji could unfold the sword.

When the man who snatched the Blade God with incredible speed began to run, a tremendous chill erupted and sharp ice spears formed from the ground.

Jjjkkkk

“This!”

Chun Inji cut them down with his sword.

Chachacha!

He hurriedly cut down the ice spears, but the one who snatched the Blade God was far away.

Only his back was visible, and he seemed to have bandages all over his body.

‘Hwang-heol!’

Qu Yuan, the handsome young man with bright red hair, exhaled as he saw that.

If Hwang-heol hadn’t appeared on time, the Blade God would have been in danger.

Qu Yuan glared at cultists behind him and ground his teeth.

Grunt!

“Demonic Cult...”

He was so concerned with the Demon God, Chun Yeowun, that he never dreamed such a situation would occur.

“Don’t think that this is the end.”

Phat!

Qu Yuan, who uttered that, moved towards the Blade God.

It was so fast that his image quickly turned into a small dot and was about to disappear.

“Where!”

He was followed by Great Guardian Marakim and Dan Jucheon.

Meanwhile, the voice of a woman ripped through Changbai Mountain.

“LOORRRDDDDDD!!!”

The sound of Mun Ku wailing.

All the cultists flocked to her as they were too shocked by the cry.

Woong!

“This, what is this?”

“H... how did... this... what...”

Their Lord, Chun Yeowun’s eyes were open as they lost focus and his body went limp.

That couldn’t be the reason why Mun Ku suddenly wailed.

However, the black armor on Chun Yeowun, which shone brilliantly, lost all its light, and the man who was breathing stopped.

“LORD! LORD!!”

“NOOOOOO!!!!”

Hu Bong, Ko Wanghur, Bakgi, Sama Chak, Hou Sanghwa, and Che Takim couldn’t hide their sorrowful expressions at the sight of Chun Yeowun, who was on the floor dead with his eyes open.

“How? How did Lord...”

His hands were regenerating just a moment back, so they all thought that he would get up again, like always.

However, Chun Yeowun suddenly stopped breathing.

It all happened when the light on the black armor began to fade.

Tat!

“What happened?”

Chun Inji, the former Lord, arrived as he was shocked by the scream and asked the seven people beside Chun Yeowun with a bewildered voice.

At that, Mun Ku spoke with tears in her eyes.

“Lo, Lord suddenly stopped breathing... uhh!”

She couldn’t speak.

She couldn’t say that Chun Yeowun had died with her own mouth.

Chun Inji rushed towards Chun Yeowun’s side, who was lying on the floor as if he died, and put his fingers on the body.

‘!?’

Chun Inji’s wrinkled face became hardened.

Chun Inji staggered and fell back in shock at what he just felt.

“Fo-Former Lord!”

Ko Wanghur, who was beside him, tried to support him, but Chun Inji refused.

He never dreamed that something like this would happen in Changbai Mountain, which he had asked Chun Yeowun to come to.

“Yeo-Yeowun-ah...”

He never imagined that his grandchild with monstrous strength would become like this.

Just what kind of monster could do this?

All the cultists, including him, were shedding tears in despair as they looked at Chun Yeowun.

“No. There is no way my Lord would die like this.”

Hu Bong, who was unable to accept the reality, kept shaking his head and shouted again and again.

“There are just injuries! Right! Injuries...”

As he said, everyone wanted to believe that the Chun Yeowun in front of their eyes was a lie.

But could they really dismiss what they see with their own eyes as false?

“Right. We can’t give up!”

Mun Ku couldn’t give up, so she tried to inject her energy into Chun Yeowun’s body.

Chun Inji was the one who disapproved of that.

“Stop it. Don’t deny what you’re seeing.”

If his breathing was cut off, sending internal energy now would only injure his body.

Hot tears flowed down Mun Ku's cheeks.

Sh!

Mun Ku kept sobbing as she touched Chun Yeowun's cheek, which had lost its usual warmth.

"Huk... Lord. If you... if you go... like this... what about... me..."

Before Mun Ku could complete.

Gooooo!

"Ah!"

At that moment, a change occurred in Chun Yeowun's body.

Suddenly, light began to engulf his body from the inside, and his body rose into the air.

All the people around him backed up.

"This, what is this?"

Everyone was bewildered, but the various energies in Chun Yeowun's body began to move.

Flame!

Jjjkkk!

Crackle!

Wheeing!

Wooong!

The energies of flame, ice, thunder, wind, and the hideous sky demon energy.

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

Suddenly, all five kinds of energy rose from Chun Yeowun's body and kept resonating.

At that strange sight, Chun Inji, who looked at it with bewildered eyes, mumbled.

“Core of the Five Spirits!”

It was the energy that occurs when the spiritual energies of the five spirit beasts harmonize in one place.

Chapter 466 - Natural State (Heavenly Master) (2)

Chapter 466: Natural State (Heavenly Master) (2)

“LORD!”

“This can’t be!”

Gooooo!

The cultists couldn’t hide their shock at the appearance of Chun Yeowun floating mid-air emitting brilliant light.

But Chun Inji was sure about what this was.

‘This has to be the core of the five spirits!’

The five cores suddenly began to resonate, giving out their own attributes.

A hot flame was burning close to Chun Yeowun.

That was the energy of the Flame Qilin, which symbolized the center.

On the right side of Chun Yeowun was a wind blowing fiercely.

That was the energy of the White Tiger, which symbolized the east.

On the left side of Chun Yeowun was ice.

That was the energy taken from the Great Bird, which symbolized the west.

Above Chun Yeowun were lightning flashes.

That was the energy of the Dragon Turtle, which symbolized the north.

But,

‘What on earth is that eerie energy?’

Chun Inji couldn’t figure out what the black energy near Chun Yeowun’s legs was.

It was definitely from one of the five spirit beasts, so it had to be the energy of the Imoogi.

However, the Imoogi was the earth dragon, which meant that it should be giving out earth energy, but this energy felt different,

‘This is more like...’

Demon energy.

It was impossible for the energy of the Imoogi, which is known to be the head of the Five Spirit Beasts, to be evil.

Chun Inji had felt this energy before.

‘Right! I felt this with the Great Guardian.’

He suddenly remembered it.

He had felt similar energy from Great Guardian Marakim and the former Great Guardian.

However, the energy they gave out was only a small amount, so he didn’t pay much attention to it, but now, the energy from Chun Yeowun was beyond one’s imagination.

‘The five energies need to be in balance to achieve harmony, but that demon energy is too strong.’

He had no idea what was happening.

The ferocious demon energy was strong enough to swallow up the other energies.

Everyone stood back and watched, trying not to disturb Chun Yeowun, who was trying to achieve something no one else did yet, when the five energies started to move.

It was the beginning.

Wooong!

“No way! The black energy is taking in all...”

The black energy under Chun Yeowun swallowed up the remaining four energies, including the body of Chun Yeowun like a curtain.

In an instant, Chun Yeowun was engulfed in a sphere.

“For-Former lord! What is happening!”

“As if this old man could know!”

Elder Mong Mu’s question was the same thing that Chun Inji had been pondering, so he couldn’t answer and kept on watching.

On the other hand, the black energy and the natural internal energy were intertwined, and a different change occurred.

Chun Yeowun, whose heart was on the verge of destruction because of the blade energy, went through serious changes.

‘Kuuuk!’

While suffering, Chun Yeowun could feel the changes.

A massive flow of qi which he had never felt in his own body, and his sixth sense which had been stimulated.

Pounding! Pounding! Pounding!

That wasn’t the sound of his beating heart.

It was a strong pounding sound from elsewhere.

‘This sound?’

The beating sound wasn’t coming from anywhere in particular.

As if it was from all the beings around him.

‘This... the heartbeat of all?’

At first, he couldn’t understand it, but at a certain moment, Chun Yeowun recognized that it was the sound of all the lives fluctuating around him.

He had never been that conscious, but it looked like every living being had an energy of its own.

‘Everything has a different energy.’

However, the flow was different.

The energy of all the things conformed to the flow, which moved naturally, showing its existence.

That wasn’t the only thing Chun Yeowun could understand about the great flow.

‘The energy of the core?’

The spiritual energy of the core moved and flowed in harmony.

That was the order of Mother Nature itself.

‘Ah! All energies go through the cycle and harmonize. My own energy has been part of Mother Nature.’

That realization shattered the common sense about Qi.

Qi wasn’t confined to the body.

If Qi could move with the flow, it could become one with all things in the world.

Dududu!

As he had a new realization, more changes occurred in Chun Yeowun’s body.

It looked like his bones and muscles were about to be reconstructed.

It looked like he was going through physical reconstruction.

However, something different from physical reconstruction was taking place.

Flame!

Jjjjkkkk!

Crackle!

Wheeing!

Woong!

The energies of the five spirit beasts around Chun Yeowun began to harmonize.

However, the harmony wasn't in perfect balance as Chun Yeowun had envisioned.

Wooong!

The demon energy was eroding the harmony created by the other four.

The demon energy ate them up like prey as if it was the predator of the other four.

Clench! Clench!

"Kuuuk!"

His heart, which was constantly undergoing changes, throbbed even more.

The blade energy from the Blade God wasn't released, but its movement gradually weakened.

'I shouldn't miss this opportunity!'

Chun Yeowun concentrated all his senses on his heart.

His thoughts raged with the thought of burning down the invisible blade energy.

'Scram! This is my heart and body that only has energies I take in on my own will!'

The moment his will burnt,

Acccccck!

The blade energy, which was eroding Chun Yeowun's heart, couldn't withstand the raging energies and moved out of his body.

Sharp energy burst out of the black sphere which was surrounding him.

The cultists were shocked at the unusual sight.

"Wh-What was that just now?"

"I saw a sharp blade energy shoot out."

At that moment, everyone could sense the blade energy.

Chun Inji, the former head of the Demonic Cult and a Supreme Master, couldn't help but be astonished.

'It was invisible, but that was clearly blade energy. Does this mean that the energy was inside Yeowun's body?'

The blade energy seemed completely different from invisible energy.

This made Chun Inji more curious about the man who escaped with those serious injuries.

It was then,

Woong!

"Look over there!"

"It's shrinking!"

The black sphere gradually decreased and soon outlined a human form, then it was completely absorbed into Chun Yeowun's body.

He didn't know, but the look of Chun Yeowun, who had his eyes closed, was quite different.

It was like seeing endless darkness.

That moment,

Chachachacha!

The arm guard, which was on Chun Yeowun's right arm, disassembled.

At the same moment, the disassembled arm guard turned into a sword.

That was the Sky Demon Sword.

"S-Sky Demon Sword!"

"Oh oh! Our Chun Ma!!"

Splash! Splash! Splash!

The cultists who watched that exclaimed and immediately knelt on the wet floor and bowed their heads.

When everyone bowed their heads, Chun Inji looked at the Sky Demon Sword with trembling eyes.

"Why did the Sky Demon Sword reveal its true self?"

He couldn't take his eyes off the strange phenomenon.

At that time, the Sky Demon Sword, which turned into a sword, suddenly moved to Chun Yeowun's hand.

"Ah!"

Changes occurred to Chun Yeowun, who seemed like he was reaching enlightenment.

Flash!

A world full of darkness.

Nothing could be felt, let alone the energy of Mother Nature.

Like a void space.

'This...'

Chun Yeowun had experienced it twice.

The first time was when he got the Sky Demon Sword, and the second time was when he held the Ice Cold Staff.

Those times, in the darkness, he was only a viewer.

But it was different this time.

'It feels like I'm actually here.'

Although his physical body didn't exist, it felt like his consciousness was inside the space of nothingness.

He couldn't figure out what the phenomenon meant.

'Nano!'

He called for Nano, but there was no answer.

It seemed like he was isolated.

It happened the moment he fully realized the energy flow of Mother Nature and the demon energy completely enveloped the other energies.

‘Just why is this happening...’

[This is pretty cool. It’s the blood which inherited the blood throne.]

‘Ah!’

Chun Yeowun couldn’t help but be astonished at what he saw.

Without realizing it, a man was standing right in front of him.

A man with a familiar face in a long black robe.

This man, who felt incomparable with his majesticness and endless demon energy, was the one who cut off the Imoogi’s horns in the past.

‘Did... did he just talk to me?’

He just thought it, but the man smiled and spoke.

[Who else would I be talking to?]

Shockingly, the man was talking to Chun Yeowun.

Chun Yeowun became speechless for a moment. He spoke through his mind again as he was shocked.

‘Are you really... my ancestor?’

[I guess you aren't that stupid.]

The man didn't deny it.

Despite not having a physical body, Chun Yeowun could feel a shiver run down his body.

The man in front of him was Chun Ma, the ruler and founder of the Sky Demon Order.

Normally, he would have knelt down and bowed his head, but with only his spirit body, he couldn't move.

So he decided that he should at least greet the man.

'The Great Sky Demon Order's Chun Ma, this is the Twenty-fourth Lord and descendant, Chun Yeowun.'

As a cultist, Chun Yeowun couldn't help but tremble as he saw the founder.

This was like infinite glory.

At that, Chun Ma lightly waved his hands.

[Don't be that conscious of me. My blood descendant who inherited the throne. After all, I am just a small fragment containing the will of my past existence.]

'Fragment?'

[This me can be regarded as the solidification of my will planted inside the Sky Demon Sword.]

'Ah...'

Chun Yeowun couldn't hide his surprise.

If he hadn't attained realization, he wouldn't have fully understood what Chun Ma was saying.

However, as he realized the laws of Mother Nature, he came to know what that meant.

The existence in front of him was, in a way, the will of Chun Ma left inside the sword because of the demon energy.

Chun Ma spoke to Chun Yeowun, who exclaimed.

[You're clever. So you must have obtained it. When you first set foot into this space of nothingness, I thought we would meet after a long time, but we met faster than I thought.]

Chun Ma praised him.

In fact, it was no exaggeration to say that a person who became so strong at such an unbelievable pace is one of the best in Wulin.

'That's an exaggeration.'

[There is no need to be humble. The fact that you have fully accepted the demon energy and achieved Mado is because you have such great talent.]

'Mado?'

He couldn't understand what it meant.

When Chun Yeowun was puzzled, Chun Ma smiled and spoke.

[You are one funny kid. You weren't even aware of the demonic nature of the demon energy even though you fully accepted it and even used it to perform extraordinary feats?]

‘Ancestor. I don’t know what you are talking about...’

It was that moment.

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

The ferocious black energy emanated from Chun Ma’s hands.

It was the spiritual energy of the Imoogi, which was absorbed by the Sky Demon Sword, and the energy, which was called Sky Demon energy.

‘This is?’

[The rage and hatred of the dragon that couldn’t ascend to heaven pierced through the sky and turned into demon energy that wanted to destroy all things. That is the foundation of the energy you have achieved.]

Chapter 467 - Natural State (Heavenly Master) (3)

Chapter 467: Natural State (Heavenly Master) (3)

‘The foundation?’

Chun Yeowun realized a new fact about the vicious black energy emitted by Chun Ma.

At first, he thought of the black energy he held as simply Sky Demon Energy.

And later, when he saw the fallen White Tiger, he realized that the spiritual energy possessed by fallen spirit beasts had to be different.

‘Then, why was the spiritual energy of the fallen White Tiger still in its original state?’

Actually, this was just a guess on his side.

There was another energy source inside the fallen White Tiger body that kept it moving despite its core being removed.

And he felt a ferocious energy from it.

‘Even if that’s the case, the ancestors didn’t seal the demo...’

This was a shock to Chun Yeowun.

The Sky Demon Sword was sealed inside the hall.

Chun Yeowun, who had seen the vision at that time, thought that Chun Ma had sealed the corrupted Imoogi's spiritual energy with the help of the Sky Demon Sword, but it looked like the story was the opposite.

'Did you corrupt what was trying to ascend to heaven?'

When he thought back on it, it was definitely clear.

As Chun Ma cut the horns of the dragon, which was about to ascend to heaven, it filled with hatred and anger.

And that was why it couldn't ascend.

[It's a sad story for the dragon trying to ascend to heaven, but I didn't have any other choice.]

'Choice?'

[We don't have much time, but our meeting now is to let you know the reason.]

Shhh!

Chun Ma reached out into the space of nothingness. A stone chair was created where he stood, and he sat down and continued.

[Inside the Sky Demon Sword, I watched you fight.]

Swoosh!

When Chun Ma reached out to the right, a human form was created.

Unlike augmented reality, it was as if a cloud of smoke came together.

Nothing more than taking up a human form,

‘Blade God!’

The first monster who drove Chun Yeowun to the brink of death for the first time since he started out.

Chun Yeowun, who didn’t know that Chun Ma inside the Sky Demon Sword had been watching the showdown, felt embarrassed.

[No need to be shy. My blood, even though there was such a gap between you two, you deserve full praise for the judgments you made.]

Normally, people would have fallen into despair.

However, Chun Yeowun fought till the end, not giving up.

Chun Ma appreciated that aspect of Chun Yeowun.

[I didn’t believe that the prophecy would come true until I saw it for myself. Immortality...]

Chun Ma said, staring at the figure of the Blade God standing still like a doll.

It was as if he recalled a distant past.

‘What do you mean by prophecy?’

[In the past, there was an extraordinary prophet who came to me and gave me a prophecy about the future of the Sky Demon Order.]

‘Prophet?’

He would have frowned if Chun Ma used the word psychic.

But Chun Ma called him a prophet, one who foretells the future.

‘... ancestor. Are you sure it was a prophet?’

At Chun Yeowun’s question, Chun Ma, not answering, continued.

[The prophet said that a crisis would come to our cult in the distant future. It was said that an immortal being would arrive in Wulin and bring hell, even to our cult.]

Immortal being.

Chun Yeowun spoke while looking at the figure of the Blade God standing still next to the seated Chun Ma.

‘And the immortal being the prophet spoke of is the Blade God?’

At that question, Chun Ma frowned and answered.

[Even I was skeptical. However, I never dreamed that I would see that person again with my own two eyes.]

As soon as he heard those words, Chun Yeowun remembered something.

The traces of confrontation engraved on the cliffs.

It was obvious that the traces were created by the Sword Force of the Sky Demon and the Extreme Art of the Blade God.

‘Ancestor. Is it okay if I ask one question?’

[You don’t need to stick with formalities.]

‘Are the traces in the Sword Creek from you fighting him?’

[Sword Creek?]

‘Yes, that was the place where our ancestor engraved the word ‘Sword’ on the mountain peak.’

At that moment, Chun Ma nodded as if he understood.

[Did you call that place Sword Creek? Right. There was a battle there with him. He was a person with a completely different system of martial arts that I never experienced before.]

The Extreme Art of the Blade God was extremely difficult to unfold with a normal human body.

After seeing the martial arts, even Chun Ma tried to incorporate parts of the Extreme Art of the Blade God into the Sword Force of the Sky Demon.

[Even so, it was lacking even compared to the Great Guardian’s. Now, it can be said that it was only at the level of understanding basic qi.]

‘Ah...’

Now he totally understood it.

When he looked at the legendary records about Chun Ma.

Every time he looked into it, he found it hard to believe what he was reading.

At that time, when the records were done, Chun Ma was only 18, and he rose to the top as he defeated all the famous masters of the time and earned the title of the best in the world.

Ancestor, no, Chun Ma, was called the best and the strongest in the history of Wulin, and Chun Yeowun was able to see just how great he was by taking a look at the records, not once had Chun Ma been defeated.

[But, he would survive even if my sword pierced through his head.]

The words of Chun Ma convinced Chun Yeowun that he hadn't died.

However, despite seeing the Blade God through Chun Yeowun, Chun Ma couldn't help but be shocked.

He became stronger.

'... it's possible if a core is absorbed.'

As Chun Ma said, even after taking that critical blow, there was only one reason that he was alive.

Even if he didn't acquire a core containing spiritual energy, if he absorbed the blood, that would be enough to get regenerative power.

[You're right. Perhaps that's it. Maybe he's a person who absorbed the core of a spirit beast and turned into a being which transcended humans.]

Since Chun Ma was the one who cut off the Imoogi's head, there was no way he was unaware of the cores and their powers.

Chun Ma reached out to the left.

Shh!

With smoke, five creatures were created.

Although smaller in size, they could be identified as the five spirit beasts.

Imoogi, Flame Qilin, Dragon Turtle, White Tiger, and Great Bird.

Pointing to them, he said.

[The prophet spoke of immortality. However, no matter how high the martial state was, human life had always been finite. Immortality cannot be reached by ordinary methods. Accordingly, we came to know about the existence of the five spirit beasts through ancient books. The spirits were collectively called the Five Spirit Beasts.]

Upon learning of the existence of the spirit beasts, Chun Ma set out to find them. And they found out that the cores of the creatures and their blood had a great influence on human lifespan.

[If I absorbed all five cores, I was convinced that immortality wasn't a false dream.]

“... that's right.”

Even Chun Yeowun didn't deny it.

Even a small amount of spiritual energy from the spirit beasts was enough to surpass human limitations.

[From then on, I came up with three options.]

‘Three options?’

[Yes. The first was to prevent the existence of the five spirit beasts.]

But there was a big problem with the first option.

When one of the five spirit beasts disappeared from the world, a new one would appear.

It continued to exist as their will was passed down, just like how a human passes down their will to their children or disciples.

In the end, the first option didn't work.

[The second was to change the method, to make the head of the future generation immortal. It was similar to nurturing a being equal to the immortal enemy who might appear in the future.]

'Ah!'

In fact, this was something that Chun Yeowun had always been suspicious about.

If Chun Ma himself became immortal, he could have further helped in strengthening the clan, but he chose not to.

'Why didn't our ancestor do that?'

[Huhuh, that is such a stupid question. Simple. How long would I be able to embrace the cult and keep protecting the new ones in my arms? Besides, it felt wrong to wait for an immortal enemy whose existence and when he would arrive was unknown.]

Chun Yeowun was speechless for a moment, but he understood.

In a way, Chun Ma thought it was ridiculous to turn into an immortal being just because he was worried about the future generations.

‘Hold on. Then the content about ancestor rising to prominence?’

[Listening to you, it seems like I succeeded in it.]

Chun Ma, who heard that, smiled.

That was what was written in the records of the demonic cult.

It said that Chun Ma, who achieved the highest level of martial arts, rose to prominence.

Rising to prominence was another story that could only happen in Wulin. However, Chun Ma, who reached the highest, realized something.

[That’s a good thing. In any case, I came to understand that the second plan that I thought of was a task for future generations to do. If our cult captured so many creatures and tried to hide it, then it was bound to cause a civil war inside the cult.]

‘Ah...’

Chun Ma created the new Sky Demon Order, but he didn’t trust everyone.

Even those who followed him seemed to be hiding their greed for infinite power.

Therefore, the gathering of the spirits was stopped.

‘... it was the right decision.’

Thinking about the six clans, Chun Ma’s decision was right.

Even if he didn't actually catch them all, Chun Yeowun got them all as if it was destined.

[I thought of a different method. It was interesting because it was like a challenge for me.]

'Does it have something to do with the Sky Demon Energy?'

At Chun Yeowun's question, Chun Ma smiled and nodded.

[I wanted to kill the immortal being that the prophet spoke about. I wanted to prove that immortality doesn't exist in the world.]

It was indeed an absurd idea.

So Chun Ma began to study powers that could possibly destroy the supposed immortal.

Those who took the cores had regenerative powers, so it was only possible to kill them by beheading or completely annihilating their bodies.

[I was convinced that if I could make those beings irreparable, then I could even kill immortals.]

Chun Ma talked about the research he did.

At first, he approached the matter only from a martial arts point of view. Still, in order to learn about spiritual energy and beings, he began to learn about energy and Buddhism, eventually attaining enlightenment.

[Spiritual beings are born out of the spiritual energy between heaven and earth. To oppose that energy, I believed that an opposite energy was needed.]

[The demon energy!]

[Clever one. Yes. That was the beginning.]

The Sky Demon Order was called the Demonic Cult because they worshipped demons and their leader held the title Sky Demon, but that didn't mean they followed the teachings of evil.

It was simply their ideas that sprouted from respect for the strong.

However, in order to obtain the power to destroy all things, Chun Ma believed that an opposite energy, with demonic attributes like hatred, anger, and destruction, was needed.

[However, although humans have anger, murderous intent, and viciousness, they can't reach the level of pure evil.]

'Ahh!'

With those words alone, Chun Yeowun understood why Chun Ma cut off the horns of the Imoogi.

By blocking the entry of a spirit being with the highest level of spiritual energy in the human realm, he turned its emotions into rage, anger, and destruction.

[You inherited my will and gained the energy which contained the Imoogi's demon energy left behind by me, but an incomplete demon energy cannot completely eliminate immortality.]

'That... is right.'

As Chun Ma said, he was completely unable to kill the Blade God.

However, the Sky Demon Energy was able to go against the Blade God.

It had an effect that interfered with regeneration.

[Don't worry. Now you have achieved the true demon energy. With your current strength, you can destroy everything.]

With those words, Chun Ma rose from his seat.

And lightly flicked his fingers,

Visor!

A sword appeared in the air.

It was the form of the Sky Demon Sword.

Chun Ma grabbed it and spoke to Chun Yeowun.

[From now on, you can lead. Now that you are qualified, I will show you the true way to handle the Sky Demon Energy.]

'The true way?'

Chun Yeowun thought that he had already been handling the Sky Demon Energy the right way.

The Sky Demon Energy had been able to maximize all his skills.

At that look, Chun Ma shook his head.

[Those who realize the mysteries of mother nature will be able to wield divine swordsmanship.]

At those words, Chun Yeowun suddenly remembered the Blade God and the God of the East.

The blade energy which was pushed into Chun Yeowun's heart, which could have killed him in an instant.

'Divine swordsman...'

Come to think of it, the Blade God became one with the sword for a moment and blocked Chun Yeowun's attacks.

Chun Yeowun instinctively thought that it was a technique the Blade God could do because of how strong he was.

Looking at Chun Yeowun, who was puzzled, Chun Ma spoke with a smile.

[I'll show you the unity gained from the Divine Swordsmanship that people have forgotten. Following me, I will pass on the best sword to someone who has mastered demon energy.]

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

'What is that?'

Despite the spirit body, Chun Yeowun could feel the thrill run down his spine.

And Chun Ma spoke.

[A sword that can destroy everything. It is the Non-existent Sky Demon Sword.]

Chapter 468 - Natural State (Heavenly Master) (4)

Chapter 468: Natural State (Heavenly Master) (4)

Pachik! Pachik!

A huge crack appeared in the space of nothingness.

There was one person who looked at it with admiration, and it was Chun Yeowun.

Clearly, he was able to exist in the space of nothingness in his actual form, despite it being a spirit body.

And it was all made by Chun Ma.

[This is amazing. You understood it really quickly. I only showed it to you a couple times, but it's like the blood running through you has already embodied it.]

Chun Ma looked at him with satisfaction.

The black Sky Demon Sword in Chun Yeowun's hand trembled slightly.

'Phew...'

It wasn't just a simple tremor.

His right arm trembled as if he had faced a strong recoil.

'Ancestor has surely said that this body is nothing but a spirit form, so why is my body shaking so much?'

Chun Ma spoke as if he was waiting for the question.

[Even if it's just a spirit body, it's made to be as close to the original body as possible, so it's natural to tremble. Only when accompanied with a strong will and body will the Sky Demon Sword be able to destroy all things.]

Chun Yeowun nodded as if he understood.

The power of the Non-existent Sky Demon Sword is truly a skill for the ultimate death of an opponent.

Naturally, the caster itself was affected by it.

‘... really amazing.’

Despite it being a memory fragment of Chun Ma, he really seemed God-like.

The best sword technique, the Sword Art of the Demon God, which Chun Yeowun and Nano completed by collecting the essence of the Sword Force of the Sky Demon and the Extreme Art of the Blade God, was only possible because of the sword traces left behind by Chun Ma.

When it came to martial arts, Chun Ma was unrivaled.

The fact that the Blade God, who went back to the past, yet failed to stand as an opponent in front of him, wasn't so shocking anymore.

‘Ancestor. You are truly...’

It was then.

Grrrr!

Suddenly, change began to occur in the space.

It was nothing, but the space shook as if it was affected by something.

The right expression to say would be it looked like the space was collapsing.

Seeing that change, Chun Ma nodded and spoke.

[It looks like we are running out of time here.]

‘Running out of time?’

[Now is the time we part ways.]

‘!!!’

[Huhuhu, don’t look so sad. The strength of my will left behind in the Sky Demon Sword is exhausted. It’s faster than what it should’ve been, but this is probably because of the power inside the sword weakening as hundreds of years passed.]

Chun Ma spoke.

His will planted in the Sky Demon Sword gradually dispersed for nearly eight hundred years, and the space of nothingness collapsed much faster than originally thought.

[I don’t know if you lack talent. But the amount of time we had was more than enough. I have taught you everything that I could teach.]

It was a short time, but Chun Yeowun learned most of it.

That’s how good Chun Yeowun’s mind is.

Now, in order to use it well, it was a matter of how elaborately he would polish and learn it.

Tak!

Chun Yeowun raised his hand towards Chun Ma and bowed his head.

'I sincerely thank you for the generosity you have shown to Chun Yeowun, your blood descendant.'

Shaking his head, Chun Ma said.

[I remember telling you that you don't have to be so formal.]

'How can I not show courtesy when I have been taught by the lord?'

[You're a funny one. I thought you were a blunt one, but you're doing these useless things despite this form being only a fragment of me.]

Chun Ma didn't exactly look like he hated it.

Jerk!

Slowly, the space of nothingness began to crack, and light began to enter the dark space.

Chun Ma too gradually became transparent.

[My role has ended here. Teach those greedy beings whose eyes have turned towards immortality the weight of the title Chun Ma.]

'I will show them. The power of Chun Ma.'

[Huhuhu, such a reliable kid.]

Even though he was disappearing from the place he existed in all these years, Chun Ma didn't shake for a single moment and kept on smiling.

Aside from being an ancestor, he was a person to truly respect.

'Having only heard things which might happen from a prophet, you started to prepare for the descendants of the distant future. Ancestor, you truly are... hm!'

Chun Yeowun, who was looking at Chun ma disappearing, suddenly noticed something strange.

Of course, it was natural to be concerned about Chun Ma, who said that the Sky Demon Order he founded would see a crisis in the future.

[I see that you have something to say. We don't have much time, so tell me.]

'... lord, can you tell me who the prophet is?'

Disappearing, Chun ma reached out lightly.

Srrr!

Smoke gathered in the half-collapsed space of nothingness and changed into a human form.

It seemed like it was the figure of the prophet.

'!!!'

However, Chun Yeowun's eyes trembled as he looked at it.

The figure with unique color clothes that were completely different from his time, Chun Yeowun knew who It was.

‘He is...’

Swoosh!

He couldn’t help but be shocked, and the space collapsed.

A place not far from the northwest of Changbai Mountain.

A part of the mountain, which was originally covered with dense forest, was burning up in flames.

Woong!

Thousands of trees fell down, turning to black ash from huge hot flames.

It seemed like only a matter of time before the entire mountain would get covered in flames, but the ice wall around it wasn’t letting the flames spread.

Wheeing!

In a place surrounded by an ice wall, the flames moved in a straight line.

They had the momentum to melt down the ice wall at once. However, when one wall melted, another rose high.

Jjjjkkkk!

A harsh sound ran out along with the wall.

“Damn it!”

Huff!

The boy was annoyed as he was burning in flames.

The strange thing was, despite being surrounded by flames, the man didn't burn. Rather he looked like a human flame.

"Haa, you damn bastard."

The bright red-haired man surrounded by the flame was the one called Qu Yuan.

Why was he, someone below the Blade God, here?

He was unable to escape, following Hwang-heol, who was taking away the seriously wounded Blade God.

'I was only trying to gain them some time.'

But the plan went awry.

Originally he tried to run away, but he detected people following him.

Because the ones following him were too fast, he was worried that he would end up leading them to the Blade God and Hwang-heol.

So he stopped and tried to gain some time, but the battle lasted over half an hour.

"Pant.... Pant..."

In front of him, he saw two men who looked ragged.

The man with the mask on had half his mask broken and black soot all over him, Marakim.

His clothes were half-burned because of the flames, and were a mess.

Despite that, Marakim was taking harsh breaths and stared at him with distressed eyes, probably because of the lack of oxygen due to the flames.

“Haa... haaa...”

On his left side was Dan Jucheon, wearing golden armor on his upper body, the armor which came from the Ice Cold staff, and it was protecting his body.

He was in better condition as the armor had the opposite attribute to the flames, yet he looked tired as he ended up consuming a lot of energy.

[Great Guardian. That man is a monster.]

Dan Jucheon shook his head as he sent the message.

While chasing the Blade God, they ended up stopping this one and began to fight with him who could use flames.

This person seemed to be slightly above them.

However, the gap in their internal energy was too large.

[He must have absorbed the core of some spirit beast.]

Unlike them, who were on the verge of exhaustion while fighting, the enemy who was surrounded by the flames was still strong.

[Like the Qilin.]

[Have you seen it?]

Marakim had seen Ran-yeong, so he guessed that this young one had absorbed the blood of the Flame Qilin or the core itself.

He was indeed a formidable opponent, but the energy of the spirit beast was what made it difficult for them to deal with the young man.

Even though the young man was stabbed and cut constantly, he kept regenerating.

A true monster.

[We will have to cut his head...]

At the end of the battle, they concluded that they would have to decapitate the opponent to kill him.

But that wasn't an easy task.

Decapitating the monster would be tough with the defense it had.

[If the fight lasts longer, we will be at a disadvantage.]

They were exhausted.

They didn't have much time left. The longer they took, the more chances for them to lose.

Determined, Dan Jucheon sent a message.

[Let's move together. I'll try to stop his flames and hold him down. Then the Great Guardian will cut his head off.]

At that, the Great Guardian nodded.

Holding on was impossible as breathing was becoming difficult for him.

The opponent had to be decapitated, even if it meant that he had to sacrifice himself.

[Let's move.]

“Hmph!”

Swoosh!

Dan Jucheon's hands began to turn pale because of the cold qi he was gathering.

It was to unfold the Cold Ice of Heaven, which Chun Yeowun had passed down to him.

It was a technique that can completely subdue and freeze the opponent by using eight consecutive forms.

Phat!

Dan Jucheon, at once, moved towards the man in the flames.

“Huh!”

Wheeing!

The flames flared more and more fiercely from the body of Qu Yuan.

When the body of Dan Jucheon, which was raging with cold qi, touched the flames, steam rose.

Shhhhh!

Although the area was obscuring, Dan Jucheon tried to give Marakim a chance by taking down the man's flames.

As the flames and ice collided, the steam gradually thickened, and Marakim finally moved.

‘Now!’

Phat!

Marakim, who appeared behind Qu Yuan at the speed of light, swung his sword at the same speed.

Wooosh!

At that moment, when the young man was about to get beheaded.

Pang!

‘This!’

Marakim’s sword was blocked.

As the steam was lifted by the swift movement of the sword, it was seen that Qu Yuan blocked the sword with his left arm, which had sword qi on it.

“It’s obvious that you guys are getting tired. Hmph!”

Wheeing!

“Kuak!”

“Huuu!”

Qu Yuan’s whole body, which stopped burning because of Dan Jucheon, soared with flames again.

“I caught you guys.”

Papak!

Qu Yuan jumped up, turning his body with his arms crossed.

Then, flames struck where Marakim and Dan Jucheon were.

Wheeing!

They tried to defend themselves, but they were too close to the man and got trapped in the whirlwind of flames.

“This?”

Marakim’s eyes widened.

It was in the form of moving flames, but he knew the technique.

It was a technique of the Blade God Six Martial Clan.

Originally, it was a technique that was made to rip the opponent to pieces with a blade or qi while moving in the form of a whirlwind, but this one was unfolding with flames.

“Great Elder, we need to get out of here!”

The only way out of the technique was above.

Marakim pointed to the sky and became flustered.

Qu Yuan, the man in flames, held a giant sphere of flames right above them, waiting to throw it down.

“You idiots! I hope you don’t turn to ashes right away.”

In the victory of his flames, Qu Yuan smiled.

He deliberately pretended to unfold the technique, to put the two into a dilemma.

“Shit!”

Dan Jucheon slammed both his hands on the ground.

Jjjkkkk!

He took his remaining energy and poured it into creating another ice wall to stop the flames.

However, this time the moving flames had sharp blade qi in them.

Crack!

The ice wall melted and shattered at once.

“Die!!”

Qu Yuan threw the sphere at them.

Wheeing!

The huge sphere of flames fell, trying to crush the people trapped in the whirlwind.

It was that moment.

The huge sphere of flames which fell stopped mid-air.

‘!?’

Qu Yuan couldn’t understand what happened.

“How is this possible?”

It was then.

The sphere of flames, which shone like the sun, began to die down.

Swoosh!

The sphere of flames decreased in size in an instant and then disappeared.

Great Guardian Marakim and Dan Jucheon, who tried to stop the flames, were also stunned at what happened.

Papapak!

“Ah!”

At that moment, the flames which were moving in a whirlwind were narrowing in.

Qu Yuan, who freely manipulated the flames, was flustered.

“The fla-flame is moving... no!”

With a look of disbelief, Qu Yuan looked at the person who was standing ten steps behind Marakim and Dan Jucheon.

A young man wearing black iron armor with fluttering black hair and his hand reaching out.

“You... how are you?”

The Lord of the Demonic Cult, Chun Yeowun.

Marakim and Dan Jucheon too were shocked and shouted at the same time.

“Lord!”

They didn’t even know he appeared there.

‘How did this happen? He was clearly...’

Qu Yuan decided that something was wrong.

Indeed, just like the Blade God, he confirmed that Chun Yeowun's wounds would kill him at any moment.

At that time, Chun Yeowun raised the Sky Demon Sword in his right hand and aimed for Qu Yuan, who was floating in the air.

Creepy!

An eerie and creepy feeling engulfed his entire body.

'I need to run away!'

Qu Yuan instinctively sensed danger and tried to avoid being close to him.

It was the moment when he was about to move away.

Chak!

A black line crossed the air right before his eyes.

Both eyes of Qu Yuan widened.

'!?'

Wheeing!

A strong wind blew, and the burning flames were split in half.

Qu Yuan couldn't help but be shocked as he stared at the black line in front of him.

'This... can't be... possible...'

Swoosh!

The black line in the air disappeared as if it melted.

“Uh, kuk!”

A groan escaped from Qu Yuan’s lips.

At the same time, Qu Yuan’s vision distorted, and then his body split in half.

Clash! Rip!!

To his shock, Qu Yuan’s entire body split in half.

Watching the boy’s body fall to the floor, Dan Jucheon mumbled with trembling eyes.

“The... the space... severed...”

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

It was only for a moment, but he saw it with his own eyes.

It meant that the space was cut.

At that moment, Chun Yeowun, who looked at the corpse of Qu Yuan, which was split in half, muttered in embarrassment.

“... I was only trying to cut down his arms and legs.”

Chapter 469 - Demons (1)

Chapter 469: Demons (1)

Tatatak!

The bandaged man, Hwang-heol, continued to move without taking a break.

Thanks to all his efforts, he moved more than 20 miles northwest of Changbai Mountain.

It was the result of the non-stop running with his intent to save the man.

The Blade God was extremely silent on his back.

It was because he was concentrating on driving away that black energy that had invaded his body.

‘What the hell is that energy? It seems like it’s giving the Lord a hard time?’

One thing was certain.

The dreadful energy was interfering with regeneration.

Still, seeing that the bleeding stopped and the body slowly regenerating, it seemed like the energy was releasing.

‘He is late.’

The bright red-haired man was late.

He said that he would stop the pursuers, but it has been more than half an hour, and he couldn’t see the man.

It was then.

Startle!

“Haaa... haaa... wait!”

“Lord?”

At the words of the Blade God, Hwang-heol stopped.

He wanted to know why, when the Blade God looked at the sky to the east.

No birds were flying in the sky.

The Blade God stared intently at the sky with his pale face and bloodshot eyes and then spoke.

“Demon... God!!!”

The sky, which had been gloomy as it rained because of the White Tiger’s power, suddenly cleared up.

As the sunset over the horizon, the sky was red.

The summit of Changbai Mountain was overflowing with dead bodies.

The bodies were all being moved to one place by the cultists.

“How many are left now?”

“There isn’t much left.”

“Move quickly. The sun is setting.”

“Yes!”

People moved under the orders of Bakgi and Che Takim.

Collecting the bodies was being done for the sake of cremation, and Chun Inji, who was next to Chun Yeowun, who was looking down from the summit, spoke.

“You have the strength to be ruthless, yet you’re kind. Yeowun-ah.”

At those words, Chun Yeowun shook his head and replied.

“It wasn’t for the dead. It was all for the God of the East.”

At that, Chun Inji smiled and nodded his head.

Hearing what happened on the peak, he could fully understand it.

Chun Yeowun was giving permission to cremate the bodies of the Blade God Six Martial Clan’s members because he wanted to defend the righteousness that Ark Wui had upheld.

Wheeing!

On the single stone mountain of Changbai, where the cold wind blew.

A tombstone with the words, God of the East, Ark Wui, written on it.

His tombstone was made by Chun Yeowun himself from the rocks in the lake.

Chun Yeowun turned his head and looked intently at the tombstone.

‘You were the best warrior.’

In the end, the God of the East, Ark Wui, had surpassed both Chun Yeowun and the Blade God.

Without the help of cores or Nano, he reached that level with his determination as a human.

He was truly a warrior worthy of holding the title of the best in the world in this era.

Chun Yeowun thought that the most meaningful thing he achieved by coming to Changbai Mountain was meeting Ark Wui rather than the core.

“After disposing of those corpses, will you head back to our base and prepare for subjugation?”

Chun Inji asked.

Here, they annihilated the elites of the Blade God Six Martial Clan.

And the Blade God, who had to be behind the clan, was seriously injured and fled.

They didn’t know where the Blade God was headed, but there was only one thing they had to do.

It was to strike down the base of the Blade God Six Martial Clan, which had lost its leaders and main force.

“Before that, there is a place we need to go.”

“A place?”

“I think we should take a look at the records that grandfather copied from their clan.”

That record must be written by the Blade God.

If he recalled what the man in bandages said, Chun Yeowun thought that it could contain secrets of how the Blade God tried to change the future.

‘I need to know what that man is aiming for so I can catch him.’

He left injured, but that didn’t mean that the Blade God died.

And if the Blade God couldn’t die, then this would never end.

“It will be on our way back, so I guess it will happen on the way.”

“Today, the sun is already setting, so we should cremate all those bodies, go down the mountain and spend the night to prepare for our departure early tomorrow...”

Kwang!

“Aahhh!”

A scream erupted from somewhere.

‘!?’

Chun Yeowun and Chun Inji looked back at the same time.

The scream came from the place where the lake was still frozen.

Woong!

The huge corpse of the decapitated black tiger was giving out energy.

The black tiger was the fallen White Tiger, a spirit beast.

Even though he was corrupted, his blood was still raging with energy.

All of the blood was drained, and the Six Swords' Ko Wanghur and Hou Sanghwa, including 6th elder Mong Mu, were ordered to recover what was believed to be the other core of the tiger.

But there seemed to be another problem.

“Kuuuu!”

Thud!

The one who screamed was none other than elder Mong Mu.

He was on one knee clutching his stomach with his right hand, and his face turned pale from blood loss.

There seemed to be someone aiming for his neck.

His right hand was stained with blood as he tried to block the attack from Hou Sanghwa.

Pak!

“Kuk! H-Hou Sanghwa! What's wrong with you?”

Hu Bong stopped the attack at the moment when Mong Mu would have lost his life.

Shaking!

‘What kind of sudden burst in power!’

Hu Bong’s eyes trembled as he held Hou Sanghwa’s wrist.

In terms of pure power, she always used a huge axe as a weapon, but in close combat, he was superior.

However, now her power seems to have increased greatly.

“Hou Sanghwa! Calm down!”

Despite Hu Bong’s constant cries, she didn’t stop and kept struggling.

He took a close look at her face,

‘Eyes?’

The whites in the eyes had turned black.

Even though the appearance was eerie, her whole body had vicious energy like a black haze, which was even scarier.

‘This energy is!’

Swosh!

Chak!

Just then, with her free hand, which was outstretched, her weapon came.

“Ugh! Y-You, don’t plan on wielding it, right?”

Without hesitation, she tried to swing the axe at Hu Bong.

Flustered, Hu Bong hurriedly released internal energy as a shield for both of them and looked at Mong Mu.

“6th elder! I’m sorry!”

Clench! Throw!

“Kuk!”

As soon as the 6th elder was moved away, Hu Bong quickly blocked the axe with his hand, which had sword qi on it.

Kang!

“Euk!”

The force with which the axe fell was amazing.

Even though his hand had sword qi on it, the pain was still great.

‘It wouldn’t work anymore. I need to subdue her.’

Hu Bong, who decided that Hou Sanghwa has lost her mind, decided to opt for a different method.

Hu Bong’s left hand, which was holding the blade of the axe, soon burst into flames.

Flame!

As sparks began to rise, the blade of the axe began to heat up, and the heat rose to handle.

Of course, he thought that she would let go of the weapon,

Chiiik!

“Hou Sanghwa!”

Hou Sanghwa didn't let go of the handle. It was as if she couldn't feel pain anymore, despite her palms burning with smoke and a musty smell coming out.

There was a moment when Hu Bong was perplexed about what to do.

Kick!

"Kuek!"

Someone kicked Hu Bong's left ribs.

With such a strong blow, Hu Bong's body flew back in an instant.

Hu Bong, who was on the ground, barely managed to stand up.

"Ugh!"

But he couldn't move because of the broken ribs.

"Ko- leader Ko! His eyes too?"

"What the hell is that?"

Woong!

The cultists couldn't hide their shock.

It was Ko Wanghur who kicked Hu Bong.

Goooo!

The giant Ko Wanghur was holding a sphere the size of a head, which was emitting a black light, in his right hand.

It was the other core of the tiger.

Unlike the original core from its chest, which gave out a dazzling light, this one gave out ferocious and evil energy.

Pak!

“What the hell is going on? Ah! Ko Wanghur?”

Sama Chak, who was in charge of collecting the corpses, was in close vicinity. Looking at the altered forms of his two friends, he was bewildered.

Ko Wanghur was exuding vicious energy, but it seemed like he wasn't in control.

The cause seemed to be the black core he was holding.

‘Did he come into contact with that?’

It was dangerous to see Ko Wanghur, who had reached the Superior Master Level, engulfed by the black sphere giving out energy.

“Ko Wanghur, come to your senses... ugh!”

Pak!

Sama Chak was thrown back.

Ko Wanghur attacked him at the speed of light.

It all happened so swiftly, Ko Wanghur's left fist hit him at once.

“Da-Damn it!”

It was then.

Thud!

Ko Wanghur, who was about to swing another fist, knelt down on the floor.

It wasn't just him.

Hou Sanghwa, who was holding her axe, also knelt on the floor, staggering, unable to get up.

Tat!

"Lord!"

Chun Yeowun had appeared.

He was the one who managed to suppress the two.

'I told them to be careful. Yet they ended up like this.'

Chun Yeowun frowned as he looked at the black orb in Ko Wanghur's hand.

It seemed to hold the demon energy of the fallen tiger that had entered the two of them.

"Ugh! They are getting up!"

Ko Wanghur and Hou Sanghwa tried to straighten little by little.

Perhaps the energy from the core hand flowed into them again. This power seemed far more explosive than the blood of a spirit beast.

'Demon energy is dangerous.'

However, Chun Yeowun, who achieved the path of demons, was overpowering them.

Chun Yeowun slightly moved his fingers.

And,

Kwang!

The two who were trying to stand fell to the floor.

The internal energy was so strong that they were both digging into the floor, causing cracks.

Chun Yeowun stretched out his left hand.

Wheeing! Tak!

And the black core in Ko Wanghur's hand entered Chun Yeowun's.

"L-Lord it's dangerous!"

Hu Bong, holding his ribs, shouted.

When the core touched his hand, the ferocious yet evil energy tried to enter Chun Yeowun's body through his palm.

At that, Chun Yeowun smiled.

"I guess you are going crazy."

Woong!

Ferocious energy emanated from Chun Yeowun's body.

It couldn't be compared to the small demon energy that the black core was giving out.

Inside Chun Yeowun, the cores of the five had merged into one. As he realized mother nature and achieved the path of demons, he surpassed even the limits of spirit beasts.

Swoosh!

As if afraid of something, the energy from the black core began to calm down.

Eventually, the strong black light faded away.

The demon energy was completely suppressed.

“Oh!”

“The Lord easily brought down the demon energy!”

The cultists around were shocked.

However, Chun Yeowun wasn't.

Jjjkkkk!

Chun Yeowun froze the black core.

Since it was locked in ice, it couldn't release any more of its power.

Now all that was left was to bring Ko Wanghur and Hou Sanghwa back.

“Kooo!”

Perhaps because they shared the same energy of the black core, they couldn't hide their fear when they saw Chun Yeowun and his energy.

Chun Yeowun's eyes lit up as he put his hand on Ko Wanghur, who was unable to get up from the floor.

"Lord. What is it?"

Chun Yeowun answered Sama Chak's question.

"The core's demon energy is encroaching their insides."

It was the equivalent of the Sky Demon Energy acting up in Chun Yeowun.

In Hou Sanghwa, the energy had already penetrated through her dantian.

"Can't the energy be expelled?"

It wasn't such a simple thing.

"If you try to get rid of the energy which has penetrated inside, the dantian will be damaged."

If that happens, it would be fatal for the person.

"But, if we leave them like this, won't Ko Wanghur and Hou Sanghwa become obsessed and turn into evil demons?"

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

At Sama Chak's words, Chun Yeowun's eyes darkened.

As the one beside him was puzzled, Chun Yeowun spoke.

"There is a good way."

"Yes?"

Chapter 470: Demons (2)

Chapter 470: Demons (2)

Hearing that there might be another core inside the dead body of the White Tiger, 6th elder Mong Mu and the Six Swords' Ko Wanghur and Hou Sanghwa decided to bring it out.

Despite being dead, the flesh and carcass of the tiger were hard.

It was tough to cut it with internal energy or weapons, so they had to dismantle it with sword qi.

Slash!

[Ugh, is there really another core?]

Hou Sanghwa frowned at the sticky black blood which was dripping onto her.

Although she had reached the end of the Super Master Level, she was still weak compared to Ko Wanghur and Mong Mu.

[No. I can definitely feel it inside.]

[So do I. Elder Mong Mu.]

Although the body was huge, the two could still feel the presence of the energy.

When the body of the dead Dragon Turtle was dismantled, its spiritual energy didn't flow to this extent.

[It seems to be there.]

Ko Wanghur, who was slashing the flesh, pointed to somewhere.

Mong Mu then cut the area as carefully as he could.

Chow!

A strange light shone through the flesh of the dead white tiger.

Usually, the light was bright, but this looked dark.

Woong!

If it was a core, then pure divine energy had to come out, but this energy was dark and ferocious like evil.

[Ominous. Still, it has to be the core.]

It was clear from the strong energy.

All they had to do was move it out.

Elder Mong Mu, who held a higher position than them, gave orders to Ko Wanghur and Hou Sanghwa.

[Lord said that this core's energy is strong, so direct contact with it is dangerous.]

The Flame Qilin's core, which was made of flame qi, would burn everything that touches it.

Likewise, the core of the Dragon Turtle would electrocute people by releasing lightning if touched.

Chun Yeowun had asked these three to grab the core because of their strong skills.

[Understood.]

Ko Wanghur wrapped both his hands in energy.

And carefully placed his hands around the vicious core.

Tak!

That moment.

Papapak!

[Huh! Wh-What's this?]

He obviously covered his hands in energy.

Yet, the energy pierced through it and seeped into his body.

Ko Wanghur immediately tried to expel the energy, but the speed at which it was seeping into his body and spreading was beyond his imagination.

When Ko Wanghur became stiff and unable to move, panicking, Hou Sanghwa shouted.

[Wanghur! What's happening?]

When there was no answer, she hurried and tried to remove the black core from Ko Wanghur.

As she knew not to touch it, she tried to shake Ko Wanghur's shoulders to make him drop it.

[Kyaaa!]

Tremble! Tremble!

Ominous energy began to enter her body the moment she put her hands on him.

That was all they remembered.

[Everyone needs to be killed! Everything has to be destroyed!]

When the vicious energy engulfed their bodies, they became captive to the demonic nature of the energy, and feelings of hatred and anger began to rise.

But,

Things changed as something overwhelming entered their bodies.

It seemed purer and a lot more vicious than the initial energy.

Woong!

Abyss-like energy filled with darkness controlled the vicious energy which had begun to rage in their bodies.

The energy which ran out of control soon became a part of them.

“Oooh!”

A shudder came over them.

People couldn't hide their shock at what was happening.

A little while ago, these two people who had been possessed by the demon energy and running around with murderous intent were now sitting on the ground and meditating.

Shhh!

A black haze was covering their bodies like a cocoon.

Within them, the demon energy slowly stabilized.

It was Chun Yeowun who was doing it.

‘With this technique made by Nano for using the Sky Demon Energy in swords, we can control the energy.’

The Sword Force of the Sky Demon was a technique that Chun Ma had created to deal with the Sky Demon Energy.

Although it was the most effective, it was something that only the lords could learn, so Chun Yeowun had to use it on them with the help of Nano.

‘Done. It’s stable now.’

It was successful.

Those whose energies were being eroded by the demon energy were slowly controlling it.

Now, even if Chun Yeowun removed his hands, they could handle it.

‘Now it’s up to them.’

If they can control the demon energy stably inside their bodies, then they’d be able to have spiritual energy like Hu Bong’s flames and Bakgi’s lightning.

And it wasn’t long.

Woong!

The cocoon of black haze around Ko Wanghur disappeared like a blooming flower.

And the two, who were done, opened their eyes.

The cultists who were looking at this were all tense.

“Oh!”

The eyes which had turned black were back to their original state.

Sama Chak and Hu Bong, who were standing near them, exclaimed.

“Are you two fine?”

“Ko Wanghur! Hou Sanghwa!”

The energy from the two people who managed to subdue the vicious energy was different.

Like when Chun Yeowun would release his energy, it felt ferocious and dark.

Ko Wanghur looked at his hands in disbelief.

Black haze was rising from both palms.

Woong!

They radiated the demon energy which had been embodied.

“What is this?”

As the energy was felt, he could feel just how much the energy was maximizing his power.

It seemed like he could crush anything.

Hou Sanghwa too was confused and wondered about the energy.

“Wanghur. What is this?”

They were the ones who had their bodies eroded by the energy.

“Sanghwa!”

Pushing aside the question, Ko Wanghur, who confirmed that his lover was fine, smiled.

Then came a voice from behind them.

“I see that you are up.”

“Lord!”

The two of them immediately knelt on one knee.

Embarrassed, Ko Wanghur spoke.

“We apologize. You warned us to be careful, but we made a huge mistake.”

He didn’t know what he did, but he remembered what happened before he lost control.

As if not caring, Chun Yeowun responded.

“No. If I had known that the Demon Energy inside it was this strong, I would have retrieved it myself.”

Even a Superior Master like Ko Wanghur lost control.

If it was this strong, either Marakim or Dan Jucheon should have been asked to grab the core.

However, those two weren't in the position to take orders as they were still healing their internal injuries.

"Still, thanks to Lord, our lives were saved, and you prevented a major accident. Thank you for the grace you've shown."

"Thank you for the grace you've shown, my Lord."

If it wasn't for Chun Yeowun, no one knew what would have happened and how many cultists would have been killed.

The two were truly grateful that nothing major happened.

Of course, 6th elder Mong Mu almost lost his life.

"But Lord, is it fine if I ask just one thing?"

Chun Yeowun nodded at Hou Sanghwa's question.

"When we were using the technique that Lord was guiding us with, the demon energy established itself in the dantian. I have no idea how."

Vicious demon energy.

That energy was completely different from spiritual energy.

It was natural for her to wonder.

Chun Yeowun smiled at the two.

"Sky Demon Energy.... No, it's Demon Energy."

"Demon energy?"

A destructive demon energy which is the complete opposite of divine energy.

Chun Yeowun named it from the Sky Demon Energy and called it Demon Energy.

It was the origin of the true Demon who made the Sky Demon Order which they worship.

Chun Yeowun was happy looking at the two who were doing fine.

‘If we can teach the other warriors of the cult about Demon Energy, then we will be able to respond to even enemies with spiritual energy.’

It was something that Chun Yeowun came up with because of the concern of Sama Chak.

Just as Chun Ma made it possible for future generations to prepare for the crisis, Chun Yeowun laid a new foundation for the Demonic Cult to stand tall, the Demon Energy.

Time passed.

The day had set, and the cremation of the bodies collected near the lake was finished.

Only burnt black ashes remained.

Wheeing!

Cultists were holding torches as they descended from the mountain in a line.

“It’s dark, be careful walking down.”

“For those who go down first, prepare the barracks right away.”

“Yes!!”

At the top, the smell of blood and burnt flesh remained, which was why they were forced to move down.

There were people who were looking down the mountain.

It was Chun Yeowun and Mun Ku.

When he saw the last person heading down, Chun Yeowun asked with a puzzled expression.

“You said you had something to say. Will you talk now?”

These two had waited for all the others to head down first.

It was because Mun Ku said she had something to say.

When he asked, Mun Ku said that she wanted to talk when it was just the two of them.

“Mun Ku?”

At Chun Yeowun’s question, Mun Ku’s face turned red.

He couldn’t understand why, but Mun Ku continued to breathe, again and again, clearing her throat and breathing again.

“Haa, haaa. Lord.”

“Hm?”

“Wh-What do you think about becoming a father?”

Chun Yeowun frowned at the sudden question.

“Becoming a father...”

Chun Yeowun, who was about to ask a question, suddenly went stiff.

Chun Yeowun thought that it was strange how Mun Ku was acting.

He was confused at her question, but he soon realized what she wanted to say.

Tak!

Chun Yeowun held her trembling hands and asked.

“Mun Ku... are you?”

Before he could even ask the full question.

Startle!

Chun Yeowun’s gaze turned somewhere. And Nano’s voice echoed in his ears.

[Detected personnel wearing a suit in stealth mode.]

‘Stealth mode?’

Woong!

Chun Yeowun’s eyes trembled and augmented reality opened up.

In the opened-up augmented reality, a figure in red particles a good distance from him could be seen.

At that moment, the figure in red particles reached out and aimed for someone.

[Danger!]

Something was fired.

It was super fast.

Chun Yeowun quickly reacted and reached for Mun Ku's neck.

Pak!

"Lord?"

Mun Ku was puzzled but even more shocked when she saw tiny needles between Chun Yeowun's middle and index fingers.

"How dare they! Mun Ku, please wait for me."

Swoosh!

Chun Yeowun disappeared right away.

Chun Yeowun, who moved right away, reached out and grabbed something.

Clearly, nothing could be visible with the naked eyes, but the area shook where his hand reached out to.

"Show yourself."

In the space where Chun Yeowun reached out to, something shook.

Chak!

The shimmering space cracked, and blue flames burst, revealing someone.

It was a strange phenomenon.

The person who was caught by Chun Yeowun was coughing as if breathing was becoming hard.

“Kuak! Le-Let’s talk about this...”

Chun Yeowun’s eyes widened as he looked at him.

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

He was a young man in his early thirties with unique clothes that can’t be seen in Jianghu.

And he was,

“Chun Issa?”

The descendant who injected the Nano Machine into Chun Yeowun.

Chapter 471 - Descendant from the Future (1)

Chapter 471: Descendant from the Future (1)

The young man in his early thirties called Chun Issa was the descendant who gave him the 7th generation Nano Machine.

Chun Yeowun had seen the video inside Nano, and there was no way he wouldn't recognize him.

'Chun Issa?'

Issa meant Director, a position in the Sky Corporation, his company.

But with that one short word itself, he inferred a lot.

'What? Maybe, all the information related to our company put into the Nano Machine was...'

It was strange how he was being referred to as that.

It was natural that he was puzzled. The one from the future didn't even know what was recorded into the Nano Machine.

'This is crazy. Did something go wrong?'

He had gone through a lot to come there.

His first plan had also gone awry, and he didn't think that their meeting would take such a long time.

Knowing that the North Sea Ice Palace was located on Olkhon Island in Russia, he thought he knew the exact location and would see Chun Yeowun there.

But when he had reached the North Sea Ice Palace, the palace was being rebuilt.

Thanks to that, he had a hard time tracking Chun Yeowun down.

He only managed to arrive here after being caught by 'them' several times.

'Is it possible that the Blade Six is involved?'

Otherwise, it was strange for Chun Yeowun to know his identity.

It was a moment's wonder, and Director Chun was on the verge of suffocation.

"Cough, hand... unhand me..."

Srrrk!

"Haaa..."

When Chun Yeowun learned of his identity, he held back from crushing his neck.

But he didn't completely let go.

Although he was his descendant, he couldn't figure out why he did that.

"Why did you aim at Mun Ku?"

It was absolutely unforgivable.

“Haahaa... I wasn’t aiming... I was trying to put her to sleep with an anesthetic gun.”

“Anesthetic gun?”

Nano’s voice was heard in Chun Yeowun’s ears.

[As a result of analysis, it is recognized as an anesthetic needle from the TG-3100 firearm.]

Woong!

In the augmented reality field of view, the image of the needle Chun Yeowun had caught earlier, and its information was all written down.

‘What the hell is a gun?’

He roughly knew what anesthesia meant.

It meant that it was an act or product which could cause loss of consciousness or sensation. But he didn’t know what a gun meant.

[It’s a weapon that fires something using exploding gunpowder. The method is present in the system.]

He had no interest in that exploding gunpowder.

However, it seemed to follow the same logic as firing a shell.

In any case, it was clear that the purpose of his descendant wasn’t to harm Mun Ku but to put her to sleep.

“Then why did you want to put her to sleep?”

“That...”

Tatak!

Before Director Chun could say anything, Mun Ku appeared.

With eyes of wonder, she asked.

“Lord, this man is?”

Chun Yeowun was momentarily speechless at her question.

He was at a loss for how to explain.

He couldn't say that he was a descendant who appeared from the future but tried to put Mun Ku to sleep.

At that moment, Chun Yeowun heard a telepathic message from Director Chun.

[This is why I was trying to put her to sleep. I don't have much time. Could you ask your follower to step back?]

‘Follower?’

Chun Yeowun's eyes rose.

Perhaps it wasn't written in the Sky Demon Order's records, but the descendant didn't seem to know who Mun Ku was.

“Lord, shall I subdue him and take him away?”

At Mun Ku's words, Chun Yeowun's expression hardened.

It just had to be when the two of them were talking about the most important thing in their lives.

However, this situation couldn't be overlooked.

Chun Yeowun was full of regret but thought that the situation couldn't be helped. He looked at her and spoke in a soft voice.

"Mun Ku."

"Yes, Lord."

"If I understood what you said before correctly, then today is the happiest day of my life."

"Ahhh! T-That!"

At Chun Yeowun's words, Mun Ku's face turned tomato red.

She was too flustered and shy, as she kept waving her hand back and forth.

He stroked her hair with his left hand and spoke with the same soft tone.

"I'm sorry, but is it okay if we get back to it at a later time?"

At Chun Yeowun's softer than usual words, Mun Ku nodded with a red face.

She might have been a little disappointed, but when he spoke like that, it felt like Chun Yeowun considered her very important, and she felt grateful.

"I have something to talk about with this person, so go down with the cultists first."

"Will you be fine?"

Chun Yeowun had just recovered and was seriously injured just two hours ago.

She didn't want to leave Chun Yeowun alone like that.

"Do not worry. This man isn't dangerous."

"... understood. Lord. But please be careful. The strange clothes somehow... I think he's a suspicious person."

'Suspicious?'

It was her opinion as she looked at the clothes of the descendant, who was still being held by the neck.

Anyone who saw that outfit would be wary.

"You! If you do any harm to my lord, you will never get out of this place alive."

"... yes, yes."

Director Chun reluctantly responded to Mun Ku's warning.

After giving that warning, Mun Ku descended Changbai Mountain towards the torches which were moving.

When her presence was completely gone,

Thud!

"Ugh!"

Director Chun, who was out of Chun Yeowun's grip, hurt his butt as he landed on the ground.

Director Chun shook his head and clicked his tongue.

Although his ancestors in the distant past were well versed in martial arts, unlike the Director's current time, Chun Yeowun was still a monster.

‘To become a monster in just four or five years.’

He did inject the Nano Machine for this to happen, but it was still amazing.

He never imagined that his stealth mode would be discovered by both the former Lord Chun Yujong and current Lord Chun Yeowun.

Stealth mode didn’t just block vision, it could also hide the energy emitted from the body, but he never expected to be found this easily.

Director Chun tried to put his hand into the square bag hanging from his waist.

Whoa!

“What?”

But then his hand stopped before he could put it into the bag.

He was stopped by profound energy.

“What do you think you’re doing?”

Director Chun looked up with bewildered eyes at Chun Yeowun, and said.

“... I don’t mean to harm you. I just have something to check.”

Chun Yeowun, who was looking at the man with suspicious eyes, retracted the energy.

As the hand moved, Director Chun felt amazed.

Even Director Chun, who was a skilled man in his time, couldn't restrain an opponent's movement with his internal energy.

'Time moved forwards, but we are going backwards.'

It was a shame.

But it was unavoidable.

Only the Blade Six Group had mastered proper martial arts in their time.

Director Chun pulled something out of the bag.

Seeing that, Chun Yeowun's eyes lit up.

'What is that?'

It looked like something from the future that Nano had shown him.

It was strange. There was a printed image on a square-shaped object which was the size of a palm.

Director Chun pressed the image on the square box a few times with his thumb, and a strange sound came out of it.

Beep! Beep! Beep! Beep!

"Ah!"

Seeing that, Director Chun exhaled a breath of relief.

All he was holding was a device that could track down the 7th generation Nano Machine.

He took it out to check if there was a Nano Machine in Chun Yeowun's body.

It was because he was concerned that the Blade Six had noticed that and had come to the past to do something.

'H-How did he find and use the Gatelinium Nano Machine?'

It was a very lucky situation.

But there were unsolved questions.

Standing up, Director Chun spoke.

"How do you know me?"

He believed that remembering faces in a state of confusion was possible.

But knowing his position in the present didn't make sense.

To that, Chun Yeowun said calmly.

"I saw it in a video of Nano. A man called Dr. Baek called you Chun Issa."

"Video recording? The lab was being recorded. Ahh!"

As his question had been resolved, Director Chun nodded his head.

'Dr. Baek must have forgotten to delete or lock the video.'

That could be possible.

If so, it was natural that Chun Yeowun knew his post.

Chun Yeowun spoke to him.

“Even so, I have a lot of questions for you. You gave me Nano...”

“Nano? Are you referring to the Nano Machine?”

“Yes.”

At Chun Yeowun’s affirmation, Director Chun grabbed his stomach and laughed.

“Puahahahahaah! Nano! When you said Nano, I immediately thought you were talking about the Nano Machine, but you refer to it as if it’s a person.”

“What’s so funny?”

Chun Yeowun felt uncomfortable and frowned.

“Hmph!”

Director Chun suppressed his laugh immediately.

When he saw Chun Yeowun five years ago, he was just a boy, but now, the sense of intimidation that Chun Yeowun gave him was far stronger than his father, Chairman Chun, could give.

“Anyway, Chun Issa, why did you give...”

“Hold up. I am really sorry, but my name isn’t Chun Issa.”

“What?”

“Chun Issa is like a position. In today’s terms, it’s a position like an elder.”

An easy-to-understand explanation, Chun Yeowun nodded, making sure he understood it.

“Then what is your name?”

“This is a late introduction. If you have seen the video, you probably noticed my identity to some extent, so I’ll tell you everything without hiding.”

Tak!

The descendant bowed on one knee and took the position any cultist would take to pay respects to their Lord.

“I would like to extend my greetings to my ancestor, the Slashing Demon Emperor, 24th Lord of the Sky Demon Order. I am the eldest son of Chun Mu-jin, the one hundred and seventeenth head of the great Sky Demon Order, Chun Mu-seong.”

It was a polite greeting, but Chun Yeowun’s eyebrows rose.

He was puzzled.

“... that isn’t my title.”

“Ah! It looks like you haven’t gotten the nickname yet. You’ll be called the Slashing Demon Emperor soon.”

The descendant who identified himself as Chun Mu-seong said that with certainty.

This was a completely different history from what he knew, and he didn’t know that the title didn’t change.

“I’m saying that it isn’t the title...”

“I’m sorry for interrupting my great ancestor. I really can’t stay in one place for long, so can I talk first?”

Chun Mu-seong was looking impatient.

Chun Yeowun sighed and nodded his head.

In a way, he was angry when his words were cut off, but this man was the descendant from the future who saved his life.

Chun Mu-seong rose and said.

“Firstly, I would like to apologize once again for trespassing into my ancestor’s life and for this.”

“What?”

At that time, Chun Mu-seong pressed the video screen, which he was holding with his thumb.

“7th generation Nano Machine take the orders of Chun Mu-seong, your master. Temporarily restrain the user’s body.”

‘!?’

Beep! Beep!

[The command has been sent to the 7th generation Nano machine. The command right has been assigned to Master ID rather than the user.]

A voice similar to Nano’s echoed from the device.

When Chun Yeowun frowned and wondered, Chun Mu-seong spoke with a sorry face.

“Sorry. Ancestor. I don’t have much time as I am being pursued by ‘them’. To be here, I had no other choice but to move on to Plan B because I was using the space portal, which ran out of battery after every jump.”

“What does that even mean?”

Chun Yeowun asked with narrowed eyes.

At that, Chun Mu-seong smiled while placing his hands together.

“I want to tell you everything honestly, but nothing good happens when people from the past know the future. I will never harm you, so please be patient.”

He held out the device towards Chun Yeowun and said.

“Move all the data that was analyzed in the user’s body to the Master ID controller. Copy all the information about martial arts and internal energy usage that have been saved as data.”

[Sending commands to the 7th generation Nano machine.]

The corners of Chun Mu-seong’s lips went up.

This was his second plan.

It was believed that as long as there was information that was being collected in the Nano Machines, it could be converted into data, and when back in the future, he could utilize it.

“Please wait a minute, it will be do... uh?”

Chun Mu-seong’s eyes widened as he looked at the screen on the device.

[Error! Error! Commands not sent to the 7th generation Nano Machine.]

“What. Try again.”

[Error! Error!]

The text 'error' was displayed on the screen.

Chun Mu-seong couldn't understand.

"No way! I ordered it with my Master ID... kuk!"

Woong!

Before he could finish his words, Chun Mu-seong caught his breath as he floated into the air.

Unbelievable, Chun Mu-seong's eyes trembled.

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

Apparently, Chun Yeowun had to be restrained because of the Master ID command, but Chun Yeowun was coming towards him.

'No way, how could this happen?'

Chun Yeowun spoke to him, who was bewildered in a cold voice.

"You will regret it if you don't give me a compelling reason for this. Descendant."

Chapter 472 - Descendant from the Future (2)

Chapter 472: Descendant from the Future (2)

“Cough cough!”

Chun Mu-seong, who was struggling in the air, couldn't hide his shock.

An impossible thing happened.

The 7th generation Nano Machine is made of Gatelinium, the greatest metal ever.

The best technology which had no problem with self-healing and self-upgrading.

‘Nonsense! How could he break free from the restraint!’

If the Nano Machines control the body from the inside, one couldn't move.

It was because they paralyze the nerve centers which control the cerebellum, which is responsible for movement.

Chun Mu-seong was shocked, but it was a natural outcome.

[External interference blocked.]

‘Good job. Nano.’

Nano had detected the command frequency sent by the device Chun Mu-seong was holding from the very beginning.

And it automatically blocked any interference.

In fact, normally, what Chun Mu-seong had been intending would have happened.

However, there was something that changed in Nano.

‘It’s my luck that an error occurred in Nano that time.’

The damage that Nano took from the lightning when fighting the Dragon Turtle in the North Sea.

At that time, in the process of recovering from the error, the main chip of Nano was damaged, and coincidentally, in the self-upgrade, external interference was blocked.

Chun Mu-seong, who didn’t know that, shouted.

“Wh-What did you do?”

He was emotionally agitated.

It was because he couldn’t receive the data from the Nano Machine. This meant that all his hard work was in vain.

But Chun Yeowun didn’t know that.

“What are you doing?”

Chun Yeowun asked and raised his finger upwards.

Then, the body of Chun Mu-seong, who was already in the air, rose higher.

“Ugh!”

Chun Yeowun’s eyes were narrowed.

“I would like to hear an explanation.”

‘Shit!’

Chun Mu-seong was confused.

The longer he stayed here, the more likely ‘they’ would notice.

So, rather than trying to persuade Chun Yeowun for a long time, he just wanted to take the data and return to the real world with the martial arts information.

‘I can’t even move.’

Being restrained like that was more severe than being caught by the neck.

Seeing Chun Yeowun’s face full of displeasure, the descendant noticed how angry he was.

Still, he was a descendant from the future, he wouldn’t be harmed, but it didn’t seem like he would just let him be.

‘Should I explain it in moderation?’

It was a dangerous situation if he didn’t hurry.

If he was alone, that would be a different matter as he was in direct contact with them. However, there is a high probability that ‘they’ would touch Chun Yeowun.

If he wasn’t alone and his luck was terrible, they would discover the existence of the 7th generation Nano Machine, then the worst would happen.

“An-Ancestor, I sincerely apologize for my disrespect. But I really don’t have time. I didn’t really mean to harm you...”

“That isn’t what I want to hear.”

“Yes?”

Shhh!

Chun Yeowun moved his finger lightly.

At that moment,

Crack!

“Kuakk!”

Chun Mu-seong’s left arm got twisted and broke.

At the sudden event, Chun Mu-seong screamed in pain.

‘Th-This is crazy!’

He never imagined that Chun Yeowun would break a healthy descendant’s arm.

He had never felt this kind of pain in his life, almost on the very verge of losing consciousness.

“Kuuuuk!”

“Let me make this clear. If you hadn’t given me Nano, I would’ve cut off your arm. No more crossing the line and acting like this.”

Creepy!

As soon as he heard those words, Mu-seong had goosebumps all over his body.

Something remembered in his brain.

Among the various matters recorded about the successive lords. He remembered what was written about Chun Yeowun, the 24th Lord and Tyrant.

[He has the cruelest hands among all the previous lords. Even the reason for his title being created, without leaving a single person who offended him, their arms were...]

‘... cut off.’

If his memory was correct, everything was true.

It was only after his arm was twisted did he remember that.

It was his worst mistake, thinking of Chun Yeowun as some little boy.

Chun Yeowun was something he had to be very careful with.

‘Wiik!’

Chun Yeowun now looked at his left arm.

Chun Mu-seong spoke out, scared.

“I-I will talk!”

AD Year. 2940. 12. 25

Just an hour before moving into the past.

In the Sky Corporation lab, Dr. Baek handed over the master device capable of tracking and controlling the 7th generation Nano Machine to Chun Mu-seong.

Dr. Baek spoke in an unappealing voice.

[As you asked, the data terminal information is also copied.]

[Thank you. Are you sure nothing can control the 7th generation Nano Machine other than this device?]

[Unless the worst possible gate in history reopened, there's no other way to control Gatelinium.]

Chun Mu-seong licked his lips, satisfied.

A gate, once closed, cannot be reopened.

Therefore, this device is the last means to control the 7th generation Nano Machine.

Sticking out his tongue, Dr. Baek spoke.

[Look, Director Chun. Wouldn't it be better for you to use this Nano Machine instead?]

The Nano Machine was something Chun Mu-seong had made, and it was the best masterpiece.

It had the ability to absorb all energies, and it was impossible to trace because it wasn't a metal that existed on Earth.

[If that happens, the government and Blade Six may impose sanctions or interfere despite deviating from the rules...]

[Doesn't the Dr already know that it won't work?]

[... so, if you intervene in the past, do you think the Blade Six or the Blade God Six Martial Clan from the future will disappear? If the time axis changed, everything we did would become meaningless.]

It was the thing that Dr. Baek was most concerned about.

It was pointless to intervene in the past.

If history changed, the present they were in could disappear like the butterfly effect, and if the time axis wasn't changed, things would stay the same.

[It doesn't matter. I just need to prove that my predictions are correct. If it's true, then it will be like hitting him on his head, and that's enough for me.]

[Woah, stubborn.]

[Wasn't it the Dr. who liked that? Huhu.]

As if Dr. Baek lost, he raised his hands, shaking his head.

From distant ancestors to recent ones, the family of Chun had been blessed, but all of them were stubborn.

[Understood.]

He wasn't discouraged.

Chun Mu-seong pulled out something from the bag on his waist and spoke.

[This might be the last thing you get to say, any last words?]

[Don't say that even as a joke... phew, I hope you don't enter the plan you mentioned. That's the whole reason I made that device.]

[Hahahaha, you know. The most certain...]

[You! Where does the nonsensical idea of bringing the people from the past to the future even sound like a plan?]

Chun Mu-seong spoke in a heavy voice.

[It's because we are in a dire situation. Because he is the only one who can deal with that monster.]

[... you have gone crazy. It isn't a brilliant idea. It's a crazy idea.]

[We'll only know if we implement it.]

[Wa-Wait a minute!]

Despite the urgent call from Dr. Baek, Chun Mu-seong smiled brightly, unlocked the safety device from the bag, and pressed a button.

Woong!

Space around him shook with a dazzling light, and his body got sucked into the void.

Chun Yeowun had heard the story from Chun Mu-seong.

“What? You are trying to take ancestor Chun Ma to the future?”

These were words that he never thought he would say.

Combining some of the information that he learned so far, he understood that the purpose of the future descendant was to prevent the Blade God and his Clan from developing.

However, when he heard that he was trying to take Chun Ma to the future, it sounded absurd.

“Because he's the only one who can face that monster.”

‘This one is crazy.’

The one called Dr. Baek didn't like this plan.

But Chun Mu-seong had gone ahead because he was sure that this plan could block the Blade God successfully.

But the fact that Chun Mu-seong was here meant that the plan had failed.

"That was the original plan, but Chun Ma thinks that the work and problems of the distant future are something that people of that time need to solve. He..."

It was a strange thought.

"I thought of taking him by force, but I didn't dare do that."

Chun Ma was too strong.

Seeing him look sad, Chun Yeowun clicked his tongue and spoke.

"Tch tch, so that's why you told Chun Ma to prepare for the future while pretending to be a prophet and calling it a prophecy?"

'!?'

Chun Mu-seong's eyes widened at those words.

"No! How did you know that!?"

He couldn't help but be shocked when he heard Chun Yeowun say that.

He never dreamed that Chun Yeowun, who was in this era, knew all that.

'Who is this man?'

He did give him a Nano Machine, but he couldn't guess what all had happened in just four years.

'Because Chun Ma showed it to me.'

The appearance of the prophet shown by Chun Ma was Chun Mu-seong.

Because of that, Chun Yeowun already knew that this man had gone to the past, the era of Chun Ma.

He wanted it to be explained,

"Do what you are supposed to do."

"... understood."

Chun Mu-seong, who was so afraid that his arm would be cut off, didn't ask for more.

Chun Yeowun asked the first question.

"There is one thing I'm curious about. If my guess is correct, you gave me Nano to prevent the Blade God Six Martial Clan and the Blade God. But why didn't you give Nano to Chun Ma?"

This was something he couldn't understand.

If he was unsure, he should have persuaded Chun Ma from the beginning.

There was no need to make things so complicated.

After hesitating for a while, Chun Mu-seong opened his mouth.

"There is this thing called Time Paradox."

“Time Paradox?”

“It means a contradiction in time. If I implanted the Nano Machine into my ancestor, then I would have disappeared forever. Ceased to exist.”

“Disappear?”

“The history I know would change. Even one change in history would have a huge impact. Of course, I should have disappeared, but I didn’t. A Time Paradox occurred.”

Chun Yeowun frowned.

It was too complicated for him to understand.

Chun Mu-seong explained it again.

“... I’ll explain it simply. We have the power to decide our actions. If I kill someone in this age, his children, grandchildren, and future descendants will disappear.”

“Ah!”

Only then did Chun Yeowun understand.

Come to think of it, if he hadn’t been injected with the Nano Machine, the Blade Lord would have obtained the cores of all five spirit beasts. Everything would have gone according to their plan.

“It was a guess. It was a theory that was mentioned in many famous books. That with changes to the time axis, the universe will be born anew.”

“Time axis?”

“The fact that I still exist without disappearing means that my ancestors and I are walking on different time axes by changing time. Even if I go back to the future where it moves according to my time, the world will still be an era of the Blade God and the Blade God Six Martial Clan.”

With a bitter expression, Chun Mu-seong continued.

“There is no reward for me to come to the past. From the beginning, I came to the past with two purposes. If the time axis is divided like this, I will either take a great master who can deal with the Blade God into my time, the future or if that doesn’t...”

It was then.

Beep! Beep! Beep!

At that moment, a strange alarm began to sound from the mechanical bracelet Chun Mu-seong was wearing on his wrist.

His eyes shook as he heard that sound.

“This!”

Whooo!

As soon as the flustered words escaped from Chun Mu-seong’s mouth, the space shook.

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

In the shimmering space, figures covered in bright light appeared.

Chun Mu-seong muttered in a voice full of despair.

“T... P!”

What he was the most afraid of was happening.

Chapter 473 - TP (1)

Chapter 473: TP (1)

Beep Beep Beep! Beep Beep Beep!

It was the moment when the mechanical bracelet on Chun Mu-seong's wrist rang.

Startle!

'This?'

Chun Yeowun, who had become more sensitive to the circulation of qi after realizing the flow of energy in nature, was startled.

Foreign energy engulfed the surroundings to the extent that it completely reversed the natural flow of qi.

Woah!

The space distorted, and something appeared.

The forms were dyed in the bright light behind them.

His descendant, Chun Mu-seong, urgently sent a telepathic message.

[Ancestor! Please release me... ah!]

Thud!

Fell.

Even if he hadn't asked to be released, Chun Yeowun released him the moment he sensed the foreign energy.

When the restraint on his body was released, Chun Mu-seong hurriedly tried to grab something out of his bag.

It was then.

Four people, covered in bright light, pointed something that was in their hands and aimed.

Then something fierce was released.

Push!

The fired objects spread around and nailed into the ground in four directions exactly ten feet away.

[Spacetime canceller has been activated.]

‘What?’

Along with Nano’s voice, strong energy rose from the small machines, which were embedded in four directions.

Chi-chi-chi-chi!

It was as if they were cut off from the outside. The circulation of qi was completely blocked.

‘What is this?’

[A new space has been formed, which excludes all actions that may interfere with time and space.]

He didn’t understand what it meant, but he had to find out soon.

The beeping sound kept ringing from the device that Chun Mu-seong had halfway taken out of his bag.

Beep! Beep! Beep!

[Warning. Warning. Warning.]

“Damn it!”

Chun Mu-seong ended up cursing.

He tried to jump through space and time using the time sphere, but he was too late.

Frustrated, he looked at the figures who were still in the light.

Strong energy was condensing on the unique sticks aimed at them by the men who surrounded them.

One of them exclaimed.

“Freeze! You’re under arrest.”

The moment he heard those words, Chun Mu-seong raised his hands to the sky.

At first, Chun Yeowun was puzzled but soon found out that the language wasn’t Chinese but English.

‘This one. Was he being chased by these guys?’

It seemed like the reason Chun Mu-seong was nervous was them.

Regardless of the age, it wasn’t misunderstood. The act of raising both hands clearly meant surrender.

“Hey! You! Freeze!”

At that moment, one of the people in the light shouted at Chun Yeowun.

He had already mastered English with the help of Nano, so there was no way he couldn't understand that.

'You over there! Did he just speak to me without respect?'

Chun Yeowun was pissed.

Chun Mu-seong, who noticed that Chun Yeowun was upset, hurriedly spoke to the one in the light.

"This man of this age has nothing to do with me!"

"What are..."

[Ancestor! Just, just hold on for a second! If you taunt them, they will search your body and take away the Nano Machine.]

'Take away Nano?'

Surely, that was impossible.

The 7th generation Nano Machine was made of Gatelinium, which couldn't be tracked or detected.

But there was an 'if.'

If they found any traces of Nano, it was impossible to know how they would react.

'To solve this problem without a fight, I need to prove that my ancestor is an ordinary civilian of this age.'

At that moment, Chun Yeowun asked.

[Why the hell are they glaring at me?]

It was briefly explained by Chun Mu-seong.

[TP... Time Patrol.]

[Time Patrol?]

[Ugh, in this era, they are like guards or watchmen...]

Before Chun Mu-seong could explain, one person from the Time Patrol moved closer and spoke.

“Chinese? Are you Chinese?”

They were speaking in English, then they suddenly spoke Chinese.

They seemed skillful.

“I will scan for identification.”

Beep!

With those words, the person brought out a small machine in front of Chun Mu-seong, and then a red line ran across him from head to toe.

And a voice came out of the machine.

[Identity number: chi-adu9483294-319.

Search number records.

Name: Chun Mu-seong.

Born: AD year. 2914.11.03.

Residency: Guangxi. XXX city. New development district. Sky Corporation's District D office building.

Occupation: Director of the Sky Corporation.]

Hearing all the information coming from the machine, a grunting sound could be heard from the person.

"This is huge."

Woong!

As soon as the scan was done, the light around their bodies soon subsided.

As the light subsided, their bodies, which were dressed in unique clothes like Chun Mu-seong, except that they all had gray clothes with star and moon patterns engraved on their chests, were visible.

Srrr!

Soon, the one in front of Chun Mu-seong, his head moved.

No, it was similar to the helmet of Chun Yeowun's Gatelinium Nano Suit being removed.

'This...'

Chun Yeowun's eyes lit up.

The only man who took off the helmet was blonde with blue eyes who seemed to be in his forties.

He looked at Chun Mu-seong with interest and said.

"I wondered what kind of a criminal we were still chasing after despite the constant pursuit and several near misses.

For that person to be Director Chun, this has to be fucking messed up.”

At that, Chun Mu-seong bowed his head without saying anything.

“You are well aware that unauthorized time travel and manipulation of the past are the worst felonies and are punishable by life imprisonment and even death, right?”

Pull.

The blonde pulled out a silver sphere.

Then, Chun Mu-seong put his hands together and brought them to the front, and the man placed the sphere on his wrist.

Cha-cha!

Miraculously, the silver sphere turned into handcuffs.

“You are being placed under arrest without a warrant under Article 35 of EU.TP Criminal Code as a current offender of crimes of unauthorized time travel and time manipulation. It is stated in advance that the EU.TP Criminal Law cannot claim admissibility for the arrest. If you have an excuse, say it now.”

“Detective, this person has nothing to do with me...”

“Even so, those in contact are unconditionally put under the EU.TP Criminal Law as long as they come in contact with us. So, let’s not fool each other anymore. Mr. Chun.”

“This was an accident...”

Before he could even finish speaking, electricity flowed out of the handcuffs he was wearing.

Crackle!

“Kuuuk!”

His whole body convulsed and collapsed.

The man waved his index finger left to right, and Chun Mu-seong was screaming.

“Tch, tch, don’t do anything stupid. Director Chun. Have you seen the movie series 008? We also have the license to kill. Rebellion can result in immediate execution under the EU.TP Criminal Law.”

The man said that he could kill Chun Mu-seong at any time, and one person of the Time Patrol approached Chun Yeowun.

Then he pulled out a strange silver stick device and pointed it at Chun Yeowun.

When Chun Mu-seong saw that, he was startled and tried to speak telepathically.

[Ancestor!]

Kwak!

“Ack!”

At that moment, the blonde trampled on his neck.

“Since you are Chinese, I thought that there might be another means of communication. But man... what was that? Ah, if you use those techniques... well, I guess your excuse about not knowing that man isn't valid anymore, right?"

"Kuuuk!"

Woong!

The helmet closed again.

He nodded his head after he covered Chun Mu-seong's eyes with his hand.

Then, the one holding the silver stick in front of Chun Yeowun spoke in the Jianghu's language.

"Okay, now! Look here."

Flash!

A dazzling flash erupted from the tip of the stick.

"Damn it!"

A harsh sound came out of the mouth of Chun Mu-seong, whose eyes were covered.

He was well aware of the Time Patrol's device to erase memories.

It was a device used by the state secret agents as well, and he was told that the light and the small sound that flows in affects the brain's memories.

And it also allows one to manipulate memories along with erasing them.

The machine was called 'Man in White.'

The voice of the Time Patrol officer dealing with Chun Yeowun could be heard by Chun Mu-seong.

“Man. Now you have never seen the man lying there or us.”

It was fine so far.

Because memories of this moment were the only ones removed.

It would be great if that was all, but there was no way that the Time Patrol would be so lax.

“Any memories of that man will disappear. All your memories will go back to the time before you met him.”

‘No!’

This was the worst outcome.

If that happens, then Chun Yeowun’s memories will go back to before he injected the Nano Machine.

Chun Mu-seong, who heard that, wanted to interfere, but,

Kuk!

“Cough! Cough!”

The blonde had stepped on his neck, so he couldn’t even scream, let alone move.

One more flash of the device will end everything.

The man lifted the Man in White and tried to use it again.

It was then.

“What?”

He wanted to lift the device.

Crack!

Thud!

The device fell to the floor.

And it wasn't just the device.

“Arm? My... my... my... armmmmmm!!!”

‘!?’

At the word arm, Chun Mu-seong had no choice but to doubt what he just heard.

Did his ancestor just cut off the arm of a Time Patrol officer?

Clench!

“Kuck!”

Their suit automatically stopped the bleeding after their arm was cut off, but then the person's neck was caught.

Shocked, the other Time Patrol officer's raised their weapons and aimed for Chun Yeowun.

“Freeze!”

“Don't hold back! If he moves, shoot!”

With that, red dots began to appear on Chun Yeowun's body.

There was a strange energy in the red light.

[All the firearms' are focused on the user. Would you like to activate the Gatelinium Nano Suit?]

'No. It's okay for now.'

The weapons looked dangerous, but from the information that Nano relayed to him, there was no need to open the Nano suit.

At that time, the leader of this Time Patrol unit, the one who was pressing on the neck of Chun Mu-seong, shouted in a bewildered voice.

"Damn it! That man must be a martial artist! If he moves even a little, shoot him!"

Hearing that command, Chun Mu-seong trembled.

'These guys have figured it out.'

Under normal circumstances, no matter how life-threatening the situation was, the Time Patrol would never attack people from the past.

However, just now, a shooting order was issued.

The Time Patrol knew how dangerous the command was. It would change history.

This meant that they knew a time paradox had occurred, and the future had been divided into several time axes.

At that time, Chun Yeowun opened his mouth, directing his words to the Time Patrol officers.

"I don't know who you people are. But there is one thing I am certain about."

“?”

“You guys have started the fight. From now on, anyone who moves even a little will die.”

One of the Time Patrol officers who heard Chun Yeowun’s shouted.

“What? You crazy bastard! So what if you learned martial arts! You will die if I shoot!”

And then he tried to shoot.

The one next to him was shocked and tried to stop him but to no avail.

“Wait! James is still in his hands...”

“I don’t care! And he’s wearing a suit.”

And he fired the gun in his hand.

Dudududdud!

The number of bullets continued to decrease on the screen next to the gun.

A little over a hundred bullets were consumed in an instant.

The martial artist should be dead by this point, so he stopped, but,

“Yah, what is...”

Float!

All the bullets were suspended mid-air.

All a hundred bullets were floating.

He was at a loss for words, but Chun Yeowun simply raised his index finger towards him.

And,

Swoosh!

Papapapapapak!

“Kuaaakk!”

In an instant, more than a hundred bullets stopped in the air and then flew back towards their owner and pierced their suit.

All the others were shocked.

“No way!”

“Bu-Bullet proof suit?”

The suits they were all wearing were bulletproof, and one of those suits just got pierced right in front of their eyes.

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

“So, this is martial arts?”

This wasn't the martial arts they knew.

To those who were perplexed, Chun Yeowun spoke in a cold voice.

“Try moving again, okay?”

Chapter 474 - TP (2)

474: TP (2)

The reason why the people of the Time Patrol were shocked was pretty easy to understand.

The martial artists they knew were people who could at times go beyond human limits by honing their skills.

And it was a great task.

Those martial artists could perform things without even wearing a suit like the Time Patrol.

However, despite them exceeding the human limit and being dangerous, it wasn't a level that could surpass science and technology.

'It makes no sense. The m320 has no recoil, fires bullets at a speed of 1,200 m/s, and the kinetic energy of each bullet reaches 350 m/kp⁽¹⁾, but to get blocked from this distance.'

Some martial artists could block and dodge the bullets.

But the number was very few.

Even the most talented martial artists couldn't stop a bullet fired from just 15 steps away.

And martial artists, who have excellent eyesight and speed, prefer to avoid attacks.

However, this was correct unless the m320 was equipped with an AI chip that has an automatic lock-on.

“You, what are you?”

This man was different from the martial artists they knew.

It was a shock to the TP, who had never been in direct contact with a martial artist.

But there was one person who was even more terrified.

It was Chun Mu-seong.

‘Th-This is trouble!’

When he saw the TP officer get killed by Chun Yeowun, he judged that the situation had turned to the worst.

Chun Mu-seong called out to Chun Yeowun.

“Ancestor, please run...”

Pak!

“Cough!”

The leader of the TP unit quickly stepped on his neck.

Then, without making a sound, the TP suits began to transform.

Srrrr!

The suits, which became more agile than the previous form, trembled.

Chun Yeowun, who looked at the change, frowned.

He listened to what his descendant said and trusted Nano which always detected sounds on different frequencies.

‘The Great Gate?’

They were talking amongst themselves without actually speaking out loud.

Nano referred to their conversation as simple communication.

Srrr!

‘?’

At that moment, nineteen TP officers who were surrounding Chun Yeowun disappeared.

It wasn’t because they moved quickly.

They literally turned invisible.

‘I’m surprised, but now I will assume that you aren’t human and deal with you right here.’

Mark, the leader of the TP unit, abandoned the idea of treating Chun Yeowun as a normal man.

Blocking the bullets was strange, but if he remembered the Great Gate Battle, this looked normal.

Mark immediately communicated with the one called James, whose neck was being held by Chun Yeowun.

[James! Get away from him with an electromagnetic wave!]

As soon as the words came out, the one called James pressed his right palm with the thumb of his left hand.

Pach-chi-chi-chik!

A dazzling electromagnetic wave erupted from his suit.

It could generate a voltage strong enough to knock out even a huge brown bear in an instant.

And the TP were aiming for that instant.

But,

‘Huh?’

Despite the electromagnetic wave, Chun Yeowun didn’t budge.

James couldn’t hide his shock.

‘This is crazy! How can he standstill with a thousand volts running through his body?’

The man didn’t feel electrocuted.

Chun Yeowun shook his head and spoke to James.

“You need to be at my level to avoid getting shocked.”

“What?”

It was then.

Pach-chi-chik!

“Kuaaaak!”

An incomparable thunder qi just happened to unfold in Chun Yeowun’s hand.

With a flash of lightning, James, who got electrocuted, screamed frantically.

Even the suit's insulation function was useless.

Spark! Spark!

[Error! Error! Error!]

James' suit, which couldn't withstand the lightning, was broken.

As his face turned black, it looked like he was on the verge of death, making one TP officer fire his gun at Chun Yeowun's wrist.

Bang!

Suddenly, a bullet was released.

With great speed, the bullet moved, but Chun Yeowun could sense it.

Chun Yeowun stretched out his left hand and unfolded a veil of energy, trying to block the bullet like before.

Bang!

As expected, the bullet hit the veil as if it was blocked.

But then something happened.

'Uh?'

Woong! Pach-chik!

The bullet that hit the veil pierced it.

Chun Yeowun hurriedly stopped releasing his energy, which the bullet just pierced, and pushed the man he was holding forward.

Bang!

The bullet missed and pierced the ground.

The hole it made was the size of a fist.

‘It broke through the wall?’

Chun Yeowun frowned.

The bullet which just came for him had considerable power. Perhaps because of its force and gunpowder, it seemed completely different.

The bullet had great energy seeing how it tore past the energy veil.

[That was an ultra-vibrating bullet. The kinetic energy is amplified with tremendous frequency, and it dismantles any energy shield.]

Chun Yeowun’s eyes lit up with Nano words.

Apparently, the TP didn’t show all their abilities.

But the TP officers were shocked too.

‘It barely pierced the shield. Even the ultra-vibrating bullet is weak? Uh!’

It was very difficult to detect the speed of the bullet despite them wearing the suits.

Now it didn't seem strange to call it the Great Gate, rather than just a battle between humans.

'Yes. Let's just think that we are lucky!'

Their captain, Mark, ordered them.

[Entire squad, ultra-vibrating bullets!]

Upon receiving the order, 10 TP men scattered in all directions and opened fire.

Bang! Bang! Bang!

Bullets flew in.

Unlike the first ones, the next bullets had a slight time difference.

Of course, even so, it wasn't a huge difference. It was one shot per second.

'This can't be stopped.'

Was what they thought, but Chun Yeowun raised his hand lightly.

Chachachachang!

Ten invisible swords sprang up around him, slashing the bullets in half.

It all happened at a speed that was invisible to the naked eye.

Slash! Slash! Slash!

Tutututututu!

The bullets fired at Chun Yeowun split in half and fell to the floor.

Their faces couldn't be seen as they were covered by the suits, but the TP were stunned.

This was unbelievable. Even Mark was stunned.

'Wh-What was that?'

The opaque sword shapes which suddenly appeared in the air and slashed the bullets.

He would have been shocked if Chun Yeowun had used one sword and cut them, but this, this was plain baffling.

But even more shocking,

[The energy of unknown origin in the form of a sword caused an ultra vibration.]

He was speechless at the analysis of his AI.

According to the AI's analysis, the man just copied their ultra-vibrating bullets.

Chun Yeowun nodded his head.

"I learned a good thing. This is more convenient as it consumes less energy than unification and condensing."

'What?'

Not just Mark, the other TP officers were shocked.

This man really learned their attack.

Of course, it was learning.

There was a lock on the ultra-vibrating tech inside Nano. When the enemy used it, the lock automatically released, and Nano introduced it into the panel system.

[Should I maintain the panel system ultra-vibrating the invisible swords?]

‘Yes.’

At Nano’s question, Chun Yeowun agreed and stretched his hand towards the invisible swords.

All ten of the swords aimed in one direction.

‘What is he up to?’

The TP officers, who were hiding in stealth mode, were puzzled.

“I told you to not move.”

Woong!

Chun Yeowun’s cold voice made Mark feel scared.

It looked like he was trying to release the swords.

And if the swords were strong enough to cut down their bullets, then they would be dangerous for them even with their suit’s defense at max.

[We never know, so deploy shield...]

Before Mark could even finish speaking.

Swoosh!

The new invisible swords spread out in all directions.

Puck! Puck! Puck!

“Kuak!”

“Ackk!”

Shockingly, the swords pierced the chests of the TP officers who had fired bullets at Chun Yeowun previously.

As the suits broke, blue flames rose into the air, and they fell to the ground.

Thud! Thud!

‘N-No way! How can he find us in stealth mode?’

They didn’t know.

In the eyes of Chun Yeowun, once the augmented reality opens, even those enemies who were in stealth mode would turn visible.

‘Well, even if I can’t see, I can feel them.’

Even if they were invisible, Chun Yeowun could recognize their energy.

Mark, who thought that they might get killed, yelled.

[Damn it! Don’t standstill. Keep moving! Move! Move!]

At his command, the surviving TP officers quickly spread out.

Perhaps because they were wearing the suits’ new form, their movements were faster than Master Level martial artists.

[Squad! Shoot the electron cannon at him!]

[El-Electron cannon? Sir, he is still human.]

[Does that monster look human to you?]

The TP officers questioned their captain's orders but were silent.

The moment he cut down an ultra-vibrating bullet, it was confirmed that the man they were facing wasn't human.

[Start shooting!]

[Roger!]

Clack! Clack!

At his orders, the remaining TP officers pressed something on their guns, and the muzzles turned into an elongated square shape with light blue condensing in them.

Gooooo!

Push!

With the sound of ripping the air, a blue flash of light flew out from them with great speed.

It's a phenomenon in which the electron particles spread out.

'Even if he can stop those bullets, even if he surpasses humans, this beam...'

Woong!

Push!

Space distorted where the beams moved towards, and then the beams bent.

The beams moved in multiple directions.

‘T-The beams were deflected?’

Mark’s eyes widened.

The space around Chun Yeowun too had distorted.

‘Space distorted?’

Chun Yeowun, who was aware of the unification and condensing energies through his battle with Ark Wui and the Blade God, could distort space and temporarily bend the beams.

‘I guess experience does matter.’

Chun Yeowun’s lips formed into a thin smile.

Pach-chik!

“Kuak!”

“Ack!”

Unfortunately, five TP officers were hit by the curved beam.

As the beam pierced their suits, they died.

Now, there were only five people left, including Mark, who was still stepping on Chun Mu-seong.

“He-He isn’t human! Eukkk!”

“We need to run!”

These were two kinds of behavior that humans showed when they were scared.

One is to run, and the other is to rush into the opponent without a plan.

Dududdudu!

Three TP officers opened fire at Chun Yeowun.

Although they knew that it wouldn't work, their reasoning was broken.

"D-DIEEEEEEE!"

Swoosh!

Their bullets stopped right in front of Chun Yeowun.

Their deaths were no different from the TP officer who fired first.

The bullets stopped and then flew back to hit their owners.

Pupupuk!

"Kuak!"

As the three of them fell, something changed.

Woong!

'Huh?'

The energy of nature, which had been abnormally blocked, began to circulate naturally again.

[The spacetime canceller has been disabled.]

This was something that occurred when the four devices embedded in four directions were dismantled.

It seemed like there was a reason why the device was released.

One of the two TP officers pulled something out from his waist.

‘Weapon?’

A small and round device.

Click! Woong!

When the TP officer pressed the protruding part of the device, the space and body shook along with disappearing.

‘What? He disappeared?’

Not hidden.

Really disappeared.

The little round device was a time pack.

Chun Yeowun’s eyes noticed the other TP officer doing the same thing.

He immediately stretched out the sword he controlled.

Slash!

The time pack in their hand was cut in half.

“Ah! No!”

The man shouted, bewildered.

At the same time, a strong light flashed from the cracked sphere, and it exploded.

Kwang!

Rather than a normal explosion, the space distorted, and then the man's body distorted strangely.

Crack!

"Kuak!"

He suffered a tragic death because of the time pack explosion.

Chun Yeowun actually felt sorry for the man.

As he didn't know anything about the time pack, the problem was that he mistook it for a weapon from the future.

Now all that was left was their leader, Mark.

"Da-Damn it..."

He cursed.

The suit had a stealth function, but it was of no use now.

Chun Yeowun was staring at him, who was stepping on Chun Mu-seong's neck.

"Take off that foot. Okay?"

At Chun Yeowun's warning, Mark shouted while aiming the gun at Chun Mu-seong's head.

“D-Don’t move! If you try to threaten me, even the slightest bit, I will put a hole in his head!”

He couldn’t kill Chun Yeowun.

The only way out was to use a time pack, but if Chun Yeowun interfered, then he wouldn’t be able to run away.

“Don’t even move a finger. I saw you move and kill the Time Patrollers! Just...”

Push!

“Kuk!”

Blood gushed out of Mark’s mouth.

He couldn’t stand the pain his heart was in.

Surely the man was standing still, but something had pierced his heart.

‘H-He didn’t even move his fing...’

He was already falling to the floor.

He never dreamed that death would visit him in such a place.

Before he knew it, he ended up cursing.

“Mother fu...”

Pak!

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

Chun Yeowun, who reached him instantly, took the gun from Mark's hand as he fell.

Clicking his tongue, he said.

"Tch, if you were a filial son to your mother, you shouldn't have ignored my warning."

Editor's Note

⁽¹⁾ – I've never heard of m/kp. I'm pretty sure the author means kpm since it makes more sense in this context, but it'll stay like this since this is how it is in the raws.

Chapter 475 - TP (3)

Chapter 475: TP (3)

'I did it.'

He used a sword with just his mind for the first time.

He was conscious of his fingers, but Chun Yeowun thought of piercing the heart in his mind.

As a result, he managed to manifest the Heart Sword.

The sword which gets controlled with the heart in an instant.

Thud!

Chun Yeowun looked at the weapon that the TP man had taken out of his pocket before falling down.

It was made of some cold metal and was much heavier than he thought.

Much heavier than a sword.

'Did they use this to attack with the same power as before?'

Among the people, there wasn't a single person who seemed skilled.

However, the suits and the weapons which belonged to the future were dangerous enough to annihilate normal martial artists.

'If they were determined and more vigilant, then they could be somewhere close to the level of Superior Masters.'

If hit by the ultra-vibrating bullet or that light beam, even a Superior Master could be killed.

Moreover, the speed of the bullet was outstanding.

It was difficult to even see with the naked eye.

‘... if a person who knows nothing uses this. Things would get dangerous.’

The TP was trained, but by the standards of martial arts, their training wasn’t enough.

Chun Yeowun was concerned about it.

Still, since he killed them and got weapons from the future, he didn’t think the results were bad.

‘Nano does the analysis to prepare a contra...’

It was then.

Beep! Beep! Beep!

‘!?’

The sound was coming from the weapon in Chun Yeowun’s hand.

But not only that, the same sound could be heard from the dead TP officers too.

And the sound kept getting faster and faster.

[Warning! Danger! Throw away the weapon now.]

He could feel heat releasing from the weapon.

Swish!

At Nano's warning, which echoed in his head, Chun Yeowun threw the weapon into the sky.

Bang!

The moment he threw it, the weapon exploded.

The other weapons around the dead too exploded, leaving behind ash.

And then, someone screamed.

“Eukkkkk!”

It was Chun Mu-seong.

As he was on the ground, he had to push the body of the dead captain, Mark, off him.

At that moment, Mark's body was dyed in bright light.

And the light soon turned into heat, as if something was burning.

Whoop!

So were the other bodies.

‘Deliberate measures to erase traces?’

Chun Yeowun began to release ice qi to prevent the body from burning.

Jjjkkk!

Mark's body, which was burning up, soon turned into a block of ice.

It seemed like the burning stopped.

However,

Phhhhh!

It wasn't just the skin that was burning. Mark's body was burning up from the inside. Even the ice was changing. His flesh transformed into a liquid and melted.

It was a sight that made Chun Yeowun frown.

It was when Chun Mu-seong said,

"Huk... huk... ancestor. TP officers are supposed to be incinerated automatically if something went wrong during their time travel or died."

Measures were taken so that traces of the future weren't left in the past.

It was a natural course of action, but for Chun Yeowun, it was a pity that they disappeared.

"Ancestor!"

Chun Mu-seong, who barely calmed down, spoke.

"Ah, you are amazing! Not even my father, the Lord of our time, would have been able to stop the ultra-vibrating bullet or beam!"

He couldn't forget the scene he saw.

The bullets and beams weren't weapons that humans could deal with.

They were weapons made to deal with those who had special abilities, but he never dreamed that the weapons could be stopped from such a close distance.

'To see such a difference.'

The 7th generation Nano Machine was injected into Chun Yeowun's body.

However, in reality, Chun Yeowun, who was conscious of the TP, didn't utilize the functions of the Nano Machine.

He had subdued them with his own strength.

'Is it possible to increase internal energy this much in just five years?'

It was amazing.

Even Chun Mu-jin couldn't stop the bullets despite spending his entire life mastering the martial arts.

However, within only five years, Chun Yeowun seemed to have gone beyond their imagination, to the point where the Divine Master Level was considered ridiculous.

'Ah... I'm really curious.'

He wanted to ask, but he didn't want to provoke Chun Yeowun.

There was one thing he could guess.

There was a record that the Blade God, who had reached the Heavenly Master Level, could rupture the enemy with just a wave of his finger, as he used the Heart Blade.

‘Then, my ancestor must have reached the Heavenly Master Level too!’

Woong!

When he was convinced that Chun Yeowun had reached the Heavenly Master Level, a shiver ran down his spine.

It was shocking that Chun Yeowun was stronger than he expected.

But he didn’t have time to think.

Tak!

“Ancestor!”

Chun Mu-seong knelt on one knee and bowed to show respect.

“What more do you have to say?”

“As you have just seen, if you travel through time without permission or try to change history, we get stopped by the TP.”

“You mean those guards?”

He remembered that Chun Mu-seong had called the TP guards.

Seeing how they acted, Chun Yeowun was sure that rather than a non-aggression pact, the martial artists were below these guards in the future.

“In the future, no single person or group can overthrow a nation. You saw those weapons? They are being mass-produced in my time.”

“Hm...”

It was understandable.

If such a weapon was used by thousands or tens of thousands of people, there was no reason to feel threatened by martial artists.

“Ancestor. Thank you for saving my life.”

Chun Mu-seong bowed his head and continued talking.

“But soon, they will send men with equipment that cannot be compared to those which you saw now.”

One had run away.

Of course, even if that wasn't the case, the last time-space coordinates of the dead ones will be recorded in the headquarters.

Clearly, they would send a tracking team.

However, Chun Yeowun wasn't bothered.

“Do I look like I'm scared of them?”

If an enemy targeted him, he would fight back.

Of course, he knew that Chun Yeowun wouldn't be afraid of them.

“I don't know, but if the Great Gate... ah.”

Chun Mu-seong didn't continue.

It seemed like he had gone too far.

Since Chun Yeowun was from the past, they wouldn't bother, but if they find Chun Mu-seong, they would surely kill him.

"What do you want to say?"

"Ancestor. Once I leave, please move away from this place. After all, their goal is to catch me. They might search the area, but not extensively."

Chun Mu-seong guessed that the TP would come again.

Since the one who escaped would give them the right coordinates, they will quickly come to pursue.

But if he went back to his original time, they wouldn't find anything.

Although the TP unit was annihilated, they would consider it unacceptable to create a new time axis.

'It's fortunate that this era doesn't have media or the web.'

If there were such things, they would search for Chun Yeowun and erase his memory.

Of course, if they discovered the existence of the 7th generation Nano Machine, they would track down Chun Yeowun at all costs.

Tak!

Chun Mu-seong put his hands together and bowed again.

“It was truly an honor to meet my ancestor. And I sincerely apologize. Please know that even though I acted rudely, it was for the sake of the cult in the future.”

With those words, Chun Mu-seong tried to take the time pack out of his waist bag.

At that moment, Chun Yeowun reached out for the bag.

Wheik!

“Ah!”

The only time pack got sucked into Chun Yeowun’s hands.

Originally, there were two spares, but there was only one left now, and he needed that to go back to his time after the meeting with Chun Yeowun.

“This is to go to the future?”

Chun Yeowun asked while looking at the small round device.

He saw the TP use this.

“Yes, yes. Please handle that with care.”

“I thought you were trying to get something from me, so why are you rushing back home already? They pursue that fast?”

Chun Mu-seong had no choice but to answer the questions.

“Ancestor. I have an identity chip embedded into my body which the TP can track. If you stay with me, they will track you too.”

“Something inside your body?”

“... yes. I want to stay longer and tell you all about the future... ugh!”

Before he could finish the words, Chun Yeowun approached him.

Chun Mu-seong's body went stiff at the energy Chun Yeowun was releasing.

Tatatak!

“Ugh! An-Ancestor this...”

“Stay still.”

Chun Yeowun placed his palm on his head.

And commanded Nano.

‘Nano, can you run a scan to find that identity chip in his body?’

[Possible. I'll scan the body. Please move your palm in the direction shown in augmented reality.]

With those words, augmented reality unfolded.

And the direction was marked with arrows.

As Chun Yeowun slowly moved his palm. The body of Chun Mu-seong was being scanned, and it turned into a three-dimensional image in Chun Yeowun's sight.

“A-Are you trying to scan my body right now?”

Looking at the light coming from Chun Yeowun's palm, Chun Mu-seong knew what was being done.

“Ancestor, it seems like you are trying to find the identity chip in my body, but it flows through the blood vessels...”

Papak!

“Hmm!”

“Be quiet.”

Chun Yeowun used his energy to cover his mouth.

Before long, a red dot was marked on the right shoulder.

There was something microscopic moving through the veins.

[5th generation Nano Machine with an identity chip has been discovered.]

‘That’s it.’

[As it detects the scan, the chip is trying to move towards the heart.]

As Nano said, the red dot was trying to rapidly move from the shoulder to the heart.

‘How do we get rid of it?’

[It can be stopped with an EMP.]

‘So, you mean a strong electric shock.’

Chun Yeowun pointed to the shoulder.

Crackle!

At the same time, a very fine invisible sword made out of thunder qi formed.

It was very close to a fine needle.

It was only possible for Chun Yeowun, who had reached the Heavenly Master Level, to handle qi so freely.

‘Nano. Aim for it.’

[Yes, activating the panel system for the invisible sword.
Target lock on.]

Dudududu!

An arrow mark was directed towards the red dot, trying to lock on.

The chip moved quickly, but eventually, Nano managed to lock on.

At that moment,

Whoop!

Crackle!

“Kuaakk!”

Chun Mu-seong let out a groan in pain.

No matter how small the invisible sword was, it was a sword that held tremendous energy, and it pierced the blood vessels. It was natural that he felt pain.

Nano’s voice echoed in Chun Yeowun’s head.

[Identity chip removal was successful.]

Beep! Beep Beep!

The red dot disappeared from the scan.

With a satisfied expression, Chun Yeowun spoke.

At the same time, Chun Mu-seong yelled.

“An-Ancestor! If you try to stab the ID chip like that, it will get rid of m...”

“Removed.”

“Huh?”

“I removed the identity chip that was moving in your veins.”

‘!?’

At those words, Chun Mu-seong was confused.

The Nano Machine in his body wasn’t as good as Gatelinium, but it was made of the strongest metal on the planet, so it couldn’t be stopped unless given an EMP wave or a strong electric shock.

“See this?”

Chun Yeowun pointed to the air.

Since it couldn’t be seen by the naked eye, Chun Mu-seong put on specs.

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

And then he magnified them a thousand times to the place Chun Yeowun was showing.

“Oh my god...”

The ID chip was pierced and broken.

Chun Mu-seong was at a loss for words.

Chapter 476 - Towards Hebei (1)

Chapter 476: Towards Hebei (1)

The Nano Machine had the ID chip broken and removed.

It meant that the TP could no longer track him.

That was when Chun Mu-seong asked.

“H-How did you break it?”

Even Dr. Baek of his era said that the 5th generation Nano Machine flowing through his blood vessels couldn't be eliminated without an EMP or electric shock.

If the Nano Machine inside the body shattered with the shock, it would be dangerous.

“I got rid of it with an invisible sword made of thunder qi.”

Chun Mu-seong was shocked.

The constant throbbing pain after the sword pierced him was the thunder qi.

As the human blood acts like a conductor, the electricity passes through the entire body.

However,

“I managed to adjust the thunder qi so it wouldn't hurt anywhere else. Are all your questions answered now?”

“Uh...”

‘He thought of that?’

Chun Mu-seong was speechless.

In his heart, he thought that the people of the past were good at martial arts, but now he realized as civilization progressed, the present had declined.

Chun Ma or even Chun Yeowun, they were both excellent people with insight.

“Well! Keep talking. So what is your plan if you fail to take Chun Ma to the future?”

Chun Yeowun was curious about it.

‘If the ID chip is removed, it will be difficult to track me down.’

If Chun Mu-seong had been in the future era, he would have been easily traced.

It was because the future was full of cameras and electromagnetic waves.

But now here.

No matter how strong the TP was, they couldn’t search the entire Jianghu region, and even if they tried, they would have to keep their devices on them at all times.

‘I have time.’

It was already discovered that he time traveled, so he had to endure the situation.

He would have to fulfill the last thing he had come to do before he got caught.

“... ancestor. Would it be fine to continue talking as we move?”

Even if it was impossible to trace, it was dangerous to stay in the same place.

There was nothing to be afraid of, but there was no need to create a troublesome situation either, so Chun Yeowun continued talking with Chun Mu-seong while descending the mountain.

“Since I couldn’t take Chun Ma, the next choice was you, my ancestor. You were the next best.”

As he said, Chun Mu-seong looked up to him.

However, Chun Yeowun didn’t feel glad.

It was something he had roughly guessed.

“But that failed too. I used up all the time packs. I have only one left, and without that, I can’t go back.”

Chun Mu-seong spoke while tapping the square bag on his waist.

He had come to the past with the determination to risk his life, but if he was going to die, he would rather die in his time.

“Which was why I had to resort to the last plan.”

The final plan was the method Dr. Baek had prepared.

Chun Mu-seong took a device out of the bag and said.

“The Nano Machine in my ancestor’s body is the 7th generation model and one of a kind, and it can be controlled with this device.”

A part of the Gatelinium was inserted into the device.

It was the only device capable of copying the information from Chun Yeowun’s body which held the 7th generation Nano Machine.

“You know that I could’ve moved all the analyzed data to the master controller so you could copy things like martial arts and formations.”

“... I apologize. I should have asked for your permission first, but I was running out of time.”

It was an inevitable choice for Chun Mu-seong, who couldn’t stay in one place for long.

He was trying to return to his time after quickly extracting the data.

Of course, that turned out to be impossible.

“I don’t know what happened, but the only thing I know is that the device had an error.”

The device was broken.

Obviously, the Nano Machine in Chun Yeowun’s body had blocked the orders from the master controller.

Unless the Nano Machine is forcibly removed from the body and reprogrammed, it’s currently a machine no one can interfere with.

‘It’s programmed to automatically self-destruct when it comes out of the body... it’s something that only the ancestor can use.’

Nothing could be done.

It would have been nice if the converted data was uploaded into the main drive of the Sky Corporation before returning to the future, but things didn't turn out like that.

At that moment, Chun Yeowun stopped.

"After listening to your story, I think I have a rough idea of what the future holds."

"Yes?"

"Martial arts are fundamentally developed as time goes by. But if you have come back to the past and are trying to duplicate the martial arts, it means that the martial arts of the cult have been lost in the future."

'!?'

Chun Mu-seong's eyes widened.

He hadn't even talked about the Sky Demon Order, but Chun Yeowun had already figured it out.

It was embarrassing, as if the future generations were called out.

"... how did you know that?"

"You said that you have a position equivalent to an elder of our time. But isn't an elder only a Super Master?"

The Super Master Level isn't low.

However, if one looked at it from the Sky Demon Order's past level, it was considered poor.

Chun Mu-seong's face turned red.

In his time, reaching the Super Master Level is a great achievement.

"Even if it's nothing, shall we take a look at you?"

"What?"

Chun Mu-seong was puzzled at it.

Then Chun Yeowun turned back to him and spoke.

"Attack me with the best technique you have. If you are the son of the Lord, that means you must have learned things from your Lord, right?"

"I, how can I do that to my ancestor..."

Chun Mu-seong saw Chun Yeowun's strength right in front of his eyes.

He was at a level where Chun Mu-seong was nothing.

It was embarrassing.

"Don't act silly. Didn't you just try to control Nano and restrain my body? Don't act like this and come."

At Chun Yeowun's stubborn words, Chun Mu-seong bowed his head.

There was a clear difference in skills, and he thought this was a waste of time, but he couldn't ignore his ancestor's words.

"All right. I don't have any weapons on me..."

Crack!

Chun Mu-seong broke a branch.

Chun Yeowun was still looking at him.

“Start.”

“Yes!”

Phat!

With those words, Chun Mu-seong began to narrow the distance between him and Chun Yeowun.

Chun Yeowun, who looked at the strides and movements, frowned.

He definitely told the man to perform his best technique, but this wasn't the Sword Force of the Sky Demon, nor was it the incomplete version of the Sword Force of the Sky Demon.

Tatatat!

More branches broke as Chun Mu-seong narrowed the distance.

A sword made up of twelve different forms sharply targeted Chun Yeowun's body.

Chachachacha!

‘Aren't you going to avoid it?’

Chun Mu-seong was perplexed.

Chun Yeowun didn't move.

There was a moment when Chun Mu-seong was thinking of stopping the technique.

Pak!

“Huk!”

Chun Yeowun grabbed the wrist which was holding the sword.

It wasn't a true sword, just a branch, but it was still dangerous as it was loaded with energy, but Chun Yeowun caught it too easily.

“An-Ancestor?”

“Are you going to claim that this is what's used by the Lord?”

“... I'm sorry, but this is the Sword Force of the Sky Demon.”

Chun Yeowun couldn't understand what he heard.

He just shook his head.

‘Ha! This is the level of following something?’

He couldn't help but be disappointed.

This was just an imitation of the Sword Force of the Sky Demon, which he had restored.

It was as if someone saw it, imitated it, and unfolded their own energy and forms.

“It's messed up.”

“Well, except for the Blade Six group, which is the best in my time...”

“Are you out of your mind?”

Pak!

Chun Yeowun let go of the wrist which he was holding onto.

Chun Mu-seong had nothing more to say either, at least not to his ancestor.

“... I apologize.”

“There was a rumor that they were taking the military data.”

“In order to revive our group or even the cult, we decided that the only way for us to flourish was to restore the martial arts which had been practiced.”

Chun Mu-seong thought that nothing could be done about the Blade Six.

If so, the only way to revive the Sky Demon Order was to learn the martial arts from when they flourished the most.

Looking at Chun Mu-seong, Chun Yeowun thought.

‘From what I know about the future, it’s obvious that the martial arts of the cult are lost.’

It was so obvious that he didn’t even need an explanation.

It must have been the work of the Blade God Six Martial Clan.

But he couldn't understand why they didn't completely annihilate the cult despite it turning into a group that could control the future.

'I want to go back to the time when that guy existed and overturn...'

As Chun Ma said, the future belonged to the descendants.

Even if he tried to solve it, he couldn't solve everything.

Moreover, from Chun Mu-seong's words, the Blade God had changed the past and became the immortal ruler of many time axes.

'There are various time axes, but not all futures can be changed.'

And he didn't like a future where the Blade God wins, but with so many different time axes, there were so many different futures.

'But I owe him.'

One way or another, Chun Yeowun did receive help from his descendants.

Without Nano, he couldn't have possibly escaped from so many crises.

'Then, I should give this guy a chance too.'

Chun Yeowun made a decision.

"Great. You came here with the determination to revitalize the cult, so I will grant you what you wish for."

"Huh? What's that?"

“I’m going to teach you martial arts.”

At Chun Yeowun’s words, Chun Mu-seong asked with a trembling voice.

“You mean, you will teach me martial arts?”

“Yes. With that pathetic martial arts, how do you plan on fighting with the Blade God Six Martial Clan in the future?”

Chun Yeowun decided that since the ID chip was removed, his descendant couldn’t be traced, so it was worth spending time teaching him.

Of course, even if the TP appeared, Chun Yeowun planned on dealing with them.

He was willing to take the risk and help out.

Thud!

Chun Mu-seong bowed to express his gratitude.

“Thank you. Ancestor, how am I supposed to repay this favo...”

Woong!

However, he was raised up by Chun Yeowun’s energy as he spoke.

“Don’t have to. ‘I’m just paying you back for what you did for me.”

“Ahhh!”

Even if that was the case, he couldn’t help but be happy.

It was natural that he was elated. He was being taught by his ancestor, a Heavenly Master.

Chun Yeowun smiled and spoke,

“Don’t like this too much. If you want to level up in a short time, the teaching won’t be very friendly.”

“... sorry?”

It didn’t take long for Chun Mu-seong to realize it.

[AD Year. 2941.xx.xx]

A space where the exact location was unknown.

In a fairly spacious place, state-of-the-art equipment was installed all over the place.

There, a middle-aged man with a mustache and in a white coat sat cross-legged in a chair, watching something with a young blonde TP.

What they were looking at was a video.

The man, who hadn’t taken his eyes off of the video, spoke.

“Pause it.”

The video was paused.

The middle-aged man pointed to the monitor and said.

“Enlarge that. Show me the eyes.”

[Image enlarging.]

The part pointed at by the man got enlarged greatly.

The face which filled the monitor was Chun Yeowun.

“Zoom in on both eyes.”

[Yes.]

After the orders were issued, Chun Yeowun’s eyes were shown.

However, the two enlarged eyes of Chun Yeowun had white particles in them.

Seeing that, the blonde TP yelled.

“T-This is!”

“He opened up augmented reality.”

Tak!

The middle-aged man snapped his fingers and got up from the chair.

And spoke to the blonde TP.

“That thing. My guess is right.”

“Chief is right! You really are! I thought it was odd when he saw us in stealth mode.”

The blonde TP was the one who escaped from Chun Yeowun.

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

The middle-aged man put his fingers on the monitor and shrunk the image to see Chun Yeowun.

He stared intently at Chun Yeowun and spoke.

“Nano Machine... I don’t know what kind of tricks they used to hide it, but they injected it into someone from the past. Code Orange. Summon the commanders of each Special Forces unit.”

“Special Forces! Roger!”

Chapter 477 - Towards Hebei (2)

Chapter 477: Towards Hebei (2)

Originally, they were members of the cult who wanted to build tents near Changbai Mountain.

However, at the order of their Lord Chun Yeowun, who joined them later, the half-built tents were cleared, and they moved to the northwest without break.

After moving non-stop for two days, they were able to reach the western part of the Liaoning province.

The second night, Chun Yeowun, who decided that they were too far away from Changbai Mountain, ordered for the camp to be moved and took measures so that he could rest for the night.

“Ugh, it feels like my soles are on fire.”

“... I’m exhausted.”

“You! Don’t put them onto the ground. If you want to rest quickly, then fasten them with stones.”

“Y-Yes!”

At the urging of lieutenant Hu Bong, the cultists who were seated on the ground quickly got up.

No matter how skilled they were in martial arts, they couldn’t sleep properly for two days. They were exhausted.

Most of them seemed tired.

If the barracks were built beforehand, they would have already been asleep.

‘Hm.’

Chun Yeowun felt sorry looking at his men who were working.

Still, he couldn’t help it.

He wasn’t afraid of the TP, but they would show up with great preparation if they actually did. That was what Chun Mu-seong had warned him about.

[Ancestor.]

When he looked at the place from which he received the telepathic message, he looked at Chun Mu-seong.

Although his hair was short for a martial artist, he looked close to their era’s men once he changed his attire.

Chun Mu-seong had naturally joined them under the pretext of joining the Sky Demon Order.

Mun Ku recognized him, but at the request of Chun Yeowun, she decided to stay silent.

[Did you memorize everything?]

[I have memorized everything that you showed me.]

‘Smart one.’

Chun Mu-seong was smarter than he thought.

It didn’t take that long for him to memorize what Chun Yeowun was teaching.

Since it wasn't easy to pass on martial arts while on the move, Chun Yeowun gave him some pointers on internal energy.

And he had already memorized six martial arts techniques along with internal energy amplification.

'He'll have to memorize 10 more techniques of the cult and then the 24 Demon Swords and finally the Sword Force of the Sky Demon.'

Chun Mu-seong was lucky.

Thanks to the Nano Machine inside Chun Yeowun, he managed to get information on about 6% of the cult's martial arts.

Chun Yeowun would select the most outstanding techniques and had him memorize them.

Chun Mu-seong was skeptical when he heard that Chun Yeowun would teach him.

However,

[It won't be fair if you're the only one getting stronger.]

[Ah...]

In order to revive the Sky Demon Order, not just him, but everyone had to develop their skills.

He heard that in the Sky Corporation, which was the future name of the Sky Demon Order, almost no one crossed the Master Level.

It was truly shocking news.

And the most talented ones were said to have only reached the Super Master level.

[Among those who succeeded the same lineage as me, there are only a few others besides the Lords who reached the Super Master Level. Ancestor.]

[... from what you said, the Lord or the chairman or whatever, is a Peak Super Master.]

[That... is right.]

If that was the case, it would be difficult to narrow the gap between them and the future Blade God Six Martial Clan.

But he listened to Chun Mu-seong's words, and he knew that in the future, martial arts wasn't the only way to compete.

It was said that there is science and technology, as well as the latest weapons, which held great influence.

In addition, he said that several groups move besides the Blade God Six Martial Clan because there are various things other than martial arts.

[I'm really ashamed, but we are only able to continue the legacy by investing in Nano and various other technologies.]

According to Chun Mu-seong, Sky Corporation is considered the best in the world in terms of nano technology.

And based on their research, the 7th generation Nano Machine in Chun Yeowun's body was produced.

Chun Mu-seong sent a message.

[Hmm, ancestor. So, am I being taught the martial arts of my ancestors today?]

He understood the reason for passing down the martial art, but he was anxious to learn the Sword Force of the Sky Demon, which was dedicated to the Lords of the cult.

Before descending Changbai Mountain, Chun Yeowun showed him the Sword Force of the Sky Demon.

Chun Mu-seong, who saw that, was astonished.

In front of what Chun Yeowun had just displayed, everything he learned so far looked like child's play. He couldn't even call this technique a sword technique.

'I want to learn that quickly.'

He was excited, but unfortunately, it wasn't included in Chun Yeowun's plan.

[No. Tonight, I will teach you how to use the Sword of Illusion from the Ghost Illusion Clan, one of the top clans in our cult, and how to use internal energy, so memorize them and grow.]

[Ah...]

Chun Mu-seong couldn't help but show his disappointment.

As they camped, he expected that he would receive martial arts training from Chun Yeowun.

But Chun Yeowun seemed to have other plans.

'I couldn't talk with Mun Ku properly.'

It seemed like Mun Ku was pregnant.

It wasn't told to anyone yet.

Even though he had been talking to her for the past two days, Chun Yeowun couldn't help but feel worried about not being able to take care of them.

She was someone who had an official position, and now she would have to pay attention to their child.

If he could have his way, he wanted her to return to the cult, yet he couldn't let go of her hand because he didn't know where the Blade God was lurking.

[You haven't slept for two days, take a rest and memorize what I taught you.]

[...yes.]

Chun Mu-seong went away while mumbling under his breath.

Looking at that, Chun Yeowun smiled.

He knew just how motivated the guy was, but he also knew that his broken arm hadn't healed completely, so there was no way he would teach him martial arts.

'That broken arm will get better once he controls his inter...'

Shrek!

It was then, a man wearing a unique mask appeared next to him.

It was the Great Guardian, Marakim.

In Marakim's hand, there was something like a tray covered in cloth.

"Lord."

“Great Guardian!”

Chun Yeowun’s face brightened.

It was the tea that he had been waiting for.

Showing the tray, Marakim spoke.

“I brought what you said. It cooled down quickly. I think it can be warmed up again. I can tell the cultists to prepare it and bring it back to the Lord’s ten...”

“No. I will take it from here.”

“Huh?”

Marakim was puzzled, but Chun Yeowun just grabbed the tray and walked away.

He walked towards the barrack where Mun Ku was staying.

And that was when someone called Marakim.

“Great Guardian.”

“Ah! Former Lord!”

It was Chun Inji.

Next to him was Hu Bong, who seemed to have guided Chun Inji to where they were.

“Uh? The Lord was here a moment ago.”

Confused, Hu Bong asked the Great Guardian.

“Great Guardian. Have you seen our Lord?”

At that, Marakim pointed to Mun Ku's barracks and spoke.

"The Lord just went to Lady Mun's barracks. Hmm."

At those words, former Lord Chun Inji smiled brightly and nodded.

He knew that Chun Yeowun and Mun Ku had been in a relationship for a while.

Of course, there wasn't a single member of the cult who didn't know what was happening between those two.

"Our Lord is too much. Going in there as soon as the barracks are up. Hehehe."

'... amazing.'

Seeing how Hu Bong was smiling like a fool, Marakim shook his head.

Hu Bong was the only one who could get away with saying such things in front of Chun Inji.

He had to be brave to cross that narrow line.

"If it's something urgent, I can inform the Lord..."

At Marakim's words, Chun Inji waved his hands while saying.

"Hehehe, leave them alone. This old man isn't that ignorant. But, where have you been all day?"

Early in the morning, he saw Chun Yeowun give Marakim an order.

Chun Inji, who was curious about it, asked around.

“Ahh, Lord said that there was something special he wanted to eat, so I went to get it.”

“Something he wanted to eat?”

Chun Inji frowned.

It was because he didn't know what order was given to Marakim.

It didn't look like Chun Yeowun had such an appetite, so it was surprising.

“Huhuhu, he gave such an order? Was there a village nearby?”

“I was fortunate that there was a village about 80 miles northwest. There I was able to find dried peaches, duck soup, and rice cakes.”

“He asked for fruits too? That one is too much.”

Chun Inji thought it was odd.

Why would Chun Yeowun send Marakim to such a distant place just to get some fruits.

‘When I see this, he's still young.’

Sure Chun Yeowun had done a lot of great things, but he was still young, very young.

“Wah.”

Hu Bong exclaimed at the items of food.

Lately, all he had been eating were dry ingredients and raisins. Listening to the new dishes made him hungry.

Looking at Mun Ku's barracks with envy, he mumbled.

"Uh, I'm jealous. Thanks to having such a strong man by her side, Mun Ku gets to eat all kinds of things. She even gained weight these days, and her stomach seems to be protruding out too. It would be better for her to eat a little and leave the rest to me. Hehehe."

'!?'

As soon as Hu Bong said that, both Chun Inji and Marakim looked at him.

Hu Bong, who didn't know why was perplexed.

"Wh-Why are you looking at me like that?"

"What did you just say?"

"Huh? ... that... it would be nice to leave the rest, but I'm not forcing her, I just can't eat the jerky..."

"No! What you said before that."

"... that Mun Ku's stomach seemed like it gained weight... no, I don't get it! Why are you being like this? Did I say something..."

Leaving behind Hu Bong, Chun Inji moved.

All of a sudden, he moved towards the barracks where Mun Ku was staying.

Not just Chun Inji, Marakim was following him too.

Hu Bong, who saw that, was confused.

"Why?"

Hu Bong still had no clue at all.

Meanwhile, inside Mun Ku's barracks, Chun Yeowun put his hand on her belly, while Mun Ku covered her face feeling shy.

Nano's voice echoed in his ears.

[It has been confirmed to be a boy. Congratulations. As a result of the ultrasound diagnosis, it's estimated to be around seventeen weeks...]

He couldn't hear Nano's voice anymore.

He put his hand on her belly to learn the condition of the child and the mother, but he found some unexpected news.

Ba-dump! Ba-dump!

A small heartbeat.

And that wasn't all.

Augmented reality opened in his eyes, and he could see the shape of his child.

'Ahh...'

The excitement which was budding in him didn't go away.

It was a strange experience for Chun Yeowun to be able to see his own child, who hasn't even entered the world yet.

'So this is my child?'

He was caught up in the strange feeling.

It struck him again that he was going to be a father.

“Ahh. Lord, how long are you going to touch me like that?”

Mun Ku asked with a blushed face.

Chun Yeowun stroked her hair gently.

“Sorry. I could hear the heartbeat so clearly, just a little more... ah!”

At that time, Chun Yeowun’s face suddenly became annoyed, making Mun Ku ask.

“What is it?”

Chun Yeowun took a deep breath.

He lowered Mun Ku’s clothes which were rolled above her belly and reached towards the barracks entrance.

And,

Move!

At the tent entrance, quite a few people were standing.

‘!?’

Mun Ku’s face turned stiff.

They were Chun Inji, Marakim, Hu Bong, and even the Six Swords.

Each of them had come here, but they couldn’t enter the barracks.

They were waiting for someone to open it, and when it was done, they couldn't hide the joy on their faces.

'This...'

It seemed like what they heard was right.

They acted as normal as they could to not burden Mun Ku.

Chun Yeowun wasn't even sure what to say, but Hu Bong suddenly bowed on one knee and shouted with a silly smile on his face.

"Lord. Congratulations!"

As soon as he said that, everyone knelt and shouted.

"Lord. Congratulations!"

All of a sudden, those who were working near the barracks too knelt down.

Chun Inji shyly coughed a little,

"Hm, congratulations to the both of you."

They then understood that the news about Chun Yeowun and Mun Ku having a child was revealed.

"Acckkk!"

Mun Ku, unable to process it, bowed her head.

She was happy, but she was always shy when too many people gave her attention.

'Nothing can be done.'

It was embarrassing that they all knew, but since it had come out, Chun Yeowun decided to accept it, so he walked towards Chun Inji and decided to address everyone.

“Grandfather. And everyone...”

It was then.

Startle!

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

Chun Yeowun stared at the dark night sky in the southeast direction.

And Nano’s voice greeted him again.

[Warning! Warning! A flying object detected in the air, distance 2 km.]

‘Flying object?’

Chapter 478 - Special Forces (1)

Chapter 478: Special Forces (1)

[AD. Year. 2941.xx.xx]

A location that looked like a conference room.

With a round table right in the middle.

At the table, a middle-aged man with a mustache and white robe sat at the top, then there were five people in uniforms with moon and star designs on them.

However, except for the middle-aged man, none of them were real.

Woong!

A beam was projected down from a device installed on the ceiling, a 3-dimensional image.

The people were able to attend the meeting through that.

The middle-aged man spoke while pointing to the screen which was behind him.

“Did you get it?”

Among the 3D images, a bald man with a black eye patch on his left eye opened his mouth.

“I apologize, but should we really consider this a Code Orange? I think this is Code Blue or Yellow.”

The bald man didn't think that the image displayed called for so much attention.

He didn't think that the situation was that serious.

The middle-aged man with a mustache who listened to that spoke while pointing the laser in his hand to the monitor behind him.

"As you can see, everyone realizes that there is a Nano Machine inside that one's body, right?"

The eyes of the person in the image were enlarged so that the others could see clearly.

The white particles which were hanging in their pupils.

"Seeing that it's augmented reality, it has to be a Nano Machine. But, as the captain of Special Forces, Hugo, said, should we now send in another unit with the same equipment while considering this a Code Blue?"

Next to the bald man, a black man in a blue uniform spoke.

Code Orange was the second-highest priority, under Code Red, in the TP.

And it meant from that point on, the special forces could be deployed.

"Special Forces captain, Takuya. How far did the reports go?"

"I heard that the patrol unit sent to those coordinates were annihilated."

"Do you want to call for a Code Blue despite the new information?"

“Commander. If the martial artist has a Nano Machine specialized for combat in him, it’s possible for the entire unit to be killed. And there’s a chance of leaking information...”

Before he could finish his words, the enlarged image on the monitor returned to its original size and started playing.

The five captains of the Special Forces looked at it.

As they watched the video being played, their eyes changed.

“No! He stopped bullets? Was it telekinesis?”

“Weren’t those ultra-vibrating bullets?”

Comments of shock and surprise flowed out of the captain’s mouth.

Tick!

The recorded video ended.

The middle-aged man, no, the commander, asked them.

“Okay, now what do you think about it? Do you still think it’s Code Blue?”

A woman with curly red hair and voluptuous breasts opened her lips which were tinted with red lipstick.

“Now I understand why the commander called our Special Forces before calling for the Great Gate.”

The commander nodded.

The Special Forces were special troops created by recruiting those who had experienced the Great Gate among the TP.

“This man is a martial artist with high combat abilities which are close to the Gate. What is even more dangerous is that there is a Nano Machine in his body which cannot be traced or identified.”

“An untraceable chip?”

“What! Is that even possible?”

Everyone was shocked.

No Nano Machine could escape from the surveillance of the space-time detectors.

Even if the Nano Machines were made small enough to operate, the electromagnetic waves inside the machine couldn't stay hidden for long.

It was possible to cheat for a short time, but they were always found.

The commander spoke in a strong voice.

“This is why we need the power of the Special Forces. We need to capture this man.”

“Are you going to extract the Nano Machine?”

A captain of special forces asked.

With such great technology, it would be a waste to discard that Nano Machine.

The commander nodded.

“But it would be impossible if we don't catch him. At least for the sake of order within the space-time system, your efforts are needed.”

“I don’t know how many teams will be needed, but this will be fun. Because of the Blade Six group, I was always curious about the special abilities these martial artists had... I will go.”

A captain of the Special Forces applied.

The commander nodded his head, and then extending his hand, he said.

“We never know, so you should probably take one more Special Forces unit to support.”

Someone, who was sitting on the other side, got up from their seat.

He was a tall, muscular middle-aged man in a purple uniform wearing an ox-horn helmet.

It was just a 3D image, yet, the overwhelming pressure was too much to handle.

“I will support.”

The corners of the commander’s mouth formed into a smile.

“Ugh, so the Special Forces of Keanu will go?”

The commander was quite relieved.

A middle-aged man in a green uniform asked with arrogant eyes.

“Is it fine if we bring him back barely alive?”

Dark night.

Mt. Magol is located in the western part of Liaoning province.

There was an unusual location at the top.

Unlike places where trees and bushes grew sparsely, this location seemed clean and empty for a radius of about five meters.

One might not think much of it, but one could see that it was unnatural compared to other places.

Looking into the area,

It seemed like a base camp had been built with electronic devices.

There were four men in purple uniform in front of monitors, each watching the screens.

They were members of the Keanu Special Forces unit, one of TP's five Special Forces.

In the middle of the barracks, the captain, Keanu, was sitting with his arms crossed.

"A-13 coordinates, deployed."

"B-11 coordinates, deployed."

"C-15 coordinates, deployed."

Looking at one of the monitors, the image was being transmitted to them from the night camera.

The camera's viewing angle was looking down from the high sky, capturing a ground scene. It was an unmanned stealth drone.

Beep! Beep!

When a living organism is detected on the screen, it will automatically analyze it.

So far, they haven't been able to find anyone with a Nano Machine.

"Captain, It's going to take a while."

In front of the monitors on the left side, a young man with short grey hair and bewildered eyes shook his head while speaking.

"We are used to face-to-face combat, so it would be better to cooperate with the Dead Rose Special Force..."

"Therese."

Keanu interrupted his words.

He looked annoyed at the words of the member.

Therese, the young white-haired man, was bewildered.

"Yes, yes, captain."

"Our Keanu Special Forces are veterans who have defended the Great Gate four times in Europe. What kind of cooperation are you planning to do with a unit led by a girl who uses telekinesis?"

Keanu didn't even recognize the other unit as a part of the Special Forces.

That was how arrogant he was.

But he had every right to be.

If he hadn't been placed in the TP by the command of the UN military chief, he might still have an active role in his former position.

"You half-assed."

The young man scratched his head.

"Captain. I told you it's Tanaka and half-assed..."

"Whatever. How did the pursuit of Chun Mu-seong of the Sky Corporation go?"

"..."

After being transferred to Special Forces, he was told thousands of times to call him Tanaka, yet he calls him by that name.

Taking a deep breath, the man replied, giving up.

"Phew, I don't know. If the registered ID chip number were in this space and time, we would have detected it a long time ago, but there's no reaction at all."

Dudud!

On the monitor screen, Tanaka pointed to the detection circle spreading around, but nothing was caught.

"Isn't that strange? If he escaped into another time and space, it should at least be detected, but this is as if the chip is lost..."

It was then.

There, the one looking at the monitor, shouted.

“Captain! Look here!”

Everyone’s eyes turned in that direction.

Something was caught on the drone’s camera.

Hundreds of thermal sensations were detected approximately 4 km away.

“Just a crowd of people?”

At Tanaka’s words, Therese shook his head.

“No. If you look at them, their bioenergy is too strong!”

“Martial artists?”

“Could be something like that.”

“Keep the drone’s retro-reflecting panel open and lower its altitude to get closer to them.”

“Roger.”

At Keanu’s command, Therese grabbed the manual control in front of the monitor.

He was planning to approach the place by controlling them himself.

“Send the other drones the same coordinates.”

“Roger.”

There were many drones that Therese was controlling, and they were getting closer to where the heat sinks were.

After reaching a distance of about 2 km, the camera began to show.

When zoomed in, they saw a lot of barracks and people.

They immediately started to look for the person they were supposed to catch. The screen was running a search on the image which was previously stored.

It wasn't that long.

Beep! Beep!

As the image magnified, someone walking out of a barracks was caught.

The corners of Keanu's mouth went up.

'Found you.'

It was the unregistered Nano Machine holder, the martial artist that their commander had shown them.

"Nice. The Special Forces will...!?"

He was about to give the orders to move to the coordinates shown by the drone, but,

He wasn't the only one who was shocked.

"Captain... that one... doesn't it look like he's looking into the camera?"

The young man with black hair and sharp-looking eyes was staring intently at the camera.

It was impossible to look at the stealth drone, which had a reflective panel activated and was 2 km away in the dark night.

Therese said, waving his hand.

“Eh, it must be a coincidence. If his Nano Machine had the ability to detect the drone, it could have figured out our location, but this isn’t enough...”

It was then.

The young man in the video pretended to swing something at the drone.

And,

Crackle!

The camera split in half, and then the transmission was cut off.

‘!?’

Everyone stared dumbfounded, but Keanu shouted.

“Have the other drones arrived?”

At those words, Tanaka and the crew went back to their monitors.

“B-15 almost reached the coordina...”

Crackle!

“Ah!”

Tanaka’s monitor screen went blank.

But that wasn’t it.

Crackle!

The screen, which another operator, Baren, was trying to switch, went blank too.

Most of the drones had reached the location, but a strange phenomenon occurred where the screens were turning off.

Only one monitor was still alive.

The drone being controlled by Liam, who was as big as Keanu, was live.

The nearest location to their target was 2.3 km.

That was when Keanu urgently exclaimed.

“Don’t go any further. Just increase the altitude and zoom in on him.”

“Roger!”

Dudung!

At that time, a person’s face zoomed in on the monitor.

With an annoyed expression, Keanu spoke.

“Are you playing! Liam! You zoomed in too much.”

Liam turned his head in confusion.

“Cap...tain. I haven’t made any adjustments to the screen.”

“What nonsense are you saying? Are you telling me that he’s in front of the camera?”

Besides the reflective panel, the drone was high in the sky.

It would be impossible to fly without switching into suit mode, but the man on the screen wasn't wearing a suit.

Keanu spoke in an absurd tone, finding it hard to believe.

Crackle!

"Ah!"

The young man on the monitor reached out to an angle.

Looking at that, it must have been at the camera.

"No, I mean, he is really in front of the camera..."

Chi-chi-chik!

At that moment, the screen on the monitor changed to a blue screen, and letters moved up quickly.

Tanaka spoke, realizing what was happening.

"N-No way! Is he trying to hack the drone?"

Liam was shocked by what he heard.

"He has a Nano Machine, right?"

"This!"

With that, Therese urgently tried to kill off the connection with the drone.

But it didn't happen, so he forcibly broke it.

Kwang!

The force of the fists was so strong that the controller was completely shattered.

Captain Keanu decided that something was off.

He thought the opponent was someone who had strength, and he thought that he could be someone as tough as the Great Gate.

But this one, this one, was making his palms sweat.

‘... this.’

It felt as if he was on the battlefield.

It wasn’t something to be taken lightly.

If the opponent had extraordinary abilities and knew how to use the Nano Machine so freely, he could no longer think of himself as someone with the upper hand.

‘I looked down on him. Nice. You are a martial artist of this era. So let’s do this right now.’

Thinking that Keanu shouted to his stunned members.

“Keanu Special Forces!”

“Roger!!!”

“Move the base camp and come up with a strategy to hunt him down. Understood?”

Everyone nodded and replied.

“Roger!!!”

The crew began to clean up the camp in unison.

It was right to move the camp because the drones were lost, but there's a high probability of being tracked if the man managed to hack into it.

Trained, they could do it in an instant, and they quickly organized the equipment.

“Now quickly dismantle the barracks and move...”

It was then.

Kwang!

A loud roar erupted from outside.

The entire barracks shook.

“Ugh! Wh-What is this?”

The barracks are equipped with a powerful magnetic shield, which could block any attack.

Kwak!

However, the ceiling of the barracks was ripped open, and someone entered.

Thud!

Bewildered, the members of the Special Forces spread out.

The only one who stood still was their captain, Keanu, who mumbled.

“Y-You?”

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

A young man with long hair and a white face.

He was the man who had the unregistered Nano Machine inside him, the one impossible to detect.

The young man, who exudes overbearing energy, looked around and spoke in his usual cold voice.

“Found you.”

Chapter 479 - Special Forces (2)

Chapter 479: Special Forces (2)

Among the abilities that Nano unlocked, there were a few things that were particularly difficult to understand.

One of them was system hacking and reverse detection, and he never dreamed that it could be used.

‘The more I know about future technology, the more shocked I get.’

Thanks to Nano, he was able to trace back where the drone came from, but he was shocked to see the barracks.

He didn’t expect the hidden retro-reflective panel functions to be used this widely.

‘So these are the ones.’

Chun Yeowun looked at the 5 people inside the barracks.

They were all wearing purple uniforms, and they seemed shocked.

They were muscular and large, and they all seemed to be similar to the size of Ko Wanghur, of the Six Swords.

‘Huge.’

But that wasn’t the point,

Chun Yeowun spoke first to those who seemed to be on guard.

“Why did you track me down like that?”

He was referring to the stealth drones.

At that question, Keanu opened his mouth.

“You speak Chinese, too. Ahaha. You must be Chinese. Or maybe Cantonese?”

It was similar to the TP officers who had come before.

After speaking in English, the man suddenly spoke in fluent Chinese.

Keanu continued speaking again.

“Don’t tell me that you don’t know the reason behind it?”

He clicked his tongue, looking at Chun Yeowun, who didn’t seem the least bit shocked.

And Chun Yeowun realized the reason.

‘Was it that ungrateful brat? Even after removing the ID chip, the tracking was fast. Did letting one go turn into this problem? Troublesome.’

Even if they tried tracking, he thought he could have some free time on his hands.

But they managed to find him within two days.

“Do you think I’ll let you guys take him?”

“Him?”

At Chun Yeowun’s words, captain Keanu shook his head and said.

“You are misunderstanding something. Our purpose is you.”

“Me?”

“You, a man of this age, don’t you have something in your body that isn’t compatible with the era you are living in?”

Chun Yeowun’s eyes narrowed at the question.

Until he came here, he thought that their purpose was to get his descendant, Chun Mu-seong.

But that was wrong,

‘They know of Nano.’

Last time, he deliberately refrained from using the abilities of Nano.

Of course, this time, he used them to track these people down.

He wasn’t sure how they found out, but they noticed that he had Nano or a Nano Machine in his body.

“So you have something to do with me? Time Patrol.”

If they knew it, then he didn’t have to hide it anymore.

Chun Yeowun openly spoke.

This time, the eyes of the Special Forces members, even Keanu, were shocked.

“As expected, you are aware of our existence because you have been injected with a Nano Machine. Or did you hear that from the criminal named Chun Mu-seong?”

“Criminal?”

“Yes. Criminal. He committed the worst crime which disrupted the flow of time and space from the moment he tampered with history.”

Chun Yeowun’s eyes turned cold.

And as if to warn Chun Yeowun from doing anything, Keanu said.

“Don’t take this the wrong way. I doubt that this is an era where things can’t be solved with words. We operate in accordance with the United Nations Time Patrol Act. In this era, it’s like the Emperor’s order.”

“So?”

“He’s a criminal who interfered with the flow of time and space and indirectly harmed people. If you come with us quietly, get arrested by us, we will remove the Nano Machine in your body and adjust your memories so that you can go back to your normal life.”

Simply put, a surrender.

Chun Yeowun shook his head at those words.

From the beginning, Keanu knew that Chun Yeowun wouldn’t surrender.

He was just stalling to think of an attack.

“You are making an unwise choice. I thought that you would at least have the ability to think and judge properly because you have a Nano Machine inside you, but in this era...”

“You speak bullshit with a lot of care.”

“What?”

Chun Yeowun raised his right hand.

And then he clenched it as if he was pressing something inside his hand.

And,

Bang! Bang! Bang!

With dust rising off the ground inside the barracks, explosions occurred in four directions.

“No!”

Tanaka couldn't hide his embarrassment.

What just exploded was the magnetic confinement device.

It's easy to subdue an opponent of a specific time while it constantly moves on the ground by absorbing the sounds.

“Did you think that I wouldn't know if you tried stalling?”

“Shit! Keanu Special Forces! Open!”

Those who were on alert, at the order of their captain, moved back.

At the same time, purple metal suits covered their bodies.

Chachachachak!

Once the suit transformed, the five of them stretched out their arms towards Chun Yeowun.

Then, something was shooting from the hole which was formed in their palms, a strong energy wave.

Woong,

[Low-frequency infrasound.]

At Nano's warning in his head, Chun Yeowun opened his arms wide.

Inside the barracks, where there was no wind, a strong tornado rose.

Wheeing!

Strong winds, which acted like shields, blocked the low-frequency infrasound.

'Kuk, how is he blocking the infrasound?'

Therese bit his lip.

They knew that the Nano Machine would get in the way, but it seemed like the machine immediately let the man know how to stop the attack.

"Huh! If this is blocked, we will subdue him with force!"

At that time, Liam, who had the same physique as Keanu, jumped at Chun Yeowun from behind.

Shhh!

The suit form had accelerated the man's movement.

Liam threw his fist at Chun Yeowun's head.

Chun yeowun turned around and slightly blocked the fist with a single hand.

Pak!

‘Hm?’

Chun Yeowun frowned.

He thought that it was a simple punch, but the power was immense.

Even Chun Yeowun, who had the strength to break through the sapphire wall, was about to be pushed back.

Chikkk!

“Whether you are martial artists or something else, you can’t stand the power of my remodeled body.”

Liam was a human weapon whose entire body was converted to artificial muscles.

Since it easily surpassed the limit of human beings, the punches he threw had tens of tons of power.

If it was a battle of plain physical power, he could overpower Chun Yeowun.

But,

Pak!

Chun Yeowun, who was pushed back for a moment, went stiff.

He didn’t move anymore, as if a huge wall was supporting him from behind.

‘He, he... how?’

That was when he heard Chun Yeowun’s words.

“So what if you have physical strength?”

Chun Yeowun had reached the peak of internal energy.

He instinctively knew that he couldn’t overpower Liam with pure strength,

“Kuk! Then!”

Liam used his other fist.

Chun Yeowun caught it too.

“Suit upgrade!”

Swoosh!

As soon as Liam’s words fell, the particles on his suit moved and wrapped around his body, and the force of his punch rose sharply.

“Liam, hold him!”

Tanaka shouted as he pulled out a device from his waist.

Push!

When a button was pressed, a sword made of light, a lightsaber appeared.

Chun Yeowun, seeing that the lightsaber giving out red light was unusual, tried to shake Liam off.

But before that could happen, a sudden vibration occurred from Liam's fist, which was covered in his suit.

Drrr!

[Ultra-vibration occurring in the armor of the opponent's suit.]

Nano's voice sounded like a warning.

It seemed like he was trying to destroy Chun Yeowun's hands which were holding his fists.

"Kuaahahaha! It's too late to regret. You caught my body so..."

Slash! Thud!

Something fell with a thud sound.

Falling to the ground was nothing but,

"My-My arm?"

Liam's arm which was supposed to be in the purple suit.

Crackle!

Sparks shone on the severed section of the arm.

As it was a remodeled body, he didn't feel any pain. Although he didn't feel any pain, he was shocked. He opened his mouth as he blinked his eyes.

"H-How did you? The suit?"

It wasn't an exaggeration to say that the suit's material was made with the hardest material on the planet.

He couldn't hide how shocked he was when such a material was cut down so easily.

"I wonder if the head is remodeled too."

"What?"

As Chun Yeowun slightly waved his hand, the invisible sword that cut off Liam's arm pierced his forehead in an instant.

Puck!

"Kuak!"

Liam fell backwards with a small shout.

"This bastard!"

Wheeing!

Tanaka's lightsaber aimed for Chun Yeowun's head.

When Chun Yeowun stretched out his left hand and pretended to push him away, Tanaka and his lightsaber bounced back.

"Ugh!"

Woong!

He didn't fall.

The white particles emitted from Tanaka's suit stopped him from falling.

Unbalanced, despite that, Tanaka aimed the lightsaber.

"You monster! Die!"

And,

Pang!

A beam of light that extended from his lightsaber rushed for Chun Yeowun.

Chun Yeowun waved his palm in the direction from which the rays were flying in from.

Phut!

Ripples formed from his palm as the space shook, and the rays bent away and pierced the barracks.

It was the unification of energy, which he saw Ark Wui do.

Kwak!

“N-No way! How can he bend beams with his bare hands?”

They didn’t know that such things could be done without a Nano Suit.

Even if he wore a Nano Suit, dispersing the light beam could be done, but not bending it.

“What kind of...”

“This is annoying.”

Chun Yeowun reached out to grab the lightsaber.

Woong!

“What?”

‘Huh?’

He tried to steal it with internal energy, but Tanaka was holding onto it firmly, as it was connected to the suit.

It seemed like he was pulling the arm instead of the weapon.

“Well, there is nothing I can do.”

When Chun Yeowun said that, energy rose.

An invisible sword emerged from above Tanaka and fell, trying to cut off the arm which was holding the weapon.

“Noo!”

Then, Therese, who was wearing a thicker suit than the others, shouted.

“Panel!”

Chachacha!

That very moment, Therese’s suit disintegrated and turned into 30 drones with muzzles that moved.

Swoosh!

Those drones all surrounded Chun Yeowun.

Red dots appeared all over the vital parts of his body.

“Stop. Lift a finger, and I shoot.”

All drones were capable of using ultra-vibrating bullets.

He was sure that stopping them at such a close distance would be impossible.

But, he was confused with Chun Yeowun's reaction,

"I see."

And,

"No!"

Despite the warning, the invisible sword cut off the arm of Tanaka, who was holding the lightsaber.

Slash!

"KUAAAKKK!"

A scream from Tanaka.

Maybe he wasn't a remodeled human. That's probably why he couldn't bear the pain and cried out.

Therese cried out.

"You motherfucker! Shoot him now."

The AI in the suit, which controlled the panel, gave the order to fire.

But it stopped.

An anomaly occurred the moment the bullets were about to leave the muzzles.

[Drones not set.]

The voice of the AI was heard in his ears.

'What do you mean?'

[The control of the panel appears to have been eroded.
Drones aren't responding to the order.]

'What?'

Despite the AI speaking in English, he couldn't understand until Chun Yeowun raised his hand.

Chik!

Then, the guns aiming for Chun Yeowun pointed to the remaining members of the Special Forces.

"No, this is absurd! How can this happen?"

This was nothing much for Chun Yeowun, who could handle thousands of Air Swords.

Looking at those who were bewildered, Chun Yeowun spoke with a sly smile.

"You said you'll shoot. Why aren't you doing it?"

"Fuckk!"

Therese swore.

He couldn't shoot.

However, unlike Therese, who was panicking, their captain could guess one thing.

'The movement control has been lost by us, but he cannot shoot.'

Which meant they still had a chance.

[Therese. Can you hear me?]

[Captain?]

He ordered Therese to blow up the drones at his signal.

Since the opponent had a Nano Machine, they had connected their communication frequency, just in case.

‘It’s possible.’

The drones were still around Chun Yeowun.

No matter how strong the man was, if the drones exploded at such close distance, even a monster would get injured.

This means they would be able to take down Chun Yeowun without much effort.

Step! Step!

Hiding his intentions, Keanu stepped forward.

“Ah, you’re making me take the lead.”

Until now, he just looked at what happened.

As he moved, his upper body grew even larger, probably because the suit made it look like that.

“I never thought that I would have a chance to show my skills since the last Great Gate battle, which happened two years ago. You are special in this era. Thanks to you, I get to warm up my body.”

His voice was full of arrogance.

Despite seeing all that Chun Yeowun did, he didn’t feel scared.

The other Special Forces members had a high level of trust in him. It was like they were thinking, 'the captain is moving.'

Keanu took a unique pose and continued.

"Martial artist. Be nervous. You will experience that it's impossible to deal with me, a fighter who has experienced the Great Gate..."

Slash!

At that moment, Chun Yeowun acted like he wielded something.

Puzzled, Keanu asked.

"What have you don..."

Drip!

Before he could finish speaking, the thick neck of the captain fell to the ground.

Roll! Roll!

'!!!'

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

The members of the Special Forces went stiff.

It happened so quickly that they were too shocked to realize what just happened.

Chun Yeowun mumbled in an annoyed voice.

“Why are you talking so much?”

Chapter 480 - Revise/Battle (

Chapter 480: Revise/Battle (1)

The head rolled on the ground with a bewildered expression on it.

Along with Liam, Keanu, the captain of the Special Forces, had modified human abilities.

But who would have imagined that he would die in such a vain manner?

‘!?’

Surprised by the sudden death, the Special Forces only then realized their situation.

Until they met him, they were all burning with desire, saying that they would win the battle, which is on par with the Great Gate.

But the situation wasn't in their favor.

‘Damn it!’

Rather, they were being hunted down.

Of the Special Forces, two were killed, and one had an amputated arm making him incapable of combat.

There was no other way but to run if they valued their lives.

‘Ugh, it's impossible for us to do anything to him. Subjugate him? Crazy!’

Therese groaned inwardly.

Subduing the enemy was the only possible way they could have an advantage over him.

But how could they subdue a monster?

On the contrary, it was unknown if they could even escape from there.

‘Two main members of the Special Forces are gone. Maybe when all five special forces come... ah!’

Suddenly, Therese managed to think of something.

“Dead Rose Special Forces!”

They weren’t the only team which came here.

Although they weren’t together because of the arrogance and stubborn nature of Keanu, that person was also in this time.

‘I can ask for help.’

It wasn’t to subdue the monster.

He wanted help to run away.

Chun Yeowun, who had killed Keanu, glanced at the remaining three people who were holding onto their lives.

It was simple eye contact, but the three felt terrified.

‘We need to stall for time...’

Therese raised his hands.

It meant that they were willing to surrender, and it was something everyone knew regardless of time.

Chun Yeowun raised his right eyebrow as he asked.

“What are you doing?”

“Ah, we lost. We don’t want to fight anymore.”

At Therese’s words, Tanaka, who was holding his severed arm, shouted.

“Therese!”

Therese hands which were in the air, signaled something.

Tanaka and Baren, who thought that he might have a plan, went silent.

Then he spoke cautiously.

“I apologize. We can’t do much with our current power. Any further resistance is meaningless.”

Chun Yeowun responded in a cold voice.

“Then you shouldn’t have come here in the first place.”

Therese responded while breaking out in a cold sweat.

“Ugh, we are nothing more than mere soldiers. If an order is given from above, we need to do the task.”

He wasn’t wrong.

He wasn’t here with the intention of catching him.

“Do you think something like that will work?”

Tuk!

With those words, Chun Yeowun took a step forward, making Therese scream.

“I-I want to make a suggestion!”

“I Don’t feel like hearing it.”

“Wait! If you kill us here, then it will only repeat over and over again!”

That was when Chun Yeowun’s steps stopped.

As he said, if the Special Forces failed, the probability of stopping Chun Yeowun was low.

However, they would send in more people.

‘He’s showing interest.’

Seeing Chun Yeowun stop, Therese thought that he managed to catch him.

Therese quietly sent a message to Baren.

[Baren. Send a rescue request to the captain of the Dead Rose Special Forces, right now!]

[Roger!]

Baren, who learned the true intention behind Therese’s plan, hurriedly tried to send a request.

And Therese continued to say something that could appeal to Chun Yeowun.

“We, who fought with you, came to realize that everything will only be for naught. So if the battle ends here, we will try to persuade the others.”

“Persuade?”

“Right. The TP knows of your Nano Machine, and I will inform the headquarters that the recovery of the Nano Machine is impossible. If that is relayed, there will be no more additional troops.”

Chun Yeowun’s eyes narrowed at those words.

Now, the idea was tempting.

‘He’s interested!’

Therese, who thought his suggestion worked based on Chun Yeowun’s attitude, was gleaming with joy.

He thought that if this plan worked, he wouldn’t just gain time but also succeed in deceiving the man.

After all, there is no way 2 Special Forces can take down the monster.

And after returning to headquarters, all the Special Forces will have to work together to develop a strategy from the videos they filmed so far.

‘We need to go back.’

He didn’t show it, but Therese was on the edge of breaking down.

While he was doing that, Chun Yeowun opened his mouth.

“I don’t get it.”

“What do you mean?”

“You said that you only follow orders. How do you plan on convincing your superiors?”

At Chun Yeowun’s words, the faces of the other two members went stiff.

However, maybe he expected the question, so Therese answered immediately.

“I will deceive them.”

“Deceive?”

“As long as we show the dead bodies, including the captain’s, we can say that it was a fierce battle and put it down in an official report.”

“That means...”

“Yes. I will tell them that the Nano Machine couldn’t be retrieved because you died during the battle. As with most Nano Machines, perhaps it was also programmed to automatically stop working as soon as it’s removed from the user’s body. The headquarters will have no choice but to trust us.”

It was something to gain time, but it seemed like a plausible act.

In fact, Therese wasn’t sure if the superiors would be deceived by that or not.

But of course, he wasn’t planning on doing any such thing.

‘If the Dead Rose Special Forces come, get on the Time Jet and escape. They should be here.’

These people didn't use time packs.

If they were, they couldn't be bringing in such enhanced devices like drones.

Time Jet.

It wasn't a mass-produced device like the time pack but a large-scale space-time transport only used by higher-level TP units.

"How does that sound? This is an offer that won't hurt you. We too are taking risks for our lives."

Therese looked at Chun Yeowun with tense eyes.

The energy subsided.

"It's a tempting offer. That's definite."

Chun Yeowun expressed his affirmation of the suggestion.

'Yes!'

The faces of the remaining members, including Therese, brightened.

He thought that they would lose, but they succeeded.

Now, if only that Time Jet would appear, they could escape from here, and this horrifying nightmare would end.

It was then.

Slash!

Roll! Roll!

‘!?’

The sound of something slashing and something rolling on the floor.

Therese turned his head when Tanaka yelled.

“Barennnnn!!!”

The only thing he saw was a headless suit.

Blood gushed out like a fountain from the severed neck.

Push!

Baren’s head was rolling on the floor.

With that, Therese yelled.

“Wh-What is this? You definitely affirmed the suggestion...”

“When did I accept it?”

“What?”

“Why would I believe your words?”

“No. Then you could have asked us for a contract document rather than an oral agreement. Are you really trying to put an end to the cycle?”

Chun Yeowun shook his head at those words.

He pointed to Baren and said.

“You say all of that when you were asking for reinforcements behind my back.”

‘!?’

Therese shuddered at those words.

The frequency he sent the message to Baren in was a secure one, one that only the captain and the team knew of.

But that wasn’t it.

Therese looked at Baren.

“Did you say Dead Rose Special Forces? So you weren’t the only ones who came here.”

‘Damn it!’

Baren was right.

At Chun Yeowun’s words, Therese cursed himself.

If the enemy had a Nano Machine in them, then it was like speaking openly, and now that Chun Yeowun knew, they were at a disadvantage.

There was only one way left.

‘We need to hold out until the Time Jet arrives.’

Therese bit his lip and shouted at Tanaka.

“Run outside!”

“Who said I was letting you go?”

Chun Yeowun tried to create an invisible sword.

It was then, Therese jumped back and pressed a button on the palm of his suit.

Then,

Kwakwakwang!

The drones floating around Chun Yeowun exploded.

Although the control was lost, the ability to fire and self-destruct was possible.

Originally, he was waiting for captain Keanu to give the signal, but he was dead, so he used it then.

Kwakwakwang!

The explosion of the drones was huge.

The drones were developed for the direct bombardment of enemies in addition to firing bullets.

Tear!

Using the suits, Therese and Tanaka ripped the tent apart and escaped.

The barracks were in flames due to the explosion.

“Yes! Yes!!!”

The two men who came out of the barracks cheered.

Even if the opponent was a monster, the drones exploded nearby.

Which meant that it would be impossible for the man to use his Nano Suit.

“You disgusting bastard! If you had let yourself get fooled, you would’ve been able to live a little longer! Now go to hell!”

Therese raised his middle finger towards the barracks.

He was sure that the man was dead.

“Hahahaahahahhh!”

It was then,

Wheeing!

In the flames which were burning the barracks, a strange phenomenon began to occur.

The flames turned into a whirlwind and suddenly soared into the sky.

“Wh-What is this?”

Wheeing!

The flames which soared up into the night sky disappeared.

And a hazy image could be seen from the smoke which was left behind

Even though they didn’t want their thoughts to be true, they couldn’t erase the ominous feeling which was rising within them.

‘No way. How could, in such an explosion...’

Slash!

At that very moment, something passed through Therese’s middle finger.

Tap!

Something happened, but then his middle finger got cut off and fell to the floor.

His finger was cut off, and he wasn't okay.

With heat rising to his face, Therese screamed.

"Ackkk! Fuck! My finger!"

Swoosh!

Chun Yeowun suddenly appeared in front of him.

It was shocking. Despite all the explosions which happened so close to him, there wasn't a single wound on him.

"What were you trying to do with those explosions?"

Unfortunately, he didn't know that flames didn't work on Chun Yeowun.

After absorbing the Flame of the Qilin, he was able to handle flames freely.

"The middle finger? It made me uncomfortable."

"Ackkk!"

Therese looked furious at Chun Yeowun's nonchalant words.

"What are you doing?"

Puck!

"Kuak! My eyes!!!"

Chun Yeowun's two fingers dug out his eyes.

This pain couldn't be compared to getting a finger cut off.
Therese cupped his face.

[Wounded area will be healed.]

Chachacha!

As the helmet was on, Therese's suit attempted to repair the wound.

But,

Pa-chik!

[Suit... is... forcibly... shut... off... and...]

The AI's static voice resounded.

Chun Yeowun had cut the suit in half with the invisible sword.

Shockingly, only the suit was cut and not his body.

The suit he was wearing was cut off and fell like a curtain.

Tatak!

Chun Yeowun hit his blood points, making him immobile.

'Tch! Why? Why am I like this? Why isn't my body moving?'

"Cough!"

Blood was coming out, so he couldn't even open his mouth.

The fear was indescribable. He couldn't see, he couldn't move, and he couldn't speak.

"Wait a while."

He could only hear.

'What is he up to?'

Therese heard the sound of something being cut.

Slash!

"Kuak!"

A scream, and he could tell who it was from.

'Tanaka?'

It was definitely Tanaka.

It was just a scream, but Therese was convinced.

Tanaka was dead.

'Tanakkkaaaa!!!'

The reality was that he couldn't do anything but scream internally.

He was on the verge of becoming crazy.

While he had killed all the others, he couldn't understand why Chun Yeowun was still keeping him alive.

Soon, Chun Yeowun's voice rang through his head.

“You guys have measures to make your body melt when you die.”

Creepy!

At those words, a chill ran down his spine.

The TP crew were arranged to disintegrate right away when their heart stops.

If that happens, everything from their ID chip disappears, making the person impossible to trace.

‘N-No way!’

Chun Yeowun’s voice came again.

“If I keep you alive, the Dead Roses Special Forces, who heard your request, will come to assist you, right?”

‘!!!’

Right.

He was being used as bait.

“Umumumum!!!”

‘Ah... no!’

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

No matter how much he wailed, there was nothing he could do as the suit was removed.

Whoong!

As he kept screaming inside, a strong wind flew through
Therese's whole body.

At the same time, the mechanical sound of a heavy jet was heard.

Chapter 481 - Revise/Battle (2)

Chapter 481: Revise/Battle (2)

Woong!

The night sky shook as if something was moving in it.

As a reflective panel was being used in the sky, the top of the mountain shone in the moonlight.

It seemed like a giant eagle.

But probably because of its silver color, it felt cold.

Shoo!

The white particles coming out of the wings decreased as its altitude lowered and a strong wind blew.

Chun Yeowun exclaimed.

It was gigantic and couldn't be compared to the 'drones' the Keanu Special Forces used a moment back.

'Are there people riding inside? The carriage of the future is a wonder to me.'

Besides, it could fly.

If it wasn't for Nano, he might have been even more surprised.

'Is it floating?'

The purpose of this Time Jet seemed to be flying.

And somehow, Chun Yeowun wanted to subdue those in the jet and seize it.

‘It’s good that they heard.’

There was a man standing alone below the Time Jet.

This person, whose blood points were hit and eyes were bleeding, was Therese, the lieutenant of the Keanu Special Forces.

Chun Yeowun thought as he looked at the man.

‘Anyway, I’ll have to kill them before they call for more troops in the future.’

If he didn’t, it would turn into a vicious cycle.

If he noticed them and dealt with them, it would give him some time, but the future’s science and technology were limitless.

It was unknown who all would come for him.

So, Chun Yeowun decided to adopt the method Therese had suggested, lying.

‘Only one person is needed.’

Chun Yeowun decided to extract information from the enemies.

However, he realized that his proposal will be based on the other person’s behavior.

The more complex the idea, the more difficult it was for the other person to accept. The simpler it was, the easier it would be accepted.

‘Information that I died during the battle.’

All he had to do was say that he was the only survivor.

Therese said that the Nano Machines disappear when the users die.

Then, if a survivor reported that to the future, there’s a high probability that the superiors of the TP would believe it.

‘If this fails... I can do something else.’

There was nothing wrong with trying.

Chun Yeowun looked at the Time Jet.

Wheeing!

At that time, a round beam came down in a straight line from the lower part of the Jet, which was still in the air, and fell on Therese, who was on the ground.

And Therese’s body floated up.

‘This!’

Chun Yeowun frowned.

He thought they would come down and take the person themselves, but he didn’t expect it.

He didn’t know what kind of trick it was, but it looked like the man’s body was being taken into the Time Jet, and they were trying to leave.

‘They can’t leave like that.’

Chun Yeowun extended his hand towards Therese.

Therese's body, which was floating up, suddenly moved down and stuck to the ground.

Woong!

The light kept trying to pull him up, but he wouldn't budge.

After several attempts, the light disappeared.

'How will this turn out?'

How will it play out?

Their colleague is alive.

Chun Yeowun thought they had come to rescue him.

If they planned on abandoning him, they would have never come there after hearing the request.

Chun Yeowun's guess was correct.

Wheeing!

The Time Jet lowered its altitude and descended a little more.

It seemed like the jet was trying to keep a safe distance between itself and the ground so they could escape whenever the rescue was done.

They came down 70 feet.

Papapak!

As they got closer to the ground, the wind became strong, and the sand began to blow out.

Clang! Wheeing!

What seemed like an entrance to the side opened up on the Time Jet.

At the square entrance stood three people.

Looking at the curves of their suits, it looked like it was two men and one woman.

Behind them, a woman with a voluptuous body and breasts, which didn't go well with the suit, stood and instructed them something.

[Because it could be dangerous. As soon as the survivors are tied to the wires, you three will climb straight in. We will be leaving right away. Until then, check the borders and be thorough.]

[Roger.]

As the entrance opened, the wind was too strong, so they had to talk in their standard frequency.

Upon receiving the order, they jumped down from the Time Jet.

Rumble!

Shoo!

The woman wrapped a wire around her arm and jumped off, while the other two men slowly landed on the ground with particles scattering from their suits.

The woman of the Dead Rose Special Forces checked the condition of the survivor, Therese, lying on the floor.

[This!]

[What is it? Anna.]

[Both the eyes... euk!]

The member called Anna was terrified as she saw Therese without eyes.

The two men too frowned at the sight of the brutality. It was natural that they felt repulsed looking at Therese.

[How the hell could that monster martial artist completely annihilate everyone and make the lone survivor look like this?]

They judged that the man in the video was skilled.

A monster who could block bullets.

[I heard that Keanu is a veteran who fought in many battles, but for us to not find his body. Ha...]

Anna, who barely managed to calm herself, tried to wrap a wire around Therese's body.

However, the man who was supposed to be unconscious was groaning something.

"Eup! Eupeupeup!"

He was shivering and moving.

[Something seems strange.]

One of the men reached out to Therese's body.

A red light flowed from his suit's palm and scanned the body.

[The flow of blood has been blocked with energy.]

[Wait. I heard about this. A technique that martial artists use to block the blood with energy.]

She pulled out something like a syringe from a box that was marked with a red cross on her waist.

She opened it and then put it in Therese's neck.

Puck!

The blue drug in the syringe entered his bloodstream.

[Once the regenerative nano machine is injected, the blood flow will return to normal. I'll tie him to the wire.]

[I'll provide cover.]

The two men covered while the one called Anna was trying to tie the wire on Therese's body.

Swoosh!

Thirty small drones came from the suit of one operator, all aiming for their surroundings.

The other man looked around, holding a gun in one hand and the other palm stretched out.

Clip!

Thanks to that, the wire was tied around Therese's body.

Tak! Tak!

Anna pulled the wire to check it and then sent a message to the Time Jet.

[Time Jet. The survivor has been immobilized on the wire. Now pu...]

Pak!

Just then, someone grabbed her wrist.

“KUAACKK!!”

For a moment, she screamed, startled, but it was just Therese who grabbed her wrist.

He was unable to move until a second back because his blood flow had been suppressed, but now he grabbed onto her despite his trembling hand.

“... t... h... th... way...!”

They couldn't hear well because of the wind.

So Anna gave the order to her AI suit to raise Therese's voice.

And,

“This is a trap!! Run away quickly!”

[Trap?]

[Anna, what is he...]

It was the moment the male member, who was on alert, turned and asked.

The drones that were surrounding the boundary with the panel system started firing bullets in a certain direction at once.

Bang! Bang! Bang! Bang!

[Ah!]

From their suits, they could see a person running with great speed.

And shockingly, the person didn't seem to be even a little fazed by the bullets,

Chachachang!

Every bullet seemed to be cut down with a sword.

[No, that's ridiculous!]

All three of them were shocked.

It was Chun Yeowun who was moving, with his long black hair fluttering.

It was the face they saw in the video.

[H-He's the one!]

[Panel! Intercept!]

Swoosh!

When the man controlling the drones came forward and gave orders, the drones that were shooting in one direction spread out and shot at Chun Yeowun.

But,

“This is what it looks like.”

Chun yeowun reached out to the drones which were about to spread out.

Then, as if the drones’ movement was restricted, they all stopped mid-air.

[What? The drones stopped?]

[What went wrong?]

[I-I don’t know. The panel isn’t, why is this happenin...]

It was then, Chun Yeowun pushed his hand forward.

The drones, which had stopped, soon flew towards the man who was operating them.

[W-What?]

Panicked, the man stretched out his hand.

Psuh!

Something like energy fired from the palm in a straight beam, which shot down the drone.

But the other drones were moving too fast.

He could only shoot down 6 drones.

Papapak!

“Ackkk! Stop! Get off!”

As the drones were getting close, some of them stuck to the man’s body. He panicked as he tried to remove them and run.

He released a charge from his suit, but to no avail.

Chun Yeowun clasped his palms,

It was then,

Kwakwakwang!

“Ku...”

The drones moved, and the attached ones exploded.

With a brief scream, the man’s body was engulfed in the explosion.

“This!”

Tak!

At that moment, the other man who was close by put his hand on the ground.

And,

Rumble!

Stones began to rise, creating a barrier that absorbed the aftermath of the explosion.

‘Huh?’

Chun Yeowun’s eyes lit up.

Because of some energy from the man’s hand, stones rose.

‘It’s different from internal energy.’

It was a different kind of energy from internal energy or qi.

Contrary to his reaction, the other two were confused.

Anna hurriedly sent them a message.

[Time Jet! Now! The enemy has appeared! Hurry up and pull the wire!]

[What? Shit! I get it.]

Wheeing!

Immediately the wire was pulled.

Therese's body was about to float up.

The voice of the Dead Rose Special Forces captain, Luis, spoke.

[You guys should come up! We will raise the altitude!]

[Roger!]

Swoosh!

As the captain said, the Time Jet slowly increased its altitude.

They also tried to escape by switching their suits to flight mode.

[Anna! I will cover you, so you fly first!]

The man turned and then raised his hands.

Dozens of stones from the floor rose and covered them.

‘If it’s Martin’s superpower, he’ll be able to defend himself.’

Along with Luis, Martin held superpowers which specialized in defense.

His limit wasn’t known, but Anna thought that he could hold his ground.

[Understood!]

Anna nodded and tried to soar into the sky.

It was then,

Puck!

[Kuak!]

Swoosh! Thud!

Martin, who was slowly following her, suddenly screamed, making her look down.

[M-Martinnnn!]

Shocked, she looked at the fallen body of Martin, who was attacked.

Chun Yeowun held out his arms as if he was aiming at the two people who were moving.

In the air between them, something like an opaque sword was floating.

Creep!

‘T-That is...’

It was the man's unknown power they saw in the video.

'I need to run!'

Frightened by the fact that she could die along with the survivor, Anna tried to get on the Time Jet right away by increasing the output of the flight mode.

That was when something caught her eyes.

Kekekei!

The Time Jet, which was trying to increase its altitude with the help of its thrusters, was unable to go up. Instead, it was coming down, little by little.

[What? Why is it dropping?]

[I-I don't know! It seems like something strong is pulling the aircraft down.]

Anna could hear the conversation from inside the Time Jet.

"N... No way!"

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

Confused, she turned her head and looked down again.

Chun Yeowun's hands seemed like they were pulling something down.

'!!!'

Anna was startled by the unbelievable power this man had.

Chapter 482 - Revise/Battle (3)

Chapter 482: Revise/Battle (3)

If other martial artists had seen it, they would be astonished.

Chun Yeowum, who held out one hand and pulled the Time Jet with unimaginable power, was like a Demon God.

As he absorbed all five spirit beast cores, Chun Yeowun's internal energy was exploding, and he, who reached the Heavenly Master Level, turned into a being who surpassed the spirit beasts.

Of course, even if it wasn't a martial artist, they would be shocked.

'Is-Is he actually pulling down the Time Jet? I was definitely told that he practiced martial arts... but this is something which can only be done after reaching the highest level of telekinesis!'

It was completely different from the martial arts they knew.

It was so close to telekinesis.

Anna's face, which was covered with the suit's helmet, had turned white and tense.

Kiririrk!

The altitude of the Time Jet, which was trying to move up, kept lowering.

No one knew what was even happening.

[Nooooo!]

Anna pulled out her m320 gun, which was on her back, and fired ultra-vibrating bullets at Chun Yeowun.

She had to stop him at all costs.

Bang! Bang! Bang!

Chun Yeowun gently moved his left hand as if he was holding a sword.

Then an invisible sword floating in the air suddenly generated and cut down the incoming bullets.

Chachachang!

‘No, this can’t be!’

The bullets they were using had brought victory to them during the Great Gate.

And they didn’t work on this man.

That was when Anna heard what was happening inside the Time Jet.

[Damn it! Raise the output to level 7!]

[Sorry? Unless we reach the final level of...]

[Are we in a position to follow the rules! Hurry!]

[Understood!]

As soon the orders fell, the light particles which were being pushed out from the Time Jet's thrusters grew stronger.

Swoosh!

As the particles grew stronger, the pressure it gave off increased.

Anna, who hadn't yet boarded the jet, was unable to maintain her balance.

[Ahhh! Ca-Captain!]

[Anna. Be patient! We will just shake off the power that's holding us down...]

The output of the jet became stronger, and its altitude, which was descending, began to rise.

'This!'

Chun Yeowun looked annoyed.

As the force grew, the Time Jet pulled up stronger, and it was becoming difficult to pull it down.

It was natural.

Since the power that was only supposed to be used at high altitudes was being used near the ground.

'I was really trying not to damage it.'

Chun Yeowun carefully handled his energy for the purpose of stealing the Time Jet.

But he couldn't let it escape.

Chun Yeowun released the hand which was controlling the sword and reached out to the jet.

Meanwhile,

Swoosh!

[Captain! We are good! The Time Jet is going up!]

Anna cheered as the Time Jet kept rising, despite the unbalanced output.

But the joy didn't last long.

Jerk!

Despite the increase in force, the Time Jet suddenly lowered.

[The engine of the jet!]

A horrifying sound escaped from the Time Jet's communication device.

Extremely cold energy rose in the central part of the jet, freezing the engine and disrupting air circulation.

Since this was a jet that could move through space and time, the cold wouldn't stop it, but that didn't mean it wasn't temporarily affected.

Swoosh!

As the cold resulted in a decrease in output, the Time Jet was pulled down again.

[No... way...!]

Anna's eyes filled with despair.

It was indescribable how they felt to be taken down by one man who is supposed to be nothing in front of them.

‘Are two units of the Special Forces not enough?’

They aren’t.

Even if all the units of the Special Forces came, Anna wondered what they could even do against this monster.

Rather, it would be a situation where they would only have a slight chance if the unit near the Great Gate was present.

The units would have to forget about their lives and move with the determination to kill this monster at any cost.

At that moment, she heard the voice of Dead Rose Special Forces captain, Luis.

[No. There is no other way.]

[Sorry?]

[I will stop that monster, recover the engine, and move. Tell my family that I love them.]

[Captain! No! Instead...]

Before she could even finish her words, Luis appeared at the entrance of the jet.

When the red uniform which was revealing her breasts took the form of a suit, she jumped down.

Tak!

[Captain!]

[Enough! Get in there!]

Luis, who went down at high speed, reached out to Chun Yeowun.

As he was concentrating on bringing the jet down, Chun Yeowun tried to deal with the woman with an invisible sword.

It was then he noticed that a bright light rose from her back and took the form of wings, or roses.

‘What is that?’

Luis stretched her hand towards Chun Yeowun.

Fully bloomed roses, their petals flew around in all directions and rushed towards Chun Yeowun.

Swoosh!

[Die!]

Dozens of small shining petals fell.

Chun Yeowun tried to attack, but he could only block them with an invisible sword.

Papapapang!

[I did it! Hurry!]

Anna bit her lip at the message she got from the captain.

Messing around like that would only irritate the monster and make Luis’s sacrifice meaningless.

[Captain! I'll send a signal. If you can escape, come up right away!]

With those words, Anna flew to the entrance of the Time Jet with her suit in flight mode.

The wire was pulled up, and Therese, the only survivor, made it inside the jet.

After confirming that Anna entered, Luis turned her head.

'Enough. This is enough.'

As a captain, it was her duty to save all of her subordinates.

All that remained was to stop the man who was pulling down the Time Jet.

Seeing Chun Yeowun in person, she clicked her tongue.

Plasma Petal, her superpower, didn't even touch his hair.

'Damn it! Does this mean he can do that while pulling the Time Jet?'

He really was a monster.

A person who would never fall, even when compared to the strongest people of Luis's era.

There was no way she could kill the man with her own power.

'I need to hold on until the engine is restored!'

She created more petals and directed them towards Chun Yeowun.

Swoosh!

This was the first time since the Great Gate that she was using her petals.

She hoped that the man would fall with one strike, but the opaque sword he used flew through the air and blocked the petals.

‘I can at least make sure he doesn’t move.’

She wasn’t sure how long it would last, but she knew it could divert him for at least 10 minutes.

If not 10 minutes, maybe longer, but that was all.

If she gave the man too much time, she could get hit.

Gigigigk!

‘Ah!’

Her ears heard the sound of the jet moving little by little.

The frozen engine seemed to have thawed.

All she had to do was be a little more patient.

‘Thank goodness. Still, he can only use one of those energy swords, so...!?’

Luis’s pupils trembled.

She was unaware of the fact that she had been surrounded by six invisible swords.

“T... this...”

Dealing with one by itself was impossible for her.

‘Damn it!’

Her face turned pale.

Chun Yeowun, who looked at her, mumbled in a cold voice.

“I don’t like killing women, but I can’t let you leave if you are at this level.”

As soon as he said that, the invisible swords pierced the body of Luis, who jumped into the air.

Push!

“Kyaaak!”

Luis screamed at the pain of her suit and flesh being pierced.

As her concentration shattered due to the sudden pain, the plasma petals that she had been controlling slowly scattered away, disappearing.

[Can’t... maintain.... Fli...ght...mode...]

Static!

The voice of the suit’s AI was cut off as the main chip was damaged.

The particles around the suit disappeared, and her body fell to the ground.

Swoosh! Thud!

“Kuak!”

The helmet opened as she was coughing up a huge amount of blood.

She could feel death coming for her.

Every corner of her body was turning cold, and her conscious mind was losing its rationality.

‘Esc...ape...quic...kly!’

She had lost hope for herself.

The only thing she wanted was the Time Jet to escape until she heard something.

[Kyaaaak!]

The scream of Anna.

[Wh-What!]

Bang! Bang! Bang! Thud!

The sounds of gunfire, as if there was a clash within the jet.

‘!?’

She couldn’t understand what was happening inside.

Although her vision was blurred, she could see the monster on the ground and the Time Jet floating.

[W-Who are you? How did you come into the Time Je... kuk!]

A scream.

Then the voice could no longer be heard.

A small, familiar voice was heard over the communication device from Anna.

[... start the time jet with these coordinates. Hurry.]

‘W...ho... is... that...’

Shhh!

She tried to hear more, but nothing came out.

Dead Rose Special Forces captain Luis, whose pupils lost focus, stopped breathing.

‘!!!’

Chun Yeowun’s eyes narrowed.

He too heard the voices which came out from Luis’s device.

Nano had the ability to eavesdrop.

Someone had broken into the Time Jet.

Without Chun Yeowun knowing it.

There was only one person at Chun Yeowun’s level who could do that.

‘Blade God!’

Woong!

At that time, Chun Yeowun, who was holding the Time Jet down, was interrupted by a massive wave of energy.

With that, the Time Jet’s altitude rose, and the thawing of the engine was complete.

Kiiik!

The entrance of the Time Jet closed.

At the same time, the particles ejected from the thrusters became stronger and soared into the sky at great speed.

Swoosh!

‘Who said you could touch my thing!’

Chun Yeowun flew up.

His body, soaring upwards, was equipped with the Gatelinium Suit.

Chachacha!

With particles being released from the suit’s hands and feet, he quickly ascended.

‘I need to catch him.’

The speed at which the Time Jet flew was amazing.

Little by little, it became smaller.

At that time, Nano said something.

[Enabling booster mode.]

‘Booster mode?’

It was then, something like a thruster generated from the back of the Nano Suit, and the force increased.

Woosh!

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.Site Only

‘Ahh!’

Chun Yeowun flew into the sky.

A normal suit would have burned down with the force at which he moved, but Chun Yeowun’s suit was made of Gatelinium, which made it possible.

The shape of the Time Jet, which was moving away, became bigger.

Chapter 483 [END] - Day of the Future

Chapter 483: Day of the Future

Inside the Time Jet was a man with thick eyebrows and a strong smile on his face.

He was the Blade God.

After being wounded by Chun Yeowun, he hid, but then he appeared and hijacked the Time Jet.

He had been numb for years, yet the corners of his mouth raised as he was unable to hide his joy.

‘Luck is with me.’

He was the one who had spent an entire night trying to drive away the vicious energy that was burrowing within his heart and body.

He had absorbed the five spirit beasts’ cores, gaining immortal life, so as soon as he released that black energy, he managed to recover his body in less than half an hour.

One-third of his body was destroyed, but now it’s back to normal.

‘I came here to deal with that demon before he completely absorbed the energy.’

The Blade God couldn’t let Chun Yeowun become any stronger.

The Blade God was pushed into a crisis before Chun Yeowun even stepped into the Heavenly Master Level.

He thought that all his plans to change the past would be destroyed if Chun Yeowun wasn't dealt with quickly.

'Time Jet!'

He never thought that a Time Jet would come to this era.

From then on, the Blade God quickly revised his plan.

Upon arriving there, he could see that Chun Yeowun had reached his level, the level he feared.

Which meant that the battle between immortals would unfold.

If both were immortals and on the same level, the battle would be difficult.

'There's a Time Jet. Do I need to fight the Demon God head-on? In the beginning, yes, but now, why not go back in time before he was born and then get rid of him.'

The thought of destroying someone who could be equal to him. There was no need for him to fight at all.

[The jet has crossed the stratosphere.]

The Time Jet's AI informed them how much the aircraft had risen.

He never tested it before, but at that height, he thought it would be difficult for the opponent to keep up whether they had a Nano Suit or walked on air.

“The engine must have returned to normal as we climbed up this much... come on, move to those space-time coordinates.”

The Blade God threatened Allen, a member of the Dead Rose Special Forces, who was sitting in the cockpit.

Allen’s face was covered in blood as he bit his lip.

He was the one who controlled the ship, and his life was threatened when this enemy had entered the ship and asked him to go to specific space-time coordinates.

‘Kuek! What is all this?’

He knew that the man threatening him was a monster.

He killed Anna with just a snap of his fingers and cut Allen’s left arm off.

The suit stopped the bleeding, but it was still throbbing.

Behind him, the Blade God spoke in a spiteful voice.

“If you don’t want to lose another arm, move quickly through space...”

It was then,

Beep! Beep! Beep!

[The hanger on the right side of the aircraft has been opened. An unidentified entry!]

‘!?’

The warning from the Time Jet’s AI made the Blade God narrow his eyes.

He was convinced that it would be impossible to get into the Time Jet, which crossed the stratosphere.

Then, in his ears, he heard walking.

Step! Step!

The sound of metal ringing.

The Blade God slowly turned around.

There, he saw Chun Yeowun holding the Sky Demon Sword.

“I knew it was you.”

Intense energy flowed out of Chun Yeowun.

“Demon God!”

The hateful voice of the Blade God.

His eyes were dyed with extreme tension.

‘... if you look closely, I’m sure. The Demon God has entered the same realm as me.’

This would be a battle that can’t be won or lost.

The problem was if they competed in the Time Jet, it would break.

If that happened, the Blade God would lose his chance to head back to the past.

‘There is one way. I need to drive him out.’

There might be some risk and damage to the jet, but if that meant sending Chun Yeowun away, he liked taking that chance.

However, something he didn't expect happened.

Woong!

[Space time movement to unspecified coordinates.]

"What?"

Thu-thud!

A strong shock, which shook the balance of the Blade God and Chun Yeowun.

Unlike the time pack, the Time Jet was an aircraft that traveled through space and time at a speed that exceeded the speed of light, so one had to be seated before the time of departure.

Rumble!

As Chun Yeowun and the Blade God were barely maintaining their balance with that speed, Allen, who was in the cockpit, shouted.

"Kukuk, do you think I will do whatever you monsters ask me to do! We will wander through space and time for the rest of your lives and die!"

With those words, Allen fired the gun which was on the board of the cockpit.

Tatata!

Crackle!

[Da...mage... to... the... main... system...]

The Time Jet's AI was cut off.

The main system was really damaged, so the LED lights that were illuminating the jet's inside didn't stop flickering.

Rumble!

The jet, which had entered space and time, shook.

At that rate, no one knew where the Time Jet would stop.

"How dare you!"

The Blade God sneered with anger and tried to pull Allen close to him.

But before that could happen, Allen's actions were quick.

Bang!

Allen put the gun in his mouth and fired.

With a hold in the back of his head, his limp body fell to the floor of the jet.

The only pilot of the Time Jet was dead.

"Ahhhhh!"

As if his anger had reached its peak, the Blade God shouted and looked at Chun Yeowun, who still had a calm face.

"Phew, nothing can be done. Demon God. Let's stop this for now. If we fight in this kind of situation, we'll end up losing every..."

Chachachang!

The Blade God hurriedly brought out his sword to block Chun Yeowun's black sword.

Looking at Chun Yeowun, he asked with a bewildered expression.

"Demon God! What is this?"

"Stop with the bullshit. There will be no truce with you."

"You!...."

The Blade God spoke while grunting through his teeth.

"In this situation, immortality doesn't work! Do you think that both of us dying is a light matter? If the jet breaks down and it's swept away by space and time, our bodies will disappear..."

"Are you that afraid of dying?"

"Huh?"

"You are afraid of death despite living this long. That's funny."

The eyes of Chun Yeowun, who said that, were twinkling.

It felt like something essential had happened to the man.

The Blade God thought something must have happened as he became immortal after reaching the Heavenly Master Level.

However, in the face of crisis, the Blade God asked for a ceasefire with his enemy, Chun Yeowun, to save his own life.

'I am afraid of death? Me? Me, from the past and the future, who is like a god is scared of death?'

At that moment, his composure was broken.

He was no longer indifferent.

The Blade God's emotional barriers burst as he yelled at Chun Yeowun.

"You bastard! Who do you think you are to judge me? In the face of death, the end, you talk as if you are differe..."

It was then,

Slash!

'!?'

The Blade God's eyes went wide.

He slowly lowered his head and looked down at his body.

A black line starting from his right shoulder ran across his abdomen until his right thigh.

Thud! Thud! Thud!

The fingers of the Blade God's severed right hand fell to the ground.

Thick red blood flowed out from the cut parts.

Drop! Drop!

"H... how?"

He couldn't understand.

He was blocking Chun Yeowun's sword with the Unification of the Blade, the highest blade technique.

It was the best way he could come up with.

However, Chun Yeowun had cut down that technique with his sword.

"Non-existent Sky Demon Sword."

"Non-existent... Sky Demon Sword?"

Tremble.

It felt like his body was being split open and would fall at any moment.

Cold sweat ran down his face.

Drip!

Something felt different.

The dark energy from Chun Yeowun, which he had faced before, was ferocious, but now it seemed like actual darkness as if he was entering the abyss.

It was like being eaten by darkness.

'I... I... need... to.'

He tried to use the energy of the five spirits beasts in his body to heal himself.

The fact that the cut was tearing his body meant that he had to heal himself quickly.

But,

“H... how?”

The cut didn't heal.

From then, it was like he was waiting for his body to not fall down.

‘What should I do? If regeneration doesn't work... should I cut the part off again?’

In an instant, something occurred in the Blade God's mind.

However, the question was would Chun Yeowun give him the time.

He was confused.

Tututu!

And then, something like a gas was leaking out.

As if it wasn't enough that the Non-existent Sky Demon Sword had slashed the Blade God's body, its power ended up cutting the jet too.

Crack!

The speed at which they were moving was so terrifying that the crack which formed was about to grow bigger.

“Cough... cough... you, are you really planning on dying together?”

With a pale face, the Blade God asked.

At the rate the jet tore, not just him, but even Chun Yeowun would die.

With a cold voice, Chun Yeowun spoke.

“Only you.”

“What?”

Chun Yeowun kicked the Blade God’s body.

Puck!

“Kuck!”

Thud!

At that moment, the body of the Blade God, which barely stood together, split from the shoulder to the thigh and was dragged to where the hole had formed.

Swoosh!

“Nooo!”

The Blade God tried to stop one part of his body from being swept away by the vacuum of space and time.

However, the Sky Demon Energy which had penetrated into his body had already spread.

Throb! Throb!

‘Ack! I am immortal! Immortal!!’

He was going crazy.

When his internal energy wasn’t working properly, the Blade God held whatever he could with his left hand and pulled himself into the jet.

Woong!

“Demon God!!!”

The Blade God kept cursing and yelling out for Chun Yeowun.

Seeing that side of the Blade God, Chun Yeowun spoke in his usual blunt voice.

“You have lived enough. Die.”

‘H-He!’

Chun Yeowun drew his Sky Demon Sword.

Slash!

“Kuck!”

This time he cut his throat.

Blood gushed out from the Blade God’s neck.

Drip!

The Blade God, who was wanting to say something, fell backwards.

Swoosh!

And the body of the Blade God, which was holding onto the rail near the hole, got sucked away.

Swoosh!

The head and body of the Blade God were swept away by the space and time torrent and disappeared.

Even the immortal body was nothing but dust in front of the great flow of space and time.

‘Done!’

The hole inside the jet was becoming bigger, and Chun Yeowun reached it.

As usual with yin, ice qi began to form and cover it.

Jjjkkk!

Bang!

The power of space and time, which was sucking in the contents of the jet, was blocked by the ice.

However, the pressure was so strong that the ice had to be thickened.

‘This is just a temporary solution.’

Jjkk!

Chun Yeowun released more ice qi to make sure that the walls near the hole were frozen too.

He didn’t know the details, but he had to hurry.

Chun Yeowun ran to the cockpit.

‘Nano. Can you hack this and get me out of here safely.’

[There is damage to the main board, so it may be difficult to adjust with hacking.]

‘You have to do something. Or we’ll both die.’

[Will try hacking. Please place your palm on the cockpit board.]

‘Okay!’

Chun Yeowun hastily placed his right palm on the board.

The glove of the Nano Suit was on his right hand, and a line of light came out of it and penetrated into the broken board.

[Entering the back up system.]

Jjakk!

Along with Nano’s voice, Chun Yeowun’s ears could pick up the ice cracking.

It could be dangerous if he didn’t hurry.

He was waiting with impatient eyes when the LED lights of the Time Jet, which had flickered continuously, came on.

Whoong! Beep! Beep!

At the same time, the buttons on the main board of the cockpit also lit up.

Some didn’t come on, but it seemed like everything was working normally.

‘Nano? Done?’

[It seems that the coordinate setting device has been damaged, so we will have to crash land out of the space and time flow.]

‘What are you saying?’

[Means to land in a different space and time than the user's.]

Chun Yeowun's face hardened.

As Nano said that, it meant that he could enter a time that he had no idea about.

Jjkkk!

The sound of cracking ice could be heard.

They were out of time.

At this rate, the jet would break apart.

'Mun Ku.'

At that moment, in Chun Yeowun's mind, he saw an image of Mun Ku with a child.

If he died, he would never get to see them again.

Biting his lip, Chun Yeowun determined, ordered Nano.

"Go ahead!"

[Yes. Escaping the flow of space and time.]

Goo!

As soon as Nano finished speaking, The Time Jet shook.

The space flow was made up of five different colored lines that could be seen through the front glass of the cockpit. For a second, the Time Jet escaped.

Rumble!

Strong pressure rose, just like it did when the jet entered the flow.

“Kuak!”

Chun Yeowun grabbed the handle on the cockpit board and held onto it.

If he let go of the main board, the connection Nano had with the jet would break.

Clank! Clank!

He tried not to move as much as possible, and the space outside the window made of five colors changed.

It was then.

Jjjkkk!

They exited the flow, and the ice broke.

At the same time, Chun Yeowun’s body, which was holding the board, was sucked out of the jet with tremendous force.

Pang!

“Uakk!”

[Opening Gatelinium Nano Suit!]

Chachacha!

The Nano Suit opened up around Chun Yeowun’s body.

He didn’t even realize that the suit had unfolded, but the suit seemed red.

And in some parts, it was a mixture of blue.

‘Where am I?’

[In the mesosphere at an altitude of 60km.]

Higher than the stratosphere.

The same area that the Time Jet had to be to enter the space and time flow.

‘Air?’

He decided to go back to the Time Jet.

However, the Time Jet, which was becoming small as he was moving down, exploded.

Bang!

‘This!’

If Chun Yeowun was a little late, he would have died in the explosion.

He had no choice but to go down now.

‘Nano, flight mode.’

[Switching to flight mode.]

Chun Yeowun’s body quickly moved towards land.

The outer part of the Nano Suit, which was dyed red, slowly returned to its original color as he got closer to land.

Swoosh!

How long was it?

Chun Yeowun could finally see land.

However, it wasn't the land of Jianghu which was full of greenery.

[Altitude 15km.]

[Altitude 14.5km.]

[Altitude 13km.]

As he descended, he saw large buildings.

'What... the hell?'

There were grasses and mountains around.

There were trees, but it was more like a grey world.

Buildings which had square roofs, and not tiled houses, Chun Yeowun's body was getting close to the ground.

Eventually,

[Altitude 300m.]

Upon entering that point, Chun Yeowun descended onto a huge building.

Chun Yeowun's eyes widened at the transparent walls the building had.

He was moving quickly, but he could see a lot of people inside the transparent walls.

[Will land soon, altitude of 100m.]

Thud!

Chun Yeowun's body soon landed on the dark grey ground.

He stood up, straightening himself.

Chachacha!

The helmet of the Nano Suit lifted up as he saw the new world, which was surrounded by buildings.

This wasn't the world he knew.

Woong!

"A-A man fell from above!"

"It looked like he fell from the building?"

"Now! A superhero landing? Are they filming for the Man of Steel?"

People in clothes which he had never seen before were looking at Chun Yeowun, who was equally shocked.

Read latest Chapters at WuxiaWorld.S i t e Only

He was wary of their sudden appearance.

'Where is this?'

As he looked around with confused eyes, Nano answered him.

[Detected Wi-Fi signal. The age of the coordinates is... AD. Year. 2069.02.19]

Read its sequel here -> Descent of the Demon God